Slowing economy puts strain on funds

Sanford finance director says employees must 'Run it like you own it'

SANFORD — Despite strong gains in ad valorem revenue, the city is facing tough financial times and possible budget shortfalls.

Finance Director Kevin Smith presented city commissioners with a budget overview — three months ahead of schedule — and warned that the city faces a potential $800,000 shortfall based on current spending levels.

"I feel confident we will find efficiencies throughout the city to balance the budget," Smith said. "However, I wanted to let the commissioners and department directors know that the revenue growth we have seen in the last four or five years is just not there. I didn't want to wait until July before we started talking about this."

Revenues from ad valorem taxes, which are generated from property values, have increased about $2.5 million in five years. Smith expects these revenues grow at that rate for some time as real estate appreciates and more property is developed.

Meanwhile, the city's other revenues sources remain flat or have declined because of a slow economy. Those sources include:

- Half-cent sales tax: "That's revenue that is directly affected by the economy. The worse the economy, the less people spend and the less sales tax we collect," Smith said.

- Income off of interest: As the economy declines, so do rates on interest bearing accounts. "In the past we generated about $800,000 in interest," Smith said. "Now we're getting $300,000."

- Building permits: During the last five years, apartment construction has ballooned revenue generated through permits. City commissioners put a moratorium on new apartment construction and agreed to extend it another three months.

"Whatever your opinion on apartments, you have to realize that those permits were adding more revenue that was getting appropriated," Smith said.

- Franchise fees from Florida Power & Light (FPL): has had two rate cuts, which is good for everyone, but it does mean less

Zoo unveils expansion plans for Commission

By Jamie J. Anderson-Potter
Staff Writer

SANFORD — Joe Montisano, executive director of the Central Florida Zoo in Lake Meador, discussed the zoo's $11 million expansion project during Tuesday's Seminole County Board of County Commissioners meeting.

According to Montisano, Phase 1A of the renovation project will launch this summer and include the Wayne Densch Discovery Center, a 200-seat auditorium for educational presentations.

The renovation will also include several classroom-style areas, a zoo lab, courtyard and lobby.

With pre-construction work complete, the zoo staff will soon begin accepting contract bids. Construction is expected to last 12 to 18 months.

"We're very excited about the project," said Montisano. "But we're not sure how construction will affect gate attendance. That will be the challenge for the zoo."

According to Montisano, yearly zoo attendance is upward of 250,000 guests, plus an additional 50,000 students who participate in educational programs.

"We are a unique alternative to the big attractions," he explained to Commission. "It's a lot more than bringing people into the gate. It's about touching those people lives."

The zoo is currently working at capacity during its educational programs, which continues to be the zoo's main focus. Recently, staff has been forced to turn people away due to space restrictions.

"This renovation will give us the opportunity to triple capacity," he said.

Supporters of the project include Wayne M. Densch Charitable Trust, Seminole County government, Seminole County Public Schools, Darden Restaurants Foundation, city of Sanford, Inez and Bob Parsell, Orange County government, and several others.

Fundraisers were also held to raise money.

The zoo is a regional asset, said Commission Chairman Gary C. McLain. "It's great to see other counties, such as Orange County, getting involved."

Mid Florida Wrestling plans Friday benefit show for The Place of Comfort

By Michelle Jerla
Managing Editor

SANFORD — There's going to be some body slapping and choke holding in downtown Friday and it's all in the name of charity.

Mid Florida Wrestling (MFW) competitors, including Nightstalker, Low wolf and Jumpin Jack Flash are coming to town for a benefit show, supporting "The Place of Comfort," a local organization that helps families with children who have terminal illnesses fight matches are planned at the Sanford Civic Center, including the main event, which will feature former WWF wrestler, Barry Horowitz vs. Mace.

"We're helping kids," said MFW Commissioner Ann Bass. "We've been working with Place of Comfort for awhile and it's good to know there's a group like them out there. That's why we want to help."

After expenses, all proceeds from the event will go to the local organization. According to Bass, all of the wrestlers are volunteering their time and energy for the show in order to raise as much money as possible for the group.

Bass said it's appropriate to host the benefit in Sanford since her group considers the city home. MFW was created by "Outlaw" Jon Bass, and the first match was held here on Dec. 7, 2001.

Sanford is definitely our home town, Bass said. "We are all hometown people and we have a great group of wrestlers."

Doors open Friday at 7 p.m. with the first bell ringing at 8 p.m. The opening match pits Ironwolf against Jumpin Jack Flash. Other matches include two singles matches, hardcore title, triple threat, six-man tag, the semi-main match and the main event.

Wrestlers slated to compete include El Macho, Deathrow, Jetthrow, Nightstalker, Phil Crude, CPT, Wright, Ant Mink, El Corrupto, The Breakers, Bill & Wicki, El Vegas, Roeker, Lexi Millins, and Thump Dupree.

One name missing from Friday's roster is local favorite Mad Dog, a.k.a. Sgt. Mike Taylor. Although he isn't scheduled to compete in any of the matches, he may make an appearance at the show.

"Mad Dog isn't wrestling, but you never know what might happen," Bass said. "We love surprising people, so people shouldn't rule anything out."

Tickets for the benefit show are $8 for adults and $4 for children ages 6 to 12.

Children under six are admitted free.

SEMINOLE SUMMARY

A GLANCE AROUND OUR COUNTY

Husband willing to go the distance for more sex

DEAR ABBY: I am a 38-year-old husband and father of four. Marla and I have been married 11 years and live in Syracuse. My wife wants to move to Albany to be closer to her family so they can help care for our children.

I agreed to move only if Marla guarantees to give me sex three times per week. That is the only compromise I am asking her to make. My wife says she won't commit to putting a number on the times we are intimate every week.

Abby, am I expecting too much by asking Marla to commit to the amount of sex I want, as long as I agree to move to Albany — which is what she wants? That way, making the move will benefit both of us.

READY AND WILLING IN NEW YORK

DEAR READY AND WILLING: You and your wife appear to be "ready and willing" about very different things. I can understand her wanting to be closer to her family for the child-care advantages, but why would you demand that she limit your lovemaking to only three times a week? You're selling yourself short.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 20-year-old woman whose parents divorced three years ago. (I'm an only child.) Recently I discovered that my father cheated on my mom throughout their marriage. His longtime mistress was a family friend. I'll call Cindy.

I have grown up seeing Cindy at least once a week. She has always been pleasant and helpful — whether she was teaching me to ride a bike or helping me study for my driver's permit. It wasn't until a year ago that I found out she and Dad are lovers. When Mom discovered their affair, she placed the blame solely on Dad.

My parents split up, and Dad left Mom for yet another woman, Lynda, but he continues to see Cindy behind Lynda's back. Neither woman knows about the other. I still communicate with Cindy and see her occasionally. This upsets my father no end, because he's afraid I'll blow his cover. He's told me in no uncertain terms that he doesn't want me talking to Cindy.

I maintain that Dad brought Cindy into my life when I was just a kid. Is it fair for him to suddenly demand that we can't continue being friends?

FOND OF DAD'S MISTRESS IN NEW HAMPSHIRE

DEAR FOND: Look at it this way: For years, while Cindy pretended to be a family friend, she helped your father betray your mother. Is that the kind of friend you can trust? I don't think so. Your dad may not deserve any medals as "Husband of the Year," but in this case, he might have a point.

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I have been going to a nudist resort for the last five years. Our children are all grown and in their 30s. I want to tell them where we are going in case something should happen to one of us while we're there.

My wife is too embarrassed to say anything about the nature of our retreat to anyone, even though we both enjoy our tradition.

Should we, or shouldn't we, say something to our children?

ADAM AND EVE IN THE GARDEN STATE

DEAR ADAM AND EVE: Your reason for wanting to tell your children is valid. You are all adults. There should be no embarrassment in disclosing your whereabouts. Many people enjoy the nudist lifestyle, and there is no reason for your wife to be ashamed of it.

It's a good idea when anyone travels for an itinerary to be left with a trusted friend or family member. It's not so much what could happen to the traveler, but that an emergency could occur back home that necessitates being in contact. If a person can't be reached, he or she also can't be notified.

Hop To It

Got a craving for pancakes? Sanford and Lake Mary residents will soon get their fill when the International House of Pancakes (IHOP) opens in the old Shoney's location at 3150 Orlando Drive (next to the Budget Inn). Mahmoog Shairi said his company, Shairi Inc., currently operates the IHOP restaurant in Casselberry, and he believes there is a market for the business in North Seminole County. "There's really nothing like it in that area," Shairi said. "Also, I'm looking to move to Lake Mary so it will be close to my home." The restaurant is expected to open in July, Shairi said, and work on interior and exterior renovations should begin soon. Initially, the restaurant will be open from 6 a.m. to midnight. "If the business is there we will keep it open all night, but I'm not going to do it right away," Shairi said.

Chinoda named CEO of regional blood bank

Following a 16-year career in the blood banking industry, Anne Chinoda has been appointed president and chief executive officer of Central Florida Blood Bank (CFBB), which employs 550 people and services 50 healthcare organizations in 17 Florida counties.

Prior to being named CEO, Anne served as the blood bank's executive vice president and chief operating officer, responsible for overseeing operations in all areas of the $30 million organization. In her new role, Chinoda will be responsible for all management decisions that come with running the organization and planning for its future growth.

"I am both honored and excited to be at the helm of such a valuable community organization," said Chinoda. "There are many challenges ahead of us, both our industry and our donor base are rapidly changing and we need to be monitoring these developments and be flexible in creating new operational and donor programs to remain successful."

During her time with the company, Chinoda has made significant impacts on the growth of CFBB as the key officer involved in the merger, acquisition and start-up of five blood banks in Brevard, Lee, Marion, Oklawaha and Martin counties. This year specifically, Chinoda was responsible for an expansion into Sarasota County, a brand new market for the organization.

Chinoda has been with CFBB since 1987, when she began her career in donor recruiting and marketing. Within two years she was named director of the Central Florida Tissue Bank as well as director of marketing. In 1991, Chinoda was promoted to vice president of marketing, and in 1999 she became executive vice president and COO.

The position of CEO was passed to Chinoda, the first female president in the history of the blood bank, from Ed Carr, who stepped down for retirement after 41 years of service to the blood bank. Mike Pratt will assume the COO position and oversee day-to-day testing laboratory operations and hospital supply distribution. Pratt, a 12-year CFBB employee was the executive vice president for Technical Services prior to being named COO.

"It is the collective efforts of everyone that has made the blood bank's success and growth possible, thereby allowing me to retire... knowing that everything is in good hands, especially under the strong leadership of Anne Chinoda," said Carr.

Chinoda has dedicated herself to the blood banking industry and to her community, serving terms as president of the Florida Association of Blood Banks, executive board member of the Orlando Chamber of Commerce and board member of both America's Blood Centers and the Women's Resource Center. Chinoda serves on several committees with the American Association of Blood Banks and is heavily involved with the non-profit organization, the Boggy Creek Gang.

Before joining the blood banking industry, Chinoda was a free-style figure skater competing nationally for 15 years. She earned a U.S. Gold Medal, the highest honor in figure skating, from the U.S. Figure Skating Association.

Budget

revenue to the city, Smith said. A flat or slightly declining growth rate in any one of these revenue sources does not have a substantial effect on the city's $30 million budget.

"It's when you have all of these revenues remain stagnant that it begins to add up," Smith said.

In addition, Smith said, the city has to "get a handle on spending." The city has spent about $1 million in impact fees for capital projects, and last year alone spent $1 million in reserves.

"At some point in time — which is now — those impact fees are going to run out," Smith said. They're meant to be spent on capital projects, but the money eventually runs out.

That's not to say Sanford will cease investing in capital projects. "We've got money to continue our current capital programs," said Mayor Brady Lessard. "Multi-year projects like sidewalk improvements and the Riverwalk are funded and will be completed."

"However, the city's got to get its house in order before it goes on any more capital shopping sprees," Lessard added.

Personnel costs, which have grown at a 7 percent annual rate for the last five years are another concern. Part of that increase is attributed to annual pay raises, but employee health insurance, 100 percent of which the city pays, and new positions add substantial increases to personnel expenditures.

"We have to find ways to contain our costs, particularly on insurance," Smith said. "The city has had substantial increases in health coverage and we may be forced at asking employees to pay part of that cost."

"We also need to evaluate new positions. We've added 50 positions in the last few years. I'm not saying that's a good or bad thing. That's not my call. What I am saying is that new positions cost money and we have to plan to pay for them."

Smith said he is confident city residents will not face a decrease in services or an increase in taxes. Nor does he anticipate any layoffs within the city.

"That's always the challenge: to do more with less," Smith said. "I think there are plenty of opportunities to do that within the city. We've just got to start running it like we own it."

Zoo

Wilde agreed. "This has become a regional attraction that people are wanting to participate in. I would like to see Volusia County come on board. Financially, because their schools use the zoo as well."

According to Commissioner Randy Morris, zoo staff is also looking to acquire 20-30 acres of land surrounding the zoo for later use.

In other news to note, Commissioner

Approved Seminole County Animal Services to participate in National Tag Day scheduled for May 3. During this event, Animal Services will provide Seminole County pet owners with free pet licenses and rabies vaccinations for their animals.

Authorized the Seminole County Sheriff's Office to use $16,200 of the Law Enforcement Trust Fund on local projects, including $14,000 toward project graduation programs; $2,500 toward Florida State University School of Criminology and $200 toward Rock Lake Middle School's annual eighth grade graduation party.

Approved 3-2 to move forward with an option agreement to acquire 2.9 acres within Spring Hammock Preserve owned by Oakwood Inc. An additional donation of 1.8 acres will be given for a conservation easement. After 10 years the 1.8 acres will become county controlled. Staff will continue research and approach Commission at a later date for a final decision.

One of the biggest men in professional wrestling, the 6-foot-10 Korean monster, Ryze, will square off with "Showtime" J.B. Cool.

In a Special Challenge, the Prowler will battle Bam Bam Mancuso.

In other grudge matches, the college rules have been thrown out as Frat Pack member Josh Rich will arch rival "Untouchable" Leon Scott with Mizz Tizianna, and UCF Alumni member Jacques Taylor pulls on the tights to face bitter rival Aaron Epic.

More matches will be announced the night of the event and a portion of the proceeds from the matches will go to benefit the DeBary Civic Association.

The DeBary Civic Center is located at 38 South Shell Road, just off 17-92.

The doors will open at 7 p.m. and the Bell will toll at 8 p.m.

The Lake Brantley High School girls team was the only county team in the lead after the first day of district tennis action, but several other squads were very much in the hunt as they entered the final day of action.

Regular season district play is already over for both baseball and softball, but most teams will be playing non-district games this week as they make final preparations for the district tournaments that will begin next Tuesday.

Seminole High will host both Class 6A-District 2 tournaments, the baseball being held at Historic Sanford Memorial Stadium and the softball at the Seminole High School Softball Complex.

Results from this week's tournaments and the schedules for all of the baseball and softball will be covered in this week-end's Seminole Herald.

Baseball diplomacy in action

A group of youngsters and their adult guests, with guide Adam James, showed that diplomacy can work, and be fun and enlightening, under the right circumstances. Last Wednesday evening at the Sanford Youth Sports Complex at Chase Park, a youth baseball program from Glasgow, Scotland paid a visit to Sanford as the guests of the Florida Sun Devils, a Sanford-based AAU 11 and Under baseball team. The youngsters got along together immediately (top photo; running together) as Sun Devils coaches and players worked with the Scottish players on fundamentals. Prior to starting the practice Bates fifth from left, dark hat and shirt, left top photo spoke to the entire group about the Sun Devils and Sanford and then the younger Scottish players left, bottom photo got together for a little "pow-wow." After going through a practice regimen (above), the two teams squared off in an exhibition game. The Scottish team was scheduled to hold a press conference late last week as they were the first foreign team to be accepted into the Central Florida Sports Commission and then play in a tournament at Disney's Wide World of Sports complex before returning home later this week.
