College Coming

By Larry Veraldi

That controversial taped telephone conversation between Pete Knowles and J. P. Wieggers of the McFadden Foundation is now being transcribed and the Herald has been promised a full transcript. . . . Does the City Commission have the right to tape phone conversations? Pete Knowles says: Yes, if it isn't used in court.

Wonder how much the city will appropriate for tape recording equipment at the next budget session? Been using a lot lately with the Hunt Co. people and now with MacFadden Foundation.

In the 1958-59 State Road Department budget some $428,000 in secondary funds were appropriated for SR 427 from Altamonte to Ginder's Corner. What happened to the money?

In the 1961 SRD budget some $100,000 in bond construction money was allocated for rights-of-way for Bear Lake Rd. and $100,000 out of secondary funds for construction. . . . Nothing done yet.

Fern Park Incorporation legislation has as much chance this session as County Attorney Harold Johnson drafting a franchise directive bill.

Friday is the deadline to get tickets for the annual SIS Sports banquet slated for next Wednesday night.

Lake Mary parents upset over promises made to grade the ball diamond out there. . . . Time and time again people were told the work will be done. . . .

Sure seems a shame to go all that expense converting the stadium into a baseball field when only 11 people turned out for the last Babe Ruth League baseball game. . . . Now the school board will have to dip into the kitty to convert the field back to football.

That tractor-mower mishap the other day left the county with only two tractor-mowers on hand. Bid for a new piece of equipment should be let June 11.

23th St. finished. Next item of business. How many tons of concrete used and just how much the county and city chipped in for the project.

Glad to see Jim Crapps was one of the City Commissioners that went to New York on that Prep school deal. Crapps becomes a better and better commissioner with every passing day.

We know the Woodruff Building is behind the times but isn't it about time those Semi-Centennial pictures in that store front were taken out?

A hit-and-run driver this morning sparked a move which has been growing among residents whose property back on Magnolia between 21st and 23rd Street. Magnolia at this point is a dirt alley. The speeding driver struck a dog and failed to stop. Residents have been requesting police to place speed limit signs but have been told it will require an act of the City Commission. Residents are fearful these speeding drivers in the alley will strike a child.

Location of one and possibly two new state universities is practically assured for East Central Florida and expectations are that at least one will be situated in Seminole County.

This opinion was expressed this morning by Douglas Stenstrom, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce long range committee on education, when it was learned that the Senate-approved education measure is the No. 7 item on today's calendar for the House of Representatives. The Senate has approved measures providing for the establishment of a branch of the University of Florida engineering college, with an appropriation of $511,000 to get started, and for the establishment of a four-year undergraduate university, but no appropriation.

Stenstrom said reports are that the measure will clear the House and, of course, will receive Gov. Farris Bryant's approval. Stenstrom added it has been practically assured one or both new schools will be located in the seven-county East Central Florida area, and, "if our expectations prove out, at least one will be placed in Seminole County."

A favorable report is expected shortly in the feasibility study being prepared by the First Research Corporation, Miami, for the Chamber, advising on advantages of locating a state school in Seminole.

This report, Stenstrom said, will be studied by Chamber executives and then passed to the Seminole County Commission and legislative delegation.

Ultimately, after legislative approval of the education bill, the feasibility study will be presented to the State Cabinet and State Board of Control. A state site committee eventually will choose the locations for these two new state schools.

Police Release 700 Negroes

GREENSBORO, N.C. (UPI) — Almost 700 Negroes jailed for racial demonstrations here were released early today. The Negroes, some of them crying, marched from a temporary jail.

The Negroes, most of them college students, were ordered by Guilford County Sheriff Clayton Jones to leave a reopened police hospital where they had been held. The hospital was ringed by police and sheriff's deputies as the Negroes left.

A few of the male students sat on the floor and had to be carried down the halls by deputies to an outer lobby.

A group of 122 Negro girls refused to leave the makeshift jail and remained there. A total of 167 other Negro demonstrators remained in the sheriff's custody at two county farm units and the jail in nearby High Point.

Walter Hit With Leukemia

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Francis E. Walter's doctor has confirmed that the veteran Pennsylvania Democrat is suffering from leukemia, Walter's office announced today.

The statement said Dr. Darrell C. Crain had confirmed the cause of Walter's long illness through tests. Walter is at Georgetown University hospital.

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — A compromise salt water fishing license bill was sent to the floor for final action today with the backing of the Senate's Salt Water Conservation Committee.

The compromise measure, setting a new $1.75 annual salt water fishing license exempts from the fee any SHERIFF'S DEPUTIES Marie Flexer (left) and Billie Burke inspect the 110-gallon still confiscated by federal and state liquor agents and deputies Tuesday evening on Highway 427 near Elder Springs. S. commissioner at Orlando on charges of possession of an illegal still, possession of illegal whiskey and transportation of illegal whiskey. 'Bama Governor Defies U. S.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — Fiery Gov. George Wallace, despite the dissent of his attorney general, today appeared determined to square off against the federal government over the admission of two Negroes to the University of Alabama.

The defiant 5-foot, 7-inch tall governor pledged Tuesday to stand in the doorway if necessary to block admission of Vivian Malone, 20, and Navy veteran David McGlathery, 26.

Wallace took his fighting stand despite statements by the university board of trustees that it ordered a ban of admissions Hubert Main to accept Negroes in the face of court action.

State Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers endorsed the board's statement that it had no legal alternative. "When the governor stands in defiance of federal authority, he encourages others to join him—that brings on racial violence," said Flowers.

The announcement of acceptance of the Negro students came at a hearing in which Wallace was to answer charges of contempt of court for not admitting the Negroes.

Shortly after the announcement, Wallace, who pledged for Alabama at his inauguration last January, "segregation now, segregation tomorrow, segregation forever," called a new conference in Montgomery to make clear his stand.

The governor said, "The obligation to protect the tradition and sovereignty of this state is my obligation and will be fulfilled by me." He said the federal government "might hesitate" to put him in jail because of his position but would not be reluctant to jail lesser officials, including the trustees.

Two Yank Teams Move On Everest

KATMANDU, Nepal (UPI) — Two teams of American mountain climbers struck out toward the top of Mt. Everest, the world's highest peak, from the south and east sides today in hopes of meeting at the summit.

An official spokesman for the expedition said there was "high hopes for everybody." But, he said, there was no confirmation that anyone actually had reached the peak when last word was radioed to Katmandu from the base camp.

Citrus In Danger

'Rain, Rain Come Again'...

Seminole County agriculture is in dire need of rain. This was the gist of a report this morning by County Agent Cecil Tucker after Tuesday evening's seemingly heavy but actually light rainfall.

Only .06 of an inch of rain fell Tuesday evening, bringing to 1.93 inches the total of precipitation for the month of May, as compared to 4.29 inches as normal for this month of the year.

"We need another good two inches of rain this month to get us out of our problems," Tucker stated. "What we have had is not enough, really inadequate."

Business Relief Seen In Inventory Tax Bill

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — A bill giving tax assessors broad latitude in valuing a merchant's stock-in-trade for inventory tax purposes passed the Senate today without a dissenting vote.

Sen. W. C. Herrell, Miami Springs, said the measure was designed to give relief to business and circumvent the strict provisions in the constitution that such stock be assessed at full cash worth.

A 1961 bill, calling for assessment of stock-in-trade at 25 percent of its value, was struck down by the supreme court.

The new bill, which now goes to the House, permits merchants to file for a bulk or lump sum assessment rather than having to evaluate each individual item. It also permits adjustments on the age of the goods being valued.

Jury Finds...

DeLoach Innocent

James A. DeLoach, 48, of Lake Monroe, was found innocent of a charge of second degree murder by a jury in the circuit court of Judge Volle A. Williams Jr. Tuesday. The jury deliberated less than an hour.

DeLoach was charged with stabbing Hillman Behrens, 49, Lake Monroe, on last Oct. 20 during a quarrel over a bottle of wine in an automobile parked on Elder Road.

Assistant State Attorney A. J. Hosenman Jr., Cocoa Beach, represented the state and Gordon Frederick, Sanford, represented DeLoach.

At the time of the slaying, according to deputies, DeLoach admitted the killing.

Hayward testified before a special House committee looking into charges by the Pasco County Bar Association that Kelly should be impeached as a judge in the 6th circuit on grounds of official misconduct.

Farmers 'Reject' JFK's Wheat Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's wheat farmers, rebelling against federal controls, today dealt President Kennedy a major farm policy defeat by overwhelmingly rejecting his strict 1964 wheat program.

Returns from Tuesday's nationwide referendum showed that the President's proposal was buried under an avalanche of "no" votes that could portend a sharp change in federal programs for farmers.

The final Agriculture Department tabulation for the record turnout was 597,778 votes against the administration plan and 547,151 in favor. There were 73,675 challenged votes to be counted later.

The percentage of "yes" votes was 47.79. Kennedy failed to muster a simple majority, much less the two-thirds vote he needed to put his program into effect.

The outcome was hailed by the American Farm Bureau Federation as "A bright day for agriculture." It confronted Congress with the dilemma of whether to enact a new wheat program or let growers operate under a stop-gap plan with lower price supports.

This is what the vote meant for wheat farmers: The 1964 crop will be grown without marketing quotas and no fines for overproduction. Price supports will drop from the present $2 a bushel to $1.25 and will be paid only to growers who stay within their acreage allotments.

The decision could have far-reaching effect on other farmers, too, especially in government programs dealing with farm surpluses. Kennedy's "supply management" plan probably would have been proposed for other crops if the wheat farmers had accepted it.

Reds To Launch Spacewoman

BOGOTA, Colombia (UPI) — Two visiting Soviet technicians said Tuesday Russia hopes soon to put the first spacewoman into orbit. M. Filippov and M. V. Romantchenko, delegates to an international communications conference here, told a press conference the Kremlin plans to end male domination of space.

Planned By Pilot Club

Mrs. John Lamberon, president of the Pilot Club of Sanford, reminded the members of the three top awards received by the club at a recent convention. They were first place for their press book, second for membership and third for the most authentic Hawaiian dress, worn by Mrs. David Galsbel at the "Luau."

The group met in the First Federal Building for the monthly business session and Mrs. Sue Stevenson led the devotions.

Mrs. B. E. Chapman gave a report on the milk fund and other committee chairmen also gave reports. The club will have a representative at the USO annual meeting on June 8.

The next meeting is scheduled for May 28 and will be an installation dinner. Hostesses will be Mrs. A. O. Payne and Mrs. Marvin Williams and Mrs. Stevenson will install the officers.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: You probably won't believe this is written by a 21-year-old girl, but it is. I am dating a man (let's call him Arthur) but not steady. I date others, too, but he's the only man I know who is in a position to get married. I know he is crazy about me. The problem: Every time he goes to kiss me he gets a sort of pained expression on his face and his nostrils widen, making him look like a horse. I just "break up" and go into a laughing fit which I can't control. Abby, I really care for this man, but I'm ruining it for myself. What is the matter with me?

ARTHUR'S IDIOT

DEAR IDIOT: If you "break up" at what should be a very tender and sober moment — break up with Arthur. He is definitely not for you.

DEAR ABBY: My neighbor and I are good friends. Her eight-year-old daughter whom I shall call Janie, plays with my seven-year-old daughter. If my suggestion do not meet with "Janie's" approval, she opens up with a sassiness such as I've never heard from a child. I've tried to be patient, but my own daughter has started to pick it up and now it has reached the breaking point. I've heard "Janie" speak to her mother this way without punishment or correction, but wonder if she knows the child talks to other adults in this manner. Should I forbid my daughter to play with Janie? Should I correct Janie myself? Or should I risk my friendship with my neighbor by telling her that I will not be "told off" by a child?

THE BREAKING POINT

DEAR BREAKING: Tell your neighbor in a friendly way that you will not permit her daughter to sass you. And inform her that unless Janie stops it your daughter will not be allowed to play with her.

DEAR ABBY: I work at a fountain in a drug store. Also working in this drug store is an older woman who is stealing the store blind. One day I caught her in the act and called her on it and she said, "Doesn't everyone?" Should I tell the manager?

"V"

DEAR "V": Advise the manager to watch the woman and get his own evidence.

Get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to Abby and send a self-addressed stamped envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send one dollar to ABBY, BOX 8366, BEVERLY HILLS, CALIF., for Abby's new booklet, "HOW TO WRITE LETTERS FOR ALL OCCASIONS."

OES Observes Friendship Night

Eighty-three members and visitors participated in Friendship Night recently at Seminole Chapter 2, Order of Eastern Star. Officers from chapters in District 24 served as guest officers for the opening ceremony. With appropriate words of friendship, the local officers introduced their guest officers and presented them with gifts.

The chapter charter was draped, with appropriate ceremony, in memory of recently deceased member, Mrs. Lottie Nix.

A program was presented, honoring the Martha station, with Marthas from the district participating. Mrs. Paul Markos, local Martha, gave the Biblical history of Martha. Each of the visiting Marthas approached her with scriptures and presented her with a spray of fern forming an evergreen bouquet. After each presentation a solo was sung by Mrs. Nick Pfieauf.

Mrs. Markos was then presented a gift by Worthy Matron, Mrs. Charles Cole, and each of the visiting Marthas was also presented a remembrance of the occasion.

Grand instructor of District 24, Mrs. Wanda Mercer, of Bunnell, urged officers to attend a School of Instruction May 25 at 2 p.m. in Titusville.

Birthday honorees, Miss Anna Muir, Mrs. C. N. Robinson, and Mrs. Fred W. Lonsby contributed to the Rainbow Fund and were presented ceramic plaques of "Praying Hands."

The chapter room was decorated with potted plants at the various stations and the dining room tables were centered with "May Day" baskets of paper dillies filled with nosegays of yellow, white, and purple statice. Small favors of hats fashioned from paper dillies were at each place and the members and guests donned them in festive mood as they were served punch and cake by Mrs. W. T. Corbett, Mrs. Harvey Martell, Mrs. Ruth Hamilton, Mrs. Alonzo McCalley, Mrs. Helen Bruce, and Mrs. Florence York.

Ladies Society Meets At J. R. Wells Home

Mrs. J. R. Wells Jr. was hostess for the monthly business and social meeting of the Ladies Society of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers.

Plans were made for Mrs. Eudonal Ethridge to attend the National Convention in July. Members were asked to back legislation which would improve health and sanitation facilities on diesel engines, cabs and camp cars.

They were also asked to back the minimum safe crew bill which would insure five crew members, engineers, firemen, brakemen, flagmen and conductors, on each train for the safety of the public and the railroad men.

The group enjoyed a spaghetti supper, last week, with their husbands as guests.

Jacoby On Bridge By Oswald Jacoby

Today's hand comes from an Oregon reader. His comments were: "In my opinion the worst bid a bridge player can make is to pass one trick below game. If the hand plays badly the contract won't make. If it plays well there will be over-tricks and game would be there for anyone who had had the sense to bid it."

It seems that the bidding had gone as in the box. West had opened the deuce of hearts. East rose with the ace and returned the suit. My correspondent, who was South, went after spades and wound up losing two spades and two hearts. Since the club finesse was on for him there was no defense to beat three no-trump

Anyone who gets in the habit of passing his partner's two no-trump bids is going to miss plenty of games, but this time North had a good reason. He had heard his partner's original pass and felt that it was most unlikely that three no-trump could make.

Hence in my opinion the blame for missing the game rests 99.99 per cent on South's shoulders. South had committed a real bridge crime. He had passed an opening bid!

Even then he had a chance to correct things. No one was twisting his arm and ordering him to bid two no-trump. He could have jumped right to three no-trump and saved all the trouble.

and South was annoyed at his partner.
I agree with South in part.

We The Women: By Ruth Millett

Some remarks which are passed out as pleasantries actually aren't. For instance: "Haven't you lost some weight?" (That implies the person needed to lose weight so badly he'll be pleased to hear that you think he has.) "Where have you been keeping yourself?" (That implies that the person hasn't been out and going places the way you have.) "I feel so guilty that I've never gotten around to calling on you." (Your feeling guilty makes the other person think you regard the call as a duty, rather than a pleasure.)

"I didn't see you at the so-and-so's party the other evening." (Maybe it was because she wasn't invited.)

"If you come from such-and-such a town you must know the so-and-so. He's a very important something-or-other." (If the person doesn't happen to know your important friend, you've made him feel as though you're wondering "why not?")

"Do you follow me?" (Give the other person credit for having sense enough to follow you.)

"Just how big is your ranch, or your plantation, or your farm?" (That's like asking a businessman how much money he has in the bank.)

"Nice little place you have." (Why add the "little" to detract from the "nice"?)

"I hope I haven't offended you." (If you haven't, that remark will be sure to do the trick. And if you have, it won't help the situation.)

"We must get together sometime." (That's a brush-off in anybody's language. Saying "soon" would make it a real pleasantry.)

"We must get together sometime." (That's a brush-off in anybody's language. Saying "soon" would make it a real pleasantry.)

Mrs. Kimmons Hostess For VAH-9 Bridge

Mrs. G. W. Kimmons entertained the VAH-9 Officer Wives in her home last week, with a very enjoyable evening of bridge. Cold drinks, coffee and dessert were served prior to the game.

Mrs. J. L. McCracken was the lucky winner of the high score for the evening. Mrs. Kimmons was second high winner and Mrs. R. D. Cooke had the low score.

Other wives attending were: Mrs. A. O. Karnes, W. L. Burks, K. L. Atkinson, A. F. Reno, W. I. Lewis, J. L. Shipman, W. E. Markley, T. B. Wood, and T. E. Quillin.

 that had two major distinc-and extremely good acting.

 Regular Doug McClure dego to guest Steve Cochran and Claude Akins. Cochran plays an imaginative and fun-

 Trampas the old west still

 brawny brainless sidekick

 Allen Case plays the sheriff

'Merry-Go-Round' A 'Comin' Here

Many talented local people are busy rehearsing these days for a fun-filled show called "Merry-Go-Round" to be presented as a benefit performance for the Little Red

Schoolhouse, at the Seminole High School Auditorium, Tuesday at 8 p. m. This charity-supported small school for mentally retarded children was begun by a group of mothers of retarded children several years ago, and now has eight pupils and a specially-trained teacher. Since its inception, the only support has been through donations and contributions from individuals, clubs and organizations. The variety revue which will be presented at the Seminole High School auditorium at 8 p. m. Tuesday draws the talent from many of the clubs and organizations who have contributed funds and volunteer labor, and all proceeds of the show will go toward the further support of the school. The show is being directed by Mrs. John Barlow, vice president of the Seminole County Association for Retarded Children, the parent organization of the school, which has sought and gained support for the school.

Miss Audrey Decker, also first rate pianist will entertain with some compositions by Chopin and the famous Officers Wife's hit show-stopper "The Charleston," will add to the merriment.

One of the highlights of the show, and one which has not been done before will present one of the pupils of the Little Red Schoolhouse in a piano duet. Michael Zarella will join Faye Karns at the keyboard to show that many handicapped children have talent, too.

Another surprise number of the show will be presented by the Sanford Elks Lodge. It's a musical, but the exact nature of their part of the show was not revealed.

Mrs. Barlow said Monday that there is a distinct possibility of several other numbers including a local pop band, and more information on additional entertainment will be forthcoming.

MERRY GO ROUND PLANS are shaped up by a committee of mothers who are members of the Seminole County Assn. for Retarded Children. The entertainment revue will feature talented local persons and is being presented at 8 p.m. Tuesday at Seminole High School for the benefit of the donation-supported Little Red Schoolhouse for mentally retarded children of the county. From left are Mrs. Lylah Gorman, therapist; Mrs. John Galloway, Sunland Center chairman; Mrs. Edna Murray, treasurer; Mrs. John Barlow, vice president and director of the show; Mrs. Jerry Keeth, teacher; Mrs. Frank Huhn, secretary and ticket chairman and Mrs. Bobbie Goff, teacher aide. A MONSTROUS 12-pound bass is shown after it was caught in the Puzzle Lake area by L. B. Crocker on a top water plug.

By Bill Vincent Jr.

Well, a howdy to all you fishermen and outdoorsmen. I've finally got myself that big fish story that I've waited so long for.

I was working in the dark room and all of a sudden I heard a lot of commotion coming from the back shop. Curious, I had to know what was going on, so I went to see.

There in the middle of the press room stood L. B. Crocker, with a smile from ear to ear, holding a giant 12-pound bass with a head as big around as a potato.

I got to talking to Crocker and he really had a good fish story about the one that got away. He said that while fishing in Puzzle Lake, he hooked onto a giant bass but lost him. With that kind of thrill, Crocker returned to the same spot and tried again with a top water plug and with that desire to catch that big bass he hooked onto the fish. With a lot of excitement and fun he brought the monster in.

I asked Crocker what he planned to do with the fish, and he had decided to take it to Orlando to be mounted. I've waited for about four months for that big fish story, now I've got to get out—see if I can have such good fishing luck.

Mantle, Maris On Rampage

By United Press International

Are M&M back in business? And, if they are, how long will it be before some of those American League "contenders" are out of business?

The questions are enough to give the New York Yankees rivals theitters today because it could mean that Ralph Houk's world champions are ready for their long-awaited big push.

Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris have been awfully quiet for $172,000-worth of home run hitters this season and it's no coincidence that the Yankees have made several false starts while other teams shuttled in and out of the AL lead. But Mantle's big bat exploded Tuesday night and the thunder was so loud it apparently managed to wake up Maris, too.

Mantle, the MVP of the 1962 season, who started Tuesday night's game with six homers and a .392 batting average, hit a three-run homer in the first inning and a two-run homer in the fifth in the Yankees' 7-4 victory over the Kansas City Athletics.

The outburst gave Mantle respectable season totals of eight homers, 20 runs batted in and a .363 average. And then, lo and behold, the long-slumbering Maris woke up with a homer of his own. Sir Roger's season totals still show only five homers, 10 runs batted in and a .239 average but his history is that he follows Mantle off on a "tear."

Jim Bouton went 5½ innings before turning over a 7-3 lead to Steve Hamilton and received credit for his fifth win. The Yankees remained one game behind the Chicago White Sox and Baltimore Orioles, who are tied for first place in the AL.

The White Sox scored their third straight victory when they shaded the Washington Senators, 4-3, the Orioles beat the Detroit Tigers, 4-2, and the Minnesota Twins whipped the Boston Red Sox, 8-2, in other AL games. Los Angeles at Cleveland was rained out.

Mike Herzberger singled home the White Sox' first run and contributed a single to a three-run sixth-inning rally that also included singles by Floyd Robinson and Ron Hansen and a double by Joe Cunningham. Relief pitcher Hoyt Wilhelm preserved Johnny Bushard's fourth win despite being tagged for a two-run homer by Don Lock.

Maloney won nine games for the Reds in 1962 and would have won more except that his teammates developed paralysis of the bat when he appeared on the mound. They didn't score a run for him over the last 20 innings of the '62 season.

Maloney has been getting some runs this season and Tuesday night he didn't need any luck—just a ninth-inning helping hand from Bill Henry—when he equalled the modern major league record by striking out eight straight batters in a 2-0 victory over the Milwaukee Braves. Jim went on to fan a game-winner of 16 Braves—the third highest single-game total in modern baseball history.

Maloney's eight consecutive strikeouts tied the mark provisionally shared by Max Surkont of the 1962 Braves and Johnny Podres of the 1962 Los Angeles Dodgers. Bob Feller and Sandy Koufax share the game strikeout record of 18 and Dizzy Dean once struck out 17 batters in a game.

Maloney began his string of strikeouts with the last out in the first inning and ran it to the first out in the fourth before Hank Aaron grounded out. He had allowed only two hits when he walked his third and fourth batters of the game in the ninth and Henry went in to retire the side.

It was Maloney's sixth win against one loss and he has struck out 58 batters in 69½ innings. His powerful performance has helped to compensate for Bob Purkey's slow start due to a sore arm as well as the 1-7 record sported by Joey Jay.

Frank Robinson singled in the first inning and hit a sacrifice fly in the third to drive in both Cincinnati runs. Bob Hendley suffered his third defeat compared to four wins. The San Francisco Giants retained first place with a 3-2 decision over the Philadelphia Phillies, the Los Angeles Dodgers downed the New York Mets, 4-2, the Pittsburgh Pirates nipped the Houston Colts, 6-5, and the St. Louis Cardinals staved the Chicago Cubs, 5-4, in other action.

Dick Hall struck out Bill Freehan and Dick McAuliffe to end an eighth-inning Tiger threat and enable the Orioles to score their seventh victory in their last eight games. Joe Gaines homered in the second inning and drove in another run with a sacrifice fly to lead Baltimore's seven-hit attack. The win raised Chuck Estrada's record to 3-1. The Twins routed rookie Dave Morehead with seven runs in the third inning and breezed behind the eight-hit pitching of Jim Perry, who won his second game of the season. Lu Clinton and Dick Stuart homered to produce the Red Sox runs.

Red Equals Pitch Mark

By United Press International

Manager Fred Hutchinson and the Cincinnati Reds always said that Jim Maloney's hard stuff would overcome his hard luck...

A 6-foot, 2-inch, 200-pound fireballer from Fresno, Calif., Maloney won nine games for the Reds in 1962 and would have won more except that his teammates developed paralysis of the bat when he appeared on the mound. They didn't score a run for him over the last 20 innings of the '62 season.

Maloney has been getting some runs this season and Tuesday night he didn't need any luck—just a ninth-inning helping hand from Bill Henry—when he equalled the modern major league record by striking out eight straight batters in a 2-0 victory over the Milwaukee Braves. Jim went on to fan a game-winner of 16 Braves—the third highest single-game total in modern baseball history.

Maloney's eight consecutive strikeouts tied the mark provisionally shared by Max Surkont of the 1962 Braves and Johnny Podres of the 1962 Los Angeles Dodgers. Bob Feller and Sandy Koufax share the game strikeout record of 18 and Dizzy Dean once struck out 17 batters in a game.

Maloney began his string of strikeouts with the last out in the first inning and ran it to the first out in the fourth before Hank Aaron grounded out. He had allowed only two hits when he walked his third and fourth batters of the game in the ninth and Henry went in to retire the side.

It was Maloney's sixth win against one loss and he has struck out 58 batters in 69½ innings. His powerful performance has helped to compensate for Bob Purkey's slow start due to a sore arm as well as the 1-7 record sported by Joey Jay.

Frank Robinson singled in the first inning and hit a sacrifice fly in the third to drive in both Cincinnati runs. Bob Hendley suffered his third defeat compared to four wins. The San Francisco Giants retained first place with a 3-2 decision over the Philadelphia Phillies, the Los Angeles Dodgers downed the New York Mets, 4-2, the Pittsburgh Pirates nipped the Houston Colts, 6-5, and the St. Louis Cardinals staved the Chicago Cubs, 5-4, in other action.

Moving Chore

The nation's liberals like to think that they, better than most others, apply history's lessons to the present. But often they seem forgetful of differences between the past and today.

From the moment President Kennedy took office in 1961 many liberals began chiding him for not showing Congress around or going "over its head" to the people in dramatic appeals for action.

Now liberal journals like the New Republic are after him afresh. Uncomplimentary parallels are drawn between him and such "activist" presidents as Andrew Jackson, Woodrow Wilson, and the two Roosevelts. The F.D.R. era of the radio "fire-side chats" is of course a great benchmark for liberals.

But are the parallels valid? Earlier presidents, even Franklin Roosevelt, operated in times when major problems, whether foreign or domestic, stood above the horizon like mountain peaks.

Today Americans are drugged and dulled by problems. Soviet soldiers stand in Cuba. Governments totter in Argentina, Syria, Iraq. Communists push hard in Laos. Nuclear test talks wither again. Riots flare in Birmingham. High unemployment lingers in many places.

Not only are the problems numbing, but their shock — if any — is absorbed by a nation whose basic tone is prosperous well-being. Thus again the impact is lessened. To millions, the difficulties do not quite seem real.

Furthermore, the problems develop in the context of a government, an economy and a social structure so massive and glacial that moving any part of these more than inches seems often nearly impossible.

In F.D.R.'s first years, there were some 125 million Americans. His fire-side chats were not needed to stir people, but served to reassure them. The people hardly needed arousing, what with 16 million jobs in a 45-million man work force.

Today's America holds more than 185 million people, and 94 of every 100 employables are working. Most are caught up in family life and personal economic betterment.

Liberals say Kennedy should create commotion and tension and move the big glacier. Yet they admit it has been largely immobile on the domestic front in the 18 years since World War II, and has moved in foreign matters only when war (Korea) or its threat (Cuba) appeared.

The truth is, since the "great engine" of postwar America took shape, no president has known how to spark it to action in the full sense. And in 1960 almost half the nation's voters, opposing Kennedy for president, said in effect that great action is not needed.

In these circumstances no one, liberal or whatever, truly knows what condition short of war would arouse Americans massively today. Liberals guess wildly when they say urgent words from Kennedy would galvanize millions into pulsing effort.

The America of 1963 is a phenomenon no activist president of earlier times ever dreamed of. None tried to move so great a mass. None gained action when half or more of the country wanted inaction.

When Americans again want strong leadership, they will get it. But that guidance will be to be something altogether new — befitting a hugeness thus far not really mastered by anyone at all.

JFK's 'Lucky Chance'

WASHINGTON — The height of the Birmingham crisis last week the Kennedy brothers had a lucky chance to tell their side of the story to a highly influential group of Alabamians.

By coincidence, weeks before Birmingham came to a boil the President had invited 26 Alabama newspaper editors to lunch with him at the White House on May 11. Representative editors from all the states are being honored in a series of such luncheons; this month happened to be Alabama's turn. And May 11 happened to fall one day after the President had sent Federal troops into Alabama following the all-night riot in Birmingham on May 12.

Under the circumstances, the lunch table talk was almost entirely about race relations. The President was busy trying to explain his problems. The editors were full of polite but frank questions about his actions.

Why had he sent troops into Alabama but not to Illinois when race problems flared up in Chicago recently, the editor of the "Montgomery Advertiser" wanted to know?

Local police had been able to keep control of the situation in Chicago, Mr. Kennedy replied. When the Governor of Alabama judges it safe to remove the 500 state troopers he has posted in Birmingham and when city police are again in firm control in Birmingham, the Federal Government will remove its troops from Alabama, the editor was assured. Until then, the President said, Federal troops will remain but will not be used except as a last resort to "prevent a disaster."

Another editor allowed that Negro leader "Martin Luther King Jr. is a pet of the Administration." He has met King only twice, the President remarked. He implied, however, according to those present, that King was en-

Dr. Crane's

Worry Clinic

Rachel changed her "bearcat" boss into a purring, pleasant employer. In fact, he even gave her a $10 per week salary increase before the end of her semester in her senior course at Northwestern University and was using the "compliment Club" technique on her. No office tension vanished!

CASE 1-445: Henry K., aged 42, is the "bearcat" boss who kept his whole department in a jittery, nervous state. Rachel was his secretary. She had enrolled in an evening class of mine at Northwestern University, and in a private interview after my lecture, she asked for advice.

For Rachel said she was going to suffer a nervous breakdown if she didn't get away from this looking, critical boss.

But I urged her to look for some of his good points and then pay him at least one honest compliment per day, even if she had to clench her teeth to force the words of praise across her lips.

She insisted that Henry would never soften up or be even half human, but she finally agreed to try.

It was mid-afternoon next day when she screwed up her courage enough to praise his new tie.

"That's a very pretty tie," she blurted out. "Did your wife pick it out for you?"

Henry grunted a "Yeah" and went on reading some reports.

So Rachel telephoned that her compliment hadn't done a bit of good.

But I told her not to form her final opinion on the basis of just one day's test.

Rachel reluctantly promised to pay him a second compliment. And at the next meeting of the class, Rachel admitted that her boss now would greet her with a halfway cheery "Good morning," which was a big change in him.

"But he is still a bearcat and scares all of us half to death!" she added.

After two weeks of these daily compliments from Rachel, her boss began to come to her for advice on which type of carbon paper she thought was best.

And he also consulted her opinions on other minor office routine.

Now this was a tremendous step forward, for he had never sought advice from anybody up to that point.

The asking of advice is a form of compliment in itself, for, when we seek help from anybody else, that means we look "up," not "down."

For we assume the other person has more knowledge than we do in the situation where we seek his counsel.

Success in life depends to a very large degree on realizing that everybody bears this indelible brand tattooed across his chest:

"I WANT TO FEEL IMPORTANT."

Rachel's boss didn't feel as important as he wished, so he shouted and became a bearcat at the office to try to impress people with his superiority.

When Rachel began praising him, he realized she looked up to him and admired him.

So he didn't need to shout thereafter to impress her.

And because she complimented him, he began to think she had good judgment.

Before the end of that semester, Rachel's salary had been boosted $10 per week.

And her boss was publicly stating that Rachel was the best secretary in the entire plant.

So he was using the "Compliment Club" right back on her.

She now thought he was wonderful, too, and her spastic colitis disappeared.

Thus, a little deft psychology can often solve what looks like an insurmountable business or social problem.

Political Notebook

WASHINGTON—(NEA) — President Kennedy's speech in defense of his tax, spending, budget balance of payments and fiscal policy in general made a profound impression on the 200 members of the Committee for Economic Development at their annual trustees meeting in Washington.

For good reason. Some of the ideas he espoused were theirs and he praised them. Whether or not the CED members agreed with the way the President interpreted the ideas, many came out of the meeting admitting that he had a remarkable grasp of facts and figures and could argue persuasively for his ideas.

The elche 'a, of course, that the President is antibusiness. And it is inconceivable that the American Iron and Steel Institute, which will present the first Benjamin F. Fairless memorial gold medal to ex-President Eisenhower May 23, will ever award it to Kennedy.

Labor leaders and the ultra-liberals, on the other hand, argue that Kennedy is far too probusiness — particularly on tax policies.

The President's real ideas on business stuck out all through his CED speech. He has praise for the organization's recognition that "federal monetary and fiscal policies can and must supplement the decisions of the market place in determining the course of the economy—that interest rates must be adjusted up or down, budgets into deficits and surplus, to fit the needs of the time."

Kennedy made this speech before the CED for two reasons. One was because they asked him. The other was because this was CED's 20th anniversary meeting and he knew he could get a fair hearing.

In its two decades of public service, CED has made an outstanding contribution to economic sophistication in the United States. It has issued more than 60 research studies and reports on every controversial economic policy question confronting postwar America.

It began operations in 1943 when there was great fear of postwar depression and high unemployment. Under its first chairman, Paul Hoffman, CED argued rightly, that instead of a recession, the pent-up demand for goods would create a business boom.

Recognizing that the great depression of the 1930s was a confusion of failure to provide a livelihood for millions of Americans, CED set out to prove that business must provide the leadership to preserve free enterprise.

Put along with this, CED also recognized that government has a responsibility in its tax, spending, deficit and other fiscal policies to influence favorably all business, price and employment levels.

From this start CED went on to support passage of the Full Employment Act of 1946 as a necessary national economic goal.

The next step CED successfully advocated was removal of wartime supports on government securities by the Federal Reserve, since this stacked monetary action and induced inflation.

A third major contribution was CED's "stabilizing budget policy" concept. While it emphasized the desirability of balanced budgets under relatively full employment, it left room for a change in this standard in times of high unemployment and business recession. Kennedy fiscal policies are drawn from this.

From then on—through the 1957 turning point in U. S. economic history and continuing even now—CED has produced careful analyses of current economic problems, and has suggested solutions.

CED's most constructive achievement probably will come from its Commission on Money and Credit, established in 1958 with a Ford Foundation grant. One volume of its report was published in 1961 and has been extensively used by administration, economists and Congress. Other volumes are in preparation.

A principal goal of CED now is furtherance of economic education in America. The theory is that if the enterprise and individual liberty are to survive, this will come only through greater understanding of what the system is and how it works.

Letters

To the Editor: While I respectfully admit that my opinion does not count much in the scheme of things in our city I know that mine is an opinion also held by many adults in Sanford.

I have just read the Editorial in May 20, 1963 issue of The Sanford Herald. I have nothing but sympathy for the citizens of Sanford who, through poor judgement, have put men into office, both in Sanford and Seminole County, who have hurt our chances for growth and progress.

This military school which will not come to Sanford is but another sad example of what indecision and bickering among our officials has done to Sanford.

The adults of Seminole County have put short-sighted, and in many cases unintelligent men into places of power. It seems that better judgment on the part of the citizens, coupled with interest in the future of Sanford, is needed promptly in order to straighten up the mess we are in and prevent the disaster we are headed for.

Sincerely, Susan Tanner Senior, Seminole High School

P. S. Thank you for your attention. I wanted you to know that you have the support of those who are aware of the situation.

(Ed. Note: Good to see high school students taking an interest.)

Across-Board Sales Tax Proposed In Senate

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — A broad, across-the-board sales tax hitting virtually everything but medicines was introduced in the Senate today as subcommittee searchers frantically for new revenue would be earmarked for the cities and counties.

The bill, which could produce up to $200 million in new revenue per biennium, was offered by Sen. Ed Fraser, McClenny, and Dewey Johnson, Quincy.

It goes much further than another across-the-board tax proposed by Fraser at the start of the session, which included groceries but continued exemptions on many items included in the new bill.

It would extend the three per cent tax to groceries, lawyers and other professional services, and to newspapers, wire services, radio, television stations and magazines.

It leaves automobiles taxed at only one per cent, but boosts the tax on heavy machinery from a present ceiling of $30,000 to $165,000.

It also puts the tax on charges for repairs, installations, remodeling, duplex apartments, race track admissions, movie film rentals, and repeats the present exemption on goods sold out-of-state and radio advertising.

Monkey Bite Case Aired

Forced In Parked Car, Girl Testifies

The "monkey bite" attempted rape case went to trial this morning before an all-white six-man jury in the circuit court of Judge Vassar Carlton.

Charles Edward Sparks, 29-year-old Sanford Negro weighing 200 pounds and six feet tall, is on trial for attempted robbery and attempted rape of a hospital employee last March 28.

The hospital employee, a 20-year-old white girl weighing 100 pounds and five feet three inches tall, this morning told of Sparks entering the hospital shortly before midnight, attempting to burglarize the hospital safe and then forcing her to leave the hospital with him.

The girl testified Sparks forced her to a station wagon parked in the hospital lot, telling her he was "going to make love to me." When he found the station wagon locked, she said, he forced her to accompany him to the Negro section of the city.

When she continued to refuse to cooperate, the girl testified, he dressed himself, directed her to leave the car and returned her to the hospital.

Sparks was arrested the same night by city police after the girl told them he had remarked he had been bitten by an animal and police recalled the Negro had been bitten by a monkey at the Sanford Zoo where he worked as a "fruit" waiter, serving a minor sentence in the city jail.

Robert Bessner, hospital administrator, testified shortly before the noon recess that the girl was a hospital employee and on duty the night of March 28 and that Sparks was a former employee of the hospital.

The trial was to resume at 1 p.m. today.

Assistant State Attorney A. J. Hoseman Jr., Cocoa Beach, is prosecuting the case while Sparks is represented by Norris D. Woolfork III, Orlando Negro attorney.

Police Probe Corpse In Lake

Local authorities today were endeavoring to identify a body recovered Wednesday afternoon in Lake Monroe and tentatively identified as Albert Robinson, 56.

The body was discovered floating on the surface by a 55-year-old Negro, Joe Hines, of 705 Orange Avenue, while fishing from the city breakwater.

Peace Justice and Coroner Hugh Duncan said it appeared the body had been in the lake for a week. No autopsy was ordered since, Judge Duncan said, there was no evidence of foul play.

Social Security and health cards bore the name of Albert Robinson, 56, giving his address as a Lakeland Hotel. The hotel manager told The Herald an "Albert Robinson" had been employed there as a dishwasher but had been discharged three weeks ago.

He added the man returned about 10 days ago with a request to be reinstated in his job but had been refused.

Other papers, including a Tampa bank deposit slip, gave other names but efforts to contact these persons have been to no avail.

Authorities expressed the opinion there was no connection in Robinson's death with that of a 43-year-old Paula Barber, Floyd Dodson, whose beaten body was discovered May 15 in the St. Johns River. Four men have been charged with first degree murder in Dodson's death.

Judge Duncan requested today that any relatives or friends of Robinson contact him.

The Brison Funeral Home also is endeavoring to locate relatives.

Navy 'Slaps' Carrier Critics

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI) — The Navy tore into critics of its controversial aircraft carriers today, contending the flattops were America's best weapons for meeting rising Red military threats in Africa, the Middle East and South Asia.

At a time when Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara was gravely pondering the carriers' future role, a bevy of admirals came to the Aviation-Space Writers Association's 25th annual meeting to uncock a spirited defense of the multi-million dollar ships.

There were shades of the famed 1919 inter-service fight over carriers and bombers in some of today's arguments. These were calculated to put land-based combat planes in a comparatively unfavorable light for dealing with limited war in remote areas.

Judge Duncan requested today that any relatives or friends of Robinson contact him.

The Brison Funeral Home also is endeavoring to locate relatives.

The full House Wednesday approved a Senate bill authorizing a state university or branch university in this area but with an amendment which will send it back to the Senate for concurrence. The amendment would add Flagler County to the seven counties of East Central Florida interested in having a school located in their respective counties.

The university was a recommendation of a special space area study of Florida's university system which was released shortly before the opening of the 1963 session.

The press was not invited to the meeting and a reporter was told at the door "if the something is resolved, the people will be told."

Hutchison said that adding matters discussed was necessary roads to any future school sites and that the County Commission will be informed on future sites so they can map out roads going into schools regarding paving and drainage.

The meeting lasted over an hour, the commission chairman disclosed.

Ryant Signs Needy Aid Bill

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — With a stroke of the pen today, Gov. Farris Bryant made Florida eligible for about $8 million in federal Kerr-Stills funds for hospital and nursing care for the aged.

The measure will cost the state about $1.2 million over the next two years and the money is provided in the general appropriations bill. Sponsors said it would get back for this money about $8 million in federal funds.

The program is limited to persons over 65 years of age who are not on public welfare but who cannot afford big hospital bills without cutting into their food and board budgets. Welfare pensioners are provided for under another state hospital program in effect for several years.

Don't Count Me Out, Karl Says

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — State Rep. Frederick Karl of Daytona Beach has let it be known in no uncertain terms that he is not to be counted out as a possible starter in the 1964 race for governor.

Karl moved quickly to squelch rumors that he has decided to bow out in favor of Sen. John E. Matthews Jr., Jacksonville.

The rumors flooded the Capitol when former Sen. Doyle Carlton, Wauchula, 1960 runner-up for governor, paid a pop call to Tallahassee earlier this week and held a series of meetings with potential candidates and top political advisors.

Karl told UPI he had a "long meeting" with Carlton but he said no decisions were made, indicating that his position has not changed since he announced just prior to the Legislature that he was strongly considering the race.

Word from the base camp of the American expedition said the four victorious climbers are in "good health" and on their way back down together.

Radio reports said one assault team of Barry C. Bishop, 30, of Washington, D. C., and Luther G. Jerstad, 26, of San Diego, Calif., reached the 29,029-foot peak at 3:30 p. m. Wednesday by way of the south col—the route used by all previous successful assaults.

Three hours later the team of Dr. William Unsold, 36, of Corvallis, Ore., and Dr. Thomas F. Hornsby, 32, of San Diego, Calif., reached the top via the previously unexplored west ridge.

The two teams reported by walkie-talkie radio that they were descending the mountain together by the south col. They were between 21,000-foot camp 3 and 21,350-foot camp 2 when contacted late today.
