Bouquet, marijuana given to CCIB agent

LONGWOOD — A 25-year-old Winter Park man remained jailed today after he made a romantic overture to an undercover City County Investigative Bureau agent.

Scott Warren Barber of 2025 Hounds Lake Ave., who is a wholesale florist, allegedly handed the female agent a free bouquet of flowers. The gift was presented in the parking lot of the ABC Lounge, Longwood, at about 10 p.m. Monday. Within minutes Barber returned with another gift for the agent. He allegedly gave her about a gram of marijuana. Barber was charged with possession of less than 20 grams of marijuana and was being held in lieu of $500 bond.

Casselberry set to plant trees

CASSELBERRY — The city of Casselberry is celebrating Arbor Month with a proclamation presented by Ernie Hutton and the planting of a tree in front of city hall at 95 Triple Lake Drive at 2 p.m. Friday.

Casselberry is the first city in the nation to take part in Hutton's Arbor Month program by setting the month of April aside for the planting of trees according to Sharon Ellis, parks and recreation director. Several were planted at Witz Park last year in observance of the program.

In conjunction with the observance, Casselberry Kiwanis Club will sell trees Friday night at the Bingo game at Casselberry's Senior Citizens Multi-purpose Center, 200 N. Lake Triple Drive on April 16, 23 and 30. For information on tree sales, call David Nelson, 699-0335.

Fire at dairy of suspicious cause

SANFORD — Seminole County sheriffs and fire investigators today are probing a suspicious but small fire in a milk storage area at the closed Baker's Dairy farm on State Road 427 east of Lake Mary.

Assistant Fire Chief Joseph Walters said investigators are uncertain how the Tuesday afternoon fire began because the dairy farm is unoccupied. The fire was reported by a passerby 911 emergency call at 4:45 p.m. and was extinguished quickly and caused minimal damage to the structure and contents.

ALAMONTE SPRINGS — Lake Brantley rallied from an early 1-0 deficit to claim a 6-0 victory over Lake Howell in a crucial Seminole Athletic Conference game before 733 fans Tuesday at Lady Patricia Stadium.

Lake Brantley, which had 17 hits in the game, improved to 15-7 overall and 7-0 in the conference and leads Lake Howell and Lake Mary by two games. Brantley has won 10 games in a row. Details, page 7A.

Norris recommends adding staff

By Nancy Simmons
Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY — City Manager Robert L. Norris will recommend to the city commission Thursday two additional staff positions be created—an accounting clerk and a senior planner.

Mayor Dick Fess says a decision on hiring two new staff members should partially depend on whether the city moves staff offices to a proposed temporary site at Shoppes at Lake Mary, which will also be recommended to the commission at its 7:30 p.m. meeting.

Fess says if the city staff stays in the current city building, he believes two additional persons should be hired. However, if the staff moves into offices at the shopping center, he says the more spacious, comfortable surroundings could increase staff productivity.

Maybe then we could get by with just hiring one additional staff member, he said.

The salary for the accounting clerk would range between $12,584 and $16,988, according to Norris' proposal. The salary for the senior planner would be advertised as between $22,293 to $33,439, but Norris said he hopes the senior planner can be hired for a salary of about $25,000.

The senior planner would report directly to Norris and Matt West, the city's current planner would be under the senior planner's supervision according to Norris' proposal.

The addition of an accounting clerk would allow the city to complete financial reports and make pay bills "in a more timely fashion," according to Norris. If a clerk is hired, the current finance director would also be free to concentrate on long range financial planning, utilization of funds, and to work on the budget process, according to Norris.

Some of the qualifications Norris suggests for the senior planner are:

- A master's degree in planning or public administration and a minimum of two years of experience in planning or a bachelor's degree and a minimum of four years experience in planning at a local government level.

- Knowledge of the principles and practices of collecting planning data, preparation of comprehensive planning reports and studies, and general planning activities in local government.

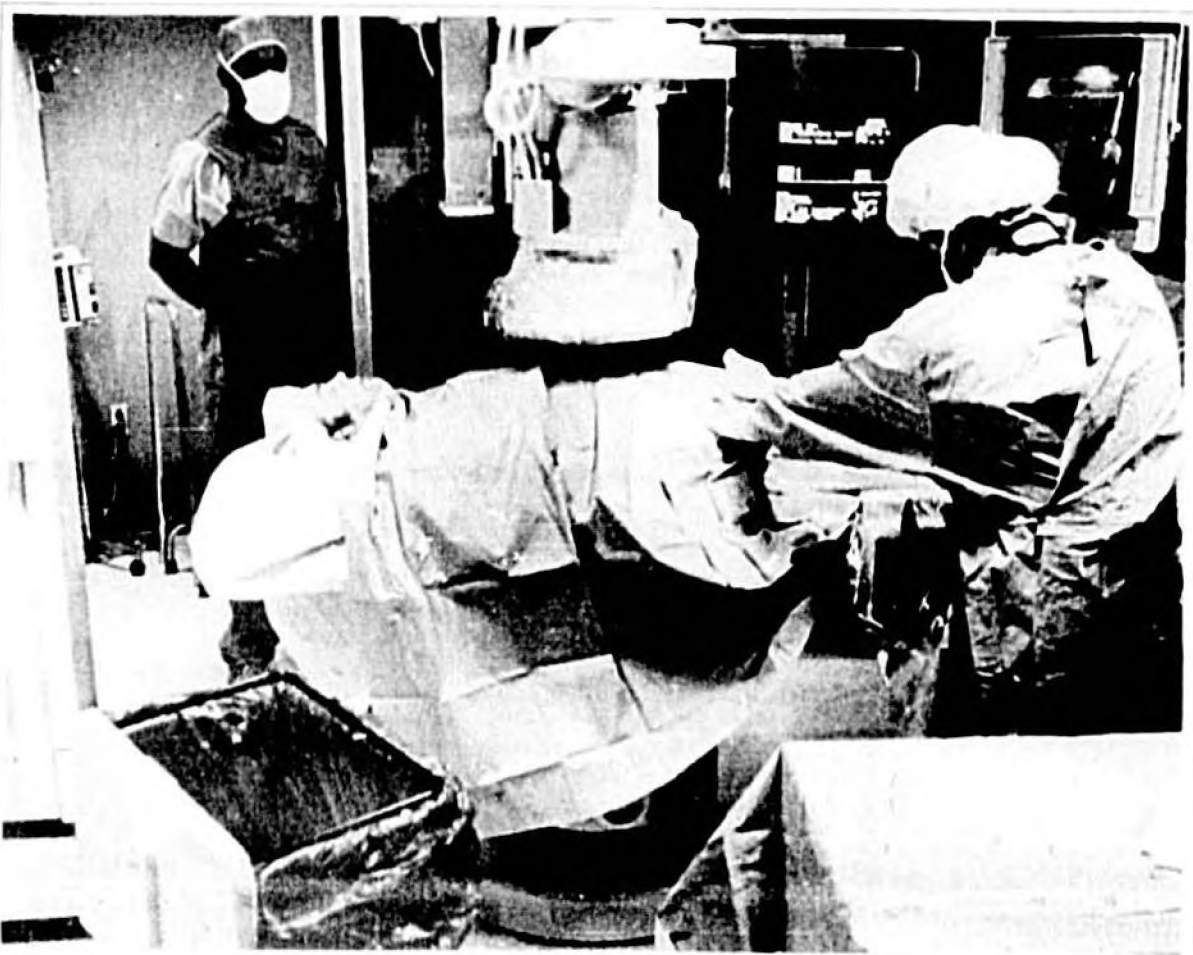

- Knowledge of local, state and federal regulations as they relate to planning issues.

- Knowledge of recent developments affecting local planning issues, statistics, graphics, and basic research methods.

- Knowledge of office procedures, principles and practices.

Dr. Lawrence E. Vallario oversees the heart catheterization procedure on Deltana resident Frank Kuykendall, one of the first patients to be treated in the $2.3 million catheterization laboratory at Central Florida Regional Hospital. Kuykendall is conscious during the process, which uses state-of-the-art X-ray and computer technology to check for disease in the arteries leading to the heart.

CFRH catheterization lab benefits its first patient

SANFORD — A 69-year-old Sanford woman may become the first patient to benefit from the new $2.3 million catheterization laboratory at Central Florida Regional Hospital.

She is receiving the first open heart surgery operation Tuesday in Orlando after a 30-minute cardiac catheterization procedure at the new laboratory showed it was possible to clear her arteries leading to the heart.

Bazel Johnson, 69, of Lake Drive, was listed in critical but stable condition today at Florida Hospital in Orlando, a hospital spokeswoman said.

The cardiology treatment procedure, where the catheter is inserted into the coronary arteries and the heart to allow computerized imaging to spot possible weaknesses in the arteries, was made possible

Johnson Tuesday at CFRH.

Dr. Lawrence Vallario, who conducted the catheterization procedure, said his patient was "very lucky" because the test revealed what Johnson did not know previously, that she had a partially blocked coronary artery condition.

"It was a good thing we found out when we did," said Vallario, medical director of the catheterization lab.

Shortly after the test was concluded, Johnson was taken to helicopter to Florida Hospital where she had open heart surgery.

Three patients were examined in the hospital's new lab Tuesday, the first day the lab was open.

Patients are conscious during the entire test, and one of the patients could be seen talking to Vallario during the procedure Tuesday, and answering questions of a nurse after the test was completed.

To carry out our work here we have very expensive equipment, it is certainly not the status quo," said Vallario, who came to Sanford last July.

The cath lab has a digital computerized X-ray machine capable of visualizing the coronary arteries and pumping chambers of the heart. The heart is photographed on movie film and the film is cut to view individual pictures.

Russell Hoogerwerf, imaging manager at CFRH, said the next goal for the hospital is to have the capabilities to perform open heart surgery within the next 18 months to two years.

In the meantime, Vallario and his doctors will be putting the technological wonders of the new cardiac cath lab to full advantage.

Charter panel ired over letter

By J. Mark Barfield
Herald Staff Writer

ALAMONTE SPRINGS — The Seminole County Charter Committee expressed anger Tuesday night over a letter sent to local mayors by one of its members who claims a county charter could reduce their cities' powers.

By a unanimous vote, the committee decided to send a letter to the mayors disavowing any allegiance with the letter written by committee member Bob Webster March 23 soliciting invitations to speak before local city commissions.

Webster suggested that local mayors invite him and Charter Committee Chairman Marilyn Crotty to speak before them on the charter's ramifications. Webster, who has been an outspoken critic of county charters in general, said in the letter that a county charter would "drastically alter the efficiency of cities under state home rule laws."

Webster said after the meeting state laws allow charter counties to make zoning decisions for the entire county, including incorporated municipalities. In his letter he wrote that there are no city or elected officials on the charter committee. However, Nancy Warren, a committee member and an elected member of the Seminole County School Board, says he intended to include only elected city government officials, not school board members.

The letter angered committee Chairman Marilyn Crotty, who had advised committee members not to make public statements until the final draft of the charter is prepared later this year. She was also angry that the letter referred to her without her knowledge.

"I was appalled," Crotty exclaimed. "I don't want my name put on that type of letter. I am really distraught."

Committee members agreed to allow Crotty to draft a letter and bring it back to their next week for their approval.

That's disingenuous," Webster commented after the meeting. "This is a constitutional right and nobody has the right to invade anybody."

The committee also made progress on deciding what a county charter would be presented to county commissioners for their approval and a decision on whether voters will get the charter to approve it.

They decided that the county administrator should continue to be a position appointed by county commissioners.

In a 11-2 vote, committee members decided an elected county executive, sometimes referred to as a county mayor, would not be in the community's best interest.

If an elected executive is worried about getting elected every year around budget time, he isn't going to be able to pay as much attention to the operations of the county government," said committee member Dick Van Der Weide.

"I think as you get closer to the people on the state, county or city level, a separate elected executive branch isn't needed," said committee member Jeff Davis. "The commissioners are elected and are answerable to the people. An appointed county administrator is answerable to them."

Sign removal brings protest

LONGWOOD — A group of 15 sign dedicating three palm trees at the Longwood Police Department to suspended Police Chief Greg Manning prompted an emotional protest from the donor, Land Planning Agency Chairman Bernard S. Linton.

Linton's protest came during a public participation period at the commission meeting Monday night.

Officials were urged that the 50-by-20-inch wooden sign was erected Monday morning by the public works department with the authorization of Public Works Director Charles Huggins, but without the knowledge of Acting City Administrator Don Terry, the city commission.

Some said they suspect it is more than a coincidence that the sign was put up at a time when Manning is awaiting an April 18 police review board hearing concerning allegations that followed a probe of the handling of police funds. City Attorney Michael Kramer said the timing was particularly bad.

Terry said he was informed Monday after coming to work Monday by Acting Police Chief Richard Beary that the sign had been put up on the police station lawn. Terry said he asked Beary where it was moved.

Woods carved in the wooden sign were "These trees de-dedicated to Chief Greg Manning and his department for outstanding professional service," operation. Donated by Bernard (Bernie) S. Linton.

Terry said there are several trees in the city that were donated by others, and they don't have plaques on them. If they did, he added, the plaques should be paid for by the individual donating the trees, not by the city.

Linton, who lives at 391 M. Cimbeck St., donated the palms over a year ago to help landscape the police station after a street widening resulted in their being removed from in front of his house. My wife planted these

The aluminum was sold to Kokomo Tool Co., Sanford, for about $500 and employees there reportedly identified possible suspects in the case.

The arrests were made at about 8:30 a.m. Tuesday at the Sanford police station. The suspects are scheduled to appear in court April 25.

Man accused of punching woman

WINTER SPRINGS — A 33-year-old Winter Springs man accused of hitting a woman in the face with his fist faces a charge of battery today and is scheduled to appear in court April 14.

Carroll T. Gibson, of 751 Summerland Ave., Winter Springs, has been released on $500 bond. He is accused of hitting a woman in the face while at his home. He was arrested there by Winter Springs police at about 10:33 p.m. Monday.

Alan P. Flor, of 178 Bristol Point, Longwood, reported to sheriff's deputies that $861 was stolen from his home between March 20 and Friday.

Norris' absence for surgery topic of Lake Mary meeting

By Nancy Simmons
Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY — The city commission will discuss Thursday night how to run the city while City Manager Robert L. Norris is recovering from triple bypass open heart surgery, and whether to give him the time off with pay, as he has requested.

Norris will undergo the surgery Tuesday at Florida Hospital, Orlando.

Norris, 41, experienced a minor heart attack last October while attending a convention in Miami. He said he felt ill at the convention, but did not realize he had a heart attack until he went to a doctor a few days later.

Following the attack, Norris spent a month recuperating at home. He also began an exercise program and gave up smoking. However, his doctors say his condition apparently has not improved and that several arteries are clogged.

According to city records, Norris has 23 hours of sick leave coming to him. He also has two or three weeks of vacation time accumulated, but is requesting time off without pay after his surgery, so that his vacation time will not be affected.

Norris says he thinks he has two weeks of vacation accumulated, but Carol Edwards, city clerk, says she thinks he has three weeks' vacation coming. Edwards said she will check city records to determine the exact amount of vacation time Norris has.

According to a personnel ordinance, when city workers have used up their allotted time off, they may still have 45 days off without pay. However, the commission paid Norris during his recuperation time last fall.

Another city staff member may be appointed to serve as temporary city manager during Norris' time off.

Troopers arrest suspected 'johns'

LONGWOOD — One man is jailed today and two others free on $100 bond each after Florida Highway Patrol troopers arrested them on charges of soliciting for prostitution.

The arrests all occurred shortly before and after midnight Tuesday at the eastbound rest area of Interstate 4, less than one mile north of Longwood.

Charged are: Philip Glenn Joy, 47, of Ocean City, Maryland; Robert Frances Root, 28, of Hollywood, Fla.; and James Alexander, 19, of Liberton, Kentucky.

The arrest were made individually after each of the three suspects allegedly made an offer to buy sexual favors from an undercover law enforcement officer.

Alexander remains jailed today. Joy and Root have been released on bond and are scheduled to appear in court April 25.

In the past, Seminole County sheriff's deputies and City County Investigative Bureau agents have reported making similar arrests at interstate rest stops in the same area.

Officer impersonation alleged

CASSELBERRY — A man who claimed at different times that he worked for the Apopka Police Department, the Seminole County Sheriff's Department and the "Orange County Police Department, special operations" is wanted today for grand theft of jewelry from a Casseberry store and impersonating a police officer, according to a sheriff's report.

The suspect is delinquent in the payment of $1,705 for jewelry he purchased last December from Van's Jewelry at Lake Howell Square in Casseberry, authorities said.

CCIB agents search home, nab suspected pot farmers

SANFORD — Two residents of a home where City County Investigative Bureau agents reportedly found a garden of potted marijuana, remain free today on $1,000 bond each, while another suspect in the case remains jailed.

CCIB agents with a warrant reported making a total of five arrests after they searched property at 2820 S. Sanford Ave., Sanford, at about 9 p.m. Tuesday. Two of those arrested, Jerome Payton Murphy, 23, and Michelle Lynn Murphy, 19, both of 306 Satsuma Drive, Sanford, were arrested after the first three arrests were made.

The Murphys reportedly arrived during the search and CCIB agents reported searching Michelle Murphy's purse and finding five marijuana cigarettes. She and Jerome Murphy were charged with possession of less than 20 grams of marijuana and released on $500 bond each to appear in court April 13. Also charged with possession of less than 20 grams of marijuana was Richard Bargamian Jr., 23, of 103 Whispering Pine Court, Sanford. Bargamian was the only one of the five who remains jailed today in lieu of $500 bond.

According to CCIB agents, Bargamian was outside with the residents of the home when agents arrived and arrested those three.

Residents Christopher Allen Bowen, 24, and Thomas Lee Sapp Jr., 25, of the Sanford Avenue address, were apparently "gardening" when the agents arrived, agents said. They reported finding 14 pot plants growing at that location. They potted plants had just been watered, agents said.

Bowen and Sapp have been released on $1,000 bond to appear in court April 25.

James Lawrence Jackson, of Rt. 2, Box 425, was sentenced to one year of probation, 50 hours of community service, and suspension of his driver's license for five years. He also was ordered to pay a $500 fine, plus court costs.

Jackson was arrested for DUI on March 28, by Casseberry police.

In another case, Richard Lee Abuhl, Casseberry, was sentenced to one year of probation, and 50 hours of community service. His driver's license was suspended for five years, and he also was fined $500 plus court costs.

Abuhl was arrested by Casseberry police for DUI on March 27.

Greet blue herons, cherry blossoms

By Fred H. Cooper
Herald Staff Writer

The next 24 hours are going to be interesting for weather-watchers along the Atlantic seaboard. Seminole County will probably be immune to the perturbations of the weather system now plowing its way east so we can take a detached view.

First, picture two spectacular events of this day: In Washington, folks are being treated to one of the most beautiful sights of our nation. It's cherry blossom time in the District and the trees lining the basin and framing the Jefferson Memorial are in full bloom. It's a breath-taking sight.

Then, further north, way up at Venalhaven, Mass., the citizens are prepared for the annual return of the blue herons. It always happens on this day of the year. Well, just about every year. It's a very important return for the herons since it marks the advent of their mating season and we certainly wouldn't want a bunch of frustrated blue herons cavorting about New England. Although better there than in Sanford. Any way, today will be beautiful up there—both Washington and Venalhaven. Sunshine and near record highs.

Then comes the night. The storm system which moved through Texas, Mississippi and into Alabama yesterday and last night, continues its trek east and then will turn north as it hits the Atlantic. Bam! Tomorrow will be cloudy, rainy and windy all the way up the coast into New England. So it goes.

That front will swipe the Panhandle but should give us only a cloudy sky. Very little chance of rain and that during the dark hours tonight.

Since it's humpday you may be thinking of the weekend. If so, it's gonna be great. Clear skies, warm sun, etc. The lows will be back in the 60s, about 10 degrees higher than we'll have tonight. Highs today, tomorrow, Friday and through the weekend will be in the 80s.

The storm front has made a mess of an otherwise couple of nice days.

Thunderstorms whipped up vicious winds and spewed hail from Michigan to Texas as summer-like weather set records in more than 40 cities in the South and Midwest, while forecasters said temperatures would remain high throughout much of the country today.

Showers and thunderstorms extended along and ahead of a mild cold front from the upper Great Lakes across Illinois and Indiana into the lower Mississippi Valley and southeast Texas. There were numerous reports of hail, damaging winds and tornadoes Tuesday, the National Weather Service said.

Temperatures soared across the nation, with records being broken or tied in 41 cities. It was 85 in Chicago on Tuesday, shattering a record for the date that had stood since set in 1873.

Muskegon, Mich., recorded 79, Indianapolis had 84, and Louisville, Ky., reported 87.

Cleveland logged 81, breaking the previous mark of 79 set in 1947.

In spite of Lake Erie's 37-degree water temperature, thousands of people in the Cleveland area gathered on the lake's shoreline for a preview of summer fun.

Dry weather prevailed elsewhere across the nation under mostly clear skies.

(Reports by United Press International and data provided by the National Weather Service were used in compiling this report.)

Asbestos probes on time, say heads of private schools

By Nancy Simmons
Herald Staff Writer
SANFORD — Asbestos inspections were completed last week in Seminole County public schools, but several of the county's private schools are still inspecting buildings for the presence of asbestos.

However, principals at those private schools say they expect no problems in meeting an October 12 deadline for inspections to be submitted and reports to be submitted to the state Department of Education on plans for removing any asbestos found.

The inspections and management reports are required by the federal Asbestos Hazard Emergency Response Act.

Despite reports issued by the state department of education stating that qualified inspectors may be hard to locate in Florida, private school spokesmen say they are having no problems locating inspectors. One principal, Dennis Thomas of Liberty Christian School, 2626 Palmetto Ave., said there are several inspectors in and out of state. Dr. Barry Hershone, principal at Loch Lowe Preparatory School in Lake Mary, said the Florida Association of Accredited Non-Public Schools (FAANS), has on hand for all interested private schools a list of qualified inspectors in the state.

He said that due to FAANS, he has had no problem finding an inspector and he expects Loch Lowe to be able to meet the Oct. 12 deadline. Hershone added that while he has had no report on the inspector's findings, Loch Lowe was inspected in 1985 and no asbestos was found at that time.

Charlene Luna, principal at Page School, 118 W. Airport Blvd., said that during a preliminary inspection at Page, no asbestos was found, but that a more thorough investigation is to be conducted soon.

"We are in favor of doing anything we can to help," she said, adding, "we will meet the deadline."

Law Engineering, a consultant firm in Tampa, is conducting the inspection at Sweetwater Episcopal Academy in Longwood, according to the school principal, Nancy Boyer. She said she anticipates no problems in meeting the Oct. 12 deadline and that the firm has found no dangerous levels of asbestos.

Seminole Trinity School, 801 W. 22nd St., also will be able to meet the Oct. 12 deadline, according to Rev. Max Poole, pastor of the church that sponsors the school. Although the investigation is not completed, no asbestos has been found in the school so far, he said.

Ronald Taylor, principal at Victory Baptist School, 4621 Hester Ave., said he has had no trouble finding inspectors and is, in fact, having to decide which of two companies will perform the inspection at the school. He said representatives of one of those companies has told him that if their firm does the inspection and does not meet the Oct. 12 deadline, that company will pay any fine resulting from missing the deadline.

However, Taylor said he believes his school will meet the deadline with no problem.

Dennis Thomas, principal of Liberty Christian School in Sanford, said the inspections are underway and he believes his school will easily meet the deadline.

A spokeswoman for New Life Christian School, 100 Kennel

Road, said a representative of that school attended a seminar at the University of Central Florida last week to learn more about the federal mandate and requirements that must be met.

A representative of the Seventh-Day Adventist School, 5616 N. County Road 427, said that a new building has just been constructed for housing that school and he thinks it will be exempt from the inspection requirement. Students will move into the new facility later this month.

Representatives of All Souls Catholic School could not be reached, due to spring break.

Mortgage flap leads to suit charging fraud

SANFORD — Phillip W. Sigman has filed a complaint in Seminole County Circuit Court, against Timothy K. Perry charging fraud, deceit, and misrepresentation, in connection with a piece of property the two jointly own in Altamonte Springs.

Sigman alleges the two had agreed that Perry would oversee the upkeep and rental of the property, located on Notre Dame Drive, and that the rental proceeds would go toward paying off a mortgage on the property. Also, Sigman states in the complaint that he had been paying Perry $75 monthly for approximately 10 months and that those funds also were to be applied to the mortgage. Sigman stated in the complaint that Perry also was required to account to him upon request for monies disbursed for the property.

However, according to Sigman, he was notified in early March that foreclosure proceedings were being brought against himself and Perry. In the complaint, he alleges that Perry has refused to account to him for any of the finances relating to the property. He also charges Perry with using funds intended for the mortgage for other uses. The complaint alleges that the monies in dispute are in excess of $10,000.

Sigman asks for a jury trial and requests that Perry show the court all books, records, checks and receipts for the property. He also asks a restraining order be issued against the defendant, to prevent the defendant from disposing of the property until the matter is settled in court.

Couple's charge: Insurance firm broke contract

SANFORD — James and Deborah Shanks, have filed a complaint in Seminole County Circuit Court, against National Fire Insurance Co., charging that firm with breach of contract in failing to supply insurance to Baker Industries, as per a contract entered into between the two firms.

The complaint comes as the result of an automobile accident in which James Shanks was involved in Seminole County. The vehicle he was driving, owned by Baker Industries, was struck by another vehicle. That driver was not insured; however, Shanks alleges that according to a contract between Baker Industries and National Fire Insurance Co., that company should have picked up the insurance at that point.

Shanks also states in the complaint that the insurance company will not furnish him with a copy of the policy.

The Shanks are asking for a jury trial in the matter and for damages in excess of $5,000. According to the complaint Shanks has suffered bodily injury, disfigurement and disability, has incurred medical expenses and loss of wages.

Greed prompts Volga taxman

The progressive income tax has penetrated the Soviet Union, where many Americans are convinced it was thought up in the first place. Mikhail Gorbachev announced earlier this month, in a speech to cheering workers at a Moscow factory, that the government was preparing to levy a progressive income tax on individuals to curb the growing wealth of private business ventures.

Only in the Soviet Union would people cheer a progressive income tax.

Envy more than anything else seems to have motivated the workers' enthusiasm. Private cooperatives, the Soviet term for cottage industries and mom-and-pop businesses, have been successful beyond anyone's dreams.

Hard facts are difficult to come by, but the uproar raised over the "greed" and "excessive profits" of small entrepreneurs in some Communist Party newspapers suggests the majority of Soviet citizens prefer the private businesses to the state stores with their legendary inefficiency.

In 1986, the Kremlin gave grudging approval to cooperatives with the idea they would provide a wide range of goods and services that the state monopolies had failed to produce. They have and in spades.

Equally important, however, was Moscow's desire to take these businesses out of the huge black market where they avoided taxes altogether. In return for licenses to operate openly, the cooperatives pay a uniform tax of 13 percent on their profits, equal to that which professionals such as doctors and teachers pay on their moonlighting fees.

There are about 9,000 cooperatives employing some 90,000 people throughout the U.S.S.R. The businesses include everything from restaurants and hairdressers to automotive repair shops, clothing stores, produce markets and electrical appliance shops.

As the role of small entrepreneurs in the Soviet economy has grown, so has the envy of ordinary workers who are trapped in the drudgery of factory jobs and state farms. Increasingly, they want a chance to earn a piece of the good life enjoyed by the owners and employees of private companies. The imposition of a progressive tax on the incomes of the entrepreneurs is a way for the Soviet government to defuse a potentially dangerous situation and make a tidy profit on its own.

The Kremlin would be loath to admit it, but the success of the cooperatives has created a middle class of prosperous entrepreneurs in a country that claims to have wiped out the middle class 71 years ago. Far from being the "exploiters of the workers," as communist mythology holds, the U.S.S.R.'s burgeoning middle class is giving the people what they do not receive from the state: goods and services at fair prices.

As a reward for their hard work and success the entrepreneurs are to be taxed at a higher rate, just like in the United States.

Prosecutor fears 'felony freeway' to Canada

By Laurie Watson

OTTAWA (UPI) — Canada's Immigration system, viewed as one of the most compassionate in the world, has become a lifeline for American fugitives hoping to escape U.S. courts. "We're going to turn the New York State Thruway into felony freeway," complained Media, Pa., Assistant District Attorney Joel Goldstein, who is waiting to prosecute fugitive Thomas Vile for murder.

The Canadian system could even save Vile's life. He escaped to Quebec before Pennsylvania police could charge him in the death of Irene Pierce, 35, a display designer in Media, near Philadelphia, last December.

Shortly after reaching Canada, Vile was picked up in downtown Toronto and imprisoned. Facing deportation, he applied for refugee status, which could delay his return to the United States for months or years.

Goldstein said Canada's lax immigration system, allowing aliens to frustrate the U.S. justice system, has become a problem.

He said another man charged with murder in Pennsylvania recently was apprehended heading for the Canadian border.

"The reason he was going to Canada was because he had heard about Vile," Goldstein said. "As cases such as this get publicity, they will become more of a problem."

Vile said he would be executed if he is returned, although Pennsylvania's last execution was in 1962.

"I fear going back to my country for fear I will be put to death," he said in a televised interview with W-5, a Canadian Television Network public affairs program. "If I'm prosecuted, believe me I'm going to be persecuted and executed."

Immigration authorities will process Vile's application in the same way they handle hundreds of thousands of others from aliens. Refugee status normally is granted to aliens who fear they will be imprisoned or killed for political reasons if sent home.

Though it is not likely Vile will be granted refugee status, he can appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada. Similarly, he can appeal a deportation decision.

Toronto immigration lawyer Charles Roach said he advised Vile to seek refugee status, hoping that would force U.S. authorities to use a Canada-U.S. extradition treaty to have him returned, rather than relying on deportation.

The deportation process requires a fugitive to prove why he should be allowed to stay. Extradition, lengthier and more complicated, would force U.S. authorities to prove they have a criminal case against Vile.

The extradition route also would give Roach a chance to negotiate for his client's life. Under terms of the treaty, Canada, which abolished capital punishment in 1976, can demand the death penalty not be imposed, or refuse to return the fugitive.

Goldstein said U.S. authorities did not plan to negotiate conditions or apply for Vile's extradition as long as Canada is prepared to proceed under deportation laws.

"There are some cases proceeding under extradition that have dragged on for years," he said. "We think deportation will proceed. There's no question Vile is an inadmissible alien. Nor does he fit any of the definitions for refugee status."

WASHINGTON WORLD

Fallen warriors return

By Steve Gerstel

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Undeterred by history, Reps. Jack Kemp and Richard Gephardt sought the presidency of the United States, only to find that past is indeed prologue and that the doors of the White House are shut to members of the House of Representatives.

On paper, as sportswriters love to say, Gephardt and Kemp both looked solid but they were benched by the voters with the season barely half over, two more House members found wanting on the presidential level.

Why is it that in the history of the republic only James Garfield of Ohio in 1880 was elected directly from the House?

Gephardt, for one, does not believe, despite the evidence history presents, that it is membership in the House which is the falling.

In his farewell to the presidential campaign, just before rushing home to Missouri to run again for the House, Gephardt said, "I really don't think there is any disability or impediment that is created by running from the House."

"Everything you need to do, you can do," Gephardt said. "It is a wonderful experience to bring to the presidency, I believe."

It may be that membership in the House is, as Gephardt suggests, a "wonderful experience" to take to the White House but it may not be enough to convince the voters.

If not the House, is then the Senate the breeding ground for presidents? Especially for those who have had the "wonderful experience" of the House first? The answer seems to be no.

Where then should those Sen. Alan Simpson calls a "special breed" position themselves for a run at the presidency? The best place to find out is the White House.

In the last half-century, this is where the presidents came from politically.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, governor, assistant navy secretary; Harry Truman, vice president; Senate; Dwight D. Eisenhower, military, university president; John F. Kennedy, Senate, House; Lyndon B. Johnson, vice president, Senate, House; Richard M. Nixon, vice president, Senate, House; Jimmy Carter, governor; Ronald Reagan, governor.

JACK ANDERSON

The Pentagon's 'big bang' theory

By Jack Anderson and Dale Van Atta

WASHINGTON — Somebody should tell the Pentagon that "winnable nuclear war" is a contradiction in terms. The Reagan administration may be negotiating with the Soviets over strategic arms limitations, but its ultra-secret plan is to build and use strategic nuclear weapons with the idea of winning.

That aim is apparent in a highly classified Pentagon planning document we have seen, which spells out the "operating guidance" for nuclear weapons.

The primary role of our nuclear weapons is deterrence, the guidance says. So far, so good. But the fallback position will surprise those who believe a full-scale nuclear exchange would be an irreparable and unwinnable holocaust: "Should such an attack nevertheless occur, the United States nuclear capabilities must prevail even under the condition of a prolonged war."

The words "prolonged war" are an oxymoron to Americans who think the Pentagon has sense enough to know there wouldn't be such a continued nuclear conflict

WILLIAM RUSHER

Democrats vs. Jesse

To employ a crude but colorful expression widely used in political circles, the Democratic Party has got its tail in a crack. It turns out that there is, after all, a price to be paid, by the party itself, for the overwhelming support it has received from black voters over the past 55 years.

During all those decades, the Democrats have enjoyed the automatic support of roughly 90 percent of the black electorate, paying for it out of the public purse in the form of all sorts of welfare assistance and other goodies. The money didn't always reach the nominal beneficiaries, to be sure, since it was usually distributed through an elaborate welfare bureaucracy dominated by black politicians. But that simply served to bind the black power structure even more closely to the Democratic Party.

Now, however, the amount of support that Jesse Jackson has managed to roll up for his presidential candidacy confronts the party with a truly ghastly problem. He probably won't have the largest bloc of committed delegates when the Democratic convention opens in Atlanta in July. The party leaders will undoubtedly manage, in the remaining big-state primaries, to huddle together behind Dukakis or some other surviving white dwarf.

But Jackson will almost certainly have the second biggest delegate total, as well as a near-monopoly on charisma and oratorical prowess. How, exactly, are the Democrats going to deny him their vice presidential nomination?

The dilemma is truly staggering. For Jackson's negatives do not end — indeed, they hardly begin — with the fact that he is black. The idea of a black vice president may be a bit novel, but in America today it is far from unthinkable. A serious black political figure, such as House Budget Committee chairman Bill Gray might still, on balance, lose votes for the ticket, but he could be certainly defended as a respectable choice.

But the prospect of Jesse Jackson becoming vice president of the United States presents the Republicans with an array of opportunities that simply boggle the mind. The photographs of Jackson embracing Fidel Castro and Yasir Arafat; his unrepudiated friendship with the notorious Black Muslim Louis Farrakhan; his reference to New York City as "Hymietown"; his wildly inaccurate statements on almost every imaginable subject; his total lack of governmental experience — these merely scratch the surface of a record that simply can't bear serious scrutiny.

Might Jackson, then, be persuaded to step aside for Gray or some other relatively acceptable black? He might, of course; but it would simply be an act of grace if he did. It wasn't Gray, after all, who amassed all those delegates. If nominating a black vice presidential candidate is likely in any event to deny the Democrats whatever hope of victory they have in 1988, the year might still be considered memorable (and worthwhile) for having witnessed the breakthrough. If so, why shouldn't Jesse Jackson himself lead the charge and make a little history?

It's not too much to say that the whole future course of the Democratic Party depends on Jesse Jackson's decisions in the next few months. It has (for a rare change) my sympathy.

ROBERT WALTERS

Scams bilk elderly

SAN LEANDRO, Calif. (NEA) — Public officials who created the Medicare program was to spare the elderly from the fear that illness, disease and declining health would lead to their financial ruin.

The nightmare shared by many senior citizens is that their savings will be drained instead by unscrupulous promoters who curdle the elderly into buying worthless commercial insurance. Its sellers tout as an indispensable supplement to Medicare coverage.

Medicare provides reimbursement for just under half of the medical costs incurred by the nation's elderly. The remainder — including deductibles, co-payments and uninsured services — must be paid by the individual.

To help cover these costs, many health care experts recommend buying — preferably through a group purchase — a good "medigap" insurance policy issued by a reputable company.

But the West Coast office of Consumers Union says its ongoing investigation has documented a pattern of overzealous California sales agents preying upon frightened old people. Some examples:

● In Napa County, an 85-year-old widow was sold eight medical insurance policies by the same agent during a seven-month period. She was paying more than $7,500 in annual premiums for three almost identical medigap policies, three nursing home policies, a hospital indemnity policy and a policy covering accidental death or dismemberment while traveling on a common carrier.

● In Santa Cruz County, insurance agents sold a 79-year-old woman five duplicative medigap policies, three nursing home policies and a hospital indemnity policy — at a cost of $6,000 per year in premium payments.

● In Sonoma County, one elderly couple was paying almost $13,000 annually for overlapping medigap policies. Another couple was paying almost $10,000 yearly for duplicative medigap insurance.

The problem is hardly confined to California. In Arizona, an 88-year-old man who died several years ago had three medigap policies, three hospital indemnity policies and four other policies.

the guidance states: "We will maintain strategic nuclear forces and supporting (communications) systems capable of responding effectively to aggression by attacking the widest range of potential targets." This, of course, means attacking "soft" Soviet targets — cities and people — as well as "hard" targets — nuclear silos and military systems.

Finally, the Pentagon plans to "establish an improved capability for destroying military and leadership targets, including those which are hardened, mobile and reconstituted."

But it any way you want, but this presently means keeping track of Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev as well as all the top civilian and military leaders of the Kremlin, so they can be nuked if necessary.

WORLD IN BRIEF

First of 1,300 U.S. troops arrive; Panama says they may have AIDS

HOWARD AIR FORCE BASE, Panama (UPI) — The first of 1,300 U.S. soldiers ordered by President Reagan to Panama arrived on a mission to bolster security for American military forces in the troubled Central American nation.

Their arrival came hours after national security adviser Colin Powell acknowledged Tuesday that the Reagan administration was reviewing a full range of military, economic and diplomatic moves against Panamanian strongman Gen. Manuel Antonio Noriega. Indicted by two federal courts in Florida on drug trafficking charges.

Lt. Gen. Powell, speaking to reporters in Santa Barbara, Calif., said a U.S. freeze on Panamanian funds in the United States has not had the desired political effect.

And as the troops arrived, Panama's Health Ministry Tuesday issued a public health warning on AIDS, expressing its concern at the increasing number of U.S. soldiers arriving on Panamanian soil.

Gorbachev denies socialist retreat

MOSCOW (UPI) — A high-level debate over Mikhail Gorbachev's efforts to reform the communist system has broken into the open, with the Soviet leader denying he has strayed from socialism and two newspapers clashing over the ideological correctness of his policies.

The heated argument erupted Tuesday in the form of a rare full-page attack by the Communist Party newspaper Pravda against an earlier article in the Sovetskaya Rossiya newspaper that questioned basic aspects of Gorbachev's program.

Gorbachev himself lashed out late Tuesday at critics who claim his new policy is departing from the true socialism.

"We are not looking for answers ... outside the framework of socialism," he said.

Doctor: 2 on hijacked jet ill

MANAMA, Bahrain (UPI) — The hijackers of a Kuwait jumbo jet that was diverted to the Iranian city of Mashhad allowed a physician on board today to treat two passengers, Iran's official Islamic Republic News Agency said.

The physician, identified by IRNA as Dr. Qassem, later left the aircraft and said the hijackers would not allow the two ill women to leave the plane, the agency said.

The hijackers of the Kuwait Airways jumbo jet said earlier three members of the Kuwaiti royal family aboard the plane faced "imminent danger" unless 17 Shiite Muslim extremists jailed in Kuwait were freed within 12 hours, IRNA reported.

Baby boomers reach middle age

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Baby boomers have officially reached middle age, the Census Bureau announced Tuesday, with the leading edge of the post-war child surge passing the 40-year mark.

The Census Bureau also reported the population of the United States increased to 243,915,000 on July 1, 1987 — a 7.4 percent increase over the 227,061,000 people reported April 1, 1980.

"The repercussions of the baby boom are many and varied," the bureau said. "They will continue to affect the United States for many years to come."

The number of men and women aged 35 to 45 years old grew by 34 percent from 1980 to 1987, while the number of those aged 25 to 34 — the bulk of the baby boomers — increased by 17 percent.

Other age groups showing substantial increases.

—The number of people aged 85 and over jumped by 28 percent.

—Men and women aged 75 to 84 increased by 20 percent.

—People aged 65 to 74 grew by 13 percent.

Overall, according to the Census Bureau report, the median age of the U.S. population rose from 30 years in 1980 to 32.1 years in 1987.

Suggesting there is a "baby boom echo" — children born to the large number of baby boomers — the bureau said the number of children under age 5 grew by 12 percent. It noted many women born in the baby boom have entered their prime childbearing years.

But the age group showing the sharpest decline was that of people between 14 and 17 years old, which declined by 11 percent. The groups 5 to 13 years and 18 to 24 years also declined, the bureau said, noting there were 2.1 million fewer children of school age in 1987 than there were in 1980.

In a related report, the Census Bureau reported the number of U.S. households grew by 12 percent in the 1980 to 1987 period, compared to the 7.4 percent population growth — a growth largely attributed to the fact that baby boomers are out of college or their parents' homes and setting up their own households.

At the same time, the report said the average population per household declined from 2.75 persons to 2.64 persons.

The report also said that, as in past years, the black population has increased at a much faster rate than the population as whole, with the number of blacks growing by 11.4 percent in the 1980-1987 period.

The white population, meanwhile, grew by 5.7 percent over the same period.

The Census Bureau also said the "other races" population, principally American Indians, Alaskan Natives, Asians and Pacific Islanders, grew at a much more rapid rate — increasing by 52.2 percent. That increase "has resulted from extremely high net civilian immigration," it said.

While the population as a whole is "graying," the bureau said, the black population is considerably younger than the white population with a much larger share under 25. In 1987, the bureau said, the black median age was 27.2 years while the white median age was 33 years.

Brantley rallies to upend Howell

Lady Pats take control in SAC race

By Chris Piater
Herald Sports Editor
ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Two great teams put on one thrilling performance Tuesday night in a crucial Seminole Athletic Conference game.

Lake Brantley rallied from an early 4-0 deficit with some clutch hitting and defense and held on for a 6-5 victory over Lake Howell's Lady Silver Hawks before 751 fans at Lady Patriot Stadium.

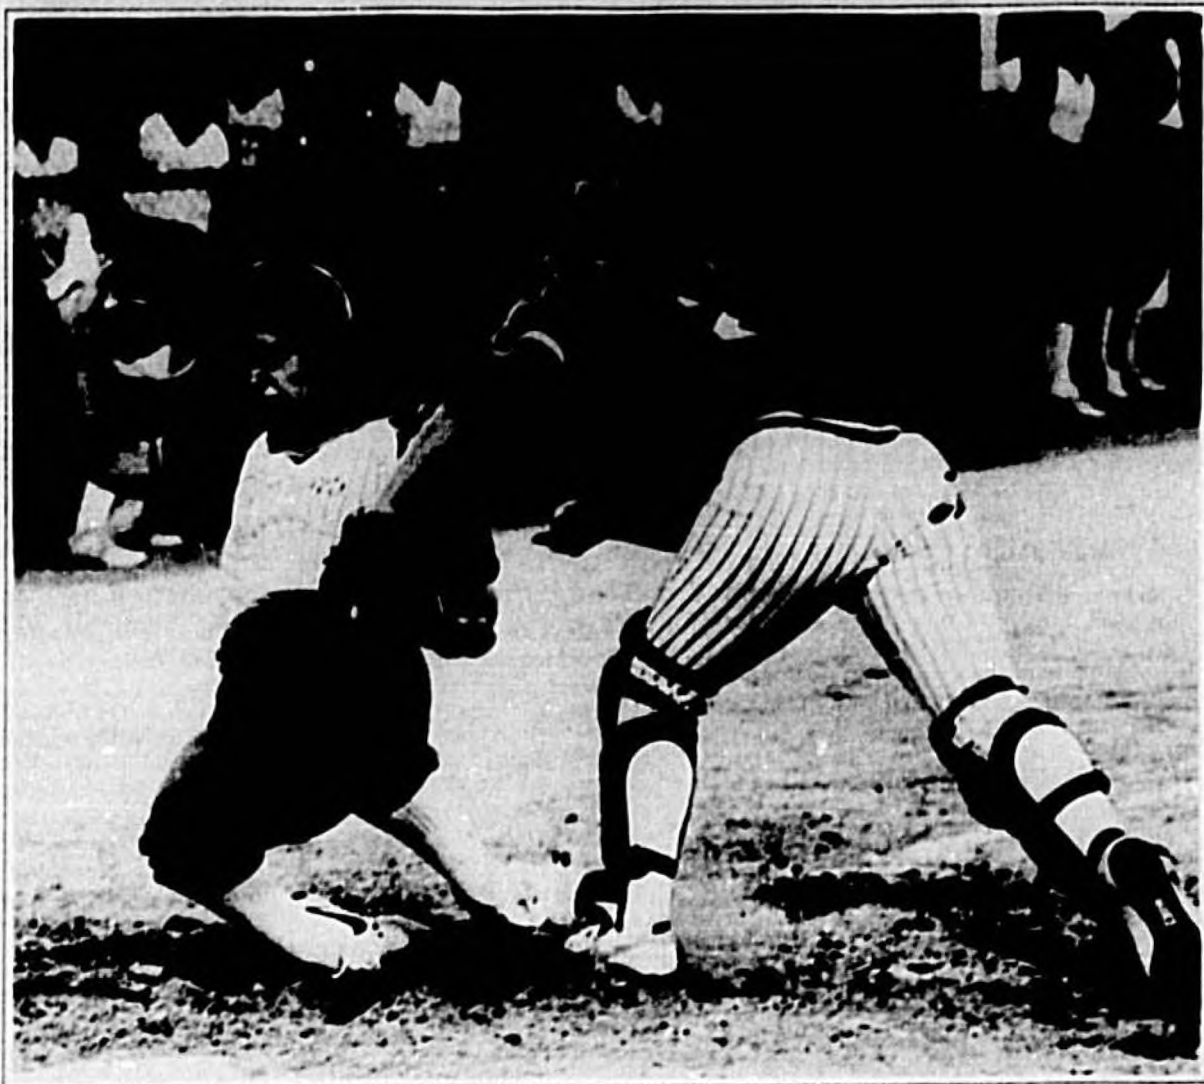

The Lady Patriots all but clinched their first SAC title with the victory. Brantley, 15-3 overall, now stands at 7-0 in the league with five games remaining. Lake Howell dropped to 6-2 in the conference and 15-5 overall.

"It was an incredible ballgame both ways," Lake Brantley coach Renny Betris said. "Lake Howell is a great team and it took a great performance by our girls to beat them."

Lake Howell played a tremendous game and never quit until the last out. The Lady Silver Hawks are hoping to have one more crack at Brantley, that being in the regional playoff as the teams are in different districts this season.

"I'm really proud of the performance," Lake Howell coach Jo Luciano said. "We played an excellent game against a championship team. If we had gotten a couple of calls, it could have easily went our way."

Lake Howell used superb defense in the first inning to get out of an early jam in the bottom of the first. Penny Siqueros drilled a one-out single for Brantley. Tracy Brandenburg followed with a rocket shot that third baseman Val Monico somehow gloved and made a nice relay to second baseman Stormi Littrell for the force on Siqueros. It was a key play as Tina Wilson followed with a single to left. Pam Wittig then bled to right to end the frame.

The Lady Silver Hawks then came alive at the plate in the top of the second with four runs on five hits. Lee Ann Trimble led off with a single and, with one out, Monico reached on a rare error by Wilson at first base. With two outs, Tanya Lewis reached on an infield hit to load the bases. Missy Martinez then singled to left to drive in Trimble and Tammy Lewis followed with a base hit to score Monico. Julie Barton then came up with the big hit of the inning as she singled to right field to drive in Tanya Lewis and Martinez for a 4-0 Lake Howell lead.

Lake Brantley got one run back but also had a runner thrown out at the plate in the bottom of the second. Shelley Sturdivant led off with a single and Kim Robinson hit a one-out single to left with Sturdivant trying to score as the ball got away but being gunned down by Martinez. Heather Meyer then ripped a line drive off pitcher Trimble's glove to score Robinson.

After a relatively easy top of the third, Brantley pulled within 4-3 in the bottom half. Siqueros reached on an error to start the inning and Brandenburg's pop fly fell in for a single. Wilson then tomahawked a single to left to drive in Siqueros and moved Brandenburg to third. Howell then intentionally walked Wittig to get to Sturdivant and the freshman slugger came through with a base hit to left center to drive in Brandenburg. Lake Howell went down in order in the top of the fourth with Siqueros making a nice play of a hard grounder by Tanya Lewis to keep the Silver Hawks off the bases. Brantley then tied the game in the bottom half. Meyer, who broke out of a batting slump with three hits, reached on an infield single, took third on Michelle Weston's one-out single to right and scored on Brandenburg's single up the middle.

Lake Howell had a chance to regain the lead in the fifth. Tammy Lewis and Julie Barton hit consecutive singles and, with one out, Marie Peters grounded to Wilson at first who threw to second for the force on Barton. Lewis attempted to score on the force play but was gunned down at the plate by Brandenburg.

The Lady Hawks came up with a big defensive play to keep the game tied after five frames. With one out, Sturdivant walked and Michelle Karr's liner was snared by Martinez at short and she rifled the ball to first baseman Rijka Millwood who made a nice stretch to stay on the bag for the inning-ending double play.

The turning point of the game then came in the sixth inning. In the top of the frame, Trimble led off with a single for the Lady Hawks and Littrell then looped a ball inside the first base line that appeared to be a double. The home plate umpire ruled the ball, which was at least one foot in fair territory, foul and instead of second and third and no outs, Trimble was forced back to first and Littrell back to the plate. Littrell then popped up for the second out and Monico lined to Siqueros who turned it into an inning-ending double play.

The Lady Patriots then put two runs on the board in the bottom of the sixth for a 6-4 lead. Robinson started the rally with a base hit and Meyer followed with a single to right in the same spot as Littrell's foul ball to send

Lady Rams thrash Greyhounds, 11-0

By Chris Piater
Herald Sports Editor
LONGWOOD — They say the number 11 is one of the lucky rolls in dice and Lake Mary's Lady Rams had 11s coming out of their toops Tuesday afternoon.

The Lady Rams banged out 11 hits and scored 11 runs en route to an 11-0 Seminole Athletic Conference rout of Lyman's Lady Greyhounds.

That's 11 runs on 11 hits by a team with 11 seniors — film at 11.

The Lady Rams ran their overall record to 12-4 and now stand at 6-2 in the SAC. Lake Mary returns to action Thursday at home against Oviedo. Lyman dropped to 2-12 overall and 0-8 in the league.

Along with the solid offensive display, the Lady Rams played errorless defense behind winning pitcher Monica Frakes who allowed only two hits.

Lake Mary scored once in the top of the first and added two more in the second. In the first, Amy Adams reached on an error, got to second on "smart baserunning" and scored on a fielder's choice. In the second, Marne Frey and Laurie Leffler hit consecutive singles and a sacrifice fly by Frakes scored Frey. Leffler then scored on Susanne Dubrouillet's base hit for a 3-0 lead.

Although it could get nothing going on offense, Lyman played one of its better defensive games to hold the Lady Rams to three runs until the sixth when Lake Mary broke it open with three runs.

Terri Peters reached on an error to start the inning and Brooke Taylor boomed a double to put runners on second and third. Paula Songer's sacrifice scored Peters and Colette Davis singled in Taylor. Frey then doubled to plate Davis for a 6-0 Lake Mary lead.

The Lady Rams put the teing on the cake with five runs in the top of the seventh. Sherri Alderson, hitting a healthy .750 as a pinch hitter, opened the inning with a base hit. Adams singled and Peters reached on an error to score Alderson. Taylor then unloaded a shot over the fence for a three-run homer and a 10-0 Lake Mary lead. Songer then reached on an error and Lisa Silverstein was put in as a pinch runner. Frey then singled to right to send Silverstein to third and Frey squeezed Silverstein home on the first and third play (that's what the paper says?) to make it an 11-0 lead.

Frakes then set Lyman down in order in the bottom of the seventh to preserve the shutout.

DeLand blanks Seminole

By Mark Blythe
Herald Sports Writer
SOFTBALL

SANFORD — DeLand capitalized on eight Seminole errors to take a 5-0 victory in Seminole Athletic Conference play Tuesday before 31 fans at Fort Melon Park in Sanford.

DeLand improved to 9-7 overall and 3-5 in the SAC. The Lady Tribe fell to 2-9 and 1-7 and will return to action at home today against Spruce Creek.

"We played well on defense early and late in the game," Seminole coach Lance Abney said. "We broke down in the middle innings and DeLand was able to score some runs off our mistakes."

The Lady Bulldogs used a pair of Seminole errors in the opening inning to take a quick two run lead. Jenny Kibler led the inning off with a line drive to left center, the ball was misjudged, and Kibler ended up on second. Marie Covington reached on the second error of the inning and went to second with Kibler advancing to third.

After an out, C.C. Hayden ripped a double to right center to score both runners. The next two batters grounded out to shortstop Bobbie Osborne who made two nice plays to get Seminole out of the inning.

Osborne had a nice defensive game and made a nice diving catch on a Cathy Connell line drive for the first out of the second inning. Seminole came up with two more nice plays on defense to get out of the inning.

Seminole had a chance to put some runs on the board in the bottom of the second as, after an out, Tami Holloway reached on an error. Holloway, though, was put out trying to reach second for the second out of the inning. Jennifer Lindamood then singled and went to second when Laurie Bird reached on an error. Kim Allen then hit a hard shot that was snagged by Hayden, the DeLand pitcher.

Seminole had another strong defensive showing in the top of the third, after Kibler drew a head off walk, Covington hit a grounder to Bird, Seminole's pitcher, Bird tossed the ball to second baseman Michele Stump, who turned and threw to first to complete the double play.

DeLand broke the game open in the top of the fourth with two more runs. Kibler led off and reached on an error. Covington then singled to left with Kibler turning and heading for third. The Lady Tribe relayed the ball in perfectly, but the throw was not handled and rolled away with Kibler scoring and Covington moving up to third.

Lawanda Whitmore then hit a fly to left center that was dropped and scored Covington. Seminole then regrouped and got out of the inning with a pair of quality plays. Hayden ripped a line drive that Holloway pulled down. Whitmore, who was on second, was then put out trying to score on a single by Carla Parks.

DeLand added a run in the top of the sixth aided by two errors to up its lead to 5-0 and had complete control as Seminole was unable to put any hits together.

The Lady Tribe had another opportunity in the bottom of the sixth to plate some runs as Stump and Sara Klein connected for back to back singles. Kim Walsh then hit a grounder short and DeLand put Stump out at third. A fly out and a ground out ended Seminole's chances.

'Shark' ready to strike at Masters

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI) — The "Great White Shark" appears ready to make his strike at this week's Masters golf tournament.

Australian Greg Norman agrees, considering how he's been playing of late, that he should be this year's Masters favorite after second-place finishes the two previous years.

"I feel strong and confident," he said Tuesday after a practice round with two-time Masters champ Seve Ballesteros of Spain, last week's Greensboro winner Sandy Lyle of Scotland and Masters newcomer Ian Woosnam of Wales.

"I have the confidence and ability to believe I'm going to win here some time. Why not this week?"

Norman, who finished second or better in three of the four major championships in 1986, appeared to have the '87 Masters won when playoff opponent Larry Mize left his approach shot 100 feet right of the green.

Unfortunately for Norman, Mize sank a sensational 150-foot chip shot and missing a 35-foot birdie putt left the Australian in second again.

"It would be different if I had screwed up that hole," Norman said. "Of course it affected me. You'd be telling a lie if it didn't. I thought I could win the tournament."

"It seems like a hell of an excuse to blame it on that one hole," he said. "The hard part is coming back now and everyone talking about it. But, it's a fact of life."

Norman appears primed for another Masters run. He's earned more than $50,000 in just three previous U.S. appearances this year — placing third at Pebble Beach where he closed with a 66 — and another $95,000 back home where he won three of the four events in which he participated.

"Being the favorite gets the crowd behind you," Norman said. "But I also create my own pressure. The more you feel you can do it, the more you push yourself. Why shouldn't I feel confident? I've played well every time I've played this year."

Mize, who says he's not playing as well as he was this time last year, feels Norman and Ballesteros, winner in 1980 and 1983 and fourth or better in six of the past eight Masters, should be co-favorites.

"You have to like the chances of Greg Norman and Seve Ballesteros," Mize said. "This course is so suited for their game, they're the ones to beat."

The 52nd Masters begins Thursday. The 91 entrants get one last tuneup this morning with the Augusta National course then closed for a last-minute trimming.

The weather has been sunny and warm for the practice sessions, but the forecast calls for a "better than 30 percent" chance of thundershowers for Thursday's opening round.

Lyle, this year's leading money winner on the U.S. Tour with $408,000, predicted Tuesday that the Augusta National will play as tough this week as it did a year ago when the best 72-hole scores were the highest in 15 years.

"The greens are very firm," he said. "They're having to water them to keep them from turning brown. The fairways are in good shape, but the greens are really, really firm."

"I guess it would pretty good odds on this year's winner coming out of our (Tuesday) foursome," Lyle said. "Seve and Norman are both hitting the ball very well. All of us are hitting pretty decently."

NOTES & QUOTES
AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI) — Notes and quotes from the Masters:

Greg Norman recently gave a lecture to golfers from his native Australia and he said the same thing applied to the team that lost the NCAA basketball championship.

After winning a recent tournament in Australia by a wide margin, he lectured some of his fellow countrymen who had earlier said they could not make up a large deficit against Norman.

"What I tried to tell them was that they should never give up," Norman said. "If you believe in yourself, you have to believe that you can shoot a good score. Somebody else can shoot a 64 just the same as I can shoot a 73 and that would make a big difference."

Seminole looks to snap out of slump

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Editor

SANFORD — Had it not been for three home run swings and a consolation bracket game against Class 1A Trinity Prep, Seminole High's baseball team might have gone 0 for March.

The 'Noles, who have lost 10 of their last 12, are looking for the right combination of offense, defense and pitching that will help them break out of their slump and regain the respectability they started the season with.

Seminole, 8-10 overall, returns to action tonight at 7 against DeLand's Bulldogs at Sperling Complex. The Tribe is 1-6 in the Seminole Athletic Conference.

"We have to come out of it sooner or later," Seminole coach Mike Ferrell said. "It hasn't really been pitching that has hurt us the most, but the inability to make the plays on defense or come up with the hits with people on base on offense."

One of Seminole's two victories in the month of March included a 5-4 win over Lake Mary in which all of its runs were scored on home runs including a three-run shot by Jerry Governale and solo blasts by James Joyce and Todd Harrell.

The other was a 19-2 rout of

BASEBALL

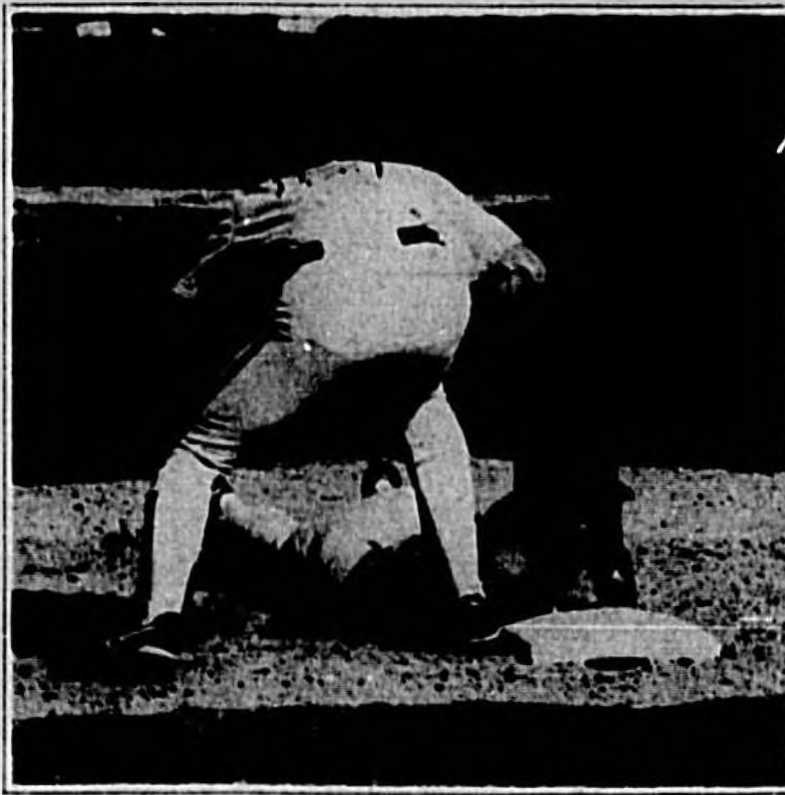

Trinity Prep in the consolation bracket of last week's City of Apopka Tournament. But the win over the Class 1A Saints was expected of the Class 3A Seminoles.

Outside of the Trinity win, Seminole dropped a 13-1 decision to Apopka and a 9-2 decision to Lake Mary in the Apopka tourney.

During the slump, Jeff Blake has seen his pitching record go from 3-0 to 3-6. He has lost twice by the score of 1-0, one to Oviedo and one to Lake Howell. Blake still leads the team with a 3.37 earned run average and has 62 strikeouts in 43 1/3 innings pitched.

Offensively, Seminole is not exactly punishing the ball but has three players hitting over .300 and five with 10 or more RBIs. Leading the way is Ron Cox who has a .404 average and is 10 of 11 in stolen bases.

Governale is hitting at a .395 clip with a team-leading 15 runs batted in and Ron Blake has upped his average to .333 with two homers, 12 RBIs and 9 for 11 in stolen bases. Jeff Blake, 12 RBIs and Harrell and Joyce, 10 RBIs each, have also had success

Seminole's Todd Harrell dives safely back into first base as Lake Howell's Bobby Moose applies the tag. Seminole will try to break out of its slump tonight at 7 at DeLand.

at the plate. "We've hit the ball well but have not been able to string the hits together and get any big rallies going," Ferrell said. "Pitching has kept us in a lot of ballgames and defense has taken us out of a few."

Southridge tops Lyman, 7-2

By Mark Blythe
Herald Sports Writer

BASEBALL CITY — Lyman got off to a rocky start and could not comeback as it dropped a 7-2 decision to a tough Miami Southridge team in the second round of the Tremendous 12 Baseball Tournament, before 201 fans at Boardwalk and Baseball.

Lyman fell to 11-7 and will return to action today against Hollywood Hills at 7 p.m. Southridge improved to 12-1, and is ranked fifth in class 4A and finished as last year's state runnerup.

"We played hard but had a couple bad innings against a very tough team," Lyman coach Bob McCullough said. "Our number two pitcher is out sick and we had to give (Matt) Pedrotty his first start and he did a nice job."

Lyman was looking to send Jim Lucas to the mound, but after coming up with a virus he was benched and will return to action next week. The Greyhounds also lost catcher Marty Martin in the first inning when he fouled a pitch off his thumb while at the plate. Martin also took a blow in the bottom of the inning and McCullough did not want to take any more chances in the tournament.

"We're here to play," McCullough said. "But Lucas and Martin won't be playing any more in this tournament, we'll need them healthy when we return to conference play and there's no reason to get them hurt here."

Southridge came on strong in the bottom of the first inning and took the lead for good with four runs. After an out Enrique Antonini singled to left, stole second and scored on a single by Clint Sanchez. Julio Reyon drew a walk followed by a run scoring single by Gabby Angulo. Scott Cameron then scored Reyon on a bloop single.

Adrian Antonini then sent a single to right and a throwing error allowed Angulo to score and give the Spartans a 4-0 advantage.

Southridge pitcher David Blount dominated Lyman over the first two innings, allowing only one base runner John Luce, who reached on an error.

Pedrotty then settled down and went to work for the Greyhounds in the second inning and managed to put the Spartans down in order thanks to a well executed 4-6-3 double play.

Lyman finally got to Blount in the top of the third and came up with a pair of runs. After an out, Charley Curley reached on a walk. Mickey Helms then ripped a double down the left field line to place runners on second and third.

Chris Brock then hit a hard line drive to left that was just flagged down by Reyon. The hit was able to score Curley, though, and put Lyman on the board. Andy Spolski, coming in for Martin, was then hit by a pitch to put runners on the corners. Kenny Jackson then connected on a run scoring single to complete the 'Hounds scoring.

Pedrotty remained tough, and backed by tough defense, and prevented Southridge from getting a runner past second over the next two innings. Lyman came up with another chance to score in the top of the fifth.

With one out Helms put down a bunt single. Brock then connected on a hit and run play and stole second to put runners on first and third with one out. Blount managed to put the next two batters out and get the Spartans out of the inning.

Southridge then put the game away with three runs in the bottom half of the inning. Reyon drew a lead off walk and Angulo singled up the middle. Scott Cameron then put down a sacrifice bunt to advance the runners. Brock was then brought in to pitch for the Greyhounds and was greeted bitterly as Sean Ordway ripped a triple to right center to score two runs. Ordway then scored on a passed ball to up the lead to 7-2.

The Greyhounds would not go quietly, though, and came up with one last gasp in the top of the sixth. With one out Luce singled to left with Pedro Rivera coming on as a pinch runner. After the second out Kevin Wainwright drilled a double to the left center field wall to place runners on first and second. The Spartans then brought Sean Marino in relief for Blount and he managed to get Curley swinging to dodge the Lyman bullet.

This game really helped us, though we lost," McCullough said. "Pedrotty and Spolski both came in and did a real good job for us which should only help our depth. Neither had played much before tonight and they both picked up some valuable experience. We'll hope to come up with another good performance tomorrow against Hollywood."

Robinson to third. With the infield in, Chris Rubaja slipped a single between first and second to score Robinson with the go-ahead run. Weston then came through with what turned out to be a crucial hit as she ripped a single to center to score Meyer for a 6-4 lead.

Lake Howell came back strong in the top of the seventh as Lisa Boatwright and pinch hitter Ginger York led off with consecutive singles. With one out, Tammy Lewis hit into a force play with Boatwright out at third. Julie Barton followed with a walk to load the bases and Leslie Barton ripped a shot off the glove of Karr at third for a single that scored York to cut the lead to 6-5. Peters then came up and hit a hard shot to the right side but the ever-reliable Siquerlos made the play and threw Peters out at first for the final out.

"It was a game of one big play after another," Betris said. "Lake Howell hit right with us and we both made some big defensive plays. Now that we've beaten Lake Howell twice, it will give us all the confidence in the world going into the late part of the season."

Lake Howell first baseman Rixa Millwood makes a nice stretch to stay on the bag and complete a double play in the fifth inning of Tuesday's game at Lake Brantley.

Oviedo rallies past St. Cloud

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Editor

CASSELBERRY — Despite a disastrous first inning, Oviedo's Lady Lions managed to stay afloat Tuesday and they eventually came back to sink St. Cloud's Lady Bulldogs, 9-8 in eight innings, in nonconference action at Red Bug Park.

Oviedo improved to 7-4 overall with its third victory in the last four games. The Lady Lions will go to 8-4 today as they will pick up a win by forfeit over Orlando Edgewater which does not have enough players for the scheduled game. Oviedo returns to Seminole Athletic Conference (4-3 record) Thursday at Lake Mary.

St. Cloud came up with six runs in the top of the first inning Tuesday, but Oviedo came back to tie it at 6-6 after four frames. The game was tied at 8-8 after seven frames and the Lions pushed across a run in the bottom of the eighth for the win.

SOFTBALL

"We always seem to have one bad inning," Oviedo coach Jackie Miller said. "But today the girls hung tough, stayed together as a team and pulled it out."

After the St. Cloud outburst in the first, Oviedo was held scoreless until the third when it scored twice. With one out, Robin Hetzel and Cheryl Buntz hit consecutive singles and Hetzel scored when Anna Hollis reached on an error. Jodie Switzer then singled in Buntz.

Oviedo came back with four runs in the fourth to tie the score. Corrie Lawson led off with a single and, with two outs, scored on Becky Jakubek's base hit. Hetzel then beat out an infield single and Buntz came up with a big single to drive in Jakubek. Hollis, Oviedo's leading hitter, then rapped a base hit to score Hetzel and Buntz and tie the game at 6-6.

St. Cloud put up two runs in the top of the fifth, but Oviedo came right back with two of its own in the bottom half. With one out, Keri Gaines singled and scored on a triple off the bat of Lawson. Kelli Gaines followed with a base hit to drive in Lawson.

Neither team scored in the sixth or seventh frames and Oviedo held the Bulldogs scoreless in the top of the eighth. In the bottom of the eighth, Hetzel reached on a one-out error but was out on a fielder's choice by Buntz. Hollis then reached on another error and Jill Knutson came through with a single that scored Buntz with the winning run.

Oviedo had 15 hits for the game led by Buntz and Hetzel who had three hits each and Lawson was 2 for 2.

Also on Tuesday, Oviedo's junior varsity swept a doubleheader from Daytona Beach Seabreeze, 17-2 and 8-1.

TRC rocks Mobilite

By Mark Blythe
Herald Sports Writer

SANFORD — The Tim Raines Connection and Central Florida Regional Hospital mens softball teams were big winners in the Sanford Recreational league. TRC took a 16-2 victory over Mobilite and Central downed Pretty Punch 20-7.

TRC opened its scoring in the second inning with Bob Jacobs connecting on a lead off double. Terrell Ervin then pounded a triple to plate Jacobs and scored on a Thad Brooks single.

TRC took control in the top of the fourth with four more runs. Lloyd wall opened with a single and went to second on an throwing error. After an out Ervin hit a run scoring double. Brooks then tripled to plate Ervin and scored on a Fred Washington single. Burnett Washington followed with a double to place runners on second and third with Ed Jackson picking up an RBI with a sacrifice to left center, upping the lead to 6-0.

Another four run inning gave TRC complete control, after an out, Ned Raines doubled and Wall drew a base on balls. Jacobs then delivered a three run homer. Ervin followed with his third extra base hit, a triple, and scored on a Fred Washington double.

Wall blasted a two run homer in the top of the sixth, inflating the lead to 13-0 and TRC picked up three more runs in the top of the seventh to complete its scoring.

The second game started out close, but an eight run second inning by CFRH broke the affair open. CFRH opened with two runs in the top of the first, after an out, Scott Milson singled. Tom Bas then reached on an error and Don Casseaux followed with single to score both runners.

CFRH then blew the game open as it scored eight runs of eight hits in the top of the second. After an out, Gary Snell started the rally with a single up the middle. John Roberts followed with a double to place runners on second and third. Nelson Lopez then grounded to first and was safe on an error to score Snell.

Cubs spoil Sutter's comeback

Welch makes triumphant debut for A's, blanks Mariners

ATLANTA (UPI) — As comebacks go, this one was good for the heart and bad for the win column.

Atlanta reliever Bruce Sutter made a return few thought he could, but his first outing in nearly two years — though inspired — ended in disappointment.

Sutter yielded two ninth-inning runs Tuesday night that allowed the Cubs to complete a comeback from a four-run deficit and force extra innings, and Chicago went on to win 10-9 in 13 innings in the teams' season opener.

Sutter, a Cy Young Award winner in 1979, made his first appearance since May 1986. He underwent career-threatening arthroscopic rotator cuff surgery in August 1986, then had operations to his right shoulder in December 1986 and February 1987.

He made an improbable comeback this spring, pitching just three innings with a 9.00 ERA, and his first regular-season outing was discouraging.

Sutter allowed two runs in the ninth that permitted the Cubs to force extra innings. He pitched one inning, surrendering two hits and walking one.

"It was nice to get out there but I certainly wish the outcome would have been a lot different," said Sutter, the National League career save leader with 286. "I'd been thinking about it all day, about pitching and saving the game. I had my chance and I just didn't do it. I felt fine. I just didn't make the pitches when I had to."

Manny Trillo delivered a sacrifice fly in the 13th inning to score the winning run. Vance Law led off with a double off Jim Aker, 0-1, and Shawn Dunston sacrificed. Trillo hit a flyball to medium-range center to send home Law and make a winner of Mike Bielecki, 1-0, who hurled two innings.

The seven homers hit between the clubs tied a major-league record for most in a season opener. The New York Mets and

BASEBALL

Montreal had registered seven in their opener Monday. The feat has been accomplished three times in the American League.

The Cubs recovered from Atlanta's seven-run fourth inning to tie the score.

Chicago pulled even at 9-9 in the ninth with two runs off Sutter. Sandberg led off with a walk, went to third on a double by Andre Dawson and scored on a Leon Durham groundout, which moved Dawson to third. Rafael Palmeiro singled, sending Durham home and evening the score.

Pirates 5, Phillies 3

At Philadelphia, Darnell Coles drove in four runs, three with a homer during a four-run third inning, to lead the Pirates. Coles's two-out blast to left came off starter Shane Rawley, 0-1. Pirates starter Mike Dunne, 1-0, went 5 1/3 innings, giving up eight hits. Jeff Robinson earned a save and permitted Mike Schmidt's 531st career homer.

Astros 6, Padres 3

At Houston, Kevin Bass singled in two runs and Billy Hatcher followed with an RBI double during a five-run eighth inning that sparked the Astros. Mike Scott, 1-0, struck out nine in eight innings. Dave Smith gained a save. Padres starter Ed Whitson left in the eighth when a Terry Puhl groundout hit Whitson's hand. Lance McCuller, 0-1, took the loss.

Dodgers 6, Giants 0

At Los Angeles, Orel Hershiser fired a three-hitter and squeezed home the opening run to pace the Dodgers. Giants starter Kelly Downs had a perfect game going before Mike Scioscia blooped a single to left with one out in the sixth. A wild pickoff throw and balk by Downs sent Scioscia to third before Hershiser laid down his RBI bunt.

WELCH BLANKS SEATTLE

The nervous tension Oakland right-hander Bob Welch felt prior to his American League debut Tuesday was transferred to the Seattle Mariners' offense by the end of the night.

Welch, acquired as part of an off-season three-way deal involving Oakland, Los Angeles and the New York Mets, scattered seven hits over seven innings in hurling the Athletics to a 6-0 victory over Seattle.

Mike Moore, a 19-game loser last season, allowed five runs and six hits in seven innings in a losing effort. The right-hander, who retired 14 consecutive A's hitters at one point, walked two and struck out four, but got no support from a Seattle offense that hasn't scored in 17 straight innings.

Welch walked three and struck out six. Greg Cadaret and Dennis Eckersley finished in relief of Welch, who had not pitched more than five innings in any game this spring.

"I was excited — and quite nervous as well," Welch said. "I felt pretty good after a couple of pitches."

Eckersley recorded his second save in two nights. Only six Mariners got as far as second base, and none reached third.

"He labored a little bit, but he made pitches when he had to make 'em," Oakland Manager Tony LaRussa said of Welch. "I think you're going to see him (get) better and better."

Yankees 3, Twins 0

At New York, Rick Rhoden fired a three-hit shutout to carry the Yankees to an Opening Day triumph before 55,802, a regular-season record crowd for the new Yankee Stadium. The right-hander struck out four and did not walk anybody in beating Frank Viola, who allowed six runs in five innings. New York scored four times in the fourth on an RBI single by Dave Winfield and Mike Pagliarulo's three-run homer. Rickey Henderson made it 6-0 in the fifth with a two-run homer.

Strawberry hit 525-foot HR

NEW YORK (UPI) — The mammoth homer hit by Darryl Strawberry of the New York Mets Monday in a 10-6 triumph over the Montreal Expos would have traveled approximately 525 feet had it not smashed into the Olympic Stadium roof, according to Professor Robert Moore of McGill University.

A Mets spokesman said Tuesday that measurements taken from home plate to where Strawberry's blast in the seventh inning hit the roof revealed his shot traveled 340 feet before hitting a concrete slab.

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — St. Louis Cardinal reliever Ken Dayley was placed on the 21-day disabled list Tuesday because of a muscle tear near his right rib cage, the club said.

Dayley suffered the injury in the Cards' opener Monday while pitching in the seventh inning.

To make room for Dayley, outfielder John Morris was moved from the 21- to the 60-day list. The Cardinals are expected to fill the vacant roster spot Wednesday with another pitcher.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Rafael Santana grounded into a triple play Tuesday in his first regular-season game as a Yankee.

With the bases loaded in the eighth inning, Santana came to bat against reliever Tippy Martinez. He hit a smash to third baseman Gary Gaetti, who stepped on the bag and fired to second baseman Steve Lombardozzi. Lombardozzi fought off a hard slide by Roberto Kelly, relaying to first baseman Kent Hrbek to get Santana by a step.

Nuggets stun Rockets

HOUSTON (UPI) — Denver entered Reunion Arena and dealt a severe blow to the Houston Rockets' waning confidence Tuesday night, as the Nuggets left first place in the Midwest Division.

The Nuggets' ninth straight victory, their longest winning streak since the 1984-85 season, and fifth straight road triumph, handed Houston its fourth defeat in its last five games. With 11 regular-season games remaining, the Rockets are fading fast while the Nuggets are looking more like a serious threat in the Western Conference.

"I don't think we can play any better," Denver Coach Doug Moe said. "Although it didn't appear like it, I knew we were playing well in the first half when we were only shooting 30 percent and down by just 9 points at halftime. It was a big win for us, and hopefully it will keep us on a roll."

The Rockets led 54-45 at halftime, but Denver outscored Houston 34-24 in the third period, thanks to an 18-4 spurt that ended with 4:18 remaining. To take a 79-78 lead entering the final period, the Nuggets hit 12 of 23 shots and outrebounced the Rockets 15-10 in the period. Lever and Jay Vincent scored 10 points each in the final period.

Ricardo, Andia tied going into final week

FERN PARK — Going into the final week of the season Ricardo and Andia are again tied for the most wins for the season. After opening a six game lead last week, Ricardo could only get two wins while Andia won eight games.

Pita had his most productive week of the season, being in the money 25 times in the 42 games he played in, with 11 of them being in the winning column. Mendi had his best working good also this week with eight wins and being in the money in 17 of his 30 games.

Pita and Bolivar led the way with 11 wins for the week with Andia and Pardo finishing with eight. Ricardo and Andia are tied at 143 wins entering the final week with Garay in striking distance with 135 wins. Andia leads the, in the money percentage, at .445 (143-117-131/ 899 games), followed by Olea at .405 (108-126-126/ 889 games) and Bob at .402 (117-108-102/ 814 games).

The early singles games found Ricardo, Pita, Pierre and Garate each winning two games. Eduardo still leads the feature singles with 22 wins. Charola is next with 20. Bolivar won three games this week for a total of 19 wins. The feature doubles finds Charola still leading the front courtiers with 24 wins followed by Bolivar with 20. The big gun in the back court is Mendi, who won three times for a leading total of 24. Farah follows with 21 wins as Bob has 20.

The season closes Monday night, April 11th, and if not won before the fronton will pay out $50,000 in the pic six. The last time the jackpot was $50,000 an additional $95,000 was bet and one happy winner received $125,000.

Stock prices open higher

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices opened higher today in moderate trading of New York Stock Exchange issues.

The Dow Jones Industrial average, which rose 18.91 Tuesday, was up 8.95 to 2006.46 shortly after the market opened.

Advances led declines 408-309 among the 1,104 issues crossing the New York Stock Exchange tape.

Early turnover amounted to about 6,880,000 shares.

Stock prices closed higher Tuesday in one of the slowest sessions so far this year. Analysts said the market gained some strength from a firmer dollar but the slow volume robbed the advance of any real significance.

"I think we just bounced off an oversold condition," said Jon Groveman, head of equity trading at Ladenburg, Thalman & Co.

Dollar opens higher, gold, silver lower

By United Press International

The dollar edged higher in light trading on most major foreign currency exchanges today, but lost ground against pound in London. Gold was mostly lower.

In earlier trading in the Far East, the dollar edged higher against the Japanese yen, closing at 125.03 yen, up 0.60 from 124.43 yen on Tuesday.

Currency dealers in Japan said the dollar gained on speculation that the U.S. Federal Reserve Board may tighten credit as an anti-inflation measure.

On the European markets, the dollar opened at 1.6685 German marks in Frankfurt, up from 1.6589 on Tuesday.

In Zurich, the dollar began the day at 1.3755 Swiss francs, up from 1.371 and in Paris, the dollar opened at 5.6585 French francs, up from 5.6345 on Tuesday.

In Amsterdam, the dollar opened at 1.872 Dutch guilders, up from 1.866 and began the day in Brussels at 35.09 Belgian francs, up from 34.90.

The dollar opened in Milan at 1,236.85 lire, up from 1,230.90 on Tuesday.

In London, the Bank of England intervened lightly in the foreign exchange market, selling pounds in what traders described as an attempt to smooth the British pound's rise.

On the currency market, the pound moved higher, opening the day at $1.881, compared with $1.8785 on Tuesday.

ported the committee's decision. "An elected executive would have a lowered effectiveness and efficiency," Hooper said. "When it comes to budget time, he would be more likely to make a political decision rather than a decision that's best for the county."

Committee members Webster and Harry Beckham favored an elected county mayor, with an appointed county administrator under that position.

Webster told fellow commissioners the executive branch of government, the branch charged with the day-to-day operations of the county should not be answerable to the commission, but directly to the voters.

"As provided by the Constitution, the legislative and executive branches should be wholly separate," Webster said.

Committee members also decided the county administrator should have a master's degree in public administration or related college degree or an equivalent in experience, a minimum of five years' government experience and when appointed by the commission, must become a resident of the county. The administrator should have no other employment outside his county duties.

Hooper said the requirements are similar to those currently required by the county.

Committee members agreed the county attorney and other department heads should be appointed by the county administrator, subject to approval by the commission. They decided the attorney should be a member of the Florida Bar Association for at least five years, but not be required to be a resident of the county, as is the case now.

The members also decided that some form of non-interference clause should be included in the charter preventing individual commissioners from having direct control or influence over day-to-day county functions.

Webster objected to the clause, saying it would restrict commissioners from doing their routine duties.

"If a county commissioner sees a county employee doing something wrong, then he should be able to stop them," Webster argued.

But committee member Gary Shader said without the clause, a commissioner might be able to accompany a person seeking a zoning change to the county zoning office in an effort to influence zoning officials to make the change.

Webster countered, saying state ethics laws would prevent Shader's example from occurring, but Shader said such a clause would confirm the county's policy against such an action.

Dukakis takes Wisconsin, establishes clear lead

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Michael Dukakis got precisely what he wanted from Wisconsin — a convincing win that made him the clear front-runner — blunted Jesse Jackson's momentum, and added considerable fuel to the argument that he is the inevitable Democratic presidential nominee.

The Massachusetts governor, storming through almost all parts of the Badger State, trounced Jackson Tuesday in a primary billed as a high-stakes showdown between the two men running neck-and-neck for the Democratic nomination.

The soft-spoken Dukakis viewed the unexpectedly easy victory as proof of his campaign strategy that he represents the Democrats' best shot at defeating Vice President George Bush in November and recapturing the White House.

Jackson refused to say he was disappointed, but the black civil rights leader had placed considerable importance on Wisconsin and had hoped to pull out a win, even though the state has a black population of only 4 percent.

In the end, however, Jackson could not transform the prairie fire momentum he gained last month with a stunning win in Michigan into Wisconsin votes.

"To be able to win and win with this big a vote is very good news and I hope it's a sign of things to come," Dukakis said.

Jackson stressed that despite his Wisconsin showing, he had won or finished second in 30 primaries and caucuses and contended he was buoyed by receiving a "dramatic increase in white votes."

He added that he was concentrating on having a Democrat defeat Bush. "I've not been attacking anyone and no one's been attacking me," Jackson said on CBS. "I'm glad that both Mike Dukakis and I express that kind of maturity because our competition is really not each other — it's George Bush and we're going to keep our eyes on the real prize."

With 99 percent of the vote counted, Dukakis had 48 percent of the vote, while Jackson had 28 percent. In addition to the 81 delegates at stake, both men had looked to Wisconsin to make them the solid favorite — a critical boost going into New York's crucial April 19 primary.

In third place was Sen. Albert Gore of Tennessee with 17 percent, followed by Sen. Paul Simon of Illinois, who trailed the field with 5 percent. Those results were disastrous for Simon, who is now expected to end or suspend his campaign, probably on Thursday.

Airlines announce promotions

Several major airlines announced spring promotions Tuesday in an effort to boost leisure travel, including Northwest Airlines, which said it would offer percentage discounts to the elderly on the basis of age.

Eastern Airlines in Miami and Continental Airlines in Houston also announced fare reductions Tuesday. Both airlines are subsidiaries of Texas Air Corp.

The fare reductions are aimed at boosting leisure travel and so apparently do not counteract fare increases announced last month by major carriers. Those increases largely affected business travelers.

Northwest said travelers 65 years of age or older are eligible for progressive discounts from April 8 to June 8 on full coach fares in the United States. The discounts are linked to a traveler's age.

For example, a 65-year-old traveler will receive a 65-percent discount, while a 95-year-old traveler will receive a 95-percent discount, the airline said.

trees, she took good care of them until the day she died. I think a lot of them, they are very important to me," Linton said.

Linton said he had an agreement with Manning that a sign would be erected dedicating the palms. Linton wanted to dedicate the palms to Manning, but Manning told him they couldn't be dedicated to him as an individual.

Terry said he was told by Hassler that Manning had requested the sign in November or December 1987 and even gave him the script of the words to be carved on it. At various times since then, Hassler told him, Linton came to him asking, "Where is my sign? When am I going to get my sign?"

Terry said he is still investigating, but according to Hassler, the wood and carving were donated by a local wood-carver.

Terry said it is his understanding that the trees were dedicated to the city with "no strings attached, were planted and cared for by the city and are beautiful."

Linton said if the city doesn't want the trees, he wants them back, to which Deputy Mayor

Lynette Dennis replied, "If he wants the trees back, see that he gets them back."

Linton's strongly expressed feelings about his late wife and the palms aroused sympathy from some members of the audience. Roger Mobley of 1021 Talmo St., Longwood, said,

"What's the problem with a little plaque being put there saying the trees were dedicated to the city?"

COOKS OF THE WEEK

Tasting Luncheon offers culinary delights

By Doris Dietrich
PEOPLE Editor

SANFORD — The United Methodist Women of First United Methodist Church will be putting their best recipes forward at a Tasting Luncheon in fellowship hall of the church, 419 S. Park Ave., Friday, April 22.

Everyone who has ever sampled the culinary delights these women turn out will agree wholeheartedly that the fare is superb—extraordinary, in fact. Proof is in the two cookbooks the women have published, Burnt Offerings and Burnt Offerings II, that are filled with a variety of mouth-watering recipes which have been kitchen-tested and sampled over and over by food connoisseurs in and outside of the community.

The tasting luncheon is a project the churchwomen have initiated for the missions budget. Hazel Cash and Nancy Terwilliger are co-chairman of the event. Others lending their talents to the committee are Toni Hobson, Sharon Butler, Carole Pegram and Mary Boone.

According to Louise Harris, president of the UMW, each of the eight church circles have been delegated to prepare 16 different recipes including salads, main dishes, vegetables and desserts. All of the recipes will be filed in a computer on the premises and the recipes are available for sale at 25 cents each or five for $1.

Harris is optimistic that there will be an abundance of delicious food and that luncheon patrons will be served quickly and efficiently and can sample the offerings to their hearts' content. "There will be two serving lines and extra tables will be set up on the outside and patio," she said.

No entertainment is planned. "This is strictly lunch and fellowship," Harris said. She added that business people will be able to attend and get served during their normal lunch hour.

The luncheon is open to the public. Serving hours are from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Tickets, at $4 each, are available at the door or by calling the following: Nell Whittern, 322-1703; Pauline Nichols, 322-4319; Louise Harris, 322-2798; Carole Pegram, 323-8516; or the church office, 322-4371.

America now world's largest user of spices

By John DeMers
UPI Food Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — These are hot times in the old spice trade — a shadowy, exotic, aromatic world in which even the newest items are hundreds of years old and the oldest predate the dawn of human history.

The excitement in this business fills the air, like a breeze from the east carrying memories of crossed swords, despairing slaves and sacks full in bursting with the riches of ancient man.

Yet the excitement has a current cutting edge.

Herbs and spices are selling up a storm, especially in a United States that has embraced on one hand all the varieties of pungent cuisine and rejected on the other hand the salt traditionally relied upon for flavor.

The result: spicy ribs, spicy pizza, even spicy bacon and eggs. The ultimate result: a superlative that might surprise the hot-pepper addicts of Thailand, the chile aficionados of Mexico,

"America is now the world's largest user of spices," said Tom Burns, president of the American Spice Trade Association. "We consume over a half billion pounds of spice each year — one to two pounds per person. That's a lot of parsley flakes, as they say."

Though significant tonnage can be credited to the makers of prepared foods — these, after all, must reflect the national taste — home cooks pressed into a new, less reluctant style of cooking must understand better than ever the ancient flavorings found in their spice racks.

Fortunately, there's nary an herb or a spice that lacks a colorful history and a romantic place of origin. A spice primer, as a result, should make interesting reading indeed.

ALLSPICE: Discovered in the Caribbean by early explorers, allspice (known as "pimento" on some islands) still refuses to be widely transplanted. It reaches the United States today from Jamaica, Guatemala, Honduras and Mexico. Whole berries are used in meat broths, gravies and pickling liquids, while ground is delicious in fruit cakes, pies, relishes and preserves.

BASIL: Also called sweet basil, this native of India and Persia is renowned throughout the kitchens of Western Europe. In fact, the French call basil the "herbe royale." Today, the plant is grown in the United States, as well as imported from France and Egypt. The leaves add appetizing aroma to many sauces, gravies and stews.

BAY LEAVES: This legendary evergreen tree produces leaves that since antiquity have been the symbol of victory, as in "winning your laurels." Native to the Mediterranean, the bay leaf reaches the United States almost exclusively from Turkey and Greece. It is excellent with meats, potatoes, stews, soups, sauces and fish.

CARDAMOM: The dried fruit of a plant of the ginger family, cardamom seed is native to India and still finds its largest fan club there, is, however, discovered by the Vikings a thousand years ago and figures mightily in Scandinavian cooking. All genuine Danish pastry carries at least a hint of cardamom. Cardamom is currently imported from Guatemala, India and Sri Lanka.

CINNAMON: Cinnamon was one of the first spices enjoyed by man — the Egyptians were importing it 2,000 years before Christ. The pungently sweet spice comes from the dried bark of trees in the evergreen family, which is peeled off and rolled into "cinnamon sticks." Most of this important baking spice now hails from Indonesia and China.

CLOVES: Now imported from Madagascar, Brazil and Tanzania, whole aromatic forests were discovered in Indonesia. Wars were fought in Europe (as well as between Europeans and islanders) to secure the rights to this profitable business. Cloves are available both whole and ground, with the whole form perfect for stuffing ham and pork. In pickling fruits and in meat gravies.

CUMIN: Sometimes called "comino" in Latin countries, this spice actually predates Biblical times. It is the chief ingredient in both Mexican chili powder and Indian curry powder, though German cooks add it to pork and sauerkraut and the Swiss join the Dutch enjoying it in cheese. Cumin is imported from China, Turkey, India and Pakistan.

GINGER: This was one of the first true Oriental spices to make its way out of southern Asia. For centuries it was a rich man's spice, rivaling even much-sought black pepper. Ginger reached England before the Norman Conquest, while Spanish explorers spread it to the Caribbean. Ginger is available whole, cracked or ground and hails from China, India and Africa.

MARJORAM: Always a symbol of romantic love, marjoram is native to western Asia and the Mediterranean. Its gray leaves, in fact, are cousins of more familiar oregano. Marjoram is particularly good with vegetables, as well as with lamb. In spice mixtures, it plays a role in liverwurst, bologna and head cheese. Most marjoram comes from Egypt and France.

NUTMEG AND MACE: Nutmeg is the pit or seed of the nutmeg fruit, covered with a thin, dark shell and a brilliant red lacy network called mace. The aroma of nutmeg is sweeter, more delicate than that of mace. Many cooks still like to grind whole nutmegs for fresh flavoring of baked goods, sauces, vegetables and beverages. Mace is favored in pound cake, cherry pie and fish sauces.

OREGANO: Called "joy of the mountain" by Greeks nearly 2,000 years, oregano was none too popular in the United States until the return of GIs from Italian campaigns during World War II. It is imported from Greece, Mexico and Turkey for a wide variety of uses. One variety goes into almost anything Italian, while another is used in Mexican dishes and chili powder.

PAPRIKA: Though usually thought of as Hungarian, paprika was borrowed from the Turks and actually had roots in the Western Hemisphere as part of the capiscum family. It is familiar as a "garnish spice" (for its lively red color) as well as for its impact on virtually any kind of dish. California is a major producer, with imports coming in from Spain, Hungary and Bulgaria.

PEPPER, BLACK AND WHITE: Pepper long ago became the "master spice" because it could be stored for years without losing its flavor. It was for centuries so valuable rents and dowries were paid in pepper, as were taxes and tributes. Black pepper is available whole, ground or coarse ground. Most is imported from Indonesia, India, Brazil, Malaysia, Ceylon and other tropical areas.

ROSEMARY: This herb carries the lyrical Latin name

"dew of the sea" because it thrives best where fog rolls in from the Mediterranean. Since it teams well with other herbs and spices, it is popular with lamb, chicken and shrimp as well as with vegetables. France, Spain, Portugal and Yugoslavia produce most rosemary used in the United States, but some is grown in California.

SAFFRON: The world's most expensive spice, this flavoring's admirers go back as far as Homer — who waxed eloquent over the "saffron-robed morn." It takes 225,000 stigmas of the crocus sativus blossom to produce each pound of spice, yet a little does go a long way. Its color is especially welcome in rice dishes. Most saffron hails from Spain, though some comes in from Portugal.

SAGE: This native of the Mediterranean's shores has been esteemed for centuries, both as a flavoring and as an aid to wisdom and memory. Older intellectuals still are often called "sages." Sage has been popular since the beginnings of America, especially in pork, baked fish and salad dressings. It is imported from Yugoslavia, Albania and other areas of southern Europe.

TARRAGON: A native of Siberia, tarragon made the trek to Western Europe in the 13th century, its serpentine root formation won it its name, referring to the Greek word for dragon. Americans think most often of tarragon vinegar or tarragon salad dressings, though it's also great in Bechamel and tartar sauces. It is grown in the United States and imported from France.

THYME: "Smelling of thyme" was quite a status symbol to the ancient Greeks. Yet the herb has strong traditions in American cooking too, finding its way into dishes as varied as New England clam chowder and Creole seafood stews. Thyme is sold in whole or ground form. It is imported from Spain and France, though some is produced commercially in this country.

TURMERIC: Often mispronounced "tur-mer-ick," even by some professional chefs (the correct pronunciation is "tur-mar-ick"), this relative of ginger has long had a following in all sections of Asia. Not only does it feature an exotic aroma but it has such a flair for coloring things yellow that for centuries it was used as a dye. Very good with chicken, seafood and egg dishes, it is imported today from India, Haiti and Peru.

Training set for Respite workers

The Federation of Senior Citizens has long been involved in providing services for the homebound elderly of Seminole County. One of the major goals of the federation has been to help these seniors maintain their dignity and independence by remaining in their homes as long as possible.

Increasingly the need to lessen the profound loneliness that many homebound senior citizens experience has become more and more apparent.

Visitors are needed to converse, help write letters, and in general, to be a caring friend. Also, visitors are needed to sit with and watch over more seriously ill persons so that the primary person who is continually caring for them can be relieved of the responsibility for a few hours to go to the grocery store, have an appointment, or even take a nap.

In an effort to meet these important needs, the federation has set up a volunteer network. Each volunteer will be matched with a person in need of a Friendly Visitor or Respite Worker according to geographical location and personal interests and need.

A training session will be held on April 11, at Central Florida Regional Hospital to help acquaint volunteers with various facts they may need to know before being assigned to someone. This training session will be done by professionals knowledgeable in the area of gerontology and will be for one day.

Broennle receives grant

ROME, GA. — Ernie Broennle, a senior striker from Lake Mary High School, has signed an athletic grant agreement to attend Berry College here. Broennle, considered by many high school coaches and college scouts as a premier college prospect, was among the most dangerous goal scorers in Florida over the past several years.

Broennle also succeeded in the classroom at Lake Mary High School. As a result, he has also earned an academic grant at Berry.

Berry's head soccer coach, Bret Simon, says he expects Broennle to play a key role in the offensive attack on next season's squad. Simon said, "We have been national contenders for many years, and I strongly believe that Ernie can help our team continue that success. Ernie possesses a combination of skill, quickness, and composure which are bound to make him effective at the college level."

Broennle will join two other top student-athletes from the Central Florida area now attending Berry College. Kelly Broen, a 1987 graduate of Lake Mary High School, was a starter for the 1987 Women's NAIA National Championship Team. Broen was named Female Athlete of the Year during her senior year at Lake Mary and is presently on both an athletic and academic grant at Berry. Steve Hull, a 1987 graduate from Daytona Beach High School and a soccer club teammate of Broennle's, was a starter for the men's soccer team. Steve scored 14 goals in his freshman year at Berry and was the leading goal scorer on the 1987 squad.

Main dish breads with an Italian flair prepared with frozen bread dough

Given below are two quick and easy recipes for main dish breads with Italian flair. Sausage Pizza Roll is filled with spicy Italian sausage, cheeses, onions and green pepper.

The Pizza is rolled up and baked and then cut into thick slices. Calabrese, from the province of Calabria in southern Italy, has a rich spinach and cheese filling. Both breads are made with Bridgford Frozen Bread Ready-Dough for time-saving convenience.

SAUSAGE PIZZA ROLL
1 (one-pound) loaf frozen bread
1 pound Italian sausage (1 pound ground beef may be substituted)

1 onion, chopped
1/2 green pepper, chopped
1/2 cup pizza sauce
1/4 cup Parmesan cheese
1 1/2 cups grated mozzarella cheese

Let frozen dough thaw until pliable. Cook sausage in a skillet until brown and crumbly. Add onion and green pepper and cook until tender. Drain well. Add pizza sauce. On a lightly floured board, roll dough out to a 12-inch square. Spread meat mixture over dough and sprinkle with Parmesan and mozzarella. Roll dough and filling up jelly roll style. Pinch edges to seal. Place on a greased baking sheet and sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. Cut slits in top for vents. Bake at 350° for 25-30 minutes or until well browned. Cool slightly and cut into thick slices.

1 (one-pound) loaf frozen bread
10 ounce package frozen chopped spinach, thawed
1/4 cup Parmesan cheese
3/4 cup spaghetti or pizza sauce
1 egg
2 cups grated mozzarella cheese (8 ounces)

Let frozen bread dough thaw until pliable. Drain thawed spinach thoroughly, squeezing to remove excess water. Combine spinach, Parmesan, sauce, and egg. On a lightly floured board, roll dough out to a 10-inch circle. Place dough on a greased pizza pan. Spread filling mixture over half of dough circle. Sprinkle mozzarella over spinach. Fold other half of dough over filling. Pinch along edge tightly to seal filling in. Cut slits in top crust for vents. Cut into wedges. Bake at 375° for 30-35 minutes or until well browned. Remove from pan immediately. Cut into wedges.

So you dream of a new kitchen that's 'unkitchen'

By Carl Jerome
UPI Food Writer

Not everyone likes a kitchen to look like a kitchen. Some people want it to look like a den or guest bedroom, or so says Charles Strickler, president of Rich Maid Cabinetry.

Rich Maid manufactures "the Unkitchen," a fully paneled room which looks exactly like a family room or extra bedroom. Push or pull on the appropriate panel and the walls open to reveal concealed ovens and stoves with ventilation hoods, hidden refrigerators and sinks.

The Unkitchen is the extreme of the popular design theory that less is more. It is ideal, I guess, for people who believe that no kitchen is the best kitchen.

According to Larry Routen, former President of the National Kitchen and Bath Association, the three most important design elements in designing a new kitchen are space, function and aesthetics.

If you are thinking about remodeling or building a new kitchen, you should consider those three elements.

Once you have decided on the amount of space you can allot to your kitchen, you need to examine your personal style of cooking and entertaining to see if you need two conventional ovens, or if for child safety reasons you want one of the new induction cooktops (there is no surface heat with induction cooking, rather a magnetic field is released that reacts only with iron pots to cause heating).

After space, the next consideration is function. You will want as much equipment as your budget allows, and you will want to choose that equipment arranged in ways that make your life in the kitchen as easy as possible.

A good kitchen designer, with your guidance, can take almost any kitchen space and make it maximally functional with the enormous variety of equipment and cabinetry now available. But be careful not to allow a designer to guide you into expensive repetition, one of the newest trends in kitchen design.

A question why anyone would design three sinks into a kitchen, but according to a spokesman for Kohler, a leading manufacturer of sinks, multiple sinks are a trend of the future. The Kohler spokesman explained that a large kitchen might need one sink for cleanup, one sink for preparation, and another for drinks and flowers. Maybe so, maybe not.

Some of the newest sinks I viewed at the recent National Kitchen and Bath Show in Washington were queerly shaped and looked more amusing than functional. Unusual shapes that add more drama than function are not my idea of good design.

Although kitchen and equipment manufacturers at the show kept telling me that new things were happening in the kitchen, in truth nothing much has happened in the kitchen in decades. Even downdraft ventilation, where a cooktop is vented down and out, thus eliminating the need for a hood, was invented almost 20 years ago. And the first microwave oven was introduced in the 1950's.

So most, all to my way of thinking of what is happening in kitchens today is in the area that needs to be considered last, and that is aesthetics.

Aesthetically, a kitchen can run from the extremes of an "Unkitchen" to a high tech steel and iron laden room weighty with commercial stoves and ovens to a cute country or French provincial decor. In between, where most people settle when they design or remodel a kitchen, is just about every conceivable color and style of kitchen cabinetry and matching equipment, from highly lacquered mahogany paneled cabinets to natural looking, more traditional pine or painted cabinets. New cabinets can cost anywhere from $1,500 for a modest kitchen, to $50,000 for a more sophisticated large kitchen.

Most of modern kitchen design is aimed at making things disappear for clean crisp lines in the kitchen. For the most part, the expensive, trend setting modern kitchen displayed at the show had everything hidden and looking well organized.

But this is a concept that I believe needs to be re-examined. As Witold Rybczynski, in "Home, A Short History of an Idea," says in questioning modern kitchen concepts, "Tools should be out in the open where they are accessible, near those places where the work is done, not secreted below counters or in deep, difficult-to-reach cupboards."

The need for different work-surface heights was identified a long time ago, but kitchens continue to have uniform counters, of standardized height and width.

The only important new trend in the kitchen seems to have nothing to do with cooking. It is the increasing tendency to make the kitchen a multi-use center. Kitchens now conceal laundry centers and entertainment centers; video equipment and video centers are sneaking out of the bedroom and into the kitchen. Desks are also making their way into the kitchen, whether to be used for the kid's homework or to house the family computer.

Celebrities turn waiters for a day

The 1988 Celebrity Waiters Luncheon to benefit Leukemia Society of America Inc. was held Friday at Heathrow Country Club. Members of the business community donned outfits of their choice to serve as waiters for the event in the hopes of garnering tips to donate to the benefit. John Whigham of Clements & Whigham CPAs serves his table of invited guests in his uniform of the day—hobo attire.

What a shame at waste in lunchrooms at schools

DEAR ABBY: I am a third-grader at Marlon Street School in Lynbrook, N.Y. Our teacher, Mr. Freifeld, took the class down to the lunchroom to find out how many students threw out their lunches, because we talked about that letter in your column about how much they wasted in Arizona lunchrooms.

First we found out how many kids ate in the lunchroom every day. There were 252. Then we looked in the garbage cans and counted the whole sandwiches that were thrown out. There were 39 untouched sandwiches, still in their wrappers. There were 30 half-eaten sandwiches still wrapped. Peanut butter and jelly was thrown out the most!

We figured that almost one out of every four people threw away all or half their lunch. With people starving all over the world, that is a lot of food to waste. It was enough to make you sick.

We counted the drinks, too. We found 22 whole cartons of drink thrown out. Some were milk, but most were juice. There was a whole pile of fruit—apples, oranges and bananas—that was thrown into the garbage. Good grapes, too.

Our class decided that maybe the parents should ask their kids what they want for lunch, then maybe the kids wouldn't throw out so much. Thank you.

CLAYTON COHN, LYNBROOK, N.Y.

DEAR CLAYTON: Thanks for reporting the results of your lunchroom investigation. And how lucky you are to have a teacher like Mr. Freifeld, who makes learning fun and memorable.

DEAR ABBY: I could have written the letter from the woman in Arizona who was appalled at the waste of food at the schools. My husband is also a custodian at an elementary school, and he sees good food thrown away every day.

Once the food is served, if it's not eaten, it cannot be given away or served again—it must be thrown into the garbage can. Untouched trays of lasagna, potato salad, fruit salad and jello molds are thrown away. Even unopened cartons of chocolate milk and orange juice that could be used the next day are thrown out.

By the way, it's the children who get free lunches who throw out most of the food, so it's our tax dollars that go into the garbage cans!

FROM OHIO (DON'T SAY WHICH TOWN)

DEAR FROM OHIO: I regret to say that your letter was one of many that carried the same message. A pity that all edible food and unopened cartons can't be sent to the city mission to feed the hungry and homeless.

DEAR ABBY: An Arizona reader was appalled at the waste of good food by the children in the school lunchroom where she and her husband work.

I feel exactly the same way about what's happening in our area. My son has laughed about the frequent "food fights" in the school cafeteria. The kids see nothing wrong in throwing food at each other. What a terrible waste!

Skin ailment has a great many causes

DEAR DR. GOTT: The doctor told us that the swelling and pain in our daughter's ankles and knees is from erythema nodosum. He said it will run its course in about 12 weeks and won't recur. Is he correct?

DEAR READER: Erythema nodosum is an inflammation of the skin, usually in the area of the shin bones, that is a consequence of certain infections. These infections range from the innocuous, such as strep throat, to the serious, including tuberculosis, ulcerative colitis and fungal lung inflammation. Some forms of drug allergy show up as erythema nodosum; sulfa, iodides and birth-control pills have been reported to cause this reaction.

Therefore, the answer to your question depends on the cause of your daughter's skin inflammation. As much as a year of penicillin therapy may be necessary to cure strep-induced erythema nodosum. Other forms may clear without treatment, only to recur again and again — until the underlying disease is cured. Erythema nodosum isn't so much a disease in its own right as it is a reflection, a sign of inflammation elsewhere in the body. Unless your daughter's doctor has established a specific diagnosis and suggested therapy, I'm afraid that you will be disappointed after 12 weeks and he will end up wishing he hadn't made such a rash prediction.

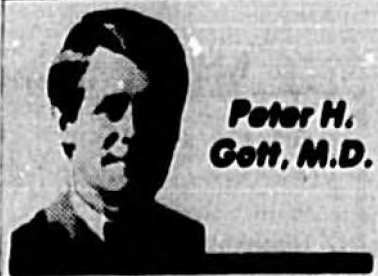

DEAR DR. GOTT: While in labor, I had sharp pains in my thigh. Now, two years later, my leg will just buckle, then get very tender and sore. An orthopedic surgeon gave me a cortisone shot in the bursa, which made it worse. Is this a nerve, muscle, bursa or joint problem? Should I go to a sports-medicine clinic?

DEAR READER: Your question suggests that you may have developed a pinched nerve in your back, possibly as a result of a slipped disc. In my opinion, you need either a myelogram (a special X-ray of the spinal column) or a CT scan (another type of spinal X-ray).

I'd forget the orthopedic speciality, including a sports-medicine clinic, and ask your doctor to refer you to a neurosurgeon. If you do have a slipped disc, you may be a candidate for surgical repair or removal of the structure between two of your backbones. Once a disc herniates, it can compress surrounding nerves, causing pain and numbness — and, later, weakness — that can be permanent if the abnormality is not corrected.

If you have questions about MEDICAL SPECIALISTS, you can get answers in Dr. Gott's new Health Report on the subject. Send $1 and your name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby
When West misinterpreted partner's bidding, he made a foolish double that gave declarer enough information to make the contract. Of course East had enough shape to try for game, but his bid of three clubs conveyed the false impression that he also had some defensive strength. It would have been better if he had simply bid three hearts — a mild try for game. No doubt South would still have bid four spades, but now West would refrain from doubling.

After doubling, West led the heart 10. Declarer won the ace and led the queen of spades. (The double had identified the location of the defenders' spade honor.) When West did not cover the queen, the defense was assured of getting two spade tricks, and South had to avoid the loss of a club. So he played dummy's A-K of diamonds and ruffed a diamond. West over-ruffed and played a heart to East, who returned a club. Declarer grabbed the ace and played to dummy's spade ace, and the good diamond provided a parking place for the losing club as West ruffed with his remaining spade.

So four spades doubled was made, and my question for readers is a simple one. Could declarer have ever played the spade suit as he did, without the penalty double from West?

YARD SALE, BAKE SALE

Think slim with Szechuan Beef with Vegetables, Oriental salad and Tart Strawberry Ice.

Serve a delicious meal with only 430 calories

While dieting will never beat divinity and fudge and gumdrops in a "what's more fun" poll, at least it's not as painful as it used to be.

The supermarkets today are full of light and reduced calorie products that not only take some of the guesswork out of calorie counting, but leave in a lot of flavor.

There are light versions of cream cheese and reduced-calorie versions of bread. There are sugar substitutes that actually taste sweet, and low-calorie dinners that probably taste better than a lot of things you can cook yourself.

Meat comes in leaner cuts, fruits come packed in their own juices, and no one thinks you're a sissy if you drink lite beer.

In other words, you can have your diet and enjoy it too.

The following menu is not only high in enjoyment, it's easy and quick to prepare. Make the Tart Strawberry Ice the night before and toss the salad while the frozen Szechuan Beef dinner cooks.

You'll have a great meal for only 430 calories, including dessert.

Microwave some caramel corn

By Aileen Claire
NEA Food Editor

Caramel corn has been a favorite at county and state fairs for years. Carry over the pleasure and munch this sweet treat at home. It's easy now that more and more companies are packaging popcorn for microwaves. You can also put this popcorn variation to good use with hungry TV watchers or weekend guests.

CARAMEL CORN

1/3 cup butter or margarine
2/3 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1/3 cup light or dark corn syrup
1/4 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1 pop-and-serve bag (3.5 ounces) microwave popcorn, butter or natural flavor, popped

In a large shallow baking dish, microwave butter on High until melted, about 1 1/2 minutes. Stir in brown sugar and corn syrup. Microwave on High until mixture boils, about 3 minutes, stirring once. Microwave on High 3 to 4 minutes without stirring. Stir in soda and vanilla. Stir in popped corn, mixing well. Microwave on 75 percent power for approximately 6 minutes, stirring every 2 minutes to coat popcorn evenly. Cool completely. Break apart and store in
