Hoover Pleads For Revision Of Bankruptcy Laws

Calls For Emergency Action In Order To Eliminate Present-Day Forclosures

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—(AP)—In a second special message to Congress in as many days President Hoover today urged emergency action in the revision of bankruptcy laws in order to avoid the present-day wholesale forced foreclosures. He asked specifically for immediate alteration of the existing law to facilitate "relief of debtors who seek protection of the courts for the purpose of re-organizing their affairs with their creditors."

The Senate Judiciary sub-committee decided to re-draft the House bill in a way which Chairman Hain said would "bring it within the constitution without any doubt whatever." The specific plan was not announced.

An effort to kill the emergency farm relief bill by striking out the emergency clause was defeated by the House. To meet the President's request the Senate foreign relations committee favorably reported a resolution authorizing the executive to place an embargo on arms to nations at war or threatening war.

Speaker Garner told newspapermen in the event the President vetoed the Philippine independence bill, he favored having the House vote immediately on whether to override the veto.

The charge that poor securities were substituted on collateral on Krueger and Tall mortgages sold in the United States with the approval of the New York Stock Exchange was made by Chairman Narkish at the re-opening of the Senate stock market investigation.

A page-by-page struggle over emergency farm bill developed the House yesterday as it crowded the bill through committee into a final vote.

CLEMENCY GIVEN WOMAN WAITING DEATH SENTENCE

Expectant Mother Is To Serve Rest Of Life In Penitentiary

COLUMBIA, S. C., Jan. 11.—(AP)—By a stroke of his pen, Governor Blackwood yesterday changed the death sentence of Mrs. Beatrice Ferguson Selnes, 32-year-old expectant mother, to one of life imprisonment, saying his action of clemency was "in accord with the general sentiment of the country."

The former textile worker, who admitted shooting Rural Police Officer Elliott Harris to death with his own pistol, was notified of the Governor's decision as she sat in the sunshine in an enclosed yard at the state penitentiary.

At first she appeared somewhat bewildered.

"What does it mean—life here?" she asked.

"Yes," answered the prison guard who read the commutation to her.

"Well, I sure am much obliged to you," she said, smiling, peeping at the document. "Who did it, the governor?"

The chief executive's signature was "I wish you'd tell the governor that I sure appreciate this," she said earnestly. "Yes, and tell everybody who had anything to do with it how much I appreciate it. Tell the governor I'll do anything in the world he wants me to do, if he will just let me know."

STOCK PRICES UP ON HEELS OF WHEAT RISE

Many Premium Issues Advance From One To $4.00 Per Share; New Year Mark Set

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Prices on the New York Stock Exchange yesterday followed in the wake of a swift rise in the Chicago wheat pit.

Wheat prices began to creep higher, helped by United States Steel's monthly tonnage report, showing a negligible change from the previous month, but it was not until wheat had surged up 2 to 2 1/2 cents a bushel in Chicago that bears were put to full flight in the share market.

Many prominent stocks rose $1 to $1 1/2 a share. Several preferred issues made wide gains, in sympathy with pronounced firmness of the bond market for the fifth successive session. Continued gains in bonds were accompanied by unconfirmed rumors that the Morgan-sponsored American Securities Investing Corporation, formed last June, was again in the market.

The turnover in stocks was only 1,140,837 shares, but almost half of it was traded in the last hour. It was the most active session of the new year and gains averaged the best since Jan. 4.

The strength of wheat was largely in response to forecasts of a cold snap over much of the belt and reports of deterioration of the winter crop. Cotton at New York advanced moderately, closing 15 to 25 cents a bale higher.

Farm implements were particularly strong. Case closed at $48.62, up $1.25, and International Harvester at $35 up $1.87. United States Steel finished at $31, up $2.25.

GEORGIA'S NEW CHIEF LAUNCHES ECONOMY DRIVE

Calls On Legislature To Stay In Session To Cut Costs, Taxes

ATLANTA, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Eugene Talmadge became governor of Georgia yesterday and in his inaugural address pledged immediately to state problems with a request that the legislature stay in session long enough to enact emergency legislation to reduce governmental costs, lower taxes and cut the price of auto tags to $1.

A tremendous crowd that overflowed the chamber of the House of Representatives cheered him. Talmadge advocated proper provision for support of common schools; better laws for taxing gifts, bonds and other intangibles; property taxation; necessary departmental reorganization; better regulation of motor buses and trucks and "justice" for the man who works.

SON IS BORN TO LIBBY HOLMAN; REYNOLDS HEIR

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Libby Holman Reynolds' new baby boy, Dr. Norris Van's said today, weighed three and a half pounds at birth and is being kept in an incubator.

Both mother and child, the obstetrician said, are doing "very well." The child, heir to a large share of his father's tobacco fortune, was born last night and came as a surprise to outsiders as previous announcements from the actress' home said the baby was expected early in February.

The father, Smith Reynolds, 24-year-old heir to a fourth of the Reynolds tobacco fortune, was found fatally shot at his home at Winston-Salem last July after a gay birthday party.

His wife and friend, Albert Walker, who presided at the murder trial, said the prosecution was dropped after authorities said there was insufficient evidence to warrant a trial.

Announcement of the arrival of the Reynolds' heir was made by Dr. Norris Van, Libby Holman's personal physician, who said only that "Mrs. Reynolds had a baby boy, born at 9:45 P. M., and her condition and that of the baby are satisfactory."

The question of the child's inheritance, since the tragic circumstances of his father's death last July, has aroused much speculation among lawyers.

Settlement of the Smith Reynolds' estate, it was announced, is under way. It had been begun, but the final settlement would be delayed until after the child's birth.

In the will of R. J. Reynolds, founder of the $50,000,000 tobacco company, no mention was made of the widow or widowers of his children. Certain lawyers held that under the terms of that will, Smith Reynolds' estate, estimated at between $15,000,000 and $18,000,000, was to be divided in the past few years, due to motor "Exchange growers." Mr. Irving said, "I've built up a good will with both the wholesaler and consumer throughout the country, the value of which is incalculable. I base this statement on my 32 years' experience in the business of fruit and vegetable growing."

Military Steps To Curb Riots And Revolt Are Taken

Insurrections Still Continue In India, Spain; Disturbances Hit Germany, Cuba

Military measures were invoked today in four of six countries disturbed by rioting on an open revolt in one of the others—the Irish Free State—military action threatened to quell political fighting.

Revolts continued in Spain and Alwar, India and disturbances which took a heavy toll in casualties, also occurred in Germany, Argentina, and Cuba. The situation in Argentina continued doubtful.

The Spanish Republican government ordered martial law for the provinces where further outbreaks are expected. Since Sunday 40 have been killed and more than 100 were injured in the revolt of Spanish syndicalists and communists.

A thousand British soldiers arrived in Alwar where Moslems were in revolt.

The Argentine congress adjourned for the duration of internal disorders.

Seven persons were wounded in Cuba before military forces took over control.

Chinese dispatches said today 10,000 Japanese soldiers marching into Jehol headed for Lingyuan. The attacking force includes artillery and cavalry marching from Suihsien, north of Shanhaikwan, which is in the hands of the Japanese.

Dispatches also said a Japanese landing force was put ashore at Chinnagan, coast near Shanhaikwan and is patrolling that vicinity. In the meantime the national government at Nanking reiterated it will not accept the Japanese suggestion that the capture of Shanhaikwan will be treated as a local incident but will insist the affair be considered part of the whole Chinese and Japanese dispute awaiting settlement by the League of Nations.

Barter Systems Have Spread To Big Proportions

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—Barter systems, through which unemployed persons exchange their services for food, equipment and materials they need, have spread extensively throughout the United States that the recently organized Emergency Exchange Association has announced that it will act as a clearing house to facilitate the movement of goods between localities and between agricultural and industrial districts.

The association, which has headquarters at 22 Vanderbilt Avenue, New York, has reports in its files describing the growth of barter exchanges in various parts of the country during the past six months. The movement has developed so vigorously in California, Washington and Utah that organizations have been formed to administer the mutual interests of the participants in the barter system.

According to the reports from California, the barter organization has the co-operation of the state food administration in San Francisco City, the scrip or credit money, issued by the management of the barter system passes current easily, and is cleared by the banks in Seattle, more than 20 smaller locals have a membership of about 50,000, the reports said.

Barter locals are thriving in Newland, Oregon; Denver, Colo.; Houston, Texas; Minneapolis, Minn.; and other large cities, according to the reports. The Council of Social Agencies, Dayton, Ohio, recognizing the value of barter organizations in sustaining the morale of unemployed persons, with the result that six producing units with 400 families taking part in exchanges have been brought into co-operation. In Pittsburgh, the Welfare fund, working through its network of community chests in Omaha, Nebraska, community chest and social agencies started barter activities.

Members of the movement have explained that the barter movement, using scrip, could operate in parallel with the existing economic system and gold standard and would have no effect in narrowing the market for goods produced by workers who have regular jobs. Dealers who pay for services with scrip, use this medium of exchange to have jobs done which they could not afford to pay for in cash, they explained.

Dr. Frank D. Graham, an economist of Princeton University, and a director of the association, declared that as soon as ordinary business could effect the adjustments necessary to permit the emergency of profits on an enlarged output, it would draw workers from the emergency barter organization and the output of the industry would decline.

Celery Washing Plant Is Planned By Sarasota Man

SARASOTA, Jan. 10.—A celery washing plant, to cost about $25,000, will be erected on the Fruitland Road, near the winter quarters of the Ringling circus and the headquarters of a Seaboard Air Line heavy spur, it was reported Saturday from a reliable source.

The contract for the construction has been awarded and work will get under way today, it was indicated that efforts will be made to have the plant in operation during the current celery season.

It was understood that Henry Williams and his father, J. J. Williams, neither of whom could be reached for a statement, operating under the name of the Sarasota Celery Company, are the prime factors in the erection of the washing plant which will employ a number of persons during the season.

The location for the plant is believed to be an ideal one as it is in the heart of the celery growing district of this county and immediately accessible to the railroads. The Williams are expected to employ celery men and thoroughly investigate the need for a plant before contracting for its erection, it was said Saturday.

Exact date for the starting of operations has not been set but it is understood that all possible plans will be put into the erection of the plant which will incorporate modern features and be able to handle care of large amounts of celery.

Escambia Sheriff Will Wage War On Gambling, Liquor

PENSACOLA, Jan. 10.—Every speakeasy and gambling house in Escambia county must close at once or their operators will be arrested, Sheriff H. E. Gandy, who succeeded Moss Penton Tuesday as the county's chief law-enforcement officer, has declared.

"When I campaigned for sheriff I told the people of Escambia that I would try rather to keep them out of jail than to put them in it," Sheriff Gandy declared.

"I told them that if they would listen to me, they would not be arrested.

"However, I will brook no flagrant violations of the law, such as gambling houses and similar places.

"Therefore I am giving final and final warning to these places to close up or suffer the consequences."

The sheriff declared that his ultimatum extends to "big and little alike," stating that there would be no exceptions.

"I am instructing my deputies to arrest all liquor dealers and gaming house operators who disregard my warning," he added.

The new sheriff would not estimate the number of such places he believes are operating in the county but intimated that he regarded the number as relatively large.

Sheriff Gandy also declared that he will tolerate no discharge of firearms on Sunday.

"I have received quite a number of complaints about Sunday hunting and am issuing a warning to such hunters to cease the practice," he said.

The new sheriff presents a picturesque appearance, with a corduroy suit and tan-fallen hat.

'DENIAL' RELIGION CALLED PASSE BY HEAD OF COLLEGE

Spivey Pleas For Religion That Shares In World Activities

LAKELAND, Jan. 10.—Discarding the religion of denial as obsolescent and ineffective, Dr. Ludd M. Spivey, president of Southern College, in an impressive vespers address at the college Sunday afternoon, urged acceptance of a religion that shares in the activities of the world and corrects evils.

Asserting at the outset that some religions have failed the modern world, Dr. Spivey cited the religion of denial and the ancient, legalistic conceptions of religion.

"The religion of denial can no longer be effective in this world," he said. "To deny the world today is a very poor way out. When the world had not very much to offer us, we could well afford to deny it. Our forefathers could afford to think only of the other world. The world in which they lived had no inconveniences. It knew only toil.

"We are trying to make water flow up hill when we try to get men to deny this world. The man who flees from this world and refuses to share in the economic and political activities is choosing the way of the past. That kind of religion has failed us.

"Men cling to the old, legalistic conceptions of religion, but they are dead. Those dogmas and creeds are the ways in which men used to find God. The ancient ways of travel and communication have failed us. New ways have supplanted the ancient methods.

"Religion is a process," the speaker said. "It is not a thing apart from life. It is a part of life itself. Religion has not failed us. We have failed to develop the religion that will mean the most to us."

He warned the audience that nothing less than disaster comes when people neglect the fostering of religion.

"If the educational processes of today fail, we don't charge it to the Lord," he said. "We say we are not using the right methods.

"There is no limit to the resources we may call upon. Religion is synonymous with values, and as long as we are sensitive to the fine and noble things, religion will not fail us. We have the raw material, the thought, back of us that we need to make religion worthwhile.

"Today men have a better chance to live gloriously, effectively. We stand at the threshold of a new day. No amount of men crying is going to save us. It is up to us to take the resources. Our task is to search for the great realities about us and make abundant use of them."

New Gotham Head Pledges Himself To Strict Economy

COCOA—It was announced this week that Eugene Westhoff, of Rockledge, had let the contract for the construction of a 150 foot dock in Rockledge, which will be used by the Indian River Yacht Club, of which Mr. Westhoff is a charter member. C. E. Lucas, of Merritt, was given the contract for construction of the dock upon which work will begin at once. Madison County Radio Has Helped Windy City Police In War Upon Crime

Chicago, Jan. 10.—Radio has lengthened the arm of the law in this city. Two years of use have shown it to be indispensable to the police department. According to Capt. William H. Kilfen, more than 24,000 arrests that might never have been made without it have been effected, many crimes stopped in progress, violence has been discouraged and public confidence markedly increased.

"We simply couldn't go back to the old antiquated system of control," said Captain Kilfen, who is in charge of radio operations. "Chicago spreads over an area of 210 square miles, and has a population of 2,800,000. The entire personnel of the police department is only 6,000, and this includes clerks, porters and scrubwomen. Without distance flights were made, all without serious mishap.

There were few accidents of even a minor nature during the year and none in which a life was seriously hurt.

Three factors are considered responsible for this achievement: The efficiency of the navy's instructors and student fliers. The stability of the aircraft. Pensacola's excellent weather conditions.

Fog is an uncommon occurrence in Pensacola and is extremely rare during the height of the flying season here.

Good weather has been one of the big factors in keeping the big station in Pensacola and high ranking naval officials are expected to be even more determined to make no change, in view of the year's remarkable flying record.

Pensacola Plane Base Had No Fatal Accidents In 1932

PENSACOLA, Jan. 10.—Not one fatal accident occurred during Pensacola Naval Air Station flying activities in 1932, statistics at the station have disclosed.

This excellent record becomes even more remarkable in view of the fact of each of hundreds of instructors and student aviators at the station flew thousands of miles during the year.

While official records as to the total number of flying hours and number of aviators trained during 1932 are not yet available, it was pointed out that numerous blazes were in the air during every good flying day and that many long who is spending the winter at Dr. Leon Springs, will be paired with Mrs. Betty Smith, of Orlando, who recently broke the Dubuque Country Club course record for women, against Mrs. S. Dale Drennon, Tulsa, Okla., four times women champion of Oklahoma, and Mrs. Tom Watson, of Sapulpa, Okla., runner-up in the Trans-Mississippi women's tournament and semi-finalist in the Women's Western Tournament. The match starts at 1:30 o'clock.

Radio Has Helped Windy City Police In War Upon Crime

Chicago, Jan. 10.—Radio has lengthened the arm of the law in this city. Two years of use have shown it to be indispensable to the police department. According to Capt. William H. Kilfen, more than 24,000 arrests that might never have been made without it have been effected, many crimes stopped in progress, violence has been discouraged and public confidence markedly increased.

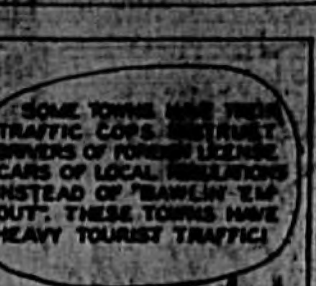

"We simply couldn't go back to the old antiquated system of control," said Captain Kilfen, who is in charge of radio operations. "Chicago spreads over an area of 210 square miles, and has a population of 2,800,000. The entire personnel of the police department is only 6,000, and this includes clerks, porters and scrubwomen. Without distance flights were made, all without serious mishap.

There were few accidents of even a minor nature during the year and none in which a life was seriously hurt.

Three factors are considered responsible for this achievement: The efficiency of the navy's instructors and student fliers. The stability of the aircraft. Pensacola's excellent weather conditions.

Fog is an uncommon occurrence in Pensacola and is extremely rare during the height of the flying season here.

Good weather has been one of the big factors in keeping the big station in Pensacola and high ranking naval officials are expected to be even more determined to make no change, in view of the year's remarkable flying record.

3 Largest Banks In New York Maintain Unusual Liquidity

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—(AP)—With combined resources of nearly $5,000,000,000, the three big New York banks wound up 1932 in unusually liquid condition.

Their year-end statements, considered fairly typical of the larger banks, show 25% in deposits over the preceding quarter, increased holdings of government securities, and a 10% increase in radio it would be almost impossible to give the citizens adequate protection.

Some $300,000 has been invested in radio sending and receiving equipment, and the outfitting of a central complaint bureau. The city has 178 roving patrol automobiles equipped with receivers and often subject to astonishingly rapid dispatch. Suburban towns and other police forces in Cook county and De Kalb county have 182 cars receiving radio direction, free of charge, from Chicago police headquarters.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY: OUR HOPE.—And now, Lord, what wilt thou do for me? My hope is in thee. Deliver me from all my transgressions: make me not the reproach of the foolish.—Psalm 107: 1, 3.

TO A WEALTHY YOUNG MAN: Oh you who have three motor cars, and wander glibly down life's road, without the time to watch the stars, without a mind to bear a load—If on my verse you rest your eyes, with dull, incomprehending gaze, and gazed, murmur in surprise—"The man's a fool to waste his days."

Know that I scorn you and your power, Of wealth, so anxiously extolled, Who find no rapture in a flower, Who fancy love is bought with gold, My pride is greater far—the green And fragrant joy the woods impart, The winds that wander to the sea, The secret singing in my heart.—By Herbert Blom.

O. O. McIntyre tells about a Ketchikan who used only one spur when horseback riding. He figured that the other side could go along anyway.

The beer bill, if legalized by the federal government, would be legal in only 16 of the 48 states. And yet they expect it to yield at least $125,000,000 in taxes.

Even Stalin admits that the Russian Five Year Plan has not come up to expectations, but explains that the necessity of making preparations for war had interfered somewhat with the industrial program.

The total gross income of American farms has declined from $15,000,000,000 in 1919 to a little less than five billions in 1932. Yet the mortgages and carrying charges are higher than ever before, while the prices which the farmer has to pay for his implements, wearing apparel and fuel have not declined appreciably as much as his wheat, cotton and hogs. Thus, the farmer's plight, and perhaps one root of the depression evil.

Everybody is supposed to be opposed to the return of the saloon. Yet the principal opposition to the repeal resolution now being considered in Congress is that it embraces federal guarantees against the return of the saloon. Now if everybody is against the saloon, why shouldn't the government enact laws preventing the return of the saloon?

The Eighteenth Amendment has been repealed? That's what we don't understand. But our hunch is that certain states would like to see the old saloon days back.

While so many colleges of former President Coolidge are in the air, it might be well to recall one of his fundamental theories of government. "It is the business of the people to support the government, not of the government to support the people."

Sanford, Florida, Jan. 11, 1933.

Would It Work?

Probably the most commonly accepted conception of the basic cause of the depression is what is known as a scarcity of money, or a lack of purchasing power as characterized by a failure of money to circulate freely. Although statistics tell that there is actually more currency in this country today than there was in 1929, it is evident to the man in the street not only that he has none of it but also that he sees very little which anybody else has. It appears either that a great many persons are hiding their savings in the old sock under the bed, or that a few of the big rich have got it all.

One of the most ingenious devices for combatting this real or imaginary evil is the recent invention of what is known as self-liquidating currency, or "stamp scrip". It is proposed to issue this type of money on a national scale in payment for services rendered to the federal government. Each time the money changes hands the holder places on it a stamp purchasable from the government at the rate of two cents per dollar. The money must be spent within six days or it becomes void. Thus, certainly within a year each dollar bill would have 60 two-cent stamps affixed to it, and would be fully redeemed.

Such a plan might not work disadvantageously when applied locally. For instance the city of Sanford might issue scrip at the rate of one dollar a day to every unemployed person in this community. Such recipients of this scrip could spend it at any store in town after pasting a stamp on it procured from the city. The store owner, in turn, could use the scrip, after affixing another stamp, to pay local bills, to meet payrolls, or to make purchases from other merchants.

The beauty of the plan is that with the scrip becoming void six days after the last stamp was attached, hoarding would be impossible. It would necessarily speed-up purchases. It would give to a large number of persons who are now destitute a purchasing power which is desperately needed to revive business. It would provide adequately for all charity needs of the city without the necessity of cash solicitations. And what is more, through the purchase of the stamps, a fund would be provided out of which to pay for the scrip after it had changed hands fifty times.

That the plan, though somewhat unorthodox, is not entirely visionary is indicated by the fact that it has been tried in some localities and is said to have worked. Mark Sullivan, writing in the New York Herald Tribune, declares that a dozen or more communities in the United States, including Hawarden, Iowa; Anaheim, Calif.; and Yellow Springs, Ohio; have found it beneficial, as well as the town of Schwanekirchen in Germany and Wörgel in Austria where the scheme is said to have been really a life saver.

We are not suggesting that such a plan instituted in Sanford would accomplish wonders for our city or would precipitate any unprecedented level of prosperity, but we would be glad to have someone explain to us why it would not increase business.

Arms Restrictions

President Hoover's request of Congress that he be given the power to declare munition embargoes is not an unwise one both from the point of view that it would discourage the efforts of munition makers to find a market for their products and from the point of view that it would eliminate one of the serious and often fatal grievances which one country may have against another for supplying an enemy with arms.

With many conflicts being waged in many parts of the world it seems that the most sensible thing for the United States to do is to avoid any of the perilous actions which might involve us. It is easy to appreciate, for instance, that Japan would not be too pleased if her troops were being shot down by guns furnished by this country, even if they were paid for. It is obvious that the United States would engender the hatred of Paraguay if we sold munitions to Bolivia.

The participation of one country in the war activities of another, if only in the remote manner of selling food supplies, lending money, or selling munitions is and has been the cause of many sad consequences. This nation need only go back to the last big war to get a lesson in the unpleasant results accruing from deals with warring countries.

If the manufacture of arms was restricted to use within the country where they are made, the incentives for convincing munition makers to stir up trouble between nations would be somewhat restricted. Any effort to make it difficult for the prosecution of war should meet with popular favor, especially since we are still paying for the mistakes of 1914-18.

STATES EXHIBIT AT WORLD'S FAIR WILL LEAD REST

Chairman Of Committee Gives Details Of Money Raising

PENSACOLA, Jan. 11.—E. P. Shriver, chairman of the Florida committee to raise funds for the state's exhibit at the World Fair in Chicago this year, Monday told of the exhibit which is planned.

He said that by an act of the 1931 state legislature a committee was formed to look after the interests of the state and Earl Brown, of DeLand, was appointed chairman. At that time it was planned to raise the funds for the exhibit by a subscription from each county in the state and practically all of the counties expressed the intention of cooperating in the work. Shriver said later money spent by all counties in relief work caused the withdrawal of many of the counties from the original plan.

Shriver, who is a retired officer of the United States army, related how, in casting about for a means of raising the funds for the continuation of the work, the idea was hit upon of raising the money in the same manner that funds were raised during the Revolutionary War for the expenses of the army. At that time, he said, personal memberships were sold and the money raised to continue the war against the British. He also said the money for one of the largest buildings at the West Point military academy was raised in much the same manner so it was determined to try out the scheme for the state work.

He stated that so far the scheme has been a tremendous success. In fact it has been so successful that World Fair officials have recently notified Florida state officials that the Florida exhibit would be the best one of all the states in the union. Shriver said this was certainly encouraging to all those giving their time, money and effort to the work as it

Former Mayor Of Wauchula Is Given 18 Months In Jail

WAUCHULA, Jan. 11.—A sentence of 18 months in the penitentiary at Atlanta was imposed yesterday on William D. McInnis, former mayor and civic leader of Wauchula, who pleaded guilty to a charge of misapplying funds in 1926 while cashier of the Carlton National Bank.

At the home of the alleged misapplication, which a government expert said totaled $24,000, McInnis was chairman of the city council and as such was chairman of the city finance committee. He also was a trustee for the Knights has been definitely determined that other states will spend twice as much as the state of Florida in arranging an exhibit. He said the amount spent in the exhibit planned at present would be around $500,000 and that California alone had planned to expend over one million dollars in representing that state.

The raising of the money has been accomplished by the cooperation of many groups throughout the state, among which Escambia county is represented by the Women's Auxiliary of the American Legion who have charge of the sale in this section. The stamps sell for one cent each and contain a reproduction of a typical tropical scene, taken in Florida. In addition to the money raised for the exhibit, the state will receive a tremendous amount of advertising due to the fact that letters will be mailed by the use of these stamps all will be sent to all parts of the United States during the year, Shriver said.

In speaking of the exhibit to be shown at the fair, Shriver said that due to the fact the state of Florida had acquired the first space in the gigantic "States" building at the fair, the Florida display would be one of the first that would greet the eye of the person entering the building.

of Pythias lodge there and was prominent in virtually all civic affairs.

Standing before the bar, McInnis attempted to explain the involved series of transactions under which he was charged and when sentence was imposed he "took it on the chin." His only request was that he be allowed to serve in the Holmes county jail, which was not allowed. He was turned over to the marshal.

The expert said McInnis was guilty of about 60 irregularities, but that the bank had been reformed for most of the loss. As he figured it out, the bank was lower after everything had been settled by $3000, while the city had to stand a loss of $3000 and two bonding companies had to pay $12,000. The lodge was reimbursed for a shortage in its accounts.

McInnis said he had an interest in the funds that were missing, and that the city abandoned a suit that had been brought against him. He said he knew of no shortage in his accounts.

"My explanation is that if I went south with any money, it was with my own money," McInnis said.

"A good many banks in Florida have failed during the last few years, but I am not in sympathy with the hue and cry that all the bankers who went down with them were dishonest," Judge Akerman said. "I know there were many good men in banks that were forced to close."

"But when it does appear that a banker has been dishonest, this court is not going to permit him to go unpunished."

3 Negroes Killed In Auto Accident North Of DeLand

DELAND, Jan. 11.—Three negroes were killed early Monday night in a three-car accident on the highway one-half mile north of the DeLand limits. Four white persons escaped serious injury in the accident.

Tim Smith died instantly. His jugular vein was severed. Jim Daniels died in an ambulance on the way to the hospital, and Gus Smith, owner of the car and a brother of Tim Smith, died at eleven o'clock Monday night in DeLand Memorial Hospital. Daniels received a broken neck and Gus Smith's skull was fractured.

The Pontiac roadster driven by the negroes was said to have been traveling at about 60 miles per hour when it struck the left rear wheel of a car owned by R. L. and J. E. Shaw. Black cars were driving toward DeLand at a point between the Perkins Highway and the Glenwood road.

The Shaw car was thrown off the road and the car containing the negroes turned over three times in the middle of the road, crashing into a car coming north and driven by Dan Hughes, Jr. Miss Margaret Whitney was a passenger with Hughes.

Hughes' car was badly damaged, and the negroes' car was demolished. The top on the roadster was shown according to witnesses accounting for the fatal injuries to the negro occupants.

The Shaws reside near the scene of the accident and are said to be sons of Oscar E. Shaw, who died Saturday and was buried Monday.

Hughes is a brother of Sheriff Hughes, of Oklawaha county, according to local officers.

None of the white persons was said to be seriously injured though all were bruised.

Medical Detachment F. N. G. Happenings

Ople Read, well known lecturer, will entertain at 8:00 P. M. at the South Side Primary School auditorium with the South Side Primary P. T. A. as sponsor.

At the roll call of the Medical Detachment of the Florida National Guard Tuesday night 28 of the 31 members enrolled answered present. Of the 5 absent, three Kanner, Glenn and Heister were officially excused and two, Stuart Dutton and William B. Moye, were W. O. I.

Two new applications for enlistment, that of Homer M. McDonald and Lawrence E. Reich were received, acted upon and accepted.

The boys, under the leadership of Sergeants Holtzclaw and Sands and Corporal Irwin put in a hard hour's practice on the new drill regulations effective this year.

Private William Wade was placed in charge of the Locker Room.

Sergeant Schaal, who is the radio operator for the Company, was at his usual post of duty Monday night and was kept busy receiving and sending messages over the wireless.

Major Stevens and Captain Knox have put on a contest among the boys to run until the end of camp this summer, the award to the prize winner to be a $10.00 gold piece. Attendance, conduct, and neatness in dress are the principal factors of the contest, attendance counting 20 points, personal conduct 20 points, and neatness in dress, that is, shoes polished, ornaments shined, belts put on properly, uniform cleaned and pressed, clean shaven and hair cut properly will constitute the remaining 60 points. Only privates are eligible to compete. The inspection and the awarding of points for each drill will be in the hands of Capt. Knox.

Orders were given all members of the company last night for slacks, and as soon as all the boys are outfitted the company will doff the O.D.'s in favor of the cotton shirt and slacks, which will be worn.

Woman's Auxiliary Will Be Hostess

With representatives from Daytona Beach, DeLand, Leesburg, Umatilla, and other nearby Presbyterian Churches in attendance, the Woman's Auxiliary of the Presbyterian Church of this city will be hostess at an all day district conference meeting of the Presbyterian Auxiliary to be held Thursday, beginning at 10:00 A. M. at the church.

Mrs. R. M. Sparks, of Daytona Beach, chairman of the district, will have charge of the program for the day which will consist of discussions of various methods of performing women's work. Luncheon will be served at noon in the social rooms of the church. All women of the Presbyterian Church of this city are being urged to attend.

Many Vegetables Ready For Market In Winter Garden

WINTER GARDEN, Jan. 11.—Quantities of cabbage, escarole, lettuce, pepper and egg plant will be available for shipment from Winter Garden farms, when, and if, the market shows an increase. Fifteen hundred acres of vegetables are under cultivation in this area, 25 percent less than last year, but production has been good.

M. C. Brill, prominent shipper, said this week that it was still too early to forecast the anticipated crop. Not until Jan. 15, at least, will shippers know accurately what kind of crop, and what kind of market to expect.

So far, there has been a normal car movement. Approximately 200 cars, carrying cabbages, escarole, pepper and egg plant have been sent from this section so far this season. Peppers have brought fair prices all along, but eggplant, cabbage, and escarole have been below normal.

The strawberry acreage this year is very light, so light that few have been shipped. Most of the berries have been consumed a welcome change for every member of the troop.

The boys were somewhat disappointed last night when they learned that the drill checks for the last quarter of the year had not arrived. However, Major Stevens advised that in the event the checks arrived this week the boys would be notified and checks distributed from his office instead of waiting until the next drill night for distribution.

All members of the National Guard who have been issued season basket ball tickets are instructed to turn them in at their next drill night, the Company D reporting to Lieut. Nordgren, Medical Detachment to Sergeant Schaal and Headquarters to either Sergeant Harper or Sergeant Fields.
