Ex-husband suspected in fatal shooting

By VICKI DeSORMIER
Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY — While police in Rochester, N.Y. say they are familiar with San Francisco Goungo, they cannot understand why he might have murdered his ex-wife yesterday afternoon as Seminole County sheriff's investigators believe. "We have had dealings with him in the past," said Inv. Felix Montalvo of the Rochester Police Department. "Frankly, we're surprised to hear of this."

Montalvo declined to comment on the suspect's background, but said they are working with local deputies to find him. "We're working with your (Seminole County) sheriff's department at trying to locate him if he returns here," said Montalvo. "We are looking at several locations where he might be found if he comes back here."

George Proechel, public information for the Seminole County Sheriff's Office said several witnesses reported seeing his 1986 white Cadillac Seville headed north from Daytona Beach.

"We have reason to believe he is returning to Rochester," said Proechel.

According to Proechel, Goungo returned to this area earlier this week to visit his ex-wife Matilda Ferrer, 38. The meetings had been amicable and the two had made plans to have dinner last night, Proechel said.

"We have no idea what precipitated this shooting," he added.

Proechel said that as Ferrer and her cousin, Hector Rivera, drove into a parking space at Alberson's supermarket in the Lake Mary Center to shop for their dinner, Goungo drove into a space behind them.

Goungo then exited his vehicle and went to the passenger side of the other car and opened the door, Proechel said. Goungo first fired two shots at Rivera, missing both times, before shooting Ferrer once in the head, said Proechel.

Ferrer was airlifted to Orlando Regional Medical Center where she was pronounced dead a short time later. According to hospital officials, she has been declared dead, but her body is being sustained on life support until her organs can be harvested for donations.

SANFORD — A giant step has been taken toward building the Seminole Towne Center Mall. Financing for the construction has now been arranged.

The announcement was made late yesterday by Tom Schneider, vice president of development at Melvin Simon & Associates in Indianapolis. The financing is to be done by Commonwealth Realty Advisors of Chicago, a pension fund advisor.

Schneider said closing documents were signed earlier this week. He did not immediately reveal the total amount of the financing.

Schneider had earlier told the Sanford City Commission that financing could not be arranged until contracts had been finalized for at least four of the anchor stores. That was

Paterson under investigation for improper behavior

By VICKI DeSORMIER

SANFORD — Stephen Paterson, the band teacher at Lakeview Middle School who was suspended from the classroom briefly in 1991 for improper behavior with several students has been suspended once again.

"All I can say is that it is not related to anything that happened here at school this time," said Jim Shupe, principal at Lakeview. "We were told that he was under investigation for some sort of violation of his probation and that he was being suspended at the district level."

Shupe said that a certified band teacher has been hired on a temporary contract to fill Paterson's position until the investigation is complete.

In Feb. 1991, the school board suspended Paterson for playing recordings of the Cheech and Chong comedy duo for students. The recordings were found objectionable, the board Mention 1996 to Milwee Middle School student Lanna Apisukh (ah-PEE-sook) and her thoughts are likely to focus on Atlanta and Olympic gold.

Already the Junior Elite Gymnastics National Champion at 13, the eighth grade honor student is training for the 17th annual McDonald's American Cup scheduled for March 5-6 at the Orlando Arena. She trains five hours a day, six days a week at Brown's Gym in Altamonte Springs with her coach Kevin Brown. An afternoon press conference is scheduled today at Brown's confirming Lanna's participation in the American Cup event.

A veteran of international competition, the poised eighth grader participated in gymnastic meets in France and Brazil last year. Lanna brought home four silvers and a bronze medal from the San Palo games in December.

Her favorite event is the floor exercise. "I like to tumble," she says with a smile. She also competes on balance beam, bars and vault.

LAKE MARY — A renovation project at Lake Mary Elementary School is now had approved. The Lake Mary City Commission voted approval last night of an interlocal agreement with the Seminole County School Board.

The School Board is expected to approve its portion of the agreement during a meeting scheduled for Tuesday afternoon. With both sides in agreement, the project could get underway in the immediate future.

It involves construction of one additional structure housing resource rooms and skills labs, additional bathrooms and storage areas for classrooms, and providing additional square footage in two classrooms to allow for their conversion to an art room and music room. The project does not require any expansion of land area.

The proposal was presented for approval by the Lake Mary City Commission in early December, but has been repeatedly tabled pending the resolution of several points of disagreement between the city and School Board. Authorities

Strip search along I-95 ruled illegal

VERO BEACH — An appellate court has ruled that strip-searches of three drug suspects alongside Interstate 95 were illegal.

The Fourth District Court of Appeal in West Palm Beach ruled that the lower court should have granted defense motions to suppress from evidence the cocaine seized from the three men. The case would go back to the trial court.

The judges agreed that Michael Bryan Johnson, Timothy Scott and Demarkos L. Daniels of Vero Beach were illegally searched because they didn't consent to strip searches — especially not in public.

"The officers did not offer appellants any cover from passers-by, male and female officers at the scene, or each other," Judge John Dell wrote. "The police effectively conducted strip searches in open view in a public place, on the side of the roadway of Interstate 95."

The men were "pat-down searched" after deputies pulled them over June 13, 1991, because the license tag light on their car wasn't working, according to court records. They were stopped just after 1 a.m., records show.

Abortion clinic fire is suspicious

VENICE, Fla. (AP) — A fire that damaged a medical clinic that performs abortion was labeled "suspicious" by investigators.

The South County Medical Center, a women's clinic not affiliated with the county, sustained fire damage to two waiting rooms and smoke damage throughout.

Sarasota County Sheriff's spokesman Bill Stookey said fire investigators were still searching for a cause of the blaze which broke out about 12:40 a.m. Thursday and was doused within an hour.

Since the clinic performs abortions and has been the scene of anti-abortion protests in the past, the fire would be labeled "suspicious," Stookey said.

The clinic was closed at the time of the fire.

Cabbie jailed for putting fare in trunk

BOCA RATON — A cabbie's determination not to get stiffed for a free ride cost him an expensive ride — to jail.

When driver Edward Blagden delivered his customer on a $42 ride from The Copa Cabaret & Disco in Fort Lauderdale to Mizner Park in Boca Raton, the man said he didn't have any money and made a run for it, Blagden said. Blagden chased him down, then deposited him in the trunk of his cab.

"I put him in the trunk for safekeeping and that wasn't legal. I didn't know that," Blagden explained. "It was a spur of the moment thing, and I guess I shouldn't have done it."

"Over the years, we've pretty much frowned on people taking the law into their own hands," Boca Raton police Sgt. Mike McCutcheon said. "You are better off calling the police."

Police charged Blagden, 64, with false imprisonment. They also charged passenger Robert B. Goodnough Jr., 28, with theft of service.

Flying ships grounded

KEY WEST — The Navy's fleet of six high-speed "flying ships" has been grounded in a cost-cutting move.

The 400 crew members and support personnel for the hydrofoils are also slated to leave Key West, and the future of the hydrofoils is uncertain.

The ships, the only Navy ships based in Key West, are primarily used to aid the drug interdiction team Joint Task Force 4 in the Caribbean and the Gulf of Mexico.

Capt. Michael Currie, commanding officer of Naval Air Station Key West, lamented the cutback.

"The impact will be felt principally in the counter-narcotics region, and that bothers me," Currie said. "Taking resources away from that is scary."

Each hydrofoil carries eight missiles. Two hydrofoils took part in the 1983 U.S.-led invasion of Grenada.

The hydrofoil's primary advantage is speed. Propelled by a jet engine and riding on the wings, or foils, almost none of the ship is in the water so there's almost no drag.

Malpractice suit settled

MIAMI (AP) — The family of former Miami Beach police chief Rocky Pomerance has settled a malpractice suit against the Miami Heart Institute and two of its staff doctors for $3.3 million.

The hospital settled Wednesday for $3 million. Both doctors, David Galbut and Parry Larsen, denied liability, but Larsen contributed $300,000.

Pomerance suffered cardiac and respiratory arrest in the hospital in 1989 after surgeons removed temporary pacemaker wires. Because no one was monitoring his condition, the supply of oxygen to his brain was cut off for at least 20 minutes, according to the lawsuit filed in 1990 in Dade circuit court.

Pomerance, 65, is now confined to a wheelchair, his memory and speech severely impaired.

New tent city brings hope

By PATRICK REYNA
Associated Press Writer

NARANJA — A new tent city for families victimized by Hurricane Andrew has brought renewed hope for people like Luz Angelica Ricarte.

Ms. Ricarte's home in south Dade County was flattened by the storm six months ago, and now her family is being forced out of the one-bedroom home she shared with her sister, brother-in-law and their daughter — eight people in all.

"I'm thankful for this help, even though it will be even tougher than living in this house has been," said Ms. Ricarte. "This house is rented by my sister and the landlord wants it back, so we all have to go."

Today, Dade County officials will begin preparing a tent city to house up to 125 families. Many of the families are now living in apartments that will be condemned or cleared for repairs.

The camp, which will shelter 750 to 1,000 people, is expected to open by Feb. 15 and will include a makeshift clinic, a clothing giveaway, kitchen facilities and public showers.

The county has been calling for the return of tent cities since the U.S. military-run camps were shut down in October. The five camps housed up to 2,200 hurricane homeless.

The new tent city, which is only for families, will be located on 11 acres adjacent to St. Anne's Mission, a yellow complex in the south Dade County town of Naranja.

An estimated 5,000 people are currently homeless in south Dade County, but about 2,000 of those are migrant workers and another 2,000 are construction workers.

Andy Menendez, the county's coordinator of programs for the homeless, says the original tent cities were shut down too soon "although no one at FEMA will admit it publicly."

Asked why they were closed, he said: "I think it was called a presidential election. The administration wanted to make it look like the situation was returning back to normal."

Len DiCarlo, a spokesman for the Federal Emergency Management Agency, says that all people who were eligible for help were relocated before the tent city was shut down.

"Many of the residents of the new tent city are unemployed and have not been able to get their lives back together," Menendez said. "There are two and three families living together. These relationships are growing very thin. Some are going to explode."

Escapee fined after 17 years

By Associated Press

EASTON, Md. — A Florida man arrested for escaping from the Talbot County Jail 17 years ago was fined $1,000 and sent on his way.

Herman Denny Roe had served 15 days of a sentence for beating his wife when he escaped from a work-release program Nov. 10, 1975. His wife drove him to Florida.

Roe, who lives in Cocoa, Fla., sent the sheriff a Christmas card that year.

"That was mighty friendly of you," Circuit Judge William S. Horne said at Roe's hearing Wednesday.

More invasions leave area tourists a little shaken

By Associated Press

ORLANDO — Four attacks in two days are the latest in a string of about two dozen home invasions in an Orlando-area tourist corridor, officials say.

An elderly couple was shaken but unhurt as two robbers broke into their home early Thursday. Three incidents on Wednesday left two victims with BB pellets imbedded in their faces.

The break-ins have taken place in Orange and Osceola counties, and sheriff's officials have stepped up patrols and assigned extra investigators. But the random attacks have left patrol deputies guessing.

The majority of the home invasions — which differ from burglaries because invaders intentionally confront their victims to demand cash and valuables — have been directed at visitors.

Osceola County has tracked similar crimes since late October, with 18 taking place in rental homes occupied by tourists from foreign countries. Investigators believe a large group may be responsible, with only two or three going out on any given night.

Two of Wednesday's break-ins involved British tourists.

An Orange County house rented by eight British men on a golf vacation was entered by two robbers at 5 a.m. Two of the eight fought off their attackers, tumbling one robber down a flight of stairs.

"You take precautions on the street. You don't carry money when you're about. But you don't expect someone to come breaking into the house," said Steve Richards, 26, one of the eight tourists from Milton Keynes, north of London.

Edward Kokke, who was sitting in the kitchen drinking tea, was forced upstairs where the others were sleeping and forced to give the two robbers $660. The commotion awakened John Williams, who rushed one robber holding a gun, and Kokke went for the other intruder who was armed with a knife and a golf club.

"I see Eddie wrestling with the intruder," said Richards, who also was awakened by the noise. "The next thing we know, they're rolling down the stairs. We probably would have given chase, but John said the guy had a gun."

Kokke, 43, suffered some bruises.

Citrus prices hurt by crop

By The Associated Press

WINTER GARDEN — With orange juice production around the world expected to reach record levels, Florida growers are hurting this season as they harvest a $1.5 billion bumper crop of citrus.

Florida's 188 million 90-pound boxes of oranges and Brazil's production of about 280 million boxes are expected to result in a record 2.45 billion gallons of OJ.

"Right now, there is too much fruit and not enough customers," says Robert Battaglia, who grows Valencia oranges west of Orlando.

The price of frozen concentrated orange juice in commodity markets has plunged to one of its lowest levels, and most of Florida's crop is processed into juice.

George Harris, president of the Citrus & Chemical Bank in Polk County, said the production glut and low juice prices will depress real estate values for groves, slow grove expansion and cause hardships for new growers and investors.

Industry leaders are urging The Florida Department of Citrus to broaden its efforts to create new orange juice markets and stimulate demand.

Miller sentenced to life

SANDRA ELLIOTT
Herald Staff Writer

David Miller was sentenced to life in prison Wednesday by Seminole County Circuit Court Judge Norman D. Brock for the murder of his wife, Jayne.

The sentence means Miller should serve 25 years in prison before he is eligible for parole.

Prior to sentencing, Judge Brock overruled a defense motion for a new trial.

Miller shot his wife at a Sanford storage warehouse in September 1991. At the time, he was married to two women, Jayne, and a Dorothy Miller in Pennsylvania.

Prior to sentencing, the victim's father, Richard Leebrick, and sister, Sandra, addressed the court.

"David Miller has shown no remorse in the 17 months since my daughter's death," Leebrick said. "The only thing he regrets is that a jury found him guilty. David Miller should never be allowed in society again. I hope he spends the rest of his life in a prison in the Florida prison system."

Sandra Leebrick noted Miller had not shown remorse since the killing and had not returned personal items and photographs as requested by the Leebrick family.

"People were just pawns in his game," she said. "How could a man who claimed to love my sister murder her? Jayne is gone but she will live in our minds forever."

Leebrick and his, Janice, sat in the courtroom holding hands as a handcuffed Miller in a blue jail uniform stood by his attorney during the proceedings.

Miller was sentenced to 15 years probation for shooting a firearm into an occupied vehicle to run consecutive to the murder sentence. Brock stipulated during the probation period Miller could have no contact with any firearms.

Miller was credited with time served for his conviction for battery. He has been in the Joint

E. Polk Correctional Facility 508 days.

Defense attorney Leon Creek withdrew as Miller's counsel and will be replaced by the Seminole County Public Defenders office during his appeal.

Judge Brock found Miller was eligible to be represented by the public defender after Miller swore under oath he was indigent. Miller told the judge neither he nor any member of his family are negotiating for book or movie rights of his story. Miller also stated the last piece of property he owned was in foreclosure. As a part of the sentencing agreement, Miller will pay Richard Leebrick for his daughter's funeral expenses.

Outside the courtroom,

Leebrick said he was pleased with the verdict.

"I'm as pleased as I can be," he said, adding "if justice had really been done, he would be heading to deathrow. But if the State of Florida keeps its word and he is in prison for 25 years, he (Miller) will be an old man when he gets out."

Lake Mary gives nod to 2 projects

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY — There appears to be no stopping business and industrial growth in Lake Mary. Two of the latest projects gained approval from the Lake Mary City Commission last night.

With very little discussion, the commission voted unanimously to approve the proposed site plan for the new Home Depot store.

The facility is to be located on the north side of Lake Mary Boulevard, between the entrance to Primera and Amoco property.

A small but significant building expansion was also approved for Siemens Stromberg-Carlson.

When the Builders Square site plan was first submitted, the city staff examined them and made several suggested changes. Prior to last night's meeting, Dyer, Riddle, Mills & Precourt, engineers for the project, had resolved most of the matters and obtained most of the required permits from other governmental bodies.

The site plan proposal passed with the unanimous approval of the commission.

Home Depot will be built on 22 acres of land, and occupy 165,000 square feet of space. The main enclosed building will have 107,000 square feet, with additional exterior space for gardening and an additional retail area.

The only major change was access to the parking lot. While an access was originally proposed to be off of Lake Mary Boulevard, the engineers have agreed to have it on the Primera entrance area, which already contains a traffic light.

The expansion at Siemens Stromberg-Carlson involves a request to build a new metal shed to be used for maintenance storage. The structure is to contain 2,000 square feet of space, and will cover an existing courtyard which has been used for cooling towers, pumps and transformers over the past year.

Siemens has indicated it wants to have the structure in place by March 6.

The new shed is part of the reconfiguration needed to coincide with the relocation of Siemens Stromberg-Carlson factory from Albuquerque, New Mexico, to Lake Mary.

Seminole County: Something's amiss

Is there no one out there who feels strongly enough about Seminole County that they want to show off its assets?

For the fourth year in a row, no Seminole County organization has entered an exhibition in the county exhibits at the Florida State Fair. While nearly all of the state's counties promote themselves at this event, there is a void where Seminole County should be.

Are the people of this county afraid of the work that might be involved in putting an exhibit together? Or do they just not see the great things we have to offer?

Look at Lake Monroe in Sanford. It is the home of the largest inland sailing regatta in the country. The lake is also a beautiful natural get-away with some of the best fishing in Central Florida.

Look at the industrial growth in this county. More and more businesses are locating here. Since the last time an exhibit was placed at the state fair, the American Automobile Association (AAA) has moved its national headquarters to Heathrow, Maynard Electronics has expanded along the Interstate in Lake Mary and other businesses have begun to grow throughout the county.

Look at education. We have one of the finest school districts in the state with students who score well above the state and national average on standardized tests. Our schools boast some of the finest equipment money can buy. The teachers are among the best in the nation.

Sanford was chosen this year as the site of the first state celebration of the Martin Luther King, Jr. holiday. The people of Sanford and its leaders were lauded by the state committee for their work and dedication.

That's only the tip of the iceberg. There is so much we can be proud of in Seminole County, yet no one has taken the time to show it off.

Maybe next year, Seminole County will have a shimmering new display at the state fair. In the meantime, we can only hope that those who wander through the displays don't think that we are absent because we have nothing to cheer about.

CHUCK STONE

Gays as U.S. citizens and soldiers

Ernest Hemingway would have called it a moment of truth — two black Air Corps navigation cadets stood nervously in the chow line with their food trays, facing an angry red-faced mess sergeant.

"You can't eat here! If you don't leave ..." He paused ominously. Lanky Spaulding Ruffin, who was older and more mature than I, spoke up. "President Truman has desegregated all base facilities, and..."

"Not [LTI]my [LTI]mess hall," he roared. "Now you nigras get outta here, or I'll call the MPs and have you arrested."

Hungry and disheartened, the two of us returned to our training plane, which had made a fuel stop in Waco, Texas. About an hour later, a command car drove up, and a short, squat colonel, sporting a gray pukka sahib mustache and carrying a swagger stick, demanded to see "those two Negro cadets."

As two terrified cadets saluted him, he growled, "I want to apologize for my sergeant's actions. He disobeyed a presidential order — and he is no longer a sergeant. Come back to my base anytime, and eat anywhere you wish."

That was 49 years ago. I served most of my two and half years in a racially and gender-segregated Army and Air Corps. Back then, most Americans — except for blacks — blithely accepted military apartheid as normative. Today, race is no longer the demarcation line in the military. Homosexuality is.

But 49 years ago, homosexuality wasn't a national controversy in civilian or military life. Why 1993? Has the increasingly aggressive gay movement threatened us with its lacerating tactics?

Like any other group that the majority of society periodically demonizes, gays and lesbians still yearn to lead what Henry David Thoreau was referring to when he said, "The masses of men lead lives of quiet desperation." Their problem is the inaccurate social perception that homosexuals are potential child molesters, that they threaten the integrity of the nuclear family, that they are disseminators of AIDS and that their increasingly powerful — and rambunctious — lobby does not always observe the rules of discourse.

How paradoxical. The oppressed are expected to play by the rules of reciprocal civility in debate, while simultaneously being abused privately and bashed publicly.

Gays and lesbians are American citizens. They are not criminals, and they love their country as fiercely as the rest of us do. They do not disproportionately break the laws of our society any more than heterosexuals do. And I am not convinced that the God to whom I have prayed for over 60 years created a "separate but equal" classification of persons according to sexual preference. God is an equal opportunity lover of humanity.

I understand the administrative concerns of the joint chiefs of staff and their chairman, Gen. Colin Powell, about the possible compromise of military efficiency. Not all of their arguments are specious. We must not impugn their motives.

But neither should we seek to sabotage President Clinton's efforts to fulfill a moral commitment. As John Stuart Mill wrote, "The worst offense that can be committed by a polemic is to stigmatize those who hold a contrary opinion as bad and immoral men."

Ernest Hemingway would have called it a moment of truth.

"ME? ... I GOT CAUGHT LEARNING MATH AND SCIENCE WHILE MY TEACHER ASSIGNED STUDIES IN GAY HOMELESSNESS AND AMERICAN SOCIO-ECONOMIC IMPERIALISM!"

Forfeiture law hits the innocent

WASHINGTON — Although designed as a weapon against major drug dealers, civil forfeiture laws have spawned frightening new police powers across the country — including the power to confiscate private property from innocent citizens whose only mistake is being at the wrong place at the wrong time.

It cost Donald A. Regan of Montvale, N.J., his 1986 Camaro, $40,000 in legal fees and much of his reputation.

Regan had never heard civil forfeiture when he allowed a customer at a bar where he worked to tag along on an errand into Manhattan. Regan's mistake was that he agreed to make a stop in a nearby neighborhood so his passenger could pick up some money he said he was owed.

During the trek back to New Jersey, they were surrounded by agents of the Bergen County Narcotics Task Force who had been conducting a stakeout. When he first heard sirens, Regan figured he had been speeding. But then his passenger informed him that he had 16 vials of cocaine in his pocket — not money.

"I wanted to hit the guy," Regan recalls. Both Regan and his passenger were arrested on drug charges. After the passenger exonerated Regan of any knowledge of the drug deal, all charges against Regan were dismissed by the police — yet there was a catch: The authorities wouldn't return his car.

"This is an ideal type of car for us to keep, because it's a good undercover car," argued the local prosecutor at the time. The police eventually offered to return Regan's car if he paid them half the blue book value. Regan refused and took his case to the courts where he eventually lost. The last time he saw his car in the courthouse lot, the tail end had been smashed, apparently during a crash in an undercover operation.

Regan's lawyer, Walter Schreyer, told our associate Dean Boyd, "This is an anomaly in the law. It's totally unfair that they can do this." Today, Regan is juggling three jobs to pay off his legal bills.

Since its expansion in the mid-1980s, the civil forfeiture laws have become the government's lethal weapon against any crime involving money, particularly drugs. They can seize cash, cars, home, businesses and any other assets they claim are associated with criminal activity.

For the Justice Department, the law delivers a serious blow to crime syndicates by hitting them where it hurts — the pocketbook and the property that is the fruit of the crimes. Since 1985, the government has reaped almost $2.6 billion through the program. Currently, the Justice Department is holding 31,574 pieces of seized property valued at $1.8 billion.

But to some critics, including House Government Operations Chairman John Conyers Jr., D-Mich., the program is creating gross miscarriages of justice. "Innocent citizens (have) lost their homes, were targeted by drug courier profiles and became caught up in a judicial nightmare where even property is confiscated although the owner is never charged with a crime. ... This was not the way it was supposed to work," he argues.

To confiscate property, authorities simply have to convince a judge they have probable cause to believe that the assets were obtained or used illegally. Since they needn't prove a crime, prosecutors can literally seize possessions without even charging the owner. Only about half of all people who forfeit property are actually charged with a crime.

Civil forfeiture laws have spawned frightening new police powers across the country.

Judging sex ed. programs

The majority of parents in America want their children to have the information they need to make wise and healthy choices about sex and sexuality.

One of the most effective ways to get this information to our youngsters is through a sexuality education program that deals with the realities of their lives. The following questions are very helpful when trying to decide if a program is reality-based, empowering, moral, practical, moderate, comprehensive, positive, and effective. I urge parents to use this check list to evaluate the programs now under consideration by our school board.

- Does it give students a good basis for the knowledge and skills they will need throughout their lives to make healthy, responsible, honest, respectful decisions about sex and sexuality?
- Does it encourage family communication and validate social and family values?
- Does it support young people's effort to understand and talk about their sexual feeling and to say "no" to sexual pressure?
- Does it respect all our youngsters — regardless of age, gender, race ethnicity, ability, sexual orientation, or religion?
- Does it provide information about the benefits of abstinence and the emotional and physical risks of unprotected and too-early sexual intercourse?
- Does it acknowledge that sexual experience can be enriching and satisfying whether for pleasure or procreation?

- Does it take into account that ignorance, fear, and shame can lead children to make sexual decisions that may endanger their well being or their lives?
- Does it give students the straightforward, age-appropriate, accurate, balanced information they need to protect themselves from sexual abuse, sexually transmitted disease, and unintended pregnancy?
- Does it acknowledge the reality that more than half of all teenagers have had sexual intercourse?

Programs that do not live up to these standards are not worthy of our children. Reality-based sexuality education programs include all of these important elements. Especially when combined with loving, secure homes that encourage open communication about sexuality, reality-based sexuality education can make a big difference in a young person's life.

We cannot expect any school program to completely solve our personal and social problems, but dealing realistically with sexuality can help our children make informed choices about their sexual and reproductive health. It encourages them to behave honestly, respectfully, and responsibly to themselves and to one another — and that is a significant and worthwhile goal.

Democratic Party alive and well

There are those who believe we must hibernate for two more years because we still don't have a real party chairman. Phooey!

As a citizen and precinct committeeman, I worked for the Democratic Party for two years without a real county chairman. The phone line to Tallahassee was always open and helpful, the state committeewoman reliably answered local inquiries, a Democratic club was here to work with on local issues, and the Seminole County Democratic Women's Club helped me with information and some guidance.

Working more directly with some of the candidates was a pleasant and gratifying experience in spite of the missing support from county officers of the past.

Now chaired to the Seminole County Democratic Executive Committee are five other very able officers with the spirit and determination to meet the challenges of change head on.

To you stealth Democrats of high title who choose to avoid your "waterboys" — I say to you, you may very well have underestimated the value of water!

Congress delivers leave bill

By KAREN BALL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — President Clinton, in office for just 16 days, won a bill from Congress granting workers unpaid leave for family emergencies, the first major social legislation of the new Democratic era.

The Senate, after finally pushing aside a GOP attempt to attach a gays-in-the-military amendment, overwhelmingly passed the bill Thursday evening, 71-27.

School

were also waiting for information from a traffic study of the school area, which still has not been finalized.

During the past two months, various revisions to the original joint agreement have been proposed, mostly by the city and its staff, with fine-tuning of the wording by an attorney.

As Ned Julian serves as attorney for both the School Board and the City of Lake Mary, the city obtained services from an outside consultant in order to avoid any problems.

The House, which passed its own version earlier in the week, accepted minor Senate changes in the bill shortly before midnight and sent the measure on its way to Clinton. That vote was 247-152.

The White House scheduled a mid-morning ceremony today for the president to make good on a campaign promise and sign the bill into law.

Under the family leave bill, workers would be allowed to take up to 12 weeks of unpaid leave for a family sickness, childbirth or adoption. Companies with fewer than 50 workers would be exempt. Workers would be guaranteed to get their same job back or an equivalent post.

The bill takes effect six months after Clinton signs it.

Democrats who'd seen the family leave bill twice vetoed by the ousted Republican administration hailed it as a beacon that legislative gridlock was over.

The majority of differences were finally resolved during a joint meeting of the two governing bodies at the Lake Mary city hall on Jan. 14.

Prior to last night's approval, Lake Mary Police Chief Richard Beary made several suggestions on traffic control that is being planned on the school property, Lake Mary Boulevard and Country Club Road, C-15. He suggested allowing parents to unload their children in bus areas during times buses are not scheduled, which would be indicated through the use of flashing lights to be installed in the bus area. He also suggested some changes in turn lanes to allow for a smoother traffic flow at the beginning and closing of the school day.

Several members of the Seminole County School Board were on hand during last night's discussion and subsequent approval.

Board chairman Jeanne Morris commented, "The school board is looking forward to getting on with these improvements now, and I thank you for your cooperation."

National Championships in Utah.

Interest in the sport began early for the 4'11", 80 pound dynamo. Her older brother, Jade, began gymnastics training and Lanna said she thought it looked like fun. She was also inspired by watching Olympian Mary Lou Retton. Although her brother quit the sport, Lanna continued. The Florida State Champion at age 7, Lanna and her family moved to Lake Mary from Jacksonville to train at Brown's in 1988.

After a full school day, Lanna heads for the gym getting home nightly about 8:30 p.m. for two hours of homework before bed. The cooperation of Milwee Principal Eugene Petty has played a major part in enabling Lanna to continue her training schedule.

A gymnastic coach for 12 years in Sanford, Petty was happy to help the family in crediting Lanna's gymnastic workouts for the physical education requirement at school and allowing her an slightly shorter school day.

"I was never able to produce one (a gymnast) like Lanna when I was coaching," Petty said. "She is one in a million. When you've got a jewel on your hands, you have to do anything you can to help them realize their potential." He added flexible scheduling is not new at Milwee. A similar concession was worked out for Milwee alum gymnast Brandy Johnson.

Although her family lives in Lake Mary, Greenwood Lakes Middle School administrators would not grant the flexible schedule Lanna needed. "Their loss is my gain as far as I'm concerned," Petty said, with a wide smile.

Petty plans to be in the audience cheering Lanna on at the Olympics. "I'm saving my money for the trip now. The games are going to be so close, and I plan to be there!"

Although she is thinking about the Olympics, Lanna stays focused on training and doing the best she can in each event. At meets, she concentrates on her performance not competing with another gymnast.

Looking beyond 1996, Lanna plans to attend college. She hasn't decided where but after that she could like a career in acting. "I was in some plays when I was little," she said, "and I really liked it."

Prochel said after she was declared dead, a murder warrant was issued for Goungou. "Everyone up and down the east coast is looking for him," said Prochel.

Prochel said no one else was injured in the incident, though the shooting occurred in a crowded parking lot. There were several eyewitnesses to the incident.

consumed late last year when a contract was approved with Dillard's. Three other retailers previously approved were J.C. Penneys, Parisian, and Burdines. Negotiations with two additional anchor tenants are still underway.

"We've struck a homerun with our line-up of anchor tenants," Schneider said. "The response to our early discussions with specialty tenants have made us extremely confident that we will achieve a tenant mix which will attract people from Altamonte Springs to Deland."

As for the next step, Schneider said, "We now look forward to moving into the design and engineering phase."

An architect for the project has not yet been selected according to Schneider, but he predicts that one will be named in the near future, and that groundbreaking will occur this fall with the scheduled mall opening in the fall of 1995.

The mall is proposed to have 1.2 million square-feet of enclosed area. It will be located near the southeast corner of Interstate 4 and S.R. 46 on approximately 213 acres of land. During the construction phase, Simon spokespersons had predicted possibly 1,400 jobs, with over 2,700 persons expected to be employed once the mall becomes operational.

Simon is one of the largest developers and managers of retail property in the nation. The company owns or manages over 140 malls and other retail properties in 30 states, with over 65 million square feet of space in its portfolio.

While the management of the Albertson's supermarket refused to comment on the incident, Kim Franzen, an employee of the nearby Sue's Hallmark, said people who were in the stores ran out immediately to see what had occurred when the shots were heard.

"They were all pretty shook up," she said. "But I don't think it will effect business at all. This wasn't a random act of violence, so no one is really afraid. They were just shaken."

Boh Brothers Construction, of Louisiana, brought a river barge filled with construction material for the expressway bridge over Lake Jessup to Sanford. The two tugs, transporting the barge, have been moored at Memorial Park in Sanford waiting to head down river to Lake Jessup. The tugs have been transporting construction material to the construction site via the Government Cut to the lake. A small tug then connects with the loaded barge to finish the journey under the River Bridge on East State Road 46 and on to Lake Jessup.

Welfare chief discovers a demeaning bureaucracy

By Associated Press

NEW YORK — New York City's welfare chief went undercover as a welfare applicant to get a look at the bureaucracy from the bottom up and found herself being scolded, misdirected and "depersonalized."

"I ceased to be," Barbara J. Sabol, commissioner of the Human Resources Administration, said Wednesday. "I mean, nobody saw my spark."

Sabol used a fake identify and wore jeans and a sweatshirt as well as a wig or scarf to keep from being recognized. An aide said she spent at least 23 days posing as a welfare recipient between February and October of last year.

She returned the food stamps and other benefits she collected.

Among the indignities she suffered:
 ● Personal documents she left at a welfare office for a caseworker were lost.

● She discovered she'd been sent to the wrong office after a half-hour wait in line, when a worker told her, "Baby, you're in the wrong place."

● She sat in seedy waiting rooms with cockroaches, broken chairs and broken telephones.

Sabol, who went undercover with the knowledge of Mayor David Dinkins, said she has discussed what she found with the executive in charge of income-support programs so employee training could be changed.

But she praised most of the welfare workers she encountered and said she does not plan to discipline any of those who misdirected her.

"I wasn't doing it for the purposes of identifying any individual or any individual office," she said. "I was trying to look at the system and define ways in which to make it better."

Sabol said it took six to eight weeks to get on the public assistance rolls because she was repeatedly told she had not provided enough documentation.

On one occasion, she said, she was sent to a line for job counseling even though at that point she was not entitled to the service. After a 1½-hour wait, she was asked for her case number. She told the worker she didn't have one.

"This kind of frustrated worker says, 'Listen to me! Look at me! You can't get this unless you have a number. They wouldn't have sent you to me if you didn't have a number,'" Sabol recounted.

Sabol was appointed in 1990 to head the agency, which has a $6 billion annual budget and serves more than 1 million poor New Yorkers.

The agency recently has come under criticism for a number of problems, including inadequate shelters for the homeless and a decline in the number of caseworkers investigating child abuse.

Guardsmen board ship reported hijacked

By BRUCE DUNFORD
 Associated Press Writer

HONOLULU — Armed Coast Guardsmen answering a distress call about a hijacking at sea boarded a merchant vessel today and were met by 400 or so cheering people — possibly smuggled immigrants — crammed into the hold.

The Coast Guard was trying to determine whether the passengers were immigrants and whether a hijacking had taken place. Chief Petty Officer Ed Moreth said.

The 310-foot freighter East Wood was boarded without resistance, 1,500 miles southwest of Hawaii. The 14-member boarding party from a Coast Guard cutter found no initial signs of any emergency aboard the Panamanian-registered ship.

The cutter remained alongside the merchant vessel as the Coast Guard tried to sort out the situation.

The cutter was dispatched from Honolulu on Sunday and rendezvoused with the drifting East Wood in response to a Jan. 27 distress call that a gang of hijackers had taken over the ship after it left Hong Kong on Dec. 29 for Taiwan.

The radio report said the hijackers had brought 400 Chinese aboard as passengers.

Coast Guard spokesman Lt. Ken Armstrong said at the time that authorities suspected it was an attempt to smuggle the people into the United States. Three such alien smuggling ships were intercepted in Hawaiian waters last year.

Seminole girls advance to district soccer finals

From Staff Reports

DAYTONA BEACH — For the first time in the 10 or so years that the school has fielded a girls' soccer team, Seminole High School will appear in a district tournament championship game. By beating New Smyrna Beach 2-1 Thursday evening, the Seminoles (14-11-1) earned the right to play Daytona Beach-Seabreeze for the 3A-District 4 title tonight at 7 p.m. at Daytona Beach Municipal Stadium. Daytona Beach-Seabreeze is ranked No. 1 in the Florida Athletic Coaches Association's Class 3A state poll while Seminole is ranked eighth. "This is the first time we've reached the district finals in 10 years," said Seminole coach Suzy Reno. "I'm so happy for the girls. I could scream."

Seminole took a 2-0 lead in the first 15 minutes of the game, then held off a late charge by the New Smyrna Beach Barracudas (7-5-3). Nine minutes into the game, Dawn Burks chipped a ball over a New Smyrna Beach defender and went in one-on-one on the goalkeeper. Six minutes later, Sabrina Reali headed in a free kick by Chelle Hathaway. New Smyrna Beach sited the lead in half when Danvan Komorek scored in the 56th minute. When that happened, Reno moved Burks back to help out on defense to protect the lead. "Our forwards were outstanding," said Reno. "We had a lot of opportunities, but we didn't finish well." "In the second half, New Smyrna Beach was an entirely different team. They picked up on our weaknesses. I had to bring Dawn back on defense to protect that one goal lead. For the last 24 minutes, that's all we did." Seminole outshot New Smyrna Beach 24-13 and had a 5-2 edge in corner kicks. Tribe goalkeeper Christy Oliver made 11 saves while the Barracuda keeper came up with 13 stops. Regardless of what happens tonight, Reno said that her young squad (there are only five seniors on the team) has surpassed her expectations this year. "This is the first time we've been ranked in the state and the first time we've made to the finals of the district tournament," said Reno. "To beat Seabreeze, we're really going to have to work at it." "For such a young team, I'm impressed with the way the girls have played this year."

Lyman sweeps soccer crowns

From Staff Reports

LONGWOOD — Lyman High School completed its sweep of the Seminole Athletic Conference soccer titles Thursday night when the Greyhound boys blanked Seminole 2-0. The win clinches the boys' SAC title for Lyman (18-1-3, 8-1-1 in the SAC), which also won the conference girls' championship. Despite the shutout and an offensive effort that produced a 28 shots in goal and four corner kicks, Lyman boys coach Ray Sandridge said the Greyhounds ranked No. 2 in this week's Florida Athletic Coaches Association's Class 4A state poll weren't at their best against Seminole (5-15, 1-0 in the SAC).

"We just weren't sharp," said Sandridge. "We were never in any danger of losing, we just weren't sharp." "We had a lot of good chances, and Jon Williams, Seminole's goalkeeper made some great saves. But it was almost a case of having too much time to make decisions. We tried to analyze everything. Our execution just wasn't that good tonight." Lyman took the lead early. Mike Sells scoring with a 401 expired on a pass from Chad Courtney. At 27:44 of the first half, John Bernard took a corner kick from Frank Cipolla and scored for a 2-0 Greyhound advantage.

Actually, the second goal could almost qualify as an overall since the Lyman defense kept Seminole from attempting a shot on a corner kick Williams finished with nine saves while Greyhound guide Robert Colon collected his second shutout of the season without having to make a save. Lyman also won the junior varsity contest 7-0.

There was plenty of contact in Lake Mary's game with Lake Howell Thursday night, the two teams being whistled for 60 fouls. Jennifer Grossing (No. 34) scored 21 points as Lake Mary won, 75-48.

Rams grab share of SAC lead

LAKE MARY — What is reality? In basketball, reality is whatever is contained in the official scorebook. On Thursday night at Lake Mary High School, nobody was really sure what they saw with their own eyes is what really happened. Did Lake Howell lead by seven or five points after one quarter? Did Deanna Graves make a three-point field goal or didn't she? Did Kelly Kohn really foul out? What made the confusion really disheartening was that it surrounded a showdown between the host Lake Mary Rams and visiting Lake Howell Silver Hawks for first place in the Seminole Athletic Conference girls' basketball standings. SANFORD — The champion has become the spoiler. After dominating the Seminole Athletic Conference the last several seasons, the Seminole High School girls' basketball team has found out this year what it's like to be the spoiler. Thursday night at Bill Fleming Memorial Gymnasium, the Tribe played their new role to the hilt, holding off a late comeback effort by Lyman to eliminate the Greyhounds from SAC title contention, 42-39. "I really don't know what to say," said Seminole head coach John McNamara. "I felt like we had the game in hand and all of a sudden, they were back in it. # Today's food technologies

Freshness, convenience, quality, safety considered

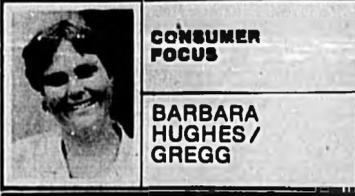

Today, the goal in food preservation has changed to suit the lifestyle of the consumer. Freshness, convenience, top quality and safety are among the primary considerations of consumers.

Although the length of time foods can be kept without spoiling is still a priority, extended shelf life with maximum quality is an additional quality.

Today's food technologies revolve around consumer demand and what the consumer thinks of as "freshness." An example of how different methods can be combined to produce "fresh-like" products is the use of refrigeration and modification of the atmosphere around the food. All living things require oxygen to exist. This includes the foods that humans consume. These foods, once harvested or slaughtered, continue to breathe. In addition to using refrigeration, these reactions can be slowed further by modifying the atmosphere packaging.

If you get as confused as I sometimes do when I go to the grocery store, maybe these explanations will be of help to you!

Modified atmosphere, a process dating back to the '60s, works by removing oxygen from a package and adding carbon dioxide or a mixture of both, depending on the shelf life and color desired. Prepared pasta is often packaged in this manner. The product remains "fresh," there's no flavor change, and time is saved in the kitchen.

CONSUMER FOCUS

Vacuum packaging was originally used for meats. Chicken, turkey, duck, many smoked and deli items are currently vacuum-packaged.

Sous vide (French: under vacuum) is a labor-saving means of packaging prepared foods in pouches. Minimal heat treatment under a vacuum gives "freshness" to high-quality entrees and gourmet dishes. With careful refrigeration, the pouches have a shelf life of four to six weeks. The process, although not widely used in the United States, is popular in Japan and Europe.

Aseptic processing and packaging are widely used in Europe and Canada. Its use is becoming more common in the United States. In this process, the food is heat-sterilized in a system separate from that used for the containers. Metal containers are sterilized with heat, and paper or plastic containers with chemicals such as hydrogen peroxide. The food and the package are then put together and sealed in a sterile chamber.

This process produces a product with a shelf life similar to that of conventionally canned foods, but with superior flavor, color and texture. Aseptically processed products available in the United States are fruit juices, fruit drinks, pudding, tomato products, and several different dairy products. The number of products on the grocery shelf in the United States processed and packaged aseptically is increasing.

Shelf-stable microwave meals were introduced in 1988, and met the need for a quick, portable meal with good flavor. The key to the technique is several layers in the plastic dish and covering that provide a barrier to moisture and oxygen. Food is placed in containers, vacuum-treated, sealed airtight, and then retort-processed in the same manner as canned foods. These shelf-stable microwave meals do not have to be frozen in processing, transporting, or storage.

Irradiation of some foods has been approved by the Food and Drug Administration, and consumer acceptance is growing.

Food Additives, also, play a vital role in food preservation. One can only guess that will be next in food technologies for the 21st century!

Doctor can't save wife from cocaine

DEAR ABBY: Three years ago, unknown to me, and at the urging of some "friends," my wife tried cocaine. Within months, in a nightmare words cannot describe, she was severely addicted, and thousands of dollars had been spent to support her addiction.

A once gentle and loving wife and mother lied, stole and even prostituted herself for cocaine. In a terrifying incident while under the influence of cocaine, she held me at bay with a loaded pistol, threatening to kill me and the children!

A year later, I was forced to divorce someone I had truly loved in a failed effort to save my family from financial ruin. Eventually, I lost my home and a medical practice that had taken me years to build, as I helplessly watched a once wonderful person lose her struggle to overcome the addictive power of cocaine.

As a physician, I have seen a lot of human suffering, but nothing can compare to the living death of cocaine addiction.

Abby, please tell your readers that someone who has been there has said, "Don't even try it!" I am signing my real name, but if you use this letter, please sign me...

FLORIDA PHYSICIAN
DEAR PHYSICIAN: You are to be commended for coming forward with your sad story in an effort save others from the tragic fate your wife experienced.

DEAR ABBY: I have never seen my problem addressed in your column, or anyone else's.

As you can see by my business card, which I've enclosed, I see for the public. I am an excellent seamstress, and while I do not enjoy doing alterations, it's good, honest money, and I'll take it.

Abby, what can I do about otherwise nice people (and acquaintances) who bring me garments to work on that are just plain filthy? I have worked on some garments that are so filthy, I've stopped to wash my hands after handling them.

Please do not use my name or town. It would be interesting to know how many other seamstresses have this disgusting problem, and how they cope with it.

REPULSED
DEAR REPULSED: People who expect you to handle filthy garments should be called and told, "Your garment is in need of being dry-cleaned — would you mind if I had it cleaned before working on it?"

DEAR ABBY: When someone gives a book as a gift, it would be very thoughtful if he or she would refrain from inscribing it — unless the giver is certain that the receiver does not already have the book, has not already read the book, and really wants the book.

If a book is not inscribed, it can be exchanged for another, or given to someone who might enjoy it.

GEORGIA BOOK LOVER

DEAR BOOK LOVER: That's an excellent suggestion for people who give books. Of course, this doesn't apply to a book personally inscribed by the author.

DEAR ABBY: As a male of the species, I hate dancing, and most men will admit it if pinned down. I quit dancing 58 years ago because the girl I was going with wanted to dance, dance, dance — nothing else.

I have not missed the activity since, nor have I missed the fights with a jealous husband or boyfriend because I danced too much with his wife or girlfriend.

It is my opinion that women should be the only ones to dance — preferably with each other.

Teens need steering in right direction by caring parents

DEAR MARY: Please give us parents some tips on what we should try to do to keep our teen-age kids out of trouble during these dangerous years. Everyone seems to focus on what do do after you find out they're in trouble, but what my wife and I want to do is to prevent as many problems as possible before they happen. Does anyone have some suggestions we can use or try so our kids will be better able to get through this period without making some mistakes that will haunt them into their adulthood?

DAD WHO WANTS TO PREVENT PROBLEMS

DEAR PREVENTION-MINDED DAD: Remember when your kids were small and you could hardly wait until they were older so they wouldn't require so much time and energy? That seems pretty funny now, doesn't it? To help your teens steer their lives through these difficult years make certain that you talk to them about alcohol and other drug use and how it can limit their opportunities now and in the future. Remember that a big part of any such conversation is attentive listening. To the best of your ability, limit your teens' unsupervised hours while you work. Research has shown that lunchtime and the hours between 3 to 6 p.m. are periods when kids often experiment with substances.

Encourage your teen to participate in a special interest group such as a sports team, drama or dance group, or volunteer organization working for a church group or community service. The busier your teenager is, the less likely (s)he is to be bored and seek an unacceptable outlet for excitement.

Plan activities, perhaps with other families, during school vacations and major holidays. These periods can be high-risk, idle times for teens. Cooperate with other parents to be sure that parties and social events your teens attend are free from alcohol and other drugs. While experts disagree on this, many feel that a part-time job that does not interfere with a teen's academic life helps to keep them focused and productively involved.

	DRUG COUNSELOR
	MARY BALK

Finally, if every parent had your prevention-minded attitude, families, schools and communities would all benefit.

INTERESTED IN A YOUNGER LOOKING FACE?

TCA Facial Peels are now available in our office. This type of facial peel is superficial and is considered a very safe cosmetic peel. You can now have a younger, fresher looking face in approximately 2 weeks. If you have dark blotches, acne scars, freckles, or fine wrinkles, you might be a candidate for this type of facial peel. This affordable, almost painless, in office procedure will leave you with your own natural skin color and a more even skin texture of the face. Call for a consultation to see if you are a candidate for this procedure. This is a cosmetic procedure and not reimbursable by Medical Insurance.

LET US REPLENISH THE SEED OF FAITH THROUGH ... Regular Church Attendance

PILED TOO HIGH?

Add one more item to this stack and you may find yourself on your knees, picking up a set of broken dishes. Perhaps it would be best to wash them now, before disaster strikes. Is your life piled too high with unsolved problems? Most of us experience this situation several times in our lives, so why not take a different approach? By assuming that same kneeling posture, asking our Heavenly Father's intervention before our lives are piled too high with everyday concerns, we may avoid disaster. The Bible assures us that "Whosoever calls upon the name of the Lord shall be delivered" (Joel 2:32). This promise is unconditional, yet we must have faith that our prayers are answered according to the will of God, even as we pray. Invoke God's intervention in your life as you worship this Sabbath, before your life becomes piled too high.

Historical marker placed at church

Special to the Herald

SANFORD — A historic marker commemorating the Presbyterian Church of Upsala, and the Swedes who founded the church, presented Sunday by Paul Mikler, of the Seminole Historical Commission.

The brief ceremony, attended by approximately 100, began with a prayer by the Rev. Darwin Shea.

"This church has served the community for a century and I am proud to have been a part of it as pastor for a quarter of that time," he said.

Mikler pointed out that the Swedish people had brought their faith with them and "have kept the faith."

Douglas Stenstrom, a descendant of one of the Swedish families who attended the 100 year-old church, unveiled the plaque and read the inscription.

"In October 1890, the younger generation of Swedish immigrants whose parents had been persuaded to settle here by Henry Sanford, organized a Swedish Presbyterian congregation along American lines. In 1891, the congregation was enrolled in the South Florida Presbytery.

The original structure was erected in 1892 and was used continuously until it was moved from its previous location when the new building was constructed in 1985.

The first pastor of the Upsala church was the Rev. John Frederick Sundell, who also organized the Lake Mary church two miles south of here, in 1894. It is popularly believed the town of Lake Mary was named for Rev. Sundell's wife, Mary Amelia.

The Upsala church was probably named after Upsala University near Stockholm, Sweden, one of the oldest universities in Europe."

Stenstrom invited 94-year-old

Olga Hunter, one of the oldest living descendants of the Swedish families brought here by Gen. Sanford in the 1870s, to stand with him at the marker, confirming that she had written some of the wording.

Later, Hunter noted that she had gone to the Upsala church all her life. "My mother was a member before she was married, so I went along with all other children."

The Upsala marker is one of 13 placed throughout the county by the Historical Commission which conducts the research and purchases the plaques to commemorate a site. The new marker replaces a wooden and aluminum one that had become difficult to read.

Special to the Herald

LONGWOOD — Congregation Beth Am, 3899 Sand Lake Rd., will be celebrating Jewish Arbor Day, Tu B'Shvat, on Sunday with the planting of trees at the synagogue and the traditional plantings through the Jewish National Fund in the Land of Israel.

Students of the congregation's school will have the "hands on" experience of renewing our world by planting trees with their own hands and, at the same time, collecting contributions to the Jewish National Fund for the planting of trees in the American Independence Forest near Jerusalem. The forest, begun with a massive planting on July 4, 1976, has recently been decimated by fires set as a result of the Intifada, the Palestinian uprising.

Tu B'Shvat, the "15th day of the Hebrew month of Shevat," marks the end of the winter season and the arrival of spring in Israel. It is the day when most almond trees in the Holy Land are in blossom, when life-nourishing sap flows through the veins of the trunks, boughs and branches according to ancient tradition.

At the same time, it is a tradition to eat the fruits of the Jewish homeland. Young people in Seminole County and abroad will feast on dates, figs, apples, nuts, raisins and carob beans. The festival in ancient times marked the beginning of the year for the purpose of tithing from the produce of trees.

Today, given the massive destruction of rain forests, woodlands and natural areas throughout the world, the celebration takes on new meaning. The modern day recognition of the importance of trees only serves to reinforce the observance of Tu B'Shvat, Jewish Arbor Day, and underscores the fact that ancient traditions can undergo renewal and be imbued with new meaning.

Cancer patient needs a definite diagnosis

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm a 70-year-old man. Fifteen years ago a kidney with renal cancer was removed, and now I have five or six spots of renal cancer in my lungs. My doctor says there is no treatment available, yet I wonder if there are any medical centers that will treat this problem.

usually due to allergies, although some people inherit them or experience them from stress. You need an allergist to discover the cause, which can be elusive.

MEDICINE
PETER GOTT, M.D.

DEAR READER: You have apparently developed cancerous lesions in your lungs but, from the information you provide, I cannot confirm that they represent reappearance of your kidney malignancy of 15 years ago. This distinction is important because it will govern the type of treatment you receive. You need a biopsy.

For example, if the lung "spots" are indeed cancer that spread to the lungs from the original kidney tumor, you're in trouble. Metastatic carcinoma of the kidneys is resistant to both radiation and chemotherapy. In contrast, primary lung cancer can often be treated with radiation or drugs.

DEAR DR. GOTT: First, thank you for your column of wisdom and wit. Please discuss hives in general, and specifically hives in relation to a rare form of fungus on both heels. I was placed on Seldane and prednisone with good results yet have been told recurrences are likely. Is Seldane the medication of choice or should I be going in another direction?

DEAR READER: Thank you for your compliment. I'm confused by your question because you're not being treated for a fungus infection. Rather, you have been prescribed two anti-allergy drugs: Seldane (an antihistamine) and prednisone (a cortisone steroid).

Hives are irregular, itchy, raised, red patches on the skin that come and go. They are

Answer to Previous Puzzle

BRIDGE

By Phillip Alder
In his "Devil's Dictionary," Ambrose Bierce defines an egotist as "a person of low taste, more interested in himself than in me."

At the bridge table, it often pays to bear in mind partner's problems. What seems a clear-cut line of defense to you might not be so obvious to your partner. Try to find a play that makes everything unambiguous to him too.

In today's deal, West led the diamond three: six, ace, eight. East flashed back the diamond five, confident of getting a ruff. But when South nonchalantly played the queen, West wasn't so sure of the position. Instead, he switched to the club queen at trick three. Carefully declarer covered with dummy's king. South ruffed the club return, drew trumps and claimed. "You buffoon!" cried East.

"Why do you think I played back a diamond so quickly at trick two? So that I could get a club switch?"

"Well, first of all," replied West, "it would be most improper of me to draw an inference from the speed of your play. Equally, it is wrong of you to try to clarify the situation by your lip."

"If declarer's diamond four were the club four, my switch would be the only way to defeat the contract. You could have made it easy for me. At trick two, cash the club ace. Then I will know to give you the ruff."

"But what if South is void in clubs?" tried East, in desperation.

"That would give me Q-J-10-7 of clubs. I think I would lead from that holding at trick one. My low diamond lead was potentially dangerous."

East, a person of low taste, mumbled an apology.

YOUR BIRTHDAY

Usually you like to operate independently of others. However, in the year ahead you might form a partnership with one who is able to match you in energy and talents.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Hard feelings might result today if you make a promise to another and then try to back out of it at the last minute. This could jeopardize the alliance. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Problems that you may have to contend with today are likely to be of your own making. Life is rough enough without shooting yourself in your own foot.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Being your own person is an admirable attribute, provided your actions don't hurt or inconvenience others. For instance, if you're not careful today, you could be somewhat offensive.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Strive to be supportive of family members today. Above all, don't compare them to outsiders if the comparison shows them in an unfavorable light.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Today you might be so intent upon making your point that you will fail to see any merit in the ideas or suggestions of others. This could be counterproductive.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Usually you are rather good at discerning bargains, but if you're not careful, you may be enticed into making a bum deal today. Don't believe everything in the promotional copy.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Think for yourself today, especially where important decisions are concerned. There's a chance you may let others decide for you in matters where you are more knowledgeable.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Under most conditions you're a methodical and orderly person, but today you might not plan ahead. As a consequence, your probabilities for failure will be considerably enhanced.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Avoid doing anything today that is not in accord with your highest standards, even though your peers might encourage you to do otherwise. Don't let them call the shots.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) If there is something secret you want to accomplish today, it's imperative you keep it to yourself and maintain a low profile. If your intentions are perceived, they might be opposed.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You'd better have facts at your disposal to back up your case if you challenge another to a debate today. It looks like the other guy may be better equipped than you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Stand up for your rights today if you feel you are denied something to which you are entitled. The individual with whom you're dealing may try to get away with what he or she can.

Study: Lesbians face higher risk of cancer

By Associated Press

NEW YORK — Lesbians run a two to three times higher risk of breast cancer than heterosexual women because they are usually childless, smoke and drink more and have poorer access to health care, a study concludes.

All those factors are known to raise the risk of breast cancer, and they combine to give lesbians a 1-in-3 chance of the disease, said the study's author, Suzanne G. Haynes, an epidemiologist at the National Cancer Institute.

The National Cancer Institute estimates that one in eight U.S. women will develop breast cancer.

Nothing is known about the actual incidence of breast cancer among lesbians, Haynes said.

Rather, she computed the theoretical risk by examining all available studies of factors known to increase the chances of breast cancer. All the risk factors she looked at were more common in lesbians than in heterosexual women.

"When I added up all the risks — and I don't think there's much overlap between these risks — I came up with between a two- and three-fold higher risk of developing breast cancer," Haynes said.

Haynes did the study for the National Lesbian and Gay Health Foundation. She has not yet submitted it to a scientific journal for publication.

The study, the first to estimate breast cancer risks for lesbians, highlights the need for more research on breast cancer in lesbians and for programs to help cut the risk, she said.

Caillín Ryan, a social worker and researcher who heads the AIDS office of the city of Washington, said Haynes' study is an important extension of a survey of lesbian health she and her colleagues published in 1987.

"Our hope is that perhaps with this analysis the federal government would include lesbians in research," said Ryan, who was not involved in Haynes' study.

Among the risks that Haynes looked at was the rate of childbearing among lesbians. Having children is known to cut a woman's risk of breast cancer, but 70 percent of lesbians were childless, according to the data.

That alone makes lesbians 80 percent more likely to develop breast cancer and to die from it, Haynes said.

When Haynes looked at alcohol use, another accepted risk factor, she found that 9.2 percent of lesbians over age 40 were heavy drinkers, compared with 2.4 percent of women in the general population. Lesbian women over 55 had three times the smoking rate of heterosexual women.

Surveys also showed that lesbians were far less likely to have breast exams, mammograms and other preventive care that is known to cut the risk of breast cancer, Haynes said.

She said lesbians were also less likely to examine their own breasts for lumps that could indicate cancer and slightly more likely to be overweight than were heterosexual women, another factor that raises the risk.

"They are terrifying figures," said Susan Heater, founder of the Mary-Helen Mautner Project for Lesbians with Cancer, a patient support group in Washington. "And I believe them, because I lived through my partner's death from breast cancer."

"When you compare the numbers with AIDS, it's amazing. It's more of an epidemic, but the numbers are not recognized yet. It's absolutely a plague."

Antismoking TV ad slows down adults

By Associated Press

NEW YORK — A multimillion-dollar antismoking television ad campaign produced by the California health department has sharply cut smoking by adults but has done nothing to curb smoking by teen-agers, a study shows.

A survey of 10,000 California households shows that only 20 percent of California adults now smoke, an all-time low that is putting the state on track to reach its goal of 6.5 percent smokers by the year 2000, officials said Thursday.

Smoking by teen-agers, on the other hand, remains unchanged at about 8 percent of boys and 9 percent of girls, said John Pierce of the University of California at San Diego, the director of the study.

What's more disturbing, Pierce said, is that by age 12, 40 percent of California teen-agers were "susceptible" to starting to smoke. That is, they did not say that they would absolutely refuse a cigarette offered to them.

The results of the study were released at a news conference in Los Angeles at which Molly Coye, the state health director, announced that a new series of commercials would be broadcast beginning Thursday.

"What California is doing in tobacco control is the model for the rest of the world," said Michael P. Eriksen, director of the U.S. Office on Smoking and Health, part of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention in Atlanta.

He said efforts to prevent smoking in children are critical "because they are the most susceptible to peer pressure and the subtle influence of advertising."

The new commercials will be broadcast on California television and radio stations and for the first time they will also be seen nationally on MTV, said Jacquelyn Duerr, the director of the antismoking ad campaign.

The campaign is the result of a voter referendum that also raised cigarette excise taxes by 23 cents per pack to pay for the campaign and to support other health projects. The state has budgeted $15 million for the ad campaign this year.

Girl tells of being raped

By Associated Press

NEW YORK — A 9-year-old girl's terrible secret finally came to light in a school essay. And the school kept it a secret.

"I know what it's like to be raped ... My father raped me," the fourth-grader said in a Feb. 14, 1992, essay about Mike Tyson's rape trial.

No one at the school in East Harlem called the police or the state child-abuse hot line.

Investigators said the principal was out that day and the teacher locked the essay away. Ten days later, after a midterm break, he handed the essay over to the principal, who appears to have delayed passing it along to the school's medical office for 16 days.

By that time, the child had confided in her grandmother, who found help.

The father, who confessed, was awaiting trial last June when he died of AIDS. The prosecutor later determined that the girl was raped at age 8 and probably was abused at other times, too. She has tested negative for the AIDS virus.

The public schools' special commissioner of investigation said in a report Thursday that the girl's despair prompted burling and buck-passing at the school.

"This is a child's cry for help: When a child summons the courage to make that cry, someone has got to be there to hear it," Ed Stanck said.

It started with a classroom assignment: Write about a famous black athlete in celebration of Black History Week. The girl wrote about Tyson, who at the time was on trial for rape.

The exact contents of the essay "will always remain a mystery," Stanck said. The child ripped up the original and the school's copies vanished.

The report said the assistant principal, Luz Rosenthal, read the essay, "gaped and thrust it back" at the teacher, Stan Collymore. When the principal, Jacqueline Bussey, saw it, she said she'd ask the medical office "to see if it was fact or fiction." It appears she didn't do so until March 12.

On March 1, the child confided in her grandmother.

assignment: Write about a famous black athlete in celebration of Black History Week. The girl wrote about Tyson, who at the time was on trial for rape.

The exact contents of the essay "will always remain a mystery," Stanck said. The child ripped up the original and the school's copies vanished.

The report said the assistant principal, Luz Rosenthal, read the essay, "gaped and thrust it back" at the teacher, Stan Collymore. When the principal, Jacqueline Bussey, saw it, she said she'd ask the medical office "to see if it was fact or fiction." It appears she didn't do so until March 12.

On March 1, the child confided in her grandmother.

Few gifts actually improve with age. Your bank sells one of them.

You can count on one hand the gifts that actually get better as they get older. There's only one, though, you can buy at your bank: a U.S. Savings Bond.

The longer Savings Bonds are held, the more they're worth. You buy Savings Bonds for half their face value. They earn competitive, market-based interest — compounded semiannually, when held for five years or more — with a guaranteed return. And they're absolutely safe. Savings Bonds are easy to buy, too.

Order them at any full-service bank, savings and loan or credit union, and ask for a gift certificate to give now. When the person receives the Bond in the mail, you and your gift will be remembered for years to come. Visit your bank for the gift that improves with age: a U.S. Savings Bond. For more information, write: Office of Public Affairs, U.S. Savings Bonds Division, Washington, DC 20226.
