Resident nearly duped by Canadian lottery scam

Information has been brought to the attention of the Seminole County Sheriff's Office about a scam originating in British Columbia, Canada, that allegedly involves an online contest.

A Seminole County resident reports that he was contacted by telephone on Monday saying that he had just won $75,000 in an online contest as a result of a survey he had completed on his computer. The caller told the Seminole County resident that a package, containing a check and some information about how he had to pay to collect the winnings, would be arriving soon.

On Wednesday, the resident received the package. There was a check for $5,000 inside. The instructions told him to cash the check at his local bank and then wire back $4,000 via Western Union to an address in Vancouver, British Columbia.

The resident took the check to his bank. It was discovered the check was phony. The resident notified law enforcement. The case has been forwarded to Canadian authorities.

Representatives from the Seminole County Sheriff's Office Economic and Computer Crimes Unit urge residents to be vigilant with regard to the Canadian Lottery, and other so-called contest scams. If someone, who is suspected of being a part of a Canadian contest scheme, has contacted you, contact local law enforcement. You may also report the crime to Canadian authorities by logging onto www.phonebusters.com.

Election supervisor announces surprise retirement

By Christopher Patton
Managing Editor

Two days after orchestrating two municipal elections, Seminole County Supervisor of Elections Sandy Goard announced at a staff meeting Thursday morning she would be stepping down in January.

"Tuesday's election was my last," she said.

On the county's payroll for more than 30 years, Goard was originally a secretary in the county commission office in 1973. She came to work in the elections office in 1977 and was appointed in 1983 as elections supervisor when Camilla Bruce suddenly announced her retirement.

More than 11 applied to the state to be appointed to Bruce's position, but Goard won the nod. She went on to be elected as elections supervisor five straight times.

Seminole County Assistant Supervisor of Elections Dennis Joyner is hoping for similar success as Goard has recommended to the state that he be appointed to the position.

Originally from Pittsburgh, Joyner has been with the elec-

Who knew four months later she would really be leaving as she announced her retirement last week. Her possible replacement is her immediate left, Assistant Supervisor of Elections Dennis Joyner.

Vets ready for annual city parade

By Nick Pfeiffaut

SANFORD — Veterans organizations will, once again, conduct ceremonies for the annual Veterans' Day Observance on Tuesday, Nov. 11.

Assembly for participants will be in the parking lot at the Chamber of Commerce (First Street at Sanford Avenue) at approximately 10 a.m. The parade will officially get underway at 10:30, march west on First Street through the downtown area, to Park Avenue. From that point, the parade will travel north on Park to the Sanford City Hall.

Because of construction at the lake front, this year's observance will be held at the flag pole area at the City Hall, at the designated time of 11 a.m. (11th month, 11th day, 11th hour).

Approximately the same number of participants, 250 to 300 people, are expected to be in the parade, representing all factions of the armed forces and veterans organizations, as well as a number of civic organizations and others.

Special guest speaker for the event will be Harry Copeland, with the Veterans Affairs office in Orlando.

Immediately following the official observance at City Hall, a fly-over is expected from antique aircraft. From that point, there will be an open house reception at the Fleet Reserve building on West First Street (SR-46). It will be open to the participants in the parade as well as any spectators who wish to attend and continue in this observance.

Everyone is invited and urged to attend, to watch the parade and attend the ceremony at the City Hall.

Land swap nears for city, SCSB

By Dan Ping
Editor

SANFORD — City commissioners are expected to approve an agreement Monday night that would grant the city a key piece of land it needs to expand its recreation complex at Mellonville and Celery avenues.

The agreement calls for the city to swap 13.14 acres of land between East 25th Place and East 26th Street with the Seminole County School Board (SCSB), which owns the 8.6-acre lot adjacent to the Sanford Historic Memorial Stadium.

Commissioners will discuss the item during the 4 p.m. work session, and Mayor Brady Lessard hopes to put the issue to a vote during the regular meeting at 7 p.m.

"I'm hoping we can move forward on it Monday night," Lessard said. "This will be a great addition to our recreation facilities."

City and school officials have worked more than a year to facilitate the land swap. Before any deal could be made, the city had to reach an agreement with Sanford Gymnastics, which leased the 25th Place property. The gymnastics organization had constructed a building on the site.

Chris Smith, project manager for Sanford, said the city has now purchased the building.

"It took us a while to close" on the building, Smith said, "but it looks like everything is pretty much in order."

If approved by the city on Monday, the land swap must also be OKed by the School Board.

The 8.6-acre parcel has several buildings on site.

Iraqi Diary: No trip to Jordan

Editor's note: Staff Sgt. Charlie C. Carlson III, son of Sanford historian Charlie C. Carlson II, is deployed in Baghdad as part of the 549th Military Police Company. He is providing the Herald with a journal of his experiences.

25 Oct. 2003 I have been providing security for Colonel Mays [Commander of the 2nd Armored Cavalry Regiment] when he goes out and about in Baghdad. The last few nights we have been guarding the Belladia Building, which is the municipal building in Saddam City, now called Sadir City. I would pull five humvees in a line in front of the building, two on each flank, with M249 machine guns and the middle one mounted with an M-19 automatic grenade launcher. I would then send four personnel up to the roof of the building at four points set up with one MK-19, two M249s, and an M-4. Now if nobody knows what that means, in short it means a heck of a lot of fire power.

Our shift began right after midnight from 0001 in the morning until about 0800 hours. Every so often the donkey across the street would sound-off which made me and SPC Goldberg laugh. Then, near sunrise, the roosters started crowing and this woke-up the donkey and he brayed some more. It was "hee-haw, hee-haw," until the sun came up.

There were also some M1-Abrams [tanks] sitting right in front of the building. The tank commander, a short lieutenant, said I could go over to the tank and get a tour of it. I crossed the C-wire and went out there and climbed up to the turret. The loader sits on the left side of the turret and the Tank Commander on the right with ability to fire the main gun. The Tank Commander's sights are just like the gunner's sights. The

SEMINOLE SUMMARY

A GLANCE AROUND OUR COUNTY

Preserving the Palace: During Wednesday's Downtown Community Redevelopment Agency (CRA) meeting, City Commissioner Art Woodruff presented an idea to renovate what he called "the ugliest building downtown," The Imperial Palace.

Located at the corner of 2nd Street and Magnolia Avenue, The Imperial Palace has sat empty for at least a dozen years. The building is quickly deteriorating because of lack of maintenance and the city had begun aggressive code enforcement which could lead to condemnation.

Woodruff would like to save the building, as would a lot of other folks, and is proposing the city form a partnership with the Helen Stairs Theatre and The Children's Theater of Florida to purchase the building. The Stairs Theatre, located across the street from the Imperial Palace, needs more storage space, as does the children's group, and both could use space for rehearsals, auditions and the like.

Around the Clock

by Dan Ping

I think Art has a good idea. Not only could it save a building that may collapse very soon, it would inject some more life downtown and expand what is becoming a nice arts district.

How does the city pay the owner's $375,000 asking price? Heck if I know, though 375 large ones is way overpriced. The city's pending code enforcement process could help make the price more reasonable. Woodruff thinks the two theater groups could tap into their fundraising abilities, and he believes there is grant money available, as well. I would suggest adding Tajiri School of Performing Arts into the partnership. Not only is it a nature fit, it could aid with fundraising and grant acquisition.

Like I said, it's a good idea, but good ideas don't always translate into action.

Put aside for a moment whether the city can find the funds to purchase the Imperial Palace. Woodruff's problem may be that he doesn't have the political capital to seal the deal with the city commission. Some of Woodruff's recent suggestions have fallen on deaf ears, and there is a clear split between the District 1 commissioner and his colleagues.

For starters, some commissioners are suspicious of Woodruff's vote during the city manager selection process. Woodruff was no fan of the man selected for the job, Al Grieshaber. Grieshaber ranked first or second with every commissioner except Woodruff, who ranked him dead last. You could chalk it up to a matter of opinion — and that's all it may have been — but Woodruff ranked Grieshaber below the guy who lied on his resume.

Woodruff also comes across as a bit condescending at times, though I don't think he's always aware. In addition, he and District 2 Commissioner Velma Williams haven't seen eye to eye since the March referendum on whether the city should adopt a strong mayor form of government. Woodruff was against the referendum while Williams favored it, though that doesn't explain the reason for the rift.

Woodruff accused Williams of harassing a city employee involved in the early voting (an internal city report later cleared Williams). Williams was furious at the accusation and pointed out that it was Woodruff who was taking pictures of elderly black citizens as they voted. Since then there's been no love lost between the two, with Williams becoming verbal hostile towards Woodruff several times during public meetings.

Quite frankly, enough is enough. Williams needs stop wearing her emotions on her sleeve, and Woodruff needs to reach out to Williams. The Imperial Palace may be that opportunity. Williams is a strong advocate for kids programs, especially when it involves education or the arts. She is also a good at identifying and successfully lobbying for grant funding, a much needed asset if this project is going to get off the ground.

Woodruff has a good idea. I hope he can provide the leadership to make it happen. I also hope his colleagues give him a fighting chance.

Child's play: Before presenting his idea about taking over the Imperial Palace, Woodruff asked CRA members if they were aware that a children's acting group was operating in downtown, to which Chairman Larry Strickler responded, "Didn't that used to be called the city commission?"

Bettie's 'Pumpkin' Place

The great pumpkin patch has been located at the Pinecrest Drive home of Bettie Place on every Halloween for years. Place decorates her front yard with pumpkins of all shapes and sizes, which attracts all sorts of ghosts and goblins in search of some Halloween treats. Shown with Place is her granddaughter Deborah Aitchison.

Lewd Act

Douglas Lafe Mitchell, 33, of Winter Park, was arrested by Sanford Police Tuesday. Officers said he was seen exposing himself to passing vehicles at the intersection of the westbound Interstate 4 off ramp and State Road 46. He was charged with committing a lewd act.

Larceny

Ivie Samuel Kicklighter, 21, of Willow Avenue, Sanford, was arrested by Sanford Police Thursday. As the result of a traffic stop on Florida Avenue near Santa Barbara Drive, officers said they found several leafy substances on the floor, but were unable to test the substance due to contamination. Several tools, including a chain saw and rifle were also found in the car. Kicklighter reported he had purchased the items at a store in Sanford, but a check with the store revealed the items had been stolen. Kicklighter was arrested on a charge of larceny, over $300.

Brenda Gail Knight, 41, Lake Monroe Terrace, Sanford, was arrested by Sanford Police Monday. She reportedly took items from a store in the 3600 block of Orlando Drive without paying, then returned later and attempted to turn them in and get her money back. She was charged with petty larceny.

Jerry Edwin Mulkey, 37, of Deltona, was arrested by Sanford Police Wednesday. He reportedly took two cartons of cigarettes from a store in the 3100 block of S. French Avenue, and left in his vehicle. Officers located and stopped the vehicle at 2nd Street and Sanford Avenue and charged him with petty shoplifting and driving while license was suspended.

Battery

Nikia Holmes, 28, of Water Street, Sanford, was arrested by Sanford Police Tuesday. An officer reportedly attempted to question him regarding loitering near a business at 11th Street and Maple Avenue where a sign says, "No Loitering". When the officer approached, he said Holmes attempted to run. After he was apprehended, he attempted to push the officer. Holmes was charged with battery on an officer, resisting an officer with violence and trespassing after warning.

Drug related

Richard Coy Wiles, 21 of Stonebrook Drive, Sanford, was arrested by Sanford Police Wednesday on Ridgewood Avenue. He was charged with possession of narcotics equipment and resisting an officer without violence.

Tyronise Veronica Burney, 49, of East Second Street, Sanford, was arrested by Sanford Police Wednesday. Officers investigated when they spotted her reportedly hailing passing vehicles at Fifth Street and Palmetto Avenue. She reportedly gave police a false name. A search uncovered a number of credit cards belonging to other persons, and a bottle said to have been converted to a crack pipe. She was arrested on possession of narcotics equipment, giving a false ID to a police officer, attempting to use ID of another person, giving a false statement regarding financial condition, and possession of two or more counterfeited credit cards.

gunner sits on the right but down below the TC. I got to look through the sights and move the main gun up and down and turn the turret. Of course they would not let me fire the main gun. It was real cramped inside, and the TC hit a button that automatically opened a door behind me revealing the main gun ammunition. He pointed down below in the dark and said that his driver was down there sleeping in the driver compartment. If you turn the turret all the way around the driver cannot get out through the turret and has to go out through the front driver's hatch.

I looked through the sights and the whole area was lit up like daylight. It is amazing that in pitch darkness that through these sights it looks like daylight outside. It was a very high-tech machine. The inside of the tank was painted light green or white and had a greenish light on inside. It was interesting to see the work-piece of other kinds of soldiers.

26 Oct. 2003 They are picking volunteers to go to Jordan for three months to become trainers for the IPF (Iraqi Police). The instructors are from the Federal Law Enforcement Training Center, Los Angeles PD, and NYPD and the IPTF.

I don't know what they can train us on. Most of us have more, or the same, law enforcement training as they do and certainly more combat experience and foreign police work, except for the federal guys, but I've been through all their schools too at Brunswick [Georgia] training facility. Anyway, they are the ones to do the training and are getting a whopping big income for being in Jordan, which is a lot more safer than this place.

The irony is that we have been training police since we got to Baghdad. We got all the police stations up and running, and now many of these have been bombed, with some destroyed. So what forward progress we have made has since gone up in smoke, now they want people to go to Jordan.

Because of my forensic training and special agent background, they put my name on the list, but this means that if I go to Jordan then I would be extended another year in Baghdad. To hell with that nonsense. Besides, if my soldiers have to stay here with the risks and horrid living situation, then I want to stay with them. Some of the young ones are scared and need some leadership. I can't see going to Jordan and leaving them in this mess. So, I took my name off the list. We need our MPs here, not in Jordan.

Why don't those civilian cops come here and train us if they want to train somebody? Besides what good will it do? We've already seen what has happened to our efforts in establishing a police force here, restoring police stations and establishing good relations with the community. Now the community has turned against us and are blowing up the stations. What kind of nutty progress is this? I'd bet five years from now there won't be any difference in this place. Until somebody starts understanding the arguments between the various ethnic groups and tribes, which we are caught between, and allows the Iraqis to have some say-so in their destiny, then no progress will ever be achieved in this city and all the lives and money spent on this misguided mission will simply go down the tubes.

We heard about the anti-war rally in Washington D.C. and most of us would like to send our thanks to all those who have stood up for us and demanded some straight answers. Our voices are not being heard, and I think what is being heard generally comes from selected voices that is distorting the true picture. We know there are a lot of military families, both active and reserves, who have formed protest groups in support of us, we appreciate them very much. However we don't care much for those who favor so-called "Iraqi freedom" more than they do American lives. Three-hundred of us have died in this war, another 1,500 maimed, and by the time this gets read it will be much higher. The bottom-line is that Iraqis don't see us as liberators, they see us as occupiers, and they don't like it, any idiot should be able to figure that out.

Next issue: Burger King comes to Baghdad.

Van Gogh featured at student museum

The traveling exhibit will be housed at the Student Museum from Nov. 10-30. The exhibit contains artifacts, photographs and reproductions pertaining to the life of Vincent Van Gogh. There will also be a video presentation from a museum in Amsterdam featuring highlights of Van Gogh's life, travels and works. A short curriculum module, created by the Seminole Cultural Arts Council about Van Gogh, has been made available to all participating fourth grade teachers in Seminole County.

Cezadus Vander Made, consulate of the Netherlands, will be giving a presentation regarding the exhibit on Nov. 12 from 9 to 11 a.m. at the Student Museum. This interview will be coordinated and taped by SGTV. SGTV is offered to Bright House Networks' subscribers on Channel 9.

Remember the vets

Forget the highways, honor our veterans in meaningful ways

Veterans Day is coming up Tuesday, Nov. 11. It will be a time citizens are asked to pay homage to all the men and women who have been or still are in the armed forces of the United States.

I've written before about my 4,000 mile trip up north several months ago, and these comments stem from what I noticed on that trip. Pulling a long camper, I was prone to take mostly major highways and Interstates.

What I noticed was highway after highway with such names as "Veterans Memorial Highway", "Pearl Harbor Survivors Highway", "World War II Veterans Highway", "Viet Nam Veterans Memorial Highway", "Korean War Vets Highway", and so on. There were dozens of them as I passed through state by state. My question became - What good are they?

Nick Pfeiffauf

Now, before you get angry about this - hear me out. Do people driving these highways give vets a thought? I doubt it. "This is the Korean vets highway," I commented to my wife. "I was in that war." End of conversation. Would other vets even mention that there is a highway named after their service? Did the name provide me, or any other vet motorist, with one cent of benefit?

If people REALLY want to honor veterans of the various wars, they should do it in Washington, where veterans benefits are always being argued. Former or present service personnel need better insurance, better hospitalization, reduced prescription costs, better out-patient care, better educational opportunities, more hospitals or VA clinics, better family care, and on and on.

There is also this thing about people serving in the reserves or National Guard. Their places of employment generally give a stipend of pay while they serve, above the military pay, to make the weekly paycheck the same as if the person was still employed in civilian life. But there are so many ways to get around that, it's beginning to be a laughing stock.

And if a veteran draws money from the government for medical care, that amount is taken out of the vet's retirement benefits or other compensations.

Putting up signs designating highways doesn't help one bit. These people put their lives on the line for our continued freedom - they deserve more than road designations.

Wanna make a vet feel better? How about reduced admission to the attractions, reduced fees for toll roads, reduced costs for other things. They could have a line on a driver's license saying "Veteran" to show who they are to folks who would offer discounts.

But no - our elected officials on the local, state and national levels prefer to name roads and highways, rather than attempt to do something of real benefit to vets.

On Tuesday, Nov. 11, (11th month, 11th day, 11th hour), we encourage everyone to attend a Veterans Day observance. Take the entire family along, so they can hear the words of guest speakers, and see that this nation still pays tribute to our veterans. While you are there, tell the youngsters about your, or one of your family member's military service. Make them proud, as all of us should be.

Then perhaps, visit a cemetery where you may have a family member who served in the military. Pay homage. Put up a flag if possible, and perhaps say a prayer for that person as well as all other veterans, who have passed away or are still living, who have returned to civilian life or are still serving their country.

That's the way to honor our vets in my opinion. I hope you agree with me.

Students' letter draws response from soldier

Editor's note: Fourth- and 5th-graders at Hamilton Elementary School meet once a week for a Career Club. It is an opportunity for students to learn about careers of their choice.

Recently, two students in Beth Jensen's Career Club wrote to Lt. James Taylor and asked him about honesty and courage, the keys to character for September and October. Taylor is a former Indian Trails Middle School and Oviedo High School student, and his mom, Nancy Taylor, teaches at Hamilton.

Taylor wrote back to the girls, and his response is below. "I am very pleased that my students were able to see that their letter made an impact on Lt. Taylor, and I hope they take his response to heart," Jensen said. "I am also proud of this young man and that he is a product of Seminole County Schools."

Dear Kathleen and Jessica:

Thank you very much for your letter. I enjoyed hearing from you and hope I can answer some questions for your article. I also want to apologize for any delay in the arrival of this letter. Baghdad has kept me extremely busy this week.

QUESTION 1 - What does honesty mean to you?

To me, honesty means telling the truth always, despite the consequences, because not only is it the right thing but the truth will pay off in the end. Some examples of honesty include telling your parents that you were responsible for the broken window, returning extra money to a store when a cashier makes a mistake, and refusing answers for a test that you forgot to study for the previous evening. Honesty has many faces but all revolve around the truth.

QUESTION 2 - What are some examples of honesty you have seen in Iraq?

It's funny you ask this question, because just the other day an Iraqi National came to our compound to return a GPS system that fell out of a military vehicle on a rough road. The man could have sold this expensive piece of equipment in a local market, but he did the honest thing and returned the GPS to coalition forces.

From an Army standpoint, honesty is a must for soldiers in Iraq due to the danger present in this area. Personally, I must be as honest as possible during combat operations, especially when my platoon has failed to meet at a line on the battlefield designated by my commander. Although it may upset him, I must let him know of any short comings that have occurred due to a number of circumstances. I also expect my soldiers to tell the truth about any mistakes or errors they make so that I can work to ensure that these errors are not repeated.

QUESTION 3 - What are some examples of dishonesty in Iraq?

Coalition forces gather a lot of intelligence from informants that live in the local community area. This information, in many cases, leads to raids on specific targets suspected of planning, supplying and executing attacks on U.S. forces. Often times these informants give up names of individuals they are having a dispute with. Due to the informants dishonesty, innocent people are detained and their families frightened when we execute a raid at their home.

Another example of dishonesty that I have seen here was when an Iraqi man asked U.S. forces to help a family with a sick child. When the soldiers arrived at the home of the sick child, they were met with armed men waiting to ambush them. Fortunately, this act of dishonesty did not cost any American lives, but in places such as Iraq, dishonesty could prevent a young man or woman from returning home to their family.

QUESTION 4 - Why is honesty important in the Army?

Honesty is very important in every aspect of the military, both at times of war and in peace. Leaders must know the absolute truth in every situation so that they can plan and communicate with their subordinates on what actions must take place. This might include the last known location and activity of a lost piece of equipment. Specific details that explain the cause of a training accident, or the status of a particular unit after lack of food or sleep, that is expected to execute a dangerous operation.

Honesty is also important because of its similarity to integrity, one of the Army's values. Integrity, like honesty, means doing the right thing even when no one is watching, and doing the hard right over the easy wrong. The Army punishes these soldiers who violate such values like integrity, due to the dangerous situations servicemen and women are placed in.

QUESTION 5 - Is there anything else that you would like to share with us about honesty?

From my experiences growing up, I have always found it was better to tell the truth. Honesty is the right thing, but it will always be better for you to tell the truth than have someone lose their trust in you because you were dishonest. Honesty is one of the qualities that makes you a great friend, student, son or daughter, and human being. Remember, honesty is the best policy. (I apologize if I sound like your parents) and you can never go wrong telling the truth.

I am honored you asked me to answer questions for your article and thank you for the opportunity to express my opinions. I hope you have a great school year and maybe I will be able to meet you after I return home.

Jim Taylor
Iraq

P.S. My mother (Mrs. Taylor) mentioned that your next article was on courage. She asked if I would mention any feelings on courage to help you on your next assignment.

I see acts of courage every day here in Baghdad. Many times soldiers place themselves in positions that would cost them their lives, but they do so anyway, knowing that two of their buddies will survive. I know that soldiers are scared everytime they leave our relatively safe compound but they never complain and always complete their mission.

I hope that this will help. My mother will let me know how the article turns out. If you could do one small favor for me next time you see Mrs. Taylor. Give her a hug. Tell her not to worry, and that her son loves her very much.

Nothing good comes from late hours for bars

To the editor:

I read with great interest over the past several weeks about the Committee that was appointed to make a decision to keep the local bars open until possibly 3 or 4 a.m. on Friday and Saturday nights, which they say would result in a more vibrant downtown area.

As a native Central Floridian, 77+ years of age with almost 58 years in the building, development and real estate profession in Central Florida, I would like to make the following comments and suggestions:

1. While the Committee represented varied interests, you have forgotten to appoint the most important Committee member - and that is the Lord. I am certain He would welcome the opportunity to express His thoughts regarding this decision.

2. If there are beautiful shops, stores, high-rise buildings, financial and insurance institutions and various business endeavors and activities for the center core of Orlando, why spoil all this without having bars open to 3 or 4 a.m. Friday and Saturday nights?

It will result in anything but a beautiful downtown area - not one that newcomers can be proud of that would tend to attract other upscale, high-tech businesses to the great City of Orlando.

I can assure you, nothing good or positive will come out of such a decision. It will be a disaster for the fathers, mothers, children and young people and will cause irreparable harm to hundreds of families, permeating down to the wrecking of homes and disparity of the children, etc.

I doubt if you will see too many of the patrons leaving the bars in downtown Orlando at 3 or 4 in the morning attending Church Sunday morning. If you are going to fool someone, never fool yourself.

3. In reality, the only minorities who are going to benefit from this new law are the bar owners who are going to make a few extra dollars at the expense of the masses.

The biggest curse in America today is caused by alcohol consumption, causing fatalities on the highway and affecting many, many families.

4. Show me one city in the United States where it can be truthfully said that much good has come from having bars open to 3 or 4 a.m. They don't exist.

The old adage (which is a truism and is happening a little more every day in America), "If the United States ever falls, it will fall from within" certainly applies here.

When are we going to wake up?

Resident thanks officer for aid during crisis

To the editor:

To Police Chief Brian Tooley, I would just like to write to express my gratitude to Officer M. Francis for his recent assistance. On August 22, 2003, my 21-month-old granddaughter was accidentally locked in the back seat of a car at the Sanford Mall. Officer Francis happened to be passing by through the parking lot and stopped to assist us. He summoned assistance from the fire department immediately and stayed with us through the pouring rain until the car door was safely opened.

I just want to thank Officer Francis for his assistance and professionalism during this stressful episode. I believe my granddaughter, Savannah, rather enjoyed all the fire engines, flashing lights and excitement. The grandmothers and mother were just relieved that help came so quickly. Thanks again. By the way, we did make it to my son's wedding rehearsal that evening - if only a little late.

Sincerely,
Debra G. Jay, RN

The Way We Were: Altamonte Springs grew faster than expected

I recently came across the Altamonte Springs section of "Forward Orlando," a special edition of the Orlando Sentinel, dated Nov. 9, 1972.

Grace Marie Stinecpher

Altamonte Springs was just beginning its rapid growth, so I'll give you some excerpts from the various articles.

Since Altamonte Springs was located at the crossroads of two major roads, Interstate 4 and State Road 436, it was inevitable that its sleepy way of life had to go. But no one thought it would go so fast.

During the last eight months of 1972, the city had issued more building permits ($45 million worth) than it had in the preceding seven years combined. Its population had doubled since the 1970 census and in area, it had increased from about 2,000 acres to 5,000 acres. The construction phase had swamped the small town and city officials had all they could do to keep up.

From 1956 to 1958, the value of building permits issued climbed slowly, maybe only $20,000 to $30,000 a year. Permits jumped $500,000 from 1966 to 1967.

In 1968, $2.2 million in permits were issued. Then suddenly in 1969, there were $10.5 million in permits. In 1971, the total was $18.7 million.

Population in 1970 was 4,791, a jump from 1,212 in 1960. It was predicted the population would reach 18,500 by the next year.

Lawrence Swofford had been in Altamonte Springs for 40 years, coming here when he was 14 years old from Spartanburg, N.C.

His father was the first police force and was called the town marshal. He held that position for 18 years. He remembered that population during the 1930s was about 300 and several of those were northerners who had winter homes there. Swofford claimed that when the city got its water system in 1964, the city would start growing.

Swofford had been Altamonte Springs mayor consecutively since 1961 and was mayor for six years during the 1950s. He had also served two terms on the Seminole County Commission when it was permissible to hold two public offices.

Five years before, a leisurely drive over the two-lane 6.8 mile stretch of Semoran Boulevard (Highway 436) from Aloma Avenue in Winter Park to Interstate-4 in Altamonte Springs, offered motorists an uninterrupted view of orange, tangerine and grapefruit groves.

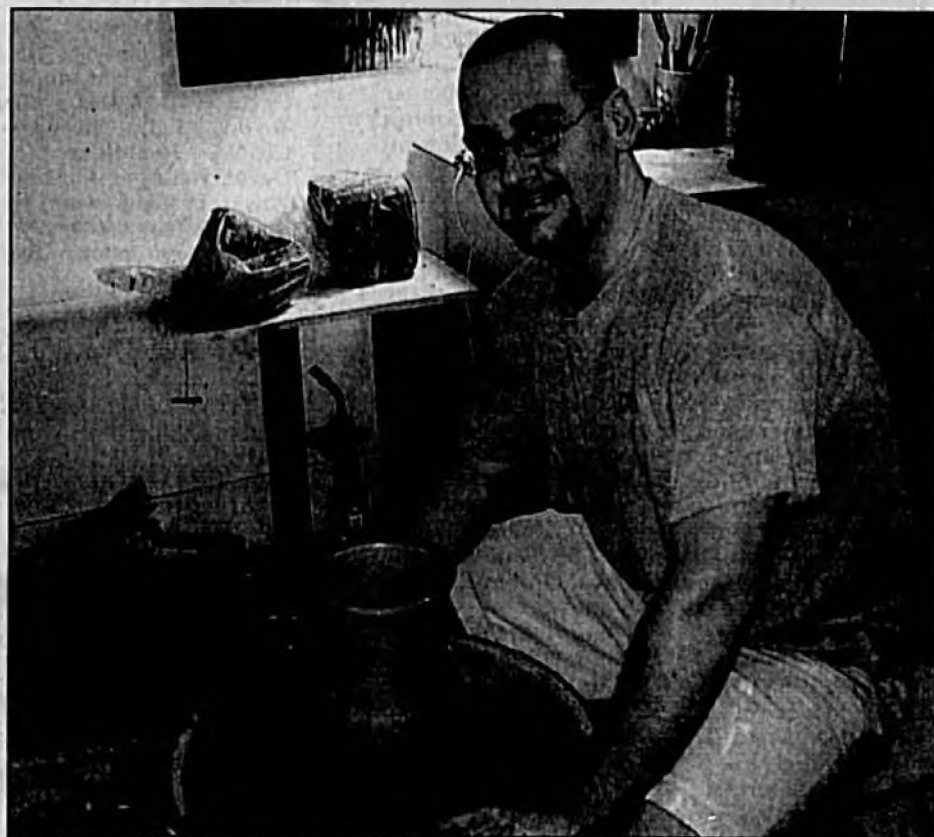

But in 1972, the same drive offered motorists a drive of a vastly different nature. There was now a sleek, four-lane roadway, jammed with vehicles and an uninterrupted view of apartments and more apartments.

Since 1967, 25 apartment complexes had been built or started while plans had been made for another 10 complexes. Rents ran from about $104 for an efficiency to $300 a month for a three bedroom apartment.

Lou G. Hathaway came to Altamonte Springs in 1929, a time when the town was just barely on the map. There were three stores, one liquor and two grocery stores. He drove a model 'T' pickup truck that had cost him $8. He remembered that the road, known as Boston Avenue, was then part of State Road 436 before it was Doug Fudge's new pottery studio, Timber Creek Pottery, will offer classes to area residents.

Timber Creek Pottery offers simple, unique designs

By Michelle Donahue
Herald Correspondent

SANFORD — Seminole County resident Doug Fudge puts a fresh spin on the local pottery scene with the start of his new pottery studio, Timber Creek Pottery.

An up and coming pottery artist, Fudge is an industrial tech and art major and credits the classical aspects found in nature with the inspiration for his work.

"I get a lot of my ideas from the natural patterns and rhythms in the outdoors," Fudge said. "I mull over how they work together and then incorporate that into my pottery."

It takes about two weeks to complete each of Timber Creek's clay pieces. The process involves kneading a block of raw clay, carefully removing all air bubbles prior to throwing and spinning each piece by hand on a potter's wheel. Fingers and basic tools such as sponges and wooden edgers are then used to form each block into its basic shape.

After each piece is structured, they are set aside to dry for a full 14 days before firing them in an electric kiln.

"I like using an electric kiln due to the consistency and safety it offers," said Fudge, who has personally built several kilns himself. "Salt and wood firing are more unstable, though they do offer an interestingly unpredictable affect on the glazing process that some customers prefer."

Fudge has a rough idea of the concept he wants to create prior to forming it, and he hand mixes glaze formulas to insure that the final effect is just as he envisions.

Although Fudge maintains that he no longer gets overly attached to each piece, he does confess to getting absorbed in his work.

"I tend to focus intently on each composition as I form it," Fudge explains, "but I try to stay balanced in my bonding to any particular piece, because it only disappoints if something should go wrong in the firing process. Any given piece can be ruined if not completely dry when fired."

Timber Creek designs are simple while maintaining a uniqueness about them, and the lines and form of each piece tend to evoke either an easy calm, or a vibrant energy, in those that view them. Timber Creek offers a variety of styles for purchase, from fully functional to strictly decorative pieces, and no two are exactly alike. Prices range from $16 to $150 for standard pieces, with increases for client specified customizations.

Timber Creek also offers pottery classes to individuals interested in learning the craft, and the cost is $15 for a one-hour session, plus materials.

Fudge is a former student of Winter Park High School and a graduate of Abilene Christian University in Texas.

His work has been featured at several art shows in both Texas and Florida, as well as showcased at Grace Cultural Museum and Virginia Shore Gallery.

Fudge's pottery has also helped to raise several thousand dollars for various charities, and it is his hope-filled intent to make pottery design his vocation in life. Local art lovers can see Fudge's Timber Creek work on display at the Artistic Hand Boutique in Oviedo, as well as at upcoming showcases such as the 2003 Holiday Marketplace Craft Show Nov. 21-23 and the Oviedo Fall Festival on Dec. 6.

Geneva community: Village, town or hamlet?

The call came when I was away for fall break, and so a message was left for me to ponder. It started out innocent enough.

"I am a reader of Stetson's Corner and I really enjoy your column." (Now here comes the 'but'...) "But I see again on Oct. 16 that you are calling Geneva a town and the last I knew it was a village. So I don't know if something has changed or if you could clarify that in one of your articles; but I don't think we are a town. Thank you."

Being one who tends to ponder on things, I first pondered on why it is that people tend to fixate on one word when there are so many others to consider. As a writer this creates an awesome burden on each and every word chosen. I imagine that when I read over the column of Oct. 16, I probably saw the word 'village' in there too many times, and changed one to 'town,' maybe one to 'community,' or another to 'area' in an effort to create variety in vocabulary. Simple as that.

But being one who tends to ponder on things, I then began to wonder if Geneva was really officially anything at all. So, after thinking on this for the duration of the 10-hour car ride home, I did a little official research and then a little unofficial investigation into the matter, and this is what I found.

In response to an e-mail to Seminole County Commissioner Daryl McLain, whose district includes part of Geneva, I received this: "Ms. Skoles, I (Himm...can I focus on a word for a moment?) "Thank you for your questions. According to the Florida League of Cities, Inc., in Florida, there is no legal difference between 'city,' 'town,' or 'village.' When a community in Florida decides to incorporate, the name and whether to call the incorporation a city, town or village is something the founding citizens decide. The Florida League of Cities, Inc., is a united municipal organization with 404 of the 408 municipalities in Florida in membership, representing their respective municipalities. If you would like to visit the league's Web site, the address is www.flcities.com.

Daria Kinney

"Since Geneva is not incorporated but is a part of unincorporated Seminole County, it is not legally a city, town, or village. Geneva is part of the designated rural area and is considered a rural village center per the Vision 2020 Comprehensive Plan and the 1991 Rural Area Plan.

"The Vision 2020 Comprehensive Plan can be viewed on the county Web site at www.co.seminole.fl.us under 'popular topics — comprehensive plan' for the most recent version."

Then I sent an e-mail out to a combined list of members of the Geneva Citizens Association, Geneva Historical Society and Geneva FCE, as well as placing a comment invitation in last week's column, and I am happy to print the following replies for consideration.

"Dear Daria, I would vote for village because 'village' implies neighborliness and close interaction. The more people there are who have the 'village' mindset, the more conscious everyone will be about the welfare of the village as a whole as well as the individuals within it. Our organizations are central to the success of Geneva. Through the organizations, individuals are drawn into the community, establish friendships, set community-wide goals, and work together to achieve them. As a relative newcomer to Geneva, this system has made me feel very much a part of our village. PS. Don't quote me! (Oops, to late...)

"I believe Geneva is not a town because we don't have 'fixed powers of government.' We might be a village, but we're not incorporated so I'm not sure there's a benefit to the village title other than quaintness. The bigger problem may be since we don't have 'government structure, a governing body, or corporate existence, we may not have a say in the future of Geneva. Anyone who missed Stetson's Corner, Aug. 7, should read 'Lock the barn door while we still have cattle inside.' To paraphrase, it's the rumbling of inevitable growth this is quickly heading this way — just look at what happened to Chuluota, which I believe was also unincorporated ... Munch, munch, munch ... all gone! The down side additional government is of course increased taxes, people vying for positions of power and change. However, if as a community we don't wake up, get involved and get organized, we will lose Geneva forever — as an annexed piece of Oviedo or some developer's dream.

"PS. This is not isolated to our area. The undeveloped, rural areas of north Florida are being quietly 'reviewed/analyzed' by Arvika and St. Joe's Paper Company for future development. Who is going to stand up to them? We have a responsibility to demonstrate good stewardship born of a sense of wonder and appreciation of the real Florida, the wild and true Florida." (I think that reader text is to be a 'ponderer' tool)

"Here is what I looked up and found concerning the topic. Looks like we fit village. According to Webster's New Universal, Unabridged Dictionary: Town (is defined as) 'a more or less concentrated group of houses and private and public buildings, larger than a village but smaller than a city.' Village (is defined as) 'a group of houses in the country, smaller than a town or city and larger than a hamlet.' Hamlet (is defined as) 'a small village, a little cluster of houses in the country. In England it would be one with no church.'

From Ask Jeeves Web site Brainy Dictionary: Town (is defined as) 'any collection of houses larger than a village.

Moore taught for 37 years as a dedicated educator in the Seminole County system at Jackson Heights Middle/Elementary School in Oviedo. Having been selected in 1979 to receive the "Distinguished Black Educator Recognition Award" as Jackson Heights teacher of the year. She served on several school, county, and state committees in the reading and language arts.

A great community worker, she is an active member of Antioch M.B. Church, a member of Zeta Phi Beta Sorority. She also serves as a mentor to many within her community and family, and is an active member of the Oviedo Citizens In Action, Inc.

For 44 years, she has been encouraged in pursuit by her husband, John (Bobby) Moore.

• Juanita Papino, a retired educator, retired from the Seminole County Public School System. This woman of God was a native of Saratoga, N.Y., and she received her early education and graduated from Excelsior High School, furthering her education at Florida Normal College, a religious school in St. Augustine.

Later, she obtained her master's of education degree from Teachers College, Columbia University, New York City.

Papino was nurtured in the religious training at the St. Paul African Methodist Episcopal Church where, as a young Christian, she was taught by dedicated youth workers, her grandparents and family.

She has a zeal for church work. After graduating from college she moved to Sanford, joined the Historical St. James AME Church, where her love for people shows through in what she does from day to day as a missionary. She serves as president of the McGill-Papino Missionary Society, Church Outreach Ministry, Steward, Trustee Board, Sunday school teacher, Choir member, and Christian Education Board.

Papino says her great love is missionary work, and you can find her doing for others.

Her other activities helping the sick and shut-ins. She is a Pink Lady at Central Florida Regional Hospital Auxiliary, a member of Evergreen Temple No. 321 Daughters of Elks, Seminole County Retired Educators, Senior Club of Sanford, and Community Improvement Association of Seminole County.

• Betty Roberts Washington received her education in the Seminole County School System. She is a graduate of Crooms Academy and furthered her education by receiving a bachelor of science and master of education from FAMU, and continued advanced studies at the University of Missouri.

After a successful teaching career of 38 years in the public schools, she retired and enjoyed time engaging in what she thought would complete her happiness and do more mission work.

Washington says God called her back to service at the New Life Word Church where she is a teacher at the New Life Academy school, where many boys and girls of our community who were falling in the public school systems get another chance.

Ask why she is teaching, Washington says, "It's my calling." God has blessed her not only for herself but that she would be a blessing to children of this community. She gives back to the "hood" because she loves the Lord and the youth of this area.

An ardent member of Zion Hope Missionary Baptist Church where she serves as secretary of deaconess board, president of Mission Ministry, Church School teacher, choir member, financial committee, vacation bible school director, past president of Congress No 1., women's department and she sings with the Teachers Cordetts Quartet.

She has been married to William Burnett Washington for 32 years. They are the parents of Mario Burnett Jr., Shawn and daughter Niki.

Washington's civic affiliations are Seminole County Retired Educators, Evergreen Temple No. 321 Daughters of the Elks, Past Daughter Ruler, Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Sanford Women's Club, FAMU Alumni and MLK Jr. Celebration Choir.

We salute the Sanford Alumni Chapter Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc., This group of ladies does outstanding service in the Sanford Community. Their civic contributions are: food drives for the disadvantaged and personal needs for local mental centers.

Altamonte Springs actually began about 47 years before he came to the area, when a group of Boston businessmen bought 1,200 acres and formed the Altamonte Land, Hotel and Navigation Company. The original operation, though it was about three miles northwest of the present city, was then called Snow's Station. According to Hattaway, it was a retreat for northerners.

Elegant plans were disclosed for expansion of the town which included construction of a canal from Altamonte to the Wekiva River and thus to the St. Johns River. The canal plan died and the only major part of the scheme carried out was the construction of a hotel at what is now the intersection of Maitland Avenue and Semoran Boulevard.

This hotel became the destination for the elite including President Grover Cleveland, Mrs. U.S. Grant, Edward Everett Hale and Ralph Waldo Emerson. In 1902, the hotel was purchased by Everett Bates for $4,500. He operated it until July 1, 1953 when a fire leveled the three story building. It was never rebuilt, and for years the foundation remained.

At the time of this article, 1972, a condo complex was going up in about the same location.

The city was incorporated in 1921 and was operated under a charter approved by the legislature in 1967.

Besides apartments and homes, Altamonte Springs was also attracting other developments. Foremost was a giant 145 store mall on Semoran Boulevard just east of Interstate 4. The two story Altamonte Mall would be one of the largest in the southeast.

Ground clearing had begun and grand opening was slated for August 1974.

Elsewhere, office parks, motels, one or two restaurants and a mini-shopping center were beginning to dot the area. Developers were eyeing satellite facilities around the mall.

The five-story Florida Hospital North was scheduled to open the next February.

The hottest development was taking place at the Interstate 4 interchange. It was rumored that up to seven motels would be built there, three were already being built.

Behind the Roadway Inn location, a 19-building office park, called Cranes Roost, was rising. It would be leasing office space in December.

Causing the biggest headaches however, was traffic. And 30 years later, it still is causing headaches.

and not incorporated as a city; also, loosely, any large, closely populated place, whether incorporated or not, in distinction from the country, or from rural communities. Village (is defined as) 'a small assemblage of houses in the country, less than a town or city. Hamlet (is defined as) 'a settlement smaller than a town.'

"Village sounds good to me." Village sounds good to me too, and this is why. I received yet another phone message — this time from longtime resident and sometimes referred to as 'unofficial mayor' of Geneva, Lee Voorhees. He had this to say:

"Going back many years, and involving two attempts at incorporating Geneva, we were called the 'village' of Geneva but had no sanction. In 1998, the Seminole County Board of County Commissioners, along with Lorraine Whiting and myself became associated with the Geneva's of the World Association, which did not get off the ground, but at that time, the county gave sanction to the title 'Village of Geneva.' I have a copy of the memo presented to then Chairman Randy Morris, stating that the county could go ahead by resolution and give sanction to the Village of Geneva.

"Henceforth, all maps, articles, etc. generated from the county would refer to this place as the Village of Geneva. There was also talk that it might be possible to have the cabinet in Tallahassee adopt a similar resolution, using the title of 'village' on any documents they produce. I'm not sure if anything ever came of that."

Voorhees also referred to a letter from the county attorney regarding the usage of the term 'village' down through the years — establishing a precedent and right to the title. Voorhees possesses a photograph of a sign that used to hang on the front of the Geneva Community Center. (I remember said sign, which has since been removed.)

Partial text from said sign included these words: "22 January 1891 in the County of Orange, State of Florida, Joseph Garon, single, deeded to the trustees of the Village of Geneva" (the acreage on which the Community Center now stands.)

Well, thanks to the anonymous reader who left the initial message. It's made for an interesting journey — whether I ended up in a town, village or spot on the map. I'm just glad we're not a 'hamlet' for goodness sake!

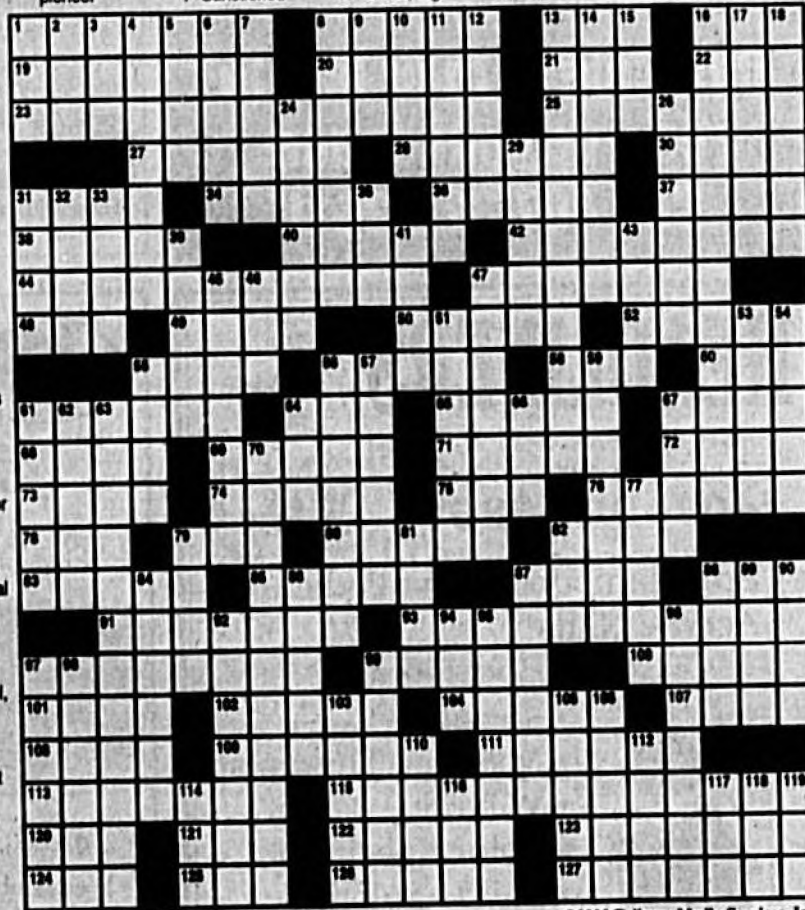

Thanks also to all those who responded to my inquiry. Keep the comments coming, and I'll try to be more careful with my choice of words.

We need you to tell us what you know that is good about Geneva! Please share your information, ideas and comments by calling 407-349-2140, writing to Stetson's Corner c/o The Seminole Herald, via e-mail at darlas@mpinet.net, (please put "Stetson's Corner" in the subject line), or with a fax to 407-323-9408. Thanks!

Mid Florida Windows and Door, Inc.

Randy Schoon, local owner of Mid Florida Window and Door, Inc., established his business two and a half years ago with the help of his wife Sharon, after having been in the industry for 27 years. "I started out working for other companies in this industry, and didn't like the lack of good customer service that I saw, so I decided to start my own business from scratch" Schoon says. An active board member of the Executive Exchange Council of Central Florida, a group that offers networking and lead opportunities, Schoon says he finds his work an interesting challenge. "Our goal is to be the replacement specialist of choice to meet home owner needs. And since every house is built differently, it allows us regular opportunity to customize our products. That's what I find truly enjoyable and it's never boring" Schoon asserts. "As a small company we try harder to get things right the first time, as we want to earn repeat business from our customers. So it is a requirement for the installers that I hire to be meticulous."

Graduating from the School of Hard Knocks, Schoon opened his first warehouse in 2001 in Maitland and expanded to Longwood in 2002. Mid Florida Window and Door, Inc. has successfully grown into a $600k business, and will need an even larger location in the next 2 years. The company specializes in residential full service window and door replacement and also handles new construction. They offer a complete line of aluminum, wood and vinyl windows, and add steel and fiber glass options to entry and patio door selections. They also carry a range of decorative sliding glass doors. Mid Florida Window and Door, Inc. offers 100% financing to qualified home owners and is happy to give free estimates on any door or window job. They are located at 305 Dane Lane, Suite 117, in Longwood. Their hours of operation are Monday through Thursday 8am to 4pm, Friday 8am to 3pm, and evenings and weekends by appointment. For more information please call 407-644-4796.

Youngsters encouraged to try soap box derby driving

By Nick Pfaffauf
Staff Writer

SANFORD — Just because the annual Sanford Soap Box Derby Race, to qualify for the nationals won't be held until May 22, 2004, doesn't mean there aren't ample activities at Sanford's Derby Park, especially this month.

Saturday, Nov. 15, will be an opportunity for youngsters to see if they want to race in the big event. The track will be open from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. for anyone, age 7 through 17 to try out a car. (Participants must be 8 years old by May 22). Unweighted cars will be available for youngsters to make several single runs down the track. It's an excellent opportunity for want-to-be drivers, and will give them a real hands-on experience in going down a derby hill.

For current drivers (derby contestants only) there will also be practice runs available, but driver's assistance is needed and organizers hope these boys and girls will show up. The loaning of a car for these race hopefuls will also be appreciated.

In addition to the practice, there will be a Flea Market. Any Soap Box Derby item can be brought for sale, trade or give-a-way.

There will also be morning and afternoon clinics. For this event, pre-registration is required by calling Norm Perry at 407-330-5697 or 321-267-0168, and select the time period of 9 a.m. to noon, or noon to 3 p.m.

The next major event will be coming up is on Saturday, Nov. 22. It's the annual Toys for Tots Race, in conjunction with the Marine Corps Reserve, which will have members on hand. Two rally races will be held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Admission is free for spectators. Participants need to bring one new unwrapped toy ($20 value) for each race.

Among special events during that day will be a competition between principals at Bentley and Idyllwilde elementary schools. Idyllwilde won last year's Toys for Tots race and Bentley will be out to settle the score. Sanford's city manager is also expected to be entered in a race, as will other local officials.

The track is located at Derby Park, 2199 Oregon Ave., in Sanford.

including the old school administration building. The school system used the property for storage and bus parking, as well as to operate the Head Start and ATEN programs. Bus parking and storage will be moved to the 25th Place property, while the Head Start and ATEN programs will be moved to other sites.

The city intends to use the property to expand parking for the Memorial Stadium and the Chase Park ball fields. In addition, city officials hope to convert one of the buildings into a recreation/community center to serve the surrounding neighborhoods.

Also on Monday's work session agenda, commissioners will discuss a request from Larry Knightner, who is the Department of Housing and Urban Development receiver for the Sanford Housing Authority. Knightner is asking the city to redesign and resurface the parking areas in the housing authority's six complexes at an estimated cost of $1.2 million.

Knightner is also asking the commission to waive the $13,000 annual payment the housing authority makes to the city in lieu of property taxes. Both requests would "enable us to collectively return the Sanford Housing Authority to a condition which you, the city of Sanford Commissioners, the residents and HUD will be extremely proud of when all of the proposed improvements are completed," Knightner wrote in his request.

Lessard indicated he didn't favor either request.

"At this point in time, I think the city would be hard pressed to find $1.2 million for asphalt and labor to redo parking lots," Lessard said, "but that's something the commission will have to address."

As to waiving the in lieu of taxes payments of $13,000, Lessard said the city could afford to lose the revenue.

"But I don't think that's the only way the city can contribute to the turnaround of the housing authority," Lessard said. "Those payments are for services the city renders to the housing authority like fire, police and public works."

office for six years. He is a Vietnam veteran and former national commander of Disabled American Veterans.

"I'm quite honored that Sandy has recommended that I fill the remainder of her term," he said.

There was some indication that Goard was considering retirement, but her announcement Thursday came as a surprise to himself and staff, Joyner said. Although she is not ill, Goard said a health scare in 2002 made her rethink her future. Retirement will also give her more time to enjoy her family — especially her husband Garnett, as they will celebrate their 40th wedding anniversary next March.

"I've given everything I have to give to this job and I'm just tired," she said. "I don't know if I have enough stamina to go through another election year."

From the old punch cards to the infamous 2000 presidential election, Goard said, "there is much to remember...so many changes."

When she began as elections supervisor, there was a mere 47,000 registered voters in the county and today they are almost four times as many.

"Technology has also changed over the years," she said.

Goard could be credited with championing several technological advances in the elections office — most notably the foresight in 1996 to ask the county commission for an upgrade of an optical scan voting system. She also is responsible for having the election office implement Web site live election results and an updated voter registration system.

"I'm proud of all these accomplishments," she said.

"Probably if I had one disappointment of retiring is I will not be moving into the new facility," she added.

At a groundbreaking ceremony July 28 for a new elections office at the corner of Mellonville Avenue and Airport Boulevard, Goard said she did not have any intentions to retire. It was only during the past several weeks that she came to the determination, and as she picked out tiles and color schemes for the new office last week, she knew she wouldn't be around to appreciate them.

With the upcoming move to the new office in April and the presidential primaries March 9, Joyner said he is ready for the challenge.

"I think we have a very good staff," he said. "I feel very confident about my ability and the ability of the staff to perform."

Can you canoe? I certainly can't

By Nick Pfeiffauf
Herald Loser

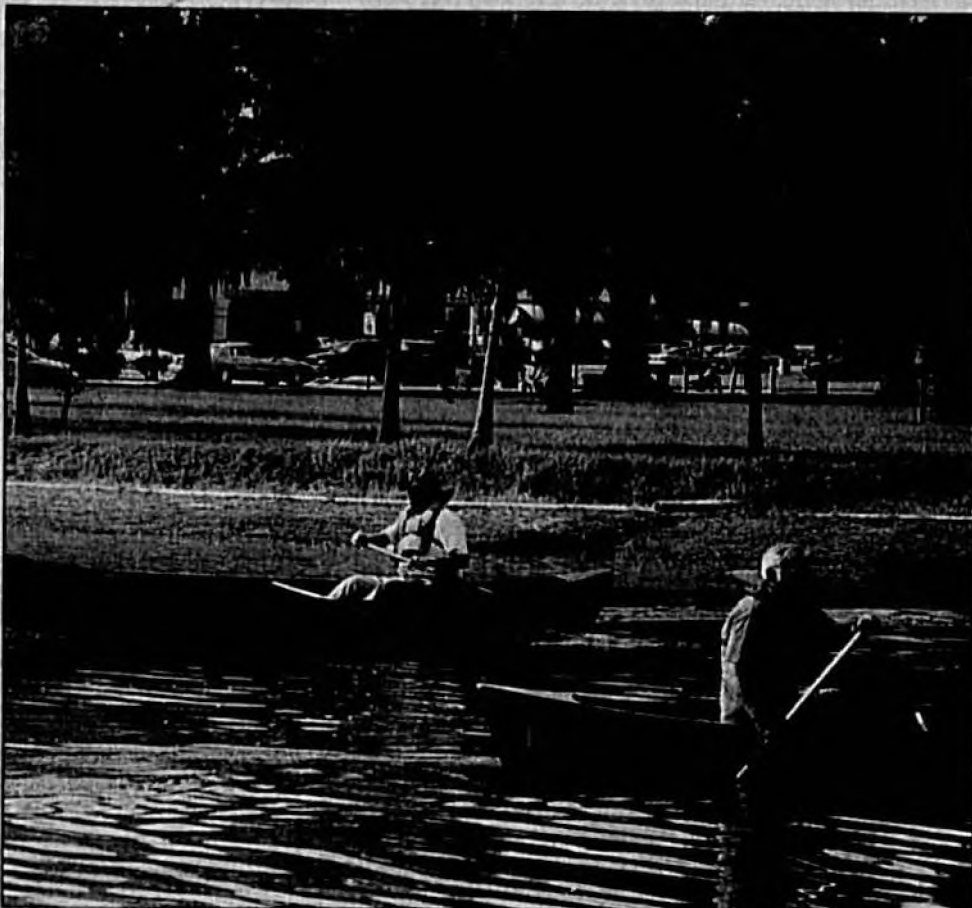

Wednesday morning's Canoe Sprint and Obstacle races in the Golden Age Games started slightly over a half hour late.

The site was Lake Carola, behind the Sanford Museum, the same location as in the past. Participants however, had to approach from the First Street area, as the lake front is closed at that location.

Canoes were again provided by Russell Moncreif, formerly of Katie's Landing. When the county took over the facility, Moncreif managed to retain the canoes, although for the first time in years, he failed to participate. Last year, he, his wife, and his son all participated in the races.

With the wind low, no canoe overturned and no one fell overboard. Josephine Stankiewicz however, did run into the sign in the middle of the lake that says "No Fishing or Swimming". (she did neither).

With participation divided between men and women, and by 5-year age groups, several competitors paddled

Thursday night's Golden Age Games Talent Contest was a delight for everyone.

Emceed by Lisa Jones of the Sanford Recreation and Parks Department, the variety of talent exhibited was comparable to what some folks may pay $20 to $30 per seat to see at some major facility. This event was free of charge at the Sanford Civic Center.

With the audience arriving as early as 6 p.m., it started promptly at 7 p.m., and lasted until 9:30, with the awards presentations following the performances and giving of door prizes.

About 200 spectators were on hand comprised of other games participants as well as family members, friends, and area residents and visitors.

The stage manager was Alan Greene, who, as he did during last year's Golden Age Games Talent Contest, brought down the house with his antics. Well known by the participants and audience alike, he drew humorous applause every time he stepped out from behind the curtain to adjust a microphone or other task.

Later, at the awards ceremony, Greene kissed and hugged all of the female participants after they had been presented with their medals, (he also hugged a few male participants, which drew considerable laughter from the audience).

While 22 Individuals or groups had originally signed up to participate, the Talent Contest saw 19 separate acts, many of whom had performed at last year's contest. There were four male vocal soloists, three female vocal soloists, one lip-sink performer, three solo dancers, five dance groups (one with 20 dancers and each with exquisite costumes) and three comedians. One, 84-year-old comic Ferris Veltman, brought down the house with his routine, as he had in last year's event.

The dance groups included River Walk, Taylor Maids, Footnotes, Bette

Flipping flapjackers race to the finish

By Christopher Patton
Managing Editor

For an event that was also most canceled for lack of participation, the 2003 Golden Age Games Pancake Race was fueled by more than a dozen racers — many of them first timers.

"This was my first pancake race," said Grace O'Brien. "It was fun."

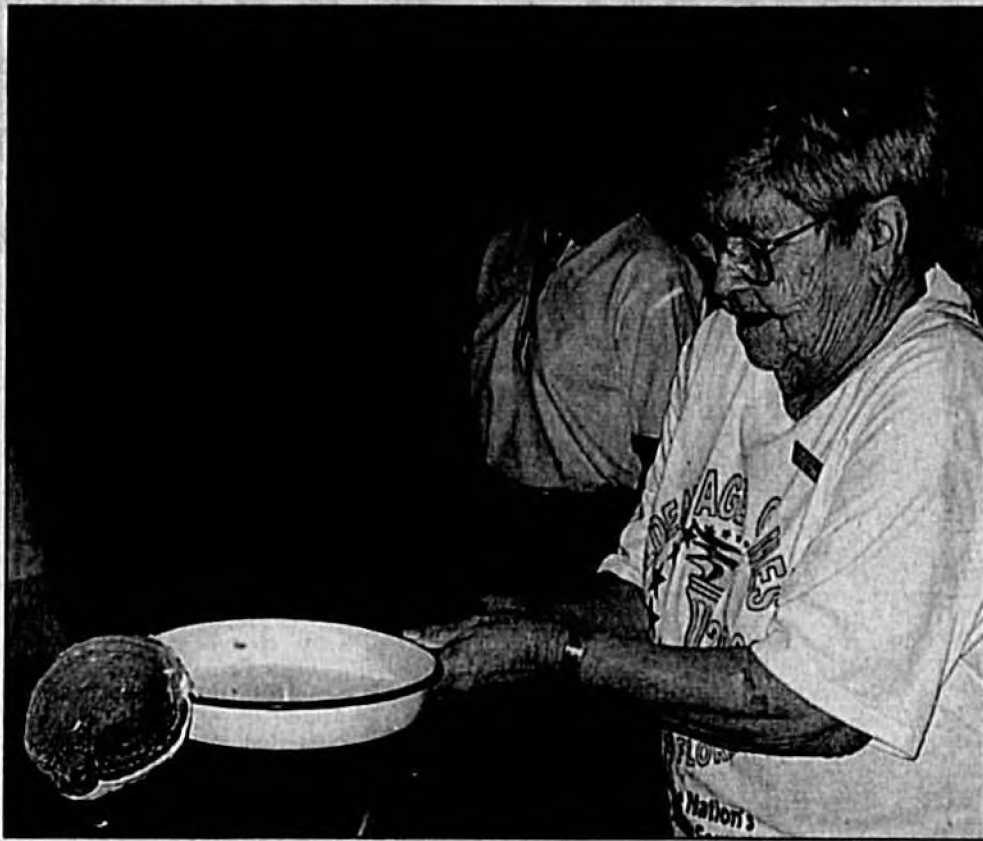

Typically, O'Brien is just a volunteer for the Golden Age Games as she helps coordinate the table tennis and archery events. But when the event was nearly dropped from the games schedule, she came to the Sanford Civic Center to help keep the race afloat.

"I know all these people, so when they yell 'help' I come," she said.

From the beginning, 29 years ago, the Pilot Club of Sanford has been sponsoring the Pancake Race. Mariam Rethwill, president of the club that is currently reorganizing as they merge with an Orange County club, said a former club member from the Midwest introduced the flapjacking sprint to the games.

The race is relatively simple. Participants line up along a marked line and then race toward the other side of the room and back. They must flip a pancake in a skillet six times before finishing.

The Pilot club supplies the skillets, and usually coordinates the event and makes the pancakes. However, with the reorganization of the club, there are only two local club members remaining so the city of Sanford helped with the event.

"I used to always make the pancakes," Rethwill said, "but I don't think you would want to eat them."

durable enough to withstand several hurried flips — and an occasional drop — sawdust or sand is added to the batter.

"With a little more weight they're easier to flip," she said. "Light and fluffy pancakes break too easy."

The pilot Club is a non-profit organization that supports various community services, including local nursing homes and sharing centers. The club is seeking new members and interested parties should attend the club's next meeting Nov. 8 at 1:30 p.m. at the Northwest Branch Library, 580 Greenway Blvd. in Lake Mary.

alone, and managed to win Gold medals.

(OK, I'll tell what happened in my age group — even though I hang my head)

My age group, 70 to 74, had the most participants, five of us. In the past, I have won two gold and one silver medal. This year, I thought I had it in the bag when I had good speed going to the starting line, and a very excellent turnaround at the end buoy. WRONG! I didn't win Gold, Silver or Bronze. To be truthful, I came in fifth, (which sounds much better than saying that I finished last).

In the sprint for my age group, Richard Poole won the Gold, Ron Priest took the Silver and William Shackelford came out with the Bronze. Forrest Crenshaw was in both events, and he came in fourth in both. (I know how you feel, Forrest). He beat me by seven seconds.

George Simkanich, 76, was the second oldest participant. He made the canoe sprint in 53.31 seconds, the fastest time of any of the racers, receiving a Gold medal. Edwin Matlack, 87, was the oldest entrant. He also received a Gold medal.

Carlton Jacobs, 66, won Gold in his age group in both events. Robert A. Gibbs was only entered in the sprint races but took a Gold medal in his age group 55-59.

In the women's events, Cindy Morris, in the 55-59 age group, took a gold medal in both sprint and obstacle events. Cella C. Kimbrell won Gold in both events as well, as did Kathryn E. Thomson, 80, in the 80-84 age group. Josephine Stankiewicz took silver medals (second place) in both events.

Several of the participants should give all of us a feeling of pride at their accomplishments. One woman had a complete knee replacement, a male rower had a heart attack just 10 days after last year's Golden Age Games canoe races. Both of them have recovered and were medal winners this year.

Basehore's and Golden Girls. They came from Leesburg, Orlando, and various areas in Seminole County.

Technically, there was only one flaw, when the sound system for soloist Andrea Ringling, (a late addition to the show) went wrong several times. She left the microphone, only to return several acts later and present her modernistic presentation.

The talent judges clearly had a difficult time determining the first, second and third place awards for each category, and for many groups, there were duplicate bronze, silver and gold medals awarded for ties.

While contestants were clearly proud of the medals they won (groups received individual medals), it can be said the people who enjoyed the Golden Age Games Talent Contest were the members of the audience.

New Sanford Farmers' Market pavilion draws crowd

Official opening with agriculture commissioner is Dec. 19

By Nick Pfohl
Staff Writer

The new open-air Sanford State Farmers' Market opened Friday at 1400 S. French Ave. Attendance was good, as residents turned out for the event.

On Dec. 19 however, the official Grand Opening ribbon-cutting ceremony will be held with Florida Agriculture Commissioner Charles Bronson and local government officials on hand for the event.

"This new state-of-the-art facility will provide a venue for community activity," Bronson said earlier this month. "Meeting and interacting with the farmer who grows the food helps customers develop a special bond of trust in the integrity of our growers."

Offered at the open-air market is fresh agricultural, horticultural and food items that are home-grown, produced or processed. Fresh seafood is also available.

The market will be open to the public each Friday from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. with the exception of holidays. Special events will be planned throughout the market's operating season. Local elementary schools will also be invited to attend educational programs.

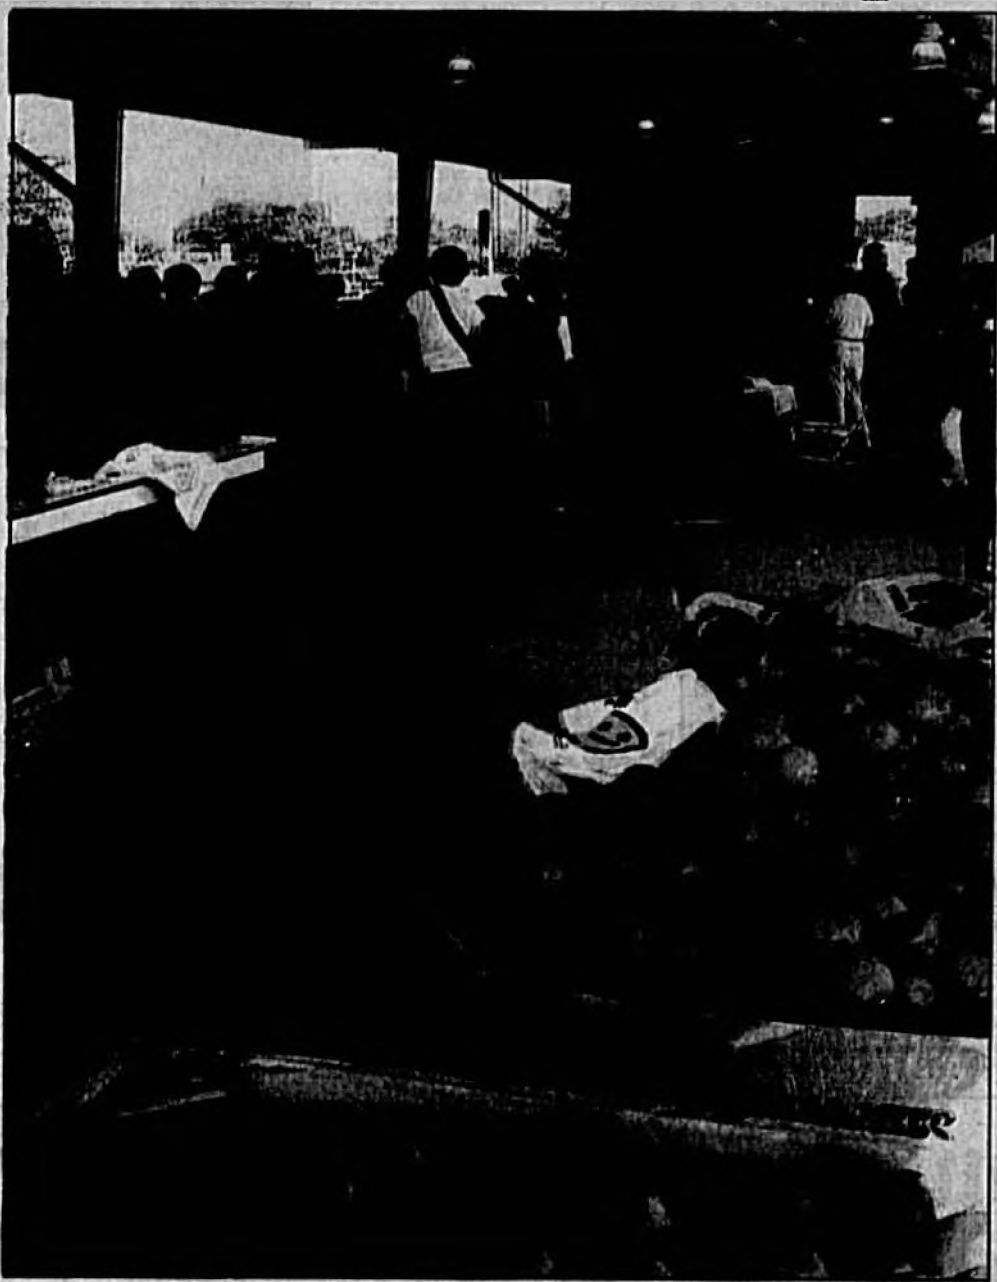

Also included in Friday's event were strolling musicians refreshments and hourly raffle drawings. Between 25 and 30 vendors were on hand.

Regarding the history of the facility, the State-owned farmers' market was built in 1934, the oldest in the state. It burned however in 1957 and was rebuilt soon after. It was once Florida's most active farmers' market when Sanford was known as the "Culery City."

Major tenants are Sanwa Growers (International Food Concepts, Inc.), and T&R Produce. This new facility was a combined effort between the Florida Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services, the U.S. Highway 17-92

Community Redevelopment Agency and the city of Sanford.

For information on how farmers and growers may become involved, call Zack Henderson or Doris Denis at 407-330-6783.

The local chapter of retired teachers supports six initiatives in all, including assisting retired teachers.

"Once they are retired, we don't want them to get lost in the society," Jones said.

The organization also lobbies the state legislature in the best interests of retired teachers, fosters fellowship between retired teachers and supports future educators with scholarships.

In addition, the county's group of retired educators promotes community involvement by donating holiday baskets to charitable organizations and helping with other worthy causes such as Meals on Wheels.

Perhaps most importantly, according to Henley, is the group's continuing involvement in the school system as volunteers and mentors.

Intriguing results in Sanford Volleyball

By Dean Smith
 Sports Editor

The championships in the City of Sanford Recreation and Parks Department Fall Recreational Volleyball League may be a foregone conclusion, but that hasn't diminished the play any.

For the second consecutive week, many-time A League champion Matt's Team suffered a loss to the Shoestrings, who posted back-to-back perfect weeks to close to within four wins of the leaders.

But Matt's Team got itself back together this past Monday (Nov. 3), posting its sixth perfect 3-0 week to extend the lead back to five games.

The Shoestrings are still in the hunt after going 5-1 over the two weeks, while the Saints and Nation's Fence both went 1-5 over the two weeks to fall further behind the lead duo.

The Hawks, meanwhile, saw its undefeated streak end in the B League end and, in fact, has now lost games in back-to-back weeks.

But despite only going 4-2 over the two weeks, the Hawks are still victories ahead of the field as no one could go undefeated to close the gap.

Sanford Church of God finally stopped the Hawks' run, outscoring the leaders 15-11 in Week 6 (Oct. 27).

But Sanford Church of God got stung by Morrison Homes, 15-11, as all three teams went 2-1.

Morrison Homes then pulled off the upset this past Monday (Oct. 3), bouncing the Hawks, 15-9, in the opening game of the evening.

But Sanford Church of God, winning their only game of the night, came back later in the evening to thump Morrison Homes, 15-7, to allow the Hawks to maintain a huge advantage.

For the two weeks, the Hawks and Morrison Homes were both 4-2, while Sanford Church of God was 3-3, and Nooma was 1-5.

The results:
WEEK 6

A League - Shoestrings, 3-0 (15-11 over Nation's Fence, 15-2 over the Saints and 15-7 over Matt's Team); Matt's Team, 2-1 (15-3 over the Saints and 15-5 over Nation's Fence); Nation's Fence, 1-2 (15-13 over the Saints); and the Saints, 0-3.

And while it is a long-shot if any will earn a trip, one thing is for sure, the Seminole Athletic Conference will have a team in the Class 6A-Region 1 Championship Game.

SCW to host big night in DeBary

Special to the Herald

Southern Championship Wrestling returns to the DeBary Civic Center on Saturday, November 15 for a huge card featuring seven great matches.

Central Florida wrestling fans won't want to miss what is sure to be a great night of athletic competition.

In the main event, former CMLL World Heavyweight Champion and current MLW star "Black Magic" Norman Smiley will be facing David Mercury in what is sure to be a wrestling clinic.

Mercury brings an extensive amateur background to the table and claims that he can make any wrestler submit. Smiley, a former WCW Hardcore Champion, is intent on proving that he is the best technician in the state of Florida and has vowed to make Mercury tap out to the "Norman Conquest" submission hold.

Jason Hexx, who recently won the SCW Southern Heavyweight Championship from D-Lo Brown, will also be in action as he takes on former Roller Jam star, Brian "The Blade" Gamble, in a non-title match.

The controversial duo of "The Independent Sensation" Chasyn Rance and Mister Saint Laurent will also be in the house. Rance will defend his Florida Triple Crown Junior Heavyweight Championship against Aaron Epic.

The SCW Southern Tag Team titles will be on the line as champions Dagon Briggs and Leon Scott, with Seven and Tiziana, defend their belts against "The Hellraisers", NWA TNA stars Axis and Python, who will have Coral in their corner.

It's been three years since Python won the SCW Southern Heavyweight Championship and he is determined to once again wear SCW gold.

UCF to challenge Eastern Michigan

Special to the Herald

UCF (3-6 overall, 2-3 Mid-American Conference) looks to shake off a difficult week when they travel today (Saturday) to Ypsilanti, Mich. to face Eastern Michigan (1-8, 0-5 MAC). Kickoff is set for noon and the game will be carried live on Sunshine Network.

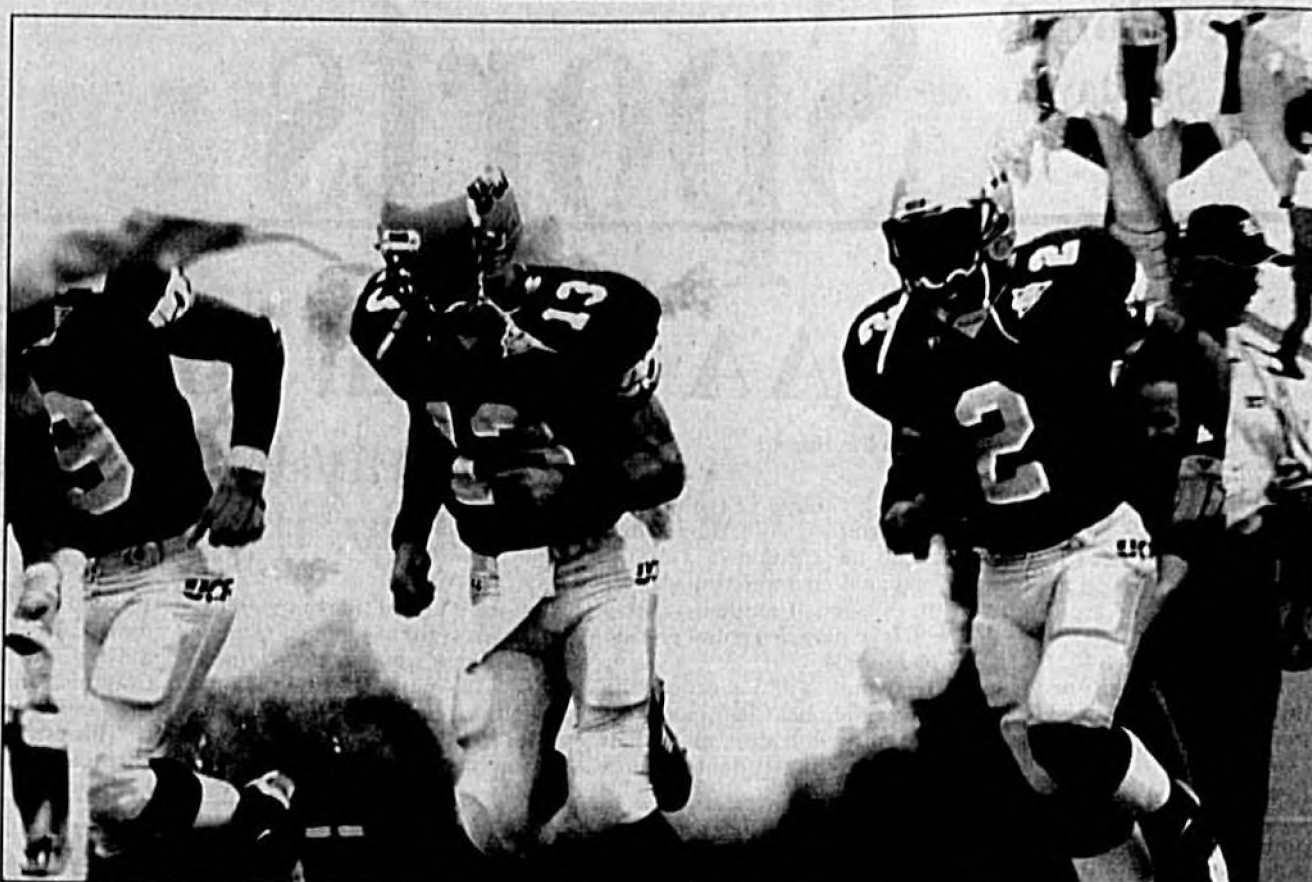

In addition, coverage will be provided by the six-station UCF ISP Sports Network. Locally, the game can be heard on 740 - The Team (WQTM) with Marc Daniels, Gary Parris and Jerry O'Neill brining fans all the action. Pregame coverage begins at 10 a.m.

Scouting Eastern Michigan The Eagles began the week with a change at the top. Head coach Jeff Woodruff was relieved of his duties and replaced by assistant coach Al Lavan. Lavan will look to give the ball to junior tailback Anthony Sherrell.

Sherrell has gained 976 yards on 212 carries this season, including rushing for 126 yards in the loss to Central Michigan last week. The tailback has six 100-yard rushing games on the season. When passing the football, the Eagles turn to Chinedu Okoro, who has over 1,200 yards passing on the year and has thrown six touchdowns.

Eastern Michigan averages 256 yards of total offense.

On defense, the Eagles turn to senior David Lusk. The linebacker has recorded 112 total tackles on the year, and has an interception as well. Right behind Lusk in tackles is fellow linebacker Keyvon Barbee, who has 83 tackles on the year. Up front, junior lineman Matt Kudu leads the team with four sacks and looks to contain UCF's running game. Overall, EMU allows 428 yards of total offense to the See UCF, Page 4B

With the suspensions of five players this week, including star quarterback Ryan Schneider, more of the offensive load could fall on quarterback Jon Rivera (No. 13) and freshman tailback Dontavious Wilcox (No. 2) as UCF hits the road to play Eastern Michigan in a MAC Conference game today.

Local amateurs finish in top three at Lake Toho Pro-Am

Special to the Herald

Micah Silverman ended three years of close calls today in claiming the $35,000 top prize as champion of this year's Lake Toho Pro-Am.

The Orlando native wrapped up three days of impressive fishing by snaring five bass weighing 19.21 pounds to beat out 23 other pros competing in the four-year Lake Toho Pro-Am. A finals competitor in each of the previous competitions, Silverman overcame a strong field and gusting winds that baffled many of the anglers.

The runner-up position and a $14,000 payday went to Kissimmee's Tommy Hatfield whose five bass tipped the scales at 17.73 pounds. Rounding out the top five were Orlando's Russ Osborne, a previous amateur division champion, Dale Kendrick, Ocala, and Kissimmee's Tim King.

The Amateur championship belongs to Kenneth Doyle, Altamonte Springs, $10,000 richer for bringing in bass weighing 14.36 pounds. He was followed by the husband and wife tandem of Rick and Mary Parnell, Casselberry, whose fish weighed in at 12.15 and 11.99 pounds, respectively. The top five finishers also included Dale Wolfkill, Orlando and Mike Taurinski, St. Cloud.

The Lake Toho Pro-Am is part of the Anglers Challenge conducted annually by the Kissimmee-St. Cloud CVB. Kissimmee-St. Cloud pro Terry Segraves hosts the tournament, which began Thursday with 82 boats pairing top professional anglers with amateur partners. The field was pared to the top 24 boats after the first two days of fishing.

Final results of the 4th Annual Lake Toho Pro-Am:

Festival

Continued from Page 1B sports. The NCAA Division II Championships Committee plans to conduct the championships festival once every four years to give each class of student-athletes the opportunity to participate. The festival will feature an opening ceremony, social opportunities for student-athletes, community events and a salute dinner for participating teams. Student-athletes will be housed in a centrally located hotel, allowing for an athlete-village type atmosphere.

Seminole County will host the bulk of the events with Men's and Women's Tennis being contested at Sanlando Park and the Women's Fastpitch Softball Championship at the Seminole County Softball Complex in Altamonte Springs and the Women's Golf Championships at Alaqua Country Club in Longwood.

"The NCAA supports athletics participation opportunities for its student-athletes and this event will give the student-athletes an occasion to interact with their peers both competitively and socially at an NCAA championship event," Joan McDermott, chair of the Division II Championships Committee, said.

"This will be an experience of a lifetime for the student-athletes, the coaches and anyone who enjoys exciting collegiate sports action. In addition, we are pleased to have this opportunity to work directly with our membership [Sunshine State Conference and Rollins College] and the Central Florida Sports Commission on this initiative," said McDermott.

One of the reasons the committee selected central Florida as the host site was the Central Florida Sports Commission's event management experience with similarly sized activities. The commission has also been involved in previous Division II championship events, such as the 1998 Division II Women's Volleyball Championships; the 2002 Division II Men's Golf Championships; and the 2003 Division II Women's Golf Championships. The central Florida region also provides adequate lodging and facilities for a festival of this magnitude and is easily accessible via air travel. A shuttle service will be provided to transport participants and spectators to various events over a radius of about 10 miles.

"The Central Florida Sports Commission is proud and honored to be serving as the host for this unprecedented collegiate event," said John P. Saboor, executive director of the Central Florida Sports Commission. "We look forward to working with Rollins College and the Sunshine State Conference to exceed the expectations of our event partner, the NCAA."

"This is an exciting opportunity to meet and interact with student-athletes in other sports and to see how they perform and prepare," said Vanessa Caddick, a member of the women's tennis team at Rollins College. "This festival represents all student-athletes and puts participating in the championships on a different platform."

Distant Replay Jan. 1, 1986

The Volunteers were given little chance against Miami's offensive juggernaut, but the underdogs from Knoxville routed Miami 35-7. Tennessee QB Daryl Dickey, who earned MVP honors, finished with 135 yards and a touchdown. The Vol's defense recovered a fumble in the end zone for a score and held Vinny Testaverde to only one touchdown.

GAME OF THE WEEK South Carolina at Arkansas

Bowl hopes still flicker

South Carolina and Arkansas both will be trying to salvage respectable seasons when they meet Thursday night in Little Rock. The 5-4 Gamecocks need a victory to become bowl-eligible after falling just short last week, while the Razorbacks are looking to make it two in a row after dropping three straight following their hot start.

The Razorbacks' best bet to win may just be to take the game to overtime, where they are 5-1. Besides the return to full strength of tailback Cedric Cobbe, Arkansas should get a boost in the passing game from receiver George Wilson, who will be riding high after hauling in nine catches for 172 yards and a touchdown against Kentucky. If Matt Jones can find Wilson, and stretch the Gamecocks' defense the same way Ole Miss did last week, the Hogs might obtain similar results.

Meanwhile, South Carolina will try to re-ignite the spark that netted 231 yards of offense in the fourth quarter against Ole Miss, which means going up top, then watching tailback Daccus Turman take advantage of open running lanes to the end zone.

South Carolina at Arkansas (Thursday)

■ Records: South Carolina 5-4 (2-4 SEC); Arkansas 5-3 (2-3 SEC). ■ Series: Arkansas leads 7-4. ■ Coaches: South Carolina's Lou Holtz (243-124-7); Arkansas' Houston Nutt (79-49). ■ Kickoff: 7:30 p.m. EST. ■ TV: ESPN.

■ Key for South Carolina: Keep QB Dondrial Pinkins dialed in. Last week he had a career-high 298 yards with four touchdowns and no interceptions. He needs to remain aggressive and take chances against a tired Razorbacks secondary, and not wait until his team is down four touchdowns to do it.

■ Key for Arkansas: Just keep on running, no matter who is healthy. If the Razorbacks could take wide receiver Decori Birmingham and have him gain 196 yards on 40 carries, just think how they will be able to do with a healthy Cedric Cobbe. The Gamecocks were assaulted through the air last week; this week, show them what it's like to get whipped in the trenches.

The Rest of the Matchups

The Vols are struggling right now, barely beating Duke at home, and Miami is down after taking a whipping on the road against Virginia Tech. The good news is that one of these teams will be feeling a whole lot better after this game. Tennessee is involved in a dogfight for the title in the East, and Miami is trying to crawl back into the national championship picture.

Tennessee at Miami

■ Records: Tennessee 6-2 (3-2 SEC); Miami 7-1 (3-1 Big East). ■ Series: Tied 1-1. ■ Coaches: Tennessee's Phillip Fulmer (109-27); Miami's Larry Coker (31-2). Kickoff: Noon EST. ■ TV: CBS.

■ Key for Tennessee: Pressure Miami QB Brock Berlin into mistakes, just as Virginia Tech, West Virginia and Florida did. If the Vols can get any kind of pass rush on Berlin, they'll get a couple of turnovers, which is what they need against Miami.

■ Key for Miami: Establish the run to take some pressure off QB Brock Berlin. Get RB Jarrett Payton going early, and if that doesn't work, try freshman tailback Tyrone Moss, who has a little more speed and explosiveness. If the Hurricanes can loosen up the Vols' "D" with the run, it should be an easy victory.

Ole Miss at Auburn

The Rebels can almost taste that West title, but first they have to beat the two Tigers trailing them by only a game, starting with Auburn. With a close victory last week, Ole Miss has already clinched a winning conference record for the first time since 1992 — but with Auburn coming off a bye week, it'll be tough to hold onto that one-game lead.

■ Records: Mississippi 7-2 (5-0 SEC); Auburn 6-3 (4-1 SEC). ■ Series: Auburn leads 20-7. ■ Coaches: Mississippi's David Cutcliffe (35-21); Auburn's Tommy Tuberville (61-42). ■ Kickoff: 3:30 p.m. EST. ■ TV: ESPN.

■ Key for Ole Miss: No mistakes on special teams. The Tigers' special teams had three blocked punts last week, and all they need is a break like that to take a lead. Then they can hold on and bleed the clock.

■ Key for Auburn: Everyone in the country knows the Tigers love to run the ball, with all that talent in the backfield, but they would be foolish if they didn't test the Rebels' 116th-ranked secondary. The threat of the run will make the play-action pass work that much better.

Alabama at Mississippi St.

This is the perfect time for Alabama to turn the Crimson Tide in its favor. Coming off a bye week with a healthier squad, and facing one of the worst teams in the conference, Alabama should get back on track and preserve its shot at a winning record.

■ Records: Alabama 3-6 (1-4 SEC); Mississippi St. 2-6 (1-3 SEC). ■ Series: Alabama leads 68-16-3. ■ Coaches: Alabama's Mike Shula (3-6); Mississippi State's Jackie Sherrill (180-116-4). ■ Kickoff: 12:30 p.m. EST. ■ TV: Jefferson-Pilot.

■ Key for Alabama: With a healthier Brodie Croyle (separated shoulder) at quarterback after the open week, the Tide's passing threat gains credibility. Croyle needs to find freshman receiver Tyrone Prothro, a solid blocker who makes things happen.

■ Key for Mississippi State: Don't jump out to a big lead too early — it just seems to wake up the opposition. The Bulldogs need to build the lead with field goals, sneaking up on the Tide without alerting them to the fact that they're being beaten.

Vanderbilt at Florida

The Gators get a bit of a breather this week after coming off three straight victories over ranked opponents for the first time in team history. With Auburn facing a tough Ole Miss team, and Tennessee playing out of conference, Florida can separate itself from the pack atop the East with a victory here. The Commodores, meanwhile, are just looking to win to avoid an 11-loss season.

■ Records: Vanderbilt 1-8 (0-5 SEC); Florida 6-3 (4-2 SEC). ■ Series: Florida leads 25-9-2. ■ Coaches: Vanderbilt's Bobby Johnson (63-54); Florida's Ron Zook (15-7). ■ Kickoff: 1 p.m. EST. ■ TV: None.

■ Key for Vanderbilt: With Jay Cutler and two top-ranked receivers, the Commodores are clearly committed to the passing attack, but they need to be aware of Gators cornerback Keiwan Ratliff at all times. He has six interceptions in the last three games, and has the speed to take it to the house.

■ Key for Florida: Stop the Vandy running game, which looked so promising entering the season with Kwame Dexter and Norval McKenzie. If the Gators allow Vandy to get even 3 yards a carry, the Commodores will be able to keep the chains moving.

2-MINUTE DRILL

ALABAMA Offensive tackle Wesley Britt had surgery to repair his broken left leg, and his brother Taylor Britt (a Crimson Tide reserve) said Wesley already is thinking ahead to his return for spring practice. "He actually called me (Sunday) morning and told me to tell the team he's sorry he wasn't out there," Taylor Britt said. "That just shows what a warrior he is."

ARKANSAS The Razorbacks' 71-63 seven-overtime victory over Kentucky tied their own record for the longest game in NCAA history. The Razorbacks also won that game, in 2001, beating Mississippi 58-56. Arkansas also played a six-overtime game last year, losing to Tennessee, and beat Alabama earlier this year in a two-overtime game. The Razorbacks have played six overtime games, winning five, since Division I-A adopted the tiebreaker in 1996.

AUBURN The Tigers trampled Louisiana-Monroe 73-7, scoring the most points by an Auburn team since a 76-10 victory over Tennessee-Chattanooga in 1995.

FLORIDA With the victory over Georgia, the Gators are still in the running for a spot in the SEC Championship game. If the Gators win their remaining conference games against Vanderbilt and South Carolina, they will gain at least a tie with Georgia and Tennessee. Should Tennessee lose one of its three remaining SEC games, Florida could clinch a spot in the title game. If the three teams tie, it could come down to a vote by the remaining athletic directors, minus the AD of the team that wins the West Division.

GEORGIA The Bulldogs were bitten by the injury bug again. Entering the game, the Bulldogs already had lost seven players for the year with injuries. Running back Tyson Browning hurt his knee with just over three minutes to play in the first half. Defensive tackle Gerald Anderson also banged up his knee and safety Sean Jones tweaked a shoulder, both in the third quarter.

KENTUCKY The Wildcats were unable to extend their streak of holding opponents under 30 points, after having done so for seven consecutive games before the seven-overtime loss to Arkansas.

LSU The Tigers' 49-3 halftime lead, en route to a 49-10 victory over Louisiana Tech, marked the most points the Tigers scored in a half since 1958. LSU was held scoreless in the second half as coach Mick Saban shuttled in seldom-used players. "I didn't want to score any more points in the second half," Saban said. "But I want us to play well, so how am I supposed to be happy?"

MISSISSIPPI The Rebels are on a roll of historic proportions. With last week's 43-40 victory over South Carolina, they improved to 5-0 in the Southeastern Conference for the first time since 1963.

MISS STATE The off week for the Bulldogs gave some banged-up players time to mend. Tight end Aaron Lumpkin (ankle) and guard Will Rogers (ankle, knee) probably will be back for the Alabama game, while center Blake Jones (knee) is also likely to return against the Tide.

SOUTH CAROLINA The Gamecocks gave a valiant effort, coming back from a 43-14 deficit to score touchdowns on four straight possessions, cutting Mississippi's lead to a field goal. But time ran out for the Gamecocks, and coach Lou Holtz wasn't about to give his team too much credit for not quitting. "You're supposed to play hard when you're down," he said.

TENNESSEE As unimpressive as the Volunteers were in their victory over Duke, they still had a good week — Florida's victory over Georgia put Tennessee back in the race for the East. Georgia, Florida and Tennessee are tied. The biggest cheer at home last week came on the announcement that Florida had beaten Georgia.

VANDERBILT The Commodores are assured of their 21st straight losing season, with 22 straight conference losses. Yet Vanderbilt has never lost 11 games in a season. In order to avoid that, the 1-8 Commodores must beat one of their final three opponents: Florida, Kentucky or Tennessee.
