Teachers learning skills to boost FCAT scores

By Bill Kerns
Staff Writer

SANFORD — Teachers in Seminole County schools are spending extra time this summer preparing to increase student scores on the Florida Comprehensive Assessment Test (FCAT).

Two dozen teachers from Midway and Hamilton elementary schools participated in all-day FCAT preparation sessions on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Consultant Jack Foley was hired by Hamilton Elementary to host the sessions, focusing on the math section of the standardized test. Many skills tested in the FCAT are not scheduled in school textbooks to be taught until after the test is given in late February and early March. Teachers in the workshop planned ways to teach FCAT skills in time for the test.

Kirby: 'It's not changing what I'm teaching. I'm just repackaging it.'

"Usually we move straight from chapter one through chapter 12 in the text," said Buck Wigham, a fourth-grade teacher at Hamilton Elementary. "This training lets us know when the skills are taught that we can use in preparation for the FCAT."

Preparation for the FCAT has become an essential part of lesson plans in classrooms throughout the state. Scores on the test are used by the state as a key portion of grades given to schools under the A-plus education plan.

Some teachers have complained that the A-plus plan places too much emphasis on scores from the FCAT, forcing them to teach to a test. However, teachers at the workshop said they can still teach regular skills while preparing students for the test.

"It's not changing what I'm teaching," said Diane Kirby, a fourth-grade teacher at Hamilton Elementary. "I'm just repackaging that."

Governor Jeb Bush's A-plus plan provides for schools to receive letter grades based primarily upon standardized test scores measuring math, reading, and writing.

Questions remain in shooting death

Police investigating the who, where, why in death of 18-year-old

By Bill Kerns
Staff Writer

SANFORD — Police are searching for clues as to why a Sanford man was shot and killed Wednesday evening.

Hansen Jensi, Jr., 18, of 325 Springview Drive, was shot in the upper right chest by a small-caliber bullet Wednesday, and died from his wounds at Central Florida Regional Hospital.

Police are trying to determine where the shooting occurred and a motive for it. An autopsy will be performed today or tomorrow. Police have not determined whether the shooting was accidental or a homicide.

"We have been told a couple of different locations," said Cleo Cohen, spokeswoman for the Sanford Police Department. "So far, we have been unable to locate the crime scene."

Police searched for evidence in the area of County Road 46-A and Airport Boulevard Wednesday night. This morning, police also searched in the area of Windchase Apartments on 25th Street.

Police were called about 6:40 p.m., after Jensi had been driven to a 7-11 convenience store at Lake Mary Boulevard and Country Club Road, the police report said.

The driver, 23-year-old Elvin Rodriguez, spotted Jensi in the area of 1500 Windridge Circle and was attempting to take him to the hospital, but stopped to call police at the convenience store because of Jensi's condition, according to the police report.

Rescue workers had planned to airlift Jensi to Orlando Regional Medical Center, but his condition deteriorated, so he was rushed to Central Florida Regional Hospital, where he died.

Annual NAS Sanford reunion is June 22

By Nick Pfeiffert
Staff Writer

SANFORD — It's NAS Sanford Reunion time once again. The annual event will take place this year on June 22 through 25. It will be in honor of the 32nd year after the closing of the Naval Air Station.

All activities will center at the B. Duke Woody Branch 147 of the Fleet Reserve Association, 3040 West SR-16 in Sanford.

Traditionally, former Navy personnel who were stationed at the Sanford naval facility gather together, along with family members and other former service personnel, for a weekend of fun and remembrance.

The complete schedule of events, times, and costs will be available at Fleet Reserve for attendees. Basically, activities will include the following:

New officers

Pecking order

A family of ospreys stand in line for a fish dinner on an old dock piling in Lake Monroe. Water levels at Lake Monroe, and other area lakes, is down significantly as Central Florida continues to experience hot, dry weather. Forecasters expect the drought to last until at least mid-June, and temperatures will be on the rise again after a pleasant day on Wednesday.

Helen Stairs Theatre begins new mini-season with 'Social Security'

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — After a gala grand opening and dedication May 6 featuring Broadway's Melba Moore, the newly renovated Helen Stairs Theatre for the Performing Arts will present "Social Security," a play by Andrew Bergman, opening June 8. The first performance of the theatre's mini-season, "Social Security" will be presented June 8 through 11 and June 16 through 18.

"Social Security" is a comedy about a couple who are Manhattan art dealers. Their domestic tranquility is shattered upon the arrival of the wife's goody-goody nerd of a sister and a mother who survives on little more than the guilt she induces and the sour balls she consumes. The comic sparks really fly when the mother falls in love and is transformed into a femme fatale.

Actors include Lynda Baldorf, Elsa Filzer, Gene Nash, Arne Starr, Danny Bellaman and Martha Yancey. Alton LaThrop will direct the production. The performance schedule is June 8 and 9 at 8 p.m.; June 10 at 3 and 8 p.m.; June 11 at 3 p.m.; June 16 and 17 at 8 p.m.; and June 18 at 3 p.m. Tickets are $15 for orchestra seating or $10 for balcony, with $5 off for those under 12 or over 65. Mini-season tickets are $28, which includes both "Social Security" and a musical performance by two-time Grammy Award nominee Tom Chapin (Harry's brother) on

School officials pleased with Bush veto of impact fees cap

By Bill Kerns
Staff Writer

A program placing a cap on impact fees was vetoed Tuesday by Governor Jeb Bush, to the relief of school officials and the chagrin of home builders.

To reduce impact fees charged on new houses, state lawmakers set aside $50 million for the 15 Florida counties that impose them. However, under the legislation, the counties could never again raise the fees.

The bill was supported by lobbyists for the Florida Home Builders Association and Republican leaders in the state Legislature, who argued that impact fees raise the cost of new homes.

In going against his own party, Bush said his action protects "the interests of all Florida taxpayers, not just those in select counties."

Impact fees are a key source of money for school construction. Five of the counties that charge impact fees are located in Central Florida, including Seminole, Orange, Osceola, Lake and Volusia.

Since July, impact fees raised $5.1 million for Seminole County school construction.

"It returns local control to school districts for school impact fees," said Seminole County School Board member Larry Furlong. "He did the right thing. I give him a lot of credit, because he got lobbied very heavily." The $50.9 billion state budget, which takes effect in July, includes funding increases for children, education, roads and the environment, as well as tax cuts of $500 million. Meanwhile, for the second consecutive year Bush used the line item veto to eliminate $313 million in funding for local programs.

Bush called it "pure coincidence" that he matched last year's veto total. The former record of $150 million had been set in 1988 by then-Gov. Bob Martinez.

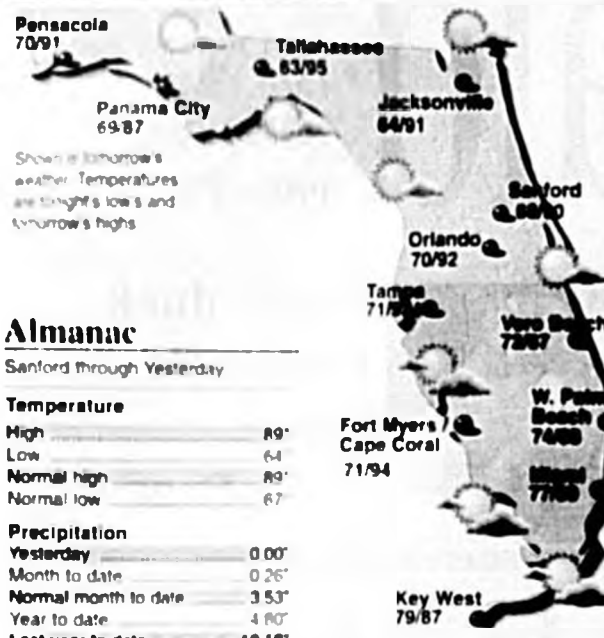

Florida's school system will receive a record $868 million increase in spending.

Reading the handwriting on the wall

The president ought to pick a day each year for people to concentrate on their penmanship. No scribbling for 24 hours. Keep those writing strokes nice and clear.

As you know, "More than kisses, letters mingle souls. For, thus, friends absent speak." John Donne wrote that more than 300 years ago. Nowadays, we don't send letters to mingle souls. We send E-mail. I'd much prefer a kiss to E-mail. Wouldn't you?

Russ White

Most of us lay away warm letters to read them again — provided they are legible. Most of the letters I have laid away were written 30 or 40 years ago when penmanship was fine art and each artist had a fine hand. Knowing I have such letters is a joy in itself.

There's far more emphasis on reading and arithmetic than writing nowadays. Our kids are smart but you wouldn't know it from their handwriting. Some will become doctors — and it won't matter. Better to have the right doctor than a doctor who can write.

Sadly, as we get older and arthritic our handwriting deteriorates. Although some have more time to write, they've lost their touch. Their letters require more time to read.

The nuns who taught me handwriting were very demanding. I was impressed at how well each of them did cursive writing on the blackboard. My favorite letter was the capital R. I'm still very good at the capital R. My capital G is giving me trouble, though.

Sanford's stylish Doris Dietrich, fondly recalls her daily writing exercises in grade school at Montgomery, Ala.

"We were taught the Palmer Method — push, pull, round and round. You used your arm muscles," she said. "I still practice the handwriting principles I learned in elementary school — at least most of the time."

It used to be that girls had better handwriting than boys. I'm not so sure about that now. I've seen some nasty handwriting from women and some very good handwriting from men. Baseball's Ted Williams, had a great stroke batting and writing.

Parents have kept the signatures of their children each year from the time they were taught to write. There are dramatic changes — usually for the better — as a child grows. Apparently, a few regress. This is fine — they become doctors or attorneys.

Emerson said that when a man gave his handshake it was important the whole man accompanied the hand giving. The same is true with a handwritten letter. The whole person should accompany the handwriting. Otherwise, it's no better than E-mail.

Thank you for reading this column. I hope it inspires you to improve your handwriting skills — and to send someone an example of your caring. In fact, I'm going to sit right down and write myself a letter and make believe it came from you.

— Russ White's column appears daily in the Seminole Herald.

The Florida Trail Association is holding their Central Florida Chapter General Meeting on Thursday, June 8 at 7 p.m. in the Camellia Room at Harry P. Leu Gardens, 1730 N. Forest (off of Corrine Drive) in Orlando. The public is invited to hear Sandy "Navigator" Downs give a talk titled "Hiking Northern Florida's State Parks." She will take the group through a journey of some of the best hikes and natural wonders "up north." Greeters from the Florida Trail Association will be on hand to answer any questions about the organization. For more information contact Jon Phipps at (407) 365-6036 or visit the website at <http://www.geocities.com/Yosemite/Trails/6317>.

Little-Big Econ Hike
The Florida Trail Association will lead a hike at the Little-Big Econ State Forest on Friday, June 9. The group will meet at the Barr Street trailhead (about two miles east of Oviedo on SR 426) at 6 p.m. and shuttle the cars to Lockwood Road. The public is invited to join the group as it walks about three to five miles back to Barr Street. Afterwards, the group will head to Jerry's Restaurant for dinner. Participants should bring a flashlight and plenty of water. No pets please. For more information call the activity leader, Joan Jarvis at (407) 365-6036.

Maintenance Hike
Wiley Dykes, Sr. of the Florida Trail Association will lead a Trail Maintenance Hike on Saturday, June 10. Possible trail work could include trail maintenance or forging new trails. Call Wiley Dykes, Sr. at (407) 671-8866 for directions and details.

Children with disabilities
UCP Child Development Centers sponsor monthly support groups for parents of children with special needs. June's topic is "IDEA" (Individuals with Disabilities Education Act). In Seminole County, the meeting will be held Tuesday, June 13 at 6 p.m., at First Presbyterian Church, 201 Oak Avenue in Sanford. Phone 407-322-6222 for additional information.

Water protection group in need of volunteers

An environmental program in Seminole County is looking for people interested in volunteering their services in time in spreading the word about the need to protect Central Florida water resources.

The Seminole County Watershed Action Volunteers (WAV) needs individuals or families interested in such projects as monitoring water quality, surveying local rivers and streams for pollutants, participating in revegetation efforts and shoreline cleanups and giving watershed education programs. The program is sponsored by the St. Johns River Water Management District (SJRWMD) and Seminole County.

Persons interested in volunteering are asked to attend an orientation meeting from 10 a.m. to noon, either June 2 or June 3, at Lake Sylvan Park, 845 Markham Road, Sanford.

An interpretive hike will follow at 12:30 p.m. and refreshments will be provided.

Persons interested in taking the hike is asked to bring a lunch.

For the orientation session, interested persons are asked to contact Gabrielle Milch, Seminole County WAV coordinator at 407-665-5724.

American Red Cross issues water warning

With the peak of swimming season now with us, the American Red Cross of Central Florida has issued a warning to local families to use caution in and around the water every day.

Each year, approximately 6,000 people drown in the United States. Drowning is the number one cause of accidental death of toddlers in Florida and the second leading cause of accidental deaths for people ages 15 through 44.

The majority of drownings and near-drownings occur in residential swimming pools. However, children can drown in as little as one inch of water and are therefore at risk of drowning in wading pools, bathtubs, buckets, hot tubs, even toilets. Children drownings happen in a matter of seconds.

The Red Cross has issued the following safety tips:

- Always swim with a buddy; never swim alone.
- Know your swimming limits and stay within them.
- Children near pools need constant supervision.
- Never rely on toys like inner tubes or water wings.
- Children need a protective inner fence around the pool.
- Don't take chances by overestimating your skills.

- Swim only in designated swimming areas.
- Never dive in water less than nine feet deep.
- Know how to prevent, recognize and respond to emergencies.
- Enroll in a Red Cross CPR and First Aid Course.

The American Red Cross of Central Florida offers a number of water safety and swim training opportunities for people of all ages and abilities. The Learn-To-Swim course is designed to help all ages learn swimming.

The Infant and Preschool Aquatic

Program is for children six months to five years.

Longfellow's WHALE Tales are for children ages 5 through 12.

Community Water Safety, Lifeguard Training and instructor courses are called GuardStart, for swimmers 11 to 14 and Lifeguard Training for individuals 15 and older.

Contact the local chapter of the American Red Cross for information on times and locations of these programs contact the main office at 407-894-4141 or the Seminole County American Red Cross Service Center in Longwood at 407-312-8200.

BCC Alumni

The Orange County Chapter of the Bethune-Cookman College Alumni Association will hold a Seafood Festival and Scholarship Fundraiser, Friday, June 2, from 7 until 10 p.m. at L. Claudia Allen Senior Center, 1830 Mable Butler Boulevard, Orlando. Donation is $15 at the door.

For additional information phone Sherry Priestner Paramore at 407-363-7791.

American Indians

The American Indian Movement of Florida, Inc., will host a meeting of the Central Florida AIM Support Group Saturday, June 3, from 7 until 9 p.m., at the Sanford Cultural Arts Center, 119 W. Fifth Street, Sanford. There is no charge for admission.

For additional information, contact Carol Avant, Central Florida AIM Support Group Coordinator at 407-320-7318.

Cruisin' Calendar

The Celery City Cruisers, a classic car organization, will have a number of activities during the month of June. On June 3, from 5 until 9:30 p.m., at Steak & Shake, at the Seminole Towne Center mall; on June 17, the group will hold a Main Street Cruise down First Street in Downtown Sanford from 5:30 until 9:30 p.m. On June 21, it's Super Saturday Night at Walmart/Wendy's Plaza, on highway 17-92 in Sanford from 6 until 9 p.m.

The events are free to the public, and the cars will be available for browsers.

Lake Proctor Hike

The Florida Trail Association will lead a hike at Lake Proctor Wilderness on Saturday, June 3.

The group will meet one mile east of the intersection of SR 426 and 46 in Geneva at 8 a.m. The public is invited to join the group as it enjoys National Trails Day by hiking in Seminole County's newest wilderness area. The group will hike five miles and stop for a lakeside lunch. Participants should bring a packed lunch, bug spray and plenty of water. NO pets please.

For more information call activity leaders Joan Jarvis or Jon Phipps at (407) 365-6036.

Heathrow Water Aerobics

Water Aerobics at Heathrow Racquet Club, located on Lake Mary Boulevard near Markham Woods Road will begin June 5. Classes are held Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays at 8 a.m. and Sundays at 10 a.m. Bring a noodle. Cost is $4. For more information call (407) 333-1475.

Sports Physicals

Oviedo High School will hold its sports physicals 5 p.m. Monday, June 5, in Florida Hospital Rehabilitation Center located at 1410 W. Broadway. Cost is $15.

Water safety courses

During the month of June, the American Red Cross of Central Florida will present two lifeguard training courses in four parts, at the Trophy Club in Longwood. Participants will have the opportunity to learn a variety of advanced life-saving skills needed to respond to aquatic emergencies.

For the month of June, courses will be June 5, 6, 7, and 8, from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Participants must be at least 15 years of age with strong swimming skills.

Additional courses will be offered in July.

For more information or to register for Red Cross Aquatics training, phone 407-894-4141.

Driver Car Control Clinic rolls into Orlando June 10

The New Driver Car Control Clinic is returning to Central Florida to offer its one-day hands-on defensive driving and accident avoidance clinic for teen drivers and their parents. Clinics will be held at Colonial Plaza Center on Colonial Drive and Bumby Avenue in Orlando, Saturday, June 10.

The event is sponsored by the Central Florida Safety Council.

Using their own cars, students perform a series of exercises at slow speed to learn to steer away from obstacles while braking suddenly and heavily. The exercises are performed on both dry and wet pavement. Each student receives a 56-page workbook and 45-minute video detailing all exercises performed and a certificate of completion for submission to their insurance company.

Each clinic is limited to 10 parent-teen teams and costs $120 per team. Teens need to have at least a learner's permit. Clinics begin at 8:30 a.m. and conclude at 2:30 p.m.

Advance reservations are required.

Call (800) 862-3277 for reservations or visit <http://www.teendrivers.com>.

Gun death scoreboard might capture attention

DEAR ABBY: The letters from "Grieving Grandmother" and Anne Coakley were tragic reminders of the problem of guns in our nation. Unfortunately, such episodes get little attention from the media except on a local newspaper or in the back pages of the local paper. They aren't "news." It happens all too often. It takes a school massacre to get the national notice the situation deserves.

Perhaps what needs to be done is to have a running "scoreboard" set up in New York's Times Square: a continuing count of the gun deaths in the entire nation since the start of every year. The count could even be categorized by accidental deaths and murders. Running messages could give the particulars of the latest death as to date, location and the victim's age.

I realize this is a macabre suggestion. However, some drastic measure is needed to engage the public's full awareness of the magnitude of our problem. I also realize that it would require a great deal of money to rent the sign and acquire the necessary information. However, perhaps some organization or philanthropist would be interested.

CONCERNED OCTOGENARIAN, ST. ALBANS, W.VA.

DEAR CONCERNED: Your suggestion is no more macabre than the billboards that advertise the number of deaths per year from smoking. Frankly, I think billboards addressing serious issues are a public service.

To embellish on your idea just a little — the gun-death scoreboard could be designed to look like a game in a shooting gallery. Every time the death toll increases, a bell could "ding!" and a duck could disappear from the screen. It's really not so far-fetched — as it stands today, almost all of us are sitting ducks. Read on:

DEAR ABBY: You've printed several letters lately about gun safety. Let me tell you about a near-fatal gun accident that happened in 1944 aboard the submarine USS Cato.

The gunner's mate first class brought a 20 mm submachine gun into the crew's mess and proceeded to use one of the tables to disassemble, clean and oil the weapon.

Although he was an experienced weapons handler, he forgot the first safety regulation: "Inspect your weapon and be certain it is EMPTY."

When he carelessly pulled the trigger, the weapon fired. The bullet ricocheted off the bulkheads and over the heads of eight or nine of us shipmates. Miraculously, it missed all of us and providently wound up in the left upper arm of the gunner's mate!

During the gunner's mate's court-martial, the executive officer remarked, "So, you shot yourself. It serves you right! I hope you learned something."

He was reduced to third class, and at the end of that patrol was transferred off the ship in disgrace. The gunner's mate "learned something," all right — he learned that his shipmates could be cruel in their sarcasm for weeks after.

LOWELL K. ALLEN, RCMS(US) U.S. NAVY (RET.)

DEAR LOWELL: You and your shipmates had a close call. It brings home the point that expertise with weapons doesn't guarantee they are always handled safely. Gun enthusiasts often write to say, "Guns don't kill people; people kill people." However, people are human, and human beings have accidents. It's human nature.

ing achievement. Other factors include school attendance, discipline, and high school graduation rates.

Scores on the FCAT are among the measurements used to track student progress in elementary, middle and high school. Schools and teachers are then held responsible for student progress.

Starting in 2002, five percent of teachers' salaries will be based upon student performance.

Funding for the school recognition program under the state's A-plus education plan will double under the state budget.

Funds to give financial incentives to top ranking schools increased to $60 million, compared with $30 million last year.

However, the Florida Department of Education only allows school districts to spend the funding on facilities.

The grading system is part of the same education reform package that created a plan for parents in schools receiving an "F" twice in four years to receive vouchers for private schools.

The six Seminole County elementary schools that received "D's" on the state's accountability report are taking steps to improve test scores and other areas where the state said the schools are weak.

Wicklow, Hamilton and Midway elementary schools had the lowest FCAT scores in the district in both reading and math. Pine Crest Elementary School received a "D" based on its FCAT scores for reading and writing.

Idyllwilde and English Estates received "D's" based on Florida Writes! test scores.

Five of the six schools with "D's" in the state report are located in Sanford, while English Estates is in Fern Park.

In August 1999, a school-based After School Extended Day Program was developed for four of the six schools that received "D's." Several days per week, students receive tutoring from the time school ends until 5 p.m. The school district provides students with transportation to their homes.

The schools participating in the extended day program include Wicklow, Hamilton, Midway, and Pine Crest elementary schools.

The Success For All reading program developed by Johns Hopkins University has been implemented in Hamilton and Midway elementary schools. Although Winter Springs Elementary School did not receive a "D," it is also participating in the program.

Four of the schools — Midway, Hamilton, Pinecrest, and Wicklow — have poverty levels above 70 percent. Idyllwilde and English Estates elementary schools have poverty rates of 48 percent.

Wicklow Elementary School has a 60 percent mobility rate, which reflects the number of students moving in-and-out in a year. The remaining five schools with "D's" all have mobility rates ranging from 30-to-36 percent.

The six schools with "D's" also have high absence rates. For instance, 20 percent of Pine Crest Elementary School students were absent for 20 days or more last year. The state's is 8.7 percent.

Hamilton, Wicklow and Midway elementary schools have absentee rates ranging from 10.4 to 11.7 percent. English Estates has an 8.3 percent absentee rate, while Idyllwilde has a 7.1 percent absentee rate.

Thursday, June 23 - Registration at the Fleet Home, with happy hour.

Friday, June 23 - Golf tournament at the Mayfair Golf and Country Club with special events including ball launch drive and dinner to the hole. Lunch at the Fleet Home, with happy hour, and a private rib or chicken dinner and dancing in the evening.

Saturday, June 24 - Navy picnic at 9 a.m. Happy hour in the afternoon, and a BBQ Pork Rib/Chicken dinner in the evening.

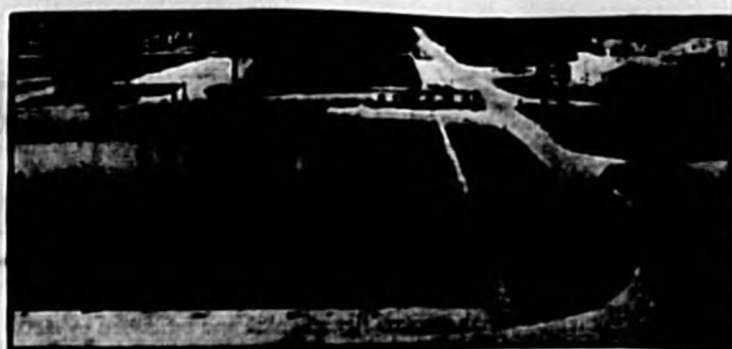

Sunday, June 25, Farewell breakfast at the Fleet Home.

Ernie Bouley, chairman of this year's reunion committee said special arrangements have been made for out-of-town visitors at Holiday Inn Express, Budget Inn, Days Inn, Super 8 Motel, Town & Country RV Resort and 12 Oaks RV Park. Additional travel arrangements, if required, may be made through Sun Travel in Sanford, (407-323-4600).

Registration forms are available by contacting the Fleet Home.

As in the past, most of the attendees will have the opportunity to re-acquaint themselves with former shipmates who may have served in the same squadrons. Many bring photo albums, scrapbooks and copies of the family (the base newsletter). The telling of "sea stories," tales of adventures in the past, reminiscence of those who have passed away, highlight all of the events.

Bouley hopes that during this

Sanford NAS as it looked in 1968, shortly after it was closed on June 28.

year's reunion, there will be a great deal of discussion, and hopefully, participation and financial assistance from many ex-navy personnel, in the latest drive to have a Navy Memorial established at the Orlando-Sanford International Airport. Several possible locations have already been discussed during committee meetings, and cooperation has been extended in the effort from the Greater Seminole/Sanford Chamber of Commerce and the Sanford Museum.

At the present time, the museum has on display, a special NAS Sanford wing, where memorabilia and photos have been obtained.

The Navy officially selected the Sanford property as abase for Naval Air Operational Training Command in May, 1942. After construction improvements, the commissioning of the base took place November 3, 1942.

After the war, in May, 1946, the based was decommissioned and turned back to the City of Sanford. At one time, the property was used for housing of approximately 1,500 civilians. The New York Giants baseball organization used the property for spring training of minor league players.

With the start of the Korean Conflict, the Navy took back the property and the airfield became the Sanford Naval Auxiliary Air Station (NAAS). In May, 1956, the Secretary of the Navy redesignated the base as the Naval Air Station (NAS).

The base officially closed on June 28 of 1968, subsequently becoming what is now known as the Orlando-Sanford International Airport.

For additional information regarding the Navy Memorial, contact Gerald P. Bohm, in DeBary at 407-668-4857.

For information regarding the NAS Reunion in June, contact Ernie Bouley, at 407-323-1337, or phone the Fleet Reserve headquarters at 407-330-1706.

Isaacson received the $750 Key Club Scholarship, while Reid won the $1,000 S.B. "Jim" Crowe Citizenship Essay Contest.

Fees

Low performing schools based on the state's A+ education plan will receive $34 million in additional assistance as well as $12.2 million in salary incentives for teachers.

Other key portions of the budget include a reduction in the intangibles tax rate for the second consecutive year. This year's tax cuts will total nearly $500 million.

A transportation package in the budget advances $4 billion of road and bridge improvements over a 10-year period to relieve urban congestion and expand hurricane evacuation routes.

The budget provides $428 million to implement a statewide drug control strategy, including an increase of $34.4 million.

There is also $56.2 million to construct 1,052 new residential commitment beds for serious juvenile offenders in high-risk residential commitment programs. This will increase lengths of stay from an average of 9 to 15 months.

Regarding restoration of the Everglades and the Environment, the budget provides $144 million in resources for water projects — including $300 million in funding for the first year of a program to acquire environmentally sensitive lands.

Meanwhile, the budget increases spending on child welfare programs by $131 million, a two-year increase of 58 percent.

An additional $96.1 million in health benefits is provided to expand Florida's Kidcare program. The budget also includes an additional $130 million for 24,000 Floridians with disabilities.

Wells is struggling in his first NASCAR season

Cal Wells has been at this not quite a year yet, and he's learning every day just how big a challenge this sport can be for a rookie car owner, even a guy who has been in racing for so many years.

Wells started from scratch after he wound up with two important sponsors last summer when Procter & Gamble's Tide brand and McDonald's both decided to make a dramatic change in marketing, dropping Ricky Rudd and Bill Elliott, respectively.

So far things haven't gone all that well for Wells and driver Scott Pruett, 40th in points after the Coca-Cola 600 at Lowe's Motor Speedway last Sunday.

They missed three of the year's first six races, earned a front-row spot at Las Vegas, led 13 laps at Texas before getting shoved out of the way by Steve Park. Pruett's best finishes have been a 19th at Daytona and 20th at Talladega.

"If I'd known six months ago what I know now, I'd have approached things differently," Wells said. "If I were to do this thing all over again, I'd do it a lot differently than I have. I think I didn't go slowly enough in terms of learning the genre. NASCAR is a country unto itself."

"It's not that I came in with some egocentric attitude, not that at all. I don't feel I underestimated the massive, massive challenge. But it is every bit as difficult as I expected it would be."

Grading his team's performance so far: "C-minus." And Wells as a car owner? "D-plus."

"Joe Garone is doing a good job for us as program manager and crew chief now," Wells said. "We've come a long way in a short period of time. But it all starts with me, and I could have been and should have been smarter."

"So I think Chip is going about it the right way. Buying into an organization, even with all its blemishes, is better than coming in and starting from scratch."

"I still have not met Ricky or Bill ... but I'm sure there could have been something put together that would have been a lot more intelligent between the two or three of us. They have areas that they are very, very strong in. But they've also got areas they're weak in. Together we could have worked and been invaluable to each other."

"As it turns out, what they've got is great, a lot better than anything they could have put together with me. Elliott has a fabulous program [with Dodge and Ray Evernham]. I've said the same thing about Ricky. But Elliott has really hit the big time. Still, Ricky's ninth in the points and he's finishing every weekend, and the car's not falling apart. Plus he's going home at night not worrying about a lot of things."

"Scott is doing extraordinarily well for us. He is the brightest spot in what we're doing. The commitment he's made is huge. He's struggling, no question about it. But he is a very skilled race car driver, extraordinarily talented, and I am very confident he's going to do really well."

Wells is in the process of re-evaluating his entire operation. Doug Robert, who started the season as crew chief with Pruett, has left, and Wells has Garone, his general manager, in charge until they can hire a new crew chief.

Plus, Wells has a second team to get up and running this summer, with McDonald's sponsorship. He managed to save McDonald's from simply quitting NASCAR by promoting a top-notch operation for 2001.

Time is running out on that project, and it's unclear what driver Wells might sign who would be amenable to McDonald's officials.

Anthony Lazzaro appears to be out as driver for Wells' McDonald's Busch Grand National team, with Pruett apparently taking over as driver, a move to help Pruett get even more experience on these tracks in his rookie year.

Mike Mathern has covered NASCAR for 26 years for the Winston-Salem Journal.

SHOWDOWN

Dale Earnhardt Jr. and Matt Kenseth face off in a two-man battle for rookie of the year

They entered the season as NASCAR's most heralded group of new talent. But about one-third of the way into the 2000 season, the most heralded rookie class in Winston Cup history has evolved into a two-man race.

Dale Earnhardt Jr. has won two races and The Winston. Matt Kenseth won one of Winston Cup's premier events, Sunday's Coca-Cola 600, and is leading the rookie points battle. Stacy Compton has become the darkhorse, making every race and remaining in striking distance of the frontrunners.

Jeff Fuller is gone. Mike Bliss has switched teams, and Ed Herrier, Dave Blaney and Scott Pruett have struggled to make fields.

Earnhardt Jr. and Kenseth are the first pair of rookies to win on a superspeedway in the same season, the first pair since 1981 to both win in the same year and the only pair to both lead in a race that one of them won.

Earnhardt Jr. was expected to be in the hunt, but no one predicted success would come so early. When he won at Texas Motor Speedway, even his team seemed slightly stunned. When he did it again at Richmond International Raceway, the celebration ran late into the night. Other drivers just shook their heads in wonder.

Then he bested the best in The Winston. Just 16 races into his Winston Cup career, Earnhardt Jr. has suddenly become a favorite. He entered the Coca-Cola 600 at Lowe's Motor Speedway in Concord, N.C., as one of the drivers to beat, but Kenseth stole his rookie thunder.

How did this happen? The rookies started the season well, with all but Fuller making the Daytona 500. Then the separation began.

"It's a lot tougher than I thought," said Bliss, who has replaced Fuller in the No. 27 Pontiac after being released by A.J. Foyt's team.

"Coming from the [Craftsman Truck Series], you think you put your pants on just like everyone else does."

Earnhardt Jr. quickly emerged as a contender.

"I thought it was going to take quite a while," he said. "I didn't expect to be this competitive this quickly. I figured it would happen toward the end of the year, if at all. We still haven't got a lot of consistency [four top-10 finishes in 13 races]. We've got to establish that to where if this team is going to be a contender in the future, we need to be consistent."

As the season has progressed, these rookies have addressed different problems. For Earnhardt Jr., there are scheduling constraints and the difficulty of balancing the demands of fans, sponsors and NASCAR. He has remained unchanged.

He still wears his baggy jeans and T-shirts in the garage, often walking past groups of fans without being recognized. He jokes about being disappointed that his team blows off his legendary parties, talks excitedly about his brother's fledgling career, then heads onto the track and races to the front.

Even Earnhardt Jr.'s style has caught the eye of his rookie colleagues.

"I think I might get some of those pants — you know, that baggy look — and see if that works. He is the man," Bliss said.

Earnhardt clearly is in a different class than the rest of the group. Not just in success and publicity, but in his demeanor and ability to handle the constant press of questions.

One night last week, he sat in the media center at Lowe's Motor Speedway, holding court about his stunning season and his pole position for the race. The next day, he sat quietly while his classmates assessed their seasons, briefly summarizing his own.

He tried not to stand out. There seems to be no animosity in this class. They teased about comparisons — "Junior over there is stinking it up for us," Compton said — and then concentrated on their own seasons.

Kenseth has been consistent, as expected, running well on a weekly basis.

"I don't sit around and say we won this many races or whatever," he said. "I am always looking forward to next week and doing better. As fast as you can win one of these races and get noticed, you can fall twice as fast, and everybody will forget about it. I really try to keep everything in perspective."

Compton also has been consistent, qualifying for every race in the revamped Melling Racing team.

The Virginia native has made a smooth transition from the Craftsman Truck Series and appears the most likely candidate to take advantage of any stumbles by Earnhardt Jr. or Kenseth.

In the preseason, many expected Blaney to challenge Earnhardt Jr. and Kenseth. But Blaney has encountered problems in both qualifying and races.

"We're struggling more than I had hoped we would or thought we would," said Blaney, who has moved up from the Busch Grand National series.

"We are a new team. We've got all new people and a new, inexperienced driver. But I really hope the second time around on some of these racetracks, where we can look back at what we did, I think that will pick us up."

Facing different obstacles hasn't altered how the drivers view the rookie race.

They understand the potential for future success that the group carries. Winning the rookie title would mean a lot to these guys.

"This isn't your average two- or three-man battle," Earnhardt Jr. said. "Normally we were lucky if we got two rookies in the series in one season, and this year we've got so many. I would expect it is quite an accomplishment for whoever wins it."

Winston Cup "Pro-Testers" return to Daytona Speedway

Special to the Herald

DAYTONA BEACH - "Pro-Testers" will return to Daytona International Speedway June 6th to take action under the lights.

"That's right, the pros of the Winston Cup series will conduct a night-time test session under the lights at the World Center of Racing Tuesday and will run a Daytona test session Wednesday, June 7th.

Scheduled to take the track to Wally Dallenbach and the No. 78 Mobil 1 Team Ford.

"We'll run the same old four man crew that ran the No. 78 Dallenbach's team during a season high 10th at Talladega and run in the top 10 for much of the race. The car has been reinforced since we ran it there. After going to the oval tunnel there are a lot of things we are going to try with the new rules and all."

"We know our crew is going to be up to snuff," said Dallenbach about their Robert Yates engine. "We now have to get the car up to snuff."

Dallenbach reported that the team will be testing both the quality and race setups at Daytona International Speedway June 6.

"Daytona is a beautiful track. Wally is a good speedway man. We can't help but do well. All we have to worry about is not getting in the big week."

Grand American Road Racing officials will also be conducting a run through of the Speedway's 3.66-mile road course under the full lights Tuesday night after the Winston Cup test session in preparation for the Paul Harvey 250. The popular sports car race will return to Daytona International Speedway after a 16 year absence on Thursday, June 28, immediately following Bud Pole qualifying for the Pepsi 400.

Five classes - SportsRacer I, SportsRacer II, OTU, OTU and American GT - with a maximum of 51 cars - will start the Paul Harvey 250.

A second Winston Cup test session under the lights at Daytona is scheduled June 13.

During testing, grandstands are open to the public, with access through DAYTONA USA, the "Ultimate Motorsports Attraction."

Tickets for the Pepsi 400 and the Paul Harvey 250 are still available by calling the Speedway Ticket Office at (904) 255-7223 or online at www.daytonainternational.com

ORLANDO SPEEDWORLD

By Dave Winters
SPECIAL TO THE HERALD

BITHLO - Mike Fritts is one heck of a Crew Chief. What more can you ask of the guy in charge of setting up your race car than to take your best-up car, set second fast time, start on the pole, and then lead every lap to win the Florida Sunbelt Series 135 Friday night at Orlando Speedworld?

That is exactly what Fritts did with Mike Quill's second car while all eyes in the stands were trained on an incredible drive by "Mr. Excitement" Jimmy Copps.

Seventeen-year-old B. J. McLeod let the way to the title with a lap of 18.000 seconds around the 3/8 mile. See Racing, Page 28

Fields' single gives DAV 5-4 victory over Network Electric in Minor opener

By Dean Smith
 SPORTS EDITOR

SANFORD - Cody Fields' one-out single in the top of the sixth inning scored Andre Debose with the go-ahead run as the Disabled American Veterans-Indians edged the Network Electric-Red Sox, 5-4, in the opening game of the City of Sanford Recreation and Parks Department Babe Ruth Baseball/Cal Ripken Minor League City Championship Series on Roy Holler Junior Field at Ft. Mellon Park Wednesday evening.

The other scheduled game ended in a victory for the Sanford Police Department-A's when the Elks Lodge #1241-Cardinals could not field a team.

The Minor League will play its second round games on Friday with the Sunland Corporation-Martners, the regular season champions and recipient of a first round bye, taking on the Sanford Police Department-A's at 5:45 p.m.

The Disabled American Veterans-Indians will have a bye into the Winner's Bracket Final on Saturday (8:30 a.m.), while the Network Electric-Red Sox will face the Elks Lodge #1241-Cardinals at 7:30 p.m. on Friday.

Friday's winners will join the Indians for Saturday's games. After the Winner's Bracket Final at 8:30 a.m., there will be two Loser's Bracket games at 10:30 a.m. and 12:30 p.m.

SANFORD - Champions always seem to find ways to win.

For the third straight week Sunrise Funeral Home found itself in a dog fight at Pinehurst Park last week, but as usual, the squad was up to the task as it tallied for a 13-12 victory over Play It Again Sports and clinching the top seed for the upcoming End of the Season Tournament in the City of Sanford Recreation and Parks Department Men's Spring Thursday Night Slow Pitch Softball League.

Sunrise Funeral Home found itself down 12-11 in the top of the seventh inning with a runner on first (on a single by Keithian Roberts) with two out.

But Play It Again Sports could not close out what would have been a crucial victory as Arthur Barnes reached on an error, as did Greg Hardy, allowing Roberts to score and Barnes to get to third.

Casey McCarthy then hit a grounder, but Barnes was able to beat the throw to the plate to score what proved to be the winning run.

In the other game, Celeste Industries kept alive its hopes of a No. 2 seed with a 13-10 victory over The Regulators.

Sunrise Funeral Home is now 6-1 and leads Play It Again Sports (4-3), Celeste Industries (4-4) and The Regulators (1-7).

The regular season wraps up tonight with Play It Again Sports taking on The Regulators at 7 p.m. and Sunrise Funeral Home Roberts) with two out.

Mystics make Miracle offense disappear in WNBA season opener

From Staff Reports

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Former Team USA and University of Tennessee teammates Chamique Holdclaw and Nikki McCray combined for 55 points as the Washington Mystics rallied from a one-point halftime deficit to rout the Orlando Miracle, 92-66, at the MCI Center Wednesday night.

Holdclaw scored a career-high 29 points and McCray (who hit 6-of-10 from three-point range) added 26 in the WNBA (Women's National Basketball Association) season opener for both teams.

Holdclaw scored 13 points and McCray 14 in the second half, when Washington outscored Orlando 52-25.

The 1999 WNBA Rookie of the Year, Holdclaw also grabbed 12 rebounds. Murrell Page collected 15 points and eight boards for Washington, while Andrea Nagy handed out 10 assists.

Shannon Johnson scored 16 points and Adrienne Johnson added 14 for the Miracle, who shot just 39 percent (27-of-69), including 1-of-10 from 3-point range. Washington was 9-of-16 from behind the arc.

Adrienne Johnson scored 10 points and Nykesha Sales added eight in the first half as Orlando battled back from as many as 13 points behind to lead 41-40 at intermission. But Sales was held scoreless in the second half.

The Miracle make their home debut tonight, hosting the Charlotte Sting at the TD Waterhouse Centre starting at 7:30 p.m.

UNBEATEN PREDATORS AT HOME

OKLAHOMA CITY, OK. - Joe Douglass (No. 12, left) caught a touchdown pass and made a crucial kick-off return from the end zone to the Oklahoma Wranglers' 20 to set up what proved to be the game-winning touchdown as the Orlando Predators remained the last undefeated team in the Arena Football League's with a 35-28 road victory at the Myriad Arena last Friday.

The Predators (6-0) trailed 7-0 before going on a 28-0 run to take a 26-7 lead after three periods.

The Wranglers (4-2) battled back to within 28-21 before Douglass made his big return and the Orlando defense saved the victory with a tremendous goal-line stand.

The Predators will be at home to host the Carolina Cobras tomorrow night (Friday, June 2nd) and also next Friday (June 9th) when the Grand Rapids Rampage pay a visit.

Both games will begin at 7:30 p.m. at the TD Waterhouse Centre.

battling Celeste Industries at 8 p.m.

Sunrise Funeral Home took a 4-0 lead in the top of the first inning on a double by Roger Jefferies, a walk to Nakia Roberts, a fielder's choice by Keithian Roberts and singles by Kevin Julian, Keith Acree, Derrick Getter, Barnes and Hardy.

But Play It Again Sports answered with five runs in the bottom of the first inning on a grand slam by Matt Kucinaki and an error after a Jeremy Chumat single.

Sunrise Funeral Home regained the lead with two runs in the top of the second inning.

but Play It Again Sports tied it at 6-6 with a run in the bottom of the frame.

The top of the third inning found Sunrise Funeral Home taking the lead back with four runs, with a triple by Keithian Roberts and back-to-back doubles by Getter and Barnes being the big blows.

Play It Again Sports came right back to take control of the game, scoring three runs in each of the third and fourth innings, with a Craig Jones home run and a triple by Kucinaki being the big hits in the third inning and a pair of errors and singles by Jason Flanigan, Chumat and John Lugerting being the key blows.

That was the last scoring for Play It Again Sports, setting the stage for the Sunrise Funeral Home rally.

The winner's closed to within 12-11 when Tony Smith led off the sixth inning with a single, but was erased on a grounder by Julian. Jefferies grounded out, sending Julian to second, from where he scored on a single by Nakia Roberts making the seventh inning comeback possible.

Providing the offense were:

Sunrise Funeral Home: Arthur Barnes (3 for 4, one double, two runs scored), Derrick Getter (one double, two singles, one run scored), Keithian Roberts (one triple, one single, three runs scored), Roger Jefferies (one double, one single, one run scored), Kevin Julian (two singles, two runs scored), Nakia Roberts and Steven Dennis (two singles and one run scored each), Greg Hardy (two singles), Keith Acree (one single, one run scored), Tony Smith (one single) and Kevin Lavigne (one run scored).

Play It Again Sports: Jeremy Chumat (three singles, one run scored), Matt Kucinaki (one home run, one triple, two runs scored), Craig Jones (one home run, one single, three runs scored), Jason Flanigan (two singles, two runs scored), Mike McLahon (one home run, one run scored), Tommy Gracey (one single, two runs scored), Jamie Hizer and John Lugerting (one single each) and Dean Farmer (one run scored).

Celeste Industries: Carl Matt (three singles, two runs scored), Todd Walker (three singles), Tom Womble (one double, one single, three runs scored), Randy and Bob Reah (two singles and two runs scored each), Mike Edwards (one single, two runs scored), James Moncrief (one single, one run scored), Greg Register and Roy Rivers (one single each) and Todd Moncrief (one run scored).

The Regulators: Cary Kee (one double, one single, one run scored), Matt Kirsamen (two singles, two runs scored), Chris Wargo, Kenny Perkins and Brantley Brunley (two singles and one run scored each), J. speedway oval. Fritts was second quick at 13.683 with Brian Finney turning in a 13.784 lap - good for third fast.

Fritts earned the pole as the number two came up in the redraw for starting spots with McLeod starting his Carter Grandie Casual Furniture Chevy from the outside pole.

Fritts grabbed the lead at the drop of the green but caution flew on lap two for two separate accidents.

Bill Keeton, Jeff Emery, Morgan Hoover and Bob Hicks tangled in turn one and before starter Tony Boewell could wave the yellow, Rob Underwood, Wayne Jefferson and Mike Good crashed in turn three.

Jefferson and Good were out...and Good took a spot in the pit grandstand to see how his Crew Chief would fare in the back-up machine.

Caution would again fly on lap 14 as Jeff Emery and Ronnie Roach locked horns in turn four.

When the green was displayed, Fritts headed McLeod, Finney and a hard-charging Jimmy Cope.

While negotiating lapped traffic on lap 27, Finney spun into the turn one wall ending his evening.

On the restart Ron Dicanio, Travis Kittleston and James Powell got together and sent both Powell and Dicanio to the pits for the night.

As the race resumed, Cope blasted by McLeod to second with Wayne Anderson's Racecar College machine following to third. As the halfway signal was given, defending Sunbelt Series Champion David Rogers pulled his TM Ranch/Orlando Dodge Intrepid to the infield with mechanical problems.

Emery spun again on lap 53 to bring out a short caution. When the green came out Fritts, Cope, Anderson, McLeod and Kittleston put on an exciting show of close nose-to-tail racing interrupted on lap 76 by Eric Black's spin.

On the restart, Cope's right front tire went down and he stopped at the top of turn two bringing the caution back out. Cope dove into the pits and his crew changed the deflated shoe getting him back out where he restarted 15th as the last car on the lead lap.

At this point the fans had three things to watch. Wayne Anderson using everything but a machine gun to try and get around Fritts, the youthful enthusiasm of McLeod and Kittleston as they fought for third spot, and Cope, driving like a mad man to the front of the field. Cope used cautions for Jeff Emery's spin on lap 86 and a Rob Underwood spin on lap 91 to set up his final charge. With five laps to go, Cope passed McLeod for third and was closing on the leaders as time ran out.

Fritts withstood incredible pressure on the last lap from Anderson to claim his first Sunbelt Series win in Mike Good's Briar Corporation Site Development/BBM Clearing and Grading Contractors Ford Taurus. Anderson was second with Cope's New Myakka Brokers 2000 Chevy Monte Carlo third. McLeod held on to fourth ahead of Kittleston's Bob Steele Chevrolet Monte Carlo. Kittleston's fifth place finish allowed him to maintain the Florida Sunbelt Series points lead as Cope moved into second in points.

Rounding out the top ten finishers in the 125 lapper were Jacob Warren, Michael Williams, Bill Pratt, Joe Fitos and Randy Fox.

In other racing action, Jason Boyd continued to have the hot hand in the Modified class as he used the outside lane to zip past early leader Frank Polly and claim his sixth win of the year. The race was plagued with spins and crashes, the worst being Eric Almiroca's bout with the front stretch wall. The front end of Almiroca's car was wiped out but Eric climbed from the car in okay shape.

Polly trailed Boyd home to the checker followed by John Wills, Larry Osteen and Russ Thomson.

Eugene Davidson passed Kelly Jarrett at the mid-race point to claim his third Mini-Stock win of the year in the Car Doctor Dodge Daytona. Jarrett held on for second in his Toyota followed by the VW of Kenny Hankins and the Ford Pintos of Bo Davis and Wayne Clark.

Rich Clouser passed Jeff Wright on lap seven and led the rest of the way to take his second straight Sportsman win. Wright was second in front of Tommy Johnson, Doug Samkon and Sam Bowman.

In Super Stock action, Carl Peters led all the way to win his third of the year holding off a race-long charge by Duane Freed. Brad Johnson, Fred Peters and Homer Gordon rounded out the top five.

This Friday, June 2nd, the regular FASCAR classes will be running heats and features in Super Late Model, Late Model, Modifieds, Sportsman, Mini-Stock, Super Stock, and Strictly Stock.

Gates open a 6 p.m. and racing begins at 8 p.m. every Friday night at the track located 17 miles east of Orlando between Orlando and Titusville on Highway 50 at the 520 Cocoa Cutoff.

will then meet in the Championship Game at 6 p.m. on Monday. If both teams have a loss after that game, the two would meet in a Winner-Take-All game at a day and time to be announced.

The Major League teams return to Ft. Mellon tonight (Thursday) with the Railroaders-Cubs and Play It Again Sports-Expos squaring off in a Winner's Bracket game at 6 p.m. and the Kid-U-Not, Inc.-Devil Rays and Sanford Free & Accepted Masons Lodge #62-Yankees meeting in an elimination contest at 8 p.m.

The remaining three Major League teams after Thursday night will continue play on Saturday with the Loser's Bracket Final Game starting at 2:30 p.m.

The winner of that game will take on Thursday's Expos-Cubs winner for the Championship at 4:30 p.m.

If both teams have one loss after Saturday's

4:30 p.m. contest, a winner-take-all finale would be played Monday at 8 p.m. on Roy Holler Junior Field.

The Indians took a 1-0 lead in the top of the second inning as Matt Hoelter led off with a single and later scored on a passed ball.

The Red Sox then grabbed control of the game in the bottom of the third inning, plating three runs.

Mike Hummel led off and got all the way to third on an error and continued on to home plate to score the tying run on another error. Nick Detmer then walked and scored the go-ahead run on a double by Loren Merthie, who in turn, scored later on an error.

The Indians took the lead back in the top of the fifth inning as Justin Stanell, Hoelter and Shawn Garpiety all walked and scored on wild pitches to give the Tribe a 4-3 lead.

Merthie led off the bottom of the fifth inning with an inside-the-park home run to tie the game at 4-4 for the Red Sox, but that would be the final Red Sox baserunner as the final six batters made outs, five by strike outs.

Debose led off the top of the sixth inning and reached second on an error and scored moments later on Fields' single.

Doing the damage for the Indians were Roddy Heckle (one double), Matt Hoelter (one single, two runs scored), Cody Fields (one single, one RBI) and Andre Debose, Justin Stanell and Shawn Garpiety (one run scored each).

Providing the offense for the Red Sox were Loren Merthie (3-for-3, including one home run and one triple, two runs scored, two RBI), Mike Hummel (one double, one run scored) and Nick Detmer (one run scored).

HOROSCOPES

Your Birthday
FRIDAY, June 2, 2000

In the year ahead, you might become involved in several new ventures. Although each might be different from the others, they'll all be together to make for one big success.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Pennies have a way of adding up, so if the only thing that's open to you today is to make gains in small ways, don't hesitate to take advantage of what you might otherwise ignore. Trying to patch up a broken romance? The Astro Graph Matchmaker can help you understand what to do to make the relationship work. Mail $2.75 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 1758, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Establish your own agenda today instead of letting companions plan your activities. You know what you need better than they, so write your own. Don't allow them to do so for you.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Something quite juicy might be laid to you in confidence today, but keep your own counsel rather than be tempted to repeat it to anyone. If you violate a trust, you violate your honor.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) A productive exchange can take place today with an associate who shares a common interest with you. The dividend will get your minds working together successfully.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Concentrate on career matters of your ambitious pursuits today, because you are sharper than usual at this time and chances are you'll make some very good choices.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Something that occurs or is said to you may put your faith in the test today. However, rather than weakening you, the results of your conclusions will make you stronger than ever.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) If you are observant today, you might be able to spot a financial opportunity that escapes others. Use your head in ways as to how you can take advantage of this discovery.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Anything can trip you up today, it might be the little details. Scrutinize the fine print very carefully so as not to miss something that could be significant in the long run.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Make an effort to get all of the little jobs out of the way first today. With the debts cleared, you can make greater progress and with greater efficiency.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Your greatest asset today will be your ability to inspire and give direction to those younger or less experienced than yourself. Use your abilities wisely.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) If there is some kind of discord occurring in your family at this time, it can be ironed out today if you take the initiative to open the negotiations by listening to all sides.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Sometimes, to advance our personal interests, it makes more sense to be assertive mentally rather than physically. This might be one of those days when your mind can do more than your muscles.
