Seiners Declare Bass Would Be Given Protection

Officials of the Seminole County Commercial Fisherman's Association Said Today That Seiners Are More Than Willing To Co-Operate With Sport Fishermen In Preservation Of Game Fish Providing They Are Given The Right To Ply Their Trade Legally And In Such A Manner As To Give Them An Adequate Living

Officials of the Seminole County Commercial Fisherman's Association said today that seiners are more than willing to co-operate with sport fishermen in preservation of game fish providing they are given the right to ply their trade legally and in such a manner as to give them an adequate living.

Mr. Raulerson, one of the officials of the association, stated that the group is seeking legislative approval of a proposal which would permit them to take and market from Lake Monroe and the St. Johns River in this county but he added that there would be a closed season at all times against taking black bass in this manner. Their program also includes the employment of inspectors by the State who would pass on their catches and stamp them to prevent tooling of the bass.

Mr. Raulerson contended that the killing of the river and lake would destroy hundreds of thousands of predatory creatures which prey on the black bass and other fish such as turtles, snakes, and garfish. He said that removal of these would greatly increase the number of black bass and other fish in the streams in this section.

Mayfair Clerk Clubbed In 2nd Hotel Holdup

Robbers Get Nothing But Hugh Rexford Is Found Unconscious On Floor

Although Hugh Rexford, bank clerk, was clubbed unconscious, a second holdup of the Mayfair Hotel about 2:00 o'clock this morning failed to pay off, according to John Hintz, manager of the hotel, who said that no money has been left in the desk during the night since the first robbery several weeks ago.

Mr. Rexford was sitting at the telephone exchange desk when the negroes entered the hotel and struck him, according to Chief of Police Roy G. Williams who, with the Sheriff's office and Constable W. A. McMullen is searching for the robbers.

In recounting the story after regaining consciousness, Chief Williams said Rexford told him the first warning he had of the appearance of the negroes was when one of them said, "we have come back to finish what we started" or words to that effect, leading law enforcement officers to believe the robbers were the same trio that staged the previous holdup.

Mr. Rexford told officers he had time to plug in his switchboard and yell "police" before he was knocked into unconsciousness. Miss Theo Vickery, night operator for the Bell Telephone Company, sensing something out of the ordinary had taken place, immediately put in a call to the police.

Officials Favor Curb To Threats Of Nazis-Fascists

WASHINGTON, Apr. 11.—(AP)—After conferring with President Roosevelt yesterday, two cabinet officials lent emphasis to belief expressed in other official circles that unless effective means are designed soon to curb Nazi-Fascist threats to the world economic structure a European war is likely to result within a short time.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull and Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr., in separate press conferences after their meeting with Mr. Roosevelt, reflected the president's pessimistic statement to his friends at Warm Springs, Ga., Sunday, in which he said he would return next fall "if we don't have a war."

Hull and Morgenthau met Mr. Roosevelt before he left the train which brought him to the capital, indicating his concern over the reports which they carried bearing on the European outlook and its probable effect on domestic policies.

Hull told newspapermen that war threats were keeping private business interests hopelessly alarmed and pointed out that European capital had fled to this country in hundreds of millions of dollars, curtailing purchasing power abroad, and dislocating trade with injurious results to everybody.

Morgenthau struck a similar note, announcing that the treasury's working balance of cash on hand totaled more than $2,600,000,000, an amount which he said was large enough to meet all possible contingencies arising from the present international situation.

In The Pages Of History

An interesting account of another attack on Durazzo, the little port in Albania which fell before Italian legions on Good Friday last week, is told in a recent issue of the New York Herald Tribune.

Durazzo had been an important military and naval base for the Central Powers during most of the war and it was there that many of the submarines which operated in the Mediterranean and even in Atlantic waters were constructed.

The eleven submarine chasers of the United States Navy that played an important and spectacular part in the battle started out the night before from Brindisi, Italy, the Herald Tribune recalls.

For the Battle of Durazzo they were given what amounted to a suicide assignment, but their only casualty was the loss of a finger by John Fabrizio, machinist's mate, first class, U. S. N. R. F., who held in place with his hand a broken trip rod igniter-spring in the engine room of the S. C. 179.

Two enemy submarines did get out, one of them managing to launch a torpedo that crippled the British cruiser Weymouth, but both were sunk by the Americans. Ensign Henry R. Dunn, U. S. N. R. F., temporarily in command of the S. C. 130, also was commended.

Capture of Durazzo which apparently was unprepared for sudden attack, was an important Allied victory and was followed quickly by the landing of a rehabilitated Serbian army, thus putting an Allied force in the rear of the Austrians and Bulgarians on the Santi Quaranta and Salonika fronts.

Helping Business

As an indication of the point of view of the business community, B. C. Forbes in the current issue of Forbes Magazine, a publication generally devoted to business interests and widely read by business men, presents a list of twelve measures which the government might adopt as evidence of its desire to encourage enterprise and revive commercial activity.

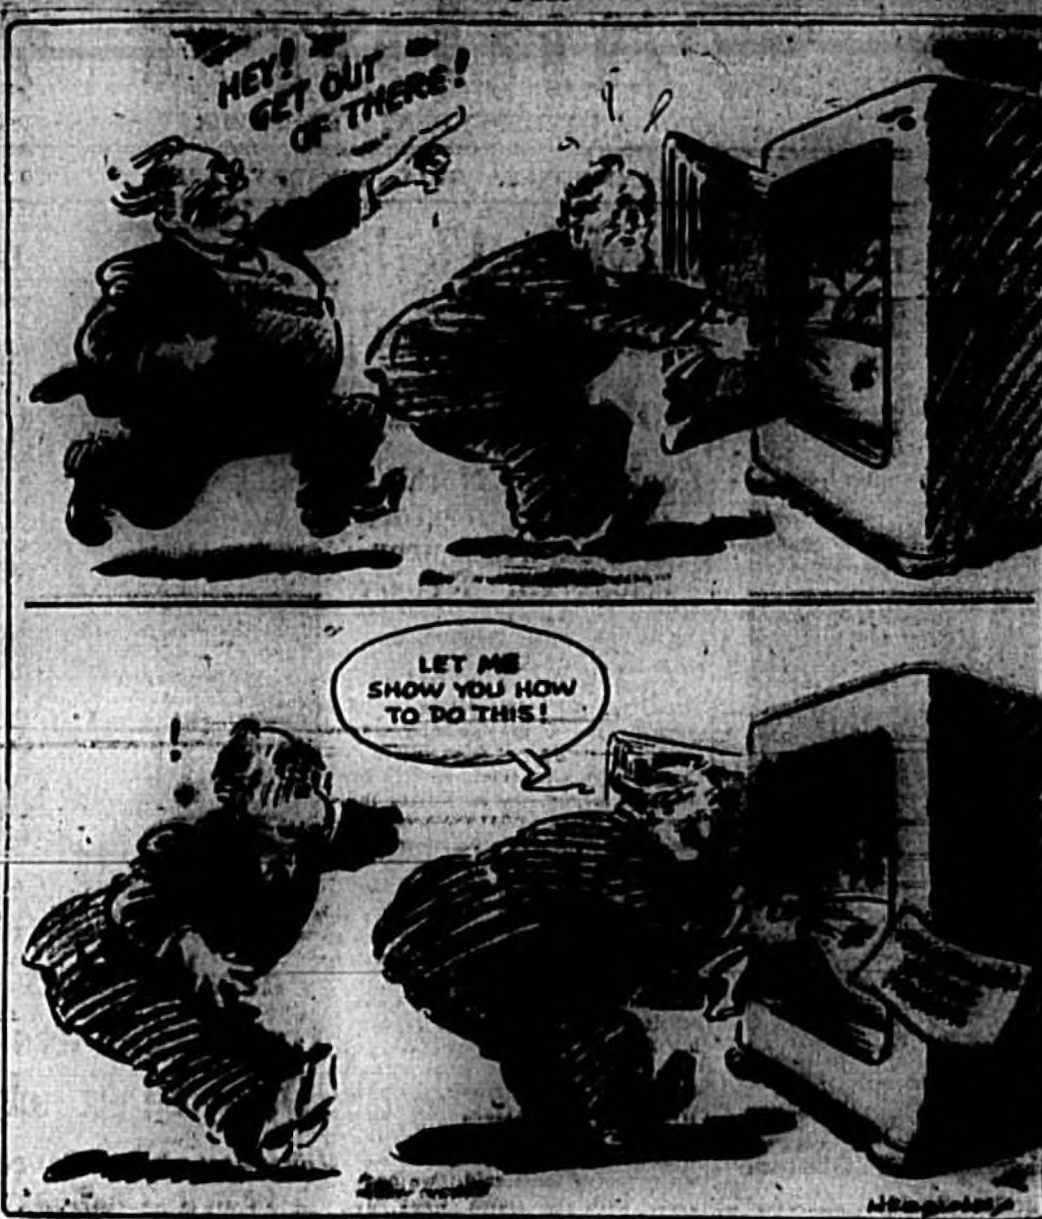

- 1. Amend the National Labor Relations Act to give employers equal rights with employees.
2. Enact the proposed postponement of increased levies under the Social Security Law.
3. Repeal the statute making obligatory the wholesale purchase of foreign silver at fantastic prices.
4. Transfer from the President to Congress the authority to decide whether the gold content of the dollar be further reduced and the right to decide whether $3,000,000,000 of greenbacks should be issued.
5. Legislate to decentralize distribution of relief, transferring this vitally important and complicated task from Washington bureaucrats to State and local authorities with reasonable Washington supervision.
6. Readjust taxation along the lines helpful to business recovery, in order to inspire revival of old-time American initiative and risk-taking.
7. Modify provisions in the SEC law in order to unshackle the security markets and to facilitate capital-raising.
8. Devise constructive railway action urgently demanded in the national interest.
9. Take specific steps to end all apprehension in the utility industry over danger of further Federal or other subsidized competition.
10. Reorganize Governmental machinery to weed out drastically official bodies now plaguing business and industry with incessant demands for a wholly needless multiplicity of returns and reports.
11. Demonstrate at least half as much consideration for our millions of small business men and our still greater number of small investors as for farmers.
12. Prevent the Department of Justice from going out of its way to incite uneasiness—at least until revival has made greater headway.

MY GREATEST THRILL—One of the greatest thrills I have had since a Member of Congress came the first place, they failed to see the number of letters I received recommending some one else, and in the second place, they fail to take into consideration the fact that gratitude and personal friendship enter into these appointments. I would be ungrateful if I were not willing to help him.

Federal Judges Grant Cannery Delay In Attack

(Continued From Page One) court followed an unsuccessful attempt of the Eckerson Fruit Cannery, Inc. of this city to obtain a permanent injunction preventing Mayo and his agents from enforcing the law of the 32-cent minimum grapefruit price law against the contracts of the local plant.

Federal Judge Alexander Akerman issued a temporary order Mar. 24, restraining Commissioner Mayo from interfering with the operations of the 10 cannery pending a decision on the Ad's suit.

Asserting the guarantee cost law had not been enforced, he said it would be for the act to be off the statute books before the citrus industry's legislative program is submitted to the General Assembly.

College Students Find Flying Hard Work But Love It

ATLANTA, Apr. 11.—(AP)—Learning to fly at Georgia Tech means cutting out dates, dances, and other diversions—but 101 applicants sought the training and there was room for only 30.

The civil aeronautics authority picked the Georgia School of Technology as one of 12 schools in which to launch an experimental training program.

Students released the school from accident liability—each has $3,000 insurance. Here's where Uncle Sam comes in, as explained by V. A. Lathrop, head of the flying school in charge of the instruction.

The cost of the experimental instruction is met with $100,000 of National Youth Administration funds.

City To Continue To Seek Higher Court Penalties

(Continued From Page One) Since it would not establish a precedent so far as Florida towns are concerned nor even so far as Sanford is concerned, was given the endorsement of the other commissioners.

Pointing out that he sought the law for protection of his department in any contingencies, Chief Williams said the proposed change in the maximum penalties which can be imposed would not necessarily mean the change of present ordinances but could be invoked by the department in case of an emergency. At present the City Charter provides for imposition of fines not to exceed $200 and imprisonment not to exceed 90 days.

A petition submitted by members of the Shiloh Baptist Church in Goldboro requesting that all Goldboro stores be closed on Sunday was referred to Chief of Police Roy G. Williams for action.

After City Clerk H. N. Sayer reported that a total of $13,553 had accrued in the City's fund for buying refunded bonds, the Commission authorized the purchase of 15 of the refunded series at 27, plus accrued interest. The Bell Telephone Company was given permission to trim certain trees on Sanford Avenue which are interfering with their lines.

A fire and theft insurance policy on the City's automotive equipment was given the approval of the Commission. The premium is $80 annually.

Abolition Of Ad Valorem Tax Is Proposed

If the Legislature approves Kay's resolution, the amendment will go to the voters in the 1940 election. It provides, Kay said, that if the amendment is adopted, J. Turner Butler, now president of the Senate, would become the first lieutenant governor. Others would be elected in general elections when governors are elected.

Kay's plan would make the lieutenant governor president of the Senate, but his power to vote would be limited to instances when the votes occurred.

When Florida first became a State, it had a lieutenant governor but the office was abolished in the Constitution of 1890.

The present Constitution provides for the president of the Senate to assume the powers and duties of governor if the governor's office becomes vacant. There has not been a vacancy in the office in half a century.

Other Constitutional amendments proposed yesterday would give county commissioners terms of four years each and remove the disabilities of married women to make contracts binding their property rights.

Representative Dekle of Hillsborough and Outman Pinellas put in a bill to establish a State Tax Commission, with power to supervise assessments in the counties. Similar measures already have been introduced in both houses.

An "unfair sales act" came from Representative Clement of Pinellas. It would prohibit sale of merchandise below cost to the retailer, plus a 4 percent write-up for the expense of doing business. It also would prohibit below-cost sales by wholesalers and would provide a fine up to $500 for violation of the law.

Representative Butt of Mevara offered a measure allowing establishment of rural electric co-operatives to supply electric current and energy to consumers. The co-operatives would be non-profit membership organizations. Other bills included:

By Martin of Polk—Authorizing the Florida Industrial Commission to assist and co-operate with federal agencies in enforcing the fair labor standards act.

By Inman of Bradford—Regulating insurance companies.

By Seefeld of Citrus—A license for salt water fishing.

House Joins In Asking Probe Of Racing Fund Suit

Group To Be Named To Study Problems Presented In Attack Impounding $700,000

Committee Gets Fencing Measure

Proposal Would Tax Cigarettes To Provide School Money

TALLAHASSEE, Apr. 12.—(AP)—The Florida House joined the Senate today in ordering an investigation of the "source, cause and reason" of the suit attacking the distribution of race track taxes among the counties. President Butler and Speaker Wood were authorized to appoint a six-member committee for the inquiry. The committee was also directed to seek a solution of problems presented by a suit which has resulted in impounding about $700,000 in race track taxes.

The House in adopting the Senate resolution for an inquiry added the amendment authorizing the committee to hold public hearings and subpoena witnesses and records if necessary. The first details of reason on the controversial subject of keeping cattle off the highways resulted in the House appointing Speaker Wood's committee of the cattle fencing bill to the livestock committee.

Rep. Warren, who introduced the measure and tried to have it sent to the forestry committee, said the livestock committee "is stacked against us."

The day's new legislative proposals included a bill to tax cigarettes two cents per package for the benefit of schools. The measure upheld Gov. Conroy's veto of five minor acts of the 1938 Legislature but did not consider any veto of the measure providing for a teachers' retirement program.

Forward Gives Program Of Citrus Group

Growers' Association President Outlines 3-Point Objective At Kiwanis Lunch

"When citrus prospers, our whole state prospers, since citrus is our main industry," Fred Forward, recently re-elected president of the Seminole County Citrus Growers' Association, today told the Kiwanis Club at its regular Wednesday noon luncheon in the Valdes Hotel.

The speaker outlined for the club the three major points in the program of the association, which includes: (1) Giving the industry back to the control of the grower so that he may realize a fair profit for his product without splitting with the numerous middlemen with whom he now shares what should be his profit. (2) Regulating the quantity and quality of the fruit shipped and sold. (3) Reducing the cost of production and also the cost of processing and distribution.

Mr. Forward declared that the working out of the first point of the program would mean securing the support of business men and the public by the use of associate memberships, since whatever affects the industry directly affects the public and the business man. Therefore, he said, the public should co-operate to secure the passage of bills to control the industry and otherwise aid it.

Point two of the program which concerns the quality and quantity of fruit shipped is covered in a bill which will be introduced in the Legislature in the near future, he said. This bill, known as the Scripps Elimination Act, would provide for the stopping of shipment of all No. 3's in years which the amount of oranges shipped should exceed 18 million boxes. The measure would apply, in ratio, to grapefruit and tangerines.

Also, under this point of the program, is included the organization of growers in their business, as to fertilizers, sprays and other steps to lower production costs, including the eventual elimination of packing house processing and distribution so that (Continued on page 2)

State Collects $1,968,598 In Taxes On Racing

MIAMI, Apr. 12.—(AP)—A record total of $1,968,598 in sports tax revenue for the 1938-39 season poured into the State Treasury last night while Florida's Legislature studied proposals which might curtail the amount considerably next year.

The total revenue, which was $94,978 greater than for last season, was reported by the State's department of personnel, training, and administration, and reported to the Legislature's committee on racing at Florida's three house races, 10 dog tracks and 10 jai-alai tracks.

Westbrook Places 300 Delegates Expected For Episcopal Conclave

St. Johns Canal On Preferential List

Senator's Bill Would Give Waterways Tax From Boat Fuels

The proposed St. Johns-Indian River canal was placed on the preferred list of waterway developments for Florida in a bill introduced into the Florida Senate by Senator George F. Westbrook of Clermont which provides for the allocation of all tax money paid for fuel used in watercraft for use in improving the State's waterways.

The allocation of such funds would begin in July of next year, and the improvement work would be undertaken by the State Road Department under the measure's provisions. Senator Westbrook would set up a preferential system for waterways, and that section of the bill lists the following: "In addition to the waterways now existing or in process of construction; East Coast Canal from Florida Bay to Key West; (Continued on page 2)

Colee Outlines Role Of Cattle Industry In State's Development

JACKSONVILLE, Apr. 12.—Florida's cattle industry and the part it is equipped to play in the future development of the state was outlined Monday by Harold Colee, president of the Florida State Chamber of Commerce, at meetings in Jacksonville and Macclenny.

Mr. Colee was principal speaker at the Jacksonville Advertising Club and at a dinner meeting of the Macclenny Lion's Club. Briefly covering the history of the cattle industry in Florida and the 20-year fight against the cattle fever tick, he indicated the cattle is nearly won with the tick eradicated from all but a few spots in the state.

"Florida," Mr. Colee declared, "contains 25,000,000 acres of land, of which only about 2,000,000 acres are in cultivation and 6,000,000 adapted to recreational and industrial uses. This leaves 23,000,000 acres that must be brought into profitable production if they help support the state. Grazing cattle and the forest industry are the only means at present of making these idle acres again profitable."
