

Lookouts Drop Second Tilt With Reds By Score Of 9 to 4

Seven Runs Are Scored By Foes In First Frame

Three Local Moundmen See Duty During Second Clash

CONRAD PARK, DELAND.—Manager Guy Lacy's Sanford Lookouts went down in defeat last night at the hands of the Deland Reds by score of 9 to 4 to bring their league standing to the 34th rank.

The Reds, blasting out 10 hits off three Lookout pitchers, came from behind in their half of the first inning to score seven runs and put the game away.

The Lookouts encountered only seven hits during the encounter off the deliveries of Andy Stout, Red Sauter and Bob Jones. Each of the three pitchers allowed only four runs. Stout walked a total of 10 men and forced three Lookouts down via the strike out rule.

Joe Pinder started on the mound for Sanford but was knocked out in the first before getting a single batter out. He was replaced by Johnny Hook who got a batman out before he was replaced by Bob Hope, youthful hurler, pitching his first time for the Lookouts.

Hope pitched eight and one-third innings and was nicked for only four hits. He fanned one and had a little wild, scattering seven walks. However, they did not damage the local chances.

Leading the hitters for the Deland Reds were Joe Ruggiero, Win Brown, Nick Shimer and Bob Jones. Each blasted out a pair of hits, and had a total of 15 men stranded on the sacks.

The Lookouts started their evening early in the tilt by pushing a run in their half of the initial chapter. Ruggiero went out and McDanieli worked Stout for a free pass and went to second on a passed ball by Hildebrand. Clark went out to short and Brown walked. Young was hit by a pitched ball filling the bases. Lacy got out of second by allowing McDanieli to score. Alby popped out to third to end the inning.

The Reds overcame the Lookout one-run lead in their half of the first inning when they pushed out seven runs. They counted six hits, one passed ball, two wild pitches, knocked two Sanford pitchers from the mound, one stolen base and three walks for their seven-run lead.

McDanieli gathered another tally in their half of the first when Shimer was credited with an inside hit and ran to second when Alby's throw to first was wild. He went to third on a wild pitch by Hope and scored when McDanieli let Ruggiero's fly ball slip through his fingers. However, the inning was ended when Shimer was caught at home on an attempted double steal.

Sanford scored three runs to make their total of four in their half of the eighth as Hope worked a single to center. McDanieli walked filling the bases. Clark was safe on a fielder's choice but McDanieli was forced at second. Brown singled to right field to score Ruggiero. Young was out on a fielder's choice leading the bases when Young errored on a force play at second. Lacy went out third to first scoring Clark but John Lacy filed out to deep center to end the evening.

Deland scored another in the eighth when Hope walked Ruggiero. Shimer fanned and Ryan walked. Jones grounded in to Rodgers who fired Ryan at second. Pulling scored on the play. Schmidt fanned to end the inning.

Judge Landis Is Stern Arbitrator Of Baseball Laxities

By Associated Press
Baseball's Kenesaw Mountain Landis is the original American "sax".

Gruff, stinging, stern when he most disconcerts, the 71-year-old ex-judge has been handing down decisions for 18 years. There are no appeals.

He was named high commissioner of the game in 1921 after the Chicago Cubs' scandalous season. Then a federal judge in Illinois, he was sought by club owners to restore the public's confidence in the game.

He did it, making decisions like those of a stern judge. He barred eight Chicago players after the 1919 episode. He fined Babe Ruth his entire world series money for participating in a barnstorming trip. Recently cracked down on the St. Louis Cardinals for operating a "farm system" illegally.

Landis sometimes found his job tough. Outstanding example was his feud with Ban Johnson, former president of the American league. In 1931 a legal battle to break his dictatorship failed. He came out of another battle with an increased salary. He now gets $100,000 a year.

Landis, who once fined Stand and Oil of Indiana over $29,000,000 was a stern judge, too.

And although associates say he really is soft-hearted, he's a tough assignment for reporters. He'll discuss golf, fishing or other subjects—anything but baseball. Now 71, he's still spry.

Lookouts Will Meet Azaleas In Palatka

Manager Guy Lacy's Sanford Lookouts start a two game series today with the Palatka Azaleas in Azalea Bowl tonight at 8:15 o'clock.

With Gainesville and Orlando tied for the loop lead, Leesburg and Daytona Beach resting on the cellar, Sanford, Palatka, St. Augustine and Deland will be fighting for a berth near the top in games tonight.

The probable lineup for the local nine will be Joe Ruggiero at shortstop, Punch McDanieli in left field, Ray Clark in center field, Win Brown in right field, Babe Young behind the plate, Manager Lacy on first base, Leon Addy on third, Buck Rodgers on second and either Bob Fisher or Lefty Hunzucker on the hill.

IN THE FIELD OF SPORTS

By JULIAN STENSTROM

The Sanford Lookouts last night at Deland evened up the first two game series of the season for the local outfit but though our club went down in defeat, a great deal of new baseball tactics were learned which will enable them to catch down in the future.

The game was filled with many bone-head plays made by both teams. Manager Lacy said last night that he had never witnessed or played in a game where there were so many dumb plays but he said he saw many things that Sanford men will never duplicate.

Experts on the inside angles of baseball including many Sanford men who traveled in the vicinity of the game, such as E. J. Perkins, Andy Takach, Roy Parkard, Percy Henry Watson, John McDaniel, Mr. Clair Gamble and J. A. Adams, might have had brain storms from this game.

One dumb one we saw was a play with the bases full, a six run lead by the defensive club, and one out. Manager Lacy grounded to third baseman Rutledge who instead of taking advantage of a beautiful double play setup which would have retired the side, threw to first to nab Lacy and let two men advance and allow a runner to cross the platter.

The Sanford men, following their first defeat, were not down hearted as one might think. On the other hand the boys were whumping it up and hurrying down to fill their bread baskets with some vital.

They seemed to realize their mistakes, mistakes and brain busters but were ready to take on Palatka. They know that they are aiming to make that first business.

When the boys meet George Andrews' Palatka Azaleas to meet for their third battle, an entirely different brand of baseball can be expected.

Foot Infection Keeps Mihalic From Playing

The Sanford Lookout forces last night were hampered by the loss of Pete Mihalic, brother of Johnny Mihalic of the Washington Senators, who has been forced to bed with an ailing foot.

Mihalic, centerfielder and an excellent hitter who bats in the third position, played part of the game Sunday afternoon but was forced to leave in the fifth frame because of a small blister on his left foot which had become infected.

Mihalic may not be able to return to fielding duties for a week. Firearms were first used in European warfare in the 14th century.

Confidence Needed

Jesse Jones who is chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and prides himself upon the soundness of his plans, took the words right out of our mouth when he said over the radio the other night that "The basis of prosperity is confidence."

"So much has been said about fear", Mr. Jones declared, "that we have all become imbued with the idea that something is wrong with the country, when as a matter of fact we have never had a greater abundance of everything needed for a really high standard of living than we have now."

What Mr. Jones said is perfectly true. Confidence is absolutely necessary to the orderly functioning of the capitalistic system. Investors must have confidence that their loans will be repaid, and business men must have confidence that if they manage to make a fair profit it will not be taken away from them by taxation.

And it is also true, as Mr. Jones said, that we have never had a greater abundance of everything needed for a really high standard of living. The banks, particularly, are loaded with money with which to revive business. All that is needed to put this money to work is confidence.

But how is a man who has money to lend going to have confidence when he hears himself repeatedly denounced in high places as a "money-changer", "economic royalist", or downright crook? How is he going to have confidence when he hears laws proposed which would make it practically impossible for anyone to repay his loan?

And how is the man who wants to go into business going to have confidence when he sees laws being enacted which take the management of his business out of his hands and place it under the thumbs of Washington bureaucrats? How is he going to have confidence when jurisdictional strikes are called by rival unions without provocation from management, or when a handful of disgruntled workmen can call a "sitdown strike" and take possession of his property without fear of the law?

Of course confidence is what is needed, just as Mr. Jones said, but how to get it? That is the question.

Spoken Like A Baboon

Senator Byrd is quoted as saying that Congressman Maverick of Texas "looks like a baboon", and the Tampa Tribune suggests that in his recent speech on national defense he certainly talked like one.

"Maverick advocated what he said was the plan of the War Department—which we cannot believe—to immediately abandon all coast cities to the enemy in case of war," the Tribune says. "In other words, just surrender them without resistance or defense, to the mercy of the foe."

"If that plan should be adopted, it would be as well also to surrender all the rest of the country and quit fighting, permitting the enemy to come right on in and help himself. There wouldn't be any war, because there wouldn't be any defense. The foreign power moving against us would simply move in and take possession."

"Of course no such abject submission to invasion would be seriously considered by our government or tolerated by our people. Mr. Maverick must have a peculiarly twisted idea of what this nation is, what it stands for and what it would submit to."

Mr. Maverick has spoken on a number of other subjects in the last few years, particularly in the field of finance and economics, in which he sounded hardly less like a baboon than when discussing national defense.

SANFORD TWENTY YEARS AGO

The Social Department of the Woman's Club with Mrs. W. J. Thigpen as hostess had a very lovely bridge party Tuesday afternoon at the club rooms. Very light refreshments were served. The price, a fancy cake box, was won by Mrs. Galloway. The guests included Mrs. Vance, Mrs. Parramore, Miss Parramore, Mrs. Keeler, Mrs. Watson, Mrs. Puleston, Mrs. Schultz, Mrs. Housholder, Mrs. Morse, Mrs. G. F. Smith, Mrs. Galloway, Mrs. Turner, Mrs. Fite, Mrs. Dumas, Mrs. Huff, Miss Hawkins and Miss Wilkie.

The Society Circus opened in a blaze of glory last evening—no a hitch from start to finish. The Battle of Roses, as the grand finale, was really the most beautiful dance ever seen in Sanford by local talent. It was wonderful to see what Madame Sovell had done in so short a time. The costumes were exquisite and every movement was graceful. The four little girls, Mildred Holly, Margaret Neal, Olive Newman, and Georgia Mobley were adorable. You have to see this dance to appreciate it and it is worth the price of admission alone.

The Every Week Bridge was conducted yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Thomas A. Neal by Mrs. Neal and Mrs. M. Galloway. Those invited were Mrs. Keeler, Mrs. Clean, Mrs. W. Hunt, Mrs. Keeler, Mrs. Parramore, Mrs. Morse, Mrs. Galloway, Mrs. Fite, Mrs. Dumas, Mrs. Huff, Mrs. Schultz, Mrs. Housholder, Mrs. Morse, Mrs. G. F. THE SANFORD FORUM

Editor Sanford Herald: America has four fundamental institutions—the family, the school, the church, and Sunday. These are four pillars of our republic, and the fall of one imperils all. The family feeds the springs of life itself, as a happy childhood, an uncorrupted youth, a strong manhood, and an exalted womanhood. The school supplies the state with knowledge, making her citizens wise. The church points out the paths of eternal righteousness, enabling us to know right from wrong. The Lord's Day is the one day given to all people to point them to higher planes of moral and spiritual life.

No nation has disregarded and broken down God's appointed day except that nation has paid the awful price of its folly in decay and ruin. Can we hope to reverse all history and break down this day without paying the price of all those who have torn it down? DeToqueville said: "Expectation may survive the loss of faith in the individual citizen, but the republic cannot." Daniel Webster said: "The republic will not survive the loss of the American Sunday one century..." As we go back through history the life-giving waters of genius and civilization have never sprung up save in the track of the ministry and as a result of Christianity. If the Lord's Day is so essential to the welfare of a nation (and city); if those who tear it down are enemies of the republic; if in the judgment of the world's leading thinkers it is as necessary to higher manhood, what of the individual or city that is converting it into times of pleasure and selfish gains?

Let us refresh our memories of the history of other nations. France came to the time when she desecrated the Lord's Day. Her churches were empty on Sunday but her theatres, her cafes, dance-halls, wine-gardens, and all pieces of amusement were crowded until late into the night. Her moral state became so degraded that within one year over a hundred thousand new-born infants were taken from the sewer pipes of Paris. From the day when she corrupted Sunday France began to lose her colonies, her commerce, and her navy, until she stood like a tree that had lost every limb and had nothing left but the trunk, and the worm-eaten and decayed. Take a look at Germany. Sunday in Dresden, Munich, Berlin and, in fact, in all her cities and towns, was given over to revelry and amusements. While her churches were deserted her beer-gardens and theatres were crowded. The developed schools of radicalism and infidelity, Christ was replaced by science and the Bible was destroyed by "higher criticism" so-called. After sixty years of teaching that "God is a thought"; that "heaven and hell are conditions of the mind"; that "might makes right"; she set out on her dream of a world made with "ME" and got as rulers of the universe, and, planting her iron heel on the neck of the helpless, she launched forth to conquer the world. But, like all others who disregard God's laws, she came to know that nations, as well as individuals, must reap what they sow, and her harvest was the most humiliating terms of surrender any proud nation was ever called upon to sign.

Mr. Editor, there is little difference in the Sundays of Paris, Berlin, Munich and Dresden and those of Sanford. Our churches are deserted on the Lord's day; one piece of business run on other days; our beer-rooms, restaurants and liquor saloons run till midnight until the early hours of Monday morning; law and other commercial traffic stands at a standstill; and that the only way to get things done is to get on Sunday from other days is by the telephone.

It is not the mere number of churches a nation has, or the number of people who attend church, but it is the number of persons who attend to disregard God's holy day; to despise the church and disgrace the Christian religion. What are we going to do about it? We have laws, say some of our opinionless citizens who desire to shirk responsibility. They are unmindful of the fact that no law is stronger than popular sentiment of the community. "Let our courts and police officers do their duty," others cry. Just as soon as the good people of the city let our splendid officials know we are behind them they will clean up the city. We cannot blame the police officers. The responsibility is ours. As soon as the pulpit thunder forth the word of God against sin until the fear of God is driven into the hearts of the people; just as soon as the church people of our beautiful city stretch their back-bones and stand for righteousness and law enforcement, so soon will our theatres, beer joints, gambling dens, road-houses and all other objectionable places that are now flaunting their contempt of our day of Christian worship for the sake of the dollar come to ply their trades on the six days of the week allowed them, and they will then cease to do business for enrichment on the Lord's Day. We cannot shift the blame to the police officers and judges. The responsibility belongs to the professed Christians of the community.

Editor Sanford Herald: Will you please insert under your Forum the following: Are We Dumb or Just Don't Care—from a man who has lived in Florida since the coming of the automobile, truck and all other gas-motor driven vehicles. Ever since we have had these Gas Vehicles on the market here there has and still is a squabble every time the Legislators meet regarding color, size or something else—if nothing more it comes tag time just when every one is broke—just after Christmas.

Now we have a plan to eliminate all of this tag and tagless business—it is a plan. The more you ride the more you pay. All of us are aware of the fact that under the present setup of so-called Law and the State Vehicle Commission it has and is now a very expensive department and a darn nuisance as it is now. Our plan is just this:—is foolish and has been from the beginning to buy a new tag every year. Do we have to get a new year decal on our home or holding every year? Ask yourself this question: haven't the signs and tags become just as simple and soot of them just about as old as south of our home. Then why not do them the same way? Ask yourself this question also: Just give all of us a number when a new car or truck is purchased. Let that number run for the life of that machine whatever it may be. If it changes hands a dozen times during its life then never change the numbers. Just change to man or party's name.

WEEKLY NEWS COLUMN

By JOE HENDRICKS

ROBERT GRAY MAY LOSE A VOTE: On Saturday, April 2, Congressman J. Hardin Peterson and I wired Robert Gray requesting that he wire us at 12:01 A. M. on April 3, whether any candidate had filed against us for Congress. I stayed up until 1:30 A. M. waiting for a wire and finally went to bed and went to sleep. Early Sunday morning, Mr. Peterson called me and asked if I had any message. I told him I did not read and that he had heard from the Secretary of State. Peterson said, "No, he is going to fool around until I won't vote for him next time, keeping me awake all night. I stayed awake until about 2 o'clock and then after I went to bed, woke up every ten minutes looking for the Western Union boy." So Robert Gray may lose a vote.—This is the first time in Congressman Peterson's political career that he ever ran without opposition. I offer my congratulations!

MAIDEN SPEECH: The British Parliament some centuries back adopted the term "maiden speech" for the first speech which a new member made. The same term has been used as long as I can remember in our national Congress. I remember reading somewhere of how William Jennings Bryan struggled with his "maiden speech." Contrary to the slogan "a bad start makes for a good ending," it is a generally accepted proposition in Congress, that if the new member gets away with a successful "maiden speech" he will have no more difficulty in speaking to the House.

CAN YOU IMAGINE then how nervous the new member is when he is scheduled to make his first real speech before that rather inspiring audience, the Members of Congress. Then if you really want to appreciate my feeling recently when I made my first speech, add to the rest, the fact that I was scheduled to talk on a subject to which many members were bitterly opposed, and toward which many others were hostile. H. R. 4199, better known as the Townsend Plan. You may ask why I did not choose a subject which might have been easier or upon which there was more agreement, for my first speech. My answer is that I was—

FULFILLING A PROMISE: During my first campaign for Congress, to show my gratitude to members of the Townsend Clubs for the hard work they were doing for me, I promised that the first speech I made on the floor of the House would be for the plan. I have kept that promise. I will never have to make a speech in the house under more difficult circumstances.

THE GREATNESS WAS THE SUCCESS of the circumstances. I could have chosen a much more popular subject, but the success of this first speech was emphasized because of the difficult circumstances under which it was delivered, and—

IN ALL HUMILITY, let me say that judging from the reaction of the Members, even the enemies of the plan, it was a success. There was an unusual number of Members present. Within three minutes from the time I opened my remarks, there was perfect order on the floor and no minutes of the galleries. I spoke for 50 minutes and had many friendly questions put to me. I had many congratulations and the Hon. Robert L. Doughton, Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, and who is considered an arch enemy of the bill, came to me and said, "You

BULLETIN TO ALL TOWNSEND CLUBS IN THE STATE OF FLORIDA

Dear Friends: I recently returned from Washington where I made an investment unbeknownst to Senator Pepper or any of his friends, and to his position with respect to the Townsend Plan, and I wish to inform the voters in Florida that it is accepted on Capital Hill that Senator Claude Pepper is an ardent supporter of the Townsend Plan.

We sincerely trust that every Townsendite will support him in the coming election. We have no quarrel with any other candidate's who is favorable to the Townsend Plan, but we believe we should support those who have supported us, and that under no circumstances should we permit our vote to be divided, which might permit a man to be elected in the coming primary who was not favorable to our cause.

Large Sum To Be Spent In Nation For Peace Move

$2,000,000 Is Collected To Persuade Americans Against War

By SIGRID ARNE
WASHINGTON, Apr. 22.—Peace has jumped into the "big business" category. More than $2,000,000 will be spent this year to persuade Americans that the settling of matters in Europe and the Orient should find no echo here. Millions of people have bought common stock in the enterprise.

Peace societies have snapped their programs into business-like patterns. Here's an example: a report from one paid worker for the National Council for the Prevention of War (and the Council has 50 such):

He took a 15-day speaking tour, traveled 4,854 miles, spoke at 25 meetings, and talked to 51,795 people. He even reduced the report to the expense of "per individual reached." It was $3003—three mills.

It's difficult to estimate how many people have signed peace pledges, joined peace groups, paid dues or just given donations. But a recent survey of peace groups shows:

Clearing Houses
There are three huge federations that serve as clearing houses for their affiliates.

1. The National Peace Conference, which is just starting a campaign to back up Secretary of State Hull's trade treaties, has 39 societies under its wing.

2. The Council for Prevention of War unites 19 organizations.

3. The National Committee on the Cause and Cure of War unites 11 women's groups under the direction of that famous crusader, Carrie Chapman Catt.

Some of these groups are organized for the sole purpose of spreading peace talk. Some, like the Association of University Women, simply have peace programs.

Most of them are beginning to show a significant change of technique. They are turning from just talking to direct political action.

Their most tantalizing problem right now is to make the intangible concept of peace dramatic.

Bruce Barton Helps
Bruce Barton, the advertising man who is a new member of Congress, found one answer. "Let's advertise the horrors of war," he said.

So he wrote the page ads that have been appearing this year under the name of "World Peaceways," and Estelle Sternberger of New York undertook to get free space for them. Peaceways now has branches in 10 foreign countries.

"Peace caravans" were another answer. They were organized by the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom. This group has a comparatively small budget, but it drew attention through the efforts of its dramatic leader, the young Dorothy Deizer, whose campaigning seal was whetted in post-war Europe where she worked for the Quakers.

The very practical National Council for the Prevention of War, headed by Frederick Libby, works through ready-made groups such as labor unions, farmers' clubs and student councils. The council's staff includes Jeanette Rankin, the former Congresswoman, whose "No" vote the night Congress put us into the World War was a dramatic climax in the roll call.

Together these peace societies have looked a flood of literature on the country. Just to name a few: Peaceways sends out half a million pieces of literature a year, the League for Peace and Democracy, 400,000; and the Council for Prevention of War 1,300,000.

Angler Catches Bass On String Of Fish

FORT SCOTT, Kas., Apr. 20.—Fishing near here, Joe Harrison reached down from his boat to add the may, No. 16 to the string dangling in the water. When he looked up, the 16 fish were gone. He heard a splashing and the boat and rowed to investigate.

There was no string of fish hanging from the boat. A 16-foot line had been used to make one of them on the string. The line was broken in the boat.

MRS. ANNA MELLERUP—Walnut Creek, Cal. FOR 54 YEARS HAS WORN THE SAME STYLE DRESS, CUT ON THE SAME PATTERN FROM THE SAME CHECKERED MATERIAL! SHE SWITCHED THEM ALL ON THE SAME SEWING MACHINE...

SAME PATTERN FOR 54 YEARS
The checkered dress Mrs. Anna Mellerup of Walnut Creek, California, wears today at 82 is patterned exactly after the one she made back in 1884, when she was still in her twenties.

In spite of the general admission that it is a woman's privilege to change her mind Mrs. Mellerup has stuck faithfully to the same checkered dress pattern. Styles have changed many times since 1884, but the becoming full skirt, tight waist and full sleeves of that first checkered dress have never been changed through the years, even to the slightest alteration.

Whenever she goes to church on Sundays, a special dress is worn by Mrs. Mellerup—but it looks exactly like all the others of her wardrobe. In the illustration above, she is shown as she posed in one of her checkered dresses in her youth.

All sewn on the same machine, her dresses each have been made from five to seven yards of material, the skirts four yards around.

SUCCESSION OF SECESSIONS
From the earliest times, Virginia's eastern and western sections were politically, economically and socially at odds. Western Virginia was democratic, eastern Virginia aristocratic.

Older than the Union itself was the idea of separation of the two sections, but not until the Civil War did opportunity arise for West Virginia to become a separate state.

Up until 1861, a section of the U. S. Constitution precluded such a split by prohibiting any new states from being formed "with or without the consent of the legislatures of the states concerned as well as of the Congress."

However, with the secession movement of 1861, Virginia gave the 48 counties west of the Alleghenies a chance to secede from Virginia itself and form a separate state, called Kanawha.

On June 20, 1863, President Lincoln had cleared the way for the region to be admitted to the Union as a new state—West Virginia—as all parties concerned were then favorable toward the action.

Planes Used On Range For Cattle-Trailing

CODY, Wyo., Apr. 20.—(AP)—It took an airplane 20 minutes to perform a cattle-trailing task that might have taken men on horseback days to accomplish.

Twenty-one head of cattle disappeared in a snowstorm near Hecetas and their trail was covered by drifting snow. Bill Monday, Cody aviator, was summoned. He flew over several canyons and then headed back toward ranch headquarters. Twenty minutes after he started on his trailing job he reported the cattle were in a canon eight miles from the last headquarters.
