Early delivery

The Nov. 26th Thanksgiving day edition of the Sanford Herald will be delivered to home subscribers by no later than 8 a.m. Thursday morning.

The Thanksgiving edition will feature a special Christmas Gift Guide, with articles and suggestions for reading and shopping pleasure.

Student caught with stun gun

LONGWOOD — A Lyman High School student will be joining the ranks of others who have been caught with guns on campus in Seminole County schools.

According to Wolfgang Halbig, an assistant principal at the school, the student had brought a stun gun to school last week. A teacher discovered the gun in the student's jacket after other students reported to the teacher that he had the gun.

Halbig said that this is the first incident this year involving a Lyman High student with a gun, but the young man will be the ninth student brought before the school board for expulsion on weapons charges this year.

The student has been suspended, but school officials said that he and his mother plan to fight the expulsion. According to Halbig, the student has said that the stun gun was not his.

Four day weekend for many

SANFORD — For many employees, Thanksgiving weekend is one of the few times of the year when four-day holidays can be held. Most commercial businesses however, will close only for the one day.

A partial listing of operations is as follows:

●Government: All Seminole County operations will close for both Thursday and Friday. City government operations will also cease for both days, resuming operations on Monday.

●Schools: Public schools will be closed for both days. Seminole Community College will suspend all operations in the day and night schedules for both days.

●Businesses: All financial institutions in the area will also close tomorrow for the holiday, but operate during normal business hours on Friday. Many commercial businesses will be closed, but some will be operating. Phone calls are recommended to determine specific information.

●Attractions: The Central Florida Zoo will be closed Thursday. Thanksgiving and Christmas are the only two days of the year when the zoo completely shuts down. It will be open during the usual hours on Friday. The RiverShip Grand Romance will be taking four separate cruises Thursday, with most of the space completely sold out. Friday's operations will be as normally scheduled. Fun World, on Highway 17-92, will be closed Thursday, but operate as usual, along with Flea World, on Friday.

●Recreation: The Sanford City Recreation program will suspend all operations for the remainder of the week. The Seminole branch of the YMCA on Longwood Lake Mary Road, will close for Thanksgiving as well as Friday.

●Postal service: Postal services will stop Thursday, but operate as usual on Friday.

'Water everywhere'

Almost a foot of floodwater closes some area streets

By VICKI DeSORMIER
Herald Staff Writer

What were once streets are now streams, boulevards are now rivers in the wake of a late night thunderstorm.

The dark clouds that had brought so much rain to the area last night and into the early morning had parted leaving sun shimmering over the flooded area.

According to the University of Florida Agricultural Research and Education Center in Sanford, there were 10.17 inches of rain in Sanford overnight.

While traffic had to be diverted from some locations, in most places the high water was not a hindrance to travel. Still, the rains caused some traffic confusion as streets were flooded in some areas, but not in others.

"It's terrible," said Lt. Steve Cruz, of the Sanford Fire Department. "There is water everywhere."

Law enforcement agencies across the county reported flooding of streets and parking lots and several complaints of damage to homes and automobiles, but said there were no reports of flood-related injuries.

Sanford Police officials said that no streets had to be closed, but barricades were placed at several locations where a lane of traffic was deemed impassable.

They reported that while many streets were filled with water, there were no water-related traffic delays.

Teen's wild ride ends with crash

By J. MARK BARFIELD

MIDWAY — Sherri Williams was relaxing in the bedroom of her home at about 9:30 Monday night, when she heard the explosion in the living room of her family's home at 2401 E. 20th St.

"I thought the television had blown up or something," said Williams.

Sherri said she ran to the kitchen to check on her son Stermon Williams Jr. There she found the 16-year-old boy speechless.

"I ran to see if he was alright," said Sherri. "He just pointed. He couldn't say a thing."

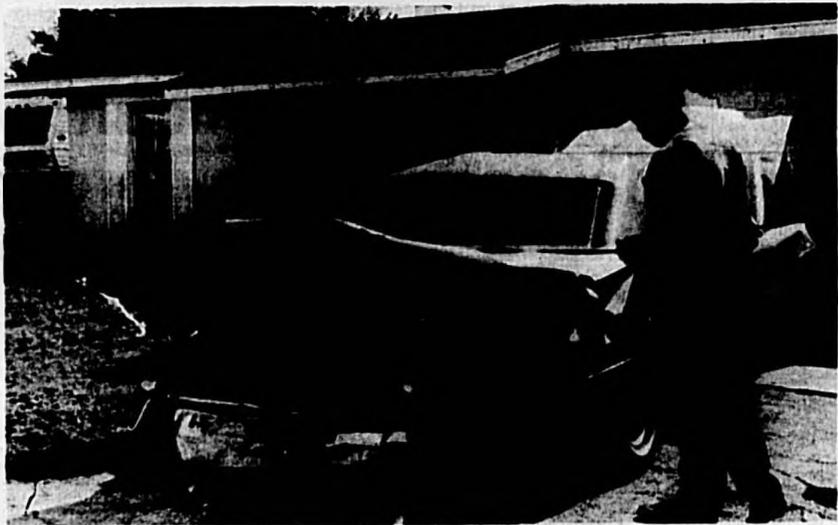

What Sherri Williams and her son saw in the living room resembled photographs following the ravages of Hurricane Andrew. The front window was smashed and a huge air conditioning unit had been hurled into the room, smashing a $1,500 television, two video tape recorders and a $3,000 stereo system. Glass tables and chairs remained scattered about the room Tuesday morning.

All at the hand of what sheriff's investigators say was a 15-year-old Sanford boy who lost control of a car.

"A 15-year-old boy did all this," said Sherri.

"They'll just slap him on the wrist and send him home to his parents," said Stermon Williams, who arrived home a few minutes later.

Sharing works for volunteers

By VICKI DeSORMIER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The whole idea behind the SHARE program is to reward those who volunteer their time to help others with packages of low cost food.

For each two hours of documented volunteer service, a person can purchase a package of about $30 worth of food, including meats, vegetables, breads and desserts, for $13.50 cash.

"These people give their time and talents to helping other people so this is a way of giving them a little something in return," Jean Metts, who coordinates the Seminole County distribution, said.

Metts said, however, that there would be no SHARE distributions were it not for the volunteer hours put in by a group of trustees from the John E. Polk Correctional Facility.

"These men are up early to be here at 6:30 a.m. to go to Orlando, load up the trucks and unload the items as we need them," Metts said. "And all we can do for them is to buy them a hamburger and some french fries."

Metts said that the trustees do not have to do community service work. It is their choice. One young man who had been a trusty returned to volunteer his services this month after he had been released.

Magnolia Mall name change

The Sanford Historical Downtown Waterfront Association, SHDWA, is requesting a name change for the Magnolia Mall. The change to Magnolia Square has merit, and is worth adopting.

The bricked area, located at the intersection of Magnolia Ave. and E. First Street, is used for a number of special events, as well as the weekly Market on the Mall.

It was closed and bricked during one of Sanford's first street-scaping projects in the early 1980's. It resulted in the planting of trees and shrubbery and installation of several benches that turned the area into a comfortable and friendly-looking attraction in the heart of downtown Sanford.

SHDWA has proposed the name change in consideration of the upcoming Seminole Towne Center Mall in the western section of the city.

During a recent SHDWA meeting, spokesperson Kay Bartholomew suggested, "What we have is not a mall, like the Towne Center, and we shouldn't try to make it look like something it isn't."

The members of the business organization voted unanimously to recommend the name change.

Neither Sanford's City Manager Bill Simmons nor City Planner Jay Mader know how the mall was originally named. Simmons observed, "Probably when the project was being done, someone suggested it be called the Magnolia Mall, and we just went ahead from that point."

"I'm in favor of it," Simmons said, "and we need a new sign there anyway."

The Sanford City Commission received information regarding the proposed name change at its meeting Monday night. It did not require any commission action, and drew no opposition. SHDWA will now bring it before the Sanford Historic Preservation Board at its December meeting.

Business suggested the request be taken before the board for approval, in order to have it officially named.

Most other cities have similar areas of beauty they refer to as squares. Sanford would do well in having this as its downtown square. When a visitor's pamphlet is given out in the future, we suggest it boast of the square, and not confuse it with a mall.

We urge the name change be adopted.

Positive role model

Our society is constantly looking for role models. Parents yearn for positive influences to come into the lives of their children — to help steer the young ones in a direction for happy and productive lives.

We are now convinced that positive role models are important, and we spend a lot of time, energy and money to recruit the models — a famous baseball or football player, or to set up a "mentor" program for kids at risk to get to know a "successful" person who happens to care about them.

In fact, we don't have to look very far to find our heroes — because they are all around us. It may be a teacher in school, or a fellow worker at the office or a neighbor who cares. It may be, best we overlook, our parents and grandparents, whose love and devotion have provided for our well being — if we would only realize it.

My hero is my 103-year-old grandmother whose mind defied the aging process and was clear and remembering of vivid detail. She lived independently until she was well past 89 years. And gradually her physical body began to give out until at almost 104 years old, it was time for her to go home.

"Mamma," as her grandchildren and great-grandchildren knew her, was clearly the matriarch of our family although she would never claim to be. Her long life of principle and love spoke volumes so that all who knew her deferred to her example of goodness.

Talk about a hero!

In a conversation which I recorded last January, I asked for her advice for grandchildren and their future generation. "Son," she said firmly, "be good and kind to every person and don't think of yourself as better than others."

It is not surprising then that the country New Orange Hill Baptist Church was overflowing with friends and family who came from across the land to pay quiet tribute to her. They just wanted to be there as a respectful gesture to a great lady. There was less sadness than joy — joy that we had been privileged to have known someone who was kind and good and humble. Mamma had no self-serving agenda. Mamma lived for and was ... love.

Yes, she is my role model, my hero and always will be.

Bill Clinton does it differently

So far, so good. Bill Clinton, the different Democrat, is doing the transition differently. Only if he does it differently can he make a difference. (And, oh yes, increase the likelihood of his re-election.)

The standard Washington view of transition time is: "personnel is policy." If a Republican president appoints a conservative Cabinet secretary and allows that official to choose his or her own deputies, then you get — no surprise — conservative policy. In the Democratic case, substitute "liberal" for "conservative."

But suppose a new president — like Bill Clinton — is a "muscular moderate" with a set of ideas that are quite fresh to his party. (Recall that Clinton has used "brain dead" to describe the traditional liberal Democratic Party.) Suppose, accordingly, that there are not many credentialed Democrats around who feel for, or even understand, Clinton's New Covenant ideas.

With few committed Clintonesque warriors to appoint, how can Clinton establish his different-Democrat policy?

Change the transition rules. Make policy while personnel-picking is going on. Instead of afterward. Then choose high- and middle-level appointees from a full-spectrum personnel pool — but let them all know just what policy it is that they are supposed to sell.

This seems to be happening, either organically, or by design, or both. While Washington is waiting eagerly for the first appointments, Clinton-directed policy teams are busy shaping the central thrust of the new administration.

For a clue as to what those policies will be, note that Clinton is telling insiders to read advance chapters of "Mandate for Change," the agenda-setting book from the Progressive Policy Institute. (To be published in early December by Berkeley Books, edited by Will Marshall and Martin Schram.)

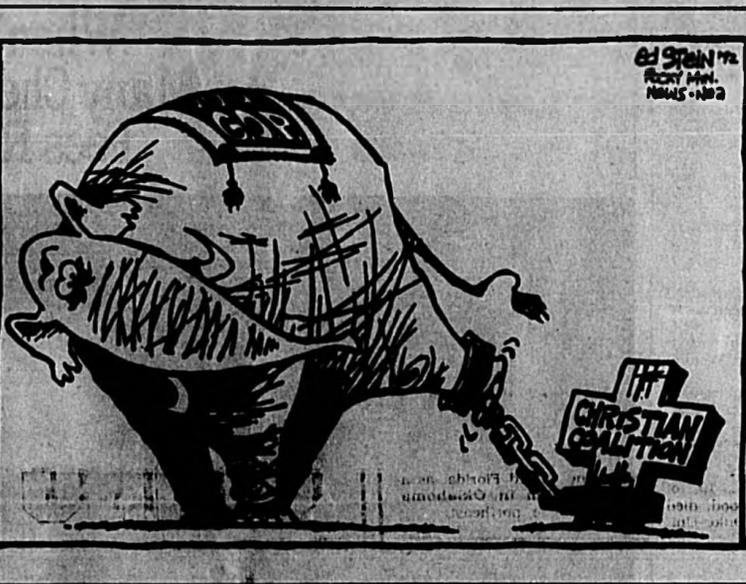

So far, so good. Bill Clinton, the different Democrat, is doing the transition differently.

PPI is the think tank linked to the Democratic Leadership Council, of which Clinton was chairman. It is the DLC that since 1985 has labored to develop the "Third Way" policies (neither liberal nor conservative) to bring the Democratic Party back to its senses. Not coincidentally the key domestic policy slot on the Clinton transition team is occupied by Al From, the DLC president, now on leave.

Appearing on "Face the Nation," From said that the Clinton policy-designing now underway is one of "fundamental change" seeking to "rebuild the civic ethic." That is a tall order, but the DLC/PPI people have done their homework and have shaped a broad and coherent set of ideas (with Clinton's help). As we learned with Ronald Reagan, "ideas have consequences." And as we learned with George Bush, so does the lack of ideas.

(Chapter 14 of "Mandate," written by Elaine Kamarck and William Galston, is entitled "The Transition: Reasserting Presidential Leadership." Their emphasis is on "asserting.")

Here's how I think (hope) it will play out: As everyone says, "the economy will be first." It will get the headlines. But options are limited.

Street kids: little to be thankful for WASHINGTON — At the risk of being the worm in the Thanksgiving pie, we would like to remind Americans who are stuffing themselves on turkey and trimmings that there are millions of unfortunates who have little to be thankful for this holiday. Some live far from our shores, others under our noses.

They are the millions of street children roaming the world. Like a lost tribe of the human race, they subsist by prostituting, begging, stealing and scavenging for food.

When their hunger pangs become too unbearable, street children turn to drugs. Sniffing glue is often relied upon to make the hunger seem to disappear.

Street children are at once ubiquitous and invisible. Some 100 million children live and work on the street in the developing world. They live in the shadows of society, and show up huddling on the streets of Rio de Janeiro, the garbage dumpsites in Manila, the clinics in Romania — and under the bridges in America. The majority are young boys, but the numbers of young girls on the street are also swelling.

About 75 percent of these children work during the day and go "home" at night. The remaining 25 percent live solely on the street. Their most common age range is between 8 and 16, although children as young as age 4 have been found selling and begging on street corners. Not surprisingly, they suffer disproportionately from malnutrition, inadequate health care and poor education.

World-wide human rights experts told our associate Melinda Mass about these children who are victimized by neglect. These experts also described more nefarious conduct condoned, if not directed, by foreign governments.

In countries including Guatemala and Brazil, a form of child genocide is practiced against youths who clog the streets. Numerous incidents have been documented by Amnesty International of how children are kidnapped, beaten, and bused with cigarettes by civilian and military police. In other cases, they have had their ears torn off, their tongues ripped off, their eyes gouged out before finally being shot to death by vigilante groups.

Covenant House, an American organization dedicated to helping street children, estimates that between 40 and 50 street children were killed by police between January and September 1990 in Guatemala. Covenant House has filed lawsuits against 25 policemen in connection with the killings.

The United States cannot exactly claim the moral high ground in raising the banner of human rights for children. Homeless children haunt the streets of America, too. Though estimates vary, child advocacy groups estimate the number of runaway, throw-away and homeless youths at just over 1 million in the United States.

"We have Third-World conditions right here in the United States," says Patricia Johnson, counsel for the House Select Committee on Hunger, who has been investigating the plight of street children worldwide. "The only difference is we don't kill them here."

"We have more homeless children on the streets today than we have ever had before," according to Tim Harvey, associate director of the National Network of Runaway and Youth Services. Harvey points to the lack of affordable and safe housing, which has driven many children to seek shelter on the streets. Others are actually encouraged by their families. It's a sad commentary when the odds for a better life, at least in the eyes of some parents, favor children who take their chances on the streets.

Sniffing glue is often relied upon to make the hunger seem to disappear.

ELLEN GOODMAN

Appetite for togetherness

BOSTON — My aunt and I are making stuffing and convening with our ancestors. It's a ritual we have performed each year since I inherited Thanksgiving from her. Or to be precise, since the family dinner moved one doorway and one generation down the street.

In truth, my aunt, who is eight inches shorter and 21 years older, still regards me as something of an apprentice in the Thanksgiving business, not entirely ready to strike out on my own. A bit too inexperienced to be entrusted with the awesome responsibilities of tradition.

Left to my own devices, who knows what would happen? Chestnuts could creep into the family stuffing. Sugar could disappear. This would not do.

After all, the ancestors with whom we are convening were not Pilgrims nor were they proscribed. My entire inheritance is a soup pot, a roasting pan, memories and of course, recipes. The one that we follow this morning has been passed down as if it were carved on a family tabernacle: Thou shalt stuff thy turkey with onions, chicken fat, eggs, stale bread.

But neither my aunt nor my ancestors need worry that I will break faith with their past. I shall not mix bread with olive oil, replace turkey with some other fish or fowl.

Indeed, I have become over the years a culinary conservative. Is that a term the political consultants have missed? Social liberal, culinary conservative? Do they have a seal in the focus group for the everyday change advocate who is a holiday traditionalist?

I am hardly the only such hybrid creature. Any number of us Modernists, even Post-Modernists become positively Victorian in this season.

More than a few women who normally live at the pace of a microwave turn back to the days of a slow simmer. Many who have made their lives on the cutting edge of change are temporarily transformed into some composite Martha: Washington and Stewart.

It may be that the more our family lives change, the more we cling to these rituals, some skeleton of continuity. The more our family functions change the more we may ask of their form.

Were my great-grandmother to join my table she would not find much familiar except the fare. The families of her generation were more permanent structures, put together for better or worse — but for life — by birth and marriage.

But my generation's guest lists may change more than our menu. They are rewritten also by divorce, remarriage, relationships that change as often as our ZIP codes.

Family life also once had an economic and social purpose, a religious imperative. Families were larger and their members more likely to live together. Two generations ago, when my grandmother was young, families were thought of as economic units, institutions operating like, and on, farms or businesses.

Today the sustenance we expect from family life is essentially emotional. Our families, like our marriages, are usually kept together now by affection, and choice. What we want from family life is something sorely lacking from the world: a sense of belonging.

But this strictly emotional tie seems like a more fragile bond than the one that held our elders together. And so we try to wrap it in traditions to give it strength.

If we have fewer family dinners, why then, we will have more elaborate family feasts. If daily unions are more difficult to sustain, why then, we will celebrate annual reunions.

Our holidays have become the occasional equivalent of quality time. Our families have become special occasions. We cannot take them for granted.

So we become holiday traditionalists to connect with each other over family time and tales. We sustain tradition as a way of recreating for each other our sense of belonging to each other.

As for me, a certified culinary conservative, I stand here dutifully mixing eggs and bread and onions and chicken fat — a cardiologist's nightmare, a Mylanta special — happily following my aunt's instructions and my grandmother's recipe. But at the same time, I recognize that it is really our appetite for togetherness that we will bring to this Thanksgiving table.

Indeed, I have become over the years a culinary conservative.

Metts' son Lt. Mark Metts and officer Ken Gordon of the Seminole County Sheriff's Department also volunteer their time to pick up the trucks, accompany them to the SHARE Central headquarters in Orlando and supervise them at the distribution point at the Zayre's Plaza on U.S. Highway 17-92 and Airport Boulevard in Sanford.

They coordinated with Ted Williams, another volunteer, who made sure that the trucks were given all the packages they were supposed to get and that things ran smoothly.

In a Seminole County semi-truck, which was procured by Commissioner Larry Furlong, the trustees loaded 436 packages of food in November for the Sanford program.

Metts said that that number, up from 171 at the October distribution, made Seminole's the fastest growing program in the state.

Trustees James Young, Anthony McCloud, Joe Curry, Mike

Long and Mike McPherson made the whole program run smoothly this past Saturday, Metts said, despite some problems with malfunctioning loading equipment at the central headquarters.

"We were behind schedule, but they worked fast and they worked well so that we were able to get all those people served in two hours and 15 minutes," Metts said.

While the trustees worked behind the scenes, Cheryl Jackson and Mary Wright, who are doing community service work as part of a court settlement, carried heavy boxes to cars for those who could not.

"They kept us going," Metts said.

The sign up date for the December distribution will be on Dec. 5 from 10 a.m. until noon. The distribution will be on Dec. 19 from 11 a.m. until 1 p.m.

Geraldine Wright, principal at Goldsboro Elementary School, said the school is making the best of a bad situation and having some fun.

"I think we'll change the name to Lake Goldsboro Elementary," Wright said.

Wright said that while the school parking lot was under water, classes would not be affected. They were a little late in getting started, however.

According to Wright, students had to be dropped off at the 16th Street entrance rather than at the front of the school on 20th Street. Those who walk to school were stopped from crossing the parking lot and the buses were sent back around to 20th Street to shuttle them to the other entrance.

The Seminole County Sheriff's Office reported that streets in eastern Sanford, Geneva and parts of Lake Mary were under water.

Several locations in the Midway area are under water and impassable, a sheriff's department spokesman said.

They reported a 10 foot washout on Cameron Street north of State Road 46. Celery Avenue was closed, department officials said.

"It's just one street after another out there that is flooded," the spokesman said.

In Lake Mary, Lake Mary Boulevard between Lake Emma Road and Rinehart Road was closed to all traffic in the east bound direction for about seven hours this morning until about 8 o'clock.

Greenway Boulevard was also closed for a short while, but that did not present any problems for students attending Lake Mary High or Greenwood Lakes Middle School, which are in that area.

The rain is not over, however. According to the National Weather Service forecast tomorrow will be mostly cloudy with a chance of rain in the afternoon.

According to the National Weather Service, more stormy weather for northwest Florida is forecasted, as near record warm temperatures hold over most of the peninsula.

Cooler, drier air is slowly advancing toward Florida, as a storm system in Oklahoma moves to the northeast.

to discover the damage.

Investigators wrote the boy lost control of his car and smashed into the Williams' carefully restored 1970 Cadillac. The youth said he tried to turn onto Mellonville, he could not because the vehicle behind was pushing him.

The youth then reported the car struck his car again as he turned onto Brisson Avenue. The two cars sped south on Brisson Avenue but as they approached the corner of 20th Street where the Williams' home was, the youth reported the car behind slammed into his car again and he lost control of the vehicle.

According to sheriff's reports, the boy said he had just scene by paramedics and his mother took him to Central Florida Regional Hospital.

The youth's mother, whose name is being withheld to protect the identity of her juvenile child, said the boy suffered a broken nose in the accident. The woman said her son did not have permission to drive her car. She said the boy did not have a learner's permit before refusing to answer other questions.

Sheriff's spokesman George Prochel said investigators have not begun to look into the incident yet. But Prochel said deputies did not find damage to the rear end of the youth's vehicle which would have supported his statement he was rammed from behind.

Tribe kickers romp

ORLANDO — Senior Dawn Burk scored four goals and assisted on three others Tuesday as the Seminole High School varsity girls' soccer team opened its season with a 7-0 rout of the Evans Trojans at Pine Hill Christian School.

Sabrina Reilly netted two goals for the Tribe while Hillary Grinnell scored once.

Burk opened the scoring with a goal four minutes into the game. Five minutes later, she set up Reilly's first goal. Burk scored on a breakaway in the 15th minute, then assisted on Reilly's second goal five minutes later. Burk made it 5-0 two minutes before halftime.

In the second half, Burk scored in the 55th minute and set up Grinnell's goal in the 75th minute.

Seminole outshot Evans 35-0 and took four corner kicks. Tribe goalkeepers Christy Oliver and Michelle Johnson each played an uneventful half in net to share in the shutout.

Seminole (1-0) plays at Daytona Beach-Seabreeze this afternoon. The Tribe junior varsity team is to play at 4 p.m. with the varsity contest scheduled to kick off at 5:45 p.m.

Orangewood boys stumble

MAITLAND — The Orangewood Christian boys basketball team got off to a fast start but were unable to hold off a much taller Deltona Trinity Christian five and suffered a 67-64 loss in its season opener at home Tuesday night.

The Rams jumped out to a 24-16 lead after the first period but Trinity Christian caught up in the second quarter and the two teams traded the lead for most of the rest of the game.

The visitors hit a hot streak early in the fourth quarter and opened an advantage that Orangewood could not quite overcome.

Matt Kolodzik led Trinity Christian with 25 points, while Brian Soukup and Dajuan Harris added 15 points each. Sanford's 6-foot-6 Mike Ponzillo also plays for Trinity Christian.

Super senior Daniel Parke led the Rams with 35 points, including six, three-pointers. John Ryan also was in double figures with 16 points.

Orangewood did well considering a week ago eight of its players were still playing soccer and only Parke and Ryan played last year.

The Rams will host an Alumni game Friday night starting at 7:30 p.m.

AROUND THE NATION

Pacers whip Heat

INDIANAPOLIS — Reggie Miller scored 20 points and Detlef Schrempf added 13 of his 19 during a key run in the second quarter to power the Indiana Pacers' 114-82 rout of the Miami Heat on Tuesday night.

Sam Mitchell added 16 points for Indiana. Rik Smits, the Pacers' center, matched his career highs of 16 rebounds and five assists and did not play in the fourth quarter.

Miami coach Kevin Loughery made two changes in his lineup, giving Kevin Edwards and Grant Long their first starts of the season. Edwards topped Miami with 16 points, and Long had 13, but the other starters struggled.

Rookie Harold Miner came off the bench to score 15, all after the outcome was settled.

The Heat shot 36 percent, compared to Indiana's 49 percent.

AROUND THE WORLD

Lightning end skid

TORONTO — Steve Maltais' second goal of the game with 6:52 left gave Tampa Bay a 3-2 victory over the Toronto Maple Leafs on Tuesday night, ending the Lightning's five-game losing streak.

Maltais, playing only his third game this season, opened the scoring at 5:37 of the first period on a backhand after he cut across the crease. Mike Krushelnyski tied it at 13:12, taking a perfect flip pass from Glenn Anderson and sneaking the puck past a sliding Pat Jablonski.

Ex-Leaf Brian Bradley gave Tampa Bay a 2-1 lead at 15:21 of the second period, running his goal-scoring streak to eight games and his point-scoring streak to 13.

Seminole, Lyman girls register wins

By TONY DeBORNIER
Herald Sports Editor

SANFORD — Scoring the first eight points and 17 of the first 21 Tuesday night, the Seminole Fighting Seminoles sailed to a 53-37 high school girls' basketball victory over the visiting Jones Tigues.

It was Seminole's fourth win of the season without a loss.

Seminole also won the junior varsity contest, 34-30.

The only drama in the varsity contest was when Seminole's Nikl Washington (22 points, 17 rebounds, five blocked shots) left the game with a leg injury. It turned out to be just a cramp, but Jones went on an eight-point run in her absence to make the final margin respectable.

"We looked a little sloppy there for a while," said Seminole coach John McNamara. "We looked real good in spots and at other times, it looked like the first day of practice."

"It seems like the girls had a little letdown after the tournament. I don't know how the girls could let down against Jones."

The Tribe did go collectively brain dead at one point, when confusion while making substitutions resulted in six players being on the floor and Seminole getting slapped with a technical foul.

After the first quarter, it seemed like the Seminoles went into auto pilot, relying on Washington and Tennesha Eason (15 points, nine rebounds, four assists) to dictate the action.

In the second quarter, for example, Washington scored seven points as the Tribe struggled to outscore Jones 9-4 during the eight-minute period.

After Washington and Eason, the next highest scorer for the Tribe was senior Kaykay Mullions, who collected eight points in the second half. Mindee Hampton added six points while Cindy Boone added a field goal.

Tammy Shaw scored 11 points and Ebony Brown added nine for the Tigers.

Seminole (4-0) is off until next Tuesday, when the Tribe will travel to Port Orange to face the Spruce Creek Hawks. The junior varsity game is scheduled to tip off at 5:15 p.m. with the varsity game set for a 7 p.m. start.

LYMAN 44, DELTONA 18

DELTONA — Felicia Kiep scored 15 points and pulled in 12 rebounds to lead the Lyman Greyhounds to a 44-18 season-opening romp over the host Deltona Wolves in high school girls' basketball action Tuesday night.

Deltona won the junior varsity game, 48-40.

Lattisha Smith added 11 points and nine rebounds as the Greyhounds jumped out to a 13-6 lead after one quarter and were never challenged. The advantage reached 21-10 by halftime and 36-14 going into the

"Our kids did hustle back on defense and we controlled the boards," said Lyman coach Steve Carmichael. "We also shot the ball a little better tonight than we have been."

Lyman (1-0) will play again tonight in the Rotary Tournament at University High, facing Cypress Creek at 8:30 p.m. The Greyhounds will come back on Friday night and play either the winner or the loser of tonight's University-West Orange contest.

Raider men tumble again

SANFORD — The frustration continues.

Despite playing well for most of the game the Seminole Community College men's basketball team saw its losing streak reach five games as Pasco-Hernando Community College used a tremendous second half shooting percentage to down the Raiders 94-79 in the nightcap of a men's-women's doubleheader at the Health and Physical Education Center.

The loss dropped SCC to 3-5 on the season, while the Conquistadors got back to .500 at 3-3. The Raiders will look to break the victory drought this Saturday as they conclude a four-game homestand when the Rockets of Patrick Air Force Base come calling at the Health and Physical Education Center starting at 7:30 p.m.

SCC had one of its best shooting halves of the season in the opening 20 minutes, but still trailed 36-34 at intermission as 18 Raider turnovers led to several easy baskets for Pasco-Hernando. The Raiders outshot the Conquistadors 50-percent to 36.8 percent, but the turnovers gave the visitors an extra 14 shots from the floor.

The second half was a different story, however, as everything that Pasco-Hernando shot seemed to go in the basket. In fact, they almost did as the Conquistadors made 24 of 33 attempts, a remarkable 72.7 percent. SCC made a respectable 41.2 percent of its

Big second half dooms SCC women

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — The Seminole Community College women's basketball team's woes continued Tuesday night as the visiting Brevard Community College Titans broke open a close game in the second half to hand the Raiders an 82-63 setback in the opening game of a women's-men's doubleheader at the Health and Physical Education Center.

SCC held the lead early in the contest and the game was still tied at 25-25 with 7:00 to go in the opening half when Brevard went on a 12-0 run over a 2:10 span and took a 45-35 lead into the locker-room at intermission.

The Raiders came out of the break smoking and cut the lead to 50-46 with 13:30 remaining in the game. But with the score 54-48 with 11:58 to go, the Titans went on a 10-0 scoring binge to take a 64-48 with 9:20 showing on the clock to put the game out of reach.

Cook of the Week

She sings all the way from kitchen to hunting lodge

By ED KORGAN
Herald Correspondent

HEATHROW — She loves to cook but her singing and hunting trips are also becoming a big part of retirement.

Bettye Mayton of Heathrow moved to the Sanford area about two years ago. She and her husband were born in Miami where they both graduated from Miami High School. Prior to moving to this area they lived in Delray Beach. Walter is semi-retired from the business they own and now spends most of his time playing golf and hunting.

"I love Heathrow," Bettye claims, "absolutely love it. We wanted this zero degree lot line because we came from a home where we had to take care of a big lawn. Heathrow takes care of everything for us. It is really great. When Walter goes hunting or golfing he can rest assured that I am relatively safe. We even have a small backyard for our pet poodle Puff. She is our child."

Besides being a member of the Heathrow Women's Club, Bettye has many hobbies that keep her busy. Cooking, traveling with her husband to their hunting lodge in Georgia and participating in the activities of the Sweet Adelines chorus "Sound of Sunshine."

Recently, her chorus appeared in international competition in Baltimore and did very well. She exclaimed, "I became a member quite accidentally. I just met a girl at a wedding reception of a mutual friend in Gainesville. She was transferring from Montgomery and she said 'have you ever heard of Sweet Adelines.' I said 'everybody's heard of them sometime or another.' She talked me into going with her that night. I went three times, auditioned and now I am one. It's exciting, the members of the chorus are great and we all have a wonderful time. We have a number of engagements during the Christmas holidays that will be a lot of fun."

She added, "Next week we are going to our lodge for five days. You are never too old for anything. Last year my husband bought me a four-wheel ATV for my birthday. It is just wonderful to get out and drive it through all the fields and back roads. I feel so free when I am driving it around. The cutest thing to see is Puff riding up in the front-end of that ATV looking just like a queen." She continued, "I will probably go shopping in one of the small towns for antiques for Christmas presents while Walter is hunting."

During the stay at the lodge, Bettye will be doing quite a bit of cooking. She will be using her recipes to cook the game that is caught and maybe experiment on a few other ideas. She claimed she might even find the right onions for a recipe listed below.

Pause for a moment to count blessings

DEAR READERS: Tomorrow is Thanksgiving. So let us pause for a moment today and make a mental note of all those blessings for which we can be thankful.

How is your health? You have a few minor complaints? Well, thank God they're not major. If you're reading this, you're still here. You can probably think of at least one person who isn't around this year. (I know I can.)

If you awakened this morning and were able to hear the birds sing, use your vocal cords to utter human sounds, read the newspaper with two good eyes (or even one) — praise the Lord! A lot of people couldn't. (Say a prayer for those who have perished — from natural causes, fire, flood, earthquake or war.)

How's your pocketbook? thin? You're not alone. But many people in much of the world are a lot poorer and have far less hope than we have in America.

Are you lonely? Well, the way to have a friend is to reach out to someone and try to be a friend. If nobody calls you, call someone. Go out of your way today to do something nice for another person. It's a sure cure for the blues.

Are you concerned about your country's future? Hooray! Our system has been saved by such concern — concern for fair treatment under the law. Our country may not be a rose garden, but is far from a patch of weeds.

Freedom rings! Look and listen. You can worship in the church of your choice (or not worship at all if that's your choice), cast a secret ballot, and even criticize our government without fear of retribution. And for the first time, we are living in a unipolar world free from the threat of impending nuclear disaster.

As a final thought, I'll repeat my Thanksgiving prayer. Perhaps you will want to use it at your table tomorrow — let one of your children read it:

ADVICE

"O, heavenly father, we thank thee for food and remember the hungry.

"We thank thee for health and remember the sick.

"We thank thee for friends and remember the friendless.

"We thank thee for freedom and remember the enslaved.

"May these remembrances stir us to service.

"That thy gifts to us may be used for others. Amen."

May the spirit of Thanksgiving be shared by one and all! Have a wonderful Thanksgiving, and may God bless you and yours.

Love, Abby

P.S. Why not invite a friend who lives alone to share a Thanksgiving meal, or better yet, call and say, "I'm coming to get you, and I'll see that you get home." Try it, and let me know how your day was.

DEAR ABBY: When I read the letter signed "Guilty Conscience," I felt a mixture of relief and anxiety. Relief to know there are others like me who steal things they can afford to buy, and anxiety because I feel guilty. I am happily married to a fine, hard-working husband, have two wonderful children and a beautiful home. Yet, I shoplift. (always items under $10.)

Thank you, Abby, for giving me a chance to get this off my chest. I never knew there was a "cure" for this habit.

"ME" IN A SMALL TOWN

Thanksgiving dinner calls for special foods on menu

Special occasions call for special foods and nothing is more important than the Thanksgiving dinner in most of our homes.

Traditionally, corn is served as it was at the first Thanksgiving celebration. This casserole is not difficult and will serve many. The microwave will cook many of the foods while your conventional oven is occupied by a turkey or ham.

SHOE PEG CORN CASSEROLE:
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1 1/2 cups butter flavored crackers, crushed
1 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1/4 cup shredded cheddar cheese

1 can (15 1/4 oz.) shoe peg corn, drained or 2 cups frozen which has been cooked 8 minutes
1 can (15 1/2 oz.) french style green beans, drained
1 can (10 3/4 oz.) condensed cream of celery soup
1 cup sour cream
1/2 tsp. pepper

Microwave on 100 percent power butter in 2 cup glass measure 45-60 seconds or until melted. Mix in crushed crackers until coated; set aside. Combine remaining ingredients in 3 quart casserole. Cover with lid. Microwave on 100 percent power 4-6 minutes; stir. Sprinkle with cracker crumb mixture. Cover. Microwave on 100 percent power 9-10 minutes or until mixture is hot. Let stand a few minutes before serving.

Peaches and pecans add special favor and texture to this fluffy sweet potato casserole.

SWEET POTATO CASSEROLE:
1/4 cup butter or margarine
6 med. sweet potatoes, cooked, peeled and cut into chunks or 2 cans vacuum-packed sweet potatoes

1 can (16 oz.) sliced peaches, drained and chopped
2 Tbsp. brown sugar
2 eggs
1 Tbsp. grated orange peel
1/2 tsp. salt
1/4 cup chopped pecans

Microwave on 100 percent power butter in large glass mixing bowl 20-30 seconds or until melted. Add sweet potatoes, peaches, brown sugar, eggs, orange peel and salt; beat until fluffy. Turn into one-half quart micro-safe casserole. Spread evenly.

Microwave on 100 percent power, uncovered, 10-12 minutes or until heated through, stirring once or twice during first half of cooking time. Top with chopped pecans.

Carrots are enhanced with a delicate apricot glaze.
APRICOT-GLAZED CARROTS:
2 lbs. carrots, sliced diagonally
1/4 inch thick
1/4 cup water
3 Tbsp. butter or margarine
1/2 cup apricot preserves
1/4 tsp. salt

 meatloaf recipe because everybody asks for this recipe. It is a very simple recipe that I got when I first got married." She continued, "The piquant sauce is what you put all over the top and makes the meatloaf so good. Everytime I cook this meal my husband makes me the double that part of the recipe."

"The onion pie is when we lived in North Carolina and got a lot of Vidalia onions. It's a wonderful pie or side dish. It is so-o-o good because it is eggs, milk and onions, then you take Ripz crackers and smash them up with butter and line the pie plate, pour that in and bake it."

"Add your favorite potatoes and vegetables to the meat loaf and you will have a simple and complete meal that everyone will enjoy." Betty concluded.

VIDALIA ONION PIE

- 1 large Vidalia onion, sliced thin
- 6 Tbsp. butter
- 2 cups grated cheese
- 2 eggs
- 1 cup milk
- 1 1/2 rolls Ripz crackers
- Salt and pepper to taste
- Crush crackers and 3 tablespoons butter. Press into pie pan. Sauté onion in remaining butter. Add seasoning, then sautéed onions with cheese. Then spread in cracker-lined pie plate. Beat eggs and milk. Pour over cheese and onions. Bake at 350° for 30 minutes.

BETTY'S MEAT LOAF

- 1 1/2 lbs. ground beef
- 1/2 cup dry bread crumbs
- 1 cup milk
- 2 beaten eggs
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1/4 cup grated onion
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. pepper
- 1/2 tsp. sage
- Mix all ingredients. Place in

PIQUANT SAUCE

- 3 Tbsp. brown sugar
- 1/4 cup catsup
- 1/4 tsp. nutmeg
- 1 tsp. dry mustard
- Mix together and pour over meat loaf. Bake at 350° for 1 hour.

HOT DEVILED POTATOES

- 4 med. size potatoes, peeled and cubed
- 1 (8 oz.) carton commercial sour cream
- 2 Tbsp. chopped green onions

Try cortisone cream for disease of skin

DEAR DR. GOTT: I've been diagnosed by two separate skin specialists as having pityriasis lichenoides. The condition is characterized by red spots and treatment consists of applying Diprolone, which contains steroids. Both doctors say the disease is rare, there is no cure and it is fatal. Surely there is someone, some place, who has information on this and a possible cure.

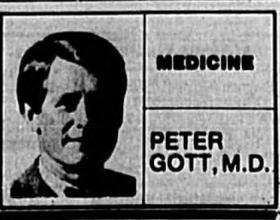

DEAR READER: My consultants tell me that pityriasis lichenoides is not a fatal disease. Rather, it is a chronic inflammatory skin disease that is resistant to treatment. The disorder consists of reddish-brown eruptions that evolve over a period of weeks or months, then fade, usually leaving punched-out scars. The lesions tend to recur, for unknown reasons. Cortisone cream is the standard method of treatment.

If you are dissatisfied with your doctor's approach, request a referral to the dermatology clinic at a teaching hospital, where super-specialists may be aware of new or experimental treatment.

DEAR DR. GOTT: On a recent talk show I saw an instant face lift that looked too good to be true. The procedure consisted of extracting a few ounces of fat from a fleshy part of the body with a big needle and injecting it into the lines in the face. The procedure was done under local anesthesia. For best results, it should be done three times. Is this plausible and what is your opinion?

DEAR READER: As a general rule in medicine, anything instant is too good to be true. While, in theory, this form of liposuction is plausible, so are many failed medical procedures, such as silicone breast implants and silicone injections for wrinkles. What happens if the injected fat cannot obtain sufficient oxygen and nutrition? It would deteriorate and cause horrendous problems. I advise patients to stay away from these potentially harmful, flash-in-the-pan cosmetic procedures.

In defense, if you lead an honor in a suit, it is traditional for your partner to play a high card to say he likes the suit and to request a continuation. Conversely, a low card is discouraging. However, there are times when some flexibility is needed. Against three no-trump, West leads from his longest suit, but selects the nine, rather than the five, to deny an honor. Declarer sees eight top tricks: three hearts and five clubs. His best play is to win trick one with dummy's heart king and to drop a deceptive queen from hand. Then he calls for a low diamond, hoping to sneak a ninth trick immediately.

However, East should pause to consider the defensive prospects. From the opening lead, East knows declarer has three heart tricks. He isn't fooled by South's false-card, because the opening lead tells him that South has the heart 10. And East can see that five club tricks are ready to run. Even if declarer has only two low clubs, West will have K-J doubleton. So, if declarer wins one diamond trick, the contract is home.

Is there any chance for the defenders to get five tricks first? Yes, there is one faint hope. East must assume that his partner has four strong spades. At trick two, East wins with the diamond ace. Then he places the spade king on the table. Although West signals with the two - hopefully in tempo - East mustn't be deflected. He should realize that West cannot afford a higher spot-card. East continues with his second spade and the contract is defeated.

YOUR BIRTHDAY
 Nov. 26, 1992

The aspects indicate you might be exposed to more opportunities and breaks in the year ahead than you have had in the past. These situations could be meaningful, provided you capitalize on them.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Instead of magnifying your virtues and minimizing your faults today, you might amplify the less attractive aspects of your personality and ignore your nobler traits. Watch this. Trying to patch up a broken romance? The Astro-Graph Matchmaker can help you understand what to do to make the relationship work. Mail $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Allow yourself ample time and space to maneuver today, because endeavors that usually come easily for you may be fraught with unforeseen complications.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Treat serious matters with the respect they deserve today. Don't let them become oppressive, but, on the other hand, don't dismiss them with a chuckle, either.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Strive to be realistic today where your hopes and expectations are concerned. If your optimism is unfounded, there is a chance you might be disappointed.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Don't rely too heavily upon Lady Luck today to help fulfill your ambitious objectives. She might be betting her chips on something or someone who directly opposes you.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Try to keep your perspective in proper proportion today. There's a chance you might be inclined to focus on the smaller picture and ignore the larger view.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Today you might be inclined to tempt the fates in areas where the odds are stacked against you. Pay heed to your common sense, not your impulses.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Usually you're a rather shrewd horacetrader, but today you might make an agreement that benefits the other party much more than it does you.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) If you make a mistake where your work is concerned today, don't try to hide or cover up your error, because this could lead to complications you'd never anticipate.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Temporarily postpone purchasing luxury items if they don't fit comfortably into your budget. They'll still be there when your wallet has more breathing room.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) For the sake of expediency today you might make a promise to a loved one that you know you won't be able to fulfill. It's better to say "no" than to pledge what you can't deliver.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Boasts or exaggerations you make today will have a hollow ring and, with the exception of yourself, no one is apt to believe them. Tell it like it is.
