Enlisted Men's Mess No Longer Is

half gives no sign of the drab, long table benches of war-time training camps in the United States. Instead, the eye is met by restaurant-style combinations of tables and chairs for four. Each table is covered by a colorful linen cloth and individual places are set with stainless steel knives, forks and spoons, which for all the world resemble silver plate. The interior walls of the mess hall are painted in pastel shades and adorned by photographic murals of Maine's scenic wonders. The entire ceiling is fitted with panels of soundproofing material, giving a hush to the crashing sounds normally associated with a huge mess hall.

Directly in front of the steam table is a rock wall four feet high and 30 feet long, topped by several inches of earth and a picturesque display of living flowers. The first surprise to the visitor moving through the steam table line is the fact that enlisted men eat, not from trays, but from plates, bowls, dishes and cups and saucers. And the cups even have handles. Soup is served in a turquoise or yellow bowl bearing the USAF insignia. The guest then gets his meat and vegetables served carefully and cheerfully on a matching plate.

GI's To Start Financing Upkeep Of German Children's Cemetery

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) — U. S. Army units in Germany are taking steps to care for the neglected graves of 400 American children buried in Frankfurt's Main cemetery.

German cemetery officials have long been asking for help in keeping up the graves. One official said that five years ago, the Army promised it would look into the matter, but nothing had been heard since then.

The graves are overgrown with weeds and, because of a lack of funds, German cemetery officials are unable to take any superficial care of them. Marked by no more than small, wooden crosses, the graves look forlorn and forgotten. Buried in them are the children of American servicemen and their wives who have returned to the United States. A few months ago, cemetery officials told United Press International it would cost only $300 to put the graves into perfect condition and another $6 cents a week per grave for a gardener to keep it that way. After the UPI story was printed in local newspapers, Army units started collections to pay for the upkeep of the graves. In nearby Hanes, soldiers of the 11th Engineer Company quickly raised $20 as a start. Another fund-raising campaign was launched throughout the 27th Engineer Group, and the 2nd Armored Rifle Battalion in Geinhausen said it collected $250 by Christmas. It has also been suggested that a collection be taken throughout the entire U. S. Army in Germany and that the money be placed in the hands of a special committee to establish a continuing cemetery care program. Although the Army has no responsibility for the care of the graves, their neglect "is a black spot on the entire American community in Germany," said Army spokesman said.

Spacemen May Take Drugs

NEW YORK (UPI) — Spacemen may have to take drugs to prevent harmful hallucinations or to bring on happy ones, a radiation expert said Monday night. Dr. T. C. Helvey, of Radiation Int., Orlando, Fla., said drugs will be needed to prevent a space pilot from suddenly being gripped by anxiety, panic or claustrophobia. This might be accomplished by a drug to create a better state of mind, he said. "Maybe we'll produce a drug that will enable him to see before him his girl friend," Helvey said. "I don't know."

Young Heiress Hears Guardian Tell Court Of Inheritance Plans

DETROIT (UPI) — A young heiress sat demurely in probate court today and listened to her guardian tell of plans for investing her inheritance in utility stocks and winters in Florida. Wearing a smart silver and black ensemble, the heiress coyly turned her back to spectators in the crowded courtroom of Judge Ernest C. Boehm and seemed not to have a care in the world. She doesn't. The heiress is a 4-year-old, mostly brown mutt dog named Nosey. She inherited $20 a month for life in the will of her master, Charles C. Long of Romulus, who died late last year at the age of 88 and left an estate totaling about $13,000.

Nosey, wearing a silver chain and wide black collar, came into court with her guardian, Elwyn Wall, an attorney and witness to Long's will. Also on hand to guard the interests of justice was an assistant state attorney general. Boehm patted Nosey gently on the head and asked her if she was "of sound mind." Nosey's reply was not audible, but Boehm seemed satisfied. He moved the hearing into the courtroom and Wall was called as the first witness.

Nosey stepped daintily to the witness stand with Wall and saluted, her back to the spectators, as Wall explained that he and Long, both bachelors, were longtime friends. "I would be very happy to care for Nosey for the rest of her life," under the terms of Long's will, Wall said. He assured the judge that he had cared for dogs before and that Nosey now seems happy when "sleeping on a carpet at the foot of my bed." The dog is in fine health, eats canned dog food for two days then gets horsemeat every third day, Wall said. Her diet is supplemented with fortified milk. Boehm said it was plain that Nosey "has a great deal of affection" for Wall. He admitted the will to probate and approved Wall as guardian. Wall said that if Nosey did not use her full $20 each month he would invest the surplus for her in the same utility stocks in which he invests. She'll spend her summers in the Detroit area, he said, but winters she will go to Florida or Texas with him.

Soviets Fire Super Rocket

HONOLULU, Hawaii (UPI) — Russia fired the first of its super-rockets nearly 8,000 miles into the Pacific and Moscow today claimed the missile hit within 2,100 yards of its target.

For the first time there was independent corroboration of a Soviet launching claim. An Australian airliner crew reported it saw a fiery explosion in the Pacific last area where the nose cone and last powered stage of the rocket would have plunged to earth.

There was an immediate indication whether U. S. scientists also tracked the missile. U. S. naval vessels and aircraft were known to be hovering near the test area where three Soviet scientific ships stood guard.

Moscow said the missile traveled a historic 7,750 miles "strictly" along the calculated trajectory. It said the nose cone transmitted "the necessary data . . . throughout the rocket's flight" and "its entry into the water was recorded by radar, optical and acoustic stations."

The announcement did not specify the launching site, but Western observers calculated that the rocket probably came from an area near the Caspian Sea.

Western scientists were expected to attach considerable significance to the claimed solution of the mystery for such a big rocket as well as the announced triumph of firing a missile virtually twice the breadth of the United States.

Western observers speculated on three possible aims the Russians may be having with their king-sized missile shot.

To test favorable conditions for recovering a man or men fired into space.

To test huge rockets consisting of clusters of existing Soviet rocket engines which generate thrust up to 500,000 pounds of thrust each.

To test the accuracy of military missiles based, perhaps, on Kamchatka across the Bering Sea from Alaska or from launching sites deeper inside the vast land mass of the Soviet Union.

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — A delegation of high Russian government officials will tour sunny Florida next month. The unprecedented visit was disclosed Wednesday by Gov. LeRoy Collins, who led a delegation of U. S. governors on a similar trip to the Soviet Union last summer.

Election Probe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate today took a controversial amendment to the "clean elections" bill that would limit to $10,000 the total campaign contributions of any person. Sen. Thomas C. Hennings Jr. (D-Mo.) made the proposal. Some considered it the most drastic of a series of amendments Hennings has offered to stiffen the elections bill.

Editor In Exile

MIAMI (UPI) — Havana Editor Jorge Kaya, who dared criticize Cuban Premier Fidel Castro in print, flew to Miami Wednesday and vowed he would return to Cuba only when he is assured of freedom of the press. Kaya, 36-year-old member of the Inter-American Press Assn. Freedom of Information committee, is the first Cuban newspaperman to go into exile from the Castro regime.

Bevan Ill

LONDON (UPI) — Aneurin Bevan, 52-year-old fiery symbol of British Socialism, slipped in life today in a London hospital. An official statement said his condition was a severe but grave anxiety. Bevan underwent a major abdominal operation Dec. 29 and his apparent failure to snap back has been consistently apparent in a steadily-worsening hospital communique. His wife, Mrs. Jeanie Lee, also a noted labor MP, has been a daily visitor.

Vote Registration Books Open Soon

County voting registration books will be in nine communities between Feb. 29 and Mar. 2.

The books will be open for equal periods in Alachua, Citrus, Marion, Levy, Suwannee, Putnam, Volusia, and Seminole counties for the month. Mrs. Bruce said she would take the books to Paola and Monroe if she got enough requests from there. Most Paola and Monroe residents came to Sanford quills often and can register here, Mrs. Bruce said.

Democratic Executive Committee chairman Robert Billheimer said a lot more residents had better register if the next Senator from this district is to come from Seminole. Brevard County, which also is in our district, has 25,187 voters registered compared to our 12,834. Brevard voters will be their man as senator and, if they have more voters, they'll be hard to beat, Billheimer said. Seminole County men are hesitant to run for senator because Brevard has so many more registered voters, he said.

Winds Help Save Citrus From Severe Cold Snap

Heavy winds this morning saved an untold amount of citrus and vegetables from suffering severe damage from the shivering cold wave that has hit the county over the past two days.

A Central Florida Experiment office today said temperatures, for the second day in a row were at 84 degrees but heavy winds prevented any damage to citrus harvesting in the area.

In the state, at least six deaths were blamed on the cold weather but some relief is in sight.

A slight afternoon warmup was predicted, but the forecast was for cold tonight with more frost and freezing temperatures Friday morning.

Two Negro children died in a house fire at Avon Park Wednesday and a white child died of burns suffered Tuesday when her clothes caught fire from a heater.

A couple from West Babylon, N. Y., were found dead in a house fire at St. Petersburg Wednesday, apparently victims of asphyxiation from a gas furnace. A 54-year-old machinist died when fire destroyed his house trailer at Oneco.

The Weather Bureau warned that readings early today would vary from 28 to 32 along the upper Florida east coast to the 60's in tourist-jammed Miami.

In outlying farm areas near the lower east coast, the mercury was expected to drop as low as 24 to 26 degrees, with scattered frost predicted.

The cold front, first of the new year for Florida, moved into the northern part of the state Monday and gradually spread to all portions by early Wednesday. Fair and continued cold weather with only slightly higher afternoon temperatures was predicted for today and Friday.

It apparently did not get cold enough Wednesday to harm Central Florida's huge citrus crop, now being harvested. But a prolonged cold snap might cause damage.

A Miami forecaster said the cold would last until a high pressure zone now covering all of the eastern United States moves eastward into the Atlantic.

The two Negro children who died when their two-room apartment caught fire from an oil heater were identified as Curtis Wilson, 2, and his nine-week-old sister, Linda Gail Reese, 2, died at a hospital Wednesday of burns suffered when her clothes caught fire from a heater the day before.

St. Petersburg police said Ernest R. Schaefer, 72, and his wife Catherine, about 75, of Babylon, N. Y., were asphyxiated by their furnace when the temperature dropped to near freezing in the west-central Florida city Tuesday night.

George Tarbut, 24, a machinist who moved to Florida 13 months ago from Detroit, was found dead in a trailer near Oneco Wednesday. Phoenix said they were unable to determine if he burned to death or was killed by snakes.

Nation Hit By Heavy Ice, Snow

By United Press International

The death toll mounted today in the wake of the worst ice and snow storms of the season.

Three children, all under 3 years of age, died when fire swept their family's four-room frame home in Smelterville, Idaho. A woman and two children were killed when their car was hit by two trucks on icy U. S. 50 near Emporia, Kans.

Their deaths brought to 51 the number of fatalities blamed on the storm, which swept from Colorado to the East Coast earlier this week, leaving sub-zero temperatures and few clear days.

Nebraska reported 12 storm deaths, Kansas had 9, Texas 6, Colorado 5, Oregon and Wisconsin 4 each, Missouri 3, New York State 2 and Illinois, Iowa, Louisiana, Maine and Michigan 1 each.

Most of the victims died in auto accidents, frozen to death or suffered heart attacks while shivering away heavy snows.

Not even Florida and California escaped the storm's bite.

Hundreds of thousands of Californians were hit by a flu bug which concentrated in the Los Angeles area.

The Weather Bureau predicted more cold weather today east of the Mississippi, but said warmer temperatures would move from western Texas into Nebraska and westward across Missouri into eastern Kentucky and Tennessee.

SRD Estimates Are Questioned

The first answer filed to the State Road Department's Sanford Ave. land getting procedures didn't agree with SRD estimates of land value.

An answer filed in the county clerk's office by American Oil Co. Monday said that land taken from their parcel on Sanford Ave. to widen the street would mean re-paving and removal and installation of their filling station fixtures. The Amoco lessees asked $10,000 damages.

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Sen. John F. Kennedy plunged into the Wisconsin presidential primary today with a charge that his chief competitors for the Democratic nomination are staying "ready on the sidelines" in hope of manipulating the convention.

Giants To Move Training Base From Sanford

CASA GRANDE, Ariz. (UPI) — The San Francisco Giants have bought 600 acres of land here and will consolidate their entire baseball training program in Arizona.

The Giants for the past 20 years have had their minor league training base in Florida but hope to complete transfer of the training grounds to Matbourne and Sanford, to Casa Grande in time for the 1961 season.

The Giants do their training in Phoenix, about 80 miles away. Horace Stoneham, Giants president, made the announcement Wednesday and said an elaborate baseball training base will be constructed here, including five baseball diamonds and all the housing and operating facilities needed to accommodate the Giants' seven minor league teams.

"We have been considering this transfer ever since the Giants moved to San Francisco," said Stoneham. "It will insure a closer working arrangement between the Giants and their farm clubs and more fully identify the Giants as a Far Western team."

"From our experience at Phoenix we know that Arizona has the ideal spring training weather and naturally we are pleased with the welcome extended to us by the city of Casa Grande and by all the civic organizations and agencies. It is our thinking that when completed the Casa Grande base will be the finest training installation anywhere."

Florida Citrus Queen Named

WINTER HAVEN (UPI) — A pretty brunette water skier-model was crowned Florida Citrus Queen, she is Florence Cloud, 20, of Bradenton who also has to her collection the beauty title of "Miss Florida National Guard."

Miss Cloud, wearing a pink and white full length evening gown, burst into tears when judges at the 34th annual Citrus Exposition picked her from among the five finalists.

Monkey Survives Space Flight

WALLOPS ISLAND, Va. (UPI) — A girl monkey named Miss Sam survived "apparently in good condition" a violent ride into space today in a test of escape equipment which may someday save the life of a human astronaut.

Miss Sam was boosted to an altitude of more than 9½ miles in a launching at 9:33 a. m. at the Wallops station of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The one-ton capsule, similar to the one which will carry a Mercury astronaut into orbit in 1961, was recovered from the Atlantic by a Marine Corps helicopter 10 minutes after the launching.

Automatic monitoring equipment inside the "biopack" in which Miss Sam rode showed that she was alive and apparently in good condition.

Officials said it would take about two hours to open the biopack, a 125-pound cylinder, 28 inches long and 16 inches in diameter, in which Miss Sam made the trip.

After a physical examination, a drink of water, and a meal Miss Sam will be flown to her home, the School of Aviation Medicine at Brooks Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas.

Comprehensive Zoning Hearings To Start Soon

The County Zoning Board, meeting in special session this morning, unanimously agreed to proceed with a comprehensive zoning plan over the county and schedule the first hearing in the court-house Feb. 9.

Zoning Director Robert Brown said that usually only one hearing is held but, to give all property owners a chance to voice their approval or disapproval, hearings will be held for separate districts with a general hearing scheduled in late February.

The first hearing Feb. 9 will be for property owners in District 3. On Feb. 11 a hearing will be held for District 1, Feb. 17 for District 2 and Feb. 23 for District 4.

Brown says, "I'd that many areas in the county will be zoned the same as they are now with only a few boundary changes."

He added that the zoning board has worked on the comprehensive zoning plan for two years and has the tentative approval of the County Commission.

The commission is expected to give its final okay at its next meeting Tuesday.

FBI Cracks Open Case Of Missing Passenger

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — The investigation into the mysterious crash of an airliner in the Gulf of Mexico with a loss of 42 lives was cracked wide open today with the arrest by the FBI of an ex-convict listed as one of the victims.

Robert V. Spears, 64, a self-styled doctor wanted in Los Angeles on an abortion charge, was nabbed by federal agents late Wednesday when he dashed into a waiting taxi after checking out of a lavish motel hideout.

Spears' arrest strengthened the possibility of a link between the Gulf crash last Nov. 26 and the Jan. 6 crash of a New York to Miami airliner near Bolivia, N.C. with a loss of 34 lives.

Julian Frank, 32, a New York attorney, is suspected of carrying a bomb aboard the Miami flight in an effort to defraud insurance companies out of nearly one million dollars.

Spears is suspected of having tricked an old acquaintance, William Loomis, 40, Spears' co-defendant in the Los Angeles abortion case. Loomis told investigators when he and Spears were arrested last July that Spears told him Frank was his attorney. He quoted Spears as saying "I think I'd better call my attorney in New York, Julian Frank."

Spears also is reported to have admitted to the FBI at the time of his arrest Wednesday that he knew Frank, but only as just another New York attorney.

Authorities thus far have been reluctant to link the two air tragedies but the possibility of a tie-in was being investigated.

The FBI was handling the possible criminal phases of both crashes while the Civil Aeronautics Board attempted to determine the cause of the wrecks.

Spears, a pudgy 220 pounds, was dressed in a gray, black and white checkered sports cap and a brown topcoat at the time of his arrest.

Asked by a reporter if he planned a bomb aboard the National Airlines flight that crashed in the Gulf, the white-haired, bespectacled Spears replied: "No, but maybe I'll have a statement sometime tomorrow (today)."

Spears was held in $25,000 bail on the technical charge of stealing the car of the man he may have hypothesized into taking his place on the airliner.

Services Held For 2 Navy Men

Memorial services for two sailors killed in a car crash Sunday were held at the Sanford NAS today.

Base chaplain William Itearn led the services for Bobby G. Riddles and James P. Morgan who died when the car in which they were riding crashed into a power pole on 17-92 near the Lake Monroe bridge.

Riddles was 20 years old. Morgan was 19. Morgan joined the Navy in October, 1956. Riddles was buried in Oklahoma City, Okla., and Morgan in Clearedon, Texas.

Surviving Riddles are his father, Leslie Riddles of Lawton, Okla.; his sister Betty Lou Riddles of Oklahoma City and a brother, Sam Lee Riddles who is in the Air Force. Surviving Morgan are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl T. Morgan of Frick, Texas.

North Orlando To Set Park Site

Work has started on North Orlando's future recreation site.

Councilman Frank Fasula said Wednesday that land north of Edgemoor Ave. is being cleared for recreation. Men of the town have asked the North Orlando Corp. about having Little League and Babe Ruth League next spring, Fasula said. Eventually the site will have a baseball - softball diamond, tennis courts and shuffleboard alleys, Fasula said.

Ralph Schenckert was installed as president of the Lake Mary Volunteer Fire Dept. at its meeting this week. Other officers installed were Donald Coleman, vice president; Otis Sjoblom, secretary; Earl Toney, treasurer and Ralph Abel, fire chief.

Ed Zimmerman is chairman of arrangements for a barbecue to be held Saturday at the fire house.

Mrs. Lona Kruger is general chairman of the Ladies Auxiliary which will assist.

63 Cancel Out Of Miami Flight

MIAMI (UPI) — An 80-seat Transcontinental Airlines passenger plane flew out of Miami to Chicago Wednesday with only one passenger.

"Sixty-three other passengers cancelled out because of all the bomb scares," explained an airline spokesman. "But we were determined not to let our one remaining passenger down."

The lone passenger was Leonard Franklin, 32, who said he was "darn mad" about the four hour delay.

The airline estimated it spent $4,500 for the flight. It was only Transcontinental's third flight out of Miami and Traffic Manager Harold Brown said they made it because "we want to show people that we'll fly on schedule."

Air Crashes Take 145 Lives In '60

By United Press International

Major air crashes have taken the lives of at least seven persons for every day in 1960, and possibly as many as 25 a day.

The crash of a Colombian Avianca airline Constellation today at Montego Bay, Jamaica, with a death toll of 37, was the fourth major air disaster since Monday night and brought the number killed in four days to 148 persons.

So far this year, 183 persons have been killed in four crashes. Sixteen others are presumed dead in a fifth disaster.

In addition to the Montego Bay crash, disasters thus far this year were:

Jan. 6 — A National Airlines DCB at Bolivia, N. C., possibly a result of a passenger's suicide bombing; 24 dead.

Jan. 10 — A Capital Airlines Viscount turbo-prop airliner at Hotchkiss, Va.; 29 dead.

Jan. 10 — A General Aviation Airplane Caravelle jet at Ashland, Kentucky; 60 dead.

Jan. 10 — A U. S. patrol plane in Turkey; 16 Navy men missing and presumed dead.

37 Aboard Die In Crash

MONTEGO BAY, Jamaica (UPI) — A Colombian Avianca Airlines Constellation from New York crumpled its landing gear and crashed on the airport runway today, killing 37 passengers and crewmen.

Nine persons survived with minor injuries, including four passengers and five crew members, although the big plane was smashed into a fiery mass of wreckage that burned for hours in the early morning.

At least 17 of the victims were from the United States and at least one was from Canada.

The dead included Thomas C. Caphart, son of Sen. Homer H. Caphart (R-Ind.), and his wife Elizabeth. They boarded the plane at Miami when the Constellation made an unscheduled stop because the No. 3 engine was acting up.

Four other passengers boarded with waiting for the repairs and left the plane after accommodations. They had left New York Wednesday morning on a supposedly flight to Montego Bay on Egoia, and did not arrive until 2:30 P. M.

It was the fourth disaster since Monday brought the four-day delay.

There were few spectators but the handful of waiting passengers at the airport saw the plane's lights suddenly extinguish. There was a burst of flames, the screams of men and women trapped in the wreckage.

Nine persons slaved their way to safety through the wreckage but the others died. Through emergency aid, the lucky nine survived only with minor injuries. They were taken to a hospital for treatment.

The four passengers who escaped with their lives were Mr. and Mrs. Ian Kelton, Australians who live in Quito, Ecuador; Hendrick Wyles, The Hague, Holland; and Falls Church, Va.; and Romulo Lopez of the Hague and Washington, D. C.

Both the pilot, J. Duque, and the co-pilot, H. Arango, survived the fiery crash. So did a flight engineer, a purser and a stewardess.

Collins Proposes State Drop Idea Of Running Smathers In '60

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Gov. LeRoy Collins suggested Wednesday that Florida drop the idea of running Sen. George Smathers as a "favorite son" candidate for president.

Collins said the "draft Smathers" campaign by Florida Democrats apparently is embarrassing to the senator because of his close association with Sen. John Kennedy, Stuart Symington and others seriously eyeing the presidency.

The governor emphasized that his suggestion is not to be interpreted as antagonism to Smathers, "toward whom I feel very warm."

He added, if the senator decides to run as a favorite son "I am committed to him and will do all I can for the ticket."

Collins dropped the surprise proposal at his news conference here. It was expected because the governor had been one of the original backers of the move to strengthen Florida's bargaining position at the Democratic national convention.

But in view of recent developments, Collins said he is now convinced the favorite son idea is not the proper course.

He noted that although Smathers has not committed himself one way or the other on running, the senator has said he doesn't think a Southerner has a chance for a spot on the national Democratic ticket.

Collins said for the time being the state should adopt a "wait and see" attitude, pending a decision by presidential hopefuls of entering the Florida preference primary.

If several will run in Florida, he pointed out, there would be no need for a favorite son. If no candidates enter the preference race, then the state should get up an uninstructed slate of candidates for the convention who would be free to select the best man, he added.

Collins, who has been mentioned as a possible vice presidential candidate, said he himself would not run under any circumstances as a favorite son. He added it is "pure speculation" that he is being considered as keynote speaker or chairman for the national convention and said he would make no effort to obtain either post.

Fate of Dr. Finch Depends On Jury Believing Cody

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The fate of Dr. R. Bernard Finch and Carole Tregoff depends largely on whether their murder trial jury believes a convict and admitted master liar.

The story told by John (Slick Jack) Cody the last two days poses two great threats to the surgeon and his mistress:

1. The murder of Mrs. Barbara Jean Finch was premeditated, not a crime of passion that flared out of an argument and struggle.
2. Carole wanted to kill her as much or more than Dr. Finch whom, the defense admits, held the gun when the fatal shot was fired into Mrs. Finch's back July 18.

Cody is scheduled to go back on the witness stand under cross-examination again today.

So far, savvy defense attorney Grant Cooper has not shaken Cody's basic theory that Carole and Dr. Finch gave him $1,000 to murder the wife, that there was a deal struck when they thought he had "bobbied" the first try and that both vowed to kill the woman themselves if he backed out.

Carole had her hardest day of the trial Wednesday, she pressed a handkerchief to her nose and lips and gulped back tears as Cooper tried to pin down Cody.

She slumped frantically through the convict's previous testimony as if seeking contradictions herself.

Cooper asked Cody about Carole's first reaction when he came back to Los Angeles, Nev., from Los Angeles and told her he had killed Mrs. Finch.

"She began smiling, and I said, 'Why are you smiling?' She said she was happy. She was thrilled, I believe."

"She said she was thrilled and happy when you told her you had killed this woman in the chest with a shotgun?"

"Yes."

First Federal Shareholders Get Progress Report

Shareholders of First Federal Savings and Loan Assn. at their meeting Wednesday elected three directors, heard a glowing report of growth in 1959 as well as for the past 10 years, and were told that contractors' bids for the new building at N. Elm Ave. and W. First St. were being called for by the architect.

At a meeting of the directors following that session, the directors re-elected all officers for 1960.

Jack I. Greene was named director to succeed H. James Gut who has been ill and who for the sake of his health relinquished his place on the Board. He was heartily commended for his conscientious service. Re-elected were Directors Howard Faville and J. H. Van Hoy.

The report given by Vice Pres. E. C. Harper, Sr., in the absence of Pres. Howard Faville, who is in the local hospital, said that the resources of the Savings and Loan organization had grown from $1,488,109.07 to $10,272,825.65.

Reserves now exceed $1,000,000 the report continued and added "this, we feel, is an outstanding safety factor." The profit picture was satisfactory, and enabled the association to pay dividends at the rate of four percent a year, added.

Howard Faville was again named president. To serve with him are E. C. Harper, Sr., First Vice Pres.; E. F. Doudney, Second Vice Pres.; George Touhy, Exec. Vice Pres.; Rosamond Chapman, Sec.-Treas.; Maxine Ekern, Asst. Sec.-Treas.; A. Edwin Shihohler, Attorney.

The new director is a member of the firm of Greene and O'Connell, certified public accountants, deacon in the First Presbyterian Church, Rotarian and an interested civic leader.

Kiwanians Hear Need For More Small Schools By Piedmont Prexy

The need for small colleges was explained to Sanford Kiwanians by Piedmont College President James E. Walter Wednesday.

Dr. Walter said that small schools like Piedmont reach many students who have the brains but not the money to go to college. The big universities want the small schools because the small colleges are champions of integrity and freedom, Dr. Walter said.

The northeast Georgia college president said that co-education builds up academic standards rather than tearing them down. He said that young men and women going to school together get to know people and to work hand in hand.

Last June, 125,000 students graduated from high school in the top quarter of their classes, but they weren't in college last fall. Small colleges give these students a chance by letting them work their way through school, the president said.

Good young students are a good investment, a "mushroom stock," Walter said. He told of one boy who worked his way through Piedmont, went on to study biology at Emory and Princeton and is now writing papers on bananas and bananas.

Phil Landrum, co-author of the Griffin-Landrum bill, chopped wood at Piedmont for 10 cents an hour, Walter said. A football coach who graduated from Piedmont was called "the optometrist" because he removed more eyes than anyone else—peeling potatoes.

Conner, Carlton Set As Candidates

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—State Rep. Doyle E. Conner of Starke and DeLand rancher Lorán V. Carlton announced as candidates for secretary of agriculture Wednesday.

Conner, 31, and the 43-year-old Carlton joined W. R. Hancock of Groveland and C. E. Haco of Winter Haven in competition for the post which will become vacant when the veteran Nathan Mayo retires next year.

Conner said if he were elected he would use all his influence with legislators to push for fair reapportionment. He is a former House member and a former House speaker.

He said he would quickly put into effect the wholesale reorganization of the agriculture department ordered by the last Legislature and would put employees under a job security merit system.

Both Conner and Carlton are agriculture graduates of the University of Florida and both pledged to help the public realize that the agriculture commissioner's duties go far beyond agrarian subjects.

Carlton made his announcement from St. Petersburg.

"As commissioner," he said, "my policy will be to see that every agricultural interest as well as those affected by department policy be given my fullest attention."

Conner said he would open campaign headquarters in Miami, where he operates an insurance business in addition to various interests at Starke in north Florida.

Carlton did not announce his plans for the campaign.

Jehovah Witness Assembly Slated

The Sanford Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses will attend the assembly at Daytona Beach Jan. 22-24 at Campbell Street High School.

Witnesses and friends from 25 Florida cities will be here for a program on "Train Obedient to Minister." A color film "Divine Will International Assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses" will be shown Saturday at 7 P. M. and James A. Thompson Jr., of New York will give a public address Sunday at 2 P. M. entitled "When Is God's Will to be Done on Earth?" All persons of good will are invited to attend.

Flu Epidemic Continues Spread

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Asian flu epidemic now rampaging in 13 states and the District of Columbia will spread to other parts of the country during the next few weeks.

That is the forecast of U. S. Public Health Service officials who are closely following the epidemic's progress.

They said today the flu virus is so widely "seeded" across the nation that further outbreaks are inevitable.

"We look for a large number of flu cases in the next month or so," said one official. "But the incidence probably won't be as great as it was in the 1957 Asian flu epidemic."

At the peak of the 1957 epidemic, more than seven million Americans were down with the flu at one time.

No official estimate has been made of the total number of cases in the United States at the present time, but the figure is believed to be well in excess of one million.

More than 300,000 cases are reported in the Los Angeles area alone. There are major outbreaks in several other parts of California.

Texas also has been hard hit, with outbreaks centered around Houston, Austin and Brownsville. More than 20 per cent of the school population is on the absentee list in Brownsville.

Detroit has reported absentee rates up to 30 per cent in schools and industrial plants. Several other Michigan cities have been hit.

Daytona Man Hurt In Truck Mishap

Richard J. Dolins, a Daytona Beach resident, was admitted to Seminole Memorial Hospital just before midnight Tuesday after his truck turned over and was demolished a mile north of Sanford on Hwy. 17-28, the Highway Patrol reported.

Fireman J. L. Sikas said a panel truck driven by Dolins was going north on the highway when a car pulled out in a line of traffic from the opposite direction and he swerved off the road to avoid it.

The driver escaped the truck to slip over, completely demolishing it, Sikas said.

Dolins was treated for several broken ribs, Sikas said.

Two other accidents, Tuesday night, one near Goldstead and the other west of Sanford resulted in no damages to those cars, but no injuries, the patrol reported.

15 States, D.C. To Hold Pre-Convention Primary

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The presidential primary season is approaching with the outcome of elections in a handful of states expected to influence the choice of presidential nominees at the national political conventions next July.

Only 15 states and the District of Columbia hold primaries in which Republicans or Democrats vote directly for the presidential candidate or for national convention delegates who may be pledged to a particular candidate. Past experience indicates that there are no contests in only a few of the 15.

In other states, national convention delegates are chosen by state conventions or committees of the parties or by both state and district conventions.

Some states hold caucuses to hold presidential primaries:

- New Hampshire (March 3) — Direct vote for presidential candidate and for convention delegates, who may be pledged. A candidate's consent is not required.
- South Dakota (April 6) — Direct election of delegates, who may be pledged. A candidate's consent is not required but he may withdraw.
- Wisconsin (April 5) — Direct election of delegates, who may be pledged. A candidate's consent is not required but he may withdraw.
- Alabama (April 26) — Direct election of delegates, who may be pledged. A candidate's consent is not required but he may withdraw.
- Arkansas (April 26) — Direct election of delegates, who may be pledged. A candidate's consent is not required but he may withdraw.
- California (June 7) — Direct election of delegates, who may be pledged.
- Colorado (June 7) — Direct election of delegates, who may be pledged.
- Florida (May 24) — Direct election of delegates, who may be pledged.
- Georgia (May 17) — Direct election of delegates, who may be pledged.
- Idaho (May 17) — Direct election of delegates, who may be pledged.
- Illinois (May 17) — Direct election of delegates, who may be pledged.
- Iowa (May 17) — Direct election of delegates, who may be pledged.

Social Security Rate Differs Now

"Be careful about your social security taxes in January," Col. Byron R. Patton, Orlando Social Security Manager, warned today. "The 1959 rate and the 1958 rate are different. Don't confuse them."

"If you work for someone else, your first paycheck for 1959 wages will have the new 3% deduction. The report you make next year for 1958 will carry the new 6 1/2% rate."

Employers have until January 31 to file social security reports on wages paid in 1959. The 1959 rate of 3 1/4% for employer and 3 1/4% for employee applies. The January 31 deadline is for: Employees in commerce and industry with employees during the October-December 1959 quarter; household employers who paid household workers at least $50 during October-December quarter; farm employers who during 1959 paid employees $100 or worked them for at least part of 20 different days during the year.

The scheduled rise in tax rates, based on long-range cost estimates, is designed to maintain the aging and survivors insurance program on a self-supporting basis.

County Is Busy Making Plans

The county commission has hired the firm of James Gamble Rogers of Winter Park as architects for the new jail building and will make a cost study of other recently built jail buildings in the state.

A new jail has been termed one of the most critical needs faced by the county in providing facilities during this period of growth.

One thing can be said for the commissioners in this instance — they took some action without further delay. Everyone will not agree that a new jail is the primary concern. They prefer other projects that affect them more personally. But a jail that has faced condemnation by state authorities is a starting point for a building program.

The commission has announced plans for an extensive road building effort in addition to the secondary road improvement projects already in the budget.

The county engineer has been granted authority to work his crews 10 hours a day during the good weather to complete road work—all our efforts seem to be getting more steam. With building of all kinds and improvements of public facilities announced, all we need is continued definite action.

The county will present a livelier, more progressive picture to industries, businesses and families looking around for a Florida home.

And the improvements are needed anyway.

Japan Faces New Crisis Over Red China Relations

By PAUL NEWSON
UPI Foreign Editor

With the signing of the U. S.-Japanese security pact out of the way, Japanese Prime Minister Ichiro Kishi must come to grips with another pressing problem — what to do about Red China.

A large part of Japanese pleasure in the new pact stems from the fact that it makes Japan a full and equal partner of the United States, a sovereign status not enjoyed since World War II.

But the hostile demonstration by Communist Japanese youth upon Kishi's departure for Washington and the head violence of Japanese students also illustrate the new reality is not universally popular.

The hostile anti-Communist youth follow the Communist Party line and therefore would oppose a close link with the United States.

The Socialists, many of whom also are anti-United States, feel that the pact drives Japan away from its area of greatest interest, namely, Asia, and renders more friendly relations with Red China.

The pressure for closer ties with Red China is both political and economic, and is not limited to the left.

Senior adviser to Kishi's own Liberal-Democratic party, Kenzo Matsumura, recently returned to Tokyo from an extended tour of Red China and warned the Peiping regime will be "a mighty power within five or 10 years."

"Why not face up to the reality that Communist China today is an emerging nation?" he demanded. "It is not wise to exclude her from international dealings."

Japanese businessmen also look longingly at the vast China mainland.

Before the war, some 30 percent of Japan's exports went to China, and 15 per cent of her imports came from there.

Japanese trade with Red China today is a comparative trickle, with the balance running against Japan.

In contrast, Japanese U. S. trade runs approximately a billion dollars annually, about evenly divided between imports and exports. Counting U. S. military and other expenditures, the dollar balance is on Japan's side.

Nonetheless, the desire for trade with Red China has never and eventually could become strong enough to oust Kishi from his job.

In deciding what to do about Red China, Japan also must decide what to do about the Nationalist Chinese government at Formosa. Red China has made formal recognition a condition for re-establishing trade ties with Japan.

For to recognize Peiping as the official Chinese government would mean to withdraw it from Taipei, a step Kishi is unwilling to take against another firm friend of the United States.

Assignment Washington

By ED KOTERRA

WASHINGTON—The Senator slowly stopped his right leg over the left knee, stretched back lamely in his majority leader's seat, and gave us a look that said he was ready.

The little half-circle of reporters took a step forward. "Any comment on the President's bulldozer?" a lady reporter asked. And Sen. Lyndon Johnson replied with a clipped word: "Yes."

He tightened his lips until the press pressed parentheses into each cheek. He blew air into puffs and held it. This, you had learned, is the Johnson sign of disdain. The Democrat from Texas would now speak out and he did.

Though his words came softly, they were shrouded through a media that caught blood on every stitch.

Lyndon Johnson, the master of missiles, the chairman of the Senate Space Committee, was calculatingly tearing into President Eisenhower's Scotchness in space spending.

For one thing, he said, the President skimped so effectively on space spending that he had $500 million left over from last year.

Right here and now, you could tell, the majority leader had held the political season's finest Democratic issue. There was now no doubt that he intended to take that needle and break it off. Even if it would possibly make him the next President of the United States.

It was clear the target of the man from Texas was that big bubble of complacency hovering over the White House. He was going to bust it wide open.

And the little man with a pad and reporter's pencil who's been hanging around Congress and the White House had seen enough to know the bubble needed bursting.

It started with the first jab of the President remark that Russia's first Sputnik didn't bother him "one iota."

"The little man chafed, shifted uneasily, and maybe shivered a bit at each occasion across the succeeding months when headlines of Soviet space successes kept shooting by."

There was dismay when he heard the President resignedly admit that the Soviets had full rights to use "our" ocean for missile target practice. This meant the Russians could possibly grab missile-shooting rights for all waters, within small limits, that surround our 90th state—and what about the Gulf of Mexico?

Sen. Mike Mansfield (D., Mont.) had indignantly demanded last week that the President, but after the President's admission, his words rolled furiously across the Senate floor. "To say," he said, "that the Russians' test in the Pacific is legal under international law is only to underscore the inadequacy of international law and to point up the need for action to remedy this defect."

The Lyndon Johnson space mission may have stripes of partisan paint on occasion across the globe, but at least they'd give us a bigger stick to show the Russians.

If we were as missile-bound as Senator Johnson would like us to be, we'd be in a good position to possibly take up the suggestion offered by one of my respondents, "Gee?" Schultz of Washington.

So was wondering why we couldn't, by some manner of coincidence, stage an anti-missile test in the mid-Pacific about now.

Washington Calling

By MARQUE CHILDS

WASHINGTON—With a deep sigh of relief Adlai Stevenson is shortly setting out on a two-month tour of Latin America, thereby escaping the knife-throwing contest now going on in his party. He believes that he has at last got clear of the threat that his name would be put against his wishes into one of the primaries and so until the Democratic convention meets in July he will be an innocent bystander.

Stevenson declined an invitation to attend the big Democratic fundraising dinner here on Saturday. This is to be a political livestock show, with each candidate strutting his stuff. To Stevenson it seemed inevitable he would be put in the same category and this he wants above everything else to avoid.

A slight debt of gratitude is owed to Senator Wayne Morse for disentangling Stevenson from the primary peril. The real threat was in Oregon where the Presidential primary law allows enthusiastic backers to enter a candidate without his approval and even over his protest. This was what the dedicated Stevenson following promised to do.

But with Morse's decision to get into a race in his home state the situation was hopelessly snarled and the outcome likely to mean little. Thanks to Morse's one-man crusade for Stevenson, it is probable that all the candidates—awful, unawful and simply potential—will stay out.

As the divisions in the Democratic party deepen Stevenson cannot rule out the possibility of a draft to run for a third time for the Presidency. A number of leading Democrats feel he is far and away the ablest and most knowledgeable man for the highest office in the land. Still other party leaders who are irrevocably opposed to candidates A or candidate B look to Stevenson as a compromise.

The opposition, and it is formidable, comes chiefly from the party pros. They have long complained that they cannot work with Stevenson, who prefers intellectuals and party liberals to the boys in the back room. Their argument today is that he cannot win against Vice-President Nixon on a third try.

One of the most implacable Stevenson opponents is former President Truman. Recent visitors to the boys in the back room, he is in a buoyant mood, determined to have a deciding voice when the Democrats meet in Los Angeles.

In the present state of uncertainty no realistic appraisal of the chances that a Stevenson conversion will turn to Stevenson is possible. This would mean stopping Senator John F. Kennedy, and as the Kennedy drive with all the resources available to it goes full speed ahead the odds are against a reversal.

There are those in the party, both in the liberal-labor and the conservative wings, who are increasingly concerned over the tactics employed by the Kennedy organization. They use words such as ruthless, high pressure, brutal. The Kennedy deal with Governor Michael DeBalle for Ohio's delegation and the way it was engineered stirred wide resentment.

The viewers with alarm look daily at the political landscape and see two other prospective maneuverers that will advance the Kennedy cause. The first concerns Pennsylvania, with reports that Mayor Richardson Dilworth of Philadelphia and Philadelphia boss William J. Green Jr. are privately allied with the Kennedy camp. If this proves true, and neither Dilworth nor Green will admit to it, the authority of Governor David Lawrence to hold Pennsylvania's 21 votes uncommitted until convention time would be impaired.

The second prospect is in Michigan. Senator Pat McNamara has told several Senate colleagues to look for a development in the near future that will mean an important accession to Kennedy's strength.

In the feverish pre-convention atmosphere Stevenson is a lonely figure. He insists that the divisions in his party are exaggerated.

But he cannot shut his eyes to the strife that has for the Democrats such a dangerous potential of internecine warfare destructive of any chance for victory in November.

Some Democrats argue that Stevenson could end all this if he would only declare for one of the candidates. Senator Hubert Humphrey's followers believe that much of the Stevenson strength would go to their man if only it were known that he was definitely and irrevocably out of the picture.

But by declaring for one candidate Stevenson believes he would only encourage the feuding. In 1953 a reluctant Stevenson was drafted. Four years later he fought it out in the primaries, got the nomination and was defeated a second time by Eisenhower. What is most extraordinary is that in 1960 he should still have a nationwide following that makes an other nomination at least a possibility.

Dogs Get Jail Jobs

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI)—Alabama state prison guards will exchange their shotguns for four-legged assistants soon.

Deputy state prisons director Frank Lee said guards at Kilby Prison, Atmore Prison Farm and Prison Correctional Center would be getting dogs as their assistants.

"By using dogs, we hope to remove the necessity of having the guards carry firearms," Lee said. "Although we aren't going to use the dogs in the cell blocks or where they might come in too close a contact with the prisoners, they will patrol the inside of the walls at night and other places where the only prisoners the dogs will come in contact with will be trying to escape."

Thomas McGinn, director of the Canine Protective Service of Brielle, N. J., who will train the dogs and their human companions, said the trained dogs "can capture a prisoner as well as a guard with an obituary — and they inspire as much respect."

The dogs will undergo five or six months of intensive training before actually taking over their guard duties, McGinn said. Each dog will be assigned a permanent guard who will set as his handler.

and the pair will go through the training together, he said.

McGinn said the Correction Department already has a training course set up near the prison—three acres of jumps, obstacle courses and obedience areas.

During the training period, the dogs will learn how to bring down and hold an escaped prisoner without doing bodily harm to him.

"A big dog — and we'll be using German shepherds and Doberman Pinschers — can bring down a full-grown man by jumping on his back," McGinn said. "We'll also teach the dogs how to disarm a man of a gun or knife without hurting him. The training is similar to the training given dogs in the K-9 corps."

Demos May Pick Candidate Soon

TAMPA (UPI)—Local Democrats may announce next week their candidate to oppose Florida's only Republican congressman, William C. Cramer of Petersburg.

Phil J. O'Hare, executive secretary of the Democratic committee for the political organization in the first district, said the group would meet here to plan the congressional campaign either Jan. 26 or 27.

Letters To The Editor

Christmas is over, but the memory lingers on. Despite the tinsel and sham, the love of Christ shines through: the wonderful outflow of kindness at Christmas time.

one of the most remarkable fruits of Christianity.

Never before have our elders been so showered with love. To all these, who found it in their hearts to give of themselves at a time of year when energies are expended and time is at a premium, we humbly say Thank you, God Bless You!

Judge Sentences Man For Breaking And Entering Count

Judge Volle Williams Jr. sentenced Thomas J. Flynn, a Sanford Negro, to 10 years in Ralston this week. Flynn, 18½ Cypress Ave., pleaded guilty to breaking and entering and robbery.

Judge Williams ordered pre-sentence investigations of Charles Robert Ward who pleaded guilty to three charges of breaking and entering and Royce Earl Hinmets who pleaded guilty to aggravated assault and four breaking and entering charges.

The judge ordered the same type investigations of Alfred E. Ervay and Walter J. Suggen who pleaded guilty to breaking into the Lake Monroe School lunchroom, and of Carlton Taber, Marshall Taber, Thomas McWaters and William Monroe Lee. Each of these pleaded guilty to two breaking and entering charges.

Negro To Run For President

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—A Negro history professor who was put in a mental institution when he tried to enter the University of Mississippi announced here Tuesday that he is a candidate for president of the United States.

Clemens King, 30, who now makes his living as a preacher, said he would run on a platform to solve the racial problem within one year. If he failed, he would call a Negro phobicist to set up a separate Negro nation either in the United States or elsewhere.

Garden Club Members Name Officers, Enjoy Programs At Monthly Meetings

MAGNOLIA CIRCLE

Refreshments of rolls and coffee greeted members of the Magnolia Garden Circle as they met with Mrs. Fred Harris at her home in Ravens Park with Mrs. P. L. Elmore as co-hostess.

The chairman, Mrs. James Messler, urged members to attend the card party and plant sale, Friday night at the Civic Center. Magnolia Circle will sell caladium bulbs. She also gave a report from the board meeting and presented resolutions to be voted on at the general meeting.

Mrs. J. E. Nichols gave the report of the nominating committee. Officers chosen for next year were Mrs. H. K. Ring, chairman; Mrs. H. H. Sherwood, vice chairman; Mrs. R. E. Wilzel, secretary and Mrs. Elmore, treasurer. Mrs. Frank Woodruff III gave a most informative talk on arrangements, or in other words, "Artistic Designs." She told the group "We Learn By Doing," so each member created her own design with helpful suggestions from Mrs. Woodruff. Glads, calendulas, mums, bells of Ireland and various kinds of foliage were used in the arrangements.

AZALEA CIRCLE
Mrs. John Callahan was elected chairman for the coming year by members of the Azalea garden circle when they met at the home of Mrs. G. M. Shipp. Other officers elected were Mrs. C. P. Harkey, vice chairman; Mrs. R. F. Steele, secretary and Mrs. Porter Lansing, treasurer.

Three new members were also welcomed. They were Mrs. Paul Marlon, Mrs. D. Carnes and Mrs. W. Miltair. Mrs. E. V. Turner and Mrs. B. Roach were visitors.

In the absence of the chairman, Mrs. J. Clarke presided at the business session. Tickets were distributed for the card party and circle sale Friday. Mrs. Al Hunt, general chairman of the project, told the group that a prize will be awarded at each table and urged all members to attend and bring their own cards.

Proposed amendments to the by-laws were read and copies given to each member to familiarize them with the proposal before the luncheon Feb. 18, when a vote will be taken.

Mrs. J. H. Fahey presented the program, using as her subject, "Bonsai" or miniature trees. She showed amazing examples of the art of stunting regular trees and shrubs, so that an orange tree 3 1/2 years old was only nine inches tall and bearing fruit. She also distributed books on the subject with color plates of world famous examples.

CENTRAL CIRCLE

Mrs. R. L. Anderson gave an interesting program on "Orchids" to members of the Central Circle of the garden club, at the January session. The group met at the home of Mrs. N. Howard Brewer of Silver Lake with Mrs. James Moughton, Mrs. B. C. Moore and Mrs. W. W. Warner as co-hostesses.

Mrs. Anderson showed many orchid plants she had raised including the Cattleya, Vanda and Christmas orchids. Mrs. William L. Merritt was welcomed as a new member and guests were Mrs. Ella Pugh and Mrs. H. C. Meyers.

Refreshments were served from a table decorated with arrangements of camellias and red candles in brown containers to twenty members and guests.

MEMBERS OF FOUR GENERATIONS gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hitchens, who will celebrate their 56th wedding anniversary Feb. 18. Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Hitchens of Norfolk, Va. are visiting relatives and friends in the area so the family get-together was planned while they were here. Diane and Mary Lynn Sorokowsky, front, are the youngest members of the family. Mrs. M. J. Sorokowsky, left, J. E. Hitchens, A. E. Hitchens and Mrs. J. E. Hitchens. (Herald Photo)

O.E.S. Club Meets In Oviedo

Seventeen members attended the Past Matrons Club of Seminole Chapter No. 2, O. E. S. when they met at the home of Mrs. Tom McLain in Geneva for the monthly get-together. Mrs. Mary Moshier and Mrs. R. C. Maxwell assisted Mrs. McLain with the entertaining.

The president, Mrs. J. H. Anderson, presided at the business meeting when plans were made for the February meeting. At this time the club will hold the annual dinner honoring the retiring Worthy Matron and the past patrons of the chapter.

Guests enjoyed a social hour of games and contests. Members present were Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. G. W. Bailey, Mrs. E. J. Routh, Mrs. J. E. Courier, Mrs. B. C. Moore, Mrs. C. L. Hewson, Mrs. Joe Corley, Mrs. Mamie J. Warner, Mrs. W. E. Raines, Mrs. Mamie Griffin, Mrs. L. T. Sheppard, Mrs. Gertrude Athow, Mrs. M. Pickens, Mrs. Alice Click and the hostesses.

Shower Honors Mrs. Chandler

Members of the Homemakers Class of Central Baptist Church gave a surprise baby shower for Mrs. Bill Chandler at the home of Mrs. Milton Ferrell, 1901 Cedar Ave.

Members enjoying the evening with the guest of honor were Mmes. Robert Reaves, Ed Kennedy, Harry Bridges, Earl Gregory, Dean Madson, Bill Chandler, Charles Hayes, Ed Cameron Jr., Darrell Grieme, Hubert Bagwell, Gail Smith, Lewis Duester and Milton Ferrell.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Beatty of Baltimore, Md. are visiting Mr. and Mrs. E. Compton at their home on West 19th St. Dr. and Mrs. Root R. Callahan announce the birth of a daughter, Jennifer Jo, born Jan. 15 at the Breward Hospital in Melbourne. Mrs. Callahan is the former Martha Page of Sanford and Dr. Callahan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Callahan.

A GROUP OF WOODROSE CIRCLE MEMBERS held a committee meeting, recently, at the home of Mrs. D. K. Dorman in Sunland Estates to discuss plans for the forthcoming card party and circle sale at the Civic Center, tomorrow. The circle is in charge of refreshments for the party and will also sell assorted cookies. Looking over plans for the event are from left, Mrs. L. R. Sallee, Mrs. Fred Gray and Mrs. William L. Lucas. (Herald Photo)

C.W.F. Plans Nursery Shower

The Christian Women's Fellowship of First Christian Church voted to send $10 to the fund for establishing a library at the Jacksonville Christian Home at their January meeting when the group met at the church. A nominating committee was appointed to present a slate of officers for the coming year.

They are Mrs. W. H. Young, Mrs. G. W. Morgan and Mrs. J. L. Horton Jr. Hostesses were also named for the fellowship supper scheduled for Feb. 25. They are Mrs. O. D. Landress, Mrs. Charles Grieme and Mrs. B. H. Hinson Jr.

Mrs. James Barnett announced that all members were invited to a nursery shower, Tuesday Feb. 23. Miss Flo Bishop, president of the group, introduced the speaker, Rev. James Barnett, who used as his subject, "Make Disciples Of All Nations." He gave a resume of all the missionary work of the United Christian Missionary Society.

Hostesses were Mrs. Horton and Mrs. H. K. Ring. Others attending were Mmes. Young, Hinson, Landress, W. P. Vesley, Jr., Anderson, J. W. Knight, C. C. Murray, Blanche Kuhn, Frances Jones, O. T. Pearson, Lester Tharp, V. M. Grantham and Cora Neal.

An electronic range hood needs no outside wall vents and takes just a few minutes to screw into the wall. It dissipates grease, smoke and odors electronically—inhaling foreign matter in air, passing it through tiny aluminum filters and strainers and electronic tubes. The purified air then is re-circulated throughout kitchen.

Girl Scout Diary

The annual Girl Scout cookie sale will start this week and last through Feb. 6. Hundreds of brownies, intermediate and senior scouts will fan out with their buttered cream and chocolate mint cookies. They hope to meet their goal of 115,000 boxes for all of the citrus council, which includes Orlando and surrounding areas.

The profits realized from the cookie sale do not go into the girl scout operating budget, but are used for the development and maintenance of Camp Tecuche, the established camp, and is the only means of providing these camping facilities. The camp badly needs a caretaker's house, additional tent units, an infirmary, administration building, and additional water front facilities. The cookies cost forty cents a box and the troop bonus amounts to two cents per box for senior troops.

The cookie chairman for the Sanford area is Mrs. S. J. Davis. Individual troop cookie chairmen are: Mrs. Ben Bullard, Mrs. Charles Bennett, Mrs. Vernon Harbin, Mrs. J. T. Little, Mrs. G. W. Kimmons, Mrs. A. C. Doughty, Mrs. Phil Westgate, Mrs. Harry Cancell, Miss Frances Cobb, Mrs. W. E. Knowles, Mrs. Paul Coleman, Mrs. Norma Cullen, Mrs. Marion A. Tour, Mrs. Ray Webster, Mrs. Artie Johnson, Mrs. R. M. Gorton, Mrs. L. L. Rowland, Mrs. D. A. Foley, Mrs. R. T. McCaskill, Mrs. James McCoy, Mrs. F. P. Pariani, and Mrs. Ted Lewis.

Osteen Personals

Covington Covers Sports

By JERRY COVINGTON

We've got a big weekend of basketball coming up beginning Friday night. The Seminoles travel to Winter Garden where they'll go against a big and tough Lakeland team and then they come home on Saturday night for a return match with the Red Devils.

It will be the first time the Seminoles have been against Lakeland and Coach Bob Lauer is expecting one of his toughest battles. The Red Devils are the second team in the OBC and they will be looking to knock off our locals.

With their easy victory over Leesburg Tuesday night the Seminoles are now looking ahead with a fine 7-1 record. It really seems funny to hear of a record like that around this town but it is true. If they keep going as they have in the opening half of this season all records should tumble.

Our friend Peter Schaal, newly appointed business manager of the Greyhound, is now on the job and his efforts are already getting results. Now is the time of the year that a minor league club gathers in the chips to carry them through the long, hot summer. Some of our very fine sports fans have responded readily to Pete's advertising program and they are to be commended highly. Fellows like Jerry Collins, Bob Bauman, and Gene Tucker have already responded with advertising on the fence and they are backing professional baseball to the fullest.

With the fine contract that W. K. McRoberts has signed with Kansas City and the signing of Robbie Robertson as playing manager things are beginning to take shape for a fine summer of baseball. While the A's cannot promise a pennant winner they are well aware of the poor showing we made last year in the league and they know that we must be much improved for baseball to "live" in Sanford.

Jack Trim told me something the other day that amused me. I don't know where he got his information but Pete told Jack that only seven people in Seminole County subscribed to the Sporting News. As I said before, if it doesn't want to be a baseball fan this summer you had better go the other way when you see him coming.

Wynn Inks Chisox Pact; Mantle Annoyed At Cut

United Press International

Early Wynn, 44-year-old ace of the White Sox, laughingly said today he'd like to keep pitching until he's 50 and adding minus any smile at all—he'll be shooting to win 20 games again in '60.

Wynn made the statements from Mercy Hospital in Chicago where he is undergoing an annual checkup and where he signed his new White Sox contract Wednesday which calls for an estimated $45,000.

"Maybe I can keep going as long as Ezzel Paige," grinned the burly right-hander, who won 25 games last year and was rewarded for it with "a good raise."

Wynn, with 571 major league victories to his credit already, would like nothing better than to surpass Lefty Grove's 500 lifetime victories. Grove was the only pitcher to reach that total during his lively ball era.

From his home in Dallas, Mickey Mantle said the Yankees cut his salary "too much" and he had sent his contract back unsigned. Mantle didn't disclose any figures but it was believed he was asked to take an $11,000 slice from his $75,000 salary of last season.

Red Schoendienst also revealed he had returned his contract to the Braves without signing it. The veteran second baseman took the maximum 15 per cent cut last year before undergoing surgery for tuberculosis and apparently is being asked to accept another cut now. Neither he nor General Manager Johnny McHale "anticipate any major problem," however.

The Chicago Cubs, bidding to become the first club with all its players signed, announced they have only three more left to go with the acceptance of terms by pitchers Steve Ridsick and Al Schwall. Only club players still unsigned are pitcher Art Cecconi, catcher Cal Neuman and infielder Harry Bright.

Don (Perfect Game) Larsen, recently traded by the Yankees to the Athletics, signed his Kansas City contract with no haggling whatsoever and first baseman Vic Wertz said he has come to terms with the Red Sox.

The Dodgers signed catcher John Roseboro and veteran outfielder Carl Furillo. Roseboro probably was given a raise and Furillo was believed to have accepted a slight cut.

Art Wall Defends Crosby Open Title

POMFANO BEACH, Calif. (UPI)

Art Wall, the money maker from Pomona, Calif., opens defense of his world-crown in the 1960 Angler's World Series today at the Pomona Beach, Calif., and Monterey County Club courses.

"It will take a real strong player to win this course," said former Tommy Jacobs, Monteale, Calif., who is rated one of the cruelest courses in the world.

But even that may not help. Mike Sorochak and Arnold Palm, or two of the "strongest players" in the history of the game, had no success playing in the wind Wednesday at Pomona Beach.

On the 18th hole, right into the teeth of the wind, Sorochak drove a driver with all his might and ended up in a trap just short of the green. Palm's shot even went the trap.

Not a single checkmate report of a score below 18 on Pomona Beach. Most were in the 20s. Cypress Point was just as bad. And Monterey, which usually plays a bit easier, found 20 per centers.

'Never Been Away,' Pastrano Claims

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)

Willie Pastrano says stew all that talk about his "comeback" because "I've never been away."

"That's right," chimed in trainer Angelo Dundee. "It's back in his groove fighting the light heavyweights and he never looked in better shape in the last three years."

While his entourage were whooping it up after the Miami Beach battle, Pastrano, 24, was in a unanimous decision over Jerry Lucado of New Haven, Conn., in Wednesday night's nationally televised 10-round bout. The 24-year-old Pastrano—campaigning again with the light heavies after three years among the heavyweights—had given Lucado a thorough going over with a rapier-like left that kept his opponent off balance throughout the fight.

Pastrano weighed 177½ to Lucado's 174.

Judge Eddie Tial had Pastrano in front, 100-92. Judge Stu Winstone favored Willie, 95-93, and Referee Jimmie Fearless scored it 92-91. United Press International agreed 100-92.

Raveling's Rebounding Has Made Villanova Major College Power

By United Press International

George Raveling's rebounding has made Villanova a major college basketball power this season in much the same manner that Paul Arizin's scoring punch carried the Wildcats to the heights a decade ago.

Raveling, who holds Villanova's season record for rebounding, controlled the boards with 20 retrieves Wednesday night in the ninth-ranked Villanova 94-85 victory over Seton Hall.

Villanova, the only Eastern representative in the top 10 ratings, bounced back strongly after last Saturday's loss to West Virginia to gain its 11th triumph in 13 starts.

John Driscoll of Villanova topped the scorers with 21 points. He's center had 15 for Seton Hall and the Jaybirds lost their third game in eight starts.

Bob Wilson's basket with 20 seconds left in the game gave Villanova a one-point lead 81-80 victory over Navy.

The Midshipmen held a 10-point lead with nine minutes remaining, but began losing steam as the Terrapins closed the gap. A pair of missed foul attempts by Dick Brown with 10 seconds to go spelled Navy's chance to recover.

Paul Julius of Maryland had a game high of 16 points.

Army racked up its 10th win in 13 starts by snapping a seven-game winning streak off little liberal College, 74-67. Memphis State topped Tennessee Tech, 94-82. Louisville beat Morehead State, 79-77, and Xavier of Ohio whipped Western Kentucky, 74-64.

Kellett Gains Support In Bid For NFL Post

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)

Don Kellett, 50-year-old general manager of the Baltimore Colts, gained support today among strikers' National Football League owners as the compromise candidate for the job of commissioner.

The 12 club owners resumed their controversial election meeting this afternoon after conducting eight fruitless ballots in an effort to select a successor to the late Bert Bell. The owners finally adjourned their deliberations at 11:22 p. m.

At one stage of the voting, Marshall Leaky, 48-year-old San Francisco Forty-Niners attorney, was within one vote of the necessary nine needed for election to the $60,000-a-year job.

But a stubborn bloc of four owners, objecting principally to the transfer of the league office to San Francisco, refused to split their ranks and give Leaky the one additional vote he required for election.

The four holdouts were: George Preston Marshall of the Washington Redskins, Carroll Rosenbloom of the Baltimore Colts, Frank McNamee of the Philadelphia Eagles and George Halas of the Chicago Bears.

By the eighth ballot, Marshall, Rosenbloom, McNamee and Art Rooney of the Pittsburgh Steelers had switched their support to Kellett.

Biggest surprise of the afternoon and evening meetings was the complete absence from contention of Austin Gussel, the 30-year-old former FBI man who has been acting commissioner since Bell's death last October 11. Gussel, who had six supporters when the election began, had none on the night's final ballot.

So confused was the contention for the commissioner's job, however, that one owner commented after the wearisome meetings: "Don't be surprised if Gussel is elected tomorrow."

Angler's World Series May Become Reality

POMFANO BEACH (UPI)

Sponsor Hy Peckin said today that he will try to make next year's "World Series of Sport Fishing" a contest between the world's best anglers.

Art Hall, 55, of Long Beach, Calif., won the 1960 title here Wednesday over 30 other anglers with an overall total of 3,000 points. His last-day catch included three sailfish and a dolphin.

Claude Rogers of Virginia Beach, Va., finished second with 2,207 points and John Polson of Philadelphia, Pa., was third with 2,740.

Peckin, a noted photographer who staged the five-day event, said he was trying to solidify plans to have the 1961 tournament be a "fish-off" by winners of many local tournaments all over the world.

The unofficial title of "bad luck" changed hands to golf star Sam Snead. Snead had lost a big Blue Marlin and a large tarpon during competition of previous days. Wednesday, he and his fishing partner, Red Lovitt of Bangor, Maine, hooked and fought four sailfish at once. Neither boated a fish.

NEW YORK (UPI)

Williamberg (Ohio), Kentucky Wesleyan and Hofstra (N. Y.) gained on up-ranked Evansville (Ind.) and Tennessee State today in United Press International's small college basketball ratings.

Evansville and Tennessee State remained 1-2 for the sixth straight week but Williamberg replaced Louisiana Tech in third place. Louisiana Tech slipped to fourth in the latest balloting by the nationwide board of coaches which rates the smaller schools for UPI.

"I want the same space I had last year," Mrs. Appleby told V. Kennedy, McNeese, the local sportsman who last year led the move to bring baseball back to Sanford after a three year absence. "It was a fine investment," she added, "and I'm glad to be invited to renew."

Oviado Meets Pierson Friday

Oviado hopes to rebound from his worst defeat in the school's history when they go against Pierson Friday night at the Oviado gym.

Game time is set for 7 p. m. Oviado lost to Mt. Dora Bible School, 101-75, Tuesday. Oviado will travel to Timonville for a game.

Pender Promises He'll Take Sugar Ray Friday

BOSTON (UPI)

Paul Pender, the rangy dark-haired Irish challenger from suburban Brookline, said today he expects to give Sugar Ray Robinson "a boxing lesson" Friday night and take what's left of his middleweight crown.

Pender, 25—at least nine years younger than Robinson—explained in the press room at the Hotel Kenmore: "I'll beat the old man with speedy in-and-out tactics like Billy Conn used when he was light heavyweight champion."

The challenger, with the broken away-backed nose said he was confident he could outpoint Sugar Ray in their scheduled 15-rounder at Boston Garden.

Sugar Ray is recognized as champion by the New York and Massachusetts commissions. The NBA withdrew recognition because his last defense was made 22 months ago.

Pender added: "And if Robinson dares to try to knock me out in an early round, as he's promised, I'll probably stop him within 15 rounds. If he starts fast, he'll run out of gas in a hurry. He couldn't knock out Rocky Castellani five years ago. And he'll find me just as fast as Castellani and a much harder hitter. Even Castellani had Robinson on the deck."

Premier Sam Silverman said the advance sale approached $75,000, indicating a gate of $125,000 and a crowd of 12,000. Tickets range from $5 to $20 for the nationally televised and broadcast (NBC) fight. There'll be a TV blackout on a 100-mile radius. Robinson is favored at odds hovering around 5-1, but there's practically no betting.

Andale Favored In Featured Race

Andale, perhaps the finest young greyhound in the world, is heavily favored to cop top laurels in tonight's fast ninth race at Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club, featured event on a 10-race card starting at 8:15.

The big 71-pounder is only 1½ years old, yet he has hustled to victory four times out of five starts this season at the local club. Dog owners and trainers have predicted a brilliant future for the solid young man.

Andale gets top morning line digits of 8-10-3 from the red-hot one-box, producer of the most wins so far this season.

Straight Record is another highly-regarded heavyweight in the fast event. This 73-pounder will be in the six-box for the headliner.

It's Ladies Night at the club and all women will be admitted without any charge. The management will absorb the state admission tax.
