

Pupils Observe Japanese Day At Longwood

By Donna Bates
 In conjunction with their current study of Japan, the children of Mrs. Kathleen Lee's sixth grade Social Studies Class at Longwood Elementary School observed Japanese Day Tuesday.

The room was decorated with art work, paper lanterns, imitation cherry trees, and the Japanese flag. Displayed on tables were figurines, dolls, and Japanese money.

Guests were served Japanese mist tea with cookies, while the students ate "bird's nest soup" (miso soup with shredded wheat).

The children sat at low tables and the most fashionably dressed were Patsy Ruth Grant and Ann McElreath, students, and one of the mothers, Mrs. Hizon Eldridge.

The teacher, Mrs. Lee, wore a Japanese style kimono dress and lovely embroidered shoes.

Special guests, in addition to parents, were the principal, Louis Kosky, Miss Lee Phillips, school secretary, Miss Jeannette Weaver, Korean sister of student Jimmy Weaver.

Just when work will begin on the other four projects has yet to be determined.

A whopping $2,004,000 construction project is in the works at Sanford Naval Air Station as a result of President Johnson signing a military bill in Washington.

Other projects approved and the amount necessary to complete them are:

Two of the projects—the hangar-office-work buildings and the aircraft parking area were authorized by Congress in 1963 but funds were not appropriated until this year. The other three projects were authorized during the last session of Congress.

Five major projects are planned, including one reported in yesterday's Sanford Herald. That called for construction of a huge hangar, another building for office space and work area and several side-projects which are necessary to complete the facility at a cost of $357,000.

A aircraft parking area at a cost of $781,000. An aircraft maintenance hangar at a cost of $644,000. A facility for checking the power of jet engines—cost, $108,000.

Seminole Leaders Praise Hodges

Boosting the Johnson-Humphrey presidential ticket in the Nov. 3 election, Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges pointed to the economic advantages for Florida in continuing the present administration in office as he addressed an enthusiastic group of businessmen at Orlando Wednesday.

spending touched $3.4 billion in the fiscal year 1964 as compared to $1.3 billion paid in federal taxes by Floridians.

Among those who heard the Commerce secretary speak were Sen. Mack N. Cleveland Jr., State Rep. S. J. (Joe) Davis Jr. and Dr. W. Vincent Roberts, all of Sanford. Dr. Roberts heads the Johnson-Humphrey campaign in Seminole County.

After outlining financial statistics on a national scale, Hodges turned to Florida economics and said that federal

His talk was truly inspiring," Cleveland concluded. "The two most significant things that impressed me were his humility and sincerity."

The Seminole County Chamber of Commerce announced today a shoe manufacturing firm is interested in locating in this area. A survey for potential employes is being made by the Chamber in conjunction with the Florida State Employment Office.

"We are requesting qualified persons, male or female, to register immediately with the employment office, 200 S. French Ave.," Krider said.

the Friday event.

Everett Biggs, superintendent for HLH Products, said the extension will add a building measuring 140 by 240 feet and will cost $67,200.

The announcement was made today by Scott Burns, chairman of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce's Industrial Committee.

Biggs declared he is "very happy with the operation here and with the cooperation of local officials and citizens."

Biggs' explanation of the national debt and its percentage of increase (16 per cent since the late 1940's) as compared to state and local government, which increased over 300 per cent during the same period, was significant.

The expansion project is the first since the firm located here more than two years ago and emphasizes the vital role Seminole County plays in the company's growth, the chairman said.

The plant expansion is necessary, he said, due to the increase in operations and the acceptance of the firm's products.

"I wish all of our people could have heard this man speak as he did not resort to political oratory but relied upon facts."

Success Story Of Florida Airline

National Airlines, celebrating its 30th year in business this month, faces an exhilarating future, "and what's good for National is good for Florida," Kiwanians heard at their meeting Wednesday at the Civic Center.

Bringing this news was Dan Case, district sales manager for National, who described the history of the airline, "the only one born, based and chartered in Florida."

Case described how the first flight was made from St. Petersburg in October, 1931.

"Now we are coast to coast in the United States as well as flying to points all over the world," he noted.

The first flight was in a four passenger Ryan aircraft which also carried the mail. G. T. "Ted" Baker bid and won on the 146-mile route which was the start of the present huge airline company.

In 1944, National got the New York to Miami run and in 1946 ran the first non-stop flight from New York to Miami, beginning a new type of tourist accommodation which has increased steadily.

"Last winter the tourist flights were fantastic, reaching a peak at Easter, and continuing all year round with our summer vacation package flights," Case said.

"Package vacation flights have helped to change the economy of Florida, extending the tourist business from winter time to a year-round activity," Case noted.

In 1958 Case said, the first domestic jet service to Cape Kennedy was established and in 1961 the Southern Transcontinental flight on the "space route" connecting Cape Kennedy with other space centers in New Orleans, Houston and Los Angeles was established.

"The National Airlines sales manager said that the company has many personal contacts with industrialists all over the country and desire to work with municipalities and chambers of commerce in strengthening industry in the state of Florida in any way they can."

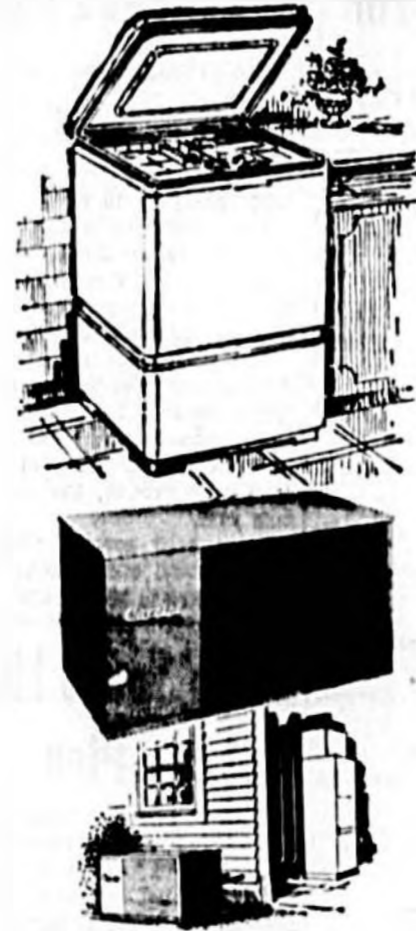

"If we can be of assistance to you in putting you in touch with possible contacts, we are eager to do so," he said.

All airlines have now converted to jet service and Saturday, National will complete its last flight with a piston-engine aircraft.

"Beyond the sound barrier are super-sonic flights, but nothing in this line for commercial service is expected before 1970," Case said.

"Coming up now is the 'era of the pampered passengers,' with all airlines engaging in vigorous competition to improve service to the flying public," Case emphasized.

"Free enterprise is the best incentive to active competition. The aim of National is not to be the biggest, but to be the best," he concluded.

Southside Shudders --- Its The Spooks

It took Hugh Carlton to do it, but it's done! Even the wheels at City Hall couldn't believe it! What's more, Susie herself was taken by surprise when one of her male spook-lets came home talking something about the Peanut Bowl gonna be on Hallowe'en night.

Not one word of this shenanigans would Susie believe until she got the magic word from the head of Southside Spooks, Velma Mitchell and Ruddy Raw's. These two relate how they were holding a seance one day when a message of great importance came through from Junior High School principal Carlton that he just absolutely had to have the Peanut Bowl on Saturday, Oct. 31.

This message was met with all sorts of threats of hants and whispering campaigns. In fact they sounded so important that quick as a Hallowe'en cat could wink its eye, ole Hugh and cohort Teddy Barker flew through the walls of Southside to plead their case.

So sincere were their pleas that Spooks Mitchell and Rawls yielded and agreed to have the Southside School Hallowe'en Carnival on Friday night Oct. 30!

Now you football fans, hold on. The spirits moved and the witches howled and what do you know, the Seminole High School game of Friday Oct. 30 has been moved to Thursday, Oct. 29. So things are looking up.

Central Florida Plans Council On Alcoholism

Preliminary action will be taken Monday to form a Council on Alcoholism to serve the Central Florida area.

A steering committee met recently to draw up plans for organization and a public meeting has been set at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the auditorium of the American Red Cross at 2401 E. Central Ave. (corner of Bumby) in Orlando.

"Alcoholism holds the dubious distinction of being the fourth ranking public health problem in the United States today, following heart disease, cancer and mental illness," the committee noted.

"There are residing in Central Florida more than 10,000 alcoholics and the impact of their illness extends to an untold number of other persons," it was emphasized.

The Council on Alcoholism, which would be an affiliate of the National Council with headquarters in New York, is a voluntary citizens public health organization much like other public health organizations.

It conducts activities in the field of alcoholism with the primary objective of education of the public regarding alcoholism and the wide dissemination of knowledge and information on the subject.

The three basic concepts of the organization are:

1. Alcoholism is a disease and the alcoholic is a sick person.

2. Alcoholics can be helped and are worth helping.

3. Alcoholism is a public health problem and therefore a public responsibility.

The council is neither "wet" nor "dry." The disease of alcoholism, not social drinking, is its concern.

The council being organized to deal with this problem will be made up a cross-section of the community, with its individual members representing every segment of the population of Central Florida, both lay and professional.

Invited to send representatives to the meeting are the Sanford Ministerial Association, the Seminole County Medical Society, the Seminole County Health Department, the Mental Health Association, Juvenile Court, Municipal Court and County Court. Any interested citizen is also invited to attend.

Tucker Going To Convention

T. E. Tucker, president of the Florida State Bank, will be among those attending the American Bankers Association convention next week in Miami Beach.

The convention opens Sunday and continues through Wednesday. More than 8,500 of the nation's bankers are expected.

Longdale Hears Demos Speak

By Donna Estes
Approximately 50 enthusiastic persons attended Longdale's first Democratic rally Tuesday evening.

Campaign coordinator Bill Tanner served as master of ceremonies in the absence of Mayor A. R. Lormann, who had a previous commitment.

Rep. Joe Davis, running for re-election to the legislature, cited his experience and past service, in his short talk as did Mary Earle Walker, candidate for tax assessor.

Mayor Lawrence Swafford of Altamonte Springs said he has no interest outside of Seminole County. He promised that if elected to the county commission he would work toward establishing a County Humane Society, getting a metropolitan telephone system and redistricting so that no municipality will be divided.

Al Davis, seeking election as justice of peace, said he would bring prestige and dignity into that office and administer the laws fairly.

Jim Birkenmeyer cited his experience and dedication to the school board.

Seminole Farm Census To Be Conducted

Plans for taking the 1964 census of agriculture in Seminole county were announced today by R. R. Pierson, newly-appointed census crew leader for the county.

The work will be done in three stages, he said. First will come recruitment and training of enumerators to count all the farms in the county. About one worker for each 150 farms will be needed.

Soon after Nov. 5, the Bureau of the Census, an agency of the U.S. Department of Commerce, will start the second stage by mailing agricultural census questionnaires to all rural boxholders in the county.

In the final stage all enumerators will visit each farm to collect the questionnaires. They will help farmers complete answers to any questions they find difficult.

The visits are expected to begin Nov. 9. The census of agriculture is taken every five years in the year ending with "4" and "9" to gather up-to-date information on the nation's agricultural resources and production.

Data gathered include the number and size of farms, acreage and harvest of crops, livestock inventory, information on farm equipment and facilities, farm products sold, and use of fertilizers, insecticides and herbicides.

Baker Completes Year's Work On Municipal League Panel

JACKSONVILLE— Commissioner Joe B. Baker, of Sanford, is concluding a year of service on one of the Florida League of Municipalities' primary committees, which will make a report to the largest convention in League history, according to Executive Secretary Gorion T. Butler in League headquarters here, where the meeting will be held Sunday through Tuesday.

"As a member of the Committee on Annexation, Commissioner Baker has participated in a year of valuable research and analysis," Secretary Butler said. "Thorough study of this major problem, with continuing efforts to acquaint the general public with the facts and figures have marked the Annexation Committee's work as genuinely useful."

Butler added that the League feels "a comprehensive report of this kind will contribute materially to the orderly development of Florida's urban growth."

Program plans for the Florida League's three-day meeting here promise a full schedule of work and fellowship. Delegates, who are expected to total more than a thousand, will hear such speakers as Senator George A. Smathers, Chief Justice E. Harris Drew and syndicated Columnist Drew Pearson. State Senate President-elect James E. (Nick) Connor, and Representative E. C. Rowell, House Speaker-designate, are also program guests.

Biggest Civil Rights Impact 'Yet To Come'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Some of the biggest impact of the 1964 civil rights law is yet to come.

So far, no federal agencies have acted under the law to require an end to racial discrimination in state and local programs which they help to finance.

But many agencies are working up anti-discrimination regulations to accompany their allocations in the future. Penalties for non-compliance, including a cutoff of federal funds, will be outlined.

Attorney William I. Taylor, who is helping some of the agencies prepare their regulations, says they will have "great and far-reaching significance."

Taylor, general counsel of the civil rights commission, expects the agencies to implement their regulations during the next few months.

He figures that most state and local administrators will comply and bring racial integration to vast numbers of employment and educational areas which depend heavily on federal handouts.

Taylor was pleasantly surprised at the amount of compliance with the law's public accommodations section, which has stirred the most attention to date.

"There has been very little overt defiance as there was to the Supreme Court's school decision in 1954," he says. "A number of southern political leaders encouraged compliance and this contributed heavily to a better atmosphere."

"This has been a better year for school desegregation in the South than we have had before. Some 100 schools desegregated without court decrees. I suspect the civil rights bill helped to bring about this encouraging situation."

Taylor also credits efforts of civil rights groups, particularly in voter registration, with altering the South's racial picture.

The commission is concentrating on seeking voluntary compliance with the civil rights law.

It sponsored meetings of community leaders in Atlanta and Columbia, S. C., to discuss the law's provisions. Similar meetings are scheduled at Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 20; at Little Rock, Ark., Dec. 7; and others are tentatively planned.

Taylor is delighted with the turnout for the first two meetings. "Two or three years ago," he says, "Practically nobody would have dared to attend such a gathering in the South."

Graves Silent On Big Game With Alabama

By United Press International
Florida Coach Ray Graves is saying as little as possible about Saturday's game with Alabama—and for a reason.

"I'm afraid I'll make Alabama coach (Bear) Bryant mad," says Graves, tongue in cheek. "I think he's mad enough at us already because we beat him last year, and we don't want to make him any madder."

Graves has been working his Gators out in secret all week and says his team's progress has been "satisfactory." He predicts a defensive struggle at Tusculoosa and says the team that scores two touchdowns should win.

Alabama concentrated on punt protection Wednesday as an aftermath to a blocked punt in the Tennessee game last Saturday. "I thought we had more concentration on what we were doing than we've had in a good while," Bryant said.

Georgia's Bulldogs went into an overtime session Wednesday in its drills for Kentucky. "We accomplished more because we stayed out longer," coach Vince Dooley said after the session.

At Mississippi State, Coach Paul Davis said starting left end Tommy Inman would miss Saturday's game with Houston. Inman suffered a plucked nerve in practice last week.

Tulane reviewed its passing and kicking formations Wednesday and coach Tommy O'Boyle said the Greenies would have to be at their peak to stay on the field with Georgia Tech. He said the Yellow Jackets had tremendous backfield speed.

Reds Paddle To Olympic Wins

By Leo E. Peterson
UPI Sports Editor
TOKYO (UPI)—Lightly-regarded American girl canoeists stunned European veterans with a silver medal and one bronze at the Olympic Games today but Russia whitewashed away at the United States gold medal lead by padding to victory in three races.

Fifteen year old Francine Fox and 35-year-old Gloriana Perrier of Washington, threab-ing furiously in a late rally, nosed in second in the women's 500 meter tandem kayak event and 23-year-old Marcia Jones of Oklahoma City out-bought a group of seasoned Europeans to grab third in the single kayak.

Those superb performances by the American girls were about as unexpected as a 10-game winning streak by New York's baseball Mets.

"We have only 12 girls paddling in the whole United States," said jubilant Coach Eric Fiecht of New York City, "and two of them beat the rest of the world except the talented German girls."

However, the Soviets, winning three of the seven gold medals at scenic Lake Sagami 23 miles south of Tokyo, pushed their gold medal total to 22—just 13 back of the U. S. team with more expected tonight in gymnastics.

Russia also picked up a bronze medal in canoeing, two bronze medals in heavyweight judo and another bronze in the Grand Prix dressage equestrian event for a total of 70 gold, silver and bronze.

The U. S. now has 68 over-all. American Zimmerman and Rowbotham Kaser of Germany won the women's kayak tandem in 1:04.93 with the American pair—Miss Fox at stroke with Miss Perrier—clocked in 1:00.16 and more than a second faster than heavily favored Romania.

Club Owners To Okay Move For Braves

By Fred Down
UPI Sports Writer
NEW YORK (UPI)—National League club owners are expected to brush aside sentiment, tradition and the misgivings of baseball Commissioner Ford Frick today by giving the Milwaukee Braves official approval to transfer their franchise to Atlanta.

It will mark the first time in 11 frantic years of major league expansion and realignment that (1) a transfer of a franchise will leave a city without a big league team and (2) the majors will invade the Deep South. It also will bring a sad ending to the "Miracle of Sudaville"—an eight-year period during which Milwaukee fans supported the Braves with record attendances and unparalleled enthusiasm.

The official green light to switch the Braves from Milwaukee to Atlanta requires only seven approving votes from the 10 club owners and their representatives, who will gather for the special meeting in the Commodore Hotel.

Although several club owners declined to reveal how they will vote until the actual balloting is taken, it is considered certain that the move will be approved. The pre-valing feeling among National League owners is that a transfer in the business of

Yankees Start Player Change

NEW YORK (UPI)—Pitcher Ralph Terry, a World Series hero in 1962 who subsequently faded into bullpen duty and infrequent starting assignments, is the first New York Yankee to leave the ball club under the new regime of Manager Johnny Keane.

The 23-year-old righthander was sold to the Cleveland Indians Wednesday for an undisclosed amount of cash.

Technically, the sale of Terry was part of the deal that sent pitcher Pedro Ramos to the Yankees during their September pennant drive. At the time, the Yankees agreed to furnish the Indians with a front line player after the season.

Terry, a native of Larned, Kan., enjoyed his finest year in the majors in 1962 when he posted a 23-12 record. He then went on to star in the World Series against the San Francisco Giants, defeating Jack Sanford, 1-0, in the seventh and deciding game.

Triple Threat Of Triplets On Bama Squad

By Al Benn
United Press International
BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI)—Glenn Vocational High School of Birmingham has what may be one of the most unusual triple threats in the nation. Two of its guards and a wingback are triplets.

Donald, Ronald and Arnold English, 17-year-old seniors, probably are the only triplets ever to play high school football.

Donald and Ronald are considerably huskier than Arnold who tips the scales at 125 pounds and, according to his coach, "has taken some real jolts."

Each contest brings renewed hope but the windup is always the same frustrating experience—another loss for Glenn Vocational.

Glenn has lost 26 straight games since initiating football three years ago and is fast becoming known as the "Mets" of Birmingham.

Ailing Wilt Stalls Warriors

United Press International
There's nothing wrong with the San Francisco Warriors that a Wilt Chamberlain couldn't cure. But first Wilt must get cured himself.

Chamberlain has been hospitalized with a stomach ailment since the start of the National Basketball Association season, and with big Wilt out of action, the Warriors are something less than a contender for the Western Division championship they won last season.

Without Chamberlain to score points and control the backboards, the Warriors have gone down to defeat in their first three games, including a 108-103 loss to the normally hapless Detroit Pistons Wednesday night. It was Detroit's first victory in three decisions.

The Pistons, led by Reggie Harding, who poured in 22 points, staged a scoring spree in the second quarter to take a 34-31 halftime lead and were never headed thereafter although San Francisco threatened to pull it out with a rally in the waning moments.

In the only other NBA game Wednesday night, the Los Angeles Lakers edged the Baltimore Bullets, 108-105, for their second win in three starts. Jerry West led the attack for the Lakers, scoring 33 points and picking off 10 rebounds.

MUSTANGS SOLD
SCRANTON, Pa. (UPI)—Cosmo Lacavazzi, 28, purchased the Hazleton Mustangs of the Atlantic Coast Football League for $25,000 last night. In making the announcement of the franchise shift, league Commissioner Joseph Rosentover said that the team will continue to play in the Southern Division of the league, but will move to Scranton and be known as the Scranton Pros.

Ladies Begin Arizona Round

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—A field of 38 golfers teed off today in the opening round of the Ladies Professional Golfers Association $11,000 Phoenix Open.

The 72-hole event, which ends Sunday, was being played over the 4,370-yard par-72 Arizona Biltmore Hotel golf course.

Sandra Haynie, a Texan now calling Phoenix her home, was back to defend the title she won last year with a two-under par 236. Also in the field was Kathy Whitworth who won the event in 1962, the first year it was held.

Other name golfers entered were Mickey Wright, top money winner with $23,345 Ruth Jessen, winner in Santa Barbara, Calif., two weeks ago and the No. 3 money winner with $19,868; and Betsy Rawls, in fourth place on the money list.

Peggy Crever Hosts Meeting Of Phi Gamma Eta

Phi Gamma Eta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi recently held their regular business meeting at the home of president Peggy Crever.

The cultural program, "Am I a Practical Person?" was given by Jean Gonzalez and Linda Hittell.

Articles were collected for the Good Samaritan Home, a service project of the chapter.

Plans were discussed for a "Decor of Home Living" party. The chapter will be in charge of the event to be held in the Florida State Bank lounge with the date being announced later. "Decor of Home Living" is a line of household "knick knacks" from artificial flower arrangements and vases to kitchen and bathroom accessories. The public will be invited to come in and see the displays at the bank lounge during the appointed hours. This will be an excellent chance for early Christmas shopping.

An interesting auction of household articles was enjoyed by the members after the business meeting.

Refreshments were served to the chapter's guest, Francis Bowden, and members Linda Reck, Sandy Collins, Barbara Erickson, Jean Gonzalez, Linda Hittell, June Warner, Carol Mitchell, Shirley Alexander, Joan Brooks, Leslie Best, Mary Sharp and Jan Vihlen.

Laminates Offer Light Weight Wrinkle-Resistant Warmth

NEW YORK (NEA)—There has been a lot of talk in the fashion world about "two-face fabrics," "bonded foam fabrics," "sandwich laminates," and so forth. Call them what you will, they all add up to fashion with function for the consumer.

No matter what name they go by in the trade, foam laminated fabrics according to the major producer of urethane foam for apparel use, are the result of a progress whereby

Esther Circle Prepares Clothes For Foreign Aid

Mrs. J. F. Smith was hostess recently to the Esther Circle of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Grace Methodist Church.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. J. A. Williams. The highlight of the meeting was the presentation of five sets of clothing by Mrs. Smith, made by the church ladies, to be sent to children in Latin America and Africa.

Mrs. Gary Bernink gave a most inspiring program on the Christian woman's role in life.

Following the meeting, the hostess served pumpkin pie and coffee to Mrs. Charles Ciemmer, Mrs. Harry Klay and Mrs. C. E. Williams.

BONDED FOAM FABRICS add drapability and wrinkle-resistance to all fashion categories for fall. Oyster twill reefer (left) by Lanson has black button, double-breasted closing. Sash pockets emphasize the spare, slim look. Don Simoni pairs the silhouette in this houndstooth check suit (center), with hidden buttons and new longer length jacket. The brief pop top (right) in popcorn stitch knit has its own five foot long fringed stole which can be worn as a sash as well. It is a Dive-ettes design. All these fashions offer lightweight warmth, shape retention and wrinkle-resistance through the use of urethane foam lamination; all add up to fashion with a function.

open-weave fabrics so popular for fall, this process provides stabilization.

Although once used mainly in sportswear and outerwear because they provided warmth without weight, laminates this fall are being used in nearly every fashion category—even in elegant metallic knits for evening wear.

Sportswear manufacturers on the lookout for comfort use foam laminates for pants that won't wrinkle and warmth without weight in skiwear.

Knitwear houses find that foam lamination helps fine knits to wear like old-fashioned denim and protects sensitive skin from irritation by ribbon knit and metallic knit evening gowns.

And if you have had to forego beautiful wool fashions because of an allergy from direct contact, these new laminates can open up a whole new world of fashion to you.

County Extension Homemakers Council Meets

By Mrs. H. L. Johnson Mrs. H. G. Shuler and Tom Richey were guest speakers at a recent open council meeting of the Seminole County Extension Homemakers Council. The all day affair was held in Geneva with the Geneva Club serving as hostesses.

Mrs. Shuler told of her recent visit to 20 different countries which took her two and one-half months to make, visiting Africa, South America and Europe. She had on display some very interesting trinkets and other items which she brought back with her. She also showed slides of interesting points of her trip.

Richey, assistant principal of Seminole High School spoke to the group on "What is New in Civil Defense in Seminole County." He told the homemakers that Seminole County needs a warning system and shelter places and that nothing is being done towards these things. He suggested that the group take a first aid course. At the close of his talk there was a question and answer period.

Mrs. Charles Sassman, Council president, conducted a short business meeting, after a delicious covered dish luncheon, at noon. The Geneva Club decorated each table with fall greenery and artificial vegetables.

The council will participate in the coming Lesion Fair and also participate in the Christmas Parade on Dec. 2.

New officers for the coming year were nominated at this time. They will be installed at the annual Christmas party which will be hosted by the Lake Monroe Club and will be held in the Educational Building of the Upsala Presbyterian Church on Country Club Road. This affair will be on Dec. 4, starting at 7:30 p.m.

New officers are president, Mrs. Charles Sassman, Lake Mary Club; first vice president, Mrs. R. T. Hunt, Sanford Club; second vice president, Mrs. H. L. Johnson, Lake Monroe Club; secretary, Mrs. Felix Meze, Longwood Club; treasurer, Mrs. Edwin Kennedy, Lake Mary Club, and delegate, Mrs. Frank Steudie, Longwood Club.

It was voted to give some of the Christmas gifts which are brought to the party, to the Seminole County T.B. patients.

MISS MYRTLE WILSON, county agent, Tom Richey and Mrs. H. G. Shuler are shown at a recent open council meeting of the Seminole County Extension Homemakers Council in Geneva. Mr. Richey and Mrs. Shuler were guest speakers.

No Place For A Loner

The presidency of the United States is not for a man who prefers to be a "loner." Nor is it for one who is politically inept.

Such a man is Senator Barry Goldwater, the sometime Republican choice for the November 3 election.

Goldwater disagreed with the overwhelming majority of his own party over two thirds of the time on 40 key votes between the years 1953 and 1960.

To differ on an issue is a recognized American tradition. But to differ just to be different is something again. We firmly believe Senator Goldwater has adopted such a strategy.

Proof? Goldwater NEVER supported President Eisenhower once on mutual security appropriations. In contrast to Goldwater's opposition, 70 to 80 per cent of the other Republican senators supported Ike in all of those votes.

So did a similar percentage of Democrats, including then-Senator Lyndon Johnson, Democratic leader of the Senate, and Senator Hubert Humphrey.

More proof? Johnson and Humphrey voted in eight key Senate votes between 1953 and 1960 on defense appropriations. Goldwater, in contrast, voted against the requested funds or for increasing the nation's defense readiness in those same eight key votes.

The Congressional Quarterly shows then-Senator Johnson supported 96 per cent of President Eisenhower's foreign policy legislation in 1960. That compares with Goldwater's 24 per cent.

His consistency for inconsistency is clearly spelled out on his present Civil Rights stand. Back in 1957, Senator Goldwater voted "yes" on the passage of the first Civil Rights bill since Reconstruction. The record shows the bill passed 72 to 18 on August 7, 1957.

Of specific interest to Seminole County residents is Goldwater's position on the vote on the Flood Control Act of 1959. The bill authorizing $1.5 billion for rivers and harbors and flood control projects was passed 70 to 5. Goldwater voted "no."

The presidency of the United States calls for a leader, a person capable of massive political persuasion. Such a man Barry Goldwater is not.

President Lyndon Johnson is that man.

Thought For Today

And the king will desire your beauty, since he is your lord, bow to him.—Psalm 45:11.

I pray thee, O God, that I may be beautiful within.—Socrates, ancient Greek philosopher.

Dr. Crane's Worry Clinic

George Stuart offers several very shrewd observations about mob psychology so scrupulous this case. And insure your children against joining gangs of vandals by the methods outlined below. For self-assured and "working" youth have less need for mob activity.

CASE U-410: George D. Stuart is the talented editor of the NEWS at Tarentum, Pa. Some weeks ago we were discussing vandalism.

"Dr. Crane," he added, "we have had two such incidents in our area this year.

"One involved the tombstones in a cemetery.

"The other was a church which vandals invaded on the evening before last Easter Sunday.

"Boys were blamed in both those cases. But I have known other instances where older people also seem to take a fiendish glee in wanton destruction.

"Why is this more true when people are in groups than when they are alone?"

George Stuart has wisely mentioned the fact that vandalism is usually linked with mobs or groups or gangs.

And his second observation is sound, too, when he says boys (not girls) are usually implicated.

Why should boys be more inclined to wanton destruction? In that connection, which sex delights in shooting rabbits, squirrels and wild fowl, often just for "kicks."

Which launches "hot wars"? Or furishes the crowds at prize fights?

Males start the shooting wars while women organize nursing units to help bind up the wounds and care for the injured.

As a rule, boys who have worked at creative tasks and thus have entrenched habits of "building up" are not likely to resort to "tearing down."

For example, would newspaper boys or loafing teenagers be more likely to join vandalism mobs?

How about Boy Scouts vs. the non-Scouts?

Is it the athletes on the school teams or the lazy spectators that snake dance down the boulevard and then loot candy stores or other shops, as is occasionally true even of college men?

Is it the boy who has worked for his spending money or the "kept" youth who has been on a free family "dole," called a weekly allowance?

Mob action is an outlet for a long repressed hunger for power on the part of people with an inferiority complex.

When melded into a gang, the timid person subconsciously becomes impressed both with his greater power, as well as his anonymity!

While alone, he can be recognized and thus held accountable.

But in a mob, he hides his identity and meanwhile gains gigantic strength.

So mob action typifies repressed "inferiority complex" who wish to strut their stuff and strike back at adult restrictions.

Since property usually symbolizes adults, vandalism expresses the child's latent resentment at parents or other grown-ups who have "policed" him so long.

"A mob," runs an old proverb, "is a monster with many hands and no brain!"

One of the quickest ways to disperse a mob is thus to identify some of its members aloud and expose their anonymity!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Phil Newsom Says

How Far Can West Go?

WISTON HOUSE, Sussex, England—(UPI)—A contradiction of U. S. nuclear power is that it has in some degree made agreement with the Russians easier and agreement among the Western Allies more difficult.

And if this seems a restatement of an already established fact, it is worth nothing for other important problems which are directly related.

Does the fact of U. S. nuclear power make obsolete the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) upon which Western defense has depended since 1919?

How permanent is the current relaxation in relations between the West and the Soviet Union?

And, related to the above, how far can the West go in relaxing trade restrictions with Russia and the East European Communist satellite nations?

These are among the questions which have been discussed at the Wilton Park conference in which this correspondent is a participant. Taking part are nationals of the United States, Great Britain, France, Italy, West Germany, Norway, Sweden, Finland and Switzerland. Many hold official positions but speak here as private citizens.

One British expert has estimated U. S. military power at 15 to 20 times that of all its allies combined. Another has suggested that the real reason for Russian secrecy is its comparative military weakness while the converse U. S. attitude is a demonstration of strength.

Whatever the relative figures may be, the powerful U. S. deterrent is given credit for instilling new caution in Soviet leadership while stirring the resentment of French President Charles de Gaulle and strengthening his determination to be included in councils of the world nuclear powers.

The tendency of the U. S. S. R. and the United States to negotiate directly also has aroused the suspicions and resentment of right-wing West German politicians led by former Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and in Geneva to a sense of frustration within the 17-nation world disarmament conference.

Political Notebook

WASHINGTON (NEA)—In the past two years the U. S. government's Arms Control and Disarmament Agency has hired private research teams to explore disarmament ideas.

The results are not official policy, but they do indicate disarmament approaches this government is considering.

Of particular interest are disarmament ideas which some of the government-sponsored research men say would be feasible without on-the-spot inspections in the Soviet Union. They include:

—Ways to prohibit military flight testing of intercontinental missiles and AICBMs (anti-intercontinental ballistic missile systems.)

These disarmament research men feel strongly the need of including AICBM testing in such a ban. One report says:

"The use of AICBMs to protect hardened missile sites seems stabilizing (to peace), whereas their use to protect major cities is destabilizing.

to the extent that they give their possessor confidence that he can avoid unacceptable retaliatory damage if he launches a first strike.

"From an over-all perspective, it is important to realize that the development of AICBMs tends to be destabilizing, since it would be difficult to prohibit their use for (protecting) cities once they become operational."

—Methods to limit military research and development with the aim of preventing the perfection of pure fusion military devices, ray guns, superior penetration aids for intercontinental missiles and significant advances in anti-submarine warfare techniques and in infrared detection.

—Agreements not to develop certain new weapons such as bombs-in-orbit.

Says one research team:

"At the present time it would seem possible for both sides to agree not to develop bombs in orbit. . . . The only possible difficulty might be that the Soviet Union is further ahead in this development than the United States and might insist on linking this measure to others in which the United States has an advantage."

—Agreements for the destruction of "obsolete" delivery systems such as "medium bombers" and "perhaps the numerous so-called tactical devices of ranges less than a thousand miles."

—Some sort of agreement to limit the U. S. and Soviet strategic forces "to about 1,000 strategic delivery systems."

One research report says:

"The U. S. delivery force might look like the following after the reduction had been made:

"Heavy bombers 30; Titan missiles 100; Atlas missiles 100; Minutemen 400; Polarises; 200 missiles in 40 submarines. All IRBMs would be destroyed. . . . All air-to-surface missiles would be destroyed."

"The Soviet delivery force, under such an agreement, might look like the following:

"Heavy bombers 200; long-range missiles 200; medium bombers 200; IRBMs 400."

(Note that under this proposal the United States would destroy many times as many ICBMs, intercontinental bombers and Paloris weapons as would the Soviet Union.)

The disarmament research men who suggest this concept note that the "force structure as outlined . . . poses problems . . . for it tends to leave Europe vulnerable to medium-bomber and IRBM attack without a European retaliatory capacity to deter such attack."

Registration In State Tops 2.5 Million

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The secretary of state's office has disclosed that Florida has a record 2,500,000 voters eligible to participate in the November election for president and governor and other races. That is an increase of 275,000 since the spring primaries and is nearly a half million more than were registered the last time the country elected a president.

Of the total new vote, 2,008,700 are Democrats and 491,300 are Republicans. The other 25,500 are Independents.

This represents an increase in registered Democrats since April of 200,532 and a jump of 61,371 in GOP voters.

The increase since the 1960 general election, when Florida gave its vote to Republican Richard Nixon for president, is 333,355 Democrats and 119,216 Republicans.

The secretary's office compiled the registration from figures sent in by the voting supervisors of the 67 counties.

Dade County (Miami) led the state with a total registration of 408,183 which included 400,820 Democrats and 62,162 Republicans.

Largest concentrated GOP registration was, as expected, in Pinellas County which listed 161,906 in the GOP fold and 116,785 Democrats. Broward County also had a large GOP registration, 62,785, but it was offset by 127,255 Democrats.

Sarasota continued as the only county where registered Republicans outnumbered registered Democrats, but the margin was small—22,970 Republicans against 21,503 Democrats.

Duval County held on to second place in total number of registered Democrats — but Pinellas (St. Petersburg) outdistanced Duval in total registration.

Pinellas had a total registration of 224,138 of which 116,785 were Democrats and 101,996 Republicans. Broward has 185,687 total of which 127,255 are Democrats and 62,785 Republicans.

Duval—with 178,278 Democrats and 14,296 Republicans—and some Independents listed a total eligible voting list of 194,555.

Others in the so-called big 10 of voting included Hillsborough with a total registration of 183,187, Orange 118,645, Palm Beach 135,286, Polk 84,018 and Escambia 73,691. Volusia, running neck and neck with Escambia, had a total registration of 72,028.

Demos Plan LBJ Motorcade

Plans for a motorcade from Sanford to Orlando to hear and see President Johnson Monday morning are being made by local officials.

Dr. W. Vincent Roberts, head of the LBJ for the USA Committee, said bumper stickers and other material will be available for those planning to visit Orlando for the occasion.

Dr. Roberts said he will be in Orlando shortly for a meeting to firm up plans for the visit and asked "those interested in seeing and hearing the President of the United States to take advantage of this opportunity."

"It's a rare opportunity for Sanford and Seminole County residents to see the President," he said in urging a large attendance.

Dr. Roberts said persons interested in joining the motorcade can receive further information by contacting the Democratic LBJ Headquarters at 322-7166.

Those big searchlights at the Sanford Shopping Center really light up the area. A Herald staff member returning from Pierson Wednesday night said he could see them just after he passed DeLand.

Canal Directors OK Budget Of $86,000

An $86,000 budget was adopted and officers re-elected for the coming year at a meeting of the directors of the St. Johns Indian River Canal District Thursday at Titusville.

Officers are John Rider, Sanford, chairman; Ransom Downes, Orlando, vice chairman; R. C. Brady, Titusville, treasurer, and S. O. Shihohler Jr., New Smyrna Beach, secretary, John Brumley, Sanford, is the fifth director.

D. W. Wiggert, of the engineering firm of Reynolds, Smith and Hills, Orlando, reported that levels have been run on the proposed right-of-way for the canal between the St. Johns and Indian Rivers.

Ground was broken today for a $67,200 addition to the million dollar H. L. Hunt food processing plant at the Lake Monroe Industrial Park off French Avenue.

Plant superintendent Everett Biggs turned the first spadeful of earth with a golden shovel as city and county officials, Chamber of Commerce Industrial committee members and other dignitaries looked on.

The new warehouse, a 100 by 200 foot structure to be built by LeRoy Robb Construction Company will double present storage space at the Hunt plant. Work is expected to begin next week.

Sale Of Yankee Club Hits Snag

CHICAGO (UPI)—Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick will prohibit sale of the New York Yankees to Columbia Broadcasting System within the next week or 10 days, informed sources believed today.

Frick, it was understood, has been advised to act by the antitrust division of the Justice Department, which has been investigating the sale.

Should he fail to declare the sale null and void, it was believed, the antitrust division would rule that it cannot be consummated.

The sale, in which CBS obtained 80 per cent of the stock of the Yankees, was revealed last August, to be final on Nov. 2.

Plane 'Dusts Off' Civil Rights Setto

INDIANOLA, Miss. (UPI) — A small airplane swooped over a building where 250 persons were attending a civil rights meeting Thursday night and dropped an explosive that jarred the structure, a civil rights group reported.

There were no injuries and no apparent damage.

An officer at the Indianola Police Department said he could give no information on the reported incident, because he "wasn't on duty when it happened."

The Council of Federated Organizations (COFO) in Jackson said the incident was reported by Fred Wynn, a Stanford University student aiding in civil rights work in Mississippi.

COFO quoted Wynn as saying the plane, "a small one like those used in crop dusting," flew over the meeting about 8:15 p.m. CST.

Mac Shifts On Nuclear Power

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara seems to be having a change of heart about the use of nuclear propulsion in aircraft carriers.

He fought Navy and Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) efforts to have America's latest carrier, the John F. Kennedy, nuclear-powered. But he laid a news conference Thursday that the chances of having atomic propulsion in the next carrier, tentatively scheduled to be started in 1966, "are very good, indeed."

McNamara was chastised by the Joint Congressional Atomic Energy Committee early this year for his refusal to change the Kennedy from conventional to nuclear power despite the AEC and Navy proposals.

After a long delay while the proposals were being considered and finally rejected, the construction of the Kennedy was begun.

Blast Damages Seminole House

An explosion from a gas leak in a refrigerator connection at 8:45 this morning caused considerable damage to the interior of the home of Ben Schater, 100 Dahila Dr., Forest City, and resulted in a small fire.

A gas company representative on the scene extinguished the blaze.

Answering the call for assistance were the Florida Forest Service and the Wekiwa, Killarney and Longwood Fire Departments.

Ground Broken For Addition At HLH Plant

Ground was broken today for a $67,200 addition to the million dollar H. L. Hunt food processing plant at the Lake Monroe Industrial Park off French Avenue.

Plant superintendent Everett Biggs turned the first spadeful of earth with a golden shovel as city and county officials, Chamber of Commerce Industrial committee members and other dignitaries looked on.

The new warehouse, a 100 by 200 foot structure to be built by LeRoy Robb Construction Company will double present storage space at the Hunt plant. Work is expected to begin next week.

Hoover Moved To Capitol

NEW YORK (UPI) — Herbert Clark Hoover, statesman and friend of mankind, left forever today the city he adopted and loved to return to the Capitol for final homage from a grateful nation.

The black-draped catafalque built for the funeral of Abraham Lincoln and used twice within the past 11 months was placed in the center of the Capitol Rotunda awaiting the arrival of the body of the 31st President of the United States.

Hoover, who rose from the humblest of beginnings to the highest office in the land, died Tuesday at the age of 90.

The weather was clear and crisp and mourners stood on Park Avenue in front of St. Bartholomew's Church with bowed heads.

The body will lie in state in the Rotunda until Sunday morning when it will be removed with military honors and flown to West Branch, Iowa, Hoover's birthplace, for interment.

Conservation Exhibits Readied

Florida Conservation Week opens here Monday and the weekend is expected to see exhibitors readying their places for the week-long event.

Static and active displays will be placed at the Lake Monroe Industrial Park off French Avenue.

Secretary of State Tom Adams will officially open the week with a luncheon and speech at Jim Spencer's starting Monday noon. He will also present several conservation awards to area officials who have shown exceptional interest in conservation practices.

Miss Priscilla Scharr of Hollywood, Miss Florida for 1964, will also be present to open the festivities and greet visitors in behalf of the Florida Development Commission, co-sponsor of the week with the Sanford Chamber of Commerce.

Special events are scheduled each day through the week with activities held at the Civic Center and the Industrial Park site.

Estimates vary as to the number of visitors to the city but Conservation Week officials say there will be several thousand.

Organizations from throughout the state and many points in the nation have registered to participate in the program.

Ex-Premier Seen Riding In Moscow

MOSCOW (UPI)—Nikita S. Khrushchev has been seen in his chauffeur-driven limousine in Moscow streets twice since his ouster, witnesses said today.

The reports showed that Khrushchev's personal status remains unchanged despite his fall from political power—at least for the present. Soviet sources this week denied reports he was under house arrest.

The witnesses said Khrushchev was spotted in his black Chaika limousine near Moscow University on one occasion and in another part of the city on another. He was riding in the front seat with the chauffeur, as was his custom. Women—believed to be members of his family—were in the back.

Another witness reported seeing Khrushchev strolling Thursday evening near Moscow University. He said Khrushchev, in a dark overcoat, was unsmiling.

Authoritative Soviet sources said Khrushchev quit his post voluntarily last week and was the most surprised man in the Kremlin when his resignation was accepted.

They said Khrushchev tried to use the resignation as a means of getting his way when called before his party lieutenants and criticized. He had done this at least once before, last February.

But last week, his colleagues on the Central Committee voted about two to one to accept his resignation, the sources said.

Foreign Communist criticism of the way Khrushchev was forced from power continued today. The Italian Communist party, most powerful in Western Europe, announced it is sending a delegation to Moscow to learn the facts about Khrushchev's ouster.

"The sudden character of the decision and the method used to carry it out cannot fail to bring into discussions more general problems regarding the development of debate and political life in Socialist countries," the Italian party leadership said.

Bassett Makes Voter Appeal

E. Pope Bassett, Republican candidate for Seminole County commissioner, today said he is "a little alarmed at the lack of interest in what some refer to as candidates for minor office."

Bassett continued, "Let me assure you there are no minor public offices, every public office has a function vital to your interests, and you should weigh the qualifications of candidates with great care."

Earlier this week, Bassett told an Altamonte Springs audience that the main issues in this election year are integrity and responsibility at all levels of government.

"Those of us who seek public office are asking the voters to invest in us a sacred trust—the future welfare of their country, state and nation—and anyone who asks for such responsibility must first demonstrate his honesty, responsibility and dedication to public service."

"Unfortunately," he continued, "there are candidates who do not possess these qualities; who seek office not for what they can bring to the office but for what the office can bring to them."

Still No Chief For South Viet

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI) — The high National Council disclosed today that it still has not chosen a new chief of state to bring about a transfer of Viet Nam's government from military to civilian control.

With an Oct. 27 deadline approaching, the 17-member council thus failed to meet optimistic predictions that it would be able to announce the name of the new chief of state by today.

The disclosure was made at a news conference as a potential new crisis arose with neighboring Cambodia. The Vietnamese Defense Ministry flaily charged that Cambodians captured a U. S. Army Special Forces officer Thursday during a battle between South Vietnamese troops and Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

Lincoln Man

SCURRY, Tex. (UPI)—Tom Reason of Dallas, who was a professional woodcutter when Lincoln was President and was still at it during the Eisenhower administration, was buried here today. He died Wednesday at the age of 115.

Concert Drive Is Extended

Due to lagging sales, officers of the Seminole County Mutual Concert Series agreed Thursday to extend the membership drive for two more weeks.

"We're a little over halfway to our goal of 600 memberships and urge that persons not contacted yet, call Mrs. Troy Ray, Jr. or Mrs. B. W. Satholomew, co-membership chairmen, Judge C. Varnon Mize, president of the Association said today.

Pupils Can See President

Seminole County school children will be excused from classes Monday if they wish to attend the Orlando activities planned for President Johnson's visit Monday.

School officials said today the student must present a written request from parents to be excused and then must return to classes as soon as the events are finished.
