Pretty Navy Wife Gives Art Lessons To Local Residents

How a gal can combine raising three bouncing children, keeping an immaculate house, painting pretty pictures and teaching the finer things in life to aspiring artists and look as glamorous as Polly Brubaker, is a question only Navy Wife Polly can answer.

Polly and her husband, Lieutenant Don Brubaker, are recent arrivals to the fair city of Sanford, coming from Monterey, Calif., where Lt. Brubaker was stationed as a flight instructor at the Naval Air Station there.

Polly began giving art lessons to local residents this week and is open for more students. Her courses include oils, water colors and black and white sketching for beginners.

"Anyone interested in art can attend my classes," says Polly. "Call them to do in call 660-B for all the information."

A former member of the Carleton Art Association in Calif., Polly has been painting since she was old enough to scribble, and in 1955 won a blue ribbon for an oil, "The Branding," at the Monterey County Fair. She credits her interest in art to the progressive educational system of which she is a product.

"They considered art as important as French or mathematics," she says. "I would let me go on to mathematics when they felt I was getting behind. They felt that later on my art would mean a lot more to me than the math."

Polly is said, in a way, except that often she says her husband will explain something complicated in a mathematical way and she's sorry she doesn't quite understand.

Returning from Russia's Bay, Mass., Polly attended the Cambridge Preparatory School and went on to Dana Hall Academy and Wellesley, Mass. From there she went to New York and attended The Powers School of Modeling. Her professional experience included modeling for an agency in Boston.

She and Don met while he was stationed at Otis Field on Cape Cod in 1946. "I was working practically around for a week, and then he went to sea. We kept the mail bags full for a week and a week after he returned we were married."

Don was executive officer of Squadron 104 on the carrier Valley Forge during the Korean War. He is now attached to VAH-11 and is undergoing further training with the Heavy Attack Training Unit at present.

"The Brubakers have a home in Douglas, Wyoming and Polly hopes to spend more time there. There's no end to the painting material there. Don could hunt and fish, which he loves best, and I could paint...it's so rugged and we love it!"

Don, Polly and their three children, Tina, 7 1/2, Tommy, 6 1/2, and David, 2 1/2, live in a large two-story white house at 2018 Melrose Ave.

Jaycees Launch Membership Drive Here This Week

With the slogan "We Invite You to Join the Jaycees, an organization of young men at work" the Seminole County Jaycees are launching a drive for new memberships and renewals of present memberships. Tony Russel, chairman of the membership drive stated, "The Jaycees feel they are building for themselves and their community a life instead of a living. Inviting you to become a Jaycee gives you the opportunity to take part or to help these young men in their active participation in constructive projects which will improve community, state and nation."

The Jaycees throughout the year have maintained their ideas for a better Seminole County through their various programs such as Trade Promotion and Tourist which includes: Operating the Information Booth, highway signs, advertising in various magazines and newspapers, mailing of fishing maps to over 26 states; Youth Activity; Fishing Rodeo, Christmas Parade, Easter Egg Hunt and the organizing of the Jaycees for high school boys; Promoting Industry by educating young men in the how, why and wherefore of securing industry for Seminole County.

Russel urges all civic minded citizens to renew their Jaycee memberships and all young men between the ages of 21 and 34 are strongly urged to become an active member of the Jaycees.

City Operations To Close March 9 For Dedication

A shutdown of City operations has been approved for Friday, March 9 by the Board of Sanford City Commissioners, so that all City employees may attend the ribbon cutting ceremonies dedicating the official opening of French Ave.

In a letter from City Manager Warren E. Knowles to the chairman of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce French Ave. Dedication Committee, Knowles said, "Since this is one of the greatest strides forward in the progress of our City and County, it was felt only suitable that the employees should be given an opportunity to observe the ceremonies for a project that they were intimately connected with."

The ribbon-cutting ceremonies will be held at 4 p.m. Friday, March 9 in front of the Seminole High School where a broad view of the lakefront to Park Ave. and Mrs. W. H. Young, is studying preliminary plans that call for a 40' x 104' building which includes a fellowship hall, kitchen, study, restrooms, and enough additional classrooms to double the capacity of the present structure. For more than a year a building fund has been accumulating. The church already owns a suitable site between the sanctuary and parsonage in the 1600 block on Sanford Avenue.

Rotarians, Wives To Enjoy Chicken Supper Tonight

Rotarians and their Rotary Anas (wives of the members of the 50-year-old International organization) with a few Rotary Anas (their daughters) will meet tonight in the first ladies night of the year on the grounds of the local Elks' Lodge to partake of a chicken supper.

A choice of barbecued or smoked chicken with all the "fixins" will be offered by the cooking committee headed by Al Lee. A crowd of about 80 is expected to attend the supper which Skipper Al states will be served promptly at 6:45.

President Bill Bush reminds local Rotarians that there will be no meeting at the Yacht Club next Monday but Dr. R. W. Woodruff, club secretary will be on the job to give attendance credit to all visiting Rotarians and club members unable to attend the business meeting.

Lutheran Lenten Services Tonight

Mid-week lenten services begin this evening, for the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, at the Yacht Club where services are being held regularly until the construction of a new chapel building.

The Rev. Phillip Schlessmann, pastor of the Church, revealed that the services which start this evening will begin at 7:30. They will be held on Wednesday evenings Feb. 22, 29, March 7, 14, and Friday nights March 23 and 30.

Speaker To Give Counsel Regarding Church Building

W. T. Peary, executive secretary of the Board of Church Extension of the Disciples of Christ, Indianapolis, will speak Thursday, 7:30 p.m., at the First Christian Church, giving counsel and guidance concerning an educational building which the local congregation plans to erect. Questions from the audience will be answered. The national board of which Mr. Peary is secretary employs a full-time architect, advises churches regarding building plans, and makes loans for the construction of church edifices.

Board chairman O. D. Landress says that anyone who is interested in the building project may attend the meeting. The building committee, which is composed of G. W. Morgan, Harry Falk and Mrs. W. H. Young, is studying preliminary plans that call for a 40' x 104' building which includes a fellowship hall, kitchen, study, restrooms, and enough additional classrooms to double the capacity of the present structure. For more than a year a building fund has been accumulating. The church already owns a suitable site between the sanctuary and parsonage in the 1600 block on Sanford Avenue.

Rosen Unsuccessful In Cross-Examination

Assistant District Attorney E. David Rosen failed to make his point yesterday, in the cross examination of suspended Sheriff J. Luther Hobby when he was called back to the witness stand.

Rosen accused Hobby of calling an Ashburn, Ga., man in an attempt to correct statements, Rosen told Hobby, "Do you know Mr. Pate is on his way here to testify?" Hobby said, "I hope that he is, sir."

However, Defense Attorney William W. Judge in quick rebuttal asked Hobby, "On whose instructions did you call Mr. Pate?" and Hobby said, "Your."

Pate is the Ashburn, Ga., man from whom a lot was bought, partially as a gift from Hobby's father. The assistant district attorney had previously asked Hobby if he had not peeled off 45 $100 bills in payment for the lot. The suspended sheriff denied that he did.

A Negro store operator, James Smith, who admitted that he could not read or write, accused Hobby of taking $100 bills from his store.

Government Investigator C. S. Hodgson had told him "we'll bump you off if you don't sign the statement." Smith pointed to Hodgson, in the court room and said, "That's the man that said he would bump me off."

Smith produced papers from the Florida State Bank upholding the fact that he had borrowed money to pay Hobby for the lots and material purchased for him and insisted that Hobby had "stolen good" for materials purchased.

Stating that he knew Maybelle and Johnnie Gaines, Smith stated that it was because of a fight between them that he had been arrested.

Judge Barker told the Assistant District Attorney that he was bringing repetitive statements into the hearing when J. L. Hobby was recalled to the stand. However, Hobby did not explain a deposit of $2,018 to his account at the Florida State Bank Jan. 7 immediately after he took office as Sheriff.

Hobby told the jury, before his cross examination by Rosen "I have always tried to lead a good clean life and uphold the law," and termed a charge that he was carrying weapons to get the Long boys "a vicious lie."

The defense rested its case yesterday afternoon shortly before 4:30.

Playing Of Two Tape Recordings At Trial Not Permitted Today

World War I Vets Ask Legislators To Provide Pension

The Veterans of World War I, headed by national commander, Harry J. Miller, Watertown, N. Y., presented their legislative program to the House Committee on Veterans Affairs, Feb. 7, and asked that the legislators provide every World War I Veteran with a pension of $100 a month at age 60, and with no strings attached.

Making the presentation for the veterans of 1917-18 was George J. Young, Buffalo, N. Y., following the appearance before the committee of spokesmen for the Veterans of Foreign Wars who also made a strong appeal for pensions for the World War I veterans and proposed a new re-eligibility bill of their own.

Young stated the fact that his organization is made up almost exclusively of members and former members of the VFW and American Legion, but emphasized that the vets of 1917-18 have felt it necessary to organize into a separate association in order to gain the strength necessary to "reach their objective."

"A long series of circumstances have compelled us, (World War I Vets) to make this presentation to you as a somewhat new organization of older veterans who are becoming more difficult for men of our age to become gainfully employed, and it is our belief that a grateful nation would not want its veterans to have to resort solely to a welfare agency for their existence; the precedents of the past have long established this principle.

"The vets request that you give favorable consideration to our legislative objectives as follows:

- (1) A congressional charter to be granted to our organization, which can be identified as bill H. R. 4733 and which is now in the Judiciary Committee of the House of Representatives.
- (2) A pension of $100 a month at the age of 60, which is embodied in the Fink Bill, H. R. 4264.
- (3) Passage of Resolution 4438 in the Veterans Administration.
- (4) To give active support to all legislation beneficial to widows, orphans and disabled veterans."

In closing he said "... I thank you for your attention and your patience in listening to an appeal from an organization of men who did their part in 1917-18 in preserving the democracy of the world."

There will be a meeting of the local World War I Veterans Baracks No. 406 Friday night at 8 p.m. in the American Legion Hut. All qualified Vets are asked and urged to attend this meeting.

World War I Vets Ask Legislators To Provide Pension

The two tape recordings allegedly made of conversations between Maybelle and Johnnie Gaines were not admitted this morning by Judge William J. Barker when counsel for defense objected to them being played to the court or jury as evidence.

Judge Barker sustained the objection on the grounds that the tape recordings were incompetent since they did not identify the voices purported to be on them.

The jury hearing the trial of J. Luther Hobby, suspended Seminole County Sheriff and five other defendants including Andy E. Evans, suspended deputy; Dwight E. Yelvington, former state beverage department agent; Willie R. Brown, former Negro deputy; and Negro tavern operators, Jerry Martin and James Smith was excused until 2 o'clock today awaiting the arrival of three witnesses subpoenaed by the government. They are Willis Peacock, cashier of the Florida State Bank; T. H. Pate of Ashburn, Ga., and a witness identified only as Battaglier and were to arrive to testify by 3 o'clock.

The trial, now in its seventh day, will probably be concluded this afternoon and summaries made by both the government represented by Assistant District Attorney E. David Rosen and the defense by Attorney William W. Judge.

A crowded court room heard most of the final testimony from the witness stand this morning.

Robert C. Miller of Sanford, an appliance dealer, testified this morning that Hobby paid in the neighborhood of $1,000 for a combination TV, radio and record player Oct. 18, 1953 with $450 or $500 in cash and other payments in 80 or 120 days.

Alfred A. Holley, a Sanford painter, stated in testimony that he was "not sure" when shots were fired following a fight in April or May 1955, but that he could not identify the person, Hobby or Evans as the one firing the shot.

He said, "I am gun shy and fainted when the first shot was fired and fell to the ground." He did testify that the Long boys ran and were not apprehended nor did they stop when ordered to halt.

Holley testified on cross-examination that he had testified to Lelon and Leroy Long last Monday. He said, "I told them I would tell the best I could remember to accuse him of theft, and some action would be taken on his part as soon as Cleveland was available."

Both Mr. and Mrs. Rinehart took the floor several times during the Commission's discussion of the letter and demand for retraction, to re-state their desire for immediate retraction from the Board, or stronger legal measures would be taken.

Rinehart Demands Board's Apology For Letter Sent

E. D. Rinehart, Rinehart Road, Route 2

It was brought to the County Commission at its regular meeting yesterday that you had removed dirt and fill from the County right-of-way on Rinehart Road, and this has resulted in an encroachment on County property and also presents a dangerous hazard for the motoring public.

The Board instructs me to write you requesting that you return the dirt and fill immediately and place it back in the same condition that it was.

The Board sincerely hopes that you will comply with this request so no further action will be necessary.

Signed by Mack Cleveland
Board of County Commissioners

This rather innocuous appearing form letter sent on the County Commission's regular letterhead on the motion of Commissioner Fred Dyson may be boomerang into a real hot potato in the lap of the entire Board, it was revealed at Tuesday morning's regular meeting.

Given the floor at the outset of the meeting, E. D. Rinehart appeared in person and read the above letter to the Board of Commissioners. He labeled the letter as "ridiculous" and followed with a lengthy history of the Rinehart Road, in which he pointed out all the expense and work he had put into building and maintaining the road over the past 30 years.

In very pointed, legal phrases, Rinehart declared the Commission blundered in permitting the letter to be sent without a full investigation of the situation. He re-stated the letter's implication that he was a thief, and demanded an immediate and complete retraction and apology, saying: "I am prepared to dictate such a letter at once."

Nice Attorney Mack Cleveland was not present at Tuesday's meeting; the Commission has not yet decided whether to take that day. He said, "I told them I would tell the best I could remember to accuse him of theft, and some action would be taken on his part as soon as Cleveland was available."

Both Mr. and Mrs. Rinehart took the floor several times during the Commission's discussion of the letter and demand for retraction, to re-state their desire for immediate retraction from the Board, or stronger legal measures would be taken.

VIRGINIA BIRDS
RICHMOND, (AP)—Harry Truman, when he was President, once made a remark that there were "too many birds in the Senate."

He ought to see the Virginia state senate. It has D. Woodrow Eild, Lloyd C. Bird and Harry Byrd Jr., the latter son of U. S. Sen. Harry W. Byrd, the economy advocate of whom the former president was thinking.

World Of Darkness Faces Boy

SANTA FE, N.M., Feb. 21—David Burns, a 10-year-old boy, lives in a world of darkness and soon will be living in darkness too.

David is a student at the New Mexico School for the Deaf. His interests are art, and his favorite subjects are horses. He draws them with remarkable realism.

David is unaware that congenital glaucoma, an eye disease, is expected to deprive him of his sight in just a few months. No way is known to arrest the affliction at this stage.

He has been deaf since birth. The eye disease, physicians say, developed during his infancy on the Navaho reservation hamlet of Sanderson, N. M., where his parents live.

He hasn't had the opportunity for education in the meaning of objects—except horses—in his young life.

Supt. Marshall Heister of the School for the Deaf said today David's one chance to retain some contact with the world after total blindness falls depends on a system of understanding words by putting his hands to the lips of other persons and interpreting the vibrations.

And he'd have to acquire this skill in the few remaining months at sight.

This week, Daniel J. Burns, director of the deaf-blind department at the Perkins Institute, Watertown, Mass., visited David to determine if his institution could help him.

Burns approved the youngster for admission to the institute, a privately endowed institution, and agreed to try and waive the ordinary tuition fees.

But that hasn't solved David's problem.

The Federal Indian Service, whose charge David is, doesn't have the funds in its current budget for the $600 or so needed to send David to Massachusetts.

There the matter stands today, with Heister and others working to raise the money while David is drawing his horse—and the precious days slip by.

Thousands Gather To Hear Evangelist

TOKYO (AP)— U. S. Evangelist Billy Graham today prayed for Ichiro Hatoyama, Christian prime minister of Japan, and later preached the gospel to thousands of Japanese and Americans.

Police estimated 15,000 persons jammed the International Indoor Stadium to sing hymns and hear Graham warn that "The world will blow itself out of existence" unless it bridges a gulf of sin between God and man.

Police said another 3,000 listened to the sermon on loudspeakers outside. Several hundred of these angrily beat on the doors which had been closed an hour before Graham's scheduled appearance.

The evangelist's spokesman estimated the total crowd at 40,000. It was the first of two mass meetings Graham has scheduled during a week in Japan.

Robert Strauss Got Training At Bar

HOLLYWOOD (AP)— Some actors boast of their training at drama academies. Robert Strauss is proud to say he got his at the bar and grill school of dramatics.

Off and on for 13 years, Bob was a bartender. And he says there's no better way to study acting.

"The best way for an actor to improve in his craft is to study human behavior," he reasons. "And you certainly see people as they really are from behind a bar."

Bob has proved his own talent in films like "Stalag 17" and "Seven Year Itch." He's now playing another GI in "Fragile Fox," and he paused between scenes to reflect on his life as a bartender.

"It's an interesting life," he remarked. "You see people at their best and at their worst. I remember one guy who was very pleasant up to six drinks. But let him take that seventh one and he became a wild man."

"Once he thought I was a member of the Mafia out to get him. He came at me with a knife. Fortunately, there was another character in the bar who slugged him in the mouth, so hard that the guy's teeth clamped on the other guy's fist. Both of them were injured."

But most of his customers were less violent, and Bob underwent the bartender's legendary chore of listening to their problems. "It got to be pretty bad in a neighborhood bar, where you'd get two or three of the same customers every day and that's all," he said. "There isn't much to do but stare at them."

Strauss got started on the tavern turn of his career in 1938, when he got a job in a Jersey joint as a singing waiter. Most of the time when he was tending bar he would also entertain the tippers, employing such props as fright wig,

Cork Look Adds Elegance to Home

The inviting warmth and elegance of the cork look is used to fullest advantage in this charming modern living room. The modern corner fireplace and adjoining window-seat wall are painted a soft, sunny yellow, with the other walls finished in stark white. Window draperies, window-seat cushions and slab-type couch upholstery are in deep russet colors. The functional black iron and brass fireplace accessories and the distinctive Chinese screen, floral arrangements and decorative wall prints, underline the richness of the Corktone asphalt tile floor laid in a random square and oblong pattern that shades from soft beige to deep random natural cork tones.

Spotlight On Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — Lew Ayres embarks today on a different kind of tour for a movie star. For the next three months, he will appear in major cities with his films about religions of Asia, titled "Altars Of The East." If the Los Angeles success of the films is repeated nationally, this could mean the end of his acting career. For many years, Lew has studied the religions of the world, seeking some means to promote understanding. Unlike some persons who merely talk about their beliefs, he is a man of action. And so he left Hollywood two years ago to assemble a film record of the leading religions. In December, he had completed his monumental task and had a trial run at a big movie house in Los Angeles. The results were sensational. As many as 500 disappointed customers had to be turned away at performances during the week's run, and the attraction had to be held over another seven days. Now Lew is going to see if the nation as a whole is as interested in his films. "The response is as good as gold," he said. "I may devote all of my time to this project. I don't mean that I would continue touring with the films; that would be too wearing. I plan to film my short introductions and play the films in art houses. "I have so much more I want to do. I gathered a great amount of material on Christianity, but I haven't had the time to put it together yet. I also want to do a film on the development of religion among mankind, tracing its start from primitive tribes that worship sticks and stones or whatever right up to the highest forms. I would like to do some shooting in New Guinea for that." (He served as a medical corpsman there during World War II.)

FORMER NAVAL CAPTAIN RELEASED

HEIDELBERG, Germany — Kurt Goebell, former German naval captain convicted of helping to kill seven captured U.S. airmen during World War II, was released on parole today from the U.S. war crimes prison at Landsberg. Goebell, 59, was sentenced to death in March 1946. The sentence was commuted to life in 1946 and reduced to 32 years in 1954. Goebell was senior officer on Borkum Island off the north coast of Germany in August 1935, when the seven captured airmen were shot by Nazi soldiers.

AMBASSADOR HAS TOOTHACHE

NEW YORK — Ambassador Clare Boothe Luce came home from Italy today with a toothache. An abscess caused so much swelling of her left jaw that she asked airport photographers not to make any pictures. After obtaining treatment, she will begin making preparations for the U.S. visit of Italian President Giovanni Gronchi. He leaves for this country next Sunday.

the Snapshot Guild

What better way to show appreciation of small fry art work than to take a picture of it? Flash on camera makes this type of picture taking easy, indeed.

Flash! And You've a Picture for Remembering

Flash photography makes picture taking indoors easier than if you were snapping outdoors on a summer day! That's because the sun, while a wonderful source of light, is a variable one. It is not always easy to be sure just how much light there is on your subject. But, with the light all sealed up in a flash bulb, you know exactly how much there is. All you have to do is follow the instructions (those packed with your film and on the flash bulb carton) and you can't go wrong. Another advantage—you can put the subject in any spot you wish without any concern as to the direction of the light. One of the latest developments in the realm of flash photography has made it more convenient than ever before. People are now con-plain that flasholders are bulky, inconvenient to carry around—with the same being said for the flash bulbs.

But that needn't hold you back any longer. Because now, both come in a midget size. The bulbs are so small that many people call them "peanut" bulbs—but, actually, we've seen bigger peanuts (in the shell, that is).

The midget flashholder even comes apart nicely, for slipping into pocket or handbag.

That's what the mother in the above picture is using as she snaps a picture of George Washington's birthday art work that has just come home from kindergarten. Keeping camera, flash attachment and bulbs handy pays off in wonderful snapshots for remembering.

What Is Main Difference Between Red Measles, German Measles

BY DOROTHY V. WHIFFLE, M.D. AP Newstestures
 Do you know the difference between measles and German measles?
 It's too bad the word measles is used for the name of two such different diseases. It's important to know these diseases apart. German measles, though a mild disease, can do serious harm during early pregnancy. Measles, sometimes called red measles or regular measles, is a serious disease that almost everyone has some time in life. Usually it comes in childhood, it begins with a fever, cough, runny nose and red inflamed eyes. These symptoms last for a few days, then a rash appears. Fevers go pretty high in measles and the youngsters are quite sick. Measles is very communicable and so often occurs in epidemics. One attack of measles usually leaves a lifetime immunity. German measles, or three-day measles, on the other hand is a very mild disease. There may be a slight fever (often there is none at all) and a rash. The rash looks something like the rash of measles, but here's where the similarity between the two diseases ends. With German measles there is no cough, no running nose, no red eyes. The disease is mild and short-lived. The first symptom is usually the rash while with regular measles the child is sick for several days before the rash appears. When you hear the story that a child broke out with measles in school you can be pretty sure it's German measles. With regular measles the youngster is at home in bed when the rash appears. German measles like regular measles leaves a lifetime immunity. If this were the end of the story on German measles we could at most forget about such an inconsequential disease. Unfortunately German measles has one very serious aspect. If the disease is acquired during the first three months of pregnancy it may do serious harm to the unborn baby. The relation between German measles and injury to the unborn child was unknown until in 1941 an Australian eye doctor observed an unusual number of babies with an eye disease which led to blindness. He finally tied these unusual cases in babies to an explosive epidemic of German measles the year before. He published his hypothesis which has been abundantly confirmed since then. Not only blindness, but deafness, heart disease and mental retardation frequently occur in babies whose mothers had German measles during the first three months of pregnancy. The disease does very little harm to mother but the virus circulating in her blood can play havoc with her developing baby. Since the relationship of German measles and injury to unborn babies has been definitely known, much work has been done to try and find some way of avoiding such disasters. Medical science has not come up with any real solution. No method of immunizing against German measles has been found. The best way to be safe is to have the disease in childhood. In 1800 the world output of tin was 8,300 tons; in 1933 175,000 tons.

You Can Help Many By Giving Generously To Salvation Army

There could be no better day to begin commemorating the anniversary of the father of our country—General George Washington. Each year, added to the already glowing tributes, thousands of words are spoken about and for the first president of the United States.

As we have read, studied, heard, and many times seen depicted, George Washington was, not only a great president and a great leader, but he was a philanthropist. Washington, in his efforts to establish a free and democratic country, thought more of the other man than of himself. It was the destiny of men's lives that stayed foremost in the mind of George Washington.

It is for that reason we think of today as an unusual opportunity for the Salvation Army to begin its drive in Sanford and Volusia County, even in the area it serves, to help carry it through another year of helping other men.

The Salvation Army, in its day by day program, deals mostly with the saving of men's lives. The helping of others, spiritually, physically, and mentally is the ideal of the Salvation Army.

To help others there must be a fund from which to draw in order to furnish meals for the hungry, clothes for those who are nearly bare, a spiritual message for those who are leaning away from the Christian type of life.

The Salvation Army takes care of those in many times, never see. The organization, with its headquarters centrally located, listens to the pleas of those who have no food, cannot find work, who are lost, weary, wan-

Ted Bakken Hunts Avalanches

By HAL BOYLE

DENVER, (AP)—Ted Bakken, a lean, red-haired, 26-year-old mountaineer, is one of America's most unusual big game hunters.

He hunts avalanches. When he finds one that is ripe, he brings it down with artillery fire.

Ted—he uses a 75mm. howitzer—is the chief marksman in a spectacular snow-fighting technique developed by the Colorado Department of Highways.

Keeping roads through 21 high mountain passes free of snow is an arduous and sometimes hazardous task this time of year.

Avalanches, roaring unchecked down high peaks and burying key highways under hundreds of tons of snow, rocks and broken trees, have been more than a nuisance to motorists in the past. Between 1944 and 1952 they claimed six lives in Colorado.

Today highway engineers are less often taken by surprise. They create more than half the mountain pass avalanche themselves in a unique snow control program.

It is done with the precision of a military maneuver.

When snow builds up dangerously in an area, a section of the road is blocked off, and a high explosive shell is fired into the snow mass. Usually after the massive avalanche cascades down the waiting snow removal machinery can clear a lane through in less than an hour.

"The snow is brought down at our convenience—not Mother Nature's," explained Dist. Engineer George Miles.

The avalanche areas, which are not charted, bear such names as "The Seven Sisters," "Slippery Jim," "Little Professor," "Five Car," and "The Pink Lady."

I went with Miles to watch the avalanche control unit in action. His job this day was to test dangerous snow areas in the historic Barhood Pass, on both sides of the Continental Divide.

Pat Murray, a veteran road foreman known as "The Man on the Mountain," picked the targets. Other mountain men say Pat can practically smell when an avalanche is "ready to go."

He declines this himself, and says:

"You can't really know. Weight and wind are factors. So is the temperature. There are others, but when everything is right, any sudden vibration—a passing train, a rifle shot, even a hawk-

...ing horn—will start her down."

Young Bakken wheeled his howitzer, contributed by the National Guard, into position.

In the next hour he fired ten shells. They burst in red fire and black smoke in the high snow banks 300 to 400 yards away, and the sheer peaks tossed back the echoes like thunderclaps. But only one small slide resulted, and it failed to reach the road.

A small crowd of spectators that had assembled was visibly disappointed.

"Guess I didn't earn my pay today," said Ted, as he finished firing.

But it had been worthwhile.

"We know the snow there is stabilized until there's some kind of weather change," said Miles.

Actually Ted has a pretty good box score. He has fired about 300 shells in the last three years, brought down 40 avalanches that reached the highway, and about the same number of smaller avalanches that didn't.

The net result is that the high ways are kept open, and the motorists feel a lot safer.

"I heard someone trying to get in," she told her husband when he returned from his night job. "I went to the door and told the prowler: 'If you don't get away, I'm going to shoot.'"

"He didn't. So I shot."

Symptoms And Treatment For A Virus Pneumonia

By NICHOLAS H. PETERSON, M.D.

VIRUS pneumonia is a fairly common ailment this time of year.

Generally, it is a mild disease and sometimes you might not even appear to be ill. Even when you have a fever, your pulse and respiratory rate may be perfectly normal.

As the name indicates, it is caused by a virus, occasionally by one harbored in persons.

Causes On Slowly

Unlike the start of bacterial pneumonia, virus pneumonia generally comes on slowly. It usually begins with a headache, fever, fatigue, chills and a feeling of weakness which gradually becomes worse.

In some victims, the first indications are a cough and a sore throat.

This hacking cough frequently becomes worse in your chest and abdominal muscles. Your physician may recommend that you get rid of both the cough and headache. And he might also suggest other or certain herbs to soothe your irritated throat.

Several Weeks

Although the fever might persist for several weeks, the acute stage lasts an average of only five to seven days. While viral pneumonia may develop into a secondary pneumonia, less than one per cent of the cases are fatal.

Information For Veterans

Here are authoritative answers from the Veterans Administration to three questions of interest to former servicemen and their families:

Q. I want to get a GI business loan that would not involve real estate. I understand it's possible for this loan to be insured by VA, rather than guaranteed. What is the maximum interest rate on insured GI business loans?

A. The interest rate on insured nonrealty loans may not exceed a three percent discount rate, or an equivalent simple interest rate of 5.7 percent a year.

Q. I have just been discharged from service, and I want to apply for a GI term insurance policy within my 120-day deadline. Will I have to take a physical examination to get this insurance?

A. No. A physical examination is not required. However, you must apply and pay your first premium within the 120-day period.

Q. I am taking on-the-job training under the Korean GI Bill. Is there any limit on the number of absences per year I am allowed?

A. You will not receive GI allowances for any absences in excess of the rate of 30 days for a 12-month period of training. Weekends and legal holidays do not count as absences.

Veterans living in Central Florida who wish further information about their benefits should write the VA office at 42 E. Central Ave. Orlando.

CONGRESS READY TO START PROBING

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the past 100 years Congress has investigated lobbying, but so far no law to control them. Now Congress seems ready to start an eighth investigation.

There is a law requiring lobbyists here to register with Congress and report on their spending. It did not result from an investigation. It was passed without much examination in 1946 when Congress was reorganizing itself.

There is nothing illegal or wrong about lobbying. Every individual or group has a right to try to get Congress to pass the kind of legislation it wants. But lobbying can cross over into the corrupt class by the way money is used to influence voting.

This is an election year and whether this new inquiry does a real job or shadow-boxes depends on:

(1) The willingness of the full Senate to make an all-out inquiry, an attitude which will be revealed in the authority the Senate gives its committee; and (2) whether the Democrats and Republicans on the committee let their investigation degenerate into a political fight.

The Senate is expected to create a special committee made up equally of Democrats and Republicans.

The first such investigation by Congress was in 1854, when lobbying had become a national disgrace. The last was in 1935 when a House committee, also made up equally of Democrats and Republicans, got involved in intense partisanship.

The chairman of that committee, the late Rep. Frank Buchanan (D-Pa.), described lobbying at the end of the industry as a "billion-dollar industry."

A report by his committee disclosed that 134 corporations spent $2,124,823 on "activities relating to attempts to influence legislation between 1947 and 1950" although they had reported only $750,000 under the Lobbying Act of 1946. Thirty companies refused to tell what they spent.

Congress did nothing then to make the Lobbying Act stronger. There are a lot of defects in the present law but the basic one seems to be this: Congress re-

Emotionalism Rules Stock Market

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Emotionalism rules the stock market these days. Traders try to guess which way President Eisenhower will decide about running again. And investors try to decide how much, if any, his decision would affect the state of business in the long run.

Some expect a wide swing upward in stock prices if the President's decision is "yes." And they look for a sharp sell-off if his answer is "no."

Others hold that such a jump either way in the market would be purely emotional and, therefore, temporary. They insist that the market perched rather nervously near the peak of its long bullish

Babies Are Best TV Entertainers

NEW YORK (AP)—The consistently best entertainers on television are babies. You don't have to feed, change or discipline them. You can just sit back and watch 'em.

Baby watching is as therapeutic as sport as bird watching — as long as you aren't responsible for the babies. A baby's clutching hands are the most fascinating devices in God's creation. The beetle smile of a horn baller just before he dumps his cereal on the floor is a profound commentary on life.

Sunday some smart TV producer is going to turn his camera loose on half an hour in a nursery. No commentary will be necessary. The babies simply will go on yelling, fighting, growing, discovering without self-consciousness while the cameras record life. But that program would have a big audience too.

One day, however, baby watchers will have to be content with the glimpses of babies they catch on that excellent Sunday half-hour program conducted by that great friend of all babies, Dr. Benjamin Spock, on NBC-TV.

Even if you don't have a baby of your own you'll probably get a kick out of listening to and watching Dr. Spock chat with parents about raising kids. We'll never run out of material, of course, because babies keep being born and adults keep heaping new problems on them.

Dr. Spock undoubtedly conducts the most relaxed program on television. That's because he's so relaxed himself. Although a world-renowned pediatrician, he always seems to be learning from the parents he talks with.

Not long ago he led the TV audience that some viewers thought he should lecture instead of sitting around chatting. Such a change obviously would be one of the programming mistakes of the year. Fortunately so many intelligent people wrote so many letters in protest that the question never came up again.

The programs are filmed in Cleveland where Dr. Spock is on the staff of Western Reserve University Medical School. His guests appear at a studio with their babies and baby leaders on a Wednesday. The kids are turned loose in a vast crib equipped with interesting toys while their mothers dink coffee with the doctor. Generally they don't decide on the day's subject until then. And then, away they go before the cameras.

Rate and put doctors are million dollars worth of stored crops in this country each year.

When he returned ten minutes later, he had quite forgotten which of his gut-told tales he had been spinning.

"What happened?" prompted a faithful lieutenant, his top yeoman. "How did you extricate yourself from that breath-taking situation?"

"Oh, I just kissed him," chuckled old Silver Star. "She heaved a deep sigh, and threw herself into my arms."

Astronomers Are Looking For Place To Put Observatory

STILLS, ARIZONA, (AP)—Astronomers are searching for an "island of calm" in the vivid southwestern skies to study the endless mysteries of the stars.

They are looking for a place to locate the nation's newest observatory.

The first site chosen for testing is Kitt Peak, which rises 1,000 feet above the desert on the Papago Indian Reservation, 30 miles north of the Mexican border. Its Indian name is Ee-ol kahm, or red leafed bush.

Dr. A. V. Meinel and Helmut Abt, two young astronomers from Yerkes Observatory in Wisconsin, filed reports on more than 150 prospective sites even before they decided Kitt Peak was worth a test.

Half a dozen other sites are under consideration. Weather, air and location must be perfect to take full advantage of millions of dollars worth of optical equipment.

These are the most important factors:

1. The weather. The fewer the clouds, the more nights for viewing the stars.
2. The air. It has to be completely free of dust and turbulence. The dust factor is one reason why observatories are on mountains, high above the plains. Even a slight "shimmering"—similar to that caused by heat waves rising from a blacktop road—can blur the image of a star on a photographic plate.
3. Light. The great luminous bubbles thrown miles into the night sky by city lights are an astronomer's No. 1 bugaboo. For example, Mt. Wilson Observatory in California was built long before the postwar advance of the suburbs. Now the sky above it is shot through with light that forms a barrier between the telescope and dim, distant stars. Even newer Palomar is being affected by California's growth.

Meinel explains that the lack of an adequate observatory under a clear sky is holding up research on one of the most important problems of science—the "red shift."

Star clusters or galaxies millions of light years away have been found to be tinged slightly red. To many astronomers this means they are moving away from the earth. If all the galaxies are moving away, it may mean that the universe is constantly expanding—but to prove this theory research is needed, and the galaxies are among the dimmest of stars.

Kitt Peak is a compromise between the natural desire of an astronomer—and his wife—to be near civilization of some sort and the need for darkness. The mushrooming city of Tucson is only 40 miles northeast, but blocked from growing into toward the peak by a range of mountains. Sells is a tiny Indian agency town 20 miles to the west.

The nearest "town" is San Vicente, which consists of two mud huts. All around lies barren, uninhabited desert.

Why do Meinel and Abt display a canniness about locating that would dismay a real estate agent? "The more perfect the site, the more stars we can see and the more we can study. This observatory has to have facilities for any kind of study because we'll be open to astronomers from all over the country," Meinel said.

"Arizona has the best weather we could find—at least it's best for us because it's sort of an island between the spring rainstorms on the Pacific Coast and the winter storms on the plains."

The observatory is backed by 6 million dollars worth of taxpayers' money from the National Science Foundation. The University of

Milland Says Films About Delinquency Doing U.S. Harm

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Ray Milland said today that Hollywood films about juvenile delinquency are doing the United States great harm in Europe.

He urged that such films not be exported.

Milland voiced an opinion that is seldom heard in Hollywood. Most spokesmen here declare that limiting exports would interfere with "freedom of the screen." They argue that films depicting social injustices here demonstrate to foreign lands that the United States is a democracy because it can criticize itself.

"Certainly I believe in freedom of the screen," said Milland. "But I don't believe in abuse of that freedom."

The Oscar-winning actor just returned from Portugal, where he produced, directed and starred in "Lisbon." He said his talks with Europeans during his journey appalled him.

"Wherever I went—Lisbon, Athens, Rome, London—I heard the same thing from people," he said. "They think all American children are delinquents. This impression comes from three Hollywood pictures: 'Rebel Without a Cause' (James Dean), 'Blackboard Jungle' (Glenn Ford) and 'The Wild One' (Marlon Brando)."

"I try to explain to them that those pictures show only isolated cases of juvenile delinquency. But they don't understand that. They see it up on the screen, so they think it must be true."

"Is this the way to make friends? We pour billion dollars into Europe and then ruin their opinion of us by a few pictures. Naturally they want to believe those destructive views of us because they are envious of our property."

Milland said he realizes the problem of juvenile delinquency in this country. "We should make pictures about it, to show our own people what is going on. But we shouldn't send the pictures abroad to make enemies for us. Can you imagine the Communists making films about their juvenile delinquents and sending them abroad?"

State Construction Record Set In '55

TAMPA (AP)—Florida set a construction record in 1955 for the fourth year in a row, Florida Builder magazine reports in its current issue.

Construction permits to the value of $735,166,071 were issued last year, the magazine said. That compares to $601,187,784 in 1954 and $558,011,607 in 1953.

The magazine said this total probably would be doubled by adding the value of construction for which permits are not required—municipal improvements such as sewer and road work, state road projects and military construction.

Of the 114 cities and unincorporated areas checked, 78 reported construction values were higher in 1955 than 1954 and 48 reported records were set.

As usual residential construction set the pace. The number of new homes was a record 53,304, more than 10,000 better than 1954.

Crusade To Save Buffalo Turns Out To Be Nuisance

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Fifteen years ago Marlon J. Lambert, St. Louis business executive and sportsman, started a one man crusade to save the buffalo—the "vanishing bison."

He purchased a bull and two cows and turned them loose on his 5,000-acre game preserve near Land O'Lakes, Wis.

Fifty bison have been born in the past 15 years and 30 more calves are ready for delivery soon.

The herd has become a hazard and a nuisance and bills are running high.

He has considered every solution. Meat packers, zoos, conservation commissions won't buy them. The State of Wisconsin doesn't like his proposal of simply turning them loose. He has ruled out slaughtering them.

Right now, he admits, he is befuddled.

'Creepy-Peepy' Is Designed For Use In Army Combat

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army has added to its combat arsenal a gadget it calls the "creepy-peepy"—a television camera and transmitter designed for use in forward battle areas.

One man could move the 25-pound camera and transmitter to an advanced position under cover of darkness, then withdraw to safety. A receiver set up behind the lines would record the transmitter's signal on a 10-inch picture tube.

K. CORNELL TO MAKE DEBUT

NEW YORK (AP)—Katherine Cornell is reportedly planning to make her television debut with her greatest success—"The Barretts of Wimpole Street." The play would be presented April 3 on NBC's Producers' Showcase.

THOUSANDS OF "YOUTH FOR PEACE" pilgrims are shown making their way up to the Monte de Cristo Rey, which is located at the junction of Texas, New Mexico and the Republic of Mexico. There Bishop Metzger of the El Paso, Tex., diocese told the vast throng that they were on the peak of a great opportunity to serve mankind.

ACTRESS MARRIED

NEW YORK (AP)—Television actress Polly Bergen has announced she was married Feb. 13 at Fairfax, Va., to Freddie Fields, vice president of the Music Corp. of America.

Fifty-three per cent of Americans own their own homes.

Snow, Winds Continue In Europe

LONDON (AP)—Heavy snows and bitter winds spread still more misery over frozen Europe today, locked in the 22nd day of its worst freeze-up of the year.

Deaths from the weather totaled at least 737. Weathermen cautiously said milder temperatures might be in the offing, but that brought fears of widespread flooding from the wing rivers and snows.

Italy, one of the worst hit countries, faced new troubles—Communist-backed riots. Demonstrators clashed with police in several traditionally poor Southern towns where cold has brought new hardships.

Communist East Europe called out troops to keep industries moving. Czechoslovakia ordered soldiers into coal mines. Hungary put troops into its giant Stalinvaros steel plant after heavy snows snarled operations.

Britain too used troops for snow clearing.

This was the recorded death toll from the cold spell:

France 181, Italy 99, Turkey 72, Yugoslavia 70, Britain 53, Holland 43, Denmark, Germany 34, Greece 30, Austria 22, Spain 21, Sweden 20, Portugal 17, Belgium 13, Switzerland 12, Norway 9 and Poland 8.

Deaths from the weather totaled at least 737. Weathermen cautiously said milder temperatures might be in the offing, but that brought fears of widespread flooding from the wing rivers and snows.

Italy, one of the worst hit countries, faced new troubles—Communist-backed riots. Demonstrators clashed with police in several traditionally poor Southern towns where cold has brought new hardships.

Communist East Europe called out troops to keep industries moving. Czechoslovakia ordered soldiers into coal mines. Hungary put troops into its giant Stalinvaros steel plant after heavy snows snarled operations.

Britain too used troops for snow clearing.

This was the recorded death toll from the cold spell:

France 181, Italy 99, Turkey 72, Yugoslavia 70, Britain 53, Holland 43, Denmark, Germany 34, Greece 30, Austria 22, Spain 21, Sweden 20, Portugal 17, Belgium 13, Switzerland 12, Norway 9 and Poland 8.

big increase in deaths not directly caused by the weather. One paper carried five columns of obituary notices instead of the usual two columns.

Ice packs blocked coastal shipping in the North Sea and Baltic. Coal was short in towns across Germany. Wild boars and deer came down into towns looking for food.

Snowdrifts blocked roads in low Austria.

An earthquake rocked a large area of Turkey between Istanbul and Ankara, wrecking more than 100 houses in two villages alone. Press reports said one woman died of fright and eight persons were injured in a theater which collapsed during the tremor.

NEW YORK DETECTIVE Daniel McEnery, 31, winces with pain as he is treated for two bullet wounds in the stomach. Cruising with his partner, McEnery became suspicious of a motorist and stopped him. As he approached the car, the suspect opened fire with the gun seen in another detective's hand (upper, left). McEnery, despite his wounds, pumped five bullets into the gunman, who toppled over dead. The man was identified as Armando Ibanez, 40, an ex-convict. The car had been stolen and held stolen property. (International)

Marriage Is Subject Of Family Education Program Slated Here

DR. ROBERT J. SCHMIDT

Salvation Army Financial Drive Now In Progress

Joseph A. Smith, chairman of the Salvation Army Advisory Board has announced that the Annual Financial Campaign of this agency is now in progress. The funds received from this drive will make it possible for this worthy organization to carry out its spiritual and welfare program for the coming year. Smith stated that the goal for the Drive has been set at $5,000. By reaching this quota, it will be possible for the Salvation Army to withdraw its maintenance collections from the streets and businesses of Sanford.

Last year, the Salvation Army provided 11,342,105 meals to needy men, women and children in the United States. These formed only one type of aid given by this organization, whose working principle is "Give a need, at the point of need, at the time of need."

Through war and peace the Salvation Army remains ever vigilant, taking aid to victims of disasters and emergencies whenever these arise. This program of the International organization is not neglected in this community, either. Last year, besides a great amount of transient relief given, there were 2000 garments and shoes distributed, free of charge, to the needy. Besides 113 Christmas Food Orders given, there were also 78 grocery orders given throughout the year, while 49 people and families were assisted with rent, transportation, and other aid.

The extent of the services of the Salvation Army in Sanford is dependent upon the amount of financial support which the residents of the community give to this organization. By being a friend to the Salvation Army at this, its time of need, it will enable it to remain a constant friend to others.

Dr. White's Advice Getting Expensive

ROCKY MOUNT, N. C. (AP) — Political advice from President Eisenhower's heart specialist, Dr. Paul Dudley White, is getting mighty expensive. The Boston physician, here yesterday for a heart symposium, preferred a question and answer period with his remark. "The only way I will answer questions about President Eisenhower running again for the presidency is by the person who asks the question coming up here and donating $50,000 to the Heart Fund."

Dryness, Winds Causing Fires

Joe Ramsey, assistant County Forest Ranger, announced this morning that he won't be able to stand by on control burns, burn anyone's property for them. "I saw five fires at the present time because of the dry conditions and high winds he is fighting wild fires day and night. He said that he would get to the fire lines and control burns as soon as possible. Anyone burning for themselves is requested to please call it in at 1227 so we can have it on our list."

What is the secret of the successful marriage? Seminole County residents will be seeking the answer during five-day Youth-Adult Family Life Education Institute in Sanford on Mar. 5-9. Offered by the General Extension Division of Florida in cooperation with the Seminole Parent-Teacher Association, the institute schedule of lectures and discussions is designed to meet the fundamental needs of young people in the area of marriage and family living. Included will be day-time classes for students at Seminole High School and evening sessions for both youth and adult groups, also at the high school.

Instructor for both youth and adult programs will be Dr. Robert J. Schmidt, assistant professor in the Florida State University School of Social Welfare. Local chairman is Mrs. W. E. Giles, of Lake Monroe. Coordinator for the General Extension Division is Mrs. Edith McBride Cameron.

Parent-Teacher Association members acting as committee chairmen include Mrs. R. W. Williams, registration; Mrs. W. B. Wray, auditorium; Miss Edna Chittenden, library; and Mrs. P. H. Colbert, publicity. Cooperating in the youth program is Seminole High School Principal H. E. Morris.

First offered in 1947, family life education programs have gained widespread success in all parts of the state. Dr. Frank Brown, principal of Melbourne High School, recently called the family life institute "one of the largest contributing causes to the complete absence of juvenile delinquency among the youth of our community." The program was so popular in Melbourne that Mayor Rud Oudshoff proclaimed the week of the institute "Family Life Education Week."

Adult course meetings at Sanford are scheduled for Mar. 5-6 at 7:45 p. m. in the high school. Student classes will be held daily, and on Mar. 8, Dr. Schmidt will address a school assembly. The program's high point will come with a joint youth-adult panel discussion on Mar. 8 at 8 p. m.

According to Dr. Schmidt, the course has a two-fold objective: "Our efforts are aimed at (1) helping young people gain a realistic and adequate understanding of life in general and society's expectation of them especially in regard to family life; and (2) giving adults an understanding." ### Ike's New Program Presents Challenge

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower's new program for releasing a billion dollars worth of uranium atomic projects for peaceful atomic projects presented a challenge to Russia today to follow suit. The President announced yesterday that the United States will make available 200,000 pounds of atomic material, uranium 235, to pioneer American firms and to friendly nations in a demonstration of "our faith that the atom can be a powerful instrument for the promotion of world peace."

His announcement came just one day after Soviet Premier Nikoal Bulganin had stated that, "We Communists must fully place the greatest discovery of the 20th century — atomic energy — at the service of the cause of building communism."

Bulganin pictured Russia as "ahead of other countries" in the peaceful uses of atomic energy, but did not talk of sharing atomic materials. Actually Eisenhower barred the distribution of any of the 20,000 pounds of U.S. U-235 to the Soviet Union and its satellites, as well as to any other nations presently producing the material. But with those exceptions the President said the supply will be furnished "over a period of years" for research and development purposes and for fueling nuclear power reactors both "at home and abroad."

Real Estate Is Big Business C. Turley Informs Realtors

Clarence Turley, president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, addressed a recent meeting of realtors of Central Florida.

J. W. Hall, president of the Seminole County Board of Realtors, and A. B. Peterson Jr., of Sanford attended the meeting to hear the national president.

Turley told the realtors "there are presently 87,200 members of the National Association of Real Estate Boards with more than 12,000 real estate boards represented."

The national president of the real estate Board organization revealed that seven field men now travel throughout the country to all the individual boards with their problems.

The realtor is in the business because he likes it, said Turley, and next, because "it is an honorable way of making a living and earning money."

"The real estate business is big business and it makes no difference whether the individual realtor is engaged in housing the nation, providing quarters for the transaction of the nation's business, dealing in acreage from which our food supply is to come or creating vast industrial districts to improve the nation's productivity, he or she is a part of the business, which handles the world's basic commodity — land."

"Prices of modern existing homes, those built in the last 15 years, generally have remained stable, he stated, during the past year. However, price tags on older structures, particularly deficient units and those located in less desirable neighborhoods have declined in the majority of areas," he said.

"Truly, we have become a nation of home owners," Turley told the realtors at their meeting, as he explained that more than one million homes will be commenced in the United States during 1956.

Revealing in his address to Central Florida realtors that March 11 to 17 will be observed throughout the country as "National Air Week," Turley said, it is an opportunity for the Realtor to re-dedicate himself and refresh in his mind the Realtor's pledge, "To protect the individual right of real estate ownership and to widen the opportunity to enjoy it, to be honorable and honest in all dealings, and to seek better to represent clients by building our knowledge and competence."

Europe Counts 840 Dead

LONDON (AP)—Frozen Europe counted at least 804 dead today in the worst winter in living memory. Even colder weather was forecast for the weekend.

Central Europe—one vast expanse of crusted snow — anxiously watched its food and fuel supplies dwindling as the disastrous freeze-up went into its 24th day. Huge ice packs floated down the North Sea. Temperatures along Germany's Baltic coast dropped to 4 below zero.

Ice floes paralyzed shipping on Dutch canals and threatened the Netherlands with a serious coal shortage.

A local thaw brought landslides in southern Italy. At Vasto, near Pescara, 50 families fled as their homes collapsed on a crumbling hillside. In northern Italy, more snow was forecast.

In southern France, snow 30 inches deep cut off villages and tore down phone and power lines. Prices of vegetables and eggs rocketed as farmers and truck gardeners reported crippling losses.

The weather took a heavy toll of birds and wild animals. Deer walked through the busy streets of Bad Harzburg, Germany, looking for food. Fifty hungry gulls attacked a fried potato seller's booth in Holland and made off with his stock.

All Dutch planes were ordered to look out for colonies of starving birds.

Reens Korniga, a vaudeville snake charmer, went in the mayor of Bethunes, in northern France, for help in warming her eight pythons and five alligators. The mayor, provided quarters on the City Hall radiators. Once they were thawed out, Miss Korniga put her pets back in trunks lined with hot water bottles.

Further Troubles Appear For L. I.

FARMINGDALE, N. Y. (AP)—Further strike troubles appeared in the offing for Long Island today amid court and mediation moves in the walkout which already has paralyzed the giant Republic Aviation Corp.

The International Assn. of 12,000 members in the strike at Republic disclosed it now has scheduled similar action against three divisions of the Airchild Engine & Airplane Corp.

Some 1,600 union members are employed in the three Airchild plants — the engine division at Deer Park, guided missile division at Wadsworth and the Stratots Corp. at nearby Bay Shore. The latter makes high altitude aircraft equipment.

The strike deadline is next Monday for the engine plant, March 1 for the Stratots Corp. and March 8 for the guided missile division.

A union spokesman said the penalty system and 32 grievances were at issue in this dispute. "Wages haven't even been discussed," he said.

The impasse at Republic moved into a mediation parley and a court hearing on a company move for an injunction to curb mass picketing.

Judge Reprimands Rosen For Rash Statement

Witnesses Add New Fire To Inquiry

Surprise witnesses, brought to Orlando by the Government to testify during the trial of J. Luther Hobby, suspended Seminole County Sheriff, and five other defendants allegedly involved in a county wide conspiracy to control moonshine whiskey, added new fire to an already blazing eight-day courtroom controversy.

Prior to placing the first witness on the stand, Attorney Sam Murrell, defending Jerry Martin, Negro, requested the court to strike testimony by William A. Horne, former Sanford Police Department officer and former deputy sheriff under Hobby, from the records on the basis that the testimony was immaterial and was construed to impeach the testimony of defendant Martin.

James H. Pate, Ashburn, Pa. attorney who stated that he had been practicing law for 34 years in Turner County, said that "Hobby peeled off $3,000 bills from a roll estimated to be one and a half to two inches in diameter and handed them to him to be held in escrow."

The deal was for an Ashburn city lot that was stated by Hobby to be a gift from his father. Pate admitted however, that Hobby's father was there when the transaction was consummated. Pate said, however, that the elder Hobby said nothing during the transaction.

Anthony R. Battaglia, attorney at law and former Assistant U. S. District Attorney, told from the witness stand of his declining to prosecute a case made against Roy Giesse, alias "Big Boy" in the U. S. District Court in Tampa. Battaglia attempted, through the questioning of Assistant U. S. District Attorney E. David Hoven, to impeach the testimony of former Deputy Sheriff Morgan McClelland who was a witness in the case against Giesse.

Willis J. Peacock, cashier of the Florida State Bank of Sanford produced the ledger cards and account of J. Luther Hobby when subpoenaed by the government. However, Defense Attorney Judge told the court and jury that the account was a joint account of both Hobby and his wife, Judge said, "There has been no evidence produced here of the deposits or withdrawals by Mrs. Hobby."

The government and the defense rested its case at which time the defense requested that a motion for acquittal be considered, Judge William J. Barker denied the motion.

Following a conference in the Judge's chambers, court recessed at 3:15 to allow attorneys time to prepare their arguments.

The pulpit of the First Methodist Church will be filled Sunday evening by the Rev. W. E. Timms, pastor of the First Methodist Church in Marietta, Mich.

The Rev. Timms' sermon topic will be "Burden or Bridge," He is a regular winter visitor in Sanford.

Herlong To Seek Demo Nomination For Representative

Congressman A. S. (Syd) Herlong, Jr. today announced that he will again seek nomination as the Democratic candidate for Representative in Congress from the Fifth Congressional District.

In a statement released by his office, Herlong said: "I have today mailed my oath and qualifying fee to the Honorable R. A. Gray, Secretary of State, in Tallahassee."

"I have enjoyed serving as Representative in Congress from our Fifth Congressional District. I have reached a point in seniority now where I can be of greater help to our people and to our district than ever before."

Herlong first went to Congress in January, 1919 and has served continuously since that time. He is a member of the Committee on Ways and Means, the first Floridian in history to be elected to the most important and influential committee on Capitol Hill.

Herlong has also served as Democratic Whip for the South-eastern area.

He has been a resident of Leesburg since 1920 and attended Sumner and Lake County schools. He graduated from the University of Florida in 1920. He was County Judge of Lake County from 1927 until his election to Congress.

Grove Manor will be devoted to exclusive homes in the $16,500 to $25,000 class located in a setting of citrus grove and beautiful landscaped wooded areas just off Melonville Avenue at 23rd St.

All the homes being built in Grove Manor were designed by the architectural firms of Hurton & Rodgers of Sanford and Joe Shifall of Winter Park.

B. W. Tudor and his son Bob Tudor, vice-presidents of Odham & Tudor live in Alexandria, La. They have owned and operated the Tudor Construction Co., a general contracting firm in Alexandria for the past 25 years. They have built many of the finest buildings in central Louisiana.

Windup Argument Heard

The courtroom of the U. S. District Court at Orlando this morning was electrified shortly before closing arguments by Assistant U. S. District Attorney David Rosen, ended.

In a frenzied prosecution before the jury in the windup argument in the trial of J. Luther Hobby, suspended Sheriff of Seminole County along with defendants, A. E. Evans, Dwight Yelvington, Jerry Martin, Willie Brown and James Smith, Rosen said, "I haven't got the right to state whether or not a man is guilty or not guilty but in my conversation with spectators in the lobby I found—"

Defense Attorney, William W. Judge rose to his feet quickly and yelled "Your Honor!"

Rosen hastily apologized to Judge William J. Barker, the defendant, the members of the jury and each person in the courtroom for his out of place statement concerning hearsay evidence.

As the court recessed for the lunch hour and after the jury left the courtroom, Judge Barker reprimanded Rosen saying "Mr. Rosen I am surprised at your statement before the jury."

Rosen again apologized for his out of place statement but so late.

Evidently Rosen has torn down his buldog in a nearly three hour argument that six men had conspired to control the moonshine district in Seminole County.

Spectators nearly rose to their feet and an overture of mumbling grew but of Rosen's statement before the jury this morning.

Assistant District Attorney Rosen had only one statement to make following his insertion of hearsay into the prosecution argument. "I ask you to consider the evidence gentlemen. Consider your responsibility and return your verdict of guilty and you can go home proud."

Before a crowded courtroom from the beginning of the government argument this morning, the Assistant District Attorney exhorted that a conspiracy existed by building up his prosecution in the unfolding of statements by witnesses for the government and for the defense.

It is evidenced from the lengthy prosecution arguments this morning that the jury will not receive its instructions from Judge Barker until late this afternoon.

Prior to beginning the argument, Judge Barker informed the jury that 11 of the overt acts described in the indictment handed by a Federal Grand Jury in Tampa in November of last year, were taken out and will not be considered.

Only eight of the 19 overt acts remained to be considered by the jury.

In explaining his actions for not putting two witnesses on the stand during the trial, Rosen told the jury "When you put a witness on the stand and he don't testify according to the statement he had made you can't call him a liar. That's the position I was in."

Problems Of Citrus Growers Is Subject Of Dr. Cake's Talk

Dr. E. W. Cake, a Citrus Marketing Extension Specialist, spoke to the Seminole County Farm Bureau members at the regular monthly meeting of the organization recently.

Dr. Cake, of the University of Florida, explained to the Farm Bureau members exactly what the University was doing to help the citrus growers with their problems. He said, "Various problems come to specialized departments with capable heads to solve them," as he explained that problems such as cost, handling of citrus, arrangement of packing houses, and new automatic packing machinery come before them.

"More than 500 million dollars was reportedly made last year by the citrus industry," Dr. Cake said, and over half of this was turned in by an assortment of cooperatives.

The huge earnings were due to good management and a lot of push by the directors of the cooperatives, said Cake. Modern machinery and packing houses help the volume output of Florida citrus, he said. And with a greater output it means more citrus on the markets and greater demands for the product. With these demands, he explained, the growmen will have a better market for their citrus and citrus products.

Dr. Cake told the Farm Bureau members that he expects, by 1970, there will be only about a 50% increase in citrus and citrus which is due to the fact that are being set on in now leading in the of citrus, followed by Texas," Dr. Cake said. A covered dish up of the business meeting Dr. Cake spoke.
