Here's How Prepare Plywood For Paint

By GENE GARY
Copley News Service

Q. I understand there are special instructions on painting plywood. We want to panel a garage we are converting into an extra room and have some raw plywood for interior installation. I know we can get pre-finished panels, but we want to use the plywood we have. Can you offer suggestions? — Mr. and Mrs. G. V. L.

A. Yes, but it depends on the kind of finish you desire to obtain. Whether you choose an opaque finish — a color that covers the wood — or one that allows the natural grain to show through, it is always important to prepare the plywood surface before painting. Make sure the surface is as smooth as possible and that it is free of any traces of oil, grease, or laminating glue. This may require some sanding, which requires elbow grease. For an attractive opaque finish, first prime the wood with a primer-sealer. Solvent thinned primer-sealers are recommended as they have good adhesion qualities and flexibility. After the sealer coat has dried, then sand lightly to restore the smooth finish. For first-class enamel work, an enamel undercoater should be applied either over a primer-sealer or directly on the wood. For a natural finish that allows the grain to show through, you should first select plywood that has an attractive pattern and is free of blemishes and plugs. Next, sand the wood as much as possible and then apply a coat of penetrating sealer. After the sealer has dried, sand lightly. Since you may want to tint the wood to some degree, the next step is to apply a coat of wood stain or colored penetrating sealer. Allow the stain to stand a few minutes and then wipe off to stop the coloring process. The last step is to brush on one or more coats of varnish. This is professional advice, as it comes from the National Paint and Coatings Association.

Q. We recently purchased a five-year-old, tri-level house with a heavy wood shake roof. After a recent rain and wind storm, I checked the roof for damage and, luckily, found none. However, I did note that the shakes seemed very dry and looked as though they had not been treated since the house was built. What can be used to treat the roof to keep the shingles waterproof and protect them from drying and splitting? — Luther O. B.

A. The roof will last much longer if you apply a preservative. There are several wood preservatives on the market under different brand names. A home-made mixture of linseed oil and graphite can also be used. Be sure to nail down any loose shingles and replace any that may be split before applying the finish. Consult your local paint dealer for these preservative products.

A sincere pleasure sitting in on council meetings last night and pleasantly surprised with the large number of interested residents who regularly attend these Longwood meetings.

So much has been said and written on the subject already that perhaps this one additional paragraph would serve to summarize my personal feelings on the matter.

"The Zoning and Planning Board exceeded its jurisdiction when it turned down the request cause Seminole isn't ready for this yet."

LONGWOOD — Proposal for a $17 million planned unit development-Sand Cove Village-to be built on a 56-acre tract adjacent to Fairy Lake was again turned down by the City Council Thursday night.

single family units rose from 250 starts in 1970 to 1,200 in 1971 for a 666 per cent increase while multiple family building increased during the same period 1,403 per cent from 60 to 356 starts.

Washington Oaks Roads Held Faulty

Streets falling apart in Washington Oaks subdivision, first section, has resulted in the City of Sanford imposing a moratorium on final inspections for approval by city utility and building departments.

"As soon as you have completed some action to correct the existing conditions and to prevent future recurrences, this moratorium will be lifted," Knowles added.

This was divulged in a letter from W. E. Knowles, city manager, to Darwin Nutt, Hallmark Construction Company vice president in Orlando, the subdivision developer.

Brain Waves Aid Science

By IRWIN J. POLK, M.D.
Copley News Service

Even your brain makes waves. The brain works like a complex computer. Each nerve cell is connected to other nerve cells in a complicated hookup. Each brain cell generates a little electricity as it works.

the brainwaves a great deal, since the electrical current made by the brain is only about 30 millionths of a volt. The machine uses pens to write out patterns which may come as often as 50 a second or as seldom as one in three seconds. In many ways, the EEG machine is very much like the ECG-machine (electrocardiograph) used to report the electrical activity of the heart.

The sum of the electricity produced by the millions of cells in the brain makes electrical waves which pass across the brain in definite patterns and with specific rhythms. These are brain waves which can give important information about the workings of the brain.

Knowing the members of the County Commission, I feel confident that this is also their attitude and a better example of cooperation will ensue.

Parking Fee Up At Fla. Tech U

Student unrest at Florida Technological University is rare but with the registration of the fall term has come a great deal of uproar and it's mainly due to a substantial increase in the parking fees.

Student parking fees have jumped 500 per cent from the previous year. Whereas a student paid a $2 fee for the 1971-72 school year he is now being charged $10 with no guarantee that there will be a parking spot when he comes to school.

Other parking fees have also jumped also. Where it used to cost faculty members $5 to park it now is $20 per year. And the reserved spots, for which only the president, vice president and deans are eligible, have jumped from $15 to $60. If it's any consolation all of the parking fees, from the president down to the student, must be paid by the individual.

DALLAS (AP) — H. L. Hunt, one of the world's richest men, popped a date into his mouth and smiled around it. "I'm a crank about creeping," he said.

"You get down on all fours and walk on your hands and knees," the 83-year-old health fan explained. He promptly dropped down to the floor of his antique dining room to demonstrate.

"Creeping is probably the second best exercise in the world next to swimming. It's perfect," Hunt said.

The Sin Problem

By REV. ROBERT E. LOY Central Baptist Church

Proverbs: 14-9—Fools make a mock at sin; but among the righteous there is favour.

We are living in one of the greatest, if not the greatest, times in all of history. Our scientific achievements have been beyond our comprehension. There has never been a time in history when the standard of living has been as high as it is today.

I believe that the answer begins with each of us realizing that we are all sinners. The Bible teaches that "Behold, I was brought forth in iniquity and in sin did my mother conceive."

I believe that the answer to the sin problem in our lives is found in the person of the Lord Jesus Christ. Jesus said, "I said therefore unto you, that ye shall die in your sins: for if ye believe not that I am he, ye shall die in your sins."

Each person must personally ask Jesus to forgive him of his sins and give him the power to overcome sin in order for mankind to have victory over the sin problem.

Special Procedures Suspended

Catholic Church Enforcing Discipline

NEW YORK (AP) — A Youngstown, Ohio, man writes: "I do most anything to be given the opportunity to once again be a 'complete' Catholic."

The fact is that the National Conference of Catholic Bishops, through its president, has called a halt to a procedure initiated in some dioceses allowing divorced and remarried Catholics in "good conscience" cases to return to receiving Communion.

John Cardinal Krol, president of the bishops, said the Vatican is studying the question, but has made clear that dioceses "are not to introduce procedures that are contrary to present discipline."

Under existing Church canons, Catholics who remarry after divorce without Church annulment of previous marriages are automatically excommunicated — barred from the sacraments. There have been estimates that about five million American Catholics are in such a status.

"The Church is not insensitive to the anxiety and anguish of the individuals involved," Cardinal Krol said. But he added that "grave doctrinal implications, including the indissolubility of marriage and fidelity to the Gospel of Christ are involved."

He said the Church must offer its "ministry of compassion, mercy and reconciliation," but also must provide its "ministry of correction. The Church must be faithful to her children by recalling them to fidelity to Christ and the Gospel."

Although the problem is being studied, Church authorities "do not venture any ready solutions," he said, and "it would be rash to conclude that a study must necessarily lead to change of principles or procedure."

Meanwhile, he said, a recent Vatican letter to the bishops' conference made clear that the past discipline must be maintained.

150 Attend Session On Narcotics

The response to the drug education program recently presented at First Baptist Church, Osteen, can be described in "teenage" as "SUPER," the program material as "HEAVY," and the personalities as "COOL."

This is with reference to the showing of the film "High on the Campus" and presentations by Sanford physician Luis Perez, Sheriff John Polk, and Deputy Sheriff Frank Alamo, as well as representatives of the Seminole Drug Action Committee, especially Tim Bannick, the director.

The information offered was not platitudes and scare propaganda. It was honest and real. The congregation of more than 150 people of all ages was intensely interested from the opening of the program until its conclusion — and on through the fellowship period with refreshments, when the experts were answering questions from any individuals who cared to ask them. This was apparently a very instructive session, as most of those present, left the meeting admitting that they had learned much more than they had ever dreamed of knowing on the subject of narcotics and drug abuse.

It was the first such program for the church, but indications are that it will not be the last.

CANON DAVID STILES

Canon Missioner Will Preach Here

Rev. Canon David Stiles will conduct a preaching mission at Holy Cross Episcopal Church on Sunday evenings at 7:30 p.m. in the Parish Hall. The mission begins Sunday and continues for seven weeks.

Canon Stiles is a Canadian, who was trained as an engineer. After some years of working at an aircraft plant, he returned to college and was graduated from Wycliff College of the University of Toronto. In 1963, he was led to put into practice the promises of Jesus concerning the Holy Spirit. As a result many conversions, healings, and miracles were witnessed.

Everything that is done in the world is done by hope. —Martin Luther, German religious reformer.

A contemporary look at a contemporary subject — the American Presidency — will be offered beginning Tuesday at the South Orlando Resident Center of Florida Technological University.

The four-hour course will be taught by Dr. Joyce Lillie and will be conducted Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 7-9 p.m. for 10 weeks.

Dr. Lillie, who recently joined FTU from the faculty of the University of Missouri at St. Louis, explained the course at the Resident Center located in Orlando Central Park will be "oriented to the community," and consist of a close analysis of presidential elections.

The Center also is offering more than three dozen additional courses covering subjects in engineering, business administration, education and social sciences.

Teach me, O Lord, the way of Thy statutes and I will keep it to the end. Give me understanding, that I may keep Thy law and observe it with my whole heart. —Psalms 119: 33, 34.

For President Nixon Family Campaigning

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS President Nixon is dispatching family members off to the campaign trail while challenger George McGovern maintains that three days of large, noisy rallies show his presidential drive is on the upswing.

McGovern wound up the three-day swing through the Midwest and East with Sen. Edward M. Kennedy Thursday night in Waterbury, Conn., where a cheering, singing crowd had to be held back by police.

The Democratic presidential nominee began his latest campaign trip Tuesday in Minneapolis. Thursday, the Democratic campaign funds turned up in the bank account of one of the five men arrested in the break-in.

A statement from O'Brien's office said Stans' suit appears to be a "diversionary tactic."

At the White House, meanwhile, the President continued to lay campaign groundwork. He met with political allies from two vote-heavy states—Mayor Frank Rizzo of Philadelphia, a Democrat, and Republican Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York.

Nixon did not active campaigning, but extensive travel plans were announced Thursday for his wife, daughters Julie and Tricia and Tricia's husband, Edward Cox.

On Capitol Hill, Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butte told Congress that McGovern allegations about a U.S.-Soviet wheat deal could endanger further business with Russia.

McGovern has said the Nixon administration passed along to his grain companies information on the wheat sales before the deal was made public.

In Iowa, Democratic vice-presidential nominee Sargent Shriver said that, if he and McGovern are elected, they would find a "constitutional method" of granting tax relief to parents who send their children to parochial schools.

In Dubuque, in a heavily Catholic part of the state, Shriver told a college audience that it is not fair to penalize people for believing religion has an integral part in education.

Allies Regain Control Of All Quang Tri City

By GEORGE ESHER Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese forces today regained control of Quang Tri City, ending North Vietnam's 29-month occupation of South Vietnam's northernmost provincial capital, U.S. officials in the field informed the American Embassy.

Col. De Viet, a spokesman for the South Vietnamese Command, said that at 5 p.m. (5 a.m. EDT) South Vietnamese forces completely control the Citadel, the 19th century fortress in the heart of the city. The North Vietnamese forces withdrew to the walled Citadel, and fighting is continuing near the province headquarters along the river that marks the western boundary of the city, Viet said.

"The fighting is still going on, but the main target is already taken," he reported. Quang Tri fell to the North Vietnamese on May 1, the first provincial capital to be captured in South Vietnam. President Nguyen Van Thieu in a speech last June 19 gave his troops three months to recover the city, Viet said.

President Nguyen Van Thieu in a speech last June 19 gave his troops three months to recover the city, Viet said.

In other developments: Three South Vietnamese infantry battalions were reported overrun with heavy losses in fierce fighting earlier this week near the district town of Ten Phuoc, 40 miles south of Dien Bien.

U. S. Would Cut Aid To Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration would be willing to end all economic and military aid to South Vietnam as part of a negotiated settlement of the Vietnam war, says Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird.

His comment Thursday seemed to enrage upon the most recent conditions President Nixon outlined for a negotiated agreement, but a Pentagon spokesman said Laird had spoken mindfully.

In an interview with Westinghouse Broadcasting Co., Laird said that South Vietnam would need U.S. economic aid for some time if the administration's Vietnamization program is to succeed.

However, he went on, if "negotiations bring about termination of the war in a different fashion, then we also could negotiate the question of military assistance and economic assistance at that time."

He was then asked: "If the North Vietnamese, just as a negotiating point ... were to insist on a cessation of all American involvement including aid, we would consider it to be a negotiable point?"

Pentagon spokesman Jerry W. Friedman said later that everything but the issue of U.S. prisoners of war has always been open to negotiation.

Guilty Plea Entered In Lewdness

Wendell G. Drummond, charged with lewd assault on a child June 24, in which he allegedly fondled the child without consent, pleaded guilty before Circuit Judge Thomas J. Drummond pleaded guilty to the lesser offense of possession of a prohibited drug against Billy Thompson.

Michael Thompson, pleaded guilty to grand larceny, and the state nolle prossed charges of breaking and entering. Thompson is on PSI and in custody.

James Perry Jr., charged with possession of cannabis, pleaded guilty to the lesser offense of possession of marijuana in less than five grams. The court adjudicated him guilty and sentenced him to six months in county jail and fine of $50.

Raymond Harold Gray pleaded guilty to aggravated assault and the state dropped charges of attempted escape. Gray was adjudicated guilty and sentenced to five years at state prison to run from Sept. 18 to Oct. 18, 1973.

Jack Miller, charged with possession and sale of a hallucinogenic drug, after a six-man jury was selected and trial began, received a direct verdict of acquittal from the court.

Verne Riggall, pleaded guilty to possession of cannabis, and the state dropped charges of possession of a hallucinogenic drug and possession of a central nervous stimulant.

A PSI was ordered and the defendant remanded to custody. Jerry Riddell Jr., charged with possession of cannabis sativa L. and possession of a hallucinogenic drug, pleaded guilty to the lesser offense of possession of marijuana in less than five grams. He was adjudicated guilty and sentenced to six months in county jail and $200 fine. Sentence was suspended for two years.

George Jackson, charged with breaking and entering with intent to commit a misdemeanor or aggravated assault and use of a fire arm in commission of a felony, pleaded guilty to a burglary of a building and battery. The state dropped the other charges. Jackson was adjudicated guilty and sentenced to 18 months in county jail and fined $100.

Officials Scrap On Speed Limit Today, Stenstrom said Cleveland's reaction was "ridiculous," and added he had traveled the route at speeds of 25 miles per hour and 35 miles per hour. "I took me 1:45 seconds at the lower speed," Stenstrom advised. He said that was 35 seconds less than the former 35 mph limit.

"What's a 35-second difference?" the city commissioner asked. Sanford police were instructed to strictly patrol the road and charge all motorists, even if they exceed the limit by as much as one mile.

They claimed traffic from the large conveyances created hazards along the road. Thursday several authority members, including Cleveland and John Mercer, reacted after Mercer disclosed that 23-mile-an-hour limit was "ridiculous" except at the point along the road where a cross crossing exists.

Editorial Comment How Presidential Politics Are Changing

So rapidly are critical decisions landing on President Nixon's desk, that these weeks present a period when the exercise of the Nixonian concept of the power of the president is getting a very broad application.

It is also a political period with the Nov. 7th presidential election looming in, that way the Republican nominee for a second term handles the somewhat conflicting goals — global peace and a return to the White House — needs to be noted by every concerned voter.

Thus it is that how this is handled and how this is resolved becomes, unhappily, a matter which also involves the interests of American Jews whose financial support and whose votes have traditionally gone to the Democratic nominee.

This is not unusual. What is unusual is the careful and professional political planning that has brought this about. It is also a magnificent example of the use of the power of the presidency in the political arena.

The Democratic campaign has been more than slow in starting. McGovern's advisors have stumbled. The candidate himself has only recently re-organized his drive that an improvement from dead bottom is taking place.

Mollifying the break with Mayor Daley of Chicago is an instance of the improved McGovern operations. For Illinois is a state without which a presidential win is almost impossible.

There are also signs that the South Dakota Senator is hitting at the Nixon record in the area of domestic economics and is keeping the pressure on the "Watergate" scandal to such an extent that the Nixon management has mounted a counteroffensive which could be self-defeating.

An incumbent president, especially one who has mastered the technique of his profession as Nixon has, is also in a position where he can pester the opposition with release of good news.

Good news is welcome at any time. It should not be regarded as or interpreted by any as a temporary cease fire upon which would be far more welcome as the horse itself.

Thus as the inscrutable but effective Dr. Johnson's words suggest, the Nixon management has mastered the technique of his profession as Nixon has, is also in a position where he can pester the opposition with release of good news.

Offbeat Ruminations Put These On "No-Loss-At-All" List

By HAL BOYLE NEW YORK (AP) — Things are not going to be as good as they seem to be.

Any executive who bows out a hired hand in front of the office hands.

Typical ladies at a bar who call men "martini boys."

Men who wear goggles and brag about it.

The problem of telling a teenager that acne is usually only a temporary curse put upon youth by the gods, and that in time it will pass — as do temples, monuments and daffodils.

Hostesses who cut corners by serving last week's leftover canapés at this week's party.

Anyone who has ever been levelled like a section of bombed-out wartime London.

Long shopping streets which once offered a pleasant array of modestly attractive retail stores which have gone out of business.

Fervid members of the women's liberation movement who secretly hate all men and think their place is in the doghouse.

Married millionaires who pride themselves on remaining bachelors.

Guys who can never take a drink from the office water cooler without asking, "When is the boss going to put free gin in it?"

Girls who act as if their lives were fading simply because their summer tan is fading.

Observations

A young lady has won Columbia's version of the Soap Box Derby. And we think that's fine.

The elderly goldfish at the office who never has done an honest day's work in his life but complains out loud about how he doesn't know what in the world he's doing.

Anyone who has ever been levelled like a section of bombed-out wartime London.

Long shopping streets which once offered a pleasant array of modestly attractive retail stores which have gone out of business.

Good News Today Uncovers Life Insurance Pitfalls

By FRANK MCGOVERNER Copying News Service

Outside of selecting a spouse or a career, the choice of life insurance is one of the average American's most important decisions, and one of the toughest.

That's why a young man named Herbert S. Denenberg is stirring up so much interest among potential life insurance customers and so much consternation among some insurance companies.

Denenberg is insurance commissioner for the state of Pennsylvania. He and his aides have put together what they call "A Shopper's Guide To Life Insurance."

Notes On Cuba Better U.S. - Cuba Ties Sighted

MIAMI — Knowledgeable Cuba-watchers foresee diplomatic assistance to Egypt in its continuing conflict with Israel.

Regarding Vietnam, peace moves are expected as part of a general pattern of agreement between Washington and Moscow over trouble spots in various parts of the world.

President Nixon, during his recent trip to Moscow, reached agreement with Soviet leaders regarding several international areas. Although these understandings were not officially announced, it is noted that parties to work behind the scenes rather than in a public spotlight.

In Chile lies a clue to the future of Communist Cuba. For, while Moscow and the Moscow-linked Communist Party of Chile have been seeking a go-slow policy, Premier Fidel Castro and his Cuban followers have been urging a more rapid revolution.

Political Notebook Rebuild Cities No Campaign Issue

Neither President Nixon nor Sen. George McGovern would try to argue that their campaigns are rebuilding U.S. cities.

Probably the big barriers, like the Munich tragedy and the massacre of eight people in a mere rubbery at a golf club in the Virgin Islands, do still make some kind of real dent on people whose senses generally are dulled these days to recurring human catastrophe.

Rebuilding cities is a long-term project. It takes time. It takes money. It takes a lot of people to do it.

Religious Notebook Early Protestant Union Hopes Dim

Most Christians in the United States enjoy using the phrase "the churches ought to get together."

Yet the advent of COCU—Consolidation on Church Union—as proposed by the churches, a period of growth, building and strong Sunday attendance. How sharply those statistics have changed. Other reasons were current and valid.

He recalls that the climate of the late '50s was one of institutional strength for the churches, a period of growth, building and strong Sunday attendance. How sharply those statistics have changed.

Seminole County is vital. The item came up during my absence because of illness. I was prepared to vote for it and would certainly support it.

When asked about the prospects of the county's funding the program, Commission Chairman Greg Drummond replied, "Doubtful. There are just so many health and welfare programs we can add to the taxpayers' burden each year."

Teen-ager wants pill but doctor hesitates

By Abigail Van Buren
DEAR ABBY: A rather unstable 14-year-old girl has asked me to provide her with birth control pills.

Without preventative measures she will surely get pregnant, and in her circumstances she couldn't get an abortion because it's illegal in Nevada, and she is poor.

DEAR ABBY: Two years ago my husband and I built our dream home. We designed it ourselves, wanting something different from the run-of-the-mill floor plans.

DEAR ABBY: There is a very pushy woman in our town who greets all the men with a kiss on the lips. I have watched her go from man to man milking and continuing to date at least 20 men, one right after the other.

DEAR HATES: When the kissing creature approaches, your husband could turn his head, so her kiss would catch him on the cheek instead of on the lips.

DEAR ABBY: I was 17 and Milton was 18. He was a college freshman and had a part-time job in a jewelry store.

DEAR ABBY: I remember my marriage proposal! How could I forget it? I called my boyfriend from the doctor's office and when I told him what the doctor told me, he asked, "How soon can you get married?"

ON THE SPOT
DEAR ON: I would consider the options, and choose the lesser of the evils—which is obvious. Since the girl is relying on you for help, I hope you realize that the desperate pleading covering it is but hope that you have explained that while "the pill" prevents pregnancy, it offers no protection whatsoever against venereal disease.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Many Uses For Lefover Yarn
By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—I tell Mrs. H. L. F. that I use yarn left over from the crewel embroidery to embroider small designs, such as butterflies, ovals, etc. on pin-cushions for small children. Any suitable material is made into four- or five-inch squares. Small fringe sewn in the seams makes a nice border.—ANN

Case U-589: Frances D. aged 30, is a sorrowful widow. "Dr. Crane," she wept, "I am heartbroken. For I have been dating a wonderful boy his senior year. His name is Warren and he even gave me his engagement ring, so we had talked about getting married next June. Then something terrible happened. He got a new roommate at his fraternity house, whose name is Bill. "And when I was a sophomore, I dated Bill steadily. In fact, he gave me quite a rush, and one weekend he coaxed me to drive up to Wisconsin to spend the holiday with him at a motel. "He registered us as man and wife. "But we broke up afterwards and he then dropped out of college for a year. "Now Bill is back and he blabbed about our affair to my fiancé. "They had been drinking beer, so maybe that was what made Bill boast about how sexy I was. "He didn't know, either, that I was engaged to Warren. "But Warren is old-fashioned and has now broken our engagement."

DEAR POLLY—Like Mrs. H. L. F. I do a lot of crewel embroidery and I separate the leftover yarn in dy categories and use the finer yarns to embroider designs on sweaters and shirts, to decorate children's mittens and also have done a variety of flower designs on sailcloth tote bags. Heavier yarn can be tied together, with "tails" long enough to wear in, and be used to make an afghan. This can be interesting if you use some imagination in combining the colors.—VALERIE

DEAR POLLY—I hope some of the readers can give me a few ideas for things to make with the colorful plastic tubs that margarine comes in. I am a kindergarten teacher who always is looking for new ideas as projects for five and six year olds. The cost must be kept to a minimum. I would greatly appreciate any suggestions.—VALERIE

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, Ph.D., M.D.

Francis was just ready for the wedding when tragedy struck. It was all due to her earlier sexual episode, plus a beer party in the fraternity house. So study this case and don't become discouraged. For a girl is usually regarded as the castoff when romance dies!

Vicki McArdle, Richard Livingston Exchange Vows In Double Ring Rites

Miss Vicki Lynn McArdle became the bride of Richard Russell Livingston in an impressive ceremony Sunday, Aug. 6, 1972 at 3 p. m. in the First Baptist Church, Sanford.

The Rev. J. T. Cosmato was officiating clergyman at the traditional candlelight, double ring ceremony. John Charles Barber, organist, presented an appropriate program of nuptial selections.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. McArdle, Sanford, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Livingston, Eustis.

The altar was centered with a white wrought-iron arch flanked by two seven branch candelabra. The arch and candelabra were interwoven with sprigged fern and two large white doves were perched at the top of the arch with smaller ones in the fern.

Two basket arrangements of pink daisies and orchid stands were flanked by two seven branch candelabra. The arch and candelabra were interwoven with sprigged fern and two large white doves were perched at the top of the arch with smaller ones in the fern.

The groom's mother wore a formal-length ensemble featuring a floor-length sleeveless coat over a dress of pale pink silk shantung with high neckline, sheer chiffon pleated sleeves and matching pink accessories.

Lynn Ellen Pruden, Michael Galletta To Marry

Cdr. and Mrs. Neil S. Pruden of Sanford, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Miss Lynn Ellen Pruden, to Michael Francis Galletta, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bart F. Galletta, 1330 Summerlin Ave., Sanford.

Born in Orlando, the bride-elect is the granddaughter of Mrs. Loyd Brake, Sunbury, Ohio, and Mrs. Pearl Pruden, Ft. Worth, Texas.

At Seminole High School, where she was graduated in 1971, Miss Pruden was a member of the Pop Club, Latin Club, National Honor Society, was business manager of the yearbook and a Florida Regent Scholar.

She will graduate in May, 1973, from Palm Beach Junior College, Lake Worth. Here she is a member of Phi Theta Kappa Honor Fraternity and treasurer of Junior American Dental Hygienist Association. Following graduation she will be a dental hygienist.

Mr. Galletta, who was born in Sanford, is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Turner Lodge, Sanford and Mrs. Joseph Galletta, Bronx, N. Y.

He is a 1973 graduate of Seminole High School where he was a member of Interact Club and Latin Club and was on the yearbook staff and Boy's Future teacher. Currently a sophomore at Florida Technological University where he is majoring in Art, he is also employed by Super X.

The wedding will be an event of June 1973, with complete plans to be announced at a later date.

Carroll Righter's horoscope

from the Carroll Righter Institute SATURDAY

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You want to get everything slow on a very solid and secure structure and it seems difficult to do so because delays and odd conditions are happening. Nevertheless, if you use your good common sense and are persistent and do not argue with others, results are better than you had thought possible. Keep poised.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Listen to good suggestions given you in positions of power and follow through on them, then you can advance more quickly. Get that bill paid before you have trouble with your credit. Show that you are dependable.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You have fine new ideas and want to put them through quickly, which is fine, provided you study them more carefully first. A new contract may give some ideas that are pure fantasy, so discount them. Show you are clever.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You have much work to do, so be sure you do not run out for pleasure just because others are pressuring you to do so. An attachment is out for a fight, but don't fall into the trap. A calm attitude is best.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Take care you do not start an argument with one who is a valuable associate. A spirit of cooperation is best with everyone, then this becomes a fine and productive day, p.m. for you. Have fun with a good friend in p.m.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You are able now to get those duties performed that have been difficult for you to handle in the past. Spend some time taking health treatments, exercise that is most helpful. A good evening for the theater.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You are able to have the recreation you want but it is wise to spend wisely instead of extravagantly. Use a more gentle approach with the one you love. Get the results you want and be happier.

SUNDAY
GENERAL TENDENCIES: Until noon upper security if you take any chances, so engage in proven principles and studies. The p.m. then becomes an excellent time for you to use your vitality and mental power to put in motion a detailed plan of action that can enhance your success, prosperity.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Don't change your plans about what you had intended to do in a.m., and then the evening is fine for working out those ideas for the future. Do whatever will make you a more vital and dynamic person in the afternoon.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) The morning can be disappointing where a friend or recreation is concerned, but the afternoon changes and all is pleasant for you. Delight in those creative ideas that give you a chance to show your finest talents.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Carry through with whatever has proved satisfactory in the past, then tonight you can decide how your future should go. Don't overinvest yourself during day. Have vitality for romance.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Join with associates at the good studies of a philosophical nature in a.m., and then be off to see good pals for a delightful time. Get hobbies perfected that will bring you more success in business, too. A happy day.

Fire Chief Back On Longwood Job

By DONNA ESTES
LONGWOOD — Carl Lommier has become the city's first paid, fulltime fire chief, effective Sept. 1. But only after a mini-battle among the City Council was approved finally given on a three-to-two vote.

Council Chairman Eugene Jaques, holding the "swing vote," decided in favor of the long time chief of the volunteer department after Councilmen William Klosky and Dick Crenshaw had registered "nays" and Councilmen E. E. Williamson and Agnes Weber "rays."

Klosky told the Council Lommier, who suffered a heart attack within days of assuming the paid position in July, has been given a "clean bill of health" by his cardiologist and actually has been on the job since August. Mayor Kenneth Brown, at the same time, recommended the reinstatement at a salary of $9,100. The appointment was made in June, but salary of $10,000 for the post held in abeyance after Lommier's illness. Council in budget session Wednesday, under public pressure, reduced the salary some $500.

Williamson, meanwhile, insisted the situation had not been settled and that the question of a salary would only be finalized when the budget for the new year is finally approved in its entirety some time in October.

Jaques said he was interested in determining if the city's workmen's compensation and insurance status would be changed by having Lommier on

Sanford Housing Authority Rent Collections Down

On hand for the three-hour session were members of the Sanford Tenants Council representing the occupants of the city's public housing units in dealings with the board.

Rev. Goldie Eubanks, Tenant Organizer, and Eufaula Drake, Florida State Tenant Council president from Miami, were vocal at the meeting. Smith advised the authority is $10,000 in arrears in uncollected rents, and advised, "If we collected every dime owed to will not solve our problems."

Land O'Lakes Development Hearing Set

CASSELBERRY — A public hearing has been set for Oct. 11 to get public reaction to the latest plan for the development of the Land O'Lakes Golf and Country Club.

Representatives of David Meadows and Son Company were before the city's Zoning Board this week to present the proposal, which calls for the development of 200 units of apartments on the front nine of the course, and almost 800 units on the back nine. The golf course would be rearranged to retain 18 holes and a green belt.

The developers are requesting a change in zoning from R1A and R1AA to R-3 over a period of three years, which would allow for the transition of the golf course.

The city lost in its bid to purchase the golf course and retain it as a green belt several months ago when the issue was defeated in a referendum for ad valorem taxes. Several other plans for the use of the property have been before the council, and have been defeated by protests of area residents.

JOHN SMITH, as chairman, restored order at a meeting of the Sanford Housing Authority last night when he threatened to adjourn the session as members of the Tenant Council became unruly and noisy over reorganization.

Migrant Program 'Moving'

By KATHY NIBLACK

In July of 1970, the State Department of Education transferred all responsibility for adult and vocational education in Seminole County to Seminole Junior College. A program was immediately begun for high school dropouts, and this year that program includes 1,800 students. Other adult education programs at SJC include a general adult education program, a high school and high school equivalency program, and a community service program and a program to serve the aged.

One of the newest, and perhaps one of the most needed, adult education programs at SJC is the Adult Migrant Education Program. Bill Gordon, director of Adult and Continuing Education, and Lonnie Thomas, director of the migrant program, were at the meeting of the Matland and South Seminole Chamber of Commerce on Thursday to talk about the program.

Thomas is a trained specialist in veteran counseling, and has been a migrant himself. His favorite words in describing the program are "We're on the move now." And from all indications his program is "on the move" to doing something about the migrants in and out of Seminole County each year.

The director strongly believes that each of his students has a place in modern society, and he is helping them to find that place. "We don't believe that people born in poverty must die in poverty," he says. "We describe his program as "a common sense approach to the escape from poverty."

The program includes training in the nursing, electronics, office and other skills which can be used immediately on a job. Some students obtain high school diplomas.

S-S Development Co. Declares Dividend

Sanford-Seminole Development Company directors, meeting in the Chamber of Commerce conference room Friday morning, declared a five per cent dividend on shares outstanding as of Sept. 1, payable Oct. 1.

Clifford McKibbin Jr., president, said that this is the 11th consecutive year in which investors had enjoyed a yield similar to this.

This organization came into being, the directors recalled, not as a "money-making venture," but as a means through which local people could provide funds for firms wishing to locate in this area, but needing assistance in start-up costs or supporting capital.

In serving "approximately a dozen" companies in the 12 years of operation, the development group has added materially to the local payrolls and to the flow of commerce within the area.

Sanford Is Favorite Lions Invade Seminole Stadium Tonight

By GARY TAYLOR Herald Sports Editor

In a last minute move, Seminole High head football coach Jim Rogers has moved some players to different positions and placed a pair of last year's starters up to a starting spot on the Seminole host Oviedo at 8 p. m. tonight at the Sanford Municipal Stadium and tonight's game could be the best one ever played between the two teams.

For Oviedo head coach Ralph Stumpf, it will be another visit to the Sanford Stadium, the same field where he walked the sidelines for several seasons as a Seminole High coach. Junior Brent Carl will start at center, replacing Jimmy Steffens, who was moved to defense this week. Reggie spell trouble for Sanford, though the Seminoles are still a definite favorite. The Lions are fielding a young team, with many underclassmen in starting positions. Four of the starting offensive players are juniors with two sophomores also on the first eleven. In the backfield of the Wishbone-T will be Alan Daniels, Don Allen and John Jackson, with Greg Washington at quarterback. At the ends will be Larry Perrin and Glenn Patterson, who is one of the sophomores on the starting team. Wes Semmes will be at center with Jay Becker, Kevin Creeden, Jim Stamps, and James Meeks completing the front line. Both teams will be giving their all in this very important game and a crowd is expected to be on hand. And with the excitement and anticipation which has been building up over this game lately, the fans could be in for a tremendous game.

Key Conference Tilt Lyman Begins 'Metro Madness'

By HERKY CUSH Herald Sports Writer

"Metro Madness," if there is such an animal, should be on display tonight at the Lyman High School field when the Greyhounds of Dick Copeland and the Grenadiers of Colman tangle in the Metro Conference opener for both teams.

Both the Greyhounds and Grenadiers have been the object of the "Metro Madness" in other years with the usual powers such as Edgewater, Boone, and Oak Ridge putting it to them. All of that is expected to change during the 1972 grid season at least.

The Hounds and Grenadiers are among the favorites in the Metro this season and tonight's clash will go a long way in determining how well both do in conference play. A bruising contest is expected and how much it takes for each team only time will tell.

"They look real strong," said Coach Copeland. "But they are not particularly fast. At least not as fast as last year." Copeland was basing his judgment on the performance of the Colonials eleven in the recent Lyman jamboree.

"They didn't exactly run over anyone in the jamboree," said

Copeland. "Then again no one ran over them." Colman will boast a powerful and experienced running attack but their overall offensive show will be short when senior quarterback Rob Hilley torye ligaments in his right leg. Hilley, one of the top passers in the conference last year, will not see any action this season. This means the load falls upon the bruising senior halfback Tom Arrant, a strong 6-1, 193 pound linebater. Other fine runners in the Colonial backfield will be Steve Mellich, 6-1, 182 pound junior and Chuck Carney, a 6-1, 187 pound senior. Replacing Hilley at quarterback will be senior Denny Belden.

The Grenadiers dropped a tough 15-7 decision to Lyman last year and figure to make things a little tougher with its veteran crew returning. Defensively Coach Terry Manford has such standouts as linebacker Steve Schanbacher, end Sam Maddox and halfback Joe Joyner. Maddox is a strong 6-3, 215 pound senior. Schanbacher at 6-0, 190 is a tough feline to move from his linebacking slot.

For the Greyhounds of said it will be a backfield consisting of Tom Bacchus, 5-11, 161 at quarterback; LeRoy Jackson, 6-1, 187 and Steve Clark, 6-1, 182 at halfbacks and freshman Mike Massie, 6-2, 200 pounder at fullback. Others who'll be seeing action in the backfield are halfbacks Alford Cleveland, 5-9, 160 and Martin Johnson, 5-7, 156.

Along the offensive line it will be Tom Gough, 5-10, 157 and Rodney Dowling, 6-3, 175 at ends; Mike White, 6-2, 199 and Doug Dane, 6-0, 222 at tackles; Greg Wallick, 6-0, 196 and John Giovannetti, 5-10, 165 at guards and Ralph Elliott, 5-11, 195 at center.

Glenn Hill, 6-2, 189 and Ben Craft, 6-2, 178 will start at defensive ends. Mike Hawkins, 5-11, 170 and White will be the defensive tackles. The linebackers will be Wallick, Paul Kelley, Clay Phillips and John Ahnkrantz.

Terry Travis, 5-9, 150 and Richard Stokes, 5-11, 155 will open at defensive halfbacks and John Mitchell, 5-10, 145 will be the Greyhound safetyman.

The Hounds have a little more size than last year but still are not as big overall as their opponent tonight. Hopefully they can make up for it in speed. While they have some experienced running backs returning from last year three-

Oviedo Eleven Has Best Shot At Upset Tonight

By GREG SINDAD Herald Sports Staff

Tonight the Oviedo Lions and the Sanford Seminoles meet in a game which both teams have looked forward to since the first day of this year's practice. At the end of the clock strikes 8 at the Sanford Municipal Stadium.

In this big Seminole County rivalry, Coach Ralph Stumpf will be taking his best shot at beating his former team and Seminoles will be looking to increase by one the winning streak which the Sanford football team has established over the Lions. Both teams want the win badly, especially after their disappointing performances in preseason games.

One interesting fact about this year's game is that several of the seniors on both squads played against each other as freshmen when the two teams battled to an 8-8 tie. And many of the players remember that game well.

Although the game means a great deal to both teams, Stumpf has probably been looking forward to this year's game more than any game since either school. He feels that this is the best chance he has had to beat Sanford and he is not going to give up easily. He has driven the team hard this summer, preparing for this game and you can bet that they will be ready. When asked just how much this game means to him, Stumpf replied, "I can't put it into words."

Stumpf has added some new wrinkles to the team this year, one of which is the Wishbone-T offense. His aim is to maintain ball control while keeping the ball on the ground. But the Lions have a strong arm in Greg Washington if it becomes necessary to go to the air.

Because of a lack of scouting reports, no set game plan has been instituted. The Lions will be out by ear and attempt to feel out the Sanford defense. With this lack of information about each other and it being

Velda Farms Again Seek Top Linemen

The National Football League's inter-conference and intra-conference trading season is something like a chess game, except that a lot more than two people are involved. As the trading period ended, NFL teams had made 43 trades involving 38 players and 45 draft choices. Fifteen of the swaps came during the last 24 hours before the trading deadline. However, teams may continue to trade within their own conferences until after each has played the sixth regular season contest Oct. 24.

Already there have been 22 trades in each of the conferences — American and National. What is behind this great swap-shop? Who recommends moving so many men about like pawns on a chess board? Mostly it's the scouts of each

At the same time they are responsible for keeping tabs on the performances of college players, but who appear to have pro potential, for the college gridiron is to pro football what the farm system is to major league baseball.

In addition to shining the publicity spotlight on players who normally rate the least recognition, results from "Unheralded Hero" are mailed weekly to major college coaches throughout Florida to aid in their recruiting.

"We've been extremely gratified with the results of 'Unheralded Hero' over the past three seasons," says Mason Copeland, vice president and general manager of Velda Farms. "Many of our heroes go on to star on college teams, but we're just as proud of some of the truly unsung players who (for that one game) excelled and were singled out for recognition."

Mayfair Country Club

The 1971-72 golf season ended last Saturday for the Mayfair Men's Golf Association. It did not go out quietly, however, as the final tournament of the year was the two ball, best ball club championship in which 42 teams competed. I had predicted for the past few weeks that the team of Dave McCoy and Dwight Street appeared to be the team to beat. In mid-afternoon however, there were four teams tied at two under par, 70 for the low gross prize and the club championship. McCoy and Street made up one of the teams along with Larry Sherwood and Whitley Eckstein; Rickley Smith and Ralph Smith; and Bill Means and Bill Summerville. Still out on the course, however, was the father-son team of Frank Melano, Jr. and Frank Melano III. They made the turn at two under par, and everyone started to turn their attention to them. The Melanos broke the 10th hole, putting them one shot out of the lead. Knowing how close they were to winning, the fellows from "gasoline" started to get nervous. The 12th and 14th holes were no more bogies, finishing with a three under par 69 and the championship.

With the exception of Means and Summerville, who declined to play because of the time of day and for the fact that they both lived in Orlando, the other three teams, led by McCoy and Street, started out on the first tee for a playoff. It was decided that holes one, three and nine would be played, and if the teams were still tied, sudden-death would then come into play. After the first three holes, McCoy and Street were one under par, as were Smith and Simon, while Sherwood and Eckstein were even par. On the ninth hole, Dwight Street rammed home a 16 foot birdie putt, giving himself and his partner the second place trophy.

In the low net category, the perfect combination was Charles Butterworth and Bud Richards. The twosome were 11 under par 61 when they finished. Second low net trophies went to Bill Spence and I. M. Johnston, who finished at 60 and won in a match of cards over Howard McNulty and Fred Ganas.

Howard and Fred even had a shot at the low gross prizes, being two under par at the end of the 13th hole, but gathered a few bogies and finished even par.

During the tournament, Marion Roberts recorded his best ever score, and he did it under a good deal of pressure. Score cards for the event had to be turned in by 7 p.m., and he didn't tee off until 4:00. He handed me his card at precisely 7 p.m.

After the tournament, a free bar-b-que chicken dinner was enjoyed by the members, at which time the awards were presented, along with several door prizes.

Election of officers was also held and as the outgoing president, I was extremely pleased to turn the meeting over to the newly elected president, Ralph Pezold. Rounding out what appears to be a very fine slate of officers were Dave McCoy, vice president; Henry Ganas, secretary; and Larry Albright, treasurer. I was presented with an appreciation plaque, for which I am truly grateful. Thanks to all of you for that. I particularly want to thank the other officers for last year's tournament, Ralph Pezold and Henry Ganas, for their tremendous help and effort in making it a most successful association year. A sort of extra special thanks to Larry Albright, who did just an outstanding job as handicap chairman. At the risk of stealing some of the thunder from Larry's wife, Frank.

The new board of directors for next year will include: R. C. Whitmore, Harold Brooks, John Pierce, Jack McGrath, Rick Richard, Whitley Eckstein and yours truly.

Right Down To The Line

AFC Grid Action Looks To Be 'Toid'

By BEN THOMAS

NEW YORK (AP) — A good way to describe the division races in the National Football League's American Conference this year is to call them lively. It might be better to call them torrid.

There will be down-to-the-wire battles for division championships in the East, Central and West and when it's all over the winners, at least in this fearless forecaster's peevish prognostication, will be Baltimore, Pittsburgh and Kansas City.

The Miami Dolphins and the New York Jets will fight Baltimore's Colts tooth-and-nail in the East and if Johnny Unitas doesn't remain healthy, it's good by Colts.

Cincinnati will make it tough for the Steelers in the Central Division, but Pittsburgh should overcome. And the Oakland Raiders as well as the San Diego Chargers will challenge Kansas City's Chiefs all the way. Yes, the Chargers should be the surprise team in pro football this season.

So, with considerable trepidation, here's how this crystal ball gazer, sees the final standings:

East Division
Miami Dolphins
New York Jets
New England Patriots
Buffalo Bills
Central Division
Pittsburgh Steelers
Cincinnati Bengals
Cleveland Browns

There's no argument about Baltimore's prowess—Bob Griese at quarterback, along with runners such as Jim Kiick, Larry Condon and Mercury Morris, plus the pass-catching abilities of Paul Warfield. And the Miami defense is going to be better.

So why Baltimore? Strictly a visceral pick.

The Jets, if Joe Namath stays healthy, may make it mighty interesting in the East. This will not be the year for either the Buffalo Bills or the New England Patriots. But both teams may cause some grief later in the season. The Pats have fast-maturing Jim Plunkett at quarterback and the Bills could be awfully dangerous once they get some bodies to go with O.J. Simpson.

This is going to be the year of the Pittsburgh Steelers in the Central Division. Coach Chuck Noll has never won a pro football title, but a potentially explosive club.

Pittsburgh's Terry Bradshaw should live up to his college non-degreed, the Rifleman, this season, his third as a pro. The golden-haired thrower, once the national schoolboy javelin record-holder, has an able pass-catching corps in Ron Shanklin and Dave Hunt, plus Preston Pearson and John Fagua to tug the ball on the ground.

The defense is young but growing up rapidly.

If Paul Brown had a Terry Bradshaw, the Bengals might go all the way in the Central Division. He doesn't. But Cincinnati will improve greatly over its 1971 slouching with quarterback Virgil Carter back in shape. And the Bengals have a

NEW YORK (AP) — The schedule-makers of the National Football League came up with some dillies for the opening Sunday of the 1972 campaign.

There's the battle between Kansas City's Chiefs and Miami's Dolphins, first meeting of the two teams since last December's long sudden-death playoff game, which the Dolphins won on Garo Yepremian's field goal.

And Pittsburgh, which is expected to shine in the American Conference's Central Division, has always-tough Oakland as its initial foe.

Then, just to keep things hopping, make it tough for pickers, there's the Monday night game featuring the rejuvenated Redskins from Washington against the Minnesota Vikings.

Enough of the preliminaries. It's time to do or die as the NFL gets down to the business of deciding which team will be Super Bowl VII. Here's how the Fearless Football Forecaster calls them:

Pittsburgh 27, Oakland 21—This is a pick-it game where the KICKOFF 8:00 P.M.

There's no argument about Baltimore's prowess—Bob Griese at quarterback, along with runners such as Jim Kiick, Larry Condon and Mercury Morris, plus the pass-catching abilities of Paul Warfield. And the Miami defense is going to be better.

So why Baltimore? Strictly a visceral pick.

The Jets, if Joe Namath stays healthy, may make it mighty interesting in the East. This will not be the year for either the Buffalo Bills or the New England Patriots. But both teams may cause some grief later in the season. The Pats have fast-maturing Jim Plunkett at quarterback and the Bills could be awfully dangerous once they get some bodies to go with O.J. Simpson.

This is going to be the year of the Pittsburgh Steelers in the Central Division. Coach Chuck Noll has never won a pro football title, but a potentially explosive club.

Pittsburgh's Terry Bradshaw should live up to his college non-degreed, the Rifleman, this season, his third as a pro. The golden-haired thrower, once the national schoolboy javelin record-holder, has an able pass-catching corps in Ron Shanklin and Dave Hunt, plus Preston Pearson and John Fagua to tug the ball on the ground.

The defense is young but growing up rapidly.

If Paul Brown had a Terry Bradshaw, the Bengals might go all the way in the Central Division. He doesn't. But Cincinnati will improve greatly over its 1971 slouching with quarterback Virgil Carter back in shape. And the Bengals have a BISHOP MOORE back, Bill Kramer runs out of room sweeping the Lake Bramley end last night as Rick Garza closes in for the Patriots, shutting off a Hornets drive.

Patriots Overcome Mistakes, Hornets

By J. RICHARDS
Herald Sports Staff

Lake Bramley's Patriots, powered by break-away plays, surged past faltering Bishop Moore Junior Varsity last night at Lyman Field in a contest that was marred by "too many mistakes," according to the Patriots coaching staff.

The young, inexperienced Patriots lost the handle on the pigskin several times during the game. More times than head coach Bill Duty was prepared to accept.

"We expected mistakes, of course," Duty said, "but sometimes we acted as if we'd never seen a football before."

Despite his displeasure with mental lapses by relatively inexperienced youngsters, Duty angled out second-half running by halfback Jeff Hammond, the game's leading rusher with 76 yards; the stand-out performance of Craig Davis, who went both ways as a linebacker and halfback among the more pleasing aspects of the game.

scamper around right end. Much of the initial work came from the inside running of Hammond and fullback Chuck Coulter. The first tally was the only sustained drive either team managed in the first period. The extra point attempt, a run, failed. Most of the second quarter was taken up as both teams tried to give each other the ball. Fumbles on both sides slackened the pace until Anguilli lobbed a short screen pass to freshman halfback Rick Garza, a 5-4, 125 pound speedster who fled down the sidelines following well-placed Patriot blocking to score with 24 seconds left in the half.

Garza, who plays safety, set up his own score, pulling down the game's only interception just seconds before, adding a 40 yard run-back to his evening's work.

Both teams came out running the second half, but a continuation of "first game jitters, mental lapses and fumbles," stopped any determined scoring drives. Bishop Moore signal caller Chris Delaporte crossed the final white line for the Baby Hornets only tally, following a fumble recovery on the Patriots one yard line. The Orlando team ran across a two-point conversion. Early in the final chapter of the game Jeff Hammond took a pitch-out on an option play and galloped 42 yards to pay-dirt untouched. As with the two previous attempts, Lake Bramley failed to mark up a point after attempt.

Clemente On 'Limb' Picks Bucs To Win

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Now that the Pittsburgh Pirates are 15 games ahead of the pack, Roberto Clemente will go out on a limb.

Yes, he thinks his team will win the National League East. "I think we'll clinch first," said Clemente after socking two hits to lead the Pirates over the turnover Chicago Cubs 5-2 Thursday. "If we don't do it in St. Louis, I think we'll do it in New York."

It's a good bet that the run-away Pirates will win their third straight division pennant in one of those two cities within the next week or so. Any combination of Pirates victories or Chicago losses totaling three will secure the title.

While the Pirates roared toward another pennant by slashing their "magic" number to three, Clemente himself zeroed in on a personal magic number—the 2,000 career hit level. Clemente collected eight hits as the Pirates swept a three-game series from their closest competitors and now is 14 shy of the 3,000-hit plateau.

In Thursday's other National League game, the Houston Astros defeated the San Diego Padres 10-4 and the St. Louis Cardinals turned back the Montreal Expos 5-2.

Only two games were played in the American League Thursday night. The Milwaukee Brewers nipped the Cleveland Indians 4-3 in 15 innings and the California Angels beat the Texas Rangers 4-0.

The AL East race picks up steam again tonight after a day of rest. New York and Baltimore, tied for third place 1 1/2 games off the pace, start a three-game series in Yankee Stadium while the first-place Boston Red Sox host the Cleveland Indians and the second-place Detroit Tigers, one game behind, visit Milwaukee.

The Astros kept their flickering hopes alive in the NL West with their triumph Thursday. They picked up a halfgame on the Cincinnati and now trail the front-running Reds by seven games.

Trailing 5-0 after a five-run Padre outburst in the top of the third inning, the Astros came back with six runs in their half in a rally keyed by Tommy Helms and Rich Chiles. Each knocked in two runs with singles.

ALL WAS EVEN at the outset of yesterday's Greyhound Opener cross country meet but at the finish it was David Shilling of Edgewater coming in ahead of the field. Behind Shilling is Lyman's fine long distance runner, Mike Rahill who was two seconds off the pace set by the Edgewater ace. Lyman won the team event however, as they had four finishers among the top ten finishers.

Lyman Cross-Country Captures Team Trophy

Dave Huggins' Lyman cross country team captured the team trophy in the first Greyhound Opener Invitational yesterday at the Valley Forge Country Club Course.

Lyman had three of the top five finishers in yesterday's Greyhound opener. Jim Haynes of Daytona Mainland finished third with a time of 10:24 and behind him came Lyman's Daryl Theobald with 10:29 and Kenny Duncan at 10:29 also.

Other local finishers were Dennis Burns of Lyman, 15th at 11:30, Tom Herron of Lyman at 11:31 and 10th and Ray Aquarius of Lyman 18th in 11:33. Bill Ross of Sanford Naval was 22nd with a time of 11:53. Steve Hull of Sanford Naval was 23rd in 12:01. Tom Acheran of Sanford Naval took 32nd in 12:09 and Mark Bassett of the naval Academy was 33rd in 11:07.

The next action for the local runners will come Tuesday when Sanford Seminoles and Lyman visit the Naval Academy's course.

Trinity Prep Opens Play At Showalter Saturday

Rated statewide, but feeling very much the part of "underdog," Trinity Prep will entertain a highly touted Ft. Pierce John Carroll team tomorrow afternoon in Winter Park.

The 2 1/2 p.m. kick-off at Showalter Field will begin the Saints hopeful drive on state honors as the premier Class A gridiron team.

Coach Ruby expects Cleveland to lead his ground game, but he's very interested in the performance of his two other running backs, Greg Miles and Mike Austin.

Trinity hopes to rely on their height and speed advantage. Both teams prefer to grind out yardage through the line, but will option outside to spring a long-gainer whenever possible.

Jim Beuchamp turned 33 on Aug. 22 and that night he hit his first two home runs of the season for the New York Mets. His second homer beat the Houston Astros 4 to 2 in the ninth inning.

Catfish Hunter of the Oakland Athletics beat the Detroit Tigers 3 to 1 for his 18th victory of the season. Hunter received much-needed help from Rolfe Fingers, making his 13th save.

Woody Fryman, traded by the Philadelphia Phillies this summer, won three straight for the Detroit Tigers before bowing to Oakland's Athletics on Aug. 22.

All three running backs, along with senior signal-caller, David Terwilliger, both starting defensive backs. Back-up quarterback Greg Chandler lacks experience at the position, but is well thought of by the coaching staff. Offensively, the Saints will be running, much of it inside work, crunching and grinding. They have little in the way of a gridiron team.

The hopes of a new coaching staff, led by former Oak Ridge assistant, Tom Ruby, rides on the performance of a veteran backfield and line committed reserves. Candidate for All-State laurels, Trinity halfback and safety Lawrence Cleveland, Florida's most prolific schoolboy scorer last year, is the key stone for any post-season hopes the small Seminole County team entertains.

Amusement Parks Plan Expansion

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Remember catching the rings on the merry-go-round or a dare devil ride on the roller-coaster? They're going stronger than ever, according to industry spokesmen, and attracting more families around the world. Representatives from Santa's World, Wild West Town, Safari Jungle and Mother Goose Village are meeting at Walt Disney World in Orlando this week to talk about new rides and mind-boggling contraptions.

"We'll be looking at Walt Disney World with a microscope," said Robert Bludred, executive secretary of the International Association of Amusement Parks and Attractions.

After their three-day stay at the Central Florida $400-million amusement complex, the representatives will be returning to Ohio, California, New York, Naples, Paris and Rio de Janeiro with innovations for their amusement parks.

"We're a family-oriented industry," said Bludred "and we provide low-cost wholesome diversified entertainment for all members of the family." The amusement parks range from small ferris wheel and merry-go-round attractions to large scale Disney-style operations.

Although the basic concept is the ride as the base for amusement parks, new gimmicks and attractions are being added.

"There's a growing interest as more people have a shorter work week and more time for leisure and more disposable income," said Bludred.

With an advanced highway system, new leisure complexes are being planned based on combining rides and attractions with outdoor activities.

Companies plan their picnics for amusement parks and industries are scheduling meetings at recreational centers to involve the whole family.

Amusement officials predict a variety of new rides will be introduced into the U. S., "including Spanish, German and Italian inventions."

Called Crooms High School and was told that their public address system is being repaired and that probably by tomorrow the entire student body will be led—DAILY—in the Pledge of Allegiance.

At the Church of Nativity in Lake Mary yesterday, Rev. William Neiderer scheduled the National Anthem for the recessional... with one of the younger members holding high the American flag (in front of the altar) and when Father Neiderer reminded each of us about how poorly our flag was treated recently in Munich, and encouraged each of us to sing.

Well, I couldn't have been more proud! It's been what seems like such a long time since the old chills ran up and down my spine... IT FELT GOOD.

What did your church do to promote Constitution Week? (Or maybe that's an embarrassing question cause you just might not have been in your favorite pep yesterday? And your kids, too?)

Oh well, we can always blame the teachers for not "educating" them, right? It's not ever the fault of the parents.

If the "love bugs" are chattering around the doors to your home, one of our readers just might have an answer to helping us to get in without a hundred bugs coming in, too! The woman caller said, "If you burn a PIC mosquito repellent just outside the door", it'll make the bugs move away.

You just don't know when you're well off. If you think that we're suffering from inflation, take a look at what happened in Germany — a couple years before Hitler's arrival.

In the year 1914, butter was selling for 1.4 marks per pound. A mark is about 25c in our money. Well, in 1923, butter in Germany was selling for 6-thousand-million per pound.

As an example of the way things were going here in Sanford, in 1934, pork chops were selling three pounds for 25c.

Today, they're around $1.29 per pound.

Or another way of looking at how "well-off we are"... this country's national debt back in '34 was $39 billion.

Today, you'd be safe by adding still another $400 billion to that amount.

(See, I told you not to worry... cause nothing's gonna turn out right, anyhow.)

For Death Row Inmates Life Sentences Are Sought

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—An attorney asked the Supreme Court today to grant life sentences for all persons previously under the death penalty on grounds that administrative procedures might delay some sentencing in lower courts.

Unless the life sentences are granted before a new law becomes effective Oct. 1, the prisoners would be sentenced to life without the possibility of parole.

Attorney Tobias Simon of Miami filed a petition for a constitutional writ on behalf of Bernard R. Baker, convicted of murder in Indian River County Circuit Court, sentenced to death and later found insane.

Simon contended that because Baker is still considered insane and is in the Florida Mental Hospital at Chattahoochee, the lower court would not consider a such procedures as returning the men to courts and finding counsel for them.

The Supreme Court has ordered life sentences with parole possible for 27 murderers and ordered resentencing in lower courts of 13 persons convicted of rape and sentenced to the electric chair. A U.S. district court in Jacksonville ordered resentencing of the other 57 inmates who were on Florida's death row when the U.S. Supreme Court ruled against capital punishment.

Specialized Training Cited For Readers

By MARION BETHEA

At Sanford Middle School, children with the reading difficulties are placed on controlled readers. After being diagnosed, they are placed in individual groups. In contrast to some other schools, according to Pelham, all of the teachers at Sanford Middle School teach reading along with whatever particular subject they instruct.

Pelham stressed that the children with perceptual problems, being able to keep pace with their fellow students.

The three part series on a reading program at Sanford Middle School which primarily deals with the problems encountered by children having perceptual difficulties, which concludes today, has apparently left some misconceptions, according to comments we have received.

Implication was not intended that there are no other schools within the county with any type of reading program... this would be false. There are a few schools in the county with some type of reading program underway but Sanford Middle School principal Dan Pelham has stated the school is the only one whose entire curriculum is geared to reading, and "I will stand on that record."

Reading, he stated, is taught with all of the language arts, and by each and every teacher at the school as opposed to a few isolated programs which are being presented throughout the county.

According to Pelham, for the first time this year, Charlotte Geyer, language arts supervisor, has requested that all compulsory students take the perceptual test at the secondary level.

It is the purpose of the series to point out that the perceptual problem must be recognized so these unfortunate students may receive assistance, and further that instead of a few isolated reading programs in some schools the emphasis on reading must be county-wide.

are frustrated. And, he contends, frustration and anxiety brings with it a disciplinary problem. The youth, he said, have a brilliant potential, an extremely high I.Q., but are reading below grade level.

However, Sanford Middle School, pursuing the problems, has progressed from 70 per cent reading below grade level the previous year to 60 per cent last year.

The reading clinic at the school has been rated as the best equipped in Central Florida. Books are available through the non-reader through the accelerated.

Further indicative of the excellent program is a telemechanical machine, only one of the two in the county, purchased from the school's own funds.

Pelham displayed three in-troductory rooms utilized for the reading program, in which, he said, students often sit on the floor until 3 p.m. being so engrossed in the program. Typewriters are available, being determined that these are of particular value to the child with a reading handicap.

Pelham emphasized that if the perceptual problem is ascertained in kindergarten (Cont'd On Pg. 3A Col. 1)

City Police Nab Suspect

By GARY TAYLOR

Speedy work by two Sanford police officers led to the arrest of an Orlando murder suspect last night, less than one half hour after the murder occurred.

According to the Orlando police, Howard Jones, 37, of Wheatley Street, Orlando, was shot and killed during an argument in the parking lot of a liquor store at 720 West Carter Street, Orlando. When officers arrived they found Jones lying on his back, bleeding profusely. He was dead on arrival at Orange Memorial Hospital emergency room. The Orlando police reported the incident occurred shortly before 10:15 p. m. Sanford was notified immediately and the suspect was arrested at 10:30.

Lt. Mike Rotundo, and Sgt. Ralph Russell stalked-out the suspect in the parking lot of Second Street and Park Avenue in Sanford, figuring the suspect might try to come to Sanford to catch a bus. The only thing they had to work with was a vague description of the suspect's physical build.

When the car pulled up at the bus station, Rotundo circled around and was able to determine that the 1966 Oldsmobile station wagon had an Orange County license plate. Finding that out, the two officers moved in and arrested Willie James Brown, 25, of Orlando.

Three other people were in the car with Brown, but they were released after questioning.

Det. Sgt. George McNamara and other Orlando officers came to Sanford immediately after learning of the suspect's apprehension. Brown was transported to Orlando, where he was charged with murder.

Prisoner Attempts Suicide

By BILL SCOTT

Gov. Reubin Askew has asked Sheriff John Polk for a report of an attempted suicide by a 13-year-old Matland youth in the county jail during the weekend.

Sheriff Polk said Arthur C. Lockwood, charged with possession of stolen property, was found early Saturday by jailer Pat Johnson bleeding in his cell.

Polk explained Lockwood had sustained a cut foot while undergoing treatment at Chattahoochee and was returned here Wednesday with stitches in his foot. Apparently the accused removed the stitches while in his cell with the resulting bleeding almost ending his life.

Polk said Governor Askew requested a report on the incident after Lockwood advised a dentist friend, who visited at Florida Hospital that he was kicked in the groin and his foot torn open while in the Seminole jail.

A full report will be sent to the Governor's office today.

Disgrace

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Terming last Tuesday's election turnout "a disgrace," Secretary of State Richard Stone has urged local governments to schedule their elections to coincide with state and national elections.

Stone has proposed holding all local elections on the same day as the second state primary, and said transfers should be scheduled for the November ballot instead of scattering elections throughout the year.

"In some counties there are elections of one form or another almost every month," Stone said. "People get sick of being called upon to vote so often and start staying home."

A full report will be sent to the Governor's office today.
