State Legislatures Asked To Establish Strict Speed Limit

NEW YORK — In an effort to halt the nation's headlong rush into the most calamitous traffic toll of all time by the end of 1956, the National Committee on Uniform Traffic Laws and Ordinances, for the first time in its history, is calling on state legislatures throughout the country to establish absolute maximum speed limits and give law enforcement officers more sweeping on-the-spot arrest powers.

This action was taken at a meeting of the Committee in Chicago and was announced by Thomas N. Beate, a committee member and Accident Prevention Department manager of the Association of Casualty and Surety Companies.

The committee's approval of these changes in the Uniform Traffic Code coincided with the National Safety Council's announcement that traffic fatalities in the nation have consistently increased for the sixteenth consecutive month and are threatening to reach an all-time high of 48,000 deaths for 1956. This action is considered as particularly significant by traffic accident specialists because the committee membership consists of the official representatives of federal, state and municipal traffic law enforcement executives as well as business and industry interests.

The first of the two major changes calls for the abandonment of prima facie speed laws in favor of absolute limits and would greatly simplify enforcement of speed laws. Under the newly recommended system, any motorist exceeding the maximum speed established by law would be guilty of a traffic violation. Under the prima facie law, a motorist charged with speeding can be judged guilty of a violation unless the arresting officer is able to prove that, under the conditions existing at the time of the arrest, such speed was unsafe.

At the present time, 19 states have established maximum speed limits, 21 have prima facie limits and eight have limits designated only as "reasonable and prudent." To "facilitate enforcement, increase the safety of the highway and bring about uniformity of traffic laws," the committee voted to urge all states to adopt absolute limits. It further recommended that under the most favorable circumstances, the maximum speed should not exceed 50 miles an hour in rural areas or 30 miles an hour in built-up areas, with downward zoning to meet local conditions.

The second major change recommends broadening the authority of enforcement officers to allow them to make on-the-spot arrests of persons who are reasonably believed to have committed such violations as reckless driving, negligent homicide, driving while under the influence of alcohol or drugs, leaving the scene of an accident, refusing to give information, or refusing to aid accident victims.

Under most existing systems, these offenses are considered misdemeanors rather than felonies. Under the common law rule, an officer can make an on-the-spot arrest of a felony suspect, but must get a court-issued warrant for the arrest of a person suspected of committing a misdemeanor. The time lapse in this system often allows suspects to sober up (if drunk) or to leave the scene of the accident. If the suspect is from out of state, he can often escape trial completely by returning to his home before a warrant can be issued.

The new law allowing officers to make on-the-spot arrests of persons charged with misdemeanors, traffic safety leaders pointed out, would thus make possible the apprehension of many violators who now frequently escape prosecution. This system is already in effect in several parts of the nation.

The Uniform Traffic Code is a set of "pattern" laws designed for adoption by state governments in order to provide uniform and more effective traffic regulation throughout the nation. The National Committee periodically revises the code to keep it abreast of changing traffic conditions. The recent meeting was timed to allow revision of the code to be completed well in advance of opening sessions of 1957 state legislatures, which may adopt or reject the recommendations.

Commenting on the important new revisions, Beate said, "The recommended laws will discourage traffic violations and will make law enforcement more effective. Both changes have long been favored by most of the nation's courts and enforcement agencies and have been backed repeatedly by capital stock casualty insurance companies and their representatives.

"Our traffic problem is boiling away at headlong speed. Already we are approaching 10,000,000 accidents a year at a cost of some $2,000,000,000 in injuries and 42,000 deaths. The strengthening of traffic laws must no longer be delayed if we are to halt this trend. It is clearly evident that the broadening of police arrest powers and the tightening of speed laws are at the very top of our most urgent needs. I am sure that every one, including the great majority of motorists, hopes the state legislatures will bring their laws in line with these modern needs as recommended in the Uniform Traffic Code."

Cabinet Member Urges Education to Limit

By MARION B. FOLSOM, Secretary, Department of Health, Education & Welfare.

(Written Expressly for Central Press Association and this newspaper.)

ONCE AGAIN, all over this country, children and young people will soon be taking their seats in classrooms, filling the elementary schools, the high schools and the colleges.

To most students, the words "back to school" will have a happy sound. They mean resuming studies and renewing friendships. They mean football, basketball, clubs, student government, and school dances—the whole host of activities that contribute to learning and health and happiness.

To other young people, however, "back to school" will have a different sound. Pupils who feel this way can give many reasons for not wanting to return to their books and teachers.

Their reasons go something like this: "I hate school . . . never makes good marks, no matter how hard I try . . . I've got all the education I'll ever need . . . Nobody seems to care whether I do good in school or not . . . I've got a swell job. My boss wants me to stay. Why should I go back to school?"

Marion B. Folsom

SOME of the reasons young people don't go "back to school" or don't give their best effort in school are frivolous — not real reasons for concern. Other reasons have their roots in serious and very real problems. Perhaps a teen-ager's earnings are needed to help support the family. Or his hatred of school may be related to some deep psychological hurt. Parents in such a good mark when they see their children other than that of learning.

One of the grave problems that concerns education is the fact that everyone interested in children and youth — in the young person who does not go on to absorb the full amount of education he is capable of absorbing.

The failure of the young person to go on—or the failure of our society to provide him the opportunity to go on—not only is a deep personal loss to the individual but is a tragic waste of a great national asset.

The goal for all of us should be education to the full capacity of each individual. If that goal is sought by parents, teachers, educational leaders, government officials—and by the young people themselves—there will be trained people to do the jobs where shortages now exist: in science, engineering, medicine, nursing, teaching, and in the many other fields in which special knowledge is required.

I should like to say to every child in elementary school and to every teen-ager in high school, "Don't stop until you have that high school diploma in your hand—and then don't stop. Give yourself the best alert you can muster." Remember your earning capacity, your personal development, and your enjoyment of life all increase proportionately with every year you spend in school and with every increase in knowledge and understanding of the world today.

Veterans Corner

Young men and women planning to attend school this fall under the new War Orphans Education Law were urged today by the Veterans Administration to file their applications as soon as possible, to avoid unnecessary delays in receiving their first monthly allowance check.

Application forms are available at all VA offices.

Persons eligible for schooling are those whose veteran-parent died of injuries or diseases resulting from military service during World War I, World War II or the Korean Conflict. Students generally must be between 18 and 23 years old, V. S. Parker, manager of the Pass-a-Grille VA Regional Office, explained.

Prompt action is needed, he explained because normally it will take about three months from the date of application to the date the initial allowance check is placed in the mail. So in the case of young men and women who apply now, the earliest that VA could mail out checks would be mid-November.

When the first checks do arrive however, they will cover the entire period during which the students were in school after October 1 — the beginning date on which the law authorizes payments to be made. Thereafter, checks will be mailed regularly to cover each month the student has been in school.

The money usually will be sent to the student's parent or guardian, rather than to the student himself.

The three-month period between application and receipt of the first check is necessary because of the processes required by the law, Mr. Parker said. Here's what is involved:

After the application is filed, VA must check its records to make certain that the young man or woman meets basic eligibility requirements for schooling. If so, VA will issue a "provisional approval."

Next, VA will schedule vocational counseling to help the applicant, along with his living parent or guardian, to plan a program of education best suited to his aptitude, abilities and interests. Also, the parent or guardian, with the help of VA counselors, must work out an "educational plan" showing the student's goal, his program of education, what school or schools he plans to attend and the estimated cost.

Only after this plan is submitted may VA give its final approval for the training.

And even after the student enrolls in school, he can't expect his Government check immediately. For the law calls for payments to be made some time after the end of each month of training completed.

After the month has ended, the student and his school must submit a certification to VA stating that he has been in attendance all month. The law, then, allows VA up to 20 days after receipt of the certification to get the student's check in the mail.

For young men and women who want to begin fall terms at school before receiving VA's final approval of their courses, VA suggested that they enroll in school courses that have been State-approved for Korean veterans under the Korean GI Bill. Any VA regional office can inform a student whether the course he has chosen is GI-approved, which is necessary for students enrolled under the War Orphans Education program.

It's advisable, however, that students receive VA vocational counseling before they enroll. This way they will know that their course will best prepare them for their future careers.

'Ike Most Popular Man In World' Says U.S. Postal Chief

SANTA BARBARA, Calif., (AP) — Postmaster General Summerfield is convinced President Eisenhower is "the most popular man in the world."

Summerfield, resting here after the Republican National Convention, made the comment Sunday. Because of the President, he said, confidence has replaced fear and apprehension throughout the country.

The postal chief, who managed the 1952 Eisenhower campaign, described last week's GOP convention as the finest he had ever attended.

Summerfield also got in a plug for his departure. He said the haltpoint pens now in use in post offices are less expensive than the old pen and ink bottles system.

Ike Will Consider State If National Speaking Tour Set

If President Eisenhower embarks on a nationwide speaking tour, Florida is one of the states that will be considered. In a letter to Arnold Lund, Republican nominee for the Congress of the Fifth District was so informed today by Lyle O. Snader, chairman of the speakers bureau of the Republican National Committee. "It is my intention to help you in every possible way to obtain the victory you so richly deserve and which we anticipate. If the president embarks on a nationwide tour, you may be certain that I shall do everything possible to see that Florida is one of these states he visits," Snader wrote. In another communication received by Lund from Ann C. Whitman, personal secretary to the president, Lund was assured that his suggestion of having Eisenhower visit the State would be given early and personal consideration. At the request of the National Committee, Lund is leaving next Wednesday, to interview the President personally. It is planned to take pictures of the two of them jointly as well as to have a meeting to discuss the political situation of the Fifth District. While in Washington, Lund will meet and discuss all phases of his campaign with Leonard Hall and members of his staff.

Attorney Attacked By Mansfield Mob

MANSFIELD, Tex. (AP)—An assistant district attorney was mobbed, shoved and cursed today when he appeared in the middle of the angry crowd of white men for two days have dared Negroes to enter Mansfield High School. Grady Haight, the attorney, was white and shakes when he finally was released. One unidentified person in the mob claimed Haight was "looking around so he would know who to prosecute." At least 150 men raced around Haight, and those centered around Haight shoved and pushed him. The crowd had vowed no Negroes would be allowed to register at the school, no Negroes had appeared at midmorning. Several white students walked through the mob into the school about 8:10 a. m., but they did not speak to anyone in the crowd. Dangling over the entrance to the school was a new sign of a Negro. An effigy hung from the school flagpole yesterday, was hoisted. A similar figure in downtown Mansfield was cut down Wednesday. The school was ordered integrated, by Federal Court order, this year for the first time. Yesterday, Judge Joe E. Estes refused to postpone his integration order. School authorities had asked for a one-year delay. Supt. R. L. Huffman was the first faculty member to appear today. He immediately was surrounded by the crowd.

School Bus Patrol Will Continue

"Motorists must comply with laws regarding the stopping of their cars approaching or behind school buses as they stop to load or unload," Sheriff J. L. Hobby warned this morning as he revealed his plans to patrol the school buses as they bring children to school each morning and return them to their homes each afternoon. "This law will be strictly enforced," Sheriff Hobby remarked as he said, "We will continue our school bus patrol during the coming school year beginning next Tuesday morning." Sheriff Hobby reminds Sanford and Seminole County motorists that school bus drivers will give motorists ample time to stop with their signals and that they will be required to stop when buses stop to load or unload children all over the county. Whether motorists are approaching the buses of following them, they will have to stop, said the Sheriff. "We intend to make the next school year the safest year in the schools' history," the Seminole County Sheriff said. "The entire staff of Seminole County Deputy Sheriffs will be following Seminole County school buses during the 1956-57 school year in order to strictly enforce the laws concerning the safety of our school children," Hobby said. "We hope that the motorists of our County will comply with the safe driving regulations designed to protect the school children," Hobby said. School buses begin their daily operation next Tuesday morning bringing children to every school in the county. Buses operating and bringing children to Pinecrest School will be on a double schedule because of the increasing number of students attending classes there. All bus drivers have received their final instructions from Walter Teague, administrative assistant to Superintendent of Public Instruction R. T. Milner and in charge of transportation. Teague said that buses have been put in perfect condition for the coming year's operation.

Charge Of Taking Batteries Placed Against 2 Youths

Two teenagers were taken into custody at their homes late yesterday afternoon, Sheriff J. L. One of the juveniles was ordered held in the Seminole County Jail by Juvenile Judge Ernest Housholder. Two batteries, valued at $30 each, were recovered from a hot rod automobile. A conversation, overheard by Deputy Sheriff Harvey Fugh of Lake Mary, furnished the lead to the breaking of the case, said Sheriff Hobby.

President Says More Powerful

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower announced today the Russians have touched off still another atomic explosion. He said this one was more powerful than the test a week ago which had the force of almost one million tons of TNT. Eisenhower made the announcement at a news conference after recalling that last Sunday he disclosed that the Soviet Union had resumed tests of nuclear weapons. On that occasion, while he was still in California, Eisenhower said a blast on Aug. 24 had the force of almost a megaton, or a million tons of TNT. Today the President said the Russians have engaged in what he termed another large test in the accustomed place. That would be in Southwest Siberia, as reported for the first time officially in Eisenhower's announcement last Sunday. The new test, Eisenhower said, took place yesterday in that area. Then he went on, in effect, to criticize Soviet leaders for talking peace and at the same time continuing tests of nuclear weapons. Eisenhower said Soviet diplomats talks of abolishing atomic weapons but go right ahead testing them without prior announcement and in secrecy. A reporter reminded Eisenhower that last Sunday's announcement talked about a blast with a yield of something less than a megaton. Noting that Eisenhower spoke today of the new blast being even more powerful, the newsman asked the President if he could be more specific about that. Eisenhower replied he could not—that he could only say at this time that it was more powerful. The Atomic Energy Commission, he added, apparently is not ready to go into more detail. Responding to another question, Eisenhower said the latest Soviet nuclear tests will not bring any change in U. S. national defense plans. We still are going on the assumption, Eisenhower added, that the Soviet objective is such that we must maintain our own security. At the news conference—his first since he was nominated last week for a second term—Eisenhower also dealt with these matters.

Sale Of 1956-57 Drivers Licenses Begins Tomorrow

The sale of 1956-57 drivers licenses begins tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock under the supervision of Judge Housholder's office in the lobby of the Seminole County Court House. Cost of operator's license is $1.25 and chauffeurs license at $2.25, the same as last year. All applicants for the renewal of drivers license are required to surrender their present license. Applicants may secure their license by mail by sending the original license, accompanied by the fee and a return stamped envelope. The applicant keeps the duplicate of the original license until the new license is received. Judge Housholder said this morning that he has a good staff of assistants to serve applicants applying for driver license renewal and urges everyone to secure their licenses as early as possible to avoid long waiting lines. No hours of sale for licenses at present will be from 9 to 12 and 1 to 5 each week except Saturday which will be only from 9 to 12. There will be no drivers licenses sold Monday, Labor Day. Judge Housholder said, "I will visit the outside precincts with helpers to issue licenses for those who find it more convenient to purchase them in their own locality." The schedule for the sale of drivers licenses in the outside precincts will be announced later, said Judge Housholder. The Seminole County Judge "urges everyone to secure their license early."

Stevenson Assured Of Winning Votes In Southern States

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Adlai Stevenson and Southern leaders beat the drums for Democratic unity yesterday, while President Eisenhower heartily endorsed a "Republican registration roundup." Democratic leaders from 19 Southern states, meeting in Knoxville, Tenn., gave Stevenson unanimous assurances that the South will stick with him and his vice presidential running mate, Estes Kefauver, in the November election. In Washington, Eisenhower was described as "very happy" about a nationwide Republican women's campaign to register qualified voters. Mrs. Bertha Adkins, assistant chairman of the GOP National Committee for women's activities, told newsmen Eisenhower is concerned about a drop in voter registration. "We know a big vote means a Republican victory," she added. In Knoxville, Stevenson said the Southern assurances "meant a great deal" because of the importance of a united party. He added: "I feel a strong Democratic current is running in the land, and it has been gaining very rapidly in the last six months. We still have a lot of work to do." He said he received a telegram from Sen. Russell of Georgia, a leader of the Southern bloc, in which Russell said "unless there is some unforeseen development, I believe you can safely count on the Southern states once more giving an overwhelming majority . . . in a restoration of the old, solid South."

Nation's Labor Day Holiday Death Toll Estimated At 480

CHICAGO (AP)—The only three-day holiday weekend of the summer lured millions of motorists to the highways today. Some were taking a final fling to beaches or fishing spots. Others were closing up summer homes for the season and heading home. Some were collecting their children at camps and resorts for the trek back to classrooms. Others are hauling their college age ouths and luggage to faraway campuses. And for some 480 drivers, passengers and pedestrians this may be their last weekend. That was the death toll for the Labor Day holiday period estimated by the National Safety Council. The period covered by the estimate will extend from 6 p. m. tonight until midnight Monday. Only immediate deaths are included in the estimate. Many others will die later from injuries incurred in the holiday traffic. For comparative purposes the Associated Press conducted a nationwide survey of traffic deaths on the nonholiday weekend of Aug. 17-20. In the 78-hour period from 6 p. m. Friday to midnight Monday traffic killed 366 persons. As the Labor Day traffic tide began to roll the Safety Council reported that last month's toll of 3,570 was the greatest of any July in history.

Weather

Partly cloudy today and Saturday with scattered afternoon showers; low tonight 70-75; gentle to moderate variable winds except fresh near thunderstorms.

UNDERGROUND SUBWAY IS being installed for cables to re-center the telephone exchange to the new telephone building and to provide additional service to many customers after conversion to dial next March 17. Approximately 40,000 feet of nine duct subway extending from Ninth St. and Laurel Ave. East to Palmetto Ave. and South on Elm Ave. to 10th St. is being installed with eight manholes at a cost of $63,000. This is one of many projects to be completed during the next six months so that the best possible telephone service can be given to Sanford subscribers. (Photo by Jameson)

Too Much Stress On Talk May Handicap Child

By RENNIE TAYLOR
Associated Press
SAN FRANCISCO—Don't talk through life without trying to understand the language of body movements, furniture arrangements, facial expressions, dancing and other forms of nonverbal communication, advises a University of California psychiatrist.
"Too much emphasis on speech can mean a neglected education, he adds.
"Unless the middle aged person is mature in terms of communication," he asserts, "he is likely to undergo a process of impoverishment, a sentimental loss of joy in living through the scarcity of new information and the absence of stimulating human relations."
And parents, says this author, can interfere with a child's character development by talking too much to him instead of using other forms of communication.
These pronouncements are set forth by Dr. Jürgen Ruesch, research psychiatrist at the Langley Porter Clinic, and Walden Kees, photographer and poet, in a recently published book, "Nonverbal Communication" University of California Press. It was financed in part by grants from the National Science Foundation, the National Public Health Service.
Dr. Ruesch holds that motion, handling light, touch and other wordless means of conveying information often are more effective than speech, and even essential during the early years.
Communication between mother and child, he doubts begins, until this specialist, at the time of conception and continues until birth through movement, temperature changes and chemical variations.
From birth to about age 5 the child is dependent mainly on his sense of touch. Speech is only a part of this system. The child at school age the child comes to regard group communication, which means he must get information from more than one person. This calls for a change in his operating procedure.
Through adolescence and young adulthood he is subjected to still other methods of communication — those which involve social factors, economics, protocol and other interpretation. He does not arrive at communicative maturity until about the age of 20, when the human faculties to develop reaches its peak. At that stage, "he has become a parent himself and is forced to understand the communication system of his children."
Although wordless communication often takes the place of speech, it more often reinforces, modifies or even contradicts it. At certain times its absence can be highly meaningful, Dr. Ruesch cites these examples:
A smile accompanying a normally insulting remark is demoralizing on everything.

Jet Ace Confident Record To Be Set In '58 Bendix Race

LOS ANGELES—One of America's top jet aces is confident a record will be set Saturday in the 1958 Bendix race.
Capt. Manuel J. Pete Fernandez, who destroyed 14th Communist Air Force Base, told a news conference yesterday.
"We can easily break last year's time and we probably break the 1954 record by quite a bit," Fernandez said.
The 1954 record was set by Super Sabre jets from nearby George Air Force Base. The race finishes at the National Airport Show in Oklahoma City and Fernandez expects the 1958 mark of 610.726 mph will be bettered. This was set by Col. Carlos M. Talbot of the 14th Fighter Wing, 1954.

TREED CAT FANCIER

ALLENSTON, Pa. — This may sound complicated, but it isn't. It's the hobby of a cat fancier. You said he'd been treed by a dog trying to catch a tree cat.
That is the man said a cat had been in a tree, he had climbed up to the top of the tree and had stayed on the ground.

Month Of September Holds Last Few Pleasant Days Of Summer

Some people entertain the curious notion that the Labor Day weekend marks the end of summer. In a sense, they are right. The vacation season is essentially past, the children start back to school, the ladies think seriously of fall and even winter garments.

Yet summer is not really ended when school starts again and vacation is over. Indeed, some of the most precious days of summer are those in September. They have a special quality about them, as if Nature were making a concerted effort to show all her summer wares at their best before it is too late.

At noon of a sunny day in the ninth month of the year, the brightness and warmth that emanate from the clear sky are pleasantly overpowering. The grass is thick and dark; the trees nod the year's heaviest foliage. The buzz of birds and small animals adds an air of gaiety, and one does not remember why there are busy.

September is picnic weather. The advantages of summer are still with us then, and a few of the disadvantages; insect pests are less numerous, the days are pleasantly hot but not sweltering.

September is a short month, though, made all the shorter by the awareness of what is coming. It's still summer — but not for long.

Two-Party System

The political analysts seem generally agreed that the election campaign this year represents the beginning of a new era.

In Chicago, the victory of Adlai Stevenson was clear-cut. Despite the great affection that existed for former President Truman, the convention turned its back on him. The Democratic Old Guard, while very much in evidence during the proceedings, bowed out reluctantly at the end.

At San Francisco, it was apparent that the Republican Party of 1960 bears little resemblance to the party of opposition it was during the bleak 20 years out of power. The GOP platform, and the speeches of the men who will lead the party into the coming battle, reflected the philosophy of President Eisenhower.

In the two presidential candidates, the parties have put forward the men best able to articulate their new philosophies. Both men have demonstrated that they are capable of fighting vigorously, yet both have shown in the past a reluctance to resort to petty politics and disagreements for the sake of disagreements.

The fact that both political parties have been able to change with the times, have been able to justify change within the framework of their ideals, is a sign of the health of the two-party system. For all its faults, no other system would work so well in this country.

Building Mile High

Frank Lloyd Wright says he is designing an office building for one of our great centers that would shoot a mile up toward the sky. It certainly would be spectacular, and judging by other imaginative works of Wright — some of which are right here in Florida — it doubtless would be quite a handsome and interesting structure.

But it's a temptation to ask why, even in one of the biggest centers of the nation, any building should be a mile high, stacking up on 510 shelves thousands of workers who would descend at five p.m. to jam the surrounding streets and transportation facilities.

The architect says the shaft, planned as a state office building, "would make the Empire State Building in New York look like a little mouse." The trouble is, cities otherwise have never entirely caught up with skyscrapers like that one, mice though they may be.

There's quite a lot of vacant land left in America — even in the State of Illinois — and there's no law that makes it absolutely necessary for every office to be in the middle of a big city. But such thoughts are heresy. Progress doubters will demand more mile-high buildings, with express helicopters servicing porches every ten stories or so.

'Good Reading'

There is excellent reason to believe that thousands of persons would like to enhance their intellectual growth by reading but don't quite know how to go about it. They flounder in a sea of books and periodicals, wanting to read what is good but not sure how to find it.

Some of these simply begin reading everything that comes to hand, without discrimination. They encounter a few good things that way, but mostly they find themselves reading second-rate stuff, for the reason that the great bulk of writing is second-rate. Others read sporadically, and at last give up.

Such floundering is not necessary, however, for those whose formal education has not acquainted them with the world's finest literature. Almost anywhere in the United States, they can find a librarian who will help them choose the good things. There is an even more simple method. It consists of consulting a little volume newly issued in paperback format and called "Good Reading."

During the past 25 years, "Good Reading" has run through more than a dozen editions. The present revised edition, which can be purchased for just a song, contains a list of more than 1,500 good books selected by a committee of professors. The books range from ancient Roman and Greek works to recent American novels. There is enough good reading among these books for many a long winter. With such a list at hand, no one need wall, "I feel like reading, but I don't know what to read."

Rough Days Ahead For Budget

By SAM DAWSON
 NEW YORK — The budget of the family budget can look for some rougher days ahead.

Price rises announced this week cover a wide range — coffee and meat, apparel, food and synthetic, television and TV sets.

As the manufacturing level rises in materials — steel, copper and machinery — machinery and chemicals — goods become more expensive.

Some of the higher prices are mainly seasonal and in time are expected to be reversed. The Bureau of Labor Statistics blames much of the sharp rise in living costs of unusually high prices for some fresh fruits and vegetables because of crop troubles. Later harvests are expected to ease up this pressure on the family budget.

Some of the price hikes, especially those at the manufacturing level, are blamed on more fundamental things. Higher operating costs and shrinking profit margins are given as the reason.

In time this pressure will work through the many pipelines of trade to reach the retail dealer in consumer goods. What he will do about his own markup — what competition will let him do — remains to be seen.

The price of green coffee beans has risen — the Pan American Coffee Bureau says it's due to a short supply of quality beans — and roasters are raising their wholesale prices by two to four cents a pound. Retail prices are expected to hit the highest mark since early 1955.

The salmon catch has been slimy this season and the wholesale price is going up $1 a case.

Prime steers are selling in Chicago at the highest price since a year ago April.

Price tags are up on many fall lines of apparel.

The parade of price hikes in the appliance markets gathers momentum. Increases of $20 to $30 are announced on refrigerators, freezers and electric ranges.

UNCHEDULED STOP

Watch Candidates For Congress

By JAMES MARLOW
 Associated Press News Analyst
 WASHINGTON — Keep your eye on your candidates for Congress.

The big spotlight in this year's election shines on the presidential and vice presidential candidates and what they promise. They'll get headlines every day.

But no matter what they promise, the pay-off will come in Congress.

You may be an Eisenhower, fan or a Stevenson booster. Both are men of goodwill, and presumably mean what they say.

Nevertheless, in almost everything they say there is a huge, built-in if.

If President Eisenhower, or Adlai Stevenson, becomes president and gets a Congress where a majority of the representatives and senators goes along with his ideas, then you can expect his ideas to be carried out.

Otherwise, his programs will get killed, changed, or wrecked. In a general way—but only in a very broad and general way—the president will provide the leadership in foreign affairs and national defense.

Unless Congress goes along with him, he'll be like a man talking to himself.

For example: If the president wants to continue the foreign aid program, Congress will have to vote the money to make it possible.

If the president tells Congress about the atomic development he has in mind, or the new ships, or planes or guns he wants, Congress, which holds the purse strings, decides how much he gets.

The president can recommend a tax cut till he's blue in the face, but only Congress can cut taxes.

Housecleaning Drive Planned By State CofC

JACKSONVILLE — Mrs. W. S. Jennings, chairman of the beautification committee of the Florida State Chamber of Commerce, declared today that in compliance with the proclamation issued by Gov. Collins designating September as "Clean-Up, Paint-Up Plant-Up" month, throughout the state would launch Florida's annual house-cleaning campaign.

At the same time, Mrs. Jennings announced a statewide anti-littering drive in cooperation with the State Road Department in distributing warning cards quoting State law penalties for dumping trash on the highways, and urging everyone's help to "Keep Florida Beautiful." A million warning cards will be distributed to motorists through the Road Department's six "Welcome Stations," and from auto license offices and bureaus.

The Governor's proclamation dated Aug. 21, refers to the program long sponsored by the State Chamber to improve and beautify our highways, parks, beaches and private properties, and urges government departments, groups and individuals to assist in the statewide effort in preparation for the Fall and Winter tourist season by removing weed growth, and by planting trees, shrubs and flowering plants.

Mrs. Jennings, widow of Gov. William S. Jennings (1901-05), has headed the Chamber's beautification committee practically since the inception of the organization in 1916, and has personally promoted Florida's outdoor improvement activities for over half a century.

Names Have Many Meanings

By HAL BOYLE
 NEW YORK — What's in a name?

Well, it turns out, a lot more than often meets the ear.

The name of Vice President Richard M. Nixon, for example, holds a meaning unwelcome to the Democrats in an election year. Nick is a pet form of Nicholas, which means "people's victory."

Democrats may get some consolation, however, from the fact that Adlai Stevenson's last name stands for "son of Stephen" and Stephen is derived from "crown or garland."

President Dwight Eisenhower, and Estes Kefauver, the Democratic vice presidential candidate, have names that hold a lot of history.

Dwight means light-complexioned, and it also means a descendant of Dionysus, the Greek god of wine. Eisenhower means iron miner or a man who made eisenhauera, a German saber blade strong enough to shear through iron nails.

Eates is derived from gracious, and also "son of the East." Kefauver is German for one who made and sold vats.

These are tidbits turned up by Elsdon C. Smith, a New York attorney who, after 20 years of research, has written a book, "The Dictionary of American Family Names." He gives 10,000 examples, ranging from Agard, dweller in the yard by the river, to Zylstra dweller near a drainage sluice.

Family names are one thing the Russians never got around to inventing first. The Chinese did—more than 2,000 years ago.

Here are the original meanings of some of the names that may be familiar in your neighborhood:

Smith—A metal worker.

Jones—son of John, "gracious gift of Jehovah."

Johnson, Johnson, Johnson, etc.—ditto Jones.

Miller—one who grinds grain.

Mikkelsen, Mikkelsen, Mikkelsen—the son of Michael, "who is like God."

Brown—one with a dark complexion.

Cohen—the priest.

Kilroy—son of the red-haired man.

Derivation of the names of some famous people seems oddly appropriate or strangely quaint.

Such as Calvin "Bald" Coolidge— "Jeweler near a pool of cold water."

Or Warren "Keeper of a game preserve" Harding— "firm friend" or Woodrow "One who came from a row of trees" Wilson— "resolution."

Republicans, of course, have known all along that Roosevelt meant "one who lives at or near a rose farm." But probably even those who objected the loudest to the late F. D. R. knew that his first name, Franklin, stands for "a freeholder who held substantial land for which he paid only a small rent and who rendered little or no service to the Lord."

Sometimes it isn't too cheering to look up the origin of your family name. A Mulvaney is "the grandson of a fussy person overly concerned with minor details." A Monroe is one who dwells "near a red swamp." Anybody named Mucarella may brood over the possess characteristics of a fact his ancestors were thought to gnarl.

"Why don't you look up your own name, Rover?" suggested my wife, Frances.

So I slipped the page to Doyle, and learned it stood for "grandson of Baoghieall, one who made vain pledges."

"They certainly picked the right one for you," murmured Frances. Searching for a quick comeback I looked up her maiden name—

"Young." The book said it meant "one younger than another with whom he was associated."

A married man never wins.

Japan Reaffirms Military Goals

TOKYO — Japan has reaffirmed its 1960 military goals of a 180,000-man army and 1,300-plane air force but cut its naval target from 124,000 to 110,000 tons.

The naval reduction represents 49,000 small obsolete landing ships—totaling 14,000 tons—which the Japanese plan to return to the United States to save maintenance costs.

The figures were disclosed in an amended version of a military buildup plan Keikichi Masuhara, deputy chief of the defense board, will take to Washington to discuss with U. S. Defense Secretary Charles Wilson.

Miss Brewer was lovely in a navy blue dress with light blue accessories, chosen to match the trim of the dress. This also served as her going-away outfit.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Brewer also chose navy blue which was set off with white accessories; while Mrs. Beall, mother of the groom, was charming in a dress of light rose with white accessories.

The couple had a brief honeymoon in Daytona Beach, after which they took up residence in the new home that they are buying in DeBarry.

Local Gamma Girls Greet Freshmen

A "welcome freshmen" tea was given Thursday afternoon from 3-5 p. m. in the home of Mrs. Charles G. Marian, 203 Virginia Ave. Hostesses for the occasion were the Gammias, a group composed of nine girls from the senior class of Seminole High School. Invitations were made by the Gammias and sent to all the freshman girls, 86 in all. The girls were met at the door by a receiving line formed of the Gamma girls, Miss Nancy Cash, Miss Nan Cushing, Miss Pat Harrington, Miss Edna Cowan, Miss Mary Grace Hobby, Miss Lois Barrineau, Miss Carol Nutt, Miss Lee Jackson and Miss Penny Marian—and their special guest, Miss Susie Wiegman, Williamsport, Pa., who is a houseguest in the Marian home.

They were then served refreshments of cake—a lovely white one with the Gamma sign in blue on each piece—punch, nuts, and pastel colored mints, from a glass-topped table which was adorned with a centerpiece of vari-colored hibiscus and greenery. This was flanked on one end with the pieces of cake and on the other with a sparkling crystal punchbowl and matching cups.

The atmosphere was kept informal and friendly, with the girls choosing to sit or stand around in small groups and talk.

The one male member of the Gammias was present and doing his best to see that everyone was entertained, that being Pierre, the Marjans' Miniature French Poodle, who is mascot for the Gamas.

Hamburger Fry Enjoyed By Youth Of Baptist Church

The W. E. Giles home was the scene of a Hamburger Fry held Tuesday evening for the Sixteen Year Olds and Young People's Departments of the First Baptist Church. Judge S. Senstrom has been acting as superintendent of these two departments for the past few months.

Irving Pryor asked the Blessing before the supper, which was cooked by Herald Heckenbach, who proved his culinary skill by making his own barbecue sauce and barbecuing hamburgers on a portable grill. With these was served potato salad, followed by homemade icecream, the young folks having churned three freezers full. Most of those present will be going away to school in a short while, so they chose to spend the remainder of the evening just sitting around telling stories, reminiscing and discussing plans and hopes for the future.

There were about 36 members present at this final social get-together before they all go their separate ways for the school year.

A PRETTY GIRL IONIA (AP)—A pretty girl walking past in shorts diverted two policemen employing a parking meter. The collection bag shifted and coins spilled into the street. As bystanders guffawed, the two red-faced officers chased down the scattered money. They had to call a third policeman to direct street traffic while they moved parked cars to dig coins out of a sewer.

Maremont Active In Many Fields

CHICAGO, Ill. — Arnold Maremont is an angel on Broadway, a business executive in Chicago and a cowboy on the wide open ranges of Nevada.

The past few years in the business world he's done such things as:

- Turned a floundering appliance manufacturing business into a thriving paper producer.
- Killed production of one of the most famous names in household wares—"deepfreeze"—because it was losing money.
- Shifted automobile equipment factories into the more profitable line of making airplane sub-assemblies.
- Down along the Broadway bright lights he has:
- Put his money into several shows including two current smash hits—"The Most Happy Fella" and "Will Success Spoil Rock Hunter?"
- Backed the Phoenix Theatre, an off-Broadway theatre organized to reduce the cost of bringing shows to Broadway.
- In the boots and saddles division Maremont and associates have:
- Bought one of the largest ranches in the United States, embracing 2,000 square miles in Nevada and California.
- The last venture probably has been the least successful of Maremont's activities. He bought the ranch just before the decline in cattle prices in 1934 and 1935.
- "I think we can ride this through," Maremont says, "but I'm not optimistic about cattle prices returning to what they were when we bought the ranch."
- As a contrast to this dubious financial venture, there's the record of Thor Corp.
- That had made money until 1934. That year Thor lost $2,543,000 on sales of $92,930,000 and management decided it wanted out.
- Along came Maremont and two associates—Victor Nemeroff of Chicago and David Bright of Los Angeles. With others they bought enough stock to obtain control, paying $15 to $18 a share.
- Maremont got Thor out of the laundry equipment business. He's pessimistic about the outlook for many appliance firms and wants nothing to do with that field.
- "We want to generate profits,"

Pinza Will Leave For U.S. Sunday

and Walkerville, Canada, concentrating on making airplane parts.

Maremont is a medium sized man who, at 51, has graying hair and wears horn-rimmed glasses. He's a director of the Saturday Review and one of the founders of the magazine American Heritage, a bi-monthly publication on historical subjects. He collects modern art, being particularly fond of Paul Klee.

Currently Maremont is underwriting the cost of an exhibition put on by the Chicago Art Institute at the biennial art festival in Venice.

"I have a great interest in all sorts of things," Maremont says. Recently Maremont sponsored symphony orchestras in grammar schools in some Chicago suburbs. And he's established the automobile timing Assn. of America, Inc., which sponsors hot rod drag races.

Female Wolf

BATCHTOWN, Ill. — If male cars heard a wolf call hereabouts, it probably was the real thing.

Charles Klass shot and killed an 85-pound female wolf at the edge of his father's farm in Calhoun County and collected a $10 bounty.

Former Purdue football players with the Cleveland Browns are end Darrel Brewster, Guard Abe Gibron and Center Don Flie.

Wrong Furse

SPOKANE, Wash. — The thief who stole Affran Karaca's purse is going to have trouble spending the loot.

Miss Karaca, a visitor from Turkey, said the purse contained 90 Turkish lire, about $32 at the current exchange rate.

Noted Beauties Visit Gardens

CYPRESS GARDENS, Fla.—When 49 Mrs. America contestants were in Florida for their annual ceremonies at Ellisor Village, they took time off to go to Cypress Gardens where they donned Old Fashioned Dresses and formed a ring of beauty on the front lawn. The results made a pleasing picture.

Republic Steel Corp. Chairman, Director Retires

CLEVELAND, Ohio — An Indiana farm boy who grew up to be one of the most colorful figures in American industry has retired as chairman and director of the Republic Steel Corp.

Tom M. Girdler, 79, stepped aside Tuesday. He had served as chairman since Republic was organized in 1930.

C. M. White was elected chairman of Republic, the nation's third largest steel company. White, who has been president, has been the chief executive officer of the firm since June 21, 1935.

Girdler, short in physical stature, bold and direct in speech and action, often tangled with unions during his career.

He was a sharp and outspoken foe of the early New Deal. He said one of his greatest dislikes was the impetus which the Roosevelt administration gave to activities of organized labor.

He was born on a farm in Clark County, Ind., and started his studies in a one-room school house. He was graduated from Lehigh University in 1901 and started his business career as a sales engineer in Europe for the Buffalo Forge Co.

During World War II, in addition to his job at Republic, he served as chairman of the Consolidated Aircraft Corp. and Vultee Aircraft, Inc., and later merged these into Consolidated Vultee Aircraft.

The Cincinnati Redlegs signed catcher Bruce Edwards this summer after the ex-Dodger had batted .295 in 45 games with Vancouver, B. C.

LABOR

In America
It's Beginning To
"Own Its Own Tools"

Who owns America's biggest companies today? The answer may astonish you. In companies like Du Pont, General Electric, General Motors, Telephone, Pennsylvania Railroad, the voting capital stock is owned, in each case, by tens of thousands of different people... and, in each company, a tremendous number of shares is owned and voted by working men and women employed in the industry!

It's a natural thing to have happened: for higher and higher wages have caused Labor's personal savings to mount up; working people have invested those savings heavily in the companies who employ them. Thus Capital and Labor are slowly becoming one and the same thing; through share ownership the workman is beginning to own his tools once more, and in the United States the Industrial Revolution has undone whatever evils Karl Marx may have attributed to it.

Today, as a "capitalist", the working man or woman has an enormous stake in the welfare of our free enterprise system. And this is a splendid omen for the future of America.

THIS TRIBUTE TO LABOR OFFERED BY THE FOLLOWING SEMINOLE COUNTY OFFICIALS:

J. L. HOBBY, SHERIFF

HUGH DUNCAN, JUSTICE OF THE PEACE
JOHN L. GALLOW, COUNTY TAX COLLECTOR

State Counts Nine Deaths

De Bary, Sanford 2 Of Eisenhower Bandwagon Stops

By MARY FOWLER
The Eisenhower Bandwagon will make De Bary and Sanford two of its stops in a gigantic Labor Day celebration on its route from Daytona to DeLand, De Bary, Sanford and then Orlando.

It will stage a Labor Day demonstration at Daytona Beach and then go to DeLand for a nighttime fish fry.

A barrage balloon will float aloft, followed by two ranch wagons, with a showing of beautiful girls in especially designed costumes and flirtation parasols. The costumes and banners to be passed out will be the order of the day.

Arnold Lund, GOP candidate for Congress from the Fifth District, says the Eisenhower Bandwagon will arrive in De Bary sometime between 3 and 4 o'clock this afternoon for a big demonstration in the predominantly Republican Volusia County stronghold. A huge crowd is expected to be on hand to welcome the big display.

Lund says that the Eisenhower Bandwagon will arrive in Sanford between 4 and 5 o'clock. "It will be all over Sanford," he said, "and not in one particular place."

Florida's death toll from accidents during the long Labor Day weekend stood today at nine with one of the most dangerous periods to be on the highways still ahead.

Highway patrolmen expected roads to be clogged late today and tonight with motorists returning home from weekend excursions. They reported fairly normal traffic yesterday after most of the drivers had reached the places they were going for the holiday.

Hundreds of patrolmen and members of the American Legion cruised the highways. Even headquarters personnel of the patrol went out in the cars.

The traffic of Friday night and Saturday killed at least four.

Three others died from other types of accidents.

Ole Hatley, a 65-year-old Miamian, was struck by a car and killed yesterday.

A two-car collision near Callahan killed Betty Carol McGhee, an 11-year-old South Carolina girl, and injured nine others including her parents.

Nettie Mae Herring, 35-year-old Quincy Negro, was killed when struck by a car as she tried to cross a highway. Carl Edward Swilley, 34, of Pinellas County, died when his car crashed into a bridge near Safety Harbor.

Margaret Julia Germino, 2, of DeLand, suffocated in her bed; Donald Swope, 44, was crushed to death at Fory Lauderdale by the boom of a broken crane; and S. Sgt. Johnnie Freeman Jr., 33, of MacDill Air Force Base was accidentally electrocuted.

A man identified as Comdr. Frank Vandetta Gregg, 36, of Cecil Field near Jacksonville was killed near there early today in an auto crash.

The dangerous "going home" hours of the Labor Day weekend were expected today to bring a steady rise in the nation's traffic death toll, possibly eclipsing the 461 record set in 1951.

As the 78-hour holiday period drew to a close, Associated Press figures showed at least 310 traffic deaths, 43 drownings and 44 miscellaneous fatalities for an overall total of 397.

Completion of the fatality figures began at 6 p. m. local time Friday and ends at midnight today.

Ned H. Dearborn, president of the National Safety Council, said, "I think unquestionably the toll will beat the 1951 record." The council predicted traffic deaths during this year's observance would be 400, 19 more than in the record year of 1951.

Dearborn warned that "unless drivers exercise extreme care on their homeward journeys in the remaining hours of the weekend, we are headed for an all-time Labor Day holiday traffic record."

Dearborn had urged drivers to team with enforcement officers in an effort to hold the toll down to no more than 350. He said this would be a normal traffic death toll for a non-holiday Sunday and Monday at this time of the year.

GOP Candidate For Congress Hits Herlong's Record

Speaking before a Labor Day audience in front of the Eisenhower Bandwagon at Daytona Beach, Arnold Lund, Republican nominee for Congress in the 5th District, stated that the 1956 congressional record of Sid Herlong does not justify his return to Washington this fall.

The talk followed an Eisenhower bandwagon parade through the city and neighboring suburbs, sponsored by the Daytona Beach Citizens for Eisenhower Organization.

"I charge that Herlong's record discloses that he obtained no action whatsoever on any important legislation during the 8 years he has been in Washington," Lund stated. "The record bears this out. I make the charges early in this campaign so that he will have ample time to refute it. I also will have ample time to prove the charges if he does."

Lund also claimed that out of 68 public bills introduced by Herlong, only 5 became law and these dealt with unimportant matters. He also said that Herlong introduced 44 private bills and only 3 of these were approved.

"The record shows that he missed 97 of 100 important roll calls on significant legislation," he asserted. "In addition he also missed 83 quorum roll calls."

Declaring statements that the GOP is waging a money fight to wig this fall as completely false, Lund asserted that he had received a total sum of $1,000.00 from all Republican organizations, both State and National.

"My opponent belittled the salary Congressmen were getting a year ago, and voted for an annual 7.50 per cent pay increase," he stated. "With reference to the raise Herlong commented that now he won't have to borrow as much money to make ends meet. Besides raising the possibility that he may not have earned what he had been getting, I don't think the job should be placed on a monetary basis. It should not be a just a means of livelihood. Even if it means sacrifice, it is a great honor and a responsibility and a trust."

Residents To Enjoy Full Day Of Holiday Events In Sanford

Sanford's Labor Day celebration will provide one "big thing" for the youngsters and grownups as well, before the school year gets underway tomorrow in earnest.

From morning to night there are events to attract the biggest portion of Seminole County's population.

The Sanford swimming pool is open all day today, from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m., providing the youngsters the swim of their lives preceding their "get down to studying" session tomorrow.

The Dusty Boots Riding Association will stage a parade through the Sanford business section which will be preceded by a noon fish fry at the Sanford Farmers' Auction Market on highway 17-92.

At 2:30 this afternoon the "horse frolic" is slated to get underway at the auction market under the auspices of the Dusty Boots Riding Association.

The Sanford Elk's Club fish fry got underway at 10 o'clock this morning as members of the Elk's Club, their friends and neighbors enjoy the "old fashioned" Labor Day event at the Elk's Club on east Second St. A dance at the Elk's Club will get underway at 8:30 this evening.

The Campbell-Losing Post of the American Legion has invited all of its members, all veterans, and friends to enjoy a fish fry which is slated to get underway at 5:30 this afternoon.

Commander Lynn Lyon said the event is expected to be an annual Labor Day get-together to bring veterans and American Legion members together. A business meeting of the Legion is expected to be held at 8 o'clock tonight following the fish fry.

Members of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer Sunday School, and their friends have slated an old fashioned "picnic basket" affair at Southward Camp, just off of West 30th St. Children and adults are participating in the picnic held each Labor Day.

Climaxing the Labor Day celebration tonight, the ladies are expected to get together tonight to play softball in Fort Mellon Park.

On the political scene, for Sanford and Seminole County, the Eisenhower Bandwagon is expected to visit in Sanford today between 4 and 5 o'clock.

KILLED BY GAS POISONING
TOKYO (AP)—Four persons were killed today by gas poisoning in an abandoned coal pit in Hanakawa, 20 miles northeast of here.

Police said a farmer and his friend broke into the pit, which had been closed, and collapsed 30 feet from the entrance. The others, waiting outside, became alarmed by the delay and crawled in. They too were soon overcome by the gas.

Today's Political Developments Have Labor Day Flavor

Negro Family Is Threatened By Mob

FORT WORTH, Tex., (AP)—Police last night dispersed an angry, yelling mob of 150 whites who threatened a Negro family that had just moved into a previously all-white residential block in the Riverside section of Fort Worth.

The crowd, yelling "Get those niggers," hung the effigy of a Negro in front of the North Jenkins Avenue home of Lloyd G. Austin, who, sitting with a rifle at his front window, had kept the mob at bay most of the afternoon and night.

Shortly after the effigy was hung into place, a shot rang from the Austin home. When a youth claimed that the bullet had struck the hood of his car, the crowd became a howling mob. Pop bottles were thrown at the house, but the crowd moved back when Police Chief Cato Hightower and a dozen officers arrived.

Hightower ordered all people and cars cleared from the area.

The mob quickly dwindled to a small group of about 35 persons that moved more than a block away beyond the police barricades.

The demonstration started yesterday afternoon after a called meeting of residents of the neighborhood at the Riverside Elementary School. There E. G. Brown said the presence of the Negro family was part of an "insidious plot" by the NAACP to get Negroes into the school district.

"The time has come for everybody to stick together and not let them come any further," Brown said. He cautioned against violence but said a peaceful demonstration would be all right to show the sentiment of the people.

Brown then went to the Austin home to talk to the Negro and the demonstrators followed.

Brown said later he offered to purchase the house from Austin but that the Negro refused.

7,000 Are Expected To Attend County Schools Tomorrow

Seminole County Schools will open their doors tomorrow morning for the first full day of the 1956-57 school year with approximately 7,000 pupils attending.

Buses will begin their daily schedule taking the children to school and back home again in the afternoon.

Law enforcement officials have openly stated that they will strictly enforce the laws regarding the passing of school buses while stopped to load or unload children.

Sheriff Luther Hobby has stated that his deputies will be following the school buses both morning and afternoon to see that motorists abide by the laws requiring that the stop whether approaching or following.

Registrations of last Wednesday have been thoroughly analyzed by each school and pupils have been assigned to their classes for the first day, tomorrow.

It is expected that school enrollment in Seminole County will exceed that of last year by about 5 per cent or an estimated boost of around 300 pupils.

Superintendent of Public Instruction Rayburn T. Milwee has said that there will be no double classes this year. Room has been provided, he said, for the elimination of crowded classrooms.

Pinecrest School will have a larger enrollment because of additional Junior High School pupils attending there and buses to this school will have a double-run because of the additional load there.

One new program has been added to the curriculum at Seminole High School with the Diversified Cooperative Training program getting underway there under the direction of Louis J. Girard.

Additional facilities will be made available at Lyman school later in the year when a cafeteria and additional classrooms are completed. However, there will be no double classes at Lyman, despite the heavy attendance at the school which serves the southern portion of the county.

The Oviedo School will get underway with a new principal in charge and several new teachers added to its staff.

The first day of school is being greeted by the usual "glad it's here" enthusiasm from the greater number of pupils.

Seminole County To Have Latter Dove Season Only

D. C. Land, manager, Central Florida Region, Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission, announced today that the Fifth District would have a split Dove Season except in St. Johns, Putnam, Flagler, Volusia, Brevard, Orange, Seminole, Osceola Counties and those portions of Marion County east of Highway 301 north of Ocala and that portion of Marion and Lake Counties east of Highway 27 south of Ocala.

This area shall have the latter season only, which is December 1 to January 31. The early part of the split season for the open counties shall be October 13 to October 31, inclusive.

It was announced after the July Commission Meeting in Tampa that the Fifth District would have the late Dove Season, only, forfeiting the early part of the season. Sportsmen from the counties in the Fifth District which have a good population of doves in October appealed to the Commission for the early season and were granted it.

Daily shooting hours for doves are 12 Noon until Sunset. The day's bag limit is 3 doves and the possession limit is also 3 doves. Hunting licenses may be purchased at the County Judge's office or through one of the Judge's authorized agents.

Cabbage Output Is High In County

Seminole County ranks 13th among the 100 leading counties in the production of cabbage, in 1954.

Cabbage was harvested for sale from 121,691 acres on United States farms in 1954, with 94,597 acres, or 77.1 per cent, in 108 leading counties, according to the 1954 Census of Agriculture figures for ranking counties released today by the Bureau of the Census, U. S. Department of Commerce.

Seminole County harvested 1,700 acres to gain the rank of 13th.

President Plans Quiet Holiday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Labor celebrated its gains today in holiday observances with both social and political overtones.

What political developments there were had a Labor Day flavor, especially in Detroit, where Democrat Adlai E. Stevenson bids actively for labor's support with a major address and a series of side visits in his campaign for the presidency.

Former President Truman speaks tonight at another labor rally in Milwaukee, with advance indications he will attack the Republican administration's record on labor policy.

President Eisenhower planned a quiet White House holiday, but issued a weekend statement saying, "There is much to be done to meet the opportunities ahead." He mentioned particularly the need for government action to help the unemployed, but avoided specific political references.

AFL-CIO President George Meany was among others who also, in Labor Day statements, pointed to future goals as well as to past accomplishments by and on behalf of the working man.

Eisenhower said the government "must seek to perfect its ways of helping people find jobs and providing security for those who are unemployed through no fault of their own."

Although more than 66 million men and women are employed, he said, "there are still those who need a job and cannot find one."

Secretary of Labor Mitchell said during an NBC-TV interview that a report due tomorrow will show more than 68,000,000 workers employed—the largest number in history. The figure officially reported a month ago was 66,533,000.

Mitchell said he expects the recall of idled employees in the automotive industry will take up slack there, with full employment in prospect this fall.

He had said Saturday in a statement that labor under the Eisenhower administration is "doing better than at any other time in our nation's history."

But Meany said that "America needs more progressive and forward-looking government." He made no reference to action by the AFL-CIO Executive Council last week recommending endorsement of the Democratic candidates for president and vice president and said:

"We are not trying to run either political party nor will we permit either to dominate us. Our policy is strictly non-partisan, in the best American tradition."

Both Meany and AFL-CIO Vice President Walter Reuther will wind up the day's celebrations with radio broadcasts tonight.

Weather

Partly cloudy today and Tuesday with scattered showers and evening thunderstorms; low tonight 65 to 75; gentle to moderate variable winds becoming briskly fresh near thunderstorms.
