DeBary Meeting Features Talk

By FBI Agent

By Mrs. Adam Muller
The Commission on Christian Social Concerns of the DeBary Community Methodist Church sponsored a public meeting last week to hear Kenneth Whitaker, assistant special agent in charge, Federal Bureau of Investigation, Jacksonville office. In his talk on "Christianity and Law Enforcement," Whitaker brought out the "threat from within" pointing out that "America's strength is in her churches."

His remarks on "crime around the clock" were illustrated and several true stories of his work with the FBI were related. Whitaker was introduced by William Brumbaugh following the invocation given by Rev. Cecil N. Ogg. Seated at the speakers' table were Hugh Booth, Miss Kay Ryan and Brumbaugh. Miss Ryan, a former school teacher, strongly urged those attending to read up on the Communist threat, how they operate and what they are doing to undermine, in the minds of today's school children, all that is important and respected by the true American. Other public meetings on this subject will be held in the near future.

Emotional Problems Discussed For CTP

By Jane Casselberry
The cause and prevention of emotional problems in children was the subject of a talk by Mrs. Berrel Horn of the Guidance Clinic in Orlando last Tuesday night at a meeting of the South Seminole Elementary School CTP at Casselberry. Mrs. Horn, who is engaged in testing and observation of emotionally disturbed youngsters, said that parents are often the principle cause of their problem. When children are forced to suppress their feelings it often results in a serious problem later. In advising parents as to methods of guiding their children so that these problems may be prevented, she said that love and understanding are the most important factors. She said that any person needing special help may come to the clinic for assistance through referral from the principal or county nurse. Plans were announced for a rummage sale to be held Nov. 21-23 at Fern Plaza Shopping Center at the intersection of SR 436 and U.S. 17-92. Following the meeting refreshments were served by the fifth grade room mothers.

Principal Of State School Speaks For Altamonte Club

By Julia Barrie
Facilities and the routine of daily living at the State Girls School in Ocala were described last Wednesday for members of the Altamonte Springs Civic Club at their first meeting of the 1942-43 season.

Replacing Mrs. A. D. McPherson, scheduled speaker, was Mrs. Louise Sigmas, principal of the school who stressed that the girls receive instruction on many levels and are self-reliant upon release.

The girls, who live 20 to a cottage with four to each bedroom, receive instruction in all basic housework, learn to sew and cook and many take business courses. Each cottage is equipped with its own laundry, kitchen and recreation area, including a television.

A group of newer books now available at the Altamonte Springs Library were reviewed by Mrs. Smith Cady and it was announced that a nursery is set up at the library for children of mothers who wish to attend the Civic Club meetings. Members were notified that a meeting of the Seminole County Federation of Women's Clubs will be held at 10:30 a.m. on Thursday, Nov. 21, at the Longwood Civic League Building with members of the League as hostesses. A covered dish luncheon will be served at noon.

Rev. Copeland Leads Revival

By Jane Casselberry
Rev. Delmas Copeland of the Casselberry Community Methodist Church is conducting a revival this week at the Holden Heights Methodist Church in Orlando. Chaplain Robert Deal of the Sanford Naval Air Station preached for the Sunday evening service at the Casselberry church in his absence. The proposed building will be 40 x 66 feet, of concrete block construction with an attractive colonial style front and cupola. Commander George Howard estimates that the building will be valued at $40,000 when completed. The plans call for a meeting room, kitchen facilities, bar and rest rooms and will be available for rental to other civic organizations. Much of the work will be donated by members of the post. The post was chartered with a membership of 126, which was the largest charter ever granted in the state. The post was able to meet the entire year's obligations to the VFW during its first three months. The auxiliary was organized just two months later and has cooperated with the post in all its various projects.

Four simple mistakes in investing and how to avoid them

Many of the estimated 17,000,000 Americans who are shareholders have acquired stock to have a second income from dividends. Others hope their money will grow over the years. Whatever your goal, you can benefit from not making these easy-to-avoid mistakes:

- Mistake No. 1: Choosing your broker at random. How to avoid: Look up a nearby Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange. Each Member Firm is different, with its own services and characteristics. But each has these things in common: It is subject to the many regulations of the Exchange. And its Registered Representatives had to measure up to Exchange requirements when they became Member Firm brokers.
- Mistake No. 2: Setting out to get rich in a hurry. How to avoid: Ask yourself what's important to you. Then with the help of your Member Firm work out a simple long-range investment program in keeping with your circumstances.
- Keep in mind that stock and bond prices go both down and up. A company may not continue to pay dividends or interest. You'll want to look for companies you think will prosper.
- Mistake No. 3: Investing hastily on a tip. How to avoid: Base your judgment on facts. Such as the company's recent record. Its earnings. The dividends it pays. The price of the stock in relation to dividends. And inquire about the greater stability bonds often provide.
- Will your broker's judgment or his firm's always be right? Nobody is always right. What they will gladly give you is help based on facts as they see them—so that you can make better judgments of your own.
- Mistake No. 4: Investing all the money you can find. How to avoid: For investing use only money you don't need for living expenses or emergencies. A lot of people find it wise to invest regularly. Through our Monthly Investment Plan you can acquire stock by investing with as little as $40 every three months.

Blind Program

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The Florida Council for the Blind has started a complete reorganization that will put more stress on training and rehabilitating blind children.

A new electronics industry, with a $100,000 annual payroll, is slated to move into Seminole County in the very near future, it was learned today.

Precisionco, Inc., of Orlando, announced it is planning to construct a $20,000, 7,500-square foot industrial building on Shephard Road, off Highway 17-82, near the Dearborn and Dynatronics plants.

Head of the firm, J. Earl Provencher, said the company manufactures government prime materials, such as aircraft and missile components, Navy catapult gear and ground support equipment for all military agencies.

Stating it will be a "light industry", Provencher added he will employ 10 persons, with 25 at peak season.

His firm has been located in Orlando since November 1958, one of the most complete shops of its kind in Central Florida. However, he has decided to move his plant to Seminole County.

County Board of Adjustment is slated to hold a public hearing Monday evening in the matter of Precisionco's building its new plant in this industrial zone. Zoning Director Robert Brown said today there is opposition to this expansion and some is anticipated.

Florida Youth 'Rocketing' In Space Capsule

SAN ANTONIO, TEX. (UPI) — Four teen-age airman made believe today they were rocketing along at 27,500 feet in a Gemini or Apollo space capsule at the Air Force School of Aerospace Medicine.

The airman, including Philip B. Jameson, 17, of Clearwater, will spend 30 days in the capsule breathing pure oxygen in a study to determine possible reactions of future spacemen who are confined to small areas at high altitudes over long periods of time.

A spokesman at the school said the men were doing well and have adapted to the close living quarters with high morale. So far, they have spent the first eight days at normal atmospheric pressure learning how to use experimental instruments.

UF Short Of Goal

The 1963 United Fund campaign for Seminole County, with Friday the deadline, has reached only half of its goal of $48,425. Orange County, with a goal of $68,000, reached the top with money to spare in a month.

Seminole County's population is estimated at 65,000. One dollar from each and the UF drive here also would have overshoot its mark.

This is a 9-in-1 drive — nine agencies receiving a part of your own contribution. These are the Boy Scouts, Children's Home Society, Family Counseling Service, Girl Scouts, Good Samaritan Home, Mental Health Association, Red Cross, Salvation Army and USO.

Contributions may be made by mailing to P. O. Box 144, Sanford, or by telephoning a pledge to 353-0535.

Do the people of Seminole County want nine separate drives rather than one combined campaign? Think about it... and mail or telephone your pledge TODAY!

FRED BARGHOORN

U. S. Protests

'Spy' Arrest By Russia

MOSCOW (UPI) — The U. S. Embassy today protested to the Soviet foreign minister over the arrest of Yale University Prof. Frederick C. Barghoorn on spy charges that carry a possible prison or death sentence.

Mikhail Smirnovsky, chief of the American section of the Soviet Foreign Office, told the embassy that for the moment no details could be provided about Barghoorn's arrest.

The embassy said it would continue to press for an interview with the 53-year-old Soviet affairs expert. But the Soviets were expected to ignore requests and hold Barghoorn incommunicado during a preliminary investigation.

There was speculation here that Barghoorn, who came to Russia to study its political institutions, may have been arrested to set up an exchange with Ivan Ivanov, 33, a Soviet chauffeur arrested last month in Englewood, N. J., on charges of complicity in a spy ring.

Barghoorn, who served as a press officer at the U. S. Embassy here during World War II, returned this fall on a two-month tourist visa which expired Nov. 1.

It was believed that his research notes might be used as evidence to support the espionage charges if Barghoorn is brought to trial.

Barghoorn has written several books on Soviet affairs, all of them critical of the Communist regime.

Western experts here said Barghoorn probably was held under a loosely worded spy clause of the Russian federal criminal code making espionage an offense punishable by seven to 15 years imprisonment or death.

Rocky Talks At Miami

NEW YORK (UPI) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, only announced Republican presidential candidate, continues his "underdog" fight for the nomination today with appearances in Miami.

Rockefeller flew to Miami where he addressed an editors' group and taped two television interviews for later rebroadcast before returning here 12 hours later.

The governor, who has admitted he currently fills the underdog role in the battle with Sen. Barry Goldwater, (D-Ariz.), his leading but unannounced opponent, picked up some political support Tuesday from Maryland.

At his own expense, Rockefeller flew a party of 48 Maryland GOP leaders into the city for a lunch of filet mignon and strawberry icebox cake in the exclusive Rockefeller Center executive dining suite.

Baltimore Mayor Theodore McKeldin, who nominated Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower at the 1952 GOP convention, later gave Rockefeller a qualified endorsement, saying he was "the best man for the republican nomination."

"I can't say that about the others," McKeldin added. "Until I find a better qualified man, I am for Governor Rockefeller."

He indicated the "others" were Senator Goldwater and former vice president Richard M. Nixon. McKeldin said the New York governor would "do all right" in the Maryland primary if he enters.

FEC Showdown With U. S. Sidetracked

ST. AUGUSTINE (UPI) — The Florida East Coast Railway plans to initiate steps "as soon as possible" to resume passenger service, apparently as a concession to the federal government.

Both FEC Board Chairman Ed Ball and Vice President Winford L. Thornton made it clear Tuesday, however, that it will take at least 30 days to get passenger locomotives out of "mothballs" and recall cars leased to other lines during the 10-month-old strike by non-operating unions.

They also said there would be no passenger service unless there can be guarantees against further sabotage of railroad property.

The FEC agreed to begin moving toward resumption of passenger service after the National Mediation Board deferred action in Washington on a possible legal move to force the railroad to return to a pre-strike status in compliance with President Kennedy's weekend order creating an emergency investigating board in the strike.

The railroad maintains the Railway Labor Act does not provide for such a board in a strike already long under way, and does not require a return to the pre-strike "status quo" in the case of the FEC. The NMB has admitted there is no precedent for invocation of the emergency board provision in a 10-month-old strike.

Board Chairman Francis A. O'Neill Jr. has hinted that the board might turn to the Justice Department to force compliance by the FEC, but this was before the statements by Ball and Thornton agreeing to begin action toward resuming passenger service.

Both railroad officials stuck to the FEC position, however, that there would be no replacing of some 700 workers hired since the start of the strike last Jan. 29 with union members returning to work during the 60-day forced freeze brought on by the President's order.

Thornton said "some" strikers would be rehired to fill positions created by the buildup to resumption of passenger service.

Rep. Slade To Shift To GOP

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — Democratic state Rep. Tom Slade announced today he would bolt his party to become a Republican because he could not go along with national Democratic policies.

Slade, 27-year-old native of Starke who moved to Jacksonville in 1957, said he would officially change his registration at the courthouse this afternoon.

He said his action would make him ineligible to run for office for two years, under a Florida statute, but he planned to run as a Republican as soon as "I feel I can make a contribution in government."

The maverick legislator said he was making the switch because, "I feel the national Democratic administration has in fact deserted the thinking of the majority of the people in Florida."

"Because of this I do not feel I have deserted the Democratic Party but that I have joined a party which more nearly effects my own personal views and what I believe to be the views of the majority of Floridians."

Iraq Routs Rebels In Short Revolt

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — The Iraqi government appeared today to have quelled a brief revolt after unidentified rebel units launched ground and air attacks in the heart of Baghdad.

Reports reaching here still were sketchy, but diplomatic observers said it appeared the nine-month-old Baath party government had routed the rebels.

The fighting, observers said, was believed to have developed following a reshuffle in the Baath hierarchy in which strongman Deputy Premier Saleh El Saadi was ousted.

The fighting broke out this morning when Iraqi air force jets attacked the presidential palace.

Fighting was reported at the heavily fortified defense ministry and in the city streets.

There was no information available on casualties.

Diplomatic circles here said the fact the Baghdad Radio was still in government hands indicated Premier Maj. Gen. Ahmed Hassan Bakr's regime was in control.

The station was heard here ordering workers back to their jobs.

Joseph E. May Dies At Hospital

Joseph Eugene May, 68, died at Seminole Memorial Hospital Tuesday morning.

He resided at 277 Flamingo Drive and had been restaurant manager for Roumatis Walgreen Drug Store since coming to Sanford in 1956.

He moved here from Gainesville where he was manager of all food service at the University of Florida.

Mr. May served as a staff sergeant with the U. S. Army in the Pacific during World War II. He was chairman of school committees for Seminole County, one of the organizers of the local chapter of Knights of Columbus and a member of All Souls Catholic Church.

He is survived by his wife, Ruby Marie, a daughter, Josephine, a son, Joseph, and two brothers, Gerald May, Hoboken, N. J., and Robert May, Oklahoma City, Okla.

Rosary will be recited at 8 p. m. Thursday at Gramkow Funeral Home. Funeral Mass will be at 11 a. m. Friday at All Souls Catholic Church. Burial will be in Hillcrest Memorial Park, Gainesville.

CHICAGO (UPI) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., on his way to announce before January a final decision on making the GOP presidential race.

First Wintry Blast Dips Into Southland

Using a "Pronounced" Blustery northeast wind drove up to 10 inches of snow across parts of Ohio today and brought a touch of winter to the Southland. Schools were closed in some Ohio communities.

Heavy snow warnings were posted for throughout the day in Ohio, Pennsylvania and western New York. The Weather Bureau issued freeze warnings for tonight as far south as Mississippi and Alabama.

Hambden, Ohio, reported 10 inches of snow today and Kirtland, Ohio, reported 8 inches. Snowfall along the southern edge of Lake Erie averaged about 3 inches.

The mercury fell to 30 degrees at Raleigh, Richmond, and Asheville. Temperatures hovered just above freezing at Louisville, Memphis, Birmingham and Shreveport.

Many sections of the North got their first snow of the season Tuesday, but it was mostly flurries. A narrow area around Ironwood, Mich., however, was blanketed with nearly a foot of snow. Houghton, Mich., had 2 inches and Houston, Maine, had 3 inches.

Nearly an inch of rain fell at Newport, Ore., and up to a half inch was reported along the Washington and Oregon coast.

Meanwhile, conservation officials in Oklahoma suspended the deer hunting season in seven southeastern counties because of the danger of forest fire. Woodlands in the area were tinder dry because of the extended drought.

2nd Suicide Try Under Train, Success

LANCASTER, Calif. (UPI) — Sheriff's detectives said a man identified as John Birmingham, 52, tried to commit suicide Tuesday by jumping in front of a train not far from his home at nearby Rosemond.

That attempt failed, investigators said, but a few hours later he succeeded in a similar attempt near this desert community northeast of Los Angeles.

A 17-year-old boy who had picked Birmingham up as a hitchhiker said Birmingham saw a train approaching and yelled: "Stop the car! I want to jump in front of the train."

The boy tried to persuade Birmingham to say in the car, but he said the man jumped from the moving auto and hurled himself into the path of the Southern Pacific freight train.

Army Needs Airborne Volunteers

"Volunteers are needed by the U. S. Army for enlistment in the elite Airborne," Sgt. Frank Crowley, local Army recruiter, said today.

The recruiter advised that a large number of volunteers for this exciting field are needed immediately to fill existing vacancies; that men applying must be of good moral character, between the ages of 17 and 34, be able to successfully complete necessary mental examinations, and be in excellent physical condition.

The recruiter stated, "Today's Army is reaching into the frontiers of the sky to develop a mobile fighting force unequalled by none: The U. S. Army Airborne."

"Keynoted by speed, range, and mobility, the Airborne is an elite group of adventurous young men thoroughly trained in both nuclear and non-nuclear warfare tactics—ready and willing to meet any challenge," Sergeant Crowley said, and continued, "The instant readiness of the Airborne to get into action swiftly is daily proving to be more and more important in the Army's overall strategy."

"Qualifications are determined and assignment guaranteed prior to enlistment, through aptitude tests and physical examination," he said.

Qualified paratroopers on jump status receive an extra $65 per month in addition to other pay and allowances, according to Sergeant Crowley. Young men who are looking for an adventurous way of life that is filled with exciting action are urged to contact Sergeant Crowley. He may be contacted at the Sanford National Guard Armory on Mondays between 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. Other days he may be reached at the U. S. Army Recruiting Station, suite 203, the Executive Building, 2520 North Orange Avenue, Orlando, telephone 422-8394, to help take the initial step toward wearing the coveted all-weather wings of an Army Paratrooper.

Saudi Arabia Policy Stated

AMMAN, Jordan (UPI) — King Saud, marking his 10th anniversary as ruler of Saudi Arabia, said his country favors a policy of non-intervention in the affairs of other Arab states.

Saud also declared that Saudi Arabia is opposed to bloodshed in the disputes over Yemen, the tiny nation on the tip of the Arabian land mass. He said the aim of his regime is "the construction of a modern Saudi Arabia in the 20th century."

Women Demos Pledge Fund

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Woman Democrats have agreed to help foot the television campaign bills for President Kennedy.

Mrs. Margaret Price, vice chairman of the Democratic National Committee, announced the fund's goal. Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy wished the woman party workers success in a letter sent to their strategy meeting at the home of Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson.

Children Outgrow Tiny Parents

By Jane Casselberry

Fairgoers last week, who remembered the Street Family when they visited Sanford several years ago, were astonished to see how the children are outgrowing their tiny parents.

Ronald and Lela Street are midgets and their four children, all delivered by Caesarian section, are normal size. Their oldest son, Danny, 13, towers above his mother, who is the size of a seven-year-old girl, and is a great help to his parents as he is now stronger than his Dad.

The other children are Rosemarie, 7, who was a busy when they were last at the Legion Fair, Genevieve, 5, and Robbie Robin, 3.

The Streets exhibit their trailer and car which they have ingeniously designed and equipped with specially made furniture and appliances cut down to fit their size. A ladder enables Lela to reach the top shelves in her kitchen cabinets.

Street, who has spent his life trying to overcome the handicap of his small size, says that the fact that he has been able to start his own business and travel all around the country from California to Florida with his family is proof that the handicapped can do a good job and employers should give them a chance to prove it.

Once while they were traveling they were stopped by a police officer, who demanded to see Street's license as he thought the large Chevy carry-all was being driven by children.

Other things that "big" people take for granted offer problems to the "little" people, such as the height of doorknobs, windows too high to see out of, and faucets out of reach.

One of the toughest problems which they encounter is using a pay phone, but they are prepared for this emergency by always having a box in the car for this purpose.

Street, 31, and his wife, Lela, 29, met in New York when they were both working for Singer's Midget Show. He was a master of ceremonies and she was a singer.

At the height of four feet two inches, he considers himself a tall midget, but up until the age of 16 he was only two feet, eight inches tall.

At that time he was doing a trapeze act until his father put a stop to it. He is a native of England and she is from Kentucky.

He has worked out a new swimming stroke which is a modified dog paddle which he taught his wife and children and even taught a one armed man.

Street is interested in nature and hopes to eventually have a nature exhibit and campaign against cruelty to animals. He helps the children with their school work and tries to imbue them with his love of animals.

The Streets once carried this interest in wildlife to the extreme in California where they boldly stood in the path of bulldozers to stop them from obliterating a small patch of woods which harbored many birds.

When the children outgrow the miniature furnishings of the trailer, they plan to add on a patio with regular size furniture for them and their friends.

The girls, ages 16 to 18, listened to:

—The case of the wife who admitted stabbing a woman she found in her husband's arms.

—The case of an unwed mother accused of blinding her lover by stabbing him in the eye.

The case of an 18-year-old perter charged with stabbing a girl who jilted him.

—Four cases of men accused of homosexual offenses.

One of the teachers who accompanied the girls said later:

"It was all very interesting, but I think next time we will attempt to find out what is on before we come."

Curbs Imposed To Halt Spying

WASHINGTON (UPI)—About 11 per cent of the United States was marked "off limits" to diplomats from five Eastern European countries today in a move to discourage spying.

U. S. officials who announced the travel ban said it was designed to close a loophole which had allowed intelligence officials to gather intelligence data in parts of the United States closed to Russians.

Roughly 24 per cent of the United States has been closed to Russian citizens since 1955 in retaliation for travel curbs imposed by the Soviet Union on Americans.

Though there have been some restrictions on Eastern Europeans—such as having to give advance notice of trips—the system of closed areas did not apply to them.

H. A. Appleby's Brother Dies

Elmer Appleby, 65, died in Seattle, Washington early Tuesday. Funeral services will be held Thursday in Seattle.

Mr. Appleby was the brother of Harold A. Appleby of this city. The two brothers had not seen each other since 1924 until this past August when the local Appleby's sold their restaurant and made a trip west.

Volunteers Needed For Annual Drive

Efforts are being made to recruit a record number of volunteers for the 1963 Thanksgiving March for Muscular Dystrophy in Sanford.

Fire Chief Mack N. Cleveland Sr., Seminole County campaign chairman for the annual drive, said that he and Mrs. Melba Bach, March chairman, hope to see some 300 local volunteers join in this year's appeal for funds to combat the mysterious, muscle-wasting disease which afflicts more than 200,000 Americans.

"Research is the main objective of MDA," Cleveland stressed, "and this year's drive carries greater responsibility than ever now that the Institute for Muscle Disease has started operating in New York City."

Sponsored by MDA, the $5 million research center is designed for a coordinated, concentrated attack against all neuromuscular disease. In addition, MDA's program conducts more than 100 research projects in medical institutions all of which are directly dependent on support from the drive for funds.

"We need all the help we can get," Cleveland said, pointing out that even those who can't actually go from door to door can help in many other ways.

The appeal for volunteers already has met with excellent response from the general public. As in previous years, uniformed and volunteer fire fighters are participating and members of the Sanford Moose are planning roadblocks for the collection of funds.

However, volunteers for the Thanksgiving March still are needed and all interested individuals, or groups as a whole, are asked to call Mrs. Bach at 322-9541 if they are willing to donate a few hours of their time.

Busboy Hunts 'Filthy Lucre'

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C. (UPI)—Donald Tison Davis resumes the tedious task today of sifting through tons of garbage in search of the $420 he allegedly stole from a cafeteria.

Police said the 18-year-old busboy admitted taking the money and hiding it in a garbage can at the Reynolds Manor Cafeteria where he worked.

When he returned to pick up the cash, he found the can had been emptied. He was arrested Monday.

Police have agreed to let Davis search for the loot. He started Wednesday morning under police supervision at a garbage dump where 720,000 pounds of garbage are dumped daily.

Foreign Aid Battle Nearing Conclusion

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Administration forces, heartened by their best round to date in the Senate's prolonged foreign aid battle, closed ranks today against a new attempt to raise interest rates on foreign aid loans. The Senate bill, currently totaling $2.7 billion, is almost $800 million less than President Kennedy asked and only $240 million more than the House voted. It would authorize another year of economic and military assistance overseas.

'Explosives' Only Cement

ANTIOCH, Calif. (UPI)—A white bag had been stacked with a lot of red cement sacks at the Antioch Building Materials Company yard here and had been literally tossed around by workmen for years until someone noticed that the label said "explosives."

"The stuff wouldn't burn," said Lt. William H. Yankus, chief of the bomb disposal team from the naval weapons station at Concord, who carried the bag to a demolition testing range. "So we tried mixing it with water and it came out just like cement—which it was."

Soviet 'Ploy' To Win Arabs

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Hugh Scott (R-Pa.) says Russia has mounted an anti-semitic campaign to woo Arab alliances in the Mideast. Scott told the Mirachi Women's Organization of America here the Soviet "ploy" is one more reason why the United States should redefine its policy toward mid-eastern nations — especially Egypt.

Labor Puts On Peaceful Front

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The AFL-CIO prepared today for its 8th anniversary convention with a public display of harmony between veteran antagonists George Meany and Walter P. Reuther. But informed sources said the conflict was not far below the surface and might erupt at the labor federation's convention opening Thursday in New York City.

MIAMI (UPI)—Mrs. Tommy Coe didn't have a phone or a car. When she realized her baby was due within hours she sent her dog, Toby, to fetch her husband from work nearly two miles away. The husband drove Toby home and rushed his wife to the hospital. When their fifth child, a daughter, was born recently, they named her Toby.

Nominees for the forthcoming election of officers in the Naval Air Station officers wives club were announced at the group's meeting Thursday.

Running for president are Mrs. Vincent Law and Mrs. David Olmstead. Mrs. Francis Plapp and Mrs. Donald Dietrich are seeking the office of secretary-treasurer.

The NAS wives held their business meeting in the ballroom after a game party and luncheon. Hostesses for the affair were Mrs. Clayton Hanele, Mrs. John Williams and Mrs. Plapp.

A welcome aboard was said to Mrs. E. E. Betancourt whose husband was commissioned ensign just prior to the luncheon, and Mrs. David John, a new member.

Mrs. Stanley Stanul suggested a change in the by-laws to permit officers to hold their positions for one year instead of six months. The club members also agreed to divide the tasks of secretary and treasurer and elect two persons for those jobs.

The changes will take place after the next six month terms expire.

Winners of the prizes in the game contests were Mrs. Olmstead, Mrs. Michael Pickering and Mrs. Betancourt.

Monday's meeting in the home decorating series will feature a discussion of the ethics in antique dealing and buying. The meeting will be conducted by R. T. Radamacher, a Winter Park antique dealer.

Mrs. Kermit Jamison, who is in charge of the series, announced that the meeting will be the last one of the series unless a large group of wives attend. In order to make it worth the while of the persons giving their time to conduct the sessions, more wives will need to participate, Mrs. Jamison said.

Eastern Star Initiates Three New Members

Seminole Chapter 2, Order of Eastern Star, witnessed an unusual event recently when a mother and father participated in the initiation of their daughter. Paul Markos knelt at the altar with his daughter, Donna, and Mrs. Markos in her station as "Martha" gave her that lecture.

Others initiated were Mrs. Charles H. Polley and Louis Estes. During the initiation, the initiatory solos were rendered by Byron Leach. Each new member was presented with the Eastern Star Bible on which he took his obligation.

The charter was draped in memory of recently deceased Past Patron, J. B. Jones. During the draping ceremony, Mr. Leach sang "Sunrise Tomorrow."

The coin collection for the evening was earmarked for the student loan fund toward scholarships for sons or daughters of Eastern Star members who want to train for religious work.

It was announced that Italy Day would be Nov. 10 at the Masonic Home in St. Petersburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Markos, with Mrs. W. D. Causey, Mrs. Lena Hamilton and Mrs. John Carver, served refreshments of cake, coffee and nuts at the close of the meeting.

DANIEL LLORD

Puppet Show Slated Here In February

One of the most unusual shows ever seen will appear in Sanford in February under the auspices of the Seminole County Mutual Concert Association.

The Daniel Llord Concert-theatre is a puppet show to end all puppet shows. Not of the traditional Punch and Judy type, this puppet theater is geared for sophisticated adult audiences.

In a whirl of light and color, the talented little marionettes are aided by unusual stage effects such as fountains and smoke, electrical skyrockets, snow, rain and sacrificial fires.

The ingenious puppet master single-handedly manipulates as many as 25 marionettes at one time, using toes, heels and elbows to control the lighting, special effects and the music.

The singing, dancing, engineering, designing, writing and music are all done by the puppeteer himself in this unique attraction.

Tickets are available from any of the officers and workers of the Mutual Concert Association or through Mrs. Ralph Austin Smith, membership chairman. No tickets will be sold for single performances and all memberships entitle holders to attend all the Mutual Concert series of this season, including the famous concert pianist Lillian Kallir and the internationally known Columbus Boychoir.

Herman Rembert Enters Service

By Robert B. Thomas Jr.
T. V. Davis was in town for a few days visiting his mother, who is in the hospital. Davis is a graduate of Crooms High School, where he was captain of the baseball team. He also is a former sports writer for The Sanford Herald.

ROSETTA DAVIS

Davis attended Woodrow Wilson Junior College of Chicago for two years and completed his education at Chicago Teachers College. He has taught in the Chicago public school system for two years. Presently, he is working toward a master's degree in guidance and counseling at Chicago Teachers College.

He is a member of the Omega Psi Phi fraternity. His suggestion to persons who are trying to accomplish something worthwhile in life: The world will step aside and let a person pass, if he knows where he is going.

Herman J. Rembert Jr. will be leaving Thursday to fulfill his military obligation. Rembert is a graduate of Crooms High School where he lettered in football and basketball. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Herman J. Rembert, of 1508 West 17th Street. May your days with Uncle Sam be merry, my boy.

Seminole County Children's advisory council is an organization dedicated to helping needy children. We have found that some children have to miss school because of certain material needs. In an attempt to alleviate this problem, this group was formed.

The late James Foster, who was attendance assistant, was one of its main supporters.

Many children have benefited from this service. A drive is underway to secure more funds. Any interested person may join. See Rev. N. A. Watson, the chairman, or Principal L. R. Eubanks. You also are cordially invited to attend the meetings. Next meeting will be Jan. 2. I would like to add further that this organization offers counseling, moral and spiritual guidance.

Rosetta Davis is visiting because her mother is in the hospital. This young lady has distinguished herself since leaving Sanford. She is a graduate of Crooms High School. Attended Los Angeles City College for two years and presently is studying at Los Angeles State College.

Recently she completed a two-month study tour of Europe visiting nine countries: England, France, Belgium, The Netherlands, Denmark, Germany, Austria, Italy and Spain.

Speaking of her trip, she made the following observations: (1) The Berlin wall is very impressive. (2) Many people ask about racial situation in America. The people are very warm and friendly, like for foreigners to try to speak their language. (4) The people like to hear about America for it is a dream for them.

En route to Europe, she stopped to play national tennis championships in Ohio where she impressed top tennis officials. Also she voted to submit her name to the com-

Coup Caught U. S. Commander By Surprise - Report

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI)—Reliable sources said today that the Nov. 1 coup against President Ngo Dinh Diem caught U. S. military commander Gen. Paul D. Harkins by surprise despite warnings from his subordinates.

The U. S. Military Assistance Command formally denied the report that Harkins had ignored warnings. It said the coup leaders maintained strict secrecy until the time of their attack.

The sources said Harkins also sent a paragraph in a report to Washington to the military and Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) here saying he did not believe a coup was imminent. They said that after the beginning of the coup, Harkins asked to have the paragraph deleted from the report.

The Military Assistance Command denied that any such paragraph was included in the report originally and thus no deletion was made.

ADMINISTRATION SAID PLEASED
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Kennedy administration is moderately pleased with developments in South Viet Nam following the military coup but officials still have their fingers crossed.

Defense and State Department sources said today the anti-Communist war undoubtedly was being pushed with more vigor. They said it was necessary, however, to withhold final judgments until the political situation in Saigon develops further.

U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge is expected in Washington late next week to give President Kennedy a first-hand report on the Nov. 1 coup against President Ngo Dinh Diem and subsequent developments. But Lodge first will meet in Honolulu next Wednesday with Secretary of State Dean

Rusk, Defense Secretary Robert McNamara and ranking military officials for a full dress review of the situation.

Budgets, Boondoggles

The honest disagreements among scientists and others as to the wisdom of pouring heavy U. S. effort into the moon race must be welcomed. We need all the earnest debate we can get.

But Arkansas' Sen. J. William Fulbright offers a useful corrective on this subject when he suggests that much more is involved than whether or not we spend vast sums to try to reach the moon.

What is at stake, he indicates, is how we are to apportion our tremendous but not bottomless resources among many, many important national programs — military, foreign and domestic.

The question, in other words, is one of priorities. And these, says Fulbright, have not really been wisely settled by the leadership of this country.

This does not mean no priorities are in effect. Plainly they are. The federal budget, with its allocation of expenditures, is one great collection of priority decisions. Congress, either by accepting or altering those judgments, puts its own stamp upon the priority process.

Fulbright's point is that the whole process is not really well thought out — that we have not run up a solid balance sheet of national needs against national resources and arranged the needs in genuine order of importance.

By his measure, then, it is slightly shallow to say we are planning to spend too much money to go to the moon, when it is not clear whether we are spending too much or too little on educating scientists, helping Latin America, building new hospitals at home, expanding our highway network, attacking the problem of crime, safeguarding our nuclear "delivery systems" and so on.

Rich as we are, we cannot do all of these things at the "optimum" level. So it becomes a matter of how much of each to do, in what order.

The budget, the spending by the "private sector" of the economy, these represent our current decisions. But the demands upon the nation's resources are mounting so rapidly and so steeply that we may not be able to get by indefinitely without more fully reasoned priority judgments.

Fulbright did not mention it, but an important study in this field is under way, under auspices of the National Planning Association. This respected research organization is still in the relatively early stages of its inquiries. Yet it is heartening to know there is at least some assault on this vital matter.

This country, privately and publicly, spends untold billions of dollars with something less than full thought as to the wisdom of it. To question spending for the moon is all right. But the questions ought not to stop there.

GOP Political Picture

Dick West Says

Analyzing Elections

WASHINGTON (UPI) — After each election there comes a period of what is known in political circles as "analyzing the returns."

The ballots we cast don't just speak for themselves, you know. In order for us to understand why we voted the way we did, somebody has got to sit down and figure out what we meant when we voted that way.

I have great admiration for election interpreters, mainly because I have never been able to master that art myself. But I keep on trying just the same.

In the wake of the elections this week, I approached a friend of mine who specializes in interpretations and asked him to give me a few pointers.

"I'll be glad to," he said. "It's quite simple really, once you get the hang of it. When issues are involved you analyze the politicians, and when politicians are involved you analyze the issues. Got it?"

"I think so," I said. "Would you mind giving me an example?"

"Very well. Take the mayoralty election in Philadelphia. A Democrat named James H. Tate defeated a Republican named James T. McDermott."

"Could it mean that a majority of the voters felt that Tate would be a better mayor than McDermott?"

"Good heavens!" my friend exclaimed. "You do need help!"

"Well, then, maybe it means that Philadelphia voters are prejudiced in favor of candidates with two middle initials."

"You are trying to analyze the politicians," my friend said.

"What this election provides is an opportunity to analyze the political impact of the civil rights issue."

"I don't see how," he said. "The one he had four years ago, contained two bedrooms, living room, dining room, kitchen and bath. It cost him $33 a month, unfurnished. The secret of getting such an apartment was, he said, the payment of several hundred dollars in cash as a bribe to an 'apartment finder.' Without this, one could not get a place to live."

Our host's apartment contained a television set. All during our stay it was not only turned on to the only available channel, but turned on so loud it was hard to follow a conversation. This is about par for the course in Spain. Bars, restaurants and private homes which have television all have loud television.

Apocryphal of rents, here in Seville we know a man who runs a business college for 120 boy students. He has a family, a wife and one child, classrooms, and the 12 students who live in. It costs him $90 a month. He said this was an older residence on which he spent about $2,500 for repairs. He claimed that Barcelona was almost twice as expensive as Seville and that in Seville it would be possible to find hundreds of apartments like that of our Barcelona friend for less money. Spain's new prosperity shows up in the greatly increased number of automobiles, scooters and motorcycles. Many of the drivers are highly unskilled which makes for interesting moments on the highway.

When we were here four years ago, the only police I saw were the members of the Civil Guard, always traveling in pairs, either on foot or on bicycles. Now traffic policemen on motorcycles are almost as common as in the United States. One good thing the government has done is to establish a highway patrol, also of civil guardsmen, in Jeep-like vehicles to give assistance on the highways, in case of a wreck or a mechanical breakdown.

Many new highways are being constructed but, in some cases, at the cost of lessened maintenance work on already built roads. Another problem at present is the many highways which were damaged or washed out by last winter's abnormal rainfall.

One thing that Spain badly needs is an improved telephone system. It regularly takes two or three hours to call from one city to another. For the uninitiated, attempting to make a hotel reservation is a nightmare. American correspondents tell us that, although news agencies have a priority on communications, they are frequently tied up most of their working day trying to make three or four long distance calls inside the country.

All in all, it would seem as if Spain was becoming less isolated and more a member of the increasingly prosperous European community. If agriculture continues the way it is now headed, it is possible the country could once more be the garden spot it was some four centuries ago when the Moors were forced out of the country.

This past year, for instance, Spain was able to export a small quantity of rice, one of the staples of its diet, for the first time in the memory of living man.

Now you are trying to analyze the issue," my mentor commented. "This one should be interpreted as a political victory for Mayor Wagner."

I thanked my friend for explaining the system to me and I believe I have it all straightened out now.

According to my analysis of the returns, the odds against a New York horse being elected mayor of Philadelphia on a civil rights platform are 3 to 1, off-track.

Jesus understood this same trait of human nature, as shown by His utterance: "A prophet is not without honor save in his own country and in his own house."

But Michelangelo knew he was a superb artist, so he decided to use some psychology on those snooty art critics of his day.

Knowing that the latter were fascinated by excavating in old ruins to dig up supposedly priceless works of art, Michelangelo tinted one of his masterpieces and then tactfully had it buried where such an excavating party would be sure to find it.

The critics were enraptured. They pronounced it an antique of rare value.

Michelangelo was a shrewd Applied Psychologist. So he tricked the snooty art critics of his day and thus was commissioned to do the Sistine ceiling and other famous art work for which he is now noted. He would have relished the sales booklet below, so send for your copy at once.

CASE R-403: Michelangelo was probably the world's greatest artist and sculptor. He was a contemporary of Columbus, so you can peg both of them in their correct time slot of history by remembering that famous date of 1492.

But Michelangelo was also a superb Applied Psychologist, so I have lauded him in my college textbook, "Psychology Applied."

Michelangelo at first was ignored and disdained by his own generation.

Like most snooty critics, the art connoisseurs of his day would not credit genius to anybody who hadn't been dead and buried for centuries.

Remember the old adage about the mousetrap? "If you build the best mousetrap in the world," it ran, "you can hide away in the middle of the forest but the public will still beat a broad pathway to your door."

That's malarkey nowadays.

Even the Catholic cardinal of San Giorgio was impressed so greatly that he paid a huge sum to add this antique to his art collection.

Then Michelangelo let the cat out of the bag! Well, what could the art critics of his day do? They were so far out on a limb that they had to admit Michelangelo was an artistic genius.

Thereafter, Michelangelo was commissioned to do the famous paintings at Rome. But if he hadn't combined artistic talent with the typical modern salesman's understanding of Applied Psychology, he would never have been commissioned to paint the Sistine ceiling or produce "Moses" and the "Bound Slaves."

It isn't enough just to be a stellar engineer or artist, manufacturer or creator of any sort, unless you also know how to merchandise your talents or products.

Merit, by itself, can go unnoticed.

For there are too many competing products and jealous rivals who will detour the buying public!

Notes On Europe

Prosperity In Spain

(Editor's note: Here is a second of a series of articles on the latest news from European countries. Other articles will follow.)

By R. H. Haskell Jr., SEVILLE, Spain — (Sp) — The face of Spain has changed radically in the past four years. Miles of arid mountainside have been planted in pine trees. Irrigation projects have taken in thousands of acres, turning near-desert areas into productive farms.

In cities and towns, old buildings are being torn down to be replaced with new housing and business structures. Along the Mediterranean coast there is a hotel and co-operative apartment building boom that would rival Florida at its wildest.

To a large extent, this new prosperity gives an improved living standard to the upper and middle economic classes only. It has yet to filter down to the poorer people. Many rural towns are still obviously poverty stricken.

The going price for a maid in Madrid is from $17-25 a month. This domestic would have to live in, have every Thursday afternoon off and every other Sunday afternoon off. She would be on call for 24 hours a day the rest of the week. One employer complained, however, that maids quit on the "slightest pretext." Towns in the Seville area have maids available at $7.50 a month for the same hours as Madrid.

Large amounts of foreign money, particularly German, Swedish and Danish, are being invested in Spain. The outskirts of the larger towns show an almost mushroom growth of new factories.

To supply qualified workers for these new industries, the government is pushing training programs through the school systems. The problem is that the graduates are able to command higher wages in France and Germany than they can at home, so many of them migrate. There is still a shortage of trained industrial workers in Spain, but it is being gradually overcome as more graduates are trained, and as Spaniards return from foreign jobs.

We were told by a highly qualified American newspaperman that he felt Spain to be a more solid military ally for the United States than France. He reported that at the time of the Cuban crisis, Spain, on its own initiative, evacuated several air bases to make them available to the United States should they be needed to meet an expanding conflict. He felt American air bases in Spain were extremely valuable since they give a good staging area for the massing of men and equipment to meet any military threat to our security in Europe or the Middle East.

This same man said the largest danger to Spain's new-found economic growth is inflation. He said that people with investment money were not satisfied with 10 per cent or 20 per cent return on their capital, but were looking for 50 per cent and more.

Recently, the Falange, the Spanish Fascist Party, had its 30th birthday celebration. Only three members of the government attended. Franco was not one of them. The party, as a political power, seems to be quite dead. The man who has been designated to follow Franco as chief of state is also an army general. He is only about three years younger than Franco and is in poor health. There seems to be a large question whether he will, in fact, be able to carry on a post-Franco government.

In the past several years there has been a considerable loosening of governmental controls over the ordinary citizen. It is not unusual to hear anti-Franco jokes and airing of gripes against the government in public places.

We were told stories about government graft which sound much like those we hear at home.

People we talked to did not feel this reflected any deep-down anti-Franco or anti-government sentiment on the part of the majority. It is more the sort of thing one hears as people become more prosperous and have more time to pop off.

There appears to be little or no fear of secret police. There is a new series of laws in the works which would lessen newspaper censorship and would give more freedom to non-Catholic groups.

At present, the government has the sole right to name the director of a newspaper. He can be nominated by the ownership, but confirmed only by the government. Profits of all stories must be submitted to censorship before publication.

We were told, however, that it is now relatively rare for deletions or changes to be made by the censors.

The Catholic Church and the state are still closely tied together, although more progressive elements of the church have been instrumental in seeking benefits for the working classes. The backing of at least part of the clergy given last Spring to the men striking in Bilbao for higher wages is evidence of this lack of complete harmony between civil and religious authority.

According to figures released by the church, thought to be minimal, there are 34,246 priests, 20,873 monks and 72,783 nuns in Spain. A concerted drive to get more youths to enter the religious life is taking place. The church claims it has a shortage of workers. There is a new emphasis on finding qualified missionary workers to send to Central and South America.

People we talked to feel there is a deep anti-Communist feeling in Spain, entirely aside from the obvious conflict between Catholicism and Red dogma. They say this goes back to the Civil War when so many, on both sides, suffered from the excesses of Communist-controlled units.

When in Barcelona we had the same guide we had four years ago. He told us that the living standard was 50 per cent higher than it was then. We were invited to his apartment for dinner with his wife, son and daughter. It was a very fine meal, washed down with quantities of champagne, Spanish, of course. The apartment, better than the one he had four years ago, contained two bedrooms, living room, dining room, kitchen and bath. It cost him $33 a month, unfurnished. The secret of getting such an apartment was, he said, the payment of several hundred dollars in cash as a bribe to an "apartment finder." Without this, one could not get a place to live.

Our host's apartment contained a television set. All during our stay it was not only turned on to the only available channel, but turned on so loud it was hard to follow a conversation. This is about par for the course in Spain. Bars, restaurants and private homes which have television all have loud television.

Rocky Considers Self Underdog

MARSHUA, N. H. (UPI) — Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, campaigning for the Republican presidential nomination, surveyed public today on any potential rivals that he was "in this thing to win."

The 55-year-old New York governor, who Thursday became the first announced GOP candidate for the nation's highest office, lost no time calling into President Kennedy and Republican Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, a front-runner in the polls.

Rockefeller, who considers himself the "underdog" in his bid for a victory in the New Hampshire primary first in the national presidential primary, March 10, toured industrial plants here and in Manchester today before opening a "Rockefeller for president" headquarters at Concord's Highway Hotel. He returned to New York City this afternoon.

No Road Block For Red Needs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — If and when the Russians need to buy potatoes and poultry, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie (D-Maine) says the U. S. government is ready to help them out.

Muskie said that "no government roadblocks stand in the way of U. S. sales of surplus potatoes and chickens to Russia." He said, however, that Soviet officials had not expressed any interest in buying.

Two Freighters Afire Following Collision

BUZZARDS BAY, Mass. (UPI) — A freighter and a tanker collided in Buzzards Bay today and both ships burst into flames. At least 40 men were on the freighter.

The Coast Guard said the Norwegian freighter Fernview was in imminent danger of sinking. The tanker was carrying a cargo of combustible fuel.

The 325-foot tanker was identified as the Dynafuel, built at a Jacksonville shipyard.

Organized Labor Worried Over Turn Of Events

NEW YORK (UPI) — The AFL-CIO, worried by dwindling membership, automation and the growing power of the political right, opens its fifth biennial convention here today in a mood critical of the average American's apathy.

"Labor is worried because the rest of the nation doesn't seem to be worried — about our economy, our chronic unemployment, the drift to the right," said an AFL-CIO spokesman on the eve of the convention at the Americana Hotel.

The 12.5 million member labor federation has lost 75,000 members since its last convention in 1961. Automation has replaced thousands of workers and at least 400,000 workers change jobs and even industries every month.

Cost of living increases have offset one-third of the wage gains negotiated last year and the average national increase in purchasing power is slackening.

The convention is expected to endorse the AFL-CIO Executive Council's drive for a 35-hour work week without loss of pay and penalty pay of double time for overtime.

It will also back the administration's tax cut proposals, a vastly expanded public works program, and a sizeable increase in the present federal minimum wage guarantee of $1.25 an hour.

Date Uncertain For Hoffa Trial

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — The jury tampering trial for Teamsters President James R. Hoffa may not be held here until after the first of the year.

Federal Judge Frank Gray Jr. said Wednesday he would set the trial "as soon as I can get around to it," but indications were it probably would be after the Christmas holidays.

Gray was asked when the trial date would be after the U. S. Supreme Court refused to hear arguments on a Hoffa motion Tuesday, thus clearing the way.

Navy To Show Polaris To JFK

The Weather: Just Plain, Downright Cold It Is

MIAMI (UPI) — A mass of cold air blanketed Florida today, dropping temperatures 15 to 20 degrees below normal and bringing frost into the central citrus belt.

Pre-dawn temperatures today ranged from a wintry 31 degrees at Crestview to 63 at Key West. At Miami, the mercury fell to a snappy 51.

Weathermen said the cold snap was caused by a weak cold front that moved through the state earlier this week, draining cold air down from the North.

The cold snap, however, was not expected to be harsh enough to cause any damage to Florida's million dollar citrus and vegetable crops.

Miami weather forecaster Arnold Sugg said the cold weather should last for at least two days.

"The longer the northerly winds continue, the colder it will get," he said.

The State-Federal Frost Warning Service at Lakeland predicted scattered light frost as far south as the Indian River citrus area and the low-lying areas of the Everglades farming area.

Lyman Fires Up Homecoming Rally Tonight

By Jane Casselberry

The 1963 Lyman High School Homecoming Queen will be crowned during the half-time Friday night at the game between the Lyman Greyhounds and the Florida Air Academy Falcons.

Homecoming activities will get under way tonight at 7:30 p. m. with a pep rally, bonfire and "Powder Puff" football game sponsored by the Pep Club.

Admission is free for this festive affair between the "Gold Hounds" and the "Blue Hounds" and some of Lyman's browniest males will serve as cheerleaders.

Friday night the Greyhound players and their parents will be introduced to the fans at 7:30 p. m. followed by a parade of the homecoming queen candidates around the field at 8:40.

Kick-off time will be 8 p. m. and a special section in the bleachers will be set aside for LHS alumni, who are urged to attend all the Homecoming activities.

The Lyman Student Council is sponsoring the Homecoming and the Marching Greyhound Band will entertain with music and fancy drill.

The queen, whose identity will remain a mystery until the actual crowning, also will reign at the dance which will be sponsored by the Athletic Boosters in the cafeteria following the game.

A five-piece combo, "The Shades," will play for dancing.

TNT Explosion Causes Panic

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — Tons of TNT exploded in a concrete bunker at the Medina nuclear weapons plant Wednesday, panicking residents into believing it was an atomic blast.

After the original shock of the explosion, which staggered pedestrians and blew out store windows in downtown San Antonio 12 miles away, people panicked and fled in every direction from the plant.

Roads outside the site were clogged with bumper-to-bumper traffic and a huge black cloud from the explosion drifted slowly over the area.

People as far as 50 miles away called to ask what had happened.

Inside the plant it was soon determined that a concrete storage bunker containing 13 to 28 tons of TNT had exploded while three men were loading containers of the stuff into the bunker.

Two Uninjured In Collisions

An 85-year-old bicyclist and a 16-year-old motorist escaped injury in two accidents within a half hour this morning.

Patrolman Donald Brumley reported Robert Altan, 85, of R. R. 2, suffered a minor cut on his head and one on a finger when he rode his bicycle in front of a car driven by Thomas Parr, Milwaukee, Wis., at 9 a. m. at 25th Street and Sanford Avenue. Parr was not charged.

Ruby Carol Nesbitt, 16, of 212 Citrus Drive, escaped injury when she drove her car into the side of an ACL freight train at the Grapeville Road crossing at 9:30 a. m.

Constable Bob Carroll reported her car a total loss. He charged the girl with speeding.

4 More 'CIA' Agents Shot

MIAMI (UPI) — Four more Cubans, identified as CIA agents, were executed by a Castro firing squad in Havana Wednesday night, Havana radio said today.

The four were charged with "landing on the Cuban coast from a small boat for sabotage and subversive activities," said the broadcast, monitored here.

The executions brought to 13 the number of men killed in less than a week. All were charged with being members of the CIA.

'CHRISTMAS in the Sun' is the prize winning theme by 11-year-old Barbara Berry for the annual Christmas parade Dec. 4. Barbara, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Berry, of Lake Howell, and a student at South Seminole Elementary School, will ride in the parade. She is displaying her $25 bond for the prize-winning theme. U.S. Relations With Russia Hit New Low

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Soviet-American relations hit their lowest point since the nuclear test ban treaty today with the United States prepared to increase pressure for the release of a Yale professor arrested by the Russians on spy charges.

An intensified Soviet smear campaign against West Germany and new Communist attacks along the truce line in Korea spurred apprehension there that further deterioration in the international climate was in the offing.

The United States was ready to call off Moscow negotiations, scheduled to begin Tuesday, on a cultural exchange agreement unless the Kremlin quickly released Prof. Frederick C. Barghorn, and the State Department put the chill on a group of visiting Russian tourists and officials, warning Americans not to get too deeply involved with them.

The United States has protested bitterly the arrest of Barghorn on what the State Department calls "groundless" charges. Officials made it clear they felt the case had broad ramifications going far beyond question of the individual concerned.

There was speculation the Russians were planning to seize more American hostages in retaliation for the recent ousting of Soviet UN officials caught spying in this country.

The State Department is warning American organizations not to become involved in any "commitments" with a group of 17 Soviet tourists which arrived in the United States Wednesday for a three-week tour.

Among the tourists are a number of officials of Russia's "Institute of Soviet-American Relations," which the State Department describes as a "vehicle for Soviet propaganda."

Deaths From Smoking Put Above Traffic

TORONTO (UPI) — An American cancer research specialist said Wednesday cigarette smoking is responsible for more deaths than automobile accidents or any of the viruses or bacteria known to man.

Dr. Frederick G. Brok, associate cancer research scientist at Roswell Park Memorial Institute in Buffalo, N. Y., addressed the second session of a three-part seminar on smoking at Fairlane United Church.

The rise in lung cancer among men—a ninefold increase in incidence from 1931 to 1960—has taken on "epidemic proportions," Brok said. Of 16 patients who report to his physicians with lung cancer, on the average only one is cured, he said.

Brok said between 2,000 and 3,000 died of lung cancer during 1962.

"This figure, coupled with the number of heart and bronchial diseases bred by smoking, puts cigarettes well ahead of traffic accidents and infectious illnesses as a killer," he said.

Store Robbed Of $100,000 In Jewelry

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (UPI) — An exclusive jewelry store was robbed of "well over $100,000 worth" of diamonds Wednesday night by three masked gunmen.

A spokesman for Raymond's Inc., located just off Wilshire Boulevard, said the loss might run as high as $225,000 on the basis of retail prices, but that the exact amount would not be known until an inventory is taken.

Police said the three gunmen, wearing Halloween masks, kicked in the glass front door which had been locked as eight employees prepared to place trays of jewels in a vault.

They apparently had timed the holdup so that valuables were out of the display cases, officers said.

One handist reached through the broken glass and opened the door to the store. They dumped jewels into a cardboard box and fled within three minutes.

Murrow Drops His Trademark

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Edward R. Murrow, one of the nation's most famous chain-smokers until he lost a lung to cancer last month, apparently has given up cigarettes.

But his brother, retired Air Force Brig. Gen. Lacey V. Murrow, said Wednesday it might not make any difference anyway. Gen. Murrow said his brother, who is director of the U. S. Information Agency, "never inhaled a cigarette in his life."

Gen. Murrow, four years older than his brother at 59, said he also lost a lung after a tumor was discovered about three years ago. He said he "unwisely" has never stopped smoking and, unlike his brother, he inhales.

Harriets Fly Home Friday
Condition of 12-year-old Kenneth Harriett has improved to the point that his parents, Fire Lt. and Mrs. George Harriett, will return to Sanford Friday.

Kenneth underwent an operation for removal of 80 per cent of his liver, due to cancer, at Children's Hospital in Cincinnati. He had been given a 50-50 chance of recovery and doctors have expressed amazement over his continued improved condition.

His older brother, George Harriett Jr., is remaining in Cincinnati.

Inter-service Rivalry At Cape Keen
CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — A sporty bit of inter-service rivalry may spice up the planned visit by President Kennedy to this giant Moonport Saturday.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), hopes the President will step forth Saturday with a new pitch for keeping America in the race to the moon.

But the U. S. Navy may steal the whole show.

The space agency will escort Kennedy to some launching pads and to two of its mightiest rockets, and then take him for a helicopter swing over the Merritt Island Launch Area (MILA), adjacent to the Cape, where a launching site for manned flights to the moon is under construction.

But the President has seen rockets and launching pads before, on two previous visits to Cape Canaveral. And construction in the early stage all tends to look alike—especially from a helicopter.

The Navy, on the other hand, is going first-class to show Kennedy something he has never seen before. It "laid out" a special launching of the Polaris missile from a submerged nuclear submarine, the USS Andrew Jackson, and invited the President out to see it.

The President will make the space agency rounds first—and quickly. He will get hasty briefings on the Saturn-5, the behemoth rocket that is expected to blast off from the MILA area late this decade on a trip taking three U. S. astronauts to the moon.

He will see two huge rockets — the Saturn-1 "super booster" and the Titan-2 rocket for the first unmanned launching in the Gemini program that eventually will send two-man teams of astronauts into orbit for periods of up to two weeks.
