Stroboscopic lights played on a disk rotating at 900 revolutions a minute, made a painted gear apparently stand still or form symmetrical designs when both blue and red lights played upon it. A small propeller apparently stood still, although rotating very fast. Electric eye recording by means of a light flash of the exact moment when a paper disk, whirling with a high whine at 15,000 revolutions a minute, broke with a loud pop, was a real thrill for the audience. Music from a record was transmitted by light to the electric eye, but was stopped when the light path was interrupted. Variations of light flashes in an electric lamp resulted in a tune being played on the loud vibration resulted in an odd tone in a tune being played on the loud speaker. When a flashlight directed at the eye was hit, the light vibration resulted in an odd tone, while pocket combs moved swiftly in the light path seemed to scream in protest. Many other scientific feats were shown including the new wire tape recording and playing device, sound effects of electrons thrown off by uranium and other radioactive materials, light of the firefly duplicated with chemicals in a flask, and experiments with invisible light which lit up shawl patterns in the dark with brilliant colors. There was a special afternoon show for children. The program was sponsored by H. H. Coleman of the Florida Power and Light Company and by Principal Herman E. Morris of Seminole High School.

Stassen, Taft Clash Over Labor Policy

(Continued from page 1) the Labor program advocated by his former protégé from Minnesota, Republican Senator Joseph Ball, Stassen advised against the ban on industry-wide collective bargaining envisioned in the Ball Labor Bill. He criticized Ball's recommendation that employer be allowed to get court injunctions to stop strikes and he attacked Ball's proposal to outlaw maintenance of membership in union contracts.

On the positive side, Stassen called for a compulsory cooling off period before strikes, and the appointment of an over-all Labor czar, a federal Labor conciliator, who would function independently of the present Labor Department.

In any given dispute, he said, union and management would be required to seek peaceful settlement through negotiation for at least ten days. If they fail to reach an agreement, they would so inform the federal Labor conciliator. The conciliator in turn would call both parties together for 30 days of further negotiating. Then, if there were still no agreement, workers involved in the dispute would vote whether or not to strike, the voting to be open to the rank-and-file employees and to be conducted by secret ballot.

Italian Peace Treaty Signed In Paris Today

Boundary Agreement Is Objected To By Yugoslav Minister; Rome Mourns Loss

PARIS, Feb. 10.—(AP)—The formal signing of the Italian peace treaty took place in a French government building in Paris this morning. The Italian representative signed the treaty without a word and retired. His lips were pressed tightly and he tugged from time to time at his collar.

In contrast, the Yugoslav signatory made a statement protesting the boundary agreement. He said: "Yugoslavia declares with regret that her demands have not been taken into consideration in a satisfying manner."

The historic ceremony began shortly after 11 o'clock this morning when the Italian delegation, led by the Marquis Melfi Lupi Di Soragna, silently and sadly signed the terms imposed on Italy for the crimes of Mussolini and Fascism. The terms which they signed without a word reduced Italy to a third rate power, strip her of her colonies, cut her military forces to a shadow, and levied $30,000,000 in reparations.

The mournful attitude of the Italian delegates reached back into Rome. Signs were wailed at 11 A. M., signaling a 10-minute period of silence. Workers stood idle. Merchants closed their stores. A vast throng gathered in the Piazza Venezia, the same square where Mussolini on June 10, 1940, announced that Italy had entered the war on the side of Germany and Japan. After a brief ceremony, students, (Continued on Page Three)

Police Are Notified Thief Arrested Here Is Wanted In North

When Roy Johnson, Magnolia Avenue restaurant owner, befriended and fed hungry and homeless wanderers, Wilson Raymond Brazie, and gave him a job as a dishwasher in his restaurant, he little suspected that he was harboring an ex-criminal. However, the robbery of $50 from his restaurant a week ago Sunday morning, led him to suspect Brazie, who was arrested on suspicion of robbery by Patrolmen George Smith and J. H. Patterson.

Brazie, upon being questioned by Police Chief Roy G. Williams, admitted the theft, and some of the cash was recovered. The finger of suspicion pointed at Brazie, after he spent money too freely in juke joints.

Today, Police Chief Roy G. Williams revealed that he had received a telegram from J. Edgar Hoover of the Federal Bureau of Investigation to which Brazie's fingerprint description had been sent in which it was stated that Brazie was wanted by the Department of Correction of Albany, New York; that Brazie had been declared delinquent, Oct. 10, 1945, that his criminal record dated back to 1936 and that he had served terms at Sing Sing and at Attica, New York, for both rape and grand larceny. Gazette is being held here pending further notice from New York authorities.

Touhy Predicts Big Crowd For Glider Meet On Mar. 1, 2

Steve Bennis, who with his wife, Virginia, conducts the soaring school at the Municipal Airport, today told Rotarians of thermal conditions necessary for good soaring and predicted that several new soaring records would be broken at the Southeastern States Glider Contest which will be held here on Mar. 1 and 2.

Introduced by George Touhy, Rotary program chairman and manager of the glider meet, who said that twice as big a crowd is anticipated as at the Veterans celebration last year, listed some of the records which have entered the meet. Mr. Bennis described some of the records which they already hold and said that old records "will be broken, for these are the boys who do it."

Paul Tuntland Will Serve On Committee

Paul Tuntland, popular Sanford, airman, has been appointed to one of the standing committees of the CAA Regional Conference and will represent the gliding and soaring interests of the state, it was announced today.

Following Governor Millard Caldwell's invitation to the Soaring Society of America to make Sanford the headquarters for their association, Tuntland together with Wally Wiberg and Melville Swartzberg, surveyed the local airport and pronounced it excellent.

The new committee man has been active in aviation, especially soaring, for many years and is well qualified to assume the responsibilities incident to his work, according to William C. Lazarus, state supervisor of Aviation, who has worked with Tuntland on several phases of air activity.

Tuntland will be contest director, at the forthcoming Southeastern States Glider Contest that will present a competition of soaring champions at the Sanford Municipal airport on Mar. 1 and 2.

Industries In Britain Hit By Coal Shortage

Government Orders Drastic Power Reduction In Order To Alleviate Crisis

LONDON, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Twenty-two million Britons are believed to be affected today by a sudden and drastic government order limiting the use of electricity because of a severe coal shortage. The shortage developed in the midst of one of the coldest winters in the history of the British Isles.

All industries, except a few vital to the public health and welfare, have been halted in all or part of 38 of the 64 counties of England and Wales. It is estimated that at least 4,000,000 persons have been temporarily thrown out of work. Domestic users, including homes, stores, offices and restaurants, have been forbidden to use electricity five hours daily.

Heads of the Laborite government and the Conservative Press joined in appealing to Britons to make this sacrifice in order to avoid a complete breakdown of the nation's economy. Fuel Minister Emmanuel Shinwell told them the crisis may last three or four days—or possibly a full week.

The political repercussions of the British fuel crisis are scheduled to be aired today in the House of Commons when Prime Minister Clement Attlee is expected to review the desperate situation. Former Prime Minister Winston Churchill called a meeting of the so-called "shadow cabinet" of ex-ministers. Presumably, Churchill and his conservative party associates will discuss whether to pick the coal crisis as a situation on which to seek a motion of censure against the Laborite government.

Miss Anita Aiken Withdraws As Local Entrant In Contest

Miss Anita Aiken has withdrawn as Seminole County's "Celery Queen," it was announced here today. Miss Aiken entered the contest through a misunderstanding since she thought the rules stated that anyone could enter the contest who would be 16 years of age this year. Miss Aiken has not yet reached her 16th birthday, and therefore was not eligible for the crown.

Miss Louise Lundquist, sponsored by J. C. Penney & Company, was chosen unanimously as runner up to Miss Aiken as declared the 1947 Celery Queen. Jack Raitgan, Junior Chamber of Commerce president, announced today.

Before the contest last Wednesday night the judges were instructed to submit ballots containing first, second and third selections. Miss Aiken received three votes for first place and Miss Lundquist was chosen for second place.

Celery Crop Reported To Be Showing Good Resistance; Prices Take Jump

Freezing cold, with temperatures officially recorded as low as 29 degrees, descended again on the Sanford region, and yesterday at noon there was a total of about 2 inches of snow on the ground, according to some local citizens. The vegetable situation here is described by U.S. Market News Service as somewhat chaotic as the result of the freeze, but it begins to appear that the biggest local crop, celery, though somewhat battered by freezing winds, is showing good resistance and standing up in the Sanford region. Reports from Oviedo and Zellwood indicate that young celery suffered from lower temperatures than in this lake-bounded region. Cabbage, which had headed up, was slightly damaged by the cold spells, though to what degree it is yet hard to determine. H. G. Behrens, on the west side, reported quite heavy damage from the first freeze to his crop of cabbage. Left over cabbage at the Sanford State Market was in little demand, but some and brought only about $1.25 a bushel, which was up from $1.00 a bushel on the New York market.

It is not that a great deal of careful planning and effort was not necessary while the war was going on, but not in many years, farmers experienced less difficulty in selling their crops at profitable prices.

Now, a year and a half after the war, the situation has changed and it is to the farmer's interest to make corresponding changes when they are necessary for continued profitable operations.

SANFORD FORUM

Sanford Herald Sanford Forum Dear Editor,

Progress is the thing, and how wonderful to have a new hospital, all the space and equipment and room for expansion!

But as I think of the old Fernald Lighthouse on Oak Avenue, I know that so many in Sanford feel as I do, such a friendly place. And the nurses and doctors with always more than they could possibly do...

So many of us went there for our first baby, and the rest of our babies (Just try to get us to go anywhere else!) Those last few days when we were quite comfortable and they would have been justified in "Snuggling us on home"...

I would like, if I could do it, to thank every one personally who has ever been connected with our hospital staff—and wish for the new one, if it is possible, this friendly atmosphere that those in Sanford have taken for granted so many years; only we appreciate it the more of course!

Health Worry Is Usually Needless

There are people who fear to express worry about health. They are called hypochondriacs. The definition of this word is a person morbidly depressed, causally worried or anxious about health.

It is really idle to worry about one's health, for worry, in itself, is debilitating. Unless, too, for only a doctor can diagnose you as to your real state of health.

Every doctor prefers to receive a patient who has what he may deprecatingly refer to as "aches and pains" to one who has "waddled much too long. Aches and pains often disappear under mild treatment. Such prevention has saved countless lives.

See your physician regularly. Accept medication only from a skilled druggist.

AUDREY M. BACH

Miss Sally Magunthi Utopia Junior College

Dearest Sal:

If homework were snow, I'd be isolated for weeks. No joke, the teachers pile it on like frosting on a special-occasion cake. . . . All of the work hanging so low over my weary head is just a delayed reaction caused by going home last week-end. And for the fun I had, I'll gladly stay snow-bound. For another week, at least! . . . You know, I've always said I wanted to see the world, but I've decided how I can modify that statement and stay on campus. You can see (And FIE!) all four seasons in one day, or sample in 24 hours, the climates of any country you desire. . . . It'll be a lovely spring afternoon, sun shining, birds chirping and on and on. . . . Waking the next morning, you find that there are 12-inch icicles frozen around the rim of the Westcott fountain. Later in the morning, the wind begins to blow stray pieces of paper and leaves over the campus—that's fall. And after lunch, you shed mittens, sweater and coat to spend a blazing hot, summer-like afternoon! Our variety really is the spice of life. But my wardrobe isn't going to stand many more "four day" changes! . . . While we're on the subject, I might as well tell you that it's been a LITTLE chilly up here this past week! Chilly enough that some girls who live across the hall froze a pan of Jello, complete with fruit, on the roof ledge outside their window; cool enough for an anxious freshman to worry about the state of warmth of the goldfish in the Westcott pool the day when there were so many icicles. . . . The reward for such humanitarian intentions was that, upon peering a little too closely, she fell into the icy water! . . . To come right down to bare facts (and even they must have needed an extra blanket) it was down right COLD! . . . The last straw to the shivering, goose-bumped gals who trek through Bryan to reach their own dorms through the enclosed arcades was a large lettered sign on the closed doors of Bryan. It boldly stated: "GUESTS ring bell. STUDENTS use side door." And that wasn't all, another such infuriating sign greeted the more studious. . . . On the intelligent looking doors of the library was

The theme is "How Can the United Nations Become a Force for World Understanding?"

... Sounds like this would be a good thought for a lot of people who have long since been above and beyond college, or could they understand? . . . Among those home last weekend were FOOTS BRUMLEY, SHIRLEY EICK, who is "mid-semestering," EARLE JETER, GEORGE SPEER, and TOMMY VAUGHAN and BILLY GRAY earlier in the week. By now, I guess the town is full of University boys. . . . Lucky things! Also saw BOB CALAHAN, BEAUF ROBSON and MARI BROWN who recently left for CHARITY HOSPITAL in New Orleans. League Directors Vote To Continue 1946 Rookie Rule

ORLANDO, Feb. 10 (Special)—The Florida State League directors voted to continue last year's player classification rule, calling for a minimum of four rookie players on each club's roster in the eight club circuit, at a meeting held here last night.

Bill Summers, American League umpire now conducting the Florida State League umpire school in Orlando, reported on the progress at the school and stated that within a week he would be able to select a staff of nine umpires that would meet with the league's requirements.

Summers told the directors that all clubs must cooperate with the umpires this year since the baseball world's eyes would be on the products of the experimental school.

Board Urges Extension Of Security Act

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11. (AP)—Thousands of American farm hands, kitchen maids and government employees rostered today for the Social Security Board, which asked Congress to extend old age pension benefits to workers not now covered.

The board's recommendation was that Social Security benefits be broadened to include all gainfully-employed workers. This would cover the man in business for himself, the farmer and the farm worker, maids, butlers and other domestic help, government employees and workers in non-profit organizations. Such people, an estimated 22,000,000, now have no federal old age protection.

The Social Security Board also urged that the present scale of old-age benefits be increased, especially for low paid workers. Another recommendation was that the annual amount of income which counts toward Social Security benefits be stepped up from $3,000 to $3,600.

The board asked Congress to lower the pension age limit for women from 65 to 60.

Weatherman Says Temperatures Will Be Warmer Tonight

The South showed out today with the "mild" letters and the most prolonged cold spell of the winter and for the first time in a week, the weather man said there is no new cold wave out over the horizon.

The welcome word "warmer" is in the forecast for all southern states but the windy blizzards will still be in their way soon today.

It was colder in Florida this morning than it had been for the past few days, though temperatures elsewhere were up just a few degrees.

There is no estimate yet as to whether citrus and vegetable crops have been damaged further in the winter. Already the loss in citrus sections is estimated at several million dollars.

The prolonged cold spell sent freezing temperatures at San Francisco and Los Angeles to 10 below today.

Members of the effects of the winter on other sections of the nation. An estimated 24,000 workers are temporarily unemployed because of the gas shortage in Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia and Maryland. Industrial plants also have shut down in the St. Louis and Milwaukee areas.

The weatherman said now fell today in the lower Great Lakes Region and in New York and Pennsylvania. Light rains and fair weather prevailed in other sections.

When exchange markets opened in Shanghai today, one American dollar was worth 13,500 Chinese dollars. When the markets closed, the exchange rate was 18,500 to one, a drop of 3,000.

This was the third straight day that the Chinese dollar fell in value, and it made Shanghai a city of complete economic confusion. Prices soared when the news of the currency crash reached other cities.
