

Reds Beat Cocoa, 5 To 4, To Claim Edge During Series

Strickland Loses As Mates Err Behind Him In 6th Frame

DELAND, Oct. 11. The Deland Reds increased their edge in the Central Florida League's post-season series on Wednesday yesterday taking the fifth game from Cocoa, 5 to 4. The Reds hunched all 9 of them into two innings and were aided by Indian errors in the scoring.

Fisher, pitching with a sore arm, gave up nine hits to Cocoa before he was knocked in the eighth and was relieved by Porter. The Indians tapped a rally in that frame and threatened to take the game before a fact double play stopped the scoring.

Cocoa made two in the third off two doubles and a single, but the Reds tied the count in their half of the frame. Four consecutive singles off Strickland combined with two Indian errors gave Deland three runs in the sixth.

In the eighth, Calcutt reached first on an error and George walked. English, by Smith and Norwood scored the two leading runs, with only one more needed to win. Calcutt scored on a throw in from the outfield and the Indians held their lead.

JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Girls' Athletics: During the past school week, the regular schedule of play in the Seventh and Eighth Grades has been carried out for the girls. Play has now progressed through four weeks of school. This coming week is tournament week in volleyball for the girls. This tournament has been arranged for play between four Seventh Grade teams and four teams of the Eighth Grade.

The team captains will choose numbers which indicate the opposing team. Every team will have, therefore, played against every team, and the team that wins the most games will be declared the winner. In this year a number of games, non-second and third place will be determined.

The Athletic Department is in a position this year to award a trophy to the winning team with an attractive award, the nature of which will be held secret until the tournament is completed. The captains should urge each member of their team to play her best so as to win these awards.

Tournament Team

Number 1
Peggy Hoodless, captain, Elizabeth Kelly, Estelle Hart, Mary Lynn Brown, Jane Schultz, Mary Frances Wells, Willie Mae Brown and Carolyn Dierck.

Number 2

Captains of the teams will be made up of the following: team play. The most important of the most games within the tournament play will be declared. The tournament will consist of the second and third place games.

dividual awards will be given players of the winning teams. The teams with their captains will be arranged and the schedule will be placed on the bulletin board in Monday of the coming week.

Special News Item
The boys and girls of the Sox with an Eighth Grade have developed numerous excellent players in volleyball. In order to give these players some added competition the faculty headed by Principal Moore has agreed to organize a team in volleyball to play a series of games with the best players chosen from the student body and from the faculty, a hotly fought series is predicted.

Sports Briefs
Some of the Wildcats are getting to be better players than the captain of the team. What's the matter Carolyn Dierck? Her suggestion that Meta Cook, Agnes Brinkley, and Helen (Habe) take an active interest in golf instead of spending all their time "taking it easy" with Wilson Horn and a few other boys.

How many of the girls on Team No. 1 of the Seventh Grade have been busy cleaning up after school? Show those parents that stay awake. Mrs. English's "winter apparel" kept her from some of volleyball ball but we hope Carolyn Schultz will have much to say on this matter. Joseph Moss Tatchek is small, the school lets a ball pass by it high in the air. Jane Lloyd is likely to be a "top" player. If you get all the time Jane? Have you ever seen it when some "pop" him on the ball with the volleyball? If all your head is much the same as Jane's? It happened today. Some "stunties" made a point to make a ball pass the other side of the net. What? If the ball is tall enough to make a good and of any team. Football game, watch out Webster and Coach McLucas will be very busy upon his team.

County Will Give $500 For Sanford Armory Project

Other Sources Must Obtain Additional Funds If Required

On condition that any other funds be required to insure the early erection of a new state armory should be raised through other sources, the Board of County Commissioners yesterday morning voted to donate $500 toward the project.

The commission acted on the matter after a discussion with their attorney, E. F. Housholder, and George A. Heston and Harold A. Washburn of the Sanford National Guard unit.

The $500 donation is a portion of the sponsor's earlier promise of assistance for the project, but it is done on condition that the project is assured and that plans be completed.

The commissioners also voted to hold up the recommendation of any person to the Veterans State as inspector of trucks and trucks in this county, and the request was made that a conference be held with Joe Cannon and Harvey Beck before final action is taken on the matter.

Mrs. Esther Robins was given authority as director of the Semple of Santa W. H. H. Board to transport Carrie Oliver to the State Hospital for the Insane at Chattahoochee, and $12 was ordered paid to Annie Butler, who has been nursing the Oliver woman. Sheriff J. E. McLeod was given authority to provide for all charges in the same situation.

The commissioners voted to make a loan of the Court House available for the use of Executive Board of the Interstate Commerce Commission which has authorized a special fund for the purpose of the project.

At a 10:15 meeting the Board of Commissioners voted to authorize a preliminary meeting of the project of the county, to be held on both the 11th and 12th.

Veterans Lost On Keys Could Have Escaped

Enough Idle Trucks To Have Effectuated Rescue, Witness Tells Committee

KEY WEST, Oct. 12 (AP)—The American Legion investigating committee today was told that disaster overtook World War veterans prepared to evacuate the hurricane-threatened Florida keys while enough trucks to carry all to safety stood idle at federal camps.

Arthur Brown, formerly of New York, who served as time keeper at Rehabilitation Camp No. Three on Lower Matecumbe where 90 of 242 veterans were camped there, said the veterans were ready to leave as early as 2:00 P. M. Sept. 2. Emergency mobilization orders went out early in the morning of the day the storm struck, killing over 100 residents of the keys, and that they were ready to board the train for Miami, Brown explained.

He told his story to a committee appointed at the recent Legion convention in St. Louis to investigate the death of more than 300 veterans in the hurricane.

The League of Nations is a little nervous about applying sanctions to Italy. Its kind, like applying sanctions to a rattlesnake while he is having an argument with a neighbor.

We wonder in the attitude of the entire Roosevelt family toward the ally who was indicted the other day what two of the younger members have their automobile in a freight train and knocked one of the cars clear off the tracks.

The Ocala Star accuses the Miami Rotary Club of "weak moments" and "low ethical standards" for adopting a resolution opposing the cross-state canal.

A great argument rages throughout the country as to whether the unemployed are better off now than they were two years ago. Some contend they are because they are receiving more in sales and relief work than they were then.

The Hearst interests, which at one time were represented by 126 corporations with 250 bank accounts (now by 90 corporations), are now on the threshold of reorganization.

The nucleus will be (Fortune predicts) Hearst Enterprises, Inc., Bertram B. Meek, executive vice-president ($500,000 a year), which now acts as a private bank for Hearst corporations, clearing $440,000 a day.

A Face-Saving Deal

While the League of Nations goes steadily ahead with its efforts to put a stop to the war by imposing penalties against the aggressor, and every step which the League makes is carefully recorded in the newspapers where everyone in the world may see, many secret deals are being negotiated on the side between the various European powers.

There is one report that Italy has made a deal to help Germany against France (if and when...) if Germany will supply Italy with credit, munitions, and other necessities in the present emergency.

Perhaps the most interesting "deal" now under negotiations, according to the reports, is one which involves all of the members of the League of Nations but which is being carried on outside of the League of Nations.

(1) Italy to hold her conquest of Ethiopia within moderate limits and in no case to attack the region of Lake Tana where the British Empire has vital interests; (2) Italy to endure without armed retort economic and financial sanctions which the League of Nations must impose or utterly lost face; (3) France and Britain to block the League from voting military or naval sanctions and participate in an "open door" exploitation of Ethiopia in their spheres of influence; (4) mutual understanding that there will be cheating all round on the "economic sanctions."

The deal: secret personal communications between Dictator Benito Mussolini and British Foreign Secretary Sir Samuel Hoare were acknowledged to have taken place. It is said that the deal would be consummated, for all human endeavor is fallible, and with the heaviest naval concentration since Jutland jamming the Mediterranean this week, the fate of Europe was clearly at the mercy of an incident.

The Hearst Kingdom

One of the richest men in America is William Randolph Hearst. And he made his money, strange as that may seem, in the newspaper business.

Recently the Fortune Magazine conducted an exhaustive study into Mr. Hearst's wealth, and probably discovered more about it than even Mr. Hearst himself had previously known.

The first, mines—Home-take in South Dakota, 51,000 shares of Cerro de Pasco in Peru, and the lion's share of (Gannett) and San Louis (gold and silver) in Mexico. Total worth, $15,000,000.

The second, newspapers. 28 of them, "the biggest pile of newspapers in the world, three of which are nominally held by others" with a total circulation on weekdays of 5,500,000 and 7,000,000 on Sundays. "They do over $100,000,000 worth of business a year," says Fortune, "and they are worth about $90,000,000 as they stand."

The third, magazines. In 1903 Hearst ran across the English publication, The Car, and in a few months started his first magazine, Motor. Since then 12 others have been added, including four British ones, making Mr. Hearst one of the ranking magazine publishers in the world.

The fourth, a miscellany including King Features (worth $8,000,000); Cosmopolitan Productions ($3,000,000); one-half interest in Hearst-Metrotone News ($1,000,000); eight radio stations ($2,000,000).

The fifth, real estate. The Babicora ranch in Mexico, 900,000 acres (roughly, 1,400 square miles); San Simeon in California, 270,000 acres; $41,000,000 worth of New York real estate, second only to Vincent Astor, who is credited with owning $43,000,000 of New York property. Total value of Hearst real estate, including a castle in Wales, $56,000,000.

The sixth, personal belongings under the head of art objects and antiques, which Mr. Hearst since his youth has been collecting, earning him the title of the world's No. 1 collector; value (estimated) $20,000,000.

Altogether W. R. Hearst is worth $220,000,000. owns 28 newspapers, 13 magazines, 8 radio stations, 2 moving picture companies, $41,000,000 worth of New York real estate, 14,000 shares of Homestake, richest gold mine in the United States, valued, with his other mine holdings, at $15,000,000, and 2,000,000 acres of land.

Due to the insistence of John Francis Neelan, Hearst attorney, Mr. Hearst began setting his jerrybuilt financial house in order in 1925, and as a result his corporations weathered the depression with flying colors "without defaulting on a bond or a mortgage or a dividend where the public was concerned. Mr. Hearst, who has had the reputation of being a big borrower is shown never since 1925 to have owed banks more than $2,000,000 and at the present time owes "the microscopic sum of $100,000."

The Hearst interests, which at one time were represented by 126 corporations with 250 bank accounts (now by 90 corporations), are now on the threshold of reorganization. The entire financial setup will be simplified due to high corporation taxes, and perhaps three corporations will merge with the others subordinated to departments.

The nucleus will be (Fortune predicts) Hearst Enterprises, Inc., Bertram B. Meek, executive vice-president ($500,000 a year), which now acts as a private bank for Hearst corporations, clearing $440,000 a day. Debts of one Hearst company to another, say a paper or feature bill, are canceled out as far as possible and loans are made to those subsidiaries which require them.

JUST BETWEEN FRIENDS

By GEORGE GARNER

One stands on his front piazza early in the morning and watches the birds, out for the toothsome early worm. A magnificent red bird swings on a crepe myrtle bush and displays a fashion in color and tailing impossible of reproduction by man. One miniature hummingbird reappears and flutters with certain red flowers in the shrubbery, buzzing a lilt which even Franz Schubert never could imagine. A perky bluejay alights on the bottom step and winks his left eye at one in mischievous manner, verging on devilish intimacy.

On the other hand, one reads a book review of "Golden Apples," by the author of "South Moon Under," both of which novels, it appears, treat of a certain stratum of life in Florida. I have not read either, and have no such intention; but, from the reviews, I gather that they find Florida the spot of which the poet says, "Where every prospect pleases, and only man is vile."

And there is another fallacy which unthinking persons accept. Man is not "vile" individuals may be disobedient, or intemperate, or dishonest, or unthinking. Each one and all of these are comprehended in the one attribute, Dumbness. But, no man or woman is vile, nor can he really vile with the touch of divinity in his soul.

So, one suggests that in picturing Florida novellists describe the real Florida as it is, and the real people who populate it. Why paint mud, when one can paint a glorious sunset? Why emphasize the weeds and ignore the beautiful foliage? Not even in history enriched by imaginative descriptions of an unfortunate generation working its way to higher goals. Better acclaim a people who have pulled themselves out of the mire than to recall their sad condition while they still were covered with the mud.

Businessmen verging on restiveness develop among active, hard-working individuals in the Fifth Congressional district over the coincidence of the party officials in each of the 12 counties and the district as a whole. Belief is spreading that the Republicans can select a member of the national House from this district, and the militants are charging under an indicated lack of interest among the leaders.

Some idea of whether hope is rather to this belief or there is a real foundation for it may be gathered from the figures in the presidential election of 1932. Approximately, Roosevelt beat Hoover in the various counties by the following ratios: St. Johns, 8 to 3; Putnam, 11 to 4; Flagler, 5 to 1; Marion, 5 to 1; Lake, 5 to 1; Sumter, 8 to 1; Citrus, 11 to 1; Orange, 4 to 3; Osceola, 2 to 1; Brevard, 7 to 1; Seminole, 7 to 3; Volusia, 3 to 2. That there has been a tremendous change in sentiment since that election, there can be no question. According to substantial Democrats in Orange County, that county, which now could give a Republican majority to Congress or for President, Democratic disaffection is said by Democrats to be widespread. In consideration that the New Dealers and the congressmen who surren-

From the Supreme Court of Florida comes the dictum that "probably no greater cruelty can be inflicted upon a man than that by a contentious, unreasonable and nagging woman." Chief Justice Rivers Buford wrote the opinion and the other justices concurred. It was rendered in an appeal on a lower court divorce action and, though the Supreme Court upheld the granting of a divorce to the husband, it reversed the award of permanent alimony to the wife. With work that probably constitutes a classic, Justice Buford went to the heart of the matter, even putting on record his disapproval of that ancient wifely practice of arousing a husband from sleep at all hours of the night "to charge him with various sins of omission and commission."

SANFORD TWENTY YEARS AGO

Little Minnie Beck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Barney Beck, while picking guavas at the home of her grandfather, A. F. Westerdick, was bitten by a rattlesnake on her foot. It was a very close call and for several days she lay in a very critical condition, but their many friends are glad to know that she is slowly recovering, under the skillful treatment of Dr. Neal.

The funeral of James Harrison took place from the old home at Barberville last Friday and was attended by many of his friends in Seminole and Volusia counties. Those attending from here were: Mr. and Mrs. A. U. Mahoney, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Boyd, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Beck, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Miss Daisy Beck, A. E. Key, W. L. Trice, Herman Harrison, E. E. C. Ed. Brown, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kelly. The Rev. George Brown of this city preached the funeral service. A. D. Durrant presided.

World-Wide Red Cross Force Is Ready To Help Victims Of War In Ethiopia

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—(AP)—Battalions of merry, enlisted men throughout the world under a common, international banner, come to "attention" as they see the war dogs of death and devastation on the loose again.

The American Red Cross and Red Cross societies in some 60 other neutral nations await word from the international committee of the humanitarian organization as to possible assistance they may be called on to give in alleviating suffering caused by Italo-Ethiopian warfare.

The American Red Cross, says the death-defying service of whose nurses, stretcher bearers, ambulance drivers and canvas workers was a World War classic of courage—is so organized that its full resources in time of war are available only when the United States is a party to the conflict.

Maintenance of strict neutrality causes a limitation of its activity in wars in which this country is not a participant. Consequently, the organization has made no appeal for funds or supplies and has taken no definite preparatory action in relation to Italo-Ethiopian hostilities.

Admiral Cary T. Grayson, head of the American Red Cross, says "constant communication is being maintained with the international committee at Geneva so that the society may have the best information and advice as to the action to be taken." A similar situation is said to prevail in other neutral countries.

Italy has a Red Cross society described as a "well established and highly efficient organization" with considerable experience obtained in disaster relief work. Ethiopia recently started to organize a Red Cross society of its own. Sixty-two nations have societies affiliated with the international Red Cross, the first society being founded by Swiss philanthropists in the middle of the nineteenth century.

While service of the "world's good goddess" may be curtailed to some extent by the remoteness of the East African war zone from large supply centers, the multiple activities of the Red Cross in the World War indicate its potentially tremendous range of relief work.

Houston's Report On Texas Battle Found

DALLAS, Tex., Oct. 12.—Discovery of an old, almost forgotten, report on the Texas battle found in the files of the General Land Office, an account of the New Mexico battle.
The 99-year-old document was found in the New Mexico office. It was unearthed among the corporate records and files of the newspaper company which for data on the earliest history of the publishing institution.
The document, just discovered, is addressed to the Land Office advertiser, a London News, Orleans journal favorable to the cause of Texas freedom. It probably was delivered to that newspaper by the Texas general land office as early as 1836, and is the earliest possible copy of the document in the files of the General Land Office.

Names Of Wars Show First Nation Is Loser

DALLAS, Tex., Oct. 12.—(AP)—Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia might find comfort in reading history, says Dr. H. A. Trexler, professor of history at Southern Methodist University here.
"In every modern war between two countries," says the professor, "the nation given first place in the naming of the conflict has lost. There is no exception."
The trouble in Africa has been designated as "Italo-Ethiopian," Dr. Trexler pointed out, and then recalled the results of recent two-country wars.
The Austrians lost the Austro-Prussian War of 1866. France lost the Franco-Prussian conflict of 1870-71. The Chinese were on the losing side in the Sino-Japanese War in 1894-95. Spain was defeated in the Spanish-American War in 1898-99. The Russians accepted the demands of Japan following the Russo-Japanese War of 1905-06. Turkey was defeated in the Turko-Italian conflict of 1911-12.

Orange Court House Is Eight Years Old

ORLANDO, Oct. 12.—Orange county's million dollar court house is eight years old today. It was dedicated Wednesday, Oct. 12, 1927, with impressive ceremonies.
Few officials who moved in from the old court house are now employed by the county. Judge Frank A. Smith, of the ninth district; County Judge Victor Hutchins and Arthur Butt, tax assessor, are the only ones holding the same position as at the time of the change.
Wilbur Tilden, then judge of criminal court of record, is now county attorney. Judge William M. Murphy of criminal court was then county solicitor.
A number of employees are still on hand, however.

The Dirt Gardeners Circle of the Garden Club of Sanford met Friday morning at 9:30 A. M. at the home of Mrs. W. A. Fitts in Mayfair with Mrs. E. D. Rinehart, new chairman, in charge of the business session.
The meeting opened with the reading of the following poem written by Mrs. Mame J. Herrera:
"I have a little spade
In the town of Sanford it was made
I have a rake, a fork, a hoe
And into my garden we all go
We dig some rows—we plant some seeds
Pull out the grass—pull out the weeds
We dig and hoe among the flowers
Not a weary minute but happy hours
God sends his sunshine and his rain
Then into my soul there comes this gain—
The loveliness of a garden."
Reports were heard from the conservation plant material and distillation, junior garden, beautification, other committees and plans were made for a Japanese sale in the near future.
Mrs. E. R. Dana explained the list of annuals for Florida compiled by Mrs. Rinehart for the year book after which other members discussed when and how to plant these annuals in order to secure best results.

Advance Test Of New Laws Wanted By Gov. Hoffman

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Governor Harold G. Hoffman of New Jersey said here that the passage of his proposed amendment to the Constitution, providing for a Supreme Court test for every federal bill before it could become a law, would prevent the enactment of the "uncertain whims" of President Roosevelt.
Referring to the President's declaration that the Constitution was a relic of the horse and buggy era, Governor Hoffman said on Republican Radio in a speech the challenge and meet modern conditions by supporting the adoption of the amendment. His proposal was contained in an open letter to Henry P. Fletcher, chairman of the Republican national committee.
"Should not sit back and wait for the President to announce his advocacy of an amendment making constitutional that part of the program which has been declared unconstitutional," he said. "That would provide the enemy with all the ammunition."

Roosevelt's Farm Program Shapes Up As Major Issue In Party Strategy For '36

By BYRON PRICE
WASHINGTON, Oct. 12. — Possibilities of an extraordinary scope are seen by the practical politicians in the developing debate over the Roosevelt farm program.

For one thing, the issue has a geographical aspect which is certain to play a major, if not a determining, part in party strategy next year. No other factor contributes quite so much to the growing conviction that the Democrats will make their principal appeal to the West, the Republicans to the East.

Secondly, there is the constitutional question. It so happens that public speculation about the forthcoming session of the Supreme Court centers largely around the cases contesting the validity of AAA. If the court throws out the processing tax, then what?

Administration officials will not answer that question categorically. But there are signs that AAA under an adverse court decision except by a constitutional amendment.

Whether they would feel the pulling power of the farm benefits great enough to warrant advocacy of constitutional change must await the event; but all logic indicates at this stage that if an amendment is to be proposed, at all, the farm issue will be its vehicle.

The unique character of the issue becomes apparent only when the present situation is compared with that of other campaign years.

In past times farm relief has come in for much political discussion, but the interest has centered largely in the farm states, and much of the debate has been academic. Now the voters will be considering an established policy, not a theory, and the interest is nationwide.

On the one hand is the exceptional circumstance that the farm belt is receiving its payments regularly from AAA, a factor which no one would undertake to discount in any election. On the other hand is the exceptionally bitter resentment which these payments have aroused among some consumers, and among many manufacturers who have to pay the processing tax.

The whole situation has such a compelling element about it that it is no wonder politicians are asking: Can either party hope to carry the agricultural West without being for AAA and an either party hope to carry the industrial East without being against AAA?

The cause for Republican worry is plain, since concededly that party must have some Western states if it is to win the election.

It should not be supposed, however, that all of the anxiety is on the Republican side.

Revered votes do not grow thickly over the West; simple mathematics demonstrates the hazard of trying to elect Mr. Roosevelt without any Eastern help, at all. Moreover, some of the large Eastern cities long have been Democratic strongholds. Is this advantage simply to be abandoned?

Internally, too, the AAA has many worries. The increase in food imports is not calculated to stir enthusiasm in the farm country and Administration officials just now are nursing several separate headaches arising over wheat, corn and potatoes.

The biggest worry, of course, is the Supreme Court. What might happen on the farm if AAA were held unconstitutional and the Republicans countered with some sort of export bounty proposal?

The problem is too heavily laden with alternatives to permit the politicians to agree on any definite conclusions. It is safe to say, however, that on other issues is receiving more careful study in either camp.

Bonus Action Is Considered Sure In Campaign Year

By HERBERT PLUMMER
WASHINGTON, Oct. 12. — Politicians in Washington who watched President Roosevelt's Western trip from the time he boarded the train at the union station here until he embarked on U. S. S. Houston were struck by two things:

First, Mr. Roosevelt, as he got farther and farther West, gained confidence. In his speech at Fremont, Neb., he seemed to be feeling his way; but at San Diego there was a decided note of old-time exuberance in his tone.

And, second, with budget statements and the like, the astute manner in which he avoided one of the most pressing and ticklish problems of the moment—the soldiers' bonus.

There was much said under cover in Washington as to why Mr. Roosevelt delayed his trip West until the American Legion convention in St. Louis was over. The real explanation can be provided only by F. D. R. himself.

Some idea, however, as to how the politicians and others politically minded in the capital think on the subject may be had in a statement made by Senator Thomas of Oklahoma in New York just before he left for the West to attend a silver conference at Salt Lake City.

"Next year is a campaign year. There is a bloc of 4,000,000 soldiers to be dealt with, and just applying political psychology you can figure there is no power under Heaven that can defeat the bonus bill. Mr. Roosevelt may veto it in order to let it be passed over his veto to save his face. But a bill will be enacted—either to raise the bonus money with bonds or to print new currency."

Mr. Roosevelt's silence on the bonus from Washington to San Diego may mean:

(1) He is convinced recovery is here, and that the federal government is about to reach the place where it can at least take the first steps toward the goal of curtailing emergency expenditures. That being true, there is no need for spending two billion dollars or more to pay the bonus.

(2) It was good politics. The Republicans from Henry D. Fletcher, chairman of the Republican national committee, on down the line have been crying incessantly that we must "balance the budget." G. O. P. has ambitions in '36 just as have the Democrats. Payment of the veterans' bonus requiring an outlay of two billions would make it difficult to balance any kind of a budget.

Mr. Roosevelt knows the facts probably, has suspicions the Republicans know it, too, with the cash count on the Republican line to abide with whatever decision he might make in the market.

People In Every Station Of Life Coming To State

JACKSONVILLE, Oct. 12. — People from every station of life, from the poorest to the wealthiest, are expected to flock to the state fair, opening tomorrow at Jacksonville. The fair, which is the largest in the state, is being held at the fair grounds, which are located on the east side of the city. The fair is expected to attract a large number of people from all over the state, and it is expected to be a great success.

Florida invited the first of this group, but it seems that the business of the uninitiated people, are going to present a problem to the state this winter that cannot be solved by the usual methods. The fair is expected to attract a large number of people from all over the state, and it is expected to be a great success.

Some communities, the report disclosed, are fully equipped for the necessities of the problem, but it was also pointed out that in some cases, the necessary equipment is not available.

Hudson reported that between 1934 and 1935, the number of passengers carried by the airlines increased by 100,000. This is a record for the industry, and it is expected to continue in the future.

Think two things: first, the volume of the problem could come through private agencies, and secondly, the fact that these agencies were already working on the problem.

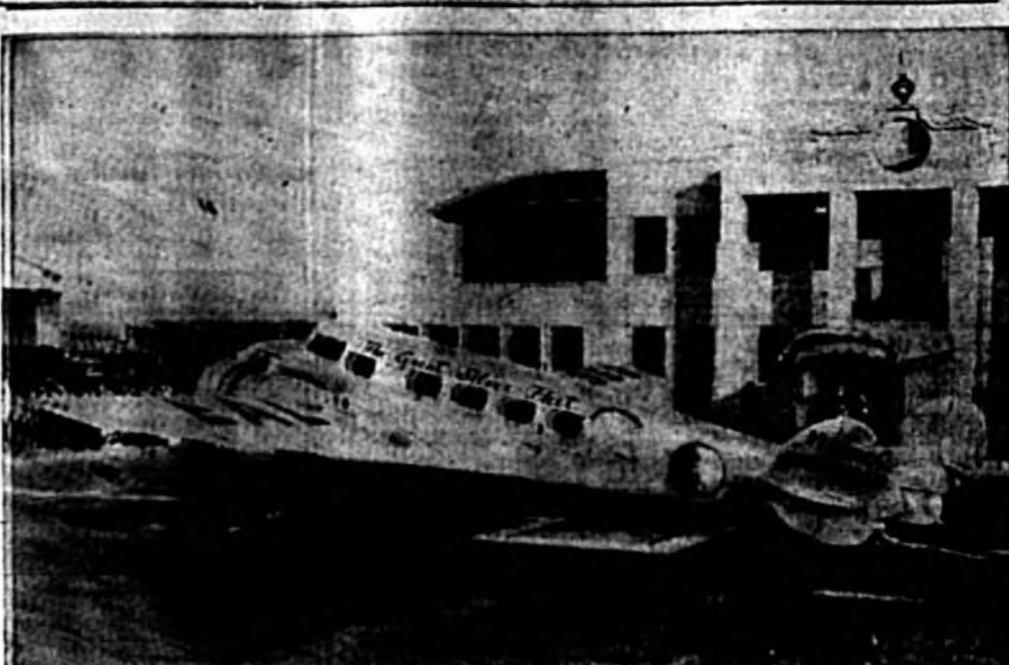

Hudson's report indicates that the airlines are carrying more passengers than ever before, and this is a great achievement for the industry.

Men, however, do not want to be "killed" by the typical "killed" man, they are not "killed" by the typical "killed" man, they are not "killed" by the typical "killed" man.

Air Traffic Soaring To New Record, Flights By 404,000 In Seven Months

Passenger Traffic Totals Close To Mark For All Of Last Year—85,193 In July Set New All-Time Monthly Record

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12. — (AP) The West Coast and in Florida. In 1929 the number had jumped to 100,000.

Transportation of express over the scheduled air lines began about the time contract air mail service was started but the volume moved in 1925 amounted to only 2,565 pounds. In June of this year domestic lines carried 330,970 pounds of express, which established a new monthly record.

Since 1,706,000 pounds were transported in the first seven months of 1935, as compared with 2,123,000 of all of 1934 which was a record-breaker, another new yearly record is in prospect.

From the standpoint of passenger miles flown the air lines set a new high mark in July for the fifth consecutive month. Passenger miles (one passenger flown one mile) in that month were 34,940,000. These monthly figures cover all domestic lines, but do not include extensions to foreign countries.

BOMB ATTACK STARTS IL BUCI'S CONQUEST

At the time Italian troops, armed to the teeth, are shown pushing on to the front. The map below shows the front of Adawa where the Italian bombs were said to have killed women and children. Most designated is the Mount Mekele territory, where Ethiopian and Italian troops were concentrating. Supreme Court Will Rule On AAA And TVA

Constitutionality Of Vital "New Deal" Measures Will Be Decided By Bench

Will Not Review The Mooney Case

Celebrated Prisoner Must First Exhaust California Rights

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—(AP)—The U. S. Supreme Court agreed today to pass on the constitutionality of two vital New Deal measures—the AAA and TVA acts. Proclaimed by New Dealers as the most important phase of the recovery program, the AAA, or Agricultural Adjustment Administration, seeks to restrict agricultural production and collect from processors and other middle men processing taxes which are turned over to the farmers as special farm benefits. The TVA, or Tennessee Valley Authority has been characterized by the Administration as a present yardstick for the measuring of electric rates throughout the South. It has brought to its present high state of development the Muscle Shoals project and the electrification of the Tennessee Valley, but is seen by public utility executives as the first step in the complete socialization of their industry.

It refused, however, to review the conviction of Thomas J. Mooney, serving a life sentence in San Quentin Penitentiary for complicity in the 1916 Preparedness Day parade bombing. The controversy is now pending before the California Supreme Court on his application for a writ of habeas corpus. The high court here said at its last term it could not pass on the case until Mooney has exhausted his rights in state tribunals.

"Burning Grain" Charge Answered By AAA Official

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—(AP)—The AAA officials have been responsible for the burning of grain, both wheat and oats, Charles C. Davis, Agricultural Adjustment administrator, in a letter to "The Northwestern Miller and American Baker" said that grain burning began long before AAA was established. Asserting there were only two specific instances, one in Missouri and one in Kansas in which farmers, urged to cut their grain as a result of excess allowances, had let it ripen and then burned it, Administrator Davis recalled the years of 1930-31-32 when farmers burned corn as fuel because of the low price. The practice, he said, was "as far back as 1920." "Isolated and staged instances of destruction will not fool the farmer," he said. "The farmer now has more money to spend for city goods. The farmer has ended the grain-burning era."

Aksum Falls Without Shot In Defense; Governor Submits Invaders Forge A 70-Mile Line

Capture Of Aksum Is Looked Upon As Of Great Importance

By The Associated Press. Aksum, ancient sacred city of Ethiopia, has fallen before the heavily fortified marching of Premier Mussolini's troops. Without firing a shot, Italy's Northern Army, decimated to the task of establishing a new regime in Northern Ethiopia, yesterday won the city, reputed to have once been the capital of the Queen of Sheba when the Dorse or Gorse, submitted to General Marignano at Aksum.

The capture of Aksum was significant from a military and political standpoint. The 1,000- to 1,500-mile-long of the Northern Ethiopian front from Addis Ababa to the city by way of Aksum. As reports from Addis Ababa, described the march of Italian Ethiopian warriors to the south-western Ethiopian Province toward what may prove to be the first major battle of the East-African War, the League of Nations Committee of Enquiry on violations of the League will be put over, however, until further measures have at least been tried out to cut short Italy's warfare in Ethiopia. British and French delegates arrived at the decision to lay financial sanctions will be comprised of loan and credit measures calculated to raise $500 million uncollectible treasury.
