House Votes 50-41 To Increase Cabinet Salaries By $2500

Funds For Civil Defense Are Refused

TALLAHASSEE.—A proposal by Sen. Branch, Tampa, to increase Florida's maximum old age assistance from $35 today drew a chilly reception from the Senate Welfare Committee. The committee did not act on the bill, but agreed to be sent for study to the appropriations group, which Sen. Gaudier, Miami, said "certainly would not vote it out."

TALLAHASSEE.—Both House and Senate today showed a tendency to hold back against efforts to increase spending authorizations beyond the record recommendations of their appropriations committees. The House, after long debate, even refused to go all the way with its Appropriations Committee proposal to raise salaries of State Cabinet members from $10,000 to $15,000 a year. It voted 50-41 to allow them $12,500.

Senators backed up their Appropriations Committee in refusing to give any vote for civilian defense. They voted down an amendment by Sen. Rodgers, Winter Garden, to authorize a $150,000 civil defense appropriation.

The Senate speedily approved its committee recommendations on the first 11 items of the big $44 million dollar bill. The Senate also refused to accept an amendment by Sen. Morrow, Lake Worth, to add $307,000 to the three million dollar first school textbook fund proposed by the committee. Morrow said the extra money was needed to give every pupil adequate textbooks.

Senators broke off their consideration of the bill for lunch just before reaching perhaps the most controversial item in the measure—how much should be allowed for school teachers' pay increases.

The Senate committee proposed a $350 annual pay cut. The teachers want $200. The House bill contains a $300 increase. The House argument over cabinet officers' salaries showed down here by their consideration of the bill from that side of the Capitol. The representatives got through the first five items.

An attempt by Rep. Hathaway, Canfield, to punish State Beverage Director Sam Davis with a 1500 a year salary cut for complaints about legislators putting pressure on him for patronage was defeated by a voice vote.

The cabinet salary test came on the budget of the first cabinet of fiercer to be brought up for consideration. Rep. Campbell Oklawaha County, offered an amendment to the bill proposed by the House Appropriations Committee which would reduce the salary of the attorney general at his present sum and indicated he would do the same for other cabinet officers.

Reps. Cobb, Gaines, and Will-Ham, Seminole, immediately rose to defend the pay raise which was recommended by Gov. McCarty. Cobb said "in three days and time $100 is not a lot of money for a responsible job."

At the outset of the House debate, Chairman Moody of the Appropriations Committee supported the bill his group has worked on for months and voted no appropriations beyond the $12 million general bill and a five million dollar sum for a University of Florida medical school which the committee also recommended.

Although the medical school measure is a separate bill, Moody said the committee asked for its consideration at the same time because 71 of the 95 house members were the co-sponsors. It has been passed by the Senate.

The Appropriations chairman said if House members felt they (Continued On Page Four)

Junior Chamber Is Told About "Kids County"

Warren Goodrich, Bradenton one of the two candidates in the primary election for the Junior Chamber of Commerce presidential race, will speak to the local Jaycee meeting next week. It was announced at the Junior Chamber meeting last night by President Doug McStratton.

Each of the two candidates in the Florida Jaycee presidential primary election will make his speech to the local group which is still uncommitted as to the two candidates.

The Florida Jaycee convention begins next Thursday, Apr. 30 and will last until May 3. The annual election of state officers and president will be conducted during the convention. Judge Stenstrom pointed out.

During today's business session, Judge Stenstrom urged all Jaycees to support the Cancer Drive this evening with its "Lights On" benefit-auction collections.

At the office today, a copy of the "Kids County" project with Gordon Frederic, reported that the first step in the program is to make a successful conclusion of the Lyman and Oviedo High Schools' election. Mr. Hutchison said, "Oviedo and Lyman have held their registration, post-convention and staged 'high elections' of an entire slate of officers for every county office. Only Seminole High School has not completed its election. They are scheduled to hold the balloting next Thursday."

All the office boys in each school will take their respective offices for one day at the Court House.

"Following this was Judge Stenstrom's idea and he is the driving force behind it. As far as we know, the project is a 'Kids County' project. We have to expand it on a state-wide basis next year with the Florida Jaycee sponsoring it. It is a very important project, a nation-wide Junior Chamber project which might rival the American Legion's 'Boys State' project."

Mr. Hutchison said that the purpose of "Kids County" is to orient all school children in the proper functions of all the various local government offices and explain the functions of conventions and other political machinery while helping them learn the registration requirements for voting.

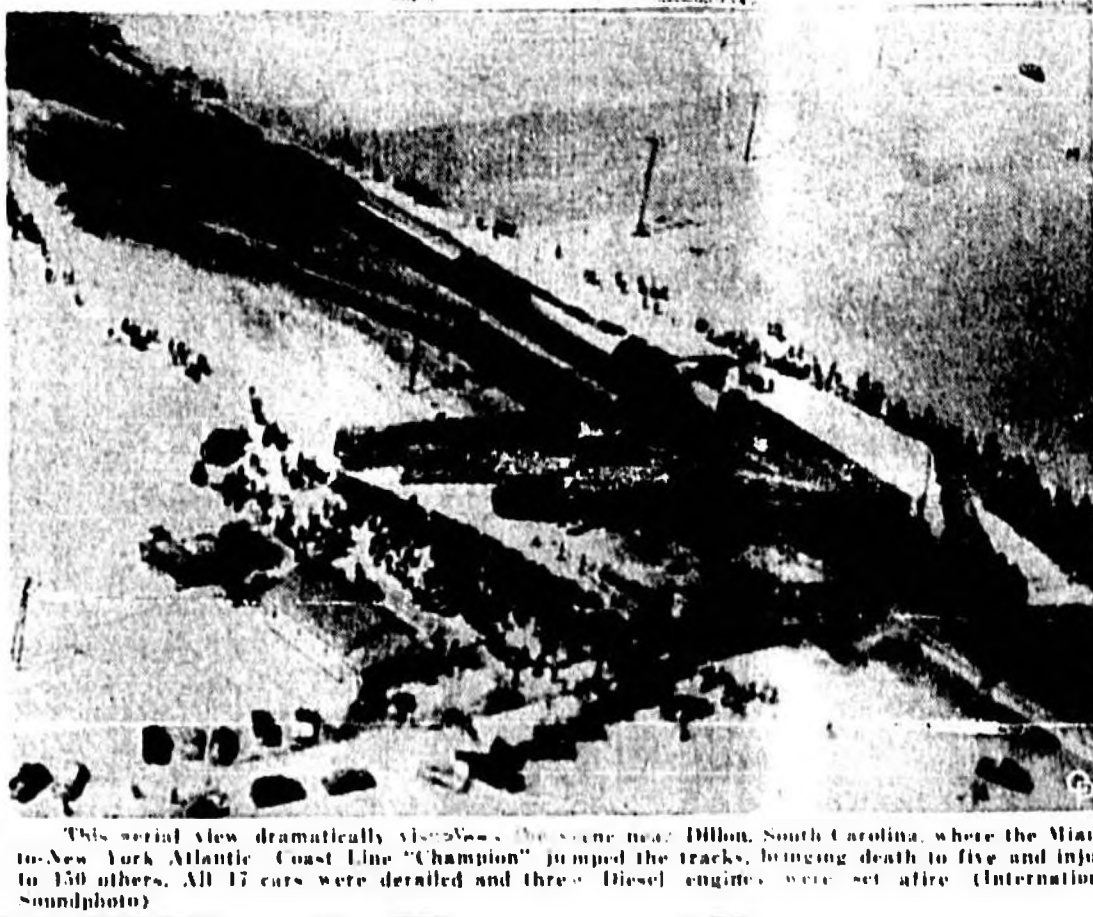

"We have received several good suggestions for next year," he added. "The schools definitely feel this should be an annual event and all should be conducted in the same manner. The local elections are being staged. This of course, will create more interest in the elections by the adult citizens voting in their elections too."

On the May 7 program, the Junior Chamber will sponsor the sheet x-ray contest with a kick-off luncheon meeting. Judge Stenstrom reported. The mobile x-ray will be in Seminole County to give free chest x-rays of every citizen of the county during the May 7 to May 23 period.

Cliff Ables, president-elect and chairman of the sheet x-ray contest, reported that over 400 x-rays were supplied with the tapes by the local club.

The Junior Chamber is progressing rapidly in Florida. Judge Stenstrom stated in reporting on the Kissimmee caucus last Sunday.

"The state now has 15 chapters and a 22 percent increase in membership—the largest proportional increase any chapter has ever had." (Continued On Page Four)

Plane On Flight From Miami To Pacific Vanishes

SEATTLE.—A C-47 aircraft with a crew of four aboard vanished over the Cascade Mountains early today. The last log of a flight here from the Coast. The Civil Aeronautics Administration reported the two-engine plane missing and it made its last report about 1 a. m. PST over Eastern Washington. The log shows about 50 air miles south of Seattle.

The plane, a non-scheduled flight from Miami, Fla., was due to arrive in Seattle at 11:30 a. m. The CAJ said it left Cheyenne, Wyo., about 8 o'clock last night. The plane was last reported at the time of the last report.

The CAJ said it was possible the plane might have put down at an emergency strip but since the pilot had not reported, it was assumed it had crashed and was being searched for.

The plane disappeared under circumstances similar to those involving an airplane which crashed in the Cascade Mountains while en route to Seattle with a load of soldiers April 14.

Six of 25 aboard were killed in the crash. Numerous search parties are now en route to the crash site and the military.

Earth Tremors Felt In Central Florida
TALLAHASSEE, Fla., (AP)—Central Florida felt the tremors of an earthquake today. M. A. Dixon, state geologist, said the tremors were felt in the central part of the state, including the counties of Alachua, Levy, and Suwannee.

Over and over the tremors were reported to four major divisions at 12:21 p. m. a shock of three divisions at 11:45 a. m. and two at 11:30 a. m. There has definitely been an earthquake somewhere, but the actual location cannot be determined until other seismographs are set up in the area.

Annual Band Festival Slated In Orlando
The Orlando Academy Band composed of 40 members will participate in the seventh annual band festival to be held at the University of Florida in Orlando tomorrow and Saturday. Bandmaster, Elsie R. Jones will be in charge of the Sanford group.

Approximately 2,000 students comprising 50 or more bands will participate. Groups from Key West to Pensacola will be on hand for the two-day program.

Flouridation Urged By Dental Society
Dr. H. W. Rucker of Sanford returned yesterday from a State Dental Society meeting in St. Petersburg and reported that the society is still very much in favor of flouridation of water supplies in the state.

For the third consecutive year, Dr. Rucker was named chairman of a post graduate committee which handles educational material of instructions for dentists. Over 1,000 persons including dentists, technicians, and exhibitors attended the meeting and heard outstanding research technical addresses the group.

Dr. A. W. Epps Jr. also attended the session.

Eisenhower Is Ready To Confer On Peace; Gives NATO Warning

Allies Told By President Not To Relax

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y.—The U. S. General Assembly today voted overwhelmingly for an impartial investigation of Communist charges that American troops waged germ warfare in Korea.

The vote, 33-5-Soviet bloc with four abstentions came immediately after the U. S. accused Russia with "outrageous and completely iniquitous" tactics for spreading the charge and called Soviet opposition to the investigation "reprehensible in the extreme."

By TOM MATERSON
PARIS.—President Eisenhower warned America's allies in the North Atlantic Alliance today not to relax their rearmament because of the Russian peace campaign.

He said the conditions for peace must be that the Communists should be forced to delude themselves about the forces confronting us.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles read the President's message to the opening session here of a three-day meeting of the NATO Council of Ministers.

First action of the session was the signing of a contract totaling $1 billion for European military equipment to be furnished by the U. S. to NATO members.

The U. S. will put up $200 million for the purchase of military equipment. The largest single order placed by the U. S. was for 100 million dollars in Hawker Hunter jets from the British. France got a $150 million order for 300 Mystere IV jets in September. All planes will be delivered during the next 18 months with delivery beginning in June, 1956.

Eisenhower's warning did not specifically mention the recent Russian peace proposals but his implication was apparent in the light of the military system of information on the subject, possible to be used in any form of espionage.

"I have already expressed the hope that it will be possible in the foreseeable future to devote part of these resources and energies to more constructive purposes. It is my conviction that the only way this can be accomplished is by creating the necessary conditions for lasting peace."

Foreign Minister Georges Bidault in a major policy statement by France to the NATO members accused the Communists of launching a new attack in Indochina while talking of peace in Korea. Bidault referred to the Vietnam situation of the Kingdom of Laos.

"It is intolerable for the renewal of negotiations in Korea to be accompanied by a renewal of hostilities in Indochina," he said. (Continued On Page Four)

Committee Lops Over Third Off Truman's Funds

WASHINGTON.—The House Appropriations Committee today chopped more than a third from the amount requested and slashed $25 million from the Interior Department for the next fiscal year. And the committee told the department to stop competing with private enterprises in the field of power.

The committee said the department should be concerned only with those functions or activities which private enterprises cannot or will not undertake.

WASHINGTON.—The House Appropriations Committee today chopped more than a third from the amount requested and slashed $25 million from the Interior Department for the next fiscal year. And the committee told the department to stop competing with private enterprises in the field of power.

Henry W. Greenwald, a back-to-back conference he did not have with the House, said he would not be once conducted an investigation for the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt. It would not tell what it was about.

"I don't think the President would want it done," Greenwald said.

President Eisenhower told his news conference he did not have a half to the government's low cost housing program but he said he didn't think Hoover intended to do that and that he would not criticize it.

It was expected that the Senate might move to restrict the funds for the housing program.

COTTON MEN TO MEET
BWA.—A group of more than 500 Georgia textile executives and members of related industries began arriving today for the 53rd meeting of the Cotton Manufacturers Assn. of Georgia.

Says He's Waiting To Get Soviet Reaction

WASHINGTON.—President Eisenhower said today he believes the defense budget can be cut but is not prepared to say yet by what amount. The chief executive said his next conference plans will be sent to Congress very soon for reorganization of Defense Department and the State Department.

The President told a news conference, however, that like everyone else he is simply waiting now to see how developments go in Korea.

His statements were in response to a question as to whether he felt the chances are good for a prompt truce in Korea.

In reply to another question, the President said he has had no reaction from the Kremlin to the world peace and disarmament plan he set forth a week ago.

He said the government is studying and analyzing the prisoner exchange question and that it will be announced in the near future.

President Eisenhower told his news conference he did not have a half to the government's low cost housing program but he said he didn't think Hoover intended to do that and that he would not criticize it.

Sanford Is Seeking Federation Center

Mrs. Walter H. Jones, president of the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs, now meeting in Miami, has been formally notified both by the City of Sanford and the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce that this committee is very interested in being considered as a site for their Florida headquarters building.

Forrest Brockmeyer, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, said he has sent descriptive literature to Mrs. Jones pointing out the advantages of this City for their headquarters.

Monday night at a City Commission meeting, Mrs. C. R. Dawson was authorized to send a telegram to Miami stating that the City government was heartily in favor of extending an invitation to the group.

Orlando has also offered a site to the Federation for building. Mrs. O. F. Herndon is a member of the State Headquarters Building Committee.

Ivey's Shoe Store Moves Into New Location At 208 First Street

Ivey's Shoe Store, which for the past 18 years has been located at 112 First Street, will open for business tomorrow morning at 208 First Street.

John Ivey, owner of the store, pointed out that the shift was caused by the termination of a lease, but added that additional floor space was available in the new modern establishment.

Mr. Ivey expressed appreciation to Sanford, Seminole County, and nearby county residents for their patronage during past years which made the new store possible.

"Due to the time of year and the time consumed in moving, it is impossible to open with entire new stock. Right now it is too late to stock up on summer fashions and too early for fall styles. Later on we will have a further increase in nationally advertised brands at nationally advertised prices," the shoe merchant declared.

WOMAN IS DECOY

CORAL GABLES.—Using a well dressed young woman as a decoy, three bandits forced their way into a private home Wednesday night and escaped with an estimated $5,000 in jewels, jewelry and cash.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Perky Jr. told police the woman rang the doorbell, said her car had a flat tire and could she use their phone.

Perky opened the door and three armed, masked men appeared and pushed their way in.

Mrs. Roosevelt Sees Trouble In Russia

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt yesterday expressed a belief "there is real trouble within the Soviet Union."
"I believe there is great confusion within the Soviet," she told a news conference sponsored by the American Association for the United Nations.
"They have no top hand at the helm, as they had before. We should, however, be as wise as possible and not go to sleep, but watch every indication and weigh every statement from Soviet representatives in order to determine if we can win it behind their policy."

imminent, or that it might come several years from now. Defense plans, he added, must be flexible enough to meet all emergencies.
Anyone who tells you he can predict the day or hour of an attack is crazy, the President said. He remarked he is not necessarily against any change in the Reciprocity Act but feels that single one-year extension beyond June 12 would be the best move at this time, pending further study of the situation.
7. Described the matter of opening up the atomic energy field to private industry as one which is challenging both the Atomic Energy Commission and other government agencies. Some changes in the law may be necessary to permit it, but certainly it is the hope of everyone that something can be done in that direction, the President added.
8. Said that if any government officials have been discharged from important jobs for patronage reasons, he is completely unaware of it. He said he does not want things run that way. He went on to say that if government officials are unable to subscribe to administration policy, then the only alternative is for them to resign.
9. In comment on the submerged oil lands legislation pending in the Senate, said his position has been stated many times. He said he believes in justice in disposition of the oil-rich lands, and added with a smile that after four weeks of Senate debate he believes that even those who oppose him on the issue must be pretty well educated regarding it.
10. Said there has been no diplomatic correspondence which has come to his attention regarding the possibility of a four-power conference on the world situation. The reporter who put the question apparently was referring to a possible meeting of representatives from the U. S., Great Britain, France and Russia.

HEADS DENTAL SOCIETY
ST. PETERSBURG (AP) — Dr. Lawrence M. Schulstad, Bradenton, was elected president of the Florida Dental Society, succeeding Dr. W. G. McLeod, Pensacola, as it ended its convention Wednesday. Other new officers are Dr. Robert Thoburn, Daytona Beach, first vice president and historian; Dr. Thomas A. Pries, Miami, second vice president; and Dr. Coleman T. Brown, Tampa, secretary-treasurer.

"Florida's bid for electing the Burton Thorne as national president this year is looking up. From all reports M. Thorne is gathering strength everywhere he goes on his campaign tour and his election is a foregone conclusion."
"I am sure the state-wide election, Judge Stenstrom continued, "our own Volle Williams has a good chance of becoming district vice president. He is at least assured of making the runoff between Bobby Code and Bill Whipple. From there it is a toss up."
"In the state-wide presidential race Mr. Phillips and Mr. Goodrich are very even in lining up clubs on their side. We are one of the few clubs still uncommitted as yet," he added.

"The good life-tune bumper reflectors have been a big success in the state with 47,000 being sold to date. It is just beginning and the clubs over the state have collected $100,000 since from this program. The State Department of Public Safety has termed this program as the "greatest contribution to safety on the highways in the history of the state."
Don Biber reported that he and his committee are in dire need of "manpower, ideas and physical support" for entering the Sanford "Road" race, next week's Miss Florida Parent Contest at the Junior Chamber of Commerce convention.
Felix Brockenridge, co-chairman of the queen entry committee, reported that Stine's Machine Co. is now in the process of constructing a one-ton tank, eight feet high, four feet wide and a one-half foot deep, in which Miss Moore can perform her swimming act at the contest.

USRN AUXILIARY TRUCK
CRESTVIEW (AP) — The Louisville & Nashville Railroad used an auxiliary truck today while repair crews worked to restore service on a broken rail that derailed 17 freight cars.
A freight train hit the broken rail near Deerland, about nine miles southeast of here Wednesday. Two empty cars rolled within a short distance of Highway 90, and debris was scattered over a wide area.
Conductor Earl Forte, Pensacola, riding in the caboose, received a wrenched knee.
NAMED PHONE MANAGER
JACKSONVILLE (AP) — Claude J. Yates will become Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Co.'s general manager of Florida May 1. The post is a new one, created because of expansion in the state, a company spokesman said. Yates will come here from Atlanta where he is general commercial manager of the firm in charge of commercial operations in nine states.

had to increase certain items recommended by the Committee, they should support reductions on other items to keep the total within a few thousand dollars of the amount the Committee approved.

"I don't say it's a perfect bill but it's well considered. It appropriates as much money as we feel should be appropriated," he said.
The $2 million appropriation for agencies, institutions and services recommended by the Committee would leave a working capital—depending on whose estimate might be taken on available money for the next biennium.
Gov. McCarty and most state financial experts say the state needs a 25 million dollar reserve. Comptroller C. M. Gay has estimated the general fund will have 363 millions available for spending in the next two years. Budget Director Harry G. Smith estimates it will be 367 millions and the Legislature's own research staff has estimated 370 millions.

With virtually no discussion both House and Senate adopted their committee recommendations to provide a million dollar annual state advertising fund, double the 500,000-year appropriation for Florida A. and M. College for Negroes.
Before the Senate got to work on its own bill consideration of its 54 million dollar bill—which the Appropriations Committee boosted from 300 millions originally—was postponed. It was recalled what he called runaway spending tendencies. He warned that the 25 million dollar treasury cushion requested by Gov. McCarty was being "chewed" to pieces.
A lot of what he called excessive spending by the universities, Tappin said all efforts to put a check on them had been beaten back.
Tappin said since the temper of the Senate was to give the universities everything they wanted, he was going to resign himself and seek a $500 a year teachers raise. He previously had announced his support of a $350 increase which is what the Senate committee recommended.

Game and Fish
TALLAHASSEE (AP) — A constitutional amendment proposed to give the Legislature specific authority to enact laws changing or repealing game and fish commission regulations was introduced in the House today by Rep. Costin of Gulf County.
He said the commission as set up at present combines legislative, executive and judicial powers and conflicts with other constitutional provisions.
Michael Appointed
TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Gov. McCarty today appointed A. B. Michael, a business citrus man, to the State Improvement Commission and called a meeting for April 30 to reorganize the agency which has come under fire from the Legislature.
Michael succeeds Charles F. Blum, Jacksonville appointee of former Gov. Warren, who resigned.
River Wastes
TALLAHASSEE (AP) — A hearing was called today for April 28 on a bill designed to prevent dumping of phosphate wastes into Peace River.
The House Committee on Oil, Phosphates and Minerals also referred the measure, backed by representatives from Charlotte, Hardee and DeSoto Counties, to a sub-group for study.
"The bill is designed to provide stiff penalties for phosphate companies letting wastes get into the river," Rep. Hathaway of Charlotte County said the river sometimes is turned milky white by wastes 100 miles away from Polk County where the mines are located.
"This phosphate stuff gets in the gills of fish and kills them," he said. "I've caught fish 80 miles away and you had to wash them off to see what kind of fish they were."
He added "This scum is turning our river into a mudhole."
Hathaway explained only one or two phosphate firms are permitting sludge to get into the river. He said the wastes enter the river when reservoirs holding phosphate sludge break, causing the overflow to empty into the stream.
"We don't see why a river that's around 100 miles long and is one of the prettiest in the state should be absolutely annihilated just by the whims of some of those companies up there."
Request for a public hearing was made by Rep. Burles, Polk County who is opposed to the bill.

Too Much Art Seen In Shelby Village

SHELBY, Neb. (AP) — There's too much "art" in the Shelby Village Players' latest production to suit some people.

"They think a fig-leaf-3 figure of Apollo and a bare-bosomed Venus in one of the sets could use more clothing."
The fuss was raised as the amateur cast of 30 rehearsed a dramatization of Lloyd C. Douglas's novel "The Robe" scheduled to be given next Monday and Tuesday.
"I don't believe such things have a place in a small town play," said one cast member, a housewife.
Artist Terence H. Duren, who painted the sets, said some people "say frankly they throw out statues and me with them."
It seems to me to be their way of showing contempt for art."

BIG MISTAKE

ASHBY, Mass. (AP) — Medical Examiner Edward T. Lilly ruled last night that Clifford C. Foote, local county commissioner, took his own life earlier in the day by exploding a large firecracker in his mouth.
Police said Foote had been depressed since he suffered the loss of an arm recently in a Florida automobile accident while en route home from a Florida vacation.
Foote was released from a Georgia hospital last Sunday.
BANK CALL ISSUED
TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Comptroller C. M. Gay today called on all Florida state banks for statements of their financial conditions as of the close of business April 26.
The state call followed one from the U. S. comptroller of currency for national bank statements.

During the week at Seminole High School, all students have registered as voters with the period from April 24 to 27 set aside for electioneering. Next Tuesday, there will be speeches by candidates in front of the entire student body. Voting will take place the following day.
The Nationalist Party candidates include: sheriff, Junior Metts; prosecuting attorney, Mary Jane Boyle; judge, Joe Pickens; county superintendent of schools, Al Phillips; clerk of court, Dennis Botunda; tax assessor, Phillip Boyd; tax collector, Marvin McKinley.
Federalist candidates are listed as: sheriff, James Davis; prosecuting attorney, Jimmy Wailes; county judge, Tommy Kubin; superintendent of schools, Wesley Dues; clerk of court, Ross Hanum; tax assessor, Hamilton Hiseber; tax collector, Marvin Hiseber.
Platform committee for the Nationalists includes George Patterson, Gail Bittling, Eleanor Nix, Lucie Goff, Woody Friend, and Larry Bates. For the Federalists are Ernie Morris, Grace Silenipher, Jim Hawkins, Elizabeth Woodruff, Joel Moss, and Barbara Cassin.
The plan for Kids' County was originated by Judge Doug Stenstrom, president of the Jaycees. Co-chairman of the project are William C. Hulehson and Gordon Frederick.
The purpose of the program is three-fold: to acquaint future voters with the County offices, to teach them the basic requirements for voting in Florida, the importance of being registered, the

Woman Wills $300 For Care Of Cats

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A Memphis woman's bequest of $300 to care for stray cats left a Kansas City youth in a dilemma today.

He's strictly out of the cat business.
When Miss Ella C. Brantim lived here she adopted Robert E. Brice's interest in animals. It was in a pet shop and often gave Miss Brantim advice on how to care for her.
When Miss Brantim died in Memphis recently she left bequests to humane organizations and $300 to Brice, now a high school senior.
Bobby's dilemma, in his own words: "My hobby is collecting birds. Right now I have about 100 parakeets. I don't think I could have cats around my home."
However, Hobbs said he'd use the money to care for stray cats "somehow."

WATER SUPPLY THREATENED

TAMPA (AP) — The water supply for much of this city of 125,000 was threatened Wednesday night by a break in a 36-inch main line.
Water Supt. John E. Long said he expected repairs to be completed today.
The break left only a 24-inch main operating from the chief pumping station. Cause of the break was unknown.

"I didn't know I was wounded in the leg until I was in the hospital and they were my worst wound," he said. "I couldn't make them understand to take my boots off. About all they'd do was wrap you up."
He was with six other Marines. He was not questioned very much but "they constantly question the other guys."
When he was questioned, he said, "I asked them questions to keep them from asking me questions. They thought I was quite the clown. I guess I am too good looking and too mean to die."
"They had their chance and they couldn't do it."
Marine Cpl. Jimmy E. Lacy of Texarkana, Tex., said he knew of only four survivors among 41 Marines hit by Chinese on Outpost Reno.
Marine Pfc. Richard L. Owen of Buffalo, N. Y., was captured on Outpost Vegas after he was wounded by shrapnel in the leg and got hand.

The outpost was about 300 yards forward. We were hit about the same time as Reno. We were in a bunker and could not get out. There was another bunker on the hill and we tried to get to it but the barrage was too heavy.
"When the barrage lifted a little, we heard the Chinese coming up the hill. We were overrun before we could leave the bunkers. They threw satchel charges and knocked the bunker in. We were trapped in there about three quarters of an hour. There were about 45 of us and about 10 were captured. The rest were killed. I guess."

Owen said he was taken to a hospital about 75 miles behind the front.
"I believe it was the best medical treatment they had but they didn't have the equipment that we have," he said.
All he thought about during his short captivity was "I wanted a steak dinner."
He smiled and added: "I think I'm up to it right now."

Yesterday, Isadore Amdur, a chemistry professor, told the committee Levinson was a member of a Red cell at M. I. T. about 1940. Amdur said he himself was "naive and stupid" enough to be a member of the Red group from 1938 to 1944 and was hired for atomic energy work after he quit the Communists.

"Gee! why don't he come out?"

A wrecked car. A crowd gathers, and a child pipes up. "Gee! Why don't he come out?"
Before the child can get her answer, chances are that some grown-up will first have to get the full story from a newspaper.
Then, for the first time, the child will learn that the dog refused to leave when his master was carried to the hospital, injured.
Being on the spot is not much better than seeing one or two photographs of the action, or seeing a headline about it, or hearing a brief announcement.
All of these can whet your appetite for news, but they cannot satisfy your hunger for the whole story.
That's what the newspaper is for — news. The whole story... fast.
This message prepared by BUREAU OF ADVERTISING, American Newspaper Publishers Association and published in the interests of fuller understanding of newspapers by THE SANFORD HERALD

This goes for advertising, too. The brief message that hangs in the air... or brief headlines here or there... may indeed have a momentary interest. But the newspaper ad carries the brass-tacks quality, the urgency of the newspaper itself.
Like a news item, the ad can be examined and re-examined. Can be read any time. Anywhere. Can be clipped and carried in a pocketbook.
And just as the newspaper speaks the special language of the town it mirrors, the ads themselves have the same important local quality.
Add to all this the fact that the newspaper reaches just about everybody in town, not just fractions of audiences, and you know why the newspaper is the nation's most effective advertising medium.
The newspaper is always "first with the most"

Soldiers Turn To Lord As Intensity Of Combat Mounts

MIAMI (Apr. 23)—"If ever a man needs to be close to his Lord, it's when he is in combat." These are the words of a Master Sergeant, who recently returned from the war front in Korea.

Leading chief with Marine Observation Squadron, Marine Helicopter Squadron in Korea. Sgt. Charles W. Horton, 38, of 1145 North St., Daytona Beach, performed duties other than his regular ones, that of chaplain for his outfit.

After trying to obtain a regular chaplain for his outfit, he was informed that it was impossible to have one for such a small unit, thus the Sergeant took matters in his own hands. At first there were only two men who came to his services, but by the time he was to return to the states, their number had increased to 30 or 40 men.

At first Sgt. Horton utilized every square inch of tent space throughout the area, but this was difficult due to the confined quarters, so after traveling from one tent to another he finally was able to obtain one for religious services. With the help of a Protestant Chaplain, he was able to arrange regular services for the men.

The Sergeant's career in the Marine Corps started in 1938. After two years of duty in the Reserves, he was released to inactive duty until 1940. During this time he was employed by the Lincoln Motor Car Company at Detroit, Mich. In the Fall of 1940, he was recalled to active duty, and has remained in the Marines since then.

During the next 6 years the Florida Leatherneck toured the country, going from one Marine Corps base to another. In 1946 he was transferred to Santa Ana, Calif., to organize a Drone School. The school instructed men to operate aircraft controlled by radio from a mother ship. From there he returned to Cherry Point, N. C., only to stay there for a short time before being sent to Jacksonville, Fla., to establish a Navy Air Reserve Training Unit.

Remaining there for 13 months he was again transferred back to Cherry Point. From 1947 to 1949 he was at the Quantico Marine Bay and Onslow Beach, both at Camp Lejeune, N. C. The year 1950 saw him at various bases throughout the east coast, and on Jan. 3, 1952, he received orders for overseas duty with the First Marine Aircraft Wing in Korea.

Returning to the states in December, 1952, he received orders to report to Quantico, Va., but again he was transferred, this time to the Third Marine Aircraft Wing, Miami, where he is currently

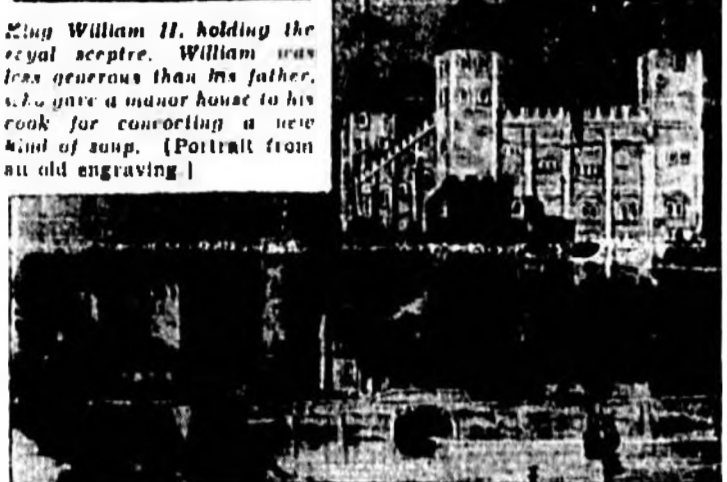

CROWN CAVALCADE

No. 3: William II (called Rufus, or the Red, because of his ruddy complexion). Ruled England 1087-1100.

From 1056, second surviving and probably the favorite son of William the Conqueror. He was made the royal heir by his father in preference to the eldest son, Robert, who became Duke of Normandy. Norman business in England revealed in Robert's favor, but William crushed the rebellion. The latter ruled England with a strong hand, exacting enormous taxes on Rimsy pretenses. In enforcing them, he revived methods of punishment for small offenses which had been abolished as too severe. Ironically, William's most famous bequest was Westminster Hall, destined to be a cradle of the advancement of English common law and individual rights.

An English archer of the 11th century. Norman warriors were responsible for the introduction of the longbow, a weapon which made English armies invincible for many years.

The White Tower of London completed during William II's reign. Originally it was the royal residence, later a jail.

Families Made Happy By News Of Liberation Of POW Sons In Korea

By The Associated Press

A 17-year-old bride in Texas jumped up and down in joy, then broke into tears as she learned that her husband was among the 14 American prisoners of war freed last night by the Communists.

She had just learned that her husband was among the 14 American prisoners of war freed last night by the Communists.

Neighbors crowded into the home of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Hart of Wantagh, N. Y., to join in a family celebration. The Hart's son, Marine Pfc. George F. Hart, last Nov. 10, Lacy called for Korea Jan. 5 and was reported missing in action two months later.

Lacy's father Otto said his son had lied about his age to join the Marines and is only 17.

Mrs. Ruth Kelley of Ashland, O., is the 26-year-old wife who kept faith that her husband, Sgt. Ned M. Kelley, 23, would return.

"I just never had that feeling he wouldn't come home," she said.

"He wrote me on last March 21, the day he came up missing," she said. "They have been married six years. Mrs. Kelley said their 4-year-old child Jackie was 'real excited'.

"Is my daddy all right? Will he be home tonight?" the boy asked.

In Fort Worth, Tex., Thomas Waddill and his wife who thought their 20-year-old son Thomas Howard Waddill had been killed less than a month ago in Korea sat watching their television set. Suddenly they saw his name flashed on the screen as a released prisoner. The youth had been reported missing in action March 28.

"I know it's my boy," said Waddill. "Nobody else in the world would have a name like that."

A San Antonio, Tex., woman who has had seven sons in the Marines at one time or another, learned one of her boys, Pfc. Samuel J. Armstrong, had been released.

The mother, Mrs. Ida Barnes, is confined to the Brooke Army Hospital at San Antonio for treatment of burns. When she heard the news she got out of bed and happily toured the ward, telling everyone her 19-year-old son was safe. Through other sons recently were returned home as Korean casualties and discharged.

Mrs. D. T. Akers of Bluefield, W. Va., said it was "prayers by the whole family" that brought back her son, Pfc. Charles Wesley Akers had been reported missing in action a month and a half ago.

At Milwaukee, Wis., Mrs. Mona Steinkamp, whose son had been reported missing, said "we didn't even know he was a prisoner. All we knew was that he was missing."

Pfc. Fred C. Steinkamp, 21, had been reported missing in action since March 5.

The first prisoner of war from Arizona to be released was Pfc. Ben Melchior of Phoenix. He is one of eight children in the family. Beamed Mrs. Constance McChoe.

"This is the best news we've ever had."

SERVICE OFFICER

Veterans of this area who need assistance in obtaining benefits under the GI Bill may receive assistance from Tom H. Deen, Assistant State Service Officer. Deen will visit this area next week for the purpose of helping veterans of their dependents in their claims for compensation under the GI Bill. Deen will also assist in the free service assistance to employers of veterans and the GI Bill, vocational training, subsistence or other assistance.

Deen has been invited to this area by Senator Lloyd F. Boyle, County Service Officer, as a special consultant and may be contacted at his home, Apt. 25, at 1400 N. Sanford at Senator Boyle's home.

When the United States bought Alaska from Russia in 1867, it is estimated that there were about 100,000 people in the area, about two-thirds of whom were Eskimos and Indians.

Cards Play Ladies Night Game With Leesburg Here

Murray Byrd Seeks 3rd In Row; Cards And Lakers Split Twin Bill

By KENT SHELTON
The "Oil Pro" Murray Byrd will be able to play his third straight game for Leesburg in the season's first Ladies Night affair here against the Cardinals, beginning at 8:00 o'clock. Byrd will be seeking his third straight triumph for the Cardinals after recording victories over both Palatka and Orlando.

After last night's even split in the doubleheader with the Lakers at Leesburg, the beats will be seeking to win the rubber encounter this evening.

As usual, Sanford entered the Ladies Night in the seven-inning game last night, 8-6 and lost 5-3. However, the Redbirds crashed in the bottom of the eighth.

In last night's opener, Tom Dunbar pitched a one-run homer with Byrd about to provide the Lakers with a 5-3 victory over the Redbirds and Ernie Palmieri, the husky right-handed Sanford flinger now has a 0-2 record. He held the Lakers in tow with six hits, but two were in the second and third innings of the second tie by pitcher Don Upright's bullet-like toss.

Fulkert was rushed to the Leesburg hospital for X-rays but the technician was unable to find a fracture. Fulkert's condition was still unreported early this morning.

Tommy Leonard, Coastal Plains batting leader last year with a .375 average, stroked a winning pitcher, Orlando Ortega's offerings for a perfect night at the plate with three singles in six at-bats. Leonard went on to smash a two-run homer in the eighth to give himself a healthy five-four-eight night and boost his average from .333 to .517. The Cardinals' highest individual mark, Bill Silverthorn caught the opener and drilled out a double in three trips and he later went to the outfield in the second game to fill the gap left by Fulkert's departure.

Dunbar failed to deliver a hit in either game to end his eight-game hitting streak and reduced his team leading average before the game from .417 to .366. Silverthorn failed to find a hit in the nightcap to fall from .368 to .304. Sanford almost won the first game when hard hitting Lou Cavett eluded a tremendous drive to right center only to have Claude Ramsey spear the ball to end a bases-loaded threat in ninth.

After scoring one run in the first frame and taking a 1-0 lead, Sanford dropped behind, 2-1, as the Lakers pecked away at Ingram's steady offerings for single ballies in each of the fourth and fifth. The hustling Cardinals, who have the propensity to rub salt on blunders by the opposition, put together two more runs on errors in the top of the sixth.

The 8-2 advantage proved to be sufficient for the hard working Ingram who fanned seven Lakers while giving up just one pass. The phenomenal control specialist now has yielded but three walks in all 28 innings he has hurled for the Redbirds.

Condition Of Hurt Sanford Player Is Still Unknown
The condition of Tom Fulkert, Sanford's flashy centerfielder, was still not yet determined early this morning at the Leesburg hospital.

Sanford General Manager Jim Heald reported that Fulkert had been x-rayed at the hospital and that the x-ray technician could not find a fracture. Heald still had not received word this morning.

Bob Fulkert about Fulkert's condition.

The flyhawk from Rochester, Minn., who was highly touted at the Albany, Ga. spring training camp, had been a mainstay in the Sanford attack. Fulkert was replaced by left fielder Tom Leonard in the lineup and Bill Silverthorn filled the hole in the Card outfield.

State Golf Meet Opens Up Today At Mayfair C. C.

SANFORD (Special)—The State High School Golf Tournament opened today with Don Binspighoff, the 1932 runner-up from Orlando, favored to add the title to his USGA National Junior and State Amateur crowns.

Tough competition is expected, however, from John (Bink) Berry, Tallahassee, the defending champion; Jim McCoy, Lake Worth, last year's medalist; Scott Frazer, Panama City; and Melvin Fletcher, Sanford.

100 PREP GOLFERS BEGIN
The Sixth Annual State High School Golf Championship tournament began this morning at the Mayfair Inn Seminoles Country Club. The large field of both boys and girls were accompanied by 30 coaches and school officials from every section of Florida. The journey will last through Saturday. Team champions will be determined by the aggregate scores of players in every qualifying round. Sixty-four play for individual trophy (flight titles will begin tomorrow and last through Saturday's final).

Eighty-three boys and 15 girls are entered.

Today's play will be medal to decide the team title and the individual medalist. The top scores go into match play Friday and Saturday.

Mrs. McGough Wins Ladies Golf Meet

Mrs. Howard McGough left her home at home and capped the A flight golfing honors in yesterday's Ladies Golf tournament at the Mayfair Inn Seminoles Country Club.

Mrs. McGough, who has been nursing a sprained ankle for the last few weeks, successfully tested her for injury in the low gross on par-four holes meet yesterday.

First place in the National League also changed hands as the Philadelphia Phillies made it in a row over Brooklyn, this time by a 3-1 margin, and St. Louis defeated Cincinnati, 6-3, in two other night games. The Phils and Cardinals now share the lead with Brooklyn half a game behind. Milwaukee swamped Chicago, 15-6, in the only National League day game.

The New York Yankees took over sole possession of first place in the American League by whipping Boston, 6-2, while St. Louis Browns were off. A five-run ninth-inning rally fell short for Detroit, 6-4, and Chicago, 4-3, while Cleveland, 7-4, in a night affair. Cleveland, along with the Browns, wasn't scheduled to play.

Billy Lester who pitched 39 innings—38 of them scoreless—for Brooklyn against Philadelphia last year couldn't fool the Phillies last night. He got to him for all of their first nine before he departed in the fourth. Karl Drews struck out seven in winning his first game.

The Cardinals battered Cincinnati pitching for 12 hits, half of them for extra bases, to put down the Redlegs at St. Louis. Vinogor Brad Merrill walked six and committed two errors, but he struck out seven and lasted until two were out in the ninth before needing help from Al Brazis.

The Braves bashed everything in sight for 10 hits, downed the Cubs at Chicago. Third baseman Ed Mathews led the raid with two homers and a double, good for six runs.

Bobby Hofman Pleases Durocher With Fine Play At Second Base

By BEN PHILGAR AP Sports writer
Leo Durocher is fast becoming a firm believer in the theory that every club has a silver lining. And Bobby Hofman is one of the reasons.

The New York Giants' manager was forced to dig deep into his infield reserves when Davey Williams, his preferred choice for second base, relinquished his lame back Tuesday night. First-string catcher Wes Westrum also was hurt and the club was in last place.

Leo switched Daryl Spencer, a shortstop by trade, from third base, where he had been performing so well, and settled for Hofman, a utility man used so infrequently that his name doesn't appear in many baseball books, at third. Sal Yvara did the catching.

Hofman's batting leadoff against the Pirates at Pittsburgh last night, made Durocher look good in the first inning. He opened with a double and scored. In the third inning he hit a home run for the Giants' second tally. He singled in the fifth and then completed a perfect night with his second home run, this time with pitcher Jim Hearn on base. The last two New York runs in the eighth as New York whipped the pirates, 4-1.

Hofman has been in the Giants' organization for 10 years since he played American Legion baseball in St. Louis on the same team as Yogi Berra. He saw action last year in only 32 games and his total home run production was exactly equal to his total of last night—two.

The victory jumped the Giants from last to fifth place, enough to make Durocher happy even though he was tossed out of the game for arguing in the sixth inning. Bill Stewart, working at second base, drew the honor of being the first umpire this year to kick Len out of a game.

first victory of the season. Harry Byrd shut out Washington until there were two down in the ninth, then had to holler for help as the Senators rallied for four runs off Philadelphia.

Vern Stephens, Sherman Latta and Sam Mele homered for the White Sox off Milt Jordan, Detroit rookie starting his first major league game, as the Terceros lost their fifth in a row and their seventh in eight games.

At the start of the exhibition games, Manager Lou Boudreau told writers that Richter looked like his shortstop. But Richter didn't read the papers. He looked his way into the lineup with his fine glove work and unexpected good hitting. Opening day found him winning the job.

Couzens Changed Mind About His $200 Investment In Ford

148-est Sells For Over $260,000

Fifty years ago James Couzens, a young Detroit businessman, had a hard time persuading his sister, Rosetta, to invest $200 in a new kind of concern called an automobile company that was being organized by a man named Henry Ford.

Rosetta was skeptical. She didn't think Ford's gasoline carriage would amount to much. Finally, with great reluctance, she agreed to let her brother risk $200 of her money, and not a penny more, in the wild scheme.

In the years that followed, Rosetta Couzens Hausa must have smiled all over the world.

From its start in 1903, Ford Motor Company became the most astonishingly successful industrial enterprise the world has seen. In 1919, after collecting $95,000 in dividends, Mrs. Hausa sold her $100 interest in the company to the Ford family for $200,000.

The tale of Mrs. Hausa's $100 and how it grew is one of the most colorful chapters that will be recalled by automobile men during the observance this year of Ford Motor Company's 50th anniversary. Prominent Americans from all walks of life will join with Henry Ford II, president of the company, and his employees in marking the anniversary at the Rouge headquarters in Dearborn, Michigan, and at manufacturing and assembly plants and sales offices all over the world.

Oldtimers also will remember the day in 1914 when Henry Ford promised to return between $10 and $50 to each customer who bought one of his cars during the next 12 months if sales in that period topped 200,000.

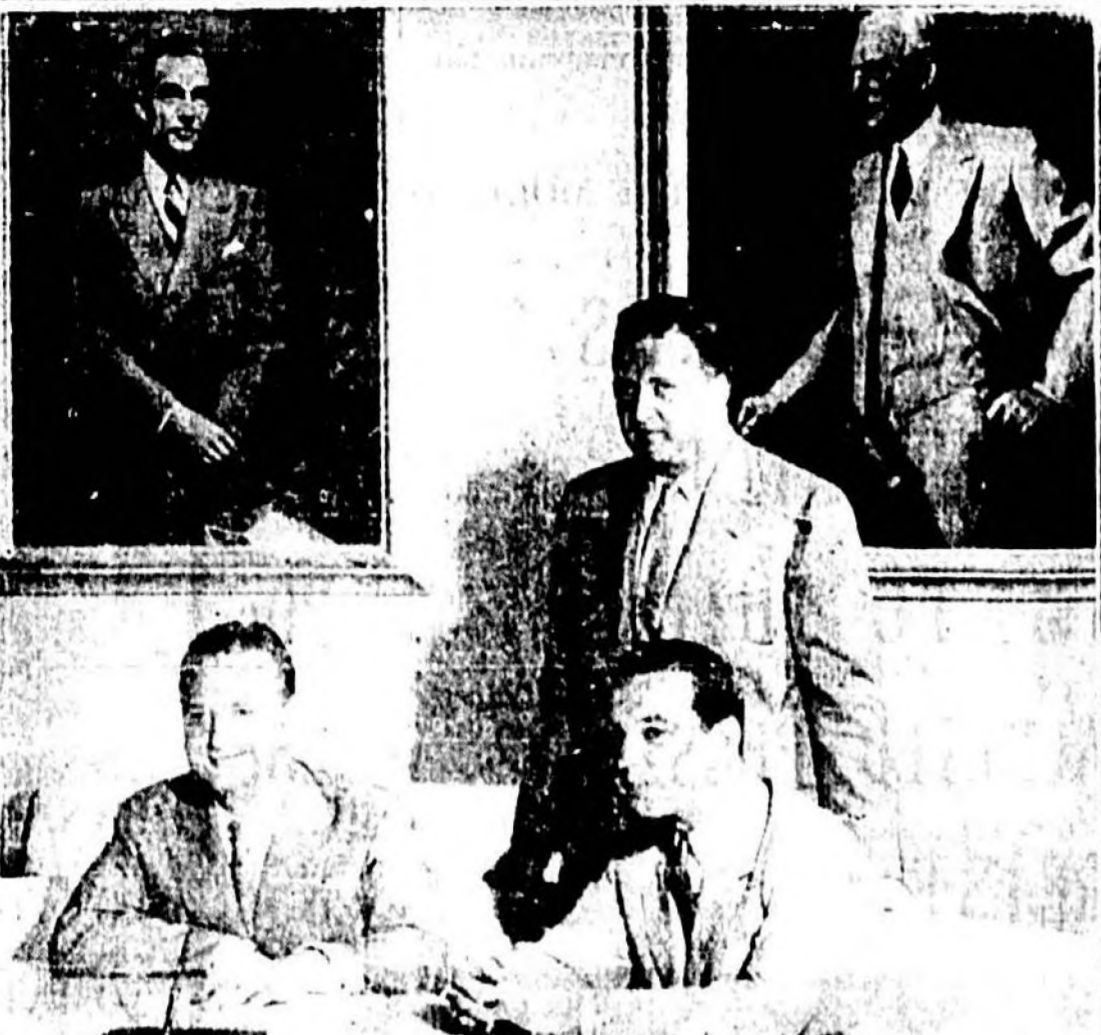

A total of 208,213 Fords were sold, fifteen and a half millions of dollars in 500 checks promptly went into the mail.

It was also in 1914 that Henry Ford rocked the financial world with his Five Dollar Day. The prevailing wage scale for factory workers at the time was $2.34 for a nine-hour day. When Ford announced that he would pay a minimum of $5 for an eight-hour day, bankers and businessmen thought he had lost his mind.

Ford contended, however, that higher wages would mean better business for the employer. Time proved that he was right.

Clawyers, sailors and lumberjacks showed up in Detroit, looking for work at the Ford plant. When Ford employees went down town on Saturday nights, they wore their company identification badges proudly on the lapels of their best suits.

Again in 1914, Ford shattered another precedent in labor relations. He gave the U. I. O. automotive workers union its first open shop and check-off of dues.

A Ford Motor Company moves into its second half century. Henry Ford II, standing, the company's president since 1945, and his brothers, Edsel, left, vice president and general manager of the Lincoln-Mercury Division, and William Clay Ford, vice manager Special Product Operations, carry on traditions of a company people's bonded down to Henry and Edsel Ford.

In 1903, when Ford Motor Company moved for business in a barn-like building on Mack Avenue in Detroit, the automobile was an expensive plaything of a few wealthy families. Henry Ford decided to make a car that anyone could buy and keep in repair, a car designed for rough roads and hard work as well as for Sunday driving. This was the rugged and simple Model T.

Three Ford men, asked by his engineers how much stress should be left between the Model T's front and back seats.

"There should be enough room for a farmer's milk cans," he said.

Ford was able to keep down the price of the Model T because of his assembly line, which lowered the time required to put together a car from 14 hours to 95 minutes.

When the assembly line revolutionized the automobile industry, it also changed the face of America and gave the people a new way of life. In 1919, there were 6,721,000 passenger cars in the United States. In 1929, there were no less than 23,421,000 and one-third of them were Fords. In the years between 1917 and 1927, one-half of all the cars manufactured in America were Fords.

The one striking day in 1927, Ford rolled out 1,000 cars, of one Ford every ten seconds. More than fifteen million Model Ts were produced in the 18 years that the model was manufactured.

Henry Ford predicted early in the century that the automobile would give the country road roads, making it easier for the farmer to bring his crops to market and making it possible for the factory worker to live comfortably away from the smokes of the factory.

His prediction came true sooner than anybody expected. By 1927, the roads were so good that the heavy duty, high-rider Model T became outmoded. Ford then brought out his famous Model A, with a standard gear shift transmission.

Frederick Lewis Allen, the historian of the Pastors, called the debut of the Model A "one of the great events of the year 1927, rivaling the Hall-Mills scandal, the execution of Sacco and Vanzetti, the Lindbergh flight, the Mississippi flood and the sea and Danbury Tanager fight in its capacity to arouse public excitement."

the medium-priced field with the Mercury.

In the old American tradition, Ford Motor Company is still owned and operated by its founder's family. Henry Ford in his lifetime turned down several offers to put his business on the stock market. His son, Edsel, was president of the company from 1919 to 1945.

Henry Ford died on April 7, at the age of 83. He was one of the few Americans who became famous and successful without leaving his home town. He died in his estate in Dearborn, only a mile from the farm houses where he was born and where he lived when he was first married. His Dearborn manufacturing plant of the Rouge, the largest in the world, was in his home town.

After the grandfather's death, Edsel Ford, two younger sons, Benson and William Clay Ford, followed their brother into positions of responsibility in the management of the company. Benson was president and general manager of the Lincoln-Mercury Division and William is manager of special products operations.

For 40 years in the business world did not see Henry Ford II when he took over the leadership of the company after V. J. Day. The light of the Rouge had recovered its former grandeur, and the Ford plant had turned out America's first postwar automobile. But the company had many serious problems.

During the depression of the 1930s Ford had lost its position as the head of the industry. The company's operating structure, with control centered in a few hands, was as outmoded as the Model T. Plant facilities were inadequate and working conditions needed improvement. The sales had deteriorated during the war and needed rebuilding from the bottom up.

The young Henry Ford tackled the job of building an automobile company all over again. He could not copy the old ways after positions, and completely reorganized every branch of the company's operation. Each division and each plant in the Ford plant was reorganized into a new structure, and a new possibility that was an innovation under the old regime.

He established that new company management meetings. To solve labor problems, and create new jobs, he informed about the company's policies, problems and progress. Among other things, he would let his grandfathers' family business rule.

The Rouge, with 60,000 workers and daily payroll of $1,250,000, was modernized and expanded and new manufacturing and assembly plants were built in other parts of the country. Ford's new program in the postwar market and it is now moving rapidly to the old leadership in the industry.

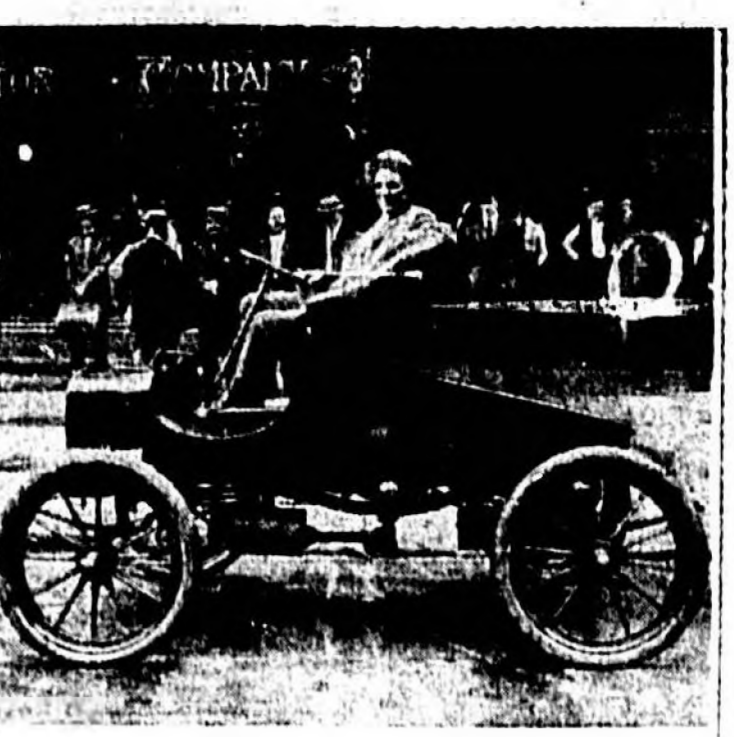

"If I were starting a company today," said one of the leading American automobile executives, "I'd like to get a job at Ford. That company is a brand new one."

Henry Ford II said that his organization has made so much progress in increasing manufacturing production in the U. S. that it is now a credit to the country.

As a result of the change in Ford products to be a revolution in the country 50 years ago.

They have been in the past 50 years, and we expect the of a new and complete progress of business to be as great."

MANILA, P. I. Adm. Arthur W. Radford, Pacific fleet chief, who is conferring with U. S. military commanders here, will leave Friday for Saigon, Indochina and Hong Kong.

This strange car helped set the automobile industry free. Henry Ford built it in 1907 from early French patents and used it in winning the famous Selten patent suit. V. J. Day, attorney, and Selten, inventor, taught Selten's monopolistic grip on the infant industry.

More Liberal Plan Candidate Against Speed Trap Elected

SOUTH MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—Diefenbach, who promised to do away with a speed trap during his campaign, defeated Mayor George H. Slick in South Miami Beach municipal elections Tuesday.

Diefenbach received 933 votes to 511 for Slick.

Immediately after the election Diefenbach said he would order an audit of city funds, and that the town's speed trap on U. S. Highway 1 was abolished, and a new four-armed traffic light installed.

Slick also served a sentence in office.

Size Regulations On Citrus Changed By Federal Order

LAKELAND, Fla.—The Federal Citrus Control Committee have approved shipment of smaller size of both oranges and grapefruit but tightened up on large oranges because of excess dryness.

The Committee recommended that Size 96 oranges be removed from the shipping list and Size 324 substituted at the other end of the scale. All oranges must be No. 1 grade.

The Committee also added Size 126 in No. 2 grade and Size 127 for both white and pink seedless grapefruit. Size 80 in No. 1 grade white seeded grapefruit, and Size 16 in No. 2 grade white seeded grapefruit. Size refers to the number of fruit a box.

All other regulations remained unchanged.

The Committee asked that all the new regulations be made effective for four weeks beginning April 27. The policy of agriculture usually follows their recommendations.

Meanwhile, the Florida Citrus Commission expects the movement of the balance of the 1953 crop to be spurred by a "spring citrus fest" in the nation's retail food stores from Thursday through Saturday, May 2.

The event is the third in a series of five nationwide sales drives sponsored by the National Citrus Merchandising Committee which is made up of representatives of the Florida, California and Texas citrus industries.

Ralph M. Henry, director of advertising and merchandising for the Florida Commission, is chairman of the national committee this year.

Lewis Asks Repeal Of All Labor Laws Of Last 21 Years

Says Unions Can Now Stand On Their Own

BY HOWLAND EVANS JR.
 WASHINGTON (AP) — John L. Lewis today asked Congress to repeal all labor laws of the past 21 years, including the Wagner Act, Taft-Hartley Act and others.

Lewis, testifying before the Senate Labor Committee, said that unions have now reached the point where they could grow and foster without the protection of either the 1937 Taft-Hartley law or its predecessor, the Wagner Act.

Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers Union, kept a packed gallery in laughter with a quick exchange of comments over the law. He helped voters and which Lewis has called "Bob Taft's slave statute."

Lewis said Congress "became afraid too soon" in writing the law.

The 73-year-old union chief told the committee to give serious thought to his proposal. He said unions are now strong enough to take care of themselves without the aid of federal laws.

The ever rising tide of industrial strife in recent years and the repeated governmental interferences... under existing laws... have driven them in all segments of our population justify the Congress in stripping the statute books of both the Wagner and Taft-Hartley Acts.

That would leave two basic laws dealing with organized labor—the 1932 Norris-LaGuardia Act and the 1914 Clayton Act.

The 1937 Taft-Hartley Act, passed in 1947 to supersede the 1935 Wagner Act is now up for possible revision before the Senate and House Labor Committees. Most of organized labor, however, the Taft-Hartley Act wanted it kept on the books.

No matter how amended, Lewis said, the Taft-Hartley Act will remain "a thorn and a spear in the side of American labor." He added:

"A liberal application of common sense to a good deal of the laws... now existing would permit an otherwise sound measure..."

The law, Lewis said, "is a specie of fraud on not only labor unions but upon the citizen at large."

Lewis' union has the target of the law is the Taft-Hartley Act, 30-day, no-strike provision for use in a national emergency dispute.

"It can be categorically stated," he said, "that in each year when strikes have occurred the coal production was greater than in the years in which there were no strikes."

Lewis said this "negates completely the hue and cry of national emergency" and added that the nation "has never suffered irreparable injury from deprivation of coal."

Lewis said the present law's "fundamental evils" cannot be cured by amendment.

Farm Problems Are Considered By Market Group

Members of the advisory committee of the Sanford Market met yesterday afternoon at the market to discuss ways and means of improving marketing facilities.

The group, which also discussed the problem of trying to develop a better understanding between farmers and dealers.

Following the session, Chairman R. F. Conner stated another meeting will be held May 11 at 8:00 p. m. to consider further the problem of growers and marketers.

Present at yesterday's session were Joe Corlies, John Brunkey, W. A. Smith, W. A. Lorler, and Manager Sandy Anderson, who acted as secretary.

Mr. Conner stated that Manager Anderson has done and is still doing all he can to help the farmer and added that the advisory committee hopes to be able to determine and to advise Manager Anderson on what will be the best way to proceed.

There was a discussion pertaining to acreage control, but no action was taken. Chairman Conner called for another meeting after a full discussion of the marketing conditions with no constructive solution being reached.

Today Mr. Anderson issued the following statement in regard to the problem:

"The basis of America's economic structure, without a doubt, must lie in its agriculture. Food and fiber for civilian and military uses, the raw materials for the nation's industry, the source of the nation's wealth, the very lifeblood of our country, all depend upon the farm.

"If the cost of the farmer's products is too high, it will result in a higher cost of living for the consumer and a lower profit for the farmer. If the cost is too low, it will result in a lower standard of living for the farmer and a lower profit for the consumer.

"It is the responsibility of the government to see that the farmer's cost is neither too high nor too low. This is a job that only the government can do. It is a job that must be done if the nation is to remain a free and prosperous country."

Governor Studies Nomination For Hospital Trustee

Charles H. P. Brown, administrative assistant for Governor Dan McCarty, today notified County Clerk O. P. Herndon that "the Governor appreciates the interest of the County Commission in recommending Robert Bradford for appointment to the Board of Trustees of the Seminole County Hospital."

Mr. Brown added that "the Governor is glad to have received the recommendation, and that Mr. Bradford will receive fair and impartial consideration."

Following a meeting of the County Commission at their regular meeting, the Commission voted to endorse Mr. Bradford for the position left vacant by the death of Dr. B. F. Hennan. Mr. Herndon was directed to send a telegram to the Governor telling of the nomination.

During the week Mr. Bradford said he would accept the appointment.

Last week Commissioner O. E. Fournier obtained the approval of two other commissioners in recommending Mr. Bradford. Fournier said the County Commission organization who were not consulted with the Governor in time to block the immediate appointment.

San Orlo Club

The San Orlo Club on Highway 17-90 midway between Sanford and Orlando was sold recently for a price of $25,000, according to a bill of sale mortgage filed in the County Clerk's office yesterday. The mortgage was for $25,000.

Under new management, the name of the club has been changed to the Big Tree Inn. Purchase was made by Paul K. Reid and wife, and Harry A. Farris and wife from Fred Green and wife.

Robson Sporting Goods Store Moves Into Its New Location

The Robson Sporting Goods Store after being recently shifted from 308 East First Street to a larger quarters at 304 East First Street is rapidly becoming one of the largest and most complete stores of its type in the state.

The move into quarters previously used by Florida Fashions, Harry E. Robson, owner, declared today, resulted in complete modernization of equipment into the following categories: fishing tackle, hunting section with a large line of guns and ammunition, tennis shoes, model airplanes, toys, swimming accessories, wheel goods, playground equipment, and tents.

One of the features of the newly decorated store is an L-shaped balcony of natural wood finish in which is displayed a large selection of bicycles, tricycles, and saddlebags.

The new location has resulted in a 50 percent larger store front along with a 20 by 40 foot display room in the back of the establishment for playground equipment. There is also an upstairs section measuring 72 by 90 feet for athletic goods, tents, along with other equipment plus a section for reserve stock.

Mrs. Robson assists her husband in the store. Other employees are Ronald Taylor, a student at Stetson University, Robert Gentala, a high school student.

Shifting of the store permits a street entrance to Robson's Clothing Store owned by J. N. Robson Jr., which is adjacent to the sports store.

Plan For End Of War Given By MacArthur

General Sees Threat To China Effective

By EDWIN R. HARRISON.
 WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur declares that U.S. threat to strike at Red China might be Russia's way to settle the Korean War "pending" pending global issues on equitable terms.

Vigorously renewing the controversial program which in part led to his military form (President Truman as the Allies' Far East commander, MacArthur said in a letter made public today.

"We still possess the potential to destroy Red China's (missile industrial base and sever her main supply lines from the Soviet Union.) A warning of action of this sort would be the leverage to induce the Soviet to bring the Korean struggle to an end without further bloodshed."

Such a threat, MacArthur said in a letter dated April 19 and addressed to Sen. Byrd (R-Va.), would force the Communists "into a possible 'Red China' debate."

When the Soviet saw the U.S. had "the will and the means," he said, "it might well settle Korea and all other world issues equitably."

He declared he was sure it would not lead to World War III. MacArthur blamed "the inertia of our diplomacy" for throwing away what he called "the golden moment" to achieve peace after he had badly beaten the North Koreans in October, 1951.

Not only was this opportunity thrown away, he said, but a failure to capitalize on the situation contributed to the entry of the Chinese Communists in the fighting, creating what he termed "the new war."

He wrote that normally the Chinese would not have dared to risk entry into the war, but "they were lured by the prospect of a quick process or another it was conducted by, or conveyed to, the Red Chinese" that their territory would be designated as sanctuary from U.S. attack.

MacArthur agreed with Byrd, who had written asking his comments, that there were "amplified" shortings in force. He said the late Gen. Walter Walker's Eighth Army was once down to "five rounds per gun."

He said his requests to bomb and blockade Red China and use Chinese Nationalist troops "were initially approved by the Joint Chiefs of Staff on Jan. 12, 1951."

"But somewhere between the offices of the secretary of defense, the secretary of state and the President, those recommendations were pigeonholed," he said.

At the time, Gen. George C. Marshall was secretary of defense. Dean Acheson was secretary of state and Truman was President.

MacArthur said this country then "took the course leading to the present stalemate of positional warfare," which "necessitated tremendous increased expenditure of ammunition to protect our lines from enemy infiltration or collapse."

The general now is an official of Remington-Union.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur

NATO Formally Asks 5 Members To Ratify Pact

The North Atlantic Treaty Organization today formally requested five of its members to come to a quick agreement with West Germany to create the proposed European army.

The treaty, which was signed in 1949, asks the five members to ratify the pact. The five countries are Belgium, Luxembourg, and the Netherlands. The treaty also asks the five members to ratify their respective laws authorizing the use of their respective militaries in the defense of West Germany.

The treaty also asks the five members to ratify their respective laws authorizing the use of their respective militaries in the defense of West Germany.

5 Are Believed Dead Aboard Navy Plane

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Five men were believed killed in the crash of a Navy plane just off San Diego last night.

Bank Bandit Is Dead, 3 Hurt In Holdup Effort

Robbers Surprised In St. Louis Attempt

ST. LOUIS (AP)—One bandit shot and killed himself, two others were wounded and a policeman was shot in the head here today in an attempted bank holdup.

The bandit, trapped in the bank after capture, jumped, shot and killed himself as police poured tear gas into the bank. About 20 persons, including employees, took refuge in the basement.

The bandit struck Heitz in the back with a revolver. One of the other robbers was wounded, one in the back and another in the foot. The condition of one was reported serious.

The robbers were surprised by two policemen, who were cruising through a couple of blocks of the Southwest Bank in the 2000 block of West South Kings Highway in West St. Louis, when they shot at them. One policeman was shot in the back minutes after an alarm had been sounded by an employee at the bank.

One of the policemen, Sgt. Robert Heitz, was shot in the back on the ground. The other policeman, Patman M. F. Stein, was shot in the front.

Stein reported hearing one shot the one that struck Heitz in the back. Heitz was rushed to the hospital as were the two wounded robbers. The condition of Heitz was not immediately reported.

As the bandit made a break for the door, Stein fired the bullet that struck the bandit above the left eye on the right side.

A second robber, carrying a sawed-off shotgun, jumped in the back corridor of the bank as police reinforcements rushed to the bank. They were armed with tear gas.

Heitz was rushed to the hospital as were the two wounded robbers. The condition of Heitz was not immediately reported.

Legislature Appears Set For $350 Annual Raise For Teachers

Tale Of Horror Told By Survivor Of 1000 Men Cut Off From Lines

By GEORGE MACARTHUR.
 FREEDOM VILLAGE (AP)—The thousand American soldiers cut off from their lines... were desperate... they spilled out a giant SOS with corpses of their fallen comrades.

Under the surrender agreement, the wounded were supposed to be released. But they were not. Instead, a message came through to take off in groups of five. Most of us didn't want to leave the wounded so somebody I don't know who arranged to surrender.

The House would up consideration of the bill. School leaders outside the Legislature would not be quoted but it was plain they were thinking of trying to get more of the $300 raise. The teachers want before the Legislature session is over.
