New Soviet Policy Shifts Threaten West

By United Press International

Ominous developments in world communism threatened the West today with new and perhaps dangerous shifts in Soviet foreign policy. Diplomatic quarters feared new Soviet intervention in the Middle East and speculated on the possibility of direct Soviet action against Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia.

Communist China unleashed a new attack on Tito and predicted a "long period of furious, repeated struggles between East and West." The statement appeared to have sounded the death knell of communism's professed doctrine of "peaceful co-existence" between East and West.

Another development was a two-day meeting in Moscow of the Central Committee of the Soviet Communist Party in which Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev delivered a still secret speech believed to have outlined Russia's return to Stalinism.

There was every indication the Communist campaign against Tito was reaching the explosion point. Communist China was doing the leading and Moscow was reacting with blasts of its own against "deviation" and "revisionism" in Yugoslavia.

"Revisionism" is the Soviet Communist government, warned in a front-page editorial today that the satellite nations must toe the Red line or suffer the bloody fate of Hungary. This coincided with diplomatic reports in London that Russia would carry out sweeping purges throughout the Communist bloc nations to weed out "revisionism."

senhower's tribute to Nagy was a "pretext for new attempts to break up a summit conference." —The newspaper "Soviet Russia" hinted that Russia would send "volunteers" to Lebanon in the event of Western intervention.

Meet Called To Stop Hungary Bloodbath

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—The United Nations Special Hungarian Committee, under pressure from the United States, has called a closed session for Saturday to try to head off a new bloodbath in Hungary.

Hungary sources at the U. N. said at least 120 persons faced trial and possible execution in Budapest.

The five-nation committee will sit a mass of charges against the Hungarian Communist regime. It was called into action after the U. S. State Department urged the U. N. to press a "full-scale" investigation of the execution of former Premier Imre Nagy, Gen. Pal Malster and two other leaders of the 1956 revolution.

Both Houses of Congress also approved resolutions condemning Russian "barbarism and perfidy" and expressing a "deep sense of indignation" over the deaths of the Hungarian patriots.

Washington dispatches indicated the U. S. might seek a special session of the General Assembly to consider the Hungarian situation.

U. S. To Extend Financial Aid To Philippines

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States agreed today to extend up to 125 million dollars in loans to help the Philippines through a financial crisis and on to a new road of economic development.

The agreement was contained in a joint communique issued by President Eisenhower and Philippine President Carlos P. Garcia, concluding Garcia's three-day mission to Washington.

The loans include 75 million dollars in new credit from the U. S. export-import bank and an agreement to consider specific Philippine development projects for loans from the development loan fund of the U. S. foreign aid program "in an amount not to exceed 50 million dollars."

Garcia also won these other assurances:

"President Eisenhower made clear that . . . any armed attack against the Philippines would involve an attack against United States forces stationed there and against the United States and would instantly be repelled."

"The United States will continue to assist in the development of the armed forces of the Philippines, in accordance with mutual security programs jointly approved with the Republic of the Philippines."

INDONESIA TO CHECK NEWS JAKARTA (UPI)—Indonesia will create a "body for the coordination of information" to check news reports entering or leaving the country, the independent news agency Antara reported today. Antara said the organization would, if necessary, supervise postal centers, cable centers and telephone or radio-telephone talks.

Radioactive Element Increase In Bodies Told

WAYNESVILLE, N. C. (UPI)—A top Army medical researcher said Thursday that radioactive elements in the bodies of human beings have increased "roughly 100 per cent" in the last two years but he does not believe the increase is harmful.

"The level of fallout collected in man are well below tolerance," Col. James B. Hartgering told a meeting of doctors from seven states.

Hartgering, director of the Division of Nuclear Medicine and Chemistry of the Research Institute at the Army's Walter Reed Hospital in Washington, spoke at the fifth annual Mountain top Medical Assembly.

Tuesday Tentative Opening Of Pool In Goldsboro

Plans have been completed for the tentative opening of the Goldsboro Swimming pool Tuesday, said Ronald W. Perry, Recreation Director for the City of Sanford.

Unless there is a construction problem or some other unforeseen incident, the pool will be open then, he said.

Manager and water safety instructor will be Harold L. Smith, said Perry and the two lifeguards will be Willie Turner and Rod Johnson.

The pool will be open seven days a week, pointed out Perry, because of a filter system that filters the entire capacity of the pool every six hours, he said. "This means that we do not have to close down the pool in order to clean it," said Perry.

Swimming classes will be started almost immediately with the opening of the pool. Perry said this morning. These classes will be under the direction of the American Red Cross water safety program.

Admission to the pool will be the same as for the other municipal pool said Perry, 10 cents for children and 25 cents for adults.

The pool will be open from 9 to 11 and 2 to 6 except on Sundays when the pool hours will be 2 to 6, explained Perry.

Former Governor Caldwell Attacks Nation's Lawyers

ORLANDO (UPI)—Former Florida Gov. Millard F. Caldwell attacked the nation's lawyers Thursday for a "panty waist" fear of criticizing the U. S. Supreme Court.

Caldwell, addressing the Orange County Bar Assn., said it was the responsibility of lawyers to halt "judicial tyranny."

He said 20 years ago President Roosevelt tried to "pack" the court, and lawyers of the land "rose up in protest." Now, he said, the lawyers "are steeped in timid silence."

"The chief weakness of the court stems from the fact that the last three presidents have, in fact, packed the court with amateur philosophers instead of lawyers," Caldwell charged.

The former governor termed as "clap trap" such statements as a Supreme Court decision is the supreme law of the land and ought not to be criticized.

He said Article VI of the federal constitution specifically defines the "supreme law of the land" as the constitution itself. A Supreme Court decision is the law of that case only, he said.

Any decision made contrary to the constitution, Caldwell added, "must be regarded as usurpation of authority."

Caldwell said traditionally lawyers have been the guardians of the constitution and the American way of life, but in recent years have "resigned their responsibility and failed their trust."

He said lawyers now have two courses open to them—to sit back and watch the U. S. government crumble, or to fight for constitutional government by pinpointing every impingement and alerting the public.

Caldwell also lashed out at the two major political parties, saying that neither is "worthy of the name it bears."

"Both present day parties are addicted to the task of garnering gullible votes and neither has any real concern for the future," he said.

Commissioner To Seek Reelection

County Commissioner F. A. Dyson announced yesterday that "it is my intention to qualify for County Commissioner from District 2 in Seminole County during the qualifying dates as prescribed by law."

Commissioner Dyson will qualify to succeed himself as a commissioner in District 2 which embraces the Sanford area.

Dyson said "I will make a formal announcement later in run in the Democratic Primary Sept. 9, 1958."

Fishermen Not Taking Advantage Of Convenience

Seminole County Judge Wilson Alexander said this morning that his offices have been kept open during the noon hour all this week so that local citizens could secure fishing licenses.

"We haven't issued a single fishing license this week during the noon hour," said Judge Alexander.

"We're trying to work out something for the convenience of the people and no one has taken advantage of this opportunity," he said.

Judge Alexander stated that the noon hour is an excellent time for local office workers, business men and downtown employees to pick up fishing licenses.

"We will stay open next week during the noon hour," Judge Alexander said, "and we hope some will take advantage of this opportunity to secure their fishing licenses before the deadline."

School Expansion Is Necessary In County

Growth in Seminole County schools is second only to Brevard County, R. T. Milwee pointed out last night as he spoke to the Civitan Club at the dinner meeting.

Milwee, speaking on the $3.2 million school bond issue, said the cost to the citizens would be very low and would not exceed 1/4 mill during the life of the bonds.

"To start with," Milwee said, "it wouldn't take that much."

Because of the tremendous growth in Seminole County, school expansion is necessary, Milwee told the Civitan Club members.

"Even to bring our outmoded schools up-to-date would be of tremendous cost," Milwee pointed out, "but even then we would not have the additional classroom space necessary to eliminate double sessions."

Milwee was introduced by Melvin Dekle at the dinner meeting held at Pinescrest Inn.

William Halback, president of the club, presided at last night's session when members went on record supporting the school bond issue.

Sanford Featured In State Magazine

Sanford is featured in statewide publicity on the front page of "The Sheriff's Star," monthly publication of the Florida Sheriffs Association.

The picture depicting a Sanford Safety Session was taken for The Sanford Herald and reproduced in the monthly magazine.

VAH-3 Largest Unit Within Hatwing One

The Navy is determined to give the American people the utmost in effective defense for every dollar made available to it.

Exemplary of this concept was the decision to decommission the Heavy Attack Training Unit based at the Naval Air Station, Sanford.

This decision brought about the transfer of the Heavy Attack Training Unit's mission and man-power to Heavy Attack Squadron Three (VAH-3), a member squadron of Heavy Attack Wing One.

VAH-3, under the command of Cdr. Clarence F. Frossard, with Cdr. Sidney N. Baney, serving as Executive Officer, is charged with the dual responsibility of incorporating the training capability formerly carried on by the separate training unit and in addition continuing to maintain its operational capability.

VAH-3 has thus become the largest, most flexible and versatile squadron within Heavy Attack Wing One.

Elks Club Staging Benefit Barbecue Sunday Afternoon

Something new is being tried by the local Elks Club.

A benefit chicken barbecue will be served Sunday from 11 a. m. to 2 p. m.

Members of the Elks Lodge are staging the benefit chicken barbecue for the purpose of buying two modern collapsible wheelchairs for lending to recuperating patients and incapacitated people who do not have one available.

A member of the committee said today that "we are serving our chicken barbecue at folks return home from Sunday School and church and as they head for the beaches or lake shores for an afternoon of relaxation."

"Here is an opportunity," he said, "for folks to pick up barbecued chicken dinners to take with them in boxes or eat right at the Elks Club barbecue pit."

Jaycees To Support School Bond Issue

"We're going to try to interest you in assisting us in every way you can in spearheading this election on Sept. 9," said R. T. Milwee, Seminole County Superintendent of Public Instruction, as he spoke to the Sanford-Seminole County Jaycees at their luncheon meeting yesterday.

Milwee spoke on the 3.2 million school bond issue approved by the Seminole County Board of Education at a recent meeting.

"We decided again a special registration for the bond issue," said Milwee, "when we found that the Seminole County Supervisor of Registration was conducting a registration and that such an action on our part would mean another registration concurrent with the present one."

Pointing to the unprecedented increase in enrollment, Milwee said that more than 1,000 children more than the previous year attended Seminole County Schools during the 1957-58 session.

At Lymon school, in grade 1-6 said Milwee, there was a 41 per cent increase in registration and in grades 7-12 a 35 per cent increase.

In Sanford, he said, there has been a steady increase in all schools.

"With that growth and the need for three new schools, we thought that we should get as much money as we could do legally in order to meet the required classroom facilities," Milwee said.

The Superintendent of Public Instruction described the detail through which the Board of Education must operate in order to construct a school.

"The State Department of Education tells us that we have very functional schools and classrooms and that is because we try to get our money's worth out of every square foot," said Milwee.

Stewart Gatchel, administrative assistant to Milwee, gave Jaycees a rundown of the 14 projects included in the resolution calling for the bond issue.

He also gave, in detail, the financial picture of the Board of Education and the Seminole County School system.

In pointing out that a $ 1/4 mill levy would be necessary after the first few years, Gatchel told the Jaycees that "We wanted to show the outside picture of what we wanted the taxpayers to pay."

Milwee explained that "financing is complicated for we operate under the Minimum Foundation Program which very few people understand."

He also pointed out that "anything we get from the State or from the Federal Government we're going to have to pay for in some way or other."

"The thing that looks good to us is the matching funds with which we can add additional rooms over and beyond what this program calls for. It gives us a chance to build as we grow," said Milwee.

The speaker was introduced by Mason Wharton, program chairman for the meeting.

Tom McDonald, president of the Jaycees said, the Board of Directors of the Sanford-Seminole County Jaycees "voted to support the program."

Road Board Okays State's Largest Work Program

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—The largest work program in the state's history was approved Thursday by the Florida Road Board, meeting for the first time under its new chairman, Joe Grotgaut.

A 1958-59 budget of some 200 million dollars was approved, but the board estimated only about 85 million dollars of the work actually be spent during the fiscal year.

Almost 75 million was carried over from work already in progress, about 60 million was for administration, maintenance, debt service and other necessary expenses.

Grotgaut, former executive assistant to the governor, was named Road Board chairman during a major reorganization last week. The job carries an annual salary of $15,500.

Former chairman Wilbur Jones resigned and assumed the post of administrator of the Interstate road system at a salary of $15,000, a drop of $500.

A second new post, that of administrator for the third district, was created for James E. Nelson, who resigned as representative from the third district to make room for Grotgaut. Nelson will take care of the administrative end of the district, leaving Grotgaut free to handle the chairmanship.

William D. Singer, Miami, was named to the board to succeed Jones as representative from district four.

Jr. High To Hold Party Tonight In Youth Wing

The first planned program for the children using the Youth Wing of the Sanford Civic Center will get underway tonight at 7:30 when a shipwrecked dance is staged.

This event will be for the Junior High Children and will be under the direction of Judy Benedict.

Children will attend the dance as sailors. The program, from 7:30 to 10:30 p. m. will feature dancing, games, and a scavenger hunt. Ronald W. Perry, recreation director, said.

Flood Threats Shift to Illinois

VINCENNES, Ind. (UPI)—Major flood threats from the ramaging Wabash River shifted temporarily from Indiana to neighboring Illinois today.

Levee workers in the Vincennes area, exhausted from three days' efforts in reinforcing possible danger spots along the flood wall, were confident the river would not make a breakthrough here.

Officials said, however, heavy rains in the north could alter the whole picture.

The river was expected to crest at 27 to 27 1/2 feet this afternoon.

Across the river, at Nashville, Ill., the situation was more critical. State police and volunteers maintained an around-the-clock patrol, plugging weak spots.

Armless Led Wins Radio Ham License
SUFFALO, N. Y.—With one hand, 16-year-old Lynn Nichols is one of the country's most courageous and persevering radio hams.

This spring, young Lynn passed a Federal Communications Commission examination for an unlimited amateur broadcasting license. His next goal, and one he fully expects to reach, is to become a radio and television technician.

The unusual thing about Lynn is that he manipulates his sounding key with his toes. His arms were amputated last summer after he suffered severe burns when a metal pole he was erecting for a radio aerial fell against electric wires in his back yard.

It was a tough blow for the young radio enthusiast. But he made the long pull back with the aid of Buffalo area residents who pitched in with a fund-raising campaign for Lynn and fellow hams from around the country who contributed to the more than $1,000 worth of radio equipment set up in his bedroom.

Lynn easily passed the FCC exam requiring standing and receiving Morse code at 10 words a minute. He manipulates the sensitive sounding key with the toes of his right foot and can send as fast as 10 words a minute.

Broadcasting from his bedroom nightly, using the call letters "K3-DU", the youth is working toward the American Radio Relay League's award for "working all states." He's already radio-talked to amateurs in about a dozen states.

Young Lynn is recognized as a member of the Rag Chewer's Club — for amateurs who have kept a single conversation for more than an hour — the Military Affiliate Radio System and the Erie County Civil Defense Communications division.

Dr. Robert F. Heiser, professor of anthropology, reported that he and his colleagues excavated three earth mounds 500 yards from the Culicite Pyramid, which contains buried, pottery fragments and artifacts about 2,000 years old.

The mounds concealed man-made structures of large round boulders held together with clay. They apparently served as bases for the ritual temples of an ancient people.

Heiser said, "I was hiking across the area. I've been there since morning and now I'm getting out of 'the country'."

"I've got to. They'll kill me if they find me. You know they will. I'm scared. I'm awfully scared."

She squeezed his hand. "What all are. Nobody knows what they'll do next. Maybe they'll murder every one of us."

"Where's the man? Is he all right?"

"He's in town. She's fine. Regan is taking care of her."

"I've got to be riding. I want to be a long ways off by sunup."

He stopped at the corner of the house, uncertain of his next move.

THE LONE DEPUTY

CHAPTER 37
BRUCE JARVIS had to concede that he was in a fog, alive but only half alive. He remained there until his reluctant mind finally worked his problem out. Here he was in the Potter house, sitting just in case Farnum was around. He'd run off Farnum was there. He didn't figure out why. It was just that the man didn't have any business there, and his presence represented danger.

He slipped out of the saddle and crossed the yard to the back door. He paused a moment, huddled against the wall. A wild notion started his heart pounding. Little Potter could be killed, but not even a bullet could stop her tongue from wagging. That faint, miller, strident voice was screaming at him.

He had all he could do to keep from running. Then he remembered Wait Cronin saying Lince couldn't hurt him except with her tongue. That was true, dead or alive, she'd be chased forward and opened the screen door. It squeaked, apparently led in the night silence. The next instant George Farnum called, "That you, Bruce?"

Bruce's heart started for his throat. He slammed the screen door and whirled and ran. He stumbled over a chum and fell headlong, landing on his chin and belly like a steered runner. He heard the screen door slam again and Farnum's heavy tread and his great voice calling out the night. "Bruce! I want to talk to you, Bruce. Where are you?"

He was up again and running. He reached his horse, swung into the saddle and drumming his heels into the animal's flanks, he took off up the road. Farnum's bull voice dying in the distance. He raised up, sucked in a long breath, and then went on again at a slower pace.

He didn't know why he was so scared of Farnum. He was just scared of everybody now, everybody except Susie. They'd all turn him in, he thought. They were too scared of Cole Weston to hide him. But what about Susie? It would be all right, he decided, if he could see her without her sister Dora knowing about it. He had to trust somebody, and Susie was the only one he could. Hunger was gnawing at him with sharp, animal teeth. He'd get him something to eat. He knew she would.

So, when he reached the Farnum place, he tried again, leaving his horse at the edge of the road and slipping stealthily across the yard to the house. He hoped Dora would be asleep. Maybe Susie was alone. But how could he find out?

He stopped at the corner of the house, uncertain of his next move.

He heard someone coming up the road. Farnum's heavy tread and his great voice calling out the night. "Bruce, Bruce, don't be a fool!"

"Bruce, you've got to get me out of here. I'll ride behind you. You'll be safe as long as I'm with you."

"He had never struck a woman in his life, but he would have been surprised to be hit by her scolding behavior..."

the story continues tomorrow.

Baseball League To Be Organized

A regular baseball league will be organized next Tuesday afternoon as a part of the Sanford Recreation Departments summer program. Howard Gordie said today.

Registration for the league will take place at Pinecrest School, said Gordie at 2 o'clock Tuesday. "We plan to have from four to six teams in the league according to the number of boys who turn out," he said.

Boys from 11 to 14 years old will be eligible, Gordie explained. "We have three fields on which we can play," he said.

"There have been many requests for regular baseball, the recreation department baseball man said. "It seems as if there are a lot of boys who want to play baseball and we want to make the game available for them," said Gordie.

4-H Girls Return From Short Course

By Sibyl Grant LONGWOOD—Seminole County's delegation of 8 4-H girls returned to Seminole County Saturday, after a week in the capital city, Tallahassee. Attending the 43rd Annual Short Course for Florida 4-H Club Girls, held at the Florida State University were: Sibyl Grant, Bette Robinson and Gail Ruediger representing the Longwood Club; Mary Ann Tesinsky, Sandra Bellhorn, Marjorie Fabry, Jo-Anne Oliver, Joann Wolff, all from Oviedo Club.

Traveling by car, these girls were accompanied by Miss Myrtle Wilson, Seminole County Agent and County Adult Leader, Mrs. Stephen Mikler of Slavia. Living in college dormitories, attending classes in college classrooms, with college instructors, plus all of the fun sessions that are a part of the annual Short Course, is an experience every eligible 4-H girl looks forward to sharing. Again seeing old friends and making new ones is a delightful part of short course.

The theme "Making Our Best Better" was carried out in the talks given in general assembly, and in the classes. Over 600 girls, some from every county in the state, benefited from the intensive teaching of the different avenues of learning.

To list a few of the many topics so interesting subjects as: "As We Meet The Eye," "Living With Parents," "When You Enter," "Value Your Smile," "Let's Go To Press," "Art In The Home" and "4-H Opportunities In Conservation."

Dr. Marshall O. Watkins, Director of the Florida Agricultural Extension Service, and Miss Anna Mae Sikes, State Home Demonstration Agent, guide and direct the program of Girls' 4-H Club Work in Florida.

Members of the overall committee for coordinating the plans for this 43rd Annual Short Course are: Misses Emily King, Joyce Lewis, Frances Cannon, Elizabeth Dickson and Mrs. Gladys K. Kendall.

All the specialists and district home demonstration agents work together, planning special programs and group activities for Short Course.

County home demonstration agents help with Short Course and work closely with 4-H girls during the week.

The Florida State University faculty, Florida State University Collegiate 4-H Club girls, other University students, as well as the State Home Demonstration secretarial staff, help to keep Short Course running smoothly.

Dr. Robert M. Strotzer, president of Florida State University welcomed the 4-Hers to the University for this Short Course. On Tuesday afternoon, President and Mrs. Strotzer were hosts to the entire Short Course for the Junior Senior Reception. This gala affair took place in the Strotzer home.

The Short Course attendants visited the Florida Governors Mansion in a specially arranged tour, on Thursday.

Governor LeRoy Collins was scheduled to address the girls in assembly Friday morning, but was unable to keep the appointment. State officers for the State 4-H Club Girls' Council were installed in very impressive ceremonies Friday evening.

Another Short Course for Florida 4-H girls went into history as the closing sessions were highlighted by the traditional Candle Lighting Service. To see each girl light her candle from the candle of "Service" and "Truth" and take her place in the huge 4 Leaf Clover as a token of her pledge to carry the light attained in this Short Course back home, to share it with her family, friends and fellow 4-H girls, is a truly inspiring and impressive scene.

Vacation Bible School Comes To Close Tonight

By Sibyl Grant LONGWOOD—The Vacation Bible School being conducted by the Longwood Equipment Club comes to a close tonight. Commencement exercises are planned to begin at 7:30, in the auditorium of the new church building.

Each department will have on display samples of the handwork done by individuals in each group. Each department will have a certain portion of the closing exercises held in the auditorium.

The Rev. Louis Futch, pastor of the church, and workers in this summer Bible School welcome all parents and friends of the children enrolled. The church had set a goal of an enrollment of 200 for this year, but this goal has been exceeded by the enrollment of 271.

Last year's average daily attendance was 129. This year's average attendance broke an all time record with 217. Highest attendance during the two weeks was Thursday, with an attendance of 239.

The offerings given during the Bible School by the children are used as mission offerings. The money is sent to the home missionary office in Jacksonville, to be used in the world wide mission program.

A worship period was observed each morning, at which time every one met in the auditorium. After worship, the various groups went into separate departments for Bible study and memory work.

Each child enjoyed the planned hand work. The Junior and Intermediate boys, led by Mr. Meritt, built tables for the primary and beginner classes.

The general attitude of the boys and girls during the two weeks was very good and all seemed to enjoy the school very much. When asked Thursday morning if they were glad that Bible School was almost over, they replied, "No." Apparently they were willing to continue indefinitely with the fun and study.

Beginning Wrong Place To Start Bible Says Scholar

By Lou's Casals UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL One reason why many people have difficulty in reading the Bible is that they begin at the beginning.

That's the wrong place to start, according to Dr. J. Carter Swain, a noted biblical scholar who heads the English Bible department of the National Council of Churches.

Swain has composed a little handbook on Bible reading. It's suggestions on understanding the scriptures include a sort of road map to enable the reader to get through the whole book without "bogging down in the bog."

"Since the Bible is so profoundly a book about Christ, it is important to begin with those sections which tell what he did when he was here among men," says Swain.

That means beginning with the New Testament Gospels. But Swain would not have you read them in order—Matthew, Mark, Luke and John.

Read Mark First "Mark, earliest and shortest of the Gospels, ought to be read first—and at a single sitting," he says. "Here we are confronted at once by 'The Gospel of Jesus Christ, the Son of God.'"

"Luke's account should be read next, noting Jesus' concern for all sort of people, and how, by teaching and example, he went about doing good."

Next, Swain recommends, read John, the most "theological" of the Gospels. Then you are ready for Matthew, a book which contains the sermon on the mount and many familiar parables.

In Swain's sequence, as in the Bible's, the Gospels are followed by the Book of Acts, which records the early history of the Christian Community, and by the letters, or "Epistles," which Paul and other Apostles wrote to the young churches that sprang up in Asia Minor during the first century A. D.

"We are ready now to explore the Old Testament when we look forward to the Messiah's coming."

Don't Begin With Genesis But Swain says, it is best not to begin at the Book of Genesis and read straight through the Old Testament. Start with the Prophets whose writings are referred to in the New Testament: Isaiah, Micah, Hosea, Jeremiah, Malachi, Habakkuk, Zephaniah, Ezekiel, Zachariah, Kings, Samuel.

After the Prophets, read the books in which the law of Moses is set forth—Exodus, Leviticus, Numbers and Deuteronomy. Consult commentaries on the last three to get a good edition of the Bible to see how these books are dealt with in the New Testament.

Now go on to the miscellaneous "writings" preserved in the Old Testament: the poetry of the Psalms, the moving stories of Job and Ruth, the wisdom of Proverbs. Next to lay in store of the book which comes first in the Bible—Genesis.

The last book of the Bible, Revelation, also comes last in Swain's list. The millennialism which this book of "apocalyptic vision" often produces can be avoided, Swain says, by remembering that the writer of Revelation was using symbolic figures, "well recognized" by men of his own era.

There's Mr. Magoo In Every Family Says Jim Backus

By FRID DANZIG UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL SEW YORK (UPI)—How's the Magoo in your family?

According to burly Jim Backus, the voice of the merrily mad, innocent little cartoon character, there's a Mr. Magoo in every family.

In his, it was father, said Backus, a little broader, rounder, better actor with a delicate sense of humor.

"Magoo is not just a cartoon character like Tom and Jerry. There's a lot more to him than funny sounds. He's deeply sarcastic. People say he makes fun of neurotic people. But I have a feeling Magoo's not neurotic. He just sees exactly what he wants to see. And when he's wrong about something, he never apologizes. Never says 'Thank you,' either. He just goes along with his fixed ideas. He swears well but he goes through only his own words," Backus said.

Gives Magoo Example "Here's an example of a Magoo I met the other day. I was in this restaurant, responsible for a merrily, ruffled shirt, and said and a cartoonist. I never looked back. And this guy comes up and says, 'Gee, Mr. Backus, you look just like you do on TV.' Now, that's a Magoo."

Tramatically, while others may talk like Magoo on television, Backus can't.

"I wanted to do him on 'The Ed Sullivan Show' and the 'Magoo' people—UOA and Columbia Pictures—made a whole big thing. Seems they own the character of Magoo and if there's any tie-in, they've got to have a say in it. But I could do a radio date with out too much trouble, I guess."

"When my contract was up, they tried other guys for the voice. But even though others could match the voice, they couldn't match my ad lib. Backus said, "When I do Magoo, I'm always saying something under my breath. If they ever figured out what I was saying, I'd be in a jam."

To Be Full Length Movie The supreme effort for Backus and/or Quincy Magoo is coming in a full length feature—a cartoon called, "Magoo's Arabian Nights."

"They wanted me to spend three weeks dubbing in the dialogue, working from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. I told them they're crazy. My throat'd look like shredded wheat in a day. That voice takes it out of you, mate."

When he's not making pictures, or acting in Hollywood, Backus is in New York appearing on TV panel shows, variety shows and cooking up new TV formats. Having appeared on "To Tell The Truth" many times, Backus is an authority on panelists. "It's a license to steal money," he said.

Hollywood World Cultural Center

Editors note: Vernon Scott is on vacation. Singer Nat (King) Cole puts in a word for Hollywood as a music center for the world.

By NAT "KING" COLE Written for United Press International HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Hollywood has become a world cultural center second to none. Some of the finest music being created in our generation is composed here, by great musicians drawn to the West Coast by the motion picture and television industry.

Their musical scores contribute a great deal to the full enjoyment of a movie or TV production, and the movie they set against music have the power of living good pictures into the category of great productions.

Two such movies which come to mind are "High Noon" and "The High and the Mighty." Both were top stories, eminently told and well acted. But Dimitri Tiomkin's music—he won an Oscar for his best dramatic scoring for "The High and the Mighty"—made them even better. These pictures also indicate that if a score is outstanding, it will outlive the movie and become a standard.

Music Will Outlast Film Pursuing this theme further, I think we can safely predict that Victor Young's "Around the World" written for the Mike Todd film, will be played long after the movie exhausts its run.

I am proud of my association with Nelson Riddle, one of Hollywood's leading musicians. A triple-threat man in his field, Riddle scored my Paramount film, "St. Louis Blues," which is based upon the life story and music of the late Will C. Handy. He also conducts and arranges both my nightclub acts and Capitol recording sessions.

Every motion picture studio has made its contribution to good music. Although no longer at MGM, Johnny Green cannot be divorced from the fine music that came out of the Culver City lot during his tenure there, including his Academy Award-winning "Easter Parade" and "American in Paris" scores.

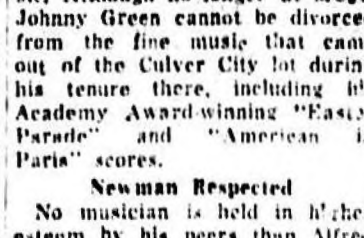

Newman Respected No musician is held in higher esteem by his peers than Alfred Newman at 20th Century-Fox, with over 30 Academy Award nominations and five Oscars—for "Alexander's Ragtime Band," "Song of Bernadette," "Mother Wore Tights," "With a Song in My Heart" and "Call Me Madam."

Also eminent in their field are Warner Brothers' Max Steiner (with more than 25 nominations) and three Oscars for "Grand Hotel" and "The Sign of the Cross"; Elmer Bernstein, James Van Heusen

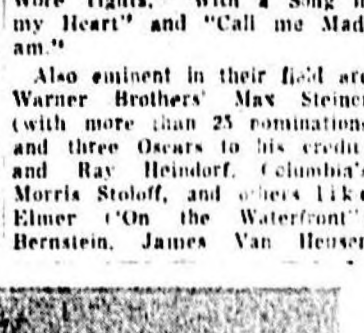

Sammy Cahn, composer of this year's award-winning original song, "All the Way."

The Power Grab Is On! Every Citizen Must Voice His Views.

The Congressional fight over labor legislation may prove a turning point in the nation's history.

We've noticed that vote after vote in the Senate revealed without question the power of unions to influence legislation—a power which, unless curbed, could lead to a labor government in fact if not in name.

It is doubly significant that this display of power came at a time when labor bosses were supposedly on the defensive as the result of shocking revelations by the McClellan Labor Rackets Investigating Committee.

This situation points up very sharply the urgency of a nationwide public affairs program to emphasize the need for good legislation, good government, good citizenship, and the right climate for the nation's economic growth.

Frankly, we feel that everyone has known for many years of the vast power of organized labor to influence legislation. This is due, of course, in large measure to the political activity of union labor in behalf of candidates expected to vote for labor's program.

Conservatives in Congress are convinced that labor—at some point—will overreach itself in grasping for more and more power and, as a result, the public will rebel. It could be, for all that we know, that the present fight over labor legislation will provide the spark for an effective campaign to curb the monopoly power of labor.

Perhaps to accomplish this, however, a campaign of education must be intensified to convince members of Congress and the public that worthwhile labor legislation is essential in the national interest.

Congress still has the opportunity to enact a worthwhile bill as the battle shifted to the house.

What we would like to point out is the fact that in a poll of the Sixth Congressional District of Michigan, in which automobile production is concentrated, shows that an overwhelming majority of those replying to a questionnaire are opposed to the policies of Walter Reuther and other union leaders.

Representative Chamberlain sent the questionnaire to every home in his District, in which he said more than 71,000 workers normally are employed by automotive industries.

He added that this was more auto workers than are employed in any other Congressional District in the nation.

Ten thousand replies, tabulated by IBM, showed among other things that: 77 per cent do not believe that the policies adopted by union leaders represent the thinking of rank and file union membership. This was concurred in by 70 per cent of hourly wage employees, 80 per cent of whom were union members. Then 82 per cent of the total thought that, to avoid possible labor strife at this time, labor and management leaders should be urged to renew existing union contracts. This view was held by 77 per cent of hourly wage employees—contrary to Mr. Reuther's views.

It points out the fact that every citizen should make known his or her views regarding this huge unmanageable power monopoly that is attempting to take over Washington and our government.

If the citizens as a whole do not let Senate and Congressional leaders know how they feel then who will?

Know Your Check Writers Better

One fine thing was noted in recent news—the cooperation between banks and law enforcement agencies in the apprehension of check forgers and bad check passers.

Merchants have lost many thousands of dollars from bogus checks and bad checks. It's quite rough for a merchant to accept a check in good faith—only to have it bounce back in several days with the various markings of the bank's bookkeeping department.

Sheriff J. L. Hobby and his staff of deputies have spent many long hours trying to track down those who swoop down on the merchant, take his money, and leave a worthless piece of paper in exchange.

How many thousands of dollars worth of these bogus pieces of paper have passed through the Sheriff's hands can hardly be estimated.

Justice of the Peace W. Hugh Duncan has a sizeable display of them—just about $10,000 dollars worth. He's collected in the neighborhood of $12,000 worth for local merchants.

Sheriff Hobby and Justice of the Peace Duncan have two warnings for merchants and business people who deal with the public:

First—know who it is you're dealing with. And be sure that you know the signer of the check as well as the endorser.

Second—demand identification and proof of the customers reliability.

Only this week, a picture of a check appears in "The Sheriff's Star," a magazine circulated by the Florida Sheriffs Association, that is being held by Sheriff J. L. Hobby. It is definitely a forgery but it looks genuine except for one little discrepancy.

Be sure you know your checks and your check signers and endorsers.

Sherman Adams is reputed to be a man of few words in telephone conversations. And lately he may have wished that on some occasions they had seen even fewer.

Battle of Editorials—There's one Congressman who couldn't get a vote in Florida, even though he is a Democrat. He is Charles A. Vanik, of Cleveland. Under his name in the Congressional Record is the following: "With further increases promised in the retail price of orange juice, every American family should consider reducing orange juice consumption or use substitute food until a reasonable retail price returns to the market." Vanik then inserted an article from a Cleveland newspaper that pointed an accusing finger at Florida citrus growers. He said, "The American consumer is also plagued with controlled pricing resulting from the establishment of pricing and marketing cartels, some of which are established under State law."

Foreign News Commentary

UPI Foreign News Analyst

Fear of "Titoism" seems to be emerging as the chief reason for the execution of Hungarian revolt leaders Imre Nagy and Pal Matyer.

For months, Russian and satellite Communist leaders have been trying to pull back from the liberalized policy which Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev inaugurated after the death of Josef Stalin.

There has been no indication that the rulers of any Red-ruled country had any reason to fear an uprising—an anti-Communist popular explosion.

Nor has there been any indication that there was any organized "Titoist" activity in Soviet Russia, Communist China or the East European satellite countries.

But official and semi-official statements coming from Moscow and Budapest, the Hungarian capital, point to fears that a popular uprising is possible in one or more of the satellites and that a tendency toward what Red leaders call "Titoism," "revisionism" and "nationalism" is dangerously strong among Communist Party members in Russia and Red China, as well as in the satellite states. "Will Frighten Others."

"This will frighten others who intend to attack people," the official Budapest radio said of the executions—"the people" meaning the Communist regime.

Dispatches from Belgrade, President Tito's capital, and from Western European capitals speculate on the possibility that there may now be a wave of executions in the Communist world that would mark a revision to the brutal, radiative purges of the Stalin era.

That may or may not be. But it is pretty certain that the Russian Reds will increase their pressure, already heavy, on Polish Communist leader Wladyslaw Gomulka to give up entirely the partial independence from Moscow domination which he won as the result of the 1956 Polish revolt, Gomulka's Warsaw Revolt.

By avoiding anti-Russian riots, Gomulka won his revolt where Nagy failed in Hungary. But there can be no doubt that Gomulka is regarded by the Kremlin as second only to Tito as a horrible example of independent-mindedness.

There is speculation that, following the Hungarian execution, the Russian Communists may try to take some action against Tito himself.

But what they could do, short of open war, is hard to figure out. Tito is a formidable enemy: It will be 10 years on June 26 since the Communist Information Bureau, the now defunct central propaganda agency of the Communist countries, denounced Tito for "undertaking an entirely wrong policy on the principal questions of foreign and internal politics, which means a retreat from Marxism-Leninism."

What that really meant was that Tito, once called Stalin's most loyal satellite leader, had refused to subordinate his own country's interests to Russia's any longer.

Stalin raged and threatened. Tito failed to get scared. To the amazement of the whole world, he went away with his defiance. It was Stalin's biggest defeat of all time.

Marine Oddities Keep Staff Busy

MARINELAND, Calif.—(UPI)—A combination of science and fiction features telephone calls made to experts in the field of marine life at Marineland of the Pacific—and the trouble is that the huge outdoor tank's scientists don't dare ignore the calls.

Reports of sea serpents are common throughout the world. In southern California the number of such calls is large. That makes the job of Marineland curator Ken Norris uneasy at best; he never knows when he might be passing up a scientific find.

"Once we got the regular kind of sea serpent call," he said. "It came from a guy at Malibu Beach. We drove up in about 90 minutes, expecting to find nothing."

"Instead it was a serpent of sorts. It was an eel fish which is six feet long, slender as an eel with a bright red dorsal fin running the length of its back and fire-colored streamers a foot and a half long on its head."

A Trained Whale "I guess that's a serpent in anyone's book. Sometimes they grow to 20 feet in length. It's easy to see why fishermen and others at sea swear they saw a sea serpent with the get-up the eel fish has."

Some of the calls to Marineland have involved alleged lost baby whales, motherless seals, sick eel eelers, motherless seals and one eel eeler. The organization's eel eeler most calls which invariably take them to spots on the beaches of the adjacent Pacific Ocean. And the scientists often come back with some peculiar bits of marine life. The albatross, incidentally, got its rigging fouled on some phone wires in nearby Long Beach. It was rescued, treated and now lives in a garden next to Marineland's large tank. The bird has a six-foot wingspan and has been named Clop-Clop because of the noise it makes with its large yellow beak while preening itself.

Marineland personnel say they female, Bubble, who measures are most proud of their favorite

Research Program
Set To Develop
Best Trailer Tests

A research program to develop standardized industry lead and trailer tests for best trailers has been announced by the (National) Testing Club of America, the Best Trailer Manufacturer's Association, an OBC affiliate.

The project's objective is to scientifically duplicate actual road conditions on a specially designed test stand. The Janeway Engineering Company of Detroit, Mich., a consulting firm specializing in vehicle testing, is supervising the program and will develop the prototype testing machine.

"We are primarily interested in performance tests," explained OBC Executive Director Guy W. Hughes. "The results should help the industry collectively and individually build better products geared to actual operating conditions."

A model testing machine will be constructed by OBC at a central location," Hughes said. Plans and specifications will be made available to the entire industry so that manufacturers can use identical test stands at their own plants for product development and experimentation.

The machine is expected to be completed early this fall, after which the machine itself will undergo testing. If no "bugs" are discovered, blueprints will then be released to the industry.

As part of the research program, field tests were held in the Detroit area early this month. Electronic instruments were used to record and measure shocks to component parts of representative trailers as they were towed over selected roads. Oscillograph charts were taken of the effects of concrete, dirt, gravel, curbs and other types of surfaces encountered during the "stoppage" of an average best trailer.

Early planning was also aided by evaluation of an experimental test machine used for more than two years by the New Trailer Co., Youngstown, Ohio.

Members of the BTMA Engineering Committee mapping the work are James Olney of Tee Nee, E. T. Fausette of Chattanooga Wheelbarrow Co., James Cunningham of Blending Products Co., W. Co., Frank Peterson of Peterson

Chamberlain Joins Globetrotters

NEW YORK (UPI)—With Chamberlain, one of the most publicized players in basketball history, has left the confines of the amateur courts for the greener pastures of professionalism.

With another year of eligibility remaining at Kansas University, the seven-foot All-American from Philadelphia quit the wheat belt for a $65,000 contract with the Globetrotters. The pay eclipses the high mark of the estimated $35,000 received by Goose Tatum as a Trotter.

The 21-year-old Chamberlain had to decide between leading a South American tour which may have grossed over a quarter-million dollars or signing with the Globetrotters for the year. Apparently the knowledge that he could receive $65,000 without much sweat awayed the tall man.

A pile of dollar bills probably stretching to the height of the seven-footer also awaits Chamberlain when he flies to the tour with the "Speratini's" Globetrotters. The Philadelphia Warriors of the National Basketball Association have first call on Will's draft rights in 1960.

The Warriors, under a special league ruling, claimed Chamberlain when he was starring as a 17-year-old high school phenom in Philadelphia. However, they couldn't touch him until his class graduated from Kansas.

Jones To Head U. S. Team In Championship

NEW YORK (UPI)—Golfing immortal Bobby Jones will come out of "retirement" to serve as captain of the United States team that will compete in the new world amateur team championship at St. Andrews, Scotland, next Oct. 8-11.

The U. S. Golf Assn. which made the announcement stressed that this is not an honorary title. Although Jones has been crippled for several years, he will help pick the four-man American team, go to Scotland and help prepare the Yanks for this unique tournament of nations.

Jones will make his way around the St. Andrews course in an electric car, just as he has done in the Masters and other major U. S. golf tournaments in recent years.

The U. S. team, to be played at the National Amateur at San Francisco Sept. 2-13, will meet four-man teams from all over the world for the Eisenhower Trophy.

Jones, who lives in Atlanta, won the U. S. Amateur championship the time, the British Amateur once, and the Open four times and the British Open three times. He retired from tournament golf in 1930.

That was the powerhouse including quarterback John Chickerno, halfbacks Cassiano and Marshall Goldberg and fullback Curley Shubins. Pitt lost only to Carnegie Tech that season, hitting the high point in a 24-13 victory over Fordham. It was Fordham's only defeat that campaign.

What ever happened to Dick Cassiano? The ex-football star now is an executive with an industrial firm at Harrisburg, Pa.

Player Of The Day

By United Press International
—RYNE DUREN—
There's a pronounced feeling of discouragement in the rival dugout every time Ryne Duren saunters out of the New York Yankees' bullpen.

"You can't see him, only hear him," wall enemy hitters over Duren's tremendous speed.

The unsuspected right-hander, who was more or less a "throw-in" in the deal that sent Billy Martin to Kansas City last year, saved another game for the Yanks in their 3-2 victory over Cleveland Wednesday night.

With the potential tying run on second base in the seventh inning, Duren took over for winning pitcher Art Ditmar and retired the next seven men in a row, including two by strikeouts.

He now has 42 strikeouts in 30 innings and a 1.30 earned run average that rates tops in the American League.

CYPRESS GARDENS—A Birmingham, Ala. lass was crowned Junior Girls Disc champion in the tournament held at Cypress Gardens. Part Janelle Kirtley captured the all-around championship and added a second in the trick riding event to win the overall championship.

Dual Contract Restoration Asked

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—Representatives of the winter baseball leagues, ending a two-day meeting Wednesday, called for restoration of dual contracts to Latin American players.

A representative of the group will turn the request over to American Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick in hopes that Latin American stars on U. S. teams will again be able to play winter league ball in their home countries. The dual contracts were abolished in 1956.

John A. Cruz, Caracas, representing the two Venezuelan winter leagues, said 502 native Latin American players are now performing in U. S. major and minor leagues. He added that he and his colleagues here, representing seven of the 10 winter leagues, want these players freed of all restrictions. Cruz pointed out that 12 graduates of the winter leagues are now in each of the American and National Leagues.

He said the winter leagues need all the big name players they can get. Cruz said "the masses would rise up in indignation if organized baseball forbade them seeing their favorites." Cruz added that this would reach against the United States.

The group's request for the return of dual contracts was turned over to Charles Segar, secretary-treasurer, for presentation to Frick.

The Latin American representatives said they hoped Frick would rule on the request by July 15, before the scheduled July 18-20 winter league season at Caracas.

The AAU has announced it will send 44 men and 20 women to compete in the Moscow competition July 27-28. The Russians will return to compete against the Americans at Philadelphia on July 10-11, 1959.

Finals Friday will be in 100 yard dash, 120-yard high hurdles, 440-yard hurdles, six-mile run hammer throw, high jump, shot put and javelin. Finals in the rest of the events will be held on Saturday.

Better Training Lessens Danger Of Sports Injuries

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—University of Florida team physician Dr. William McChesney said the danger of sports injuries has been greatly lessened by better training and coaching.

McChesney, speaking at the final session of the ninth annual meeting of the National Athletic Trainers Assn., said athletes are carefully checked out before going on a field. And they are taught how to avoid injuries, he said.

McChesney added that when there is an indication of an injury, a doctor is nearby and a player is brought off the field.

"If there is any doubt of likelihood of a serious injury, we play it safe and the boy does not get to play again until we are certain he is safely able to."

Snow White To Open At Ritz

"Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" the famous Walt Disney feature-length film, in color by Technicolor, has returned triumphantly to the screen as one of the great motion pictures of all time.

The plot, adapted from "Grimm's Fairy Tales" deals with the wonderful adventures of Princess Snow White, rival in beauty to the wicked Queen who seeks her death, but who is foiled by the intervention of the Seven Dwarfs, aided by the animal and bird denizens of the forest.

The entrancing figures that fit across the screen are visually pulsing with life, each radiating a distinctly magnetic personality.

Review Television

NEW YORK (UPI) — "Traffic Court" curialed in on ABC-TV Wednesday night I could say it was an arresting show, but something that doesn't seem like quite the right word. And anyway, it wouldn't be completely true.

"Traffic Court" is a half-hour collection out of Los Angeles made up of quick cases from the files of the Los Angeles traffic court. According to one announcement on the show the court is the largest of its kind in the world. As anyone who has played pedestrian in that city knows, there's good reason for that state of affairs.

Wednesday night's opening network show — it was either on bad tape or good kinescope, I'm not sure which — trotted out a woman who had converted her premises into an illegal parking lot for comedy, a duckfaced rogue who was picked for speeding and running stop signs social commentary, a rich oil man from Texas who had thrown a candy sack on a highway fiasco, and a respectable citizen who had accidentally killed a girl with his car melo-dra-ma.

The parts were taken by some pros and some non-pros, all of whom speak what I guess you could call semi-prose. The show is big on "natural" talk and visual close-ups and looks and feels a little like an ungrammatical "Dramat."

The show does have some strong points: it peeks a sort of artless reality and it's very successful in conveying the feeling of helplessness that any citizen feels in the hands of the law. Edgar Jones, assistant dean of the law school at the University of California, who plays the judge, is particularly adept at getting over the genial tyranny of his character.

I thought some of the jokes that Jones made also were very right. They had the dreary smell of the humor of most public officials. At one point, for example, he said to the Texas oil man: "You may have been in oil there, but you're in hot water here."

To sum up my verdict: a mildly interesting show and you might entertain yourself one night of it this summer to test it on your own sensibilities.

Short shots: I managed to catch only the first half of NBC-TV's mystery "Kraft Theatre" because it overlapped "Traffic Court." But from what I saw of "Now You Try to Murder" it seemed proper to mention it also had some good acting.

Wednesday night's NBC-TV "Wagon Train" with Ray Danton and Mona Freeman was a thing about how the train ran out of water and it seemed to me it ran out of gas, too. Diana Lynn, a very capable actress, was wanted a no-hummer on Wednesday night's CBS-TV "Johnson's Wax Theater" — The tall guy in the piece was Chuck Connors who used to play first base for the Brooklyn Dodgers on CBS-TV's "U. S. Steel Hour" offering, "The Littlest Enemy," was a bomb all-around.

Arthur Godfrey has quietly dropped the $5,000 monthly prize from his CBS-TV "Talent Scouts" show. Oscar Levant has been signed for one of Jack Benny's fall shows on CBS-TV. Barry Sullivan pulled out of the June 28 CBS-TV "Climax" offering, "Cabin 13." Leslie Nielsen will fill in for Jan Murray who will take a three week sabbatical from his CBS-TV "Treasure Hunt" after June 27. Neefe Braselle, Dennis James and Paul Winchell will spell Murray, NBC-TV and radio will carry the 25th annual All-Star baseball game on July 5. "Jim Bowie" won't be back next season on ABC-TV.

The antics of the beloved dwarf Dopey and his companions, and the eight imperishable song numbers are welcomed back by an appreciative public.

"Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" is re-released in all its original beauty and laughter, by Buena Vista.

FOURTEEN EYER AND SEVEN NOSES belong to Walt Disney's beloved Seven Dwarfs, who discover that the "monster" that invaded their cottage is none other than the Princess, Snow White. Amusing scenes from Disney's famous Technicolor cartoon feature, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," re-released by Buena Vista, which opens Sunday at the Ritz Theatre.

'Baby Face Nelson On Drive-In Screen

"Baby Face Nelson," the story of the bloody three month reign of Nelson as Public Enemy Number One and killer of three FBI agents, has been made into an exciting motion picture with Mickey Rooney in the title role. The picture, a United Artists release, will open Sunday at the Movieland Ride-In Theatre. In addition to Mickey Rooney as the ruthless killer, the role is played by Carolyn Jones his "wife" and aid-de-crimine; Sir Cedric Hardwicke as a crooked doctor, who tends the law, and Leo Gordon, Anthony Caruso, Jack Elam, John Hoyt, Ted De Corsia and George Stone, as assorted gangsters, henchmen, detectives, FBI agents and victims of Nelson's crimes.

The screenplay was written by Irving Shulman and Daniel Mainwaring from a story by Shulman. Al Zimballat produced and Don Siegel directed the picture. "Baby Face Nelson" takes up the punk's reign of terror from the time he avenges being framed by a fellow gangster until he lies half-dead in a cemetery with an FBI agent's bullet in him and pleads with his wife to finish the job the FBI started. It shows the ruthless, senseless life of a desperado and spares no one or nothing in its gripping story.

Two people have a definite change of pace and character in their "Baby Face Nelson" roles. Carolyn Jones last seen as the existentialist in "Bachelor Party," now plays a gangster's moll, and the rather urbane, learned Sir Cedric Hardwicke plays a crooked medic.

The two boys with the "choppers" are Baby Face Nelson, as played by Mickey Rooney, and John Dillinger, portrayed by Leo Gordon. The scene is that of a stickup from the exciting film, "Baby Face Nelson," a United Artists release, opening Sunday at the Movieland Ride-In Theatre.

Niven Tells Of Fun Making Around World In 80 Days

By DAVID NIVEN
Written for UPI

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—The time will come, I dare say, when a grandchild or three will cluster about my knobby knees, the time-honored request, "tell me a story."

"About what?" I will ask. "About Mike Todd and 'Around the World in 80 Days,'" they'll say.

I'll undoubtedly begin at the beginning which took place one Sunday afternoon. The phone rang and a voice said, "This is Mike Todd. Can you come over right away?"

Immediately came to the point. "Did you ever hear of Jules Verne?" he asked.

My affirmative answer elicited question number two. "Did you ever read 'Around the World in 80 Days?'"

"I was weaned on it," I answered.

Would you be interested in playing Philip Fogg in the picture?" he asked.

"I'd do it for nothing," I shouted, my tongue working faster than my brain.

Wasn't Todd To Offer Mike didn't hold me to the gratis offer, and a deal was quickly made. This marked the beginning of the happiest and most worthwhile assignment which will probably ever come my way.

I'll never forget the balloon sequence when the big gas bag was to take Cantinflas and me across the Alps.

We were to have doubles, but they just didn't look legitimate. Todd asked us to do the sequence in place of the doubles. What bothered me was acrophobia, which means I'm allergic to heights. I almost passed out when I'm standing on a chair to fix something at home, but to mention cavorting in a wicker basket at the top of a crane 180 feet above the Universal-International back lot.

But Todd was a genius. He suspended operations while we discussed the ascent, using imported champagne to neutralize the heat and dust of the location. Before long I wasn't afraid of acrophobia or anything else and escorted Cantinflas to the balloon. The bottle and a reserve supply accompanied us. I must say that even with the influence of the bubbly stuff, the ground looked very far away, but I was able to get through with it.

Get Even With Todd I rather got even with Mike for giving me a scare on my offer to work for free on the occasion of going to London for the "Around the World" sequences in London.

I was about to leave New York for the plane trip to England. Todd wired me from the British capital asking me to bring three packages for him with me and outlining the contents. The packages were delivered, and I had them placed on the plane.

Midway during the Transatlantic flight, I dispatched the following telegram to Mike who was to meet me on my arrival: "Have suits, cigars and radia. Can't for life of me find your heroin."

When I landed in London, the airport was swarming with Scotland Yard operatives, customs and narcotics agents. Mike was completely surrounded, and I was collared as I stepped off the plane. It took a number of hours of earnest talking to clear up the matter of the non-existent narcotic. But I swear the gag was worth all the trouble it entailed.

Very often a Card of Thanks in The Sanford Herald meets a need which is difficult to fill in any other way. THE "IN MEMORIUM" NOTICE

It is the custom of many families in this country to commemorate a bereavement by an "In Memorium" notice in newspaper classified columns. They find a real sense of peace, a resurrection of a suitable verse brings back to them tender, pleasant recollections. As Eliza Cook, the English poet has so beautifully expressed it:

THE RATE

Cards of Thanks and In Memorium notices, due to the fact they may run to considerable length, are billed at $1.00 per column inch.

Ohio Men Tape Records Own Funeral Service

NORWALK, Ohio—(UPI)—Former State Sen. William H. Harner, 80, is all set to preach his own funeral service.

Harner tape-recorded a 20-minute funeral sermon. In it, he preached for 15 minutes and recited his own poetry for five more.

He decided to preach at his own service, Harner said, because he "attended quite a few services and never was too impressed with some of the sermons." He limited the service to 20 minutes because "most services are too long."

Dead Flier's Bible Sent To Mother

DORTMUND—(UPI)—The Bible of an American airman killed in action over Germany is on its way back to Texas, returned after nearly 18 years by a German housewife, Mrs. Theodor Hillebrand.

Mrs. Hillebrand found the Bible in the pocket of a torn leather flight jacket that fell in her garden in 1935 after nearby anti-aircraft guns had shot down an American Flying Fortress.

She faced a possible jail term under Nazi laws for hoarding and concealing the Bible.

"But I wanted to keep it and one day give it back to its rightful owner," she said.

Not On Flight

The name written in the Bible was that of T/Sgt. Bill J. Wheeler of Etoarty, Tex., but Air Force records showed that Wheeler could not have been on the flight that ended in the Dortmund crash because he was killed six months earlier when his plane was shot down over the North Sea coast near Emden.

Air Force officials surmised that his Bible must have been passed on to a friend in his unit, the 22nd Bomber Squadron, 91st Bomb Group, Eighth Air Force.

But 22 B-17's were lost over the Ruhr that autumn day in 1945 when Mrs. Hillebrand found the Bible, and there is no way of knowing who had carried it with him.

Mrs. Hillebrand kept the Bible for nearly 12 years because she could not think of any way to get it back to Wheeler's family. His address was not written in it. Dortmund was in the British occupation zone, with the nearest U. S. offices 200 miles distant.

Several months ago, Army Specialist Dennis G. Pappas of Ogden, Utah, visited Mrs. Hillebrand's neighborhood with his German-born wife, Elisabeth. Mrs. Hillebrand invited the couple over for coffee and asked Pappas' help in getting the Bible back.

Pappas talked to his unit chaplain, Capt. Ben S. Price of Paris, Tex., on his return to his base in Red Kreuznach. The Air Force was called in and records were checked to find Wheeler's address. His mother, Mrs. Susie L. Wheeler, told Air Force officials she remembered giving the Bible to her son, who was then 17, in 1941.

The Bible will be headed back to her in ceremonies at the Waco, Tex., home of the 18th Air Force. "It has been a long time, but I know Sergeant Wheeler's mother would want to have this little Bible," Mrs. Hillebrand said. "I know I would."

Air Force Will Develop 'Dynaosor'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Harry M. Jackson D-Wash. announced that the Air Force has awarded contracts for development of the "Dynaosor"—a manned aircraft capable of operating in outer space and within the earth's atmosphere.

The contracts went to Glenn L. Martin Aircraft Co., and Boeing Aircraft Co. Their dollar value was not disclosed.

The "Dynaosor" dynamic soaring is an advanced boost-glide vehicle, designed to use both aerodynamic lift and centrifugal force.

The plane will be designed to fly in the initial reaches of outer space, circle the world at speeds of about 17,000 miles an hour and return its pilot safely to earth. The first model is expected to cost about 150 million dollars. Where the actual work on the aircraft will be performed was not announced.

The Air Force informed Jackson by letter that the two companies—Martin and Boeing—will work in competition to assure the best development at the lowest cost.

Jackson, a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee and the House-Senate Atomic Energy Committee, hailed the announcement as "truly the first step to the stars for man."

The Air Force said preliminary investigation indicates that by "varying the original rocket boost," the "Dynaosor" would be capable of making "one or many" orbits of the earth and still return for a normal landing.

The "Dynaosor," according to the Air Force, will be capable of "many varying missions" and can operate from space altitudes down to well within the atmosphere."

"Diplomacy is the art of being able to say 'nice doggie' until you have time to pick up a rock!"

In bright sunshine, bright clothing is cooler than dark, because the light material reflects more light than the dark.

The honey bee is classified as a domestic insect, and is not only one known.

Housing Project To Cover Old Nazi Stamping Grounds

By RONALD SHANOR United Press International

NUERNBERG—(UPI)—Nazi Germany's biggest and bleakest monument, deserted for nearly 20 years, is coming back to life as a giant housing project.

The Nazi party grounds, where hundreds of thousands of Hitler's brownshirts marched during the 1930's, has been empty since the start of World War II in 1939.

Since 1945, successive city governments have been wondering what to do with it. The Nazis built in such heroic proportions, that razing or alteration mean major budget outlays.

Work has now begun on a housing project, with parks, a lake, shops, and apartments for 40,000 persons. But before the buildings can go up, much of Hitler's architecture must come down.

The 11 pseudo-classical stone towers around the giant assembly field, some of them more than 100 feet high, must be blown up at a cost of half a million dollars. The acres of paved ground that once thundered with goose-stepping boots will be broken up in patches to make room for trees.

The pit excavated for the "German Stadium" that was never built, filled with rubble and muddy water since the war, will be cleaned out and made into a lake. The mountains of rubble surrounding it will be covered with top soil and smoothed into a park.

Hill's Problem
Hitler's Speakers' Tribune and the surrounding stands, scene of American G. I. baseball for the past 12 years, will remain as a city athletic field to be shared by the Army.

The toughest problem of the postwar planners was the Nazi Congress Hall, a structure that was to hold 120,000 party members for indoor meetings. Designed along the lines and spaciousness of the Roman coliseum, the hall was only two-thirds completed when the war began.

To tear down the hall would have taken most of the housing project funds. To leave it, vacant and gloomy, in the midst of the new residential area would discourage tenants.

A solution was found with the formation of the Corporation of Sportsmen and Industrialists to complete the walls and use the hall as a stadium. The Nazis left the construction material at hand.

Thousands of huge stone blocks, cut to fit the building plans and carefully numbered, lie piled or scattered along the roads leading to the party area. Some have been covered with dirt and planted with grass, since other removal solutions would have cost too much. They probably will be dug out again.

Reputation Restored
The housing project will put an end to one of Nuernberg's biggest law-enforcement headaches. Since the early occupation days, residents of suburban Nuernberg have been afraid to go near the party grounds at night. There have been two murders and innumerable robberies there.

The Valka Refugee Camp, scene of several displaced persons riots, occupied part of the area. Black marketers used the overgrown stone towers and weedy piles of rubble as meeting places.

The project also represents Nuernberg's efforts to erase the bad name Hitler gave it. He chose the city for his party meetings in 1929 because of the old Germanic legends connected with its past, which the Nazis were fond of borrowing for their own propaganda.

Nuernberg, after the war, was associated with the Nazi leaders tried by the International War Crimes Tribunal.

The housing project will be a contribution to its new reputation as a city with model social and welfare plans. Despite opposition because of the notoriety of its name, Nuernberg was chosen to represent West Germany at the Brussels World's Fair as an example of city planning and services.

Foot Rules Diabetics Should Never Forget

By HENRY M. SHUMWAY, M. D.

Remember the "good old days" when youngsters used to go barefoot all summer long? We don't see much of this any more, especially in our urban areas. And it's probably a good thing.

With all the glass and other sharp objects left lying around these days as a result of our more civilized way of living, the chances of injury and infection are fairly high.

Here Foot Humors
So I suggest that you parents do not permit your youngsters to go around barefoot much this summer, unless it is in the safety of your own backyard.

And I must rule out even this for all diabetic children. In fact, any diabetic, young or old, should never walk around barefoot anywhere any time.

Any kind of an infection in a diabetic should be treated as an emergency. Infection, you see, reduces the effectiveness of insulin.

Engage on Skin
Since infection is apt to begin around the toes, a diabetic must take meticulous care of his feet. Therefore let me give you a few foot rules that any diabetic, young or old, should follow:

Bathe and powder your feet daily. Pat your feet dry, don't wipe them.

Smithsonian Has 50 Travel Exhibits

WASHINGTON—(UP)—Fifty "traveling exhibitions" are listed in the Smithsonian Institution's 1958-59 catalogue.

The catalogue is published each year to help schools, museums, university and college galleries and other non-profit organizations to plan their seasonal educational programs.

The ambulatory exhibitions include painting and sculpture drawings and crafts, Oriental folk and indigenous art, photography, books and children's drawings.

The Smithsonian has sponsored these exhibits for the last six years. Working with private funds, it has arranged 1,300 different showings of 106 domestic and foreign exhibits for this country, Canada and Hawaii.

The U. S. Information Agency has circulated 34 more displays overseas. The catalogue of traveling exhibitions may be obtained by writing to the Smithsonian's chief of Don't bathe in very hot water. Even in the shower, protect your feet with paper slippers.

Don't cut, scrape or injure your toes or feet.

Don't use commercial corn remedies.

Don't use strong lotion solutions.

Wear Leather Shoes

Wear good, supple leather shoes with flexible soles. Old shoes that are out of shape can cause foot trouble.

Don't wear poorly fitted shoes or arch supports.

Don't wear shoes without heels.

Poor circulation also is extremely dangerous to a diabetic. It causes damage to the tissues and the excess sugar in the blood provides bacteria with an excellent opportunity to grow. Consequently:

Don't sit with your legs crossed over your knees.

Don't use tight bandages or place adhesive tape on the skin.

Don't use hot water bottles on your feet.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
Mrs. R. M. My 20-year-old son has a very high-pitched voice. This began at the age of 14.

Answer: Some disorder of the vocal cords or nervous system may be at fault. A thorough physical examination will probably reveal the exact cause.

Backyard Pools In Huge Growth

CHICAGO—(UPI)—An American Society of Planning Officials report on backyard swimming pools in the United States indicates that the number may hit 200,000 this year, nearly 50 times as many as there were in 1947.

Communities have been quick to respond to the sudden growth of the number of pools by issuing ordinances regulating the noise, glare of lights and danger to children.

Many cities now prohibit pools in front yards, require pools and pool regulation equipment to be set back from property lines, control drainage, require fences and occasionally require the consent of neighbors before the pools can be built.

The catalogue of traveling exhibitions may be obtained by writing to the Smithsonian's chief of

Two Hurt As Auto Smashes Into Truck

Two people were injured and their automobiles declared total losses in a smash-up on Highway 44 at the St. Johns River bridge 16 miles east of Sanford late last night. However, two passengers of a pickup truck, involved in the collision and a third passenger in the passenger automobile miraculously escaped uninjured. Bernard Wagner, 65, a sundry store operator in Lake Helen and his wife, Regina, 58, were taken to an Orlando hospital early this morning for hospitalization following emergency treatment at Seminole Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Wagner received a crushed left hip, a possible brain concussion, possible fractured ribs and severe lacerations of the face. Wagner, driver of the car, received facial lacerations and a possible chest injury. A daughter, 13-year-old Rosemary Wagner, was uninjured in the crash that occurred about 10:30 last night about 30 feet east of the bridge in Volusia County. E. W. Smith and his wife, of Lake Mary, were traveling west on State Road 16 and had come to a stop at the eastern approach to the bridge because of oneway traffic. Smith said "I saw the car coming and had time to think." He said that when the automobile smashed into the rear of his truck he pulled sharply to the right, went down the steep embankment, turned sharply to the left and was stopped by a barbed wire fence at the river. "Otherwise," said Smith, "we would have gone on into the water." The Wagners were returning from a visit in Vero Beach and were on their way to their Lake Helen home four miles east of Orange City. Automobiles involved in the collision were a 1952 Chevrolet driven by Wagner and a 1957 Ford pickup truck driven by Smith. Neither Wagner nor his wife were able to make statements about the crash last night before being taken to an Orlando hospital for treatment. Investigation of the accident was conducted by Florida Highway Patrol Trooper T. Mark Mack who was assisted by Auxiliary Patrol Corporal L. E. Smith. Seminole County Deputy Sheriff Marion Driggers was at the scene to lend assistance.

Capt. Ramage To Relieve Reedy As Commander Of Hatwing One

Captain James D. Ramage has arrived aboard the Sanford Naval Air Station where he will relieve Captain James R. Reedy as Commander of Heavy Attack Wing One. The change-of-command ceremonies will take place on the third of July. Captain Reedy will then immediately depart for the West Coast where he will take command of the aircraft carrier USS Lexington. Captain Ramage comes from duty at the National War College in Washington, D. C. He is a U. S. Naval Academy graduate of the class of 1933. During World War II he made two cruises with Bomber Squadron Ten aboard the U.S.S. Enterprise. In the latter part of the Korean war he was Commander of Carrier Air Group Nineteen aboard the U.S.S. Oriskany. These services earned him decorations which include the Navy Cross, three Distinguished Flying Crosses and seven Air Medals. Other duties have included those of Chief of Operations and Projects for the Armed Forces Special Weapons Project at Albuquerque, New Mexico and Commanding Officer of the all weather fighter squadron VC-3. With Captain Ramage in Sanford are his wife Ty and two daughters Jaleen, age 7 and Janine, age 3. Although Captain Ramage was born in Waterloo, Iowa, he and his family call Honolulu, Hawaii, their permanent home. Captain Reedy has served as Commander of Heavy Attack Wing One for a period of one year. During this time he has been the first Navy captain to become qualified in landing the twin jet A-1H bomber aboard a carrier. Captain Reedy's family will remain residents of Sanford while his ship is overseas in the Western Pacific.

CHICAGO (UPI) — American embassies in several European capitals today investigated the disappearance of a Chicago nun 10 days ago while traveling through communist Czechoslovakia. The Chicago Sun-Times said it learned Sunday the missing nun, Sister Catefan, was en route by train through Czechoslovakia to Czechochowa, Poland, when she vanished. The nun planned to build an orphanage for retarded children at Czechochowa. United States embassies in Prague, Warsaw, Vienna and Rome are seeking her whereabouts, the Sun-Times said, but apparently have been stymied by the refusal of the Czechoslovak government to divulge any information in the case.

County's Government Facilities Falling Apart

AN EDITORIAL Seminole County has been so engulfed by growth and progress that its very governmental operation cannot operate efficiently because of the lack of space. Every department is faced with problems that can be solved only by providing exactly what some citizens suggested at the time county property was considered for commercial expansion—and that is a new Court House and jail. Now, some of the same people who stormed at Seminole County Commissioners for even considering the sale of property because it could be used for the proposed facilities, are rising up in arms at the suggestion that a court house and jail be built. Some near-sighted individuals are suggesting that Seminole County burden the taxpayers with additional millage for repairing the present court house "fire trap" at a cost of some $15,000 to $50,000 so that it can be used for two more years. What these people don't realize is that in two years the problem of providing new facilities will be even greater, costlier, and out-of-reach. Every Seminole County citizen should pay a special visit to the Health Unit located on the second floor of a Palmetto Ave. building. Sick people wouldn't dare walk up the narrow stairs and in the second place they wouldn't know what to do when they reached the second floor and the antiquated, outmoded, inadequate space that is now provided. And we call to your attention that the doctors and sanitarians are expected to administer 1958 plans and prevention in the 1950 facilities in which they are working. Next — and by all means — pay special attention to the Seminole County Health Department located in the dungeon-like building next to the Sanford Fire Department. Behind bars that were used probably in 1900 — in a building that is as unsavory as the worst mixture that can be concocted, the Health Department of your county is supposed to operate. It is a downright shame that such facilities are even allowed to be used — and they are representative of our county. Yes — Seminole County is growing — outgrowing its own government and government facilities! And next, you should visit Seminole County's "poor house" on 17-92. It is exactly descriptive of the words attached to it — poor house. A former stockade, prison farm, workhouse for the county, and yet, still remains. It is to be used for the housing of aged people — people who are sick, disabled, indigent, and in these conditions unable to take care of themselves. Take a look at what some of our "civic leaders" want Seminole County to use in housing these elderly citizens of our community. Would you want to go there in event you lost all of your earthly possessions? It is a shame and disgrace that the county can't provide the facilities in which these people could be treated and cared for. Go to the County Jail and see how juvenile delinquents must brush by hardened criminals — how women must be confined in areas that many Seminole County cattlemen wouldn't even house their cows and range cattle. Ask to be shown the hot water tank that leaks in two places—possibly could blow up under certain conditions. Look at the 1915 water heater attached to it—a heater that provided hot water for a family of three or four many years ago. Be sure to see the cells from which it is practically impossible to bring out a sick man on a stretcher. The overcrowded conditions even at times when "not too many are confined to jail." The Seminole County Court House is a veritable " tinder box" — would go up in smoke like cannon fire with just one act of carelessness. Look through the cubbyhole in the Seminole County Tax Assessor's office — survey the space in which the Tax Collector and the Tax Assessor can't even put new equipment they have purchased for the operation of their departments. Antiquated? It's far beyond that! And yet — some Seminole County citizens dare object to providing the facilities that match the growth and progress of one of Florida's fastest growing, fastest advancing counties. In other words, they say "If it was good enough for my Granddaddy to use — it's good enough for me." The stage is now set for some concrete action with respect to facilities provided for our county government. The fair approach now is for Seminole County Commissioners to continue with their planning.

Routine Meeting Scheduled Tonight For City Fathers

A routine meeting is scheduled for the Board of Sanford City Commissioners tonight, according to the agenda prepared by City Manager Warren E. Knowles. Eight items for discussion and action have been placed on the agenda with miscellaneous business items on the floor and City Commission slated to occupy more time. Slated to come before the commissioners tonight is a public hearing on the rezoning from R-1 to R-2, Lots 1, 2, 3, and 4 of Block 20, Mellonville. A request to open an alley from 23th St. to Orlando Dr. between Myrtle and Elm Aves. Also a request to vacate the alley from Palmetto to Sanford Ave. between 18th and 19th Sts. Two appointments are to be made. One to the Civil Service Commission and another to the Zoning and Planning Commission. Also slated is a discussion of a proposed change on the material in the radio bid. To be considered is a transfer of $66.00 from account 1017 to 4021 in the city's records. The final item on the commission's agenda for tonight's discussion is to see if the city wished to send a representative to a one week course on the "Role of Planning and Zoning in Community Development."

15-Year Old Girl Dies From Injuries

A 15-year-old girl died in Jacksonville early Thursday morning as a result of injuries received in a two-car collision shortly after 6 o'clock Sunday afternoon June 15. Hilary Ann Schroeder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hilary Schroeder of Jacksonville, became another Seminole County traffic fatality when she failed to overcome a brain injury received in the accident. The young girl was first treated in Seminole Memorial Hospital and then transferred to the Baptist Memorial Hospital in Jacksonville early the following morning. Schroeder, 33, executive director of the Florida Blue Shield-Blue Cross insurance organization in Florida, was listed in "fair condition," along with his wife, Mrs. Marion Schroeder, 48, who were both injured in the accident. Another passenger, Miss Virginia Humes, 12, of Maitland, niece of Mr. and Mrs. Schroeder, was uninjured in the accident and suffered only shock. John Robert Webster, 34, an insurance man of Winter Park, driver of the car which collided with the Schroeder's automobile about two miles north of Sanford on 17-92 is said to be in fair condition in an Orlando hospital. Webster, who had struck the Moore Bridge prior to crashing into the Schroeder car, received lacerations all over his body and was transferred to the Orlando hospital early Monday morning following the accident. Florida Highway Patrol Trooper T. Mark Mack, who investigated the collision, said that two charges have been placed against Webster.

Recreation Dept. Registers 1,600 Youths Last Week

The Sanford Recreation Department and the Seminole County Playground Program registered 1,600 different youngsters for its first week of summer activities, according to a report made this morning by Sanford Recreation Director Ronald W. Perry. With 10 centers in operation, said Perry, four within the city of Sanford and six in the county and a staff of 35 workers, a tremendous program is underway. Perry said "All residents of Seminole County may engage in the various activities with registration made at the nearest center." Residents within the City of Sanford, he said, have been divided into three areas, but the residents of outlying suburbs and districts may register at Pine Crest School where there are now almost 200 enrolled, or at Oviedo where 70 are enrolled or at Lyman School where 160 are enrolled. Centers for colored residents, Perry pointed out, are established at Oviedo where 50 have registered, Midway School with 117 registered and at Rowland School in Altamonte Springs with 31 registered. The two colored centers in the City of Sanford, he said, are at Goldthorn School with 350 registered and Hopper Academy with 131 children enrolled. The overall total has swelled to over 1,600 participants in the program, said Perry.

Constable Galloway In 'Fair' Condition

Constable J. Q. "Blim" Galloway is in Seminole Memorial Hospital following a heart attack Friday night shortly after 9:30 p. m. Galloway's condition is listed as "fair" and reports this morning state that he has "improved slightly." Constable Galloway went home Friday night about 9 o'clock complaining of feeling ill. However, his condition worsened, and he was rushed to the hospital. Seminole County Sheriff J. T. Hobby said this morning that his office is assisting in the handling of complaints and emergencies ordinarily handled through the Constable's office. Sheriff Hobby said this morning that complaints and emergencies usually referred to Constable Galloway should be referred now to the Sheriff's office until such time that Constable Galloway is able to resume his duties.
