

Feds Led League In Every Department Of Play During First Half Of 1933 Season

Almost all of the honors which a baseball club could amass in one season, either in the batting, pitching, or fielding departments of play, were made by the Sanford Coleryfeds during the first half of the 1933 season, according to official averages released here today by Peter Schaal, league secretary.

The Feds led the league in batting and fielding, and its two young right-handers, Curry and Minor, led the league in hurling, both in point of wins and losses and in earned run averages.

In finishing on top of the league as the best batters, the Feds turned in an average of .287 in 20 games. They made 198 hits, including five homers, seven triples, and 36 doubles; batted in 97 of their 124 runs, and led the league in the number of sacrifice hits made, 37, or nearly two each game.

An unusual thing about the Feds' record is that they struck out fewer times than did any other team, and they were given bases on balls more than any other team. The Feds struck out 64 times and were given 63 bases on balls.

Orlando went to bat the most times; Sanford and Daytona scored the most runs, 124 each; Orlando made the most hits, 201; Daytona and Cocoa were tied in home runs made, eight each; Daytona smacked out 10 triples; Daytona led in doubles with 36; Sanford led in stolen bases with 29, and in sacrifice hits with 37.

Here are the official averages, including games played, at bats, runs, hits, and average:

Club	G	AB	R	H	AVG
Sanford	20	881	124	297	.337
Daytona	19	824	124	297	.337
Orlando	20	725	88	251	.346
Cocoa	20	897	114	271	.301
Leesburg	19	824	72	251	.305
New Smyrna	20	810	87	231	.285

Here are the official averages, including home runs, triples, doubles, runs batted in, stolen bases, sacrifice hits, strike outs, and bases on balls:

Club	HR	TB	2B	3B	SB	SO	BB
Sanford	5	36	37	37	64	63	63
Daytona	8	10	28	11	29	74	40
Orlando	7	6	22	7	23	108	52
Cocoa	8	9	30	10	12	23	71
Leesburg	5	21	23	8	9	80	53
New Smyrna	3	11	23	12	13	81	51

The Feds were far ahead as a fielding team, turning in a first half percentage figure of .981, in 20 games the Feds had 531 put-outs, 228 assists, and made only 31 errors, which figure is 16 less than the number of errors made by the second best club in point of errors.

In the matter of double plays, Sanford and Orlando were tied in the number made, both executing 18 of these rally-nipping plays. Cocoa had 17 double plays to its credit; New Smyrna had 11, and Leesburg and Daytona made only nine double plays each.

Here are the official fielding averages for the first half, showing games put-outs, assists, errors, total chances, double-plays, and percentage:

Club	G	PO	A	TC	DP	PCT.
Sanford	20	531	228	759	18	.981
Cocoa	20	519	204	723	17	.981
Daytona	20	531	207	738	18	.980
Leesburg	19	490	200	690	11	.984
New Smyrna	20	503	233	736	11	.984

In the pitching department, Curry led the league with five wins and no defeats. He started and finished three games, was batted out of one, and relieved Holt in another. Curry pitched 36.2 innings, and scored one shut-out. He faced 145 batters, 27 of whom made hits. He struck out 12 men and walked eight, and he hit batsmen twice. Twelve runs were made off his delivery, all of which were earned, so that his earned run average is 2.92 runs per game, or 12th in the list of 34 pitchers.

Minor had the best average and earned runs percentage of the few hurlers who appeared in 10 or more games. He won seven and lost three games for an average of .700. Minor started and finished eight games; was knocked out of one, and finished relief hurling in two games.

Minor hurled 86.1 innings in the 11 games in which he appeared. He turned in six shut-out victories, which tied the league record for shut-outs made in one season. Minor hurled the first no-hit no-run game ever known to the league when he defeated New Smyrna.

Minor faced 328 batsmen who made 63 hits off his delivery. These batters made eight sacri-fic hits as well. Four of the batters were hit; 16 were walked, and 56 struck out. Minor tossed three wild pitches during the season. Seventeen runs were scored off his delivery, 14 of which were earned, so that he had an earned run average of 1.47 runs per game.

Cal Dennis, veteran Sanford right-hander, hurled in four games during the first half, finishing three, and going in as a relief hurler in one. He won one and lost two tilts, including one shut-out. He faced 130 men, and 32 hits were made off his delivery, as well as four sacrifice hits. He struck out 14 men, walked eight, and tossed two wild pitches. Eight runs were scored off him, six of which were earned, and his earned run average was 1.75 runs per game.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY: FATE OF THE ROBBER: Be bold at evening tide trouble; and before the morning he is not.

PEKING: Slow Time walks your sun-drenched streets. Clad in a silken gown, Watching the passing of the days With almond eyes cast down.

Slow Time climbs your vine-draped walls. Built by the Tartar hordes To glance across the dusty plains Towards the tombs of Tartar lords.

Slow Time sits on your Dragon throne. Under your roofs of gold, Wondering what glory the New Day brings To eclipse the days of old.

"Rye shoots up more than 8 cents a bushel," says a headline. How much does that make a quart of gin worth?

The one hundred mark has been reached in the number of prison escapes in Florida since Jan. 1. After all, this is vacation season, you know.

Arthur Brisbane says, "If Europe would definitely realize that this country is through making bad loans to Europe, and no longer proposes to take orders from European statesmen, that would be most acceptable to America."

The six-year prison sentence given William Collins, former sheriff of Okeechobee county, for conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws has been suspended by Federal Judge Ritter.

General Johnson asks industry not to take this little business sport too seriously. He seems to realize what many do not know that the present increase in business and employment is due largely to speculative orders from business houses and consumers who are anticipating a rise in prices.

It pays to advertise, particularly in newspapers. The Department of Commerce reports that newspaper advertising throughout the nation increased during the month of May while radio advertising which had gotten to be quite a formidable competitor actually decreased.

We don't think much of our federal government spending all that money it is preparing to spend, but since it is going to be spent anyhow, we would like to see it go to the states of Florida and California.

Lindbergh's Flight

Just six years after he completed his memorable flight from Roosevelt Field to Paris, Colonel Charles Lindbergh is setting out on another sky voyage which will carry him once again to Europe. This time, however, he is not traveling alone, for his wife is with him, and his mission is not a gambling change at great seas. It is a business trip.

Being the technical advisor of the Pan-American Airways, Lindbergh is planning to investigate step by step the links of the Greenland-Iceland route to Europe contemplating the not too distant time when regular flying service will carry passengers to and from the United States and Europe.

The advantages of the Greenland-Iceland route over that of any other is the fact that it offers short hops, few, if any being over 300 miles long. The only other practical route is the Azores route which is longer and which has much farther distances between its few links.

It is for the purpose of gathering meteorological data and for locating suitable landing sites that Lindbergh is now winging his way. Spots are needed where the land is flat, or where there are placid lakes or arms of the sea and where fogs will not interfere with schedules.

The pursuance of preliminary research in enterprises of this nature always appears to be moving at snail pace. However, if the proposed air lines to Europe are to be successful too much care cannot be exercised in the initial work.

But despite all this, we hazard the prediction that regular passenger flights to Europe will be offered the public before many people realize that any preliminary work has been done. We doubt if many know that already the Pan-American Airways has ordered a fleet of giant aircraft, larger than the present 40-passenger Clippers in use between Florida and Cuba, for service on the proposed northern route to Europe.

The Wild East

One is accustomed to look upon the East as the country most affected by the march of civilization. We would hardly expect to find deer and other animal life more in abundance in this section than in the wide open spaces of the wider regions of the country.

"The recent encounter between deer and motorists on a New Jersey trunk highway within fifty miles of this city brings to mind how imperfect has been man's occupation of the East. Deer still exist in abundance in the Eastern states. Dwellers in rural Connecticut are familiar with their visits, and they frequently appear in the outskirts of towns along the Jersey coast.

"The survival of wild animal life generally associated with a pioneering stage of settlement is due to the existence of large mountainous and forested areas in the East. Largely unsuited for farming and a heavy growth of population, they have been left as a natural refuge for the animals. Our game laws have co-operated with the provision made by nature for their protection, and public opinion has supported these legal measures not only on humane but on sentimental grounds.

"In contrast to the East and the Far West, the real settled America lies between the Appalachians and the Rockies. From Ohio across Kansas and Nebraska the conquest of the immense reaches of level or rolling land, everywhere farmed and fenced to the horizon, was a thoroughgoing process that left no place for wild life in its scheme.

As with animals, so with the aborigines. Thus, according to the last census, Rhode Island has more Indians than Indiana, and New York has more than Oregon or Idaho, while Massachusetts has almost as many as Texas."

SANFORD, TWENTY YEARS AGO

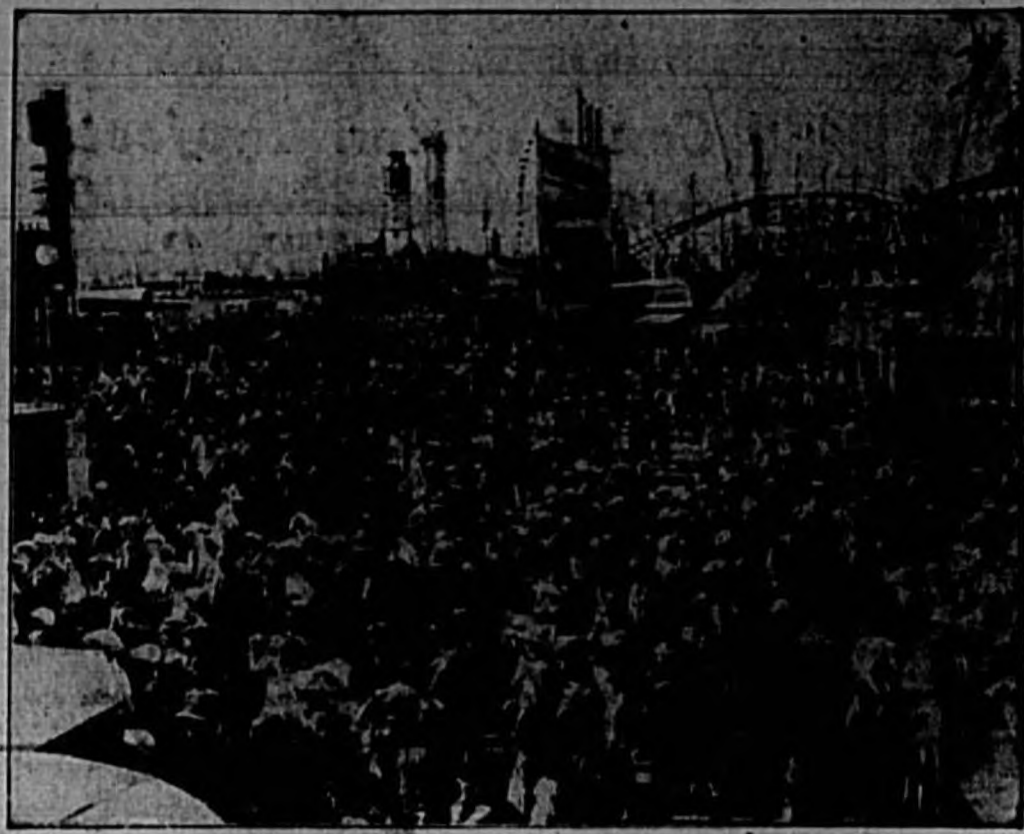

The city council met in regular session on July 7th at 7:30 P. M. with T. J. Miller, president, F. L. Woodruff, C. C. Woodruff, S. Runge, B. W. Herndon, and W. H. Underwood in attendance. During the meeting it was moved and seconded that the street committee be instructed to place six new lights, two to be placed on Sanford Heights and the balance at such other points as they may deem necessary.

An act of the recent legislature provides for the biennial appointment by the Governor of a state game and fish commissioner with offices at the capitol or elsewhere in the state. He is to receive a salary of $2,500 with an allowance of $500 a year for traveling and other expenses.

Mrs. F. L. Miller delightfully entertained the Auction Bridge Club Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. B. F. Whitner, Jr. was the lucky maker of the highest score which won for her the pretty prize, a dainty white gauze fan. The consolation prize, which was cut for a handsome deck of cards, was won by Mrs. F. J. Gonzalez.

Wallace Parham, the popular young son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Parham, of Gainesville, is visiting his uncle, J. E. Bruton, of this city. Tilden Jacobs, of Chuluota, an honored member of the school board, was in the city on Wednesday.

Prominent Gotham Hotel Operator Victim Of Death

NEW YORK, July 12.—(AP)—Fred Sterry, 57, president of the Plaza Operating Company and a prominent figure in the hotel business for many years died yesterday after a long illness.

He was formerly managing director of the famous United States Hotel at Saratoga, N. Y., The Homestead at Virginia Hot Springs and the Royal Poinciana and Breakers hotels in Palm Beach.

When the Hotel Plaza was being built here in 1905 Sterry was employed to assist in planning it and remained to be its manager. Later he became director and part owner of the Copley Plaza in Boston and in 1927, when the Savoy Plaza was erected here on the site of the old Hotel Savoy, he became president of the Plaza Operating Company.

The National City Bank put him in charge of building the National Hotel in Havana, and it opened under his direction in 1931.

Sterry leaves his widow and two daughters, Mrs. George Watson Hall, of Providence, R. I., and Mrs. Harford Mead Twitchell of New York.

Ransom Demands In Factor Case Are Seen As Authentic

CHICAGO, July 12.—(AP)—Federal authorities and police today said they had information that two ransom demands—one for $250,000 and the other for $200,000—for the release of the missing John Factor, market speculator, had been received. They said Factor's close friends regarded the demands as authentic.

The disclosure of the purported ransom demands, authorities said, led both police and federal authorities to regard the abduction of Factor early July 1 from an automobile driven by his son, Jerome, as bona fide.

Previously some officials had said it was possible Factor had disappeared for reasons of his own. He is fighting extradition to England on charges of defrauding British investors.

Police quoted close friends of Factor as saying that two days after the kidnapping, a ransom demand for $250,000 was made. Monday, they said, a demand for only alternative would be to impose a jail sentence and I don't want to do that.

The court's action in effect extended until October the time allowed for obtaining the license. Informations against the men were filed in response to Governor Dave Shelton's request for prosecution of persons falling to take out occupational licenses.

Validity Of Futch Law To Be Tested In Supreme Court

TALLAHASSEE, July 12.—(AP)—Validity of the Futch law will be tested in the supreme court July 21 when oral arguments in three cases attacking the measure will be heard.

The law provides a five to 20-year moratorium on payment of delinquent taxes and permits payment with bonds of county and district delinquent taxes. Legal circles here said the attacks on the act are of paramount importance to the state as the future of the tax collecting machinery depends on the outcome.

The court yesterday issued a writ preventing John R. Peacock, circuit clerk of Sarasota, from accepting bonds in payment of back taxes until disposal of a suit in which Guy M. Ragan, Sarasota county taxpayer, sought to force the clerk to accept certain bonds in payment of his taxes.

There are three attacks on the law before the supreme court. Two were filed previously from Duval county in cases in which an alternative writ of mandamus has been issued directing the Duval county circuit clerk to sell tax certificates or show reason why he should not be made to do so.

The clerk replied by saying he was prohibited from selling certificates by terms of the Futch law.

Letter Carriers Of U. S. To Fight To Regain Wages

DAYTONA BEACH, July 12.—(AP)—Letter carriers of the United States are going to put on a determined fight in Washington to bring their wages up to the level maintained in 1929 before the wave of salary cutting began.

W. G. Armstrong, president of the National Organization of Rural Letter Carriers, told the second and concluding session of the Florida State Rural Letter Carriers Association convention here yesterday.

The carriers, Armstrong said, had taken a 15 percent cut, and in addition decided was reached July 1 this year to cut their four cents a mile maintenance fee for automobiles to one cent, to continue for three months with extension for a longer period if necessary. We are actually digging down into our own pockets to keep up our cars for government service, he declared.

Others who addressed the convention yesterday were: E. W. Campbell, state president; H. H. Hudson, post office inspector of Atlanta, and C. C. McDevitt, of Washington, editor of the carriers' National Journal. The convention prepared to adjourn after election of officers.

Pecan Industry Is Preparing To Adopt Its Code Of Ethics

ALBANY, Ga., July 12.—(AP)—Distributors of papershell pecans in the Southeastern States met here yesterday and adopted a code of ethics governing their business.

Three principal points included: Minimum price-fixing machinery; the establishment of an organization to enforce the fair-price agreements, and the abolishment of "spot" markets.

By "spot" markets, distributors mean the practice of shipping solid carloads of pecans to Northern centers when they have less than carload orders, this practice having been followed in the past to give the distributors the advantage of solid carload rates.

Opinions were sharply divided on this point, it being contended by one group that the concentration of unsold surpluses in consuming centers depressed the market, whereas others contended that the savings in freight rates offset this depressing influence, if any existed.

The distributors also asked the industrial recovery officials to approve a 54-hour week and a minimum wage of 15 cents an hour for common labor, as well as the practice of using as much manual labor and as little machinery as possible. It was argued that pecan distribution is a season business that does not lend itself to short hours.

Another group in the pecan industry also met here yesterday and formed the Southeastern Pecan Shellers Association. They expect to draft and present a code for their organization and later to co-operate with a national gathering of shellers at St. Louis, where a code for the whole country will be offered. The shellers elected Sam Myers, Monticello, Fla., secretary.
