Yule Travelers Jam Highway, Planes, Trains

By United Press International
A deluge of Merry Christmas travelers struck the nation's highways Friday and hit a pre-holiday rest on thronged planes, trains and buses.

The annual home-for-Christmas push was made hazardous by a blustery snow storm in the Midwest, icy roads over much of the country and the outpouring of tipsy drivers from Friday afternoon office parties.

Furloughing servicemen — their numbers boosted this year by the Berlin crisis callup — added to the crush of holiday motorists and travelers on the bulging commercial transport system.

The National Safety Council estimated that 600 persons would die in traffic accidents during the three-day Christmas weekend. Scores of others were expected to perish in fires.

The council said 23,000 persons might suffer disabling injuries in mishaps that would erase the joy of the holidays.

Safety officials throughout the nation warned against too much speed and too much alcohol as the big culprits in the shocking death tolls of previous holiday seasons.

The most tragic 78-hour Christmas weekend in history was the "black Christmas" of 1955 when 621 persons died on the highways. In last year's 78-hour holiday period, 465 persons died in traffic.

Crack U. S. Troops Carry Out Operation

BERLIN (UPI) — A crack, 1,500-man U. S. battle group Friday carried out an "Operational Readiness" exercise in West Berlin.

The visible demonstration of American determination to defend the freedom of the Communist-encircled city was backed up by renewed assurances to the people of West Berlin by Gen. Lucius D. Clay, President Kennedy's personal representative here.

Clay, in an interview with the West Berlin newspaper Morgenpost said the United States will maintain its 6,500-man Berlin garrison at full strength. The Russians have demanded reduction of the Allied garrisons to "token forces."

Clay reassured West Berliners they can have faith that the U. S. garrison will defend their freedom.

He predicted some tense moments in Berlin next year but said he doubts there will be any war. "I am firmly convinced that the West does not want war and that the Soviet people and its leaders do not want war either," Clay said.

Unusual Move

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government, in a highly unusual move, Friday sought a court order that would forbid General Electric Co. to fix prices or commit other anti-trust violations in handling any of its products.

U. S. Warned By Red Chinese: 'Don't Play With Fire'

TOKYO (UPI) — A top-ranking Chinese Communist general Friday warned the United States would face "ignominious defeat" if it persisted in "playing with fire" in Southeast Asia, the official Communist New China news agency reported.

The Chinese Communists — by agency dispatches and radio broadcasts — also assailed the United States for blocking Peiping's admission to the United Nations. The world organization was scored for "meddling" in China's internal affairs.

Also a few sharp words were flung at the Soviet Union over Albania and world disarmament.

The warning to the United States was sounded by Senior Gen. Lo Jui-ching, chief of the general staff of the Chinese Communist army, at a reception given by the military attaché of the North Viet Nam Embassy in Peiping, the New China agency said.

Lo said the Chinese people are "keeping a close watch on the provocative and adventurous deeds of U. S. imperialism and its lackey's in Southeast Asia."

"We seriously warn the U. S. imperialists: If you do not stop playing with fire, you will definitely meet with an ignominious defeat," the general was quoted as saying.

Lo denounced President Kennedy for increasing U. S. military assistance to the South Viet Nam government in the struggle against the Communist Rebels.

U. S. Ambassador to the United Nations Adlai E. Stevenson was the target of an attack in the official newspaper of the Chinese Communist party. In an editorial, the newspaper denounced the "persistent hostility" of the United States toward China and said the "Chinese people cannot be cowed by the majority created by the U. S. voting machine" in the United Nations.

It referred specifically to Stevenson's speech to the assembly and said:

"Listen Stevenson, it is the rights of the 650,000,000 Chinese people to recover China's legitimate seat in the United Nations and drive out the representatives of the Chiang Kai-shek clique—this is a fact that nobody can change."

The editorial also accused the United Nations of "unscrupulous intervention" in China's internal affairs by discussing the Tibetan question. The General Assembly censured China for its attack on Tibet.

Kennedy, Macmillan Reach Agreement

U. S., British OK Nuclear Tests

HAMILTON, Bermuda (UPI) — President Kennedy and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan agreed Friday to make preparations for new nuclear tests in the atmosphere as a result of the "massive series of Soviet blasts."

A communique issued at the end of their two-day conference said that no final decision had been made, but that as a matter of "prudence" the preliminary steps would be taken to resume testings.

The two leaders also announced that the United States ambassador in Moscow would make contact with Russian officials with regard to resuming exploratory talks on the Berlin crisis.

That decision was made, the communique said, as the result of the conclusions reached at the Big Four foreign ministers and NATO council meetings recently in Paris.

The question of a summit meeting with Soviet Premier Khrushchev "never came up" in the talks between Kennedy and Macmillan, White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said.

The communique said the purpose of the contacts on Berlin would be "to ascertain whether a reasonable basis for negotiations can be found."

Kennedy and Macmillan, in a discussion of the Congo crisis, said the meeting between Katanga Premier Moise Tshombe and Congo Premier Cyrille Adoula was "an encouraging first step" and expressed hope it would lead to further progress between the two parties in "that troubled land."

President Kennedy rushed Friday night to the bedside of his father who was reported showing "improvement" after suffering a cerebral occlusion Tuesday.

As of now, according to authoritative word, the former ambassador's right leg and arm remain paralyzed and there is also some paralysis of the left side of his face. The patient can smile and otherwise show recognition or emotion by his facial expressions. He also shows recognition of visitors by clutching at them with his left hand.

There was understood to be some concern over how well the head of the Kennedy family would recover because in cases of this sort, the longer it takes to regain powers affected by the stroke, the less complete will be the recovery.

In this type of case, it was explained, if the patient responds in 24 or 48 hours, it is expected he will fully regain use of his limbs and faculties. But Kennedy has gone more than 72 hours without significant response as far as his paralysis and speech inability are concerned.

Kennedy took off in his Air Force jet for Palm Beach at 3:56 p. m. Macmillan was to leave for London later Friday evening.

With regard to nuclear tests, the communique said:

"The President and the Prime Minister considered the problems of the nuclear arms race. They took note of the new situation created by the massive series of atmospheric tests conducted in recent months by the Soviet government after long, secret preparation."

"They agreed that it is now necessary, as a matter of prudent planning for the future, that pending the final decision preparations should be made for atmospheric testing to maintain the effectiveness of the deterrent."

Even 'Santa' Gets Into This Picket Line
PITTSBURGH (UPI) — There was a long blue picket line around city hall Friday and even "Santa Claus" got into the act. The pickets were off-duty, uniformed firemen who paraded four and five abreast to bring to the public's eye their demands for an average $857 a year salary boost. They currently average $5,900 annually. Approximately 500 of the city's 1,300 firemen reported for picket line duty. They walked in shifts, carrying signs and distributing handbills to passerby. Jerry Scheurer, dressed up in a fire-engine red Santa Claus outfit complete with white whiskers, admitted he felt more at home behind the wheel of the pumper he drives for No. 14 fire house.

'Raging' Storms Trap Children In Classrooms

By United Press International
Two surprise snow storms whipped up blizzard conditions, trapped school children in their classrooms and bogged holiday travel across the plains and prairies Friday on the first full day of winter.

One raging storm broke out in the Central Plains, lashed Kansas with shopping crowds with traffic-snarl snows, piled 10 inches of snow on southwestern Iowa and forced school buses off the roads in sections of Missouri, Iowa and Kansas.

To the north, a Canadian Prairie blizzard lashed south of the border, closed scores of schools in North Dakota and swept eastward across the state riding 60 miles an hour winds and carrying bone-chilling, sub-zero temperatures.

School authorities in the Hamburg, Iowa, and Bethany, Mo., areas held children in school buildings when the surprise storm piled up drifts on highways and cut visibility to near zero.

Three buses turned back to the school at Essex, Iowa, after making unsuccessful attempts to take children home at noon.

School authorities said the children were safe in the schools and would be kept there all night if necessary or until blizzard conditions let up.

In the Iowa-Missouri-Kansas storm zone and in North Dakota many schools closed before students could enjoy their annual Christmas parties.

The Iowa highway patrol reported "blizzard conditions" in southwestern and west central Iowa. U. S. 6 was closed west of Des Moines.

Airlines cancelled all flights in and out of Des Moines, Iowa.

Five inches of snow in less than three hours belted Kansas City, and a 7-inch fall hit St. Joseph, Mo. Huge traffic snarls developed in the morning rush hours at both cities.

The storm struck on the heels of warming, clearing weather and the Weather Bureau forecast showed no prediction of precipitation until just before the snow began.

Kennedy To Ask Big Defense Boost

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy will ask Congress to appropriate $50.8 billion, $2.9 billion more than it did this year, for operation of the nation's armed forces next year, it was disclosed Friday.

The figures were revealed in a letter from Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara to Budget Director David Bell, detailing and summarizing the administration's judgment of the Pentagon's money needs for the year starting July.

A copy of the letter was obtained by the Army-Navy Air Force Journal, which published it. Kennedy will send his budget recommendations to Congress next month. The proposed figure does not include $780 million which Congress appropriated for this year but was not spent.

AF Launch A 'Success'

POINT ARGUELLO, Calif. (UPI) — An Air Force satellite—possibly either a Midas or Ramos "sky spy"—was successfully launched Friday from this Pacific missile base. The satellite shot skyward atop an Atlas rocket at about 2:30 p. m. EST.

Worship God In His Holy Sanctuary

Calendar And Directory Of Churches

Calendar And Directory Of Churches

Man of man, whenever I doubt of life I think of Thee." So wrote George Matheson in his blindness. Whenever you and I doubt either God or man, we would do well to think of Jesus. His cross is a symbol of what God is and what we may become. The proud Roman at the foot of the cross said, "This man was the son of God." Jesus was supremely a man of faith. He had great faith in both God and man. We have faith in God largely because we must have Him. We are not sufficient unto ourselves. Do you have faith? Life becomes a radiant thing for people of faith, since they see so much deeper into the secrets of life. The universe opens its heart to eyes of faith; closed doors swing ajar when faithful steps approach; loving spirits smile their welcome to trustworthy souls; latent powers blossom in the presence of fidelity; young children and wise old age give themselves with abandon to those who offer confidence. God waits to share His blessings on men who can be trusted. Of the Pilgrims of yesterday, guided by the Divine, it was said, "They were men of faith and very sure of God." Are you sure of God?

A Season Of Remembrance

Christmas is largely a season of remembrance. Most of us approach this time with many memories of past Christmases. The beauty of the Christmas tree, the fragrance of the fruit cakes, and the newness of presents, all carry us back to other years. Few fail to think of a cherished memory as they sit around on Christmas morning watching children at play, or thinking of another Christmas when this was true. It is a time of mixed emotions. There is happiness in so many of our hearts, and yet there is a strange tinge of sadness. Still Christmas is wonderful and its wonder has been demonstrated in it becoming the most universal festival on our calendar. It is not only Americans who fall under its charm and beauty, but also around the world the bells of Christmas ring, children's voices laugh, and all ages sing.

How good it is to have such a time of remembrance, but let us ask ourselves if the spirit of selfish gratification is likely to outweigh the real significance of the occasion.

When we turn back the clock of time, we remember that the Christmas season is very definitely a Christian occasion. As we remember our history, we find that twenty centuries ago Christianity began to turn a secular world into a world where God is recognized as King. Since this is true we find that there are many wonderful memories that make Christmas a time of magnificent thoughts and deeds.

We remember that Christmas is the time of giving. Our Christmas gifts reflect the spirit of the giving of God as so beautifully expressed in John 3:16, "For God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life." There is no other time when the spirit of giving is so pronounced as in this season.

We remember that Christmas is a time of beauty. The shining faces of loved ones is perhaps the most supremely beautiful physical sight that we see at Christmas. But so many things are beautiful. The beauty of the world seems to make itself known. For some this is expressed by snow-covered hills and valleys, for others it is expressed by the beauty of flowers that exist in the land in which Jesus was born. There is beauty of music at Christmas time. What is more beautiful and magnificent than the inspiring music of Handel's "Messiah"? What could warm our hearts more than the simply beauty of "Silent Night"? The beauty of Christmas should take us back to the beauty of God's Gift in His Son, Jesus Christ. Never was one so beautiful as He who came to a lost world to direct and redeem it.

There will be times during the Christmas season, when many people who have so many blessed memories will want to stop and say, "Well, what is the best of all?" That memory should be that the central truth of Christmas is Christ and not man. Yes, this memory will give real meaning to Christmas. It will give direction to our faith and our way of life. As these two great basics are provided for in Him, we will become awakened to the truth importance of Christmas and we will thank God for memories that come to us at the Christmas Season. We will be thankful for an occasion so wonderful that makes us pause in the midst of our frantic hurry and look back to see Truth Divine.

Girl Scout Troop Meets With Leader In All-Day Session

Girls of Scout Troop 338 met from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. on Dec. 19 for a combined workshop and holiday party at the home of their leader, Mrs. Nancy Russell of Fern Park.

The making of Christmas decorations and tree favors for the Winter Park Hospital filled the workshop hours and at noon the girls enjoyed a noshing lunch with Mrs. Russell providing the fruit drink.

Following lunch the Christmas fun began with an exchange of gifts and the party, with refreshments of ice cream and cookies, added the final touch.

Those attending were Doris Aikens, Barbara Andrews, Cathy Carlisle, Karen Cass, Melinda Casselberry, Sheila Chambers, Willa Heldeman, Mary Jo Hulbert, Leslie Komisar, Linda Lefford, Suzanne Miller, Donna Noell, Becky Totten, Cheryl Walters and Susan Webber.

Those unable to attend were Bonnie Lee Ball, Karen Kris and Susan Bowen.

Assisting Mrs. Russell with the day activities was Mrs. Hope Bennett whose artistic talent was especially helpful for the workshop.

Foreign Aid Protest Grows

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Foreign aid and U. S. contributions to the United Nations faced growing congressional opposition today because of the Congo fighting and India's invasion of Goa.

Rep. Walter H. Judd, R-Minn., a senior member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, joined a swelling chorus of GOP protests against U. S. support for the UN attack on Katanga Province.

Rep. Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio, another member of the foreign affairs group, also protested the Congo action. In addition, he opposed any appropriation to purchase some of the $200 million in bonds the United Nations will issue to try to bail itself out of debt.

"Anybody who buys these bonds ought to have his head examined," Hays said.

Christmas Eve Service Planned

A Candlelight Christmas Eve service has been scheduled for 7:30 p. m. at the DeBary Community Methodist Church.

Rev. Damon Scott, pastor of the church who will narrate the Christmas Story to a musical background by the choir, reminds that the service is open to all persons wishing to attend.

Variety Of Yule Programs Set For Area Churches

Many of the churches and houses of worship in Sanford and surrounding area have announced plans for special religious services and group choral presentations during the four-day holiday weekend in observance of the birth of Christ.

As Christmas Eve this year falls on a Sunday, a large portion of the pre-Christmas Day religious events will occur in place of regularly scheduled Sunday services. These will vary from early evening Christmas caroling to gatherings observing the midnight arrival of Dec. 25th.

HOLIDAY WREATHS AND WALL SWAGS in all sizes, designs and materials were featured by members of the Bear Lake Garden Circle for Christmas Tree Lane, annual project of the Orlando Garden Club. Most unusual and a best seller among the wreaths were those made from varieties of macaroni and spaghetti with the finished product sprayed in gold or silver. (Herald Photo)

Civilians Induct New Members At Yule Meet

The Sanford Civitan Club, under the direction of President John Brunley, Thursday night heard reports of the years activities, with remarks from Lt. Gov. George McLain, and inducted seven of eight new members into their organization.

The men, with wives and friends as guests, dined on a sumptuous turkey dinner at the Capri, and later Santa Claus, laughing with glee, and full of good cheer, came bounding in to bring gifts to all good Civitans.

The candlelight ceremonies which were held were solemn and impressive, as President Brunley lit three candles on the altar. They were the candles of fellowship, knowledge and service. The new members were given framed plaques on which was inscribed the Civitan creed, and a lapel pin, which they were instructed to wear proudly. New members are Duke Schaubert, Merlo Hastings, Bill Kneiffel, Tom Price, Sal Monroe, Herb McKenzie and James Kidd.

Lt. Gov. McLain congratulated the club on their fine reports and said that he knew how much hard work had gone into the many accomplishments of the group. He said that the Sanford Club continues the fine record that they have established and are well on the way to being one of the best in the district.

Youth Infiltrated By Enemy—Walker

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI)—Edwin A. Walker, who gave up an Army general's stars and retirement pay to speak his mind, said recently American youth has been infiltrated by the enemy, its government follows one wrong decision with another, and news media misled the people.

In his first public address since he resigned as a major general in October, Walker attacked large sections of the press, radio and television, the State Department, and particularly Sen. William Fulbright, D-Ark., for a memorandum on "right-wing radicalism" in the military.

He said President Truman, Eisenhower and Kennedy made a succession of decisions which "have cost us our sovereignty and our security."

Walker, who has disavowed any intention of becoming a "principal spokesman" for the John Birch Society or any other group, gave no indication that he has political ambitions.

DeBary Guild Officers Installed

Officers of DeBary's St. Ann Catholic Guild were installed following an 11 a. m. Communion Breakfast at the Chimney Corners Restaurant last Sunday.

Those taking office include Marie Dunton, president; Hazel Kries, vice president; Edna Kelly, treasurer; Madeline Matheson secretary and Babs Reilly, historian.

Mrs. John T. Hewitt donated a red felt altar cloth in memory of her parents to the new church at Dec. 4 services.

Christmas Eve Midnight Mass will be celebrated at St. Ann Church.

Junta Hangs Five Rhee Supporters

SEOUL, Korea (UPI) — The South Korean military junta hanged five more supporters of former President Syngman Rhee today.

The five were condemned by revolutionary courts and refused clemency by Gen. Park Chung Hee, South Korean strongman and head of the junta.

Executed were Choi In Kyu, home minister under Rhee; Kwak Yung Joo, Rhee's former bodyguard; Cho Yong Soo, publisher of the defunct newspaper Minjok Ilbo; Lim Wah Soo, ex-hoodlum leader; and Choi Baek Keum, a Socialist politician.

U. S. Action On Red Leaders Seen

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Justice Department may move against the leaders of the U.S. Communist party next month for failing to register as agents of Russia.

The deadline for resignation of the party's estimated 10,000 members passed last midnight with continued defiance from the Communists. It was the last of three deadlines—the first for resignation of the party itself, the second for its leaders, and the third for the membership.

Magic Of Star

Wherever you were last night the age-old mystery of an evening star could not help but catch you for a moment. Dashing home from work, late shopping, a lonely walk, a reverent visit to a pine and candle scented church, in prison, army camp, hospital, firehouse, police station, cruising cab, or even a park bench, there came, unbidden, that moment of wonder first created by a single shining star.

Somehow the troubles of the world, and your own little sphere, were forgotten as your heart and thoughts lifted with more hope because it was Christmas week and men of goodwill over all the earth paused, as you did, to agn renew their faith in the promise of that star.

If you paused for that hope, the faith by which you worship could not be less because, after nearly two thousand years a star in the heavens, belonging to all men, had sent to earth a message of "goodwill and peace" more loudly than those being beamed by man-made machines circling over all creeds, colors, cultures, climes in menacing orbit.

So, while metal balls whirl among the unraveled mystery of the stars and send earthward messages frightening in their yet unrealized power of the future, the star of years ago beamed again the message that cannot help but touch the hearts of all mankind.

Wanting no power except that which lies in the hearts of all men to live and raise their children in dignity, freedom and self-determination, the Christmas star again causes man to lift his eyes heavenward and gain strength in the thought that the power of an age-old message is strong and great enough to wipe out, if only for a time, the "beeps" of fear.

On Us!

This country's propaganda agency, the United States Information Agency, often is the butt of criticism on such counts as wastefulness and misdirected effort. Relatively free of assault, however, are the 128 information and culture centers the agency operates or aids in 35 countries. These centers maintain libraries, distribute books, show films, circulate exhibits, conduct lecture and music programs.

Their success is measured by the audiences they attract, and a large number have rung up accomplishments that even the toughest critics can accept.

The centers in West Germany were particularly popular and effective in the long period of that nation's rebuilding and rehabilitation. They still are, though today only 19 exist against some 50 at the peak.

Americans must therefore read with misgivings the report that some "America House" centers in sizable German cities are threatened by a shortage of funds. To gauge how these are regarded, report has it that the Germans themselves are offering to pay as much as 50 per cent of the bill for keeping 9 of the 19 centers open.

Without such aid, four would surely have to close. But German assistance for nine may permit United States officials to spread available money sufficiently to keep everything going.

How did this money problem arise? The United States in recent years has been putting stronger and stronger emphasis on propaganda efforts in Africa, Asia and Latin America. In the current fiscal year, for instance, the total outlay for Africa alone is increased $1,392,822.

The emphasis is understandable. The need to tell America's story, the free world's story, in these turbulent continents is obvious.

Nevertheless, it does not necessarily follow that because new areas need more attention that old ones need less. A few seldom pauses that does not offer evidence of the necessity for greater understanding between ourselves and our friends and allies.

Even though Congress this year boosted the total USIA appropriation by nearly $12.5 million, it slashed funds, for our West European missions, a good bit of them from highly valued and successful information center activities.

German help in maintaining these functions would be a fine testimonial. But U. S. officials note that such aid is bound to diminish U. S. control over the centers' political content. To this extent we will be losers.

Must we really ask others to help pay for the telling of our story. It seems plain enough that as a great nation with a great cause, we should not.

Henry McLemore

Even if there is a 200-foot ocean-going yacht under my Christmas tree, it won't give me half the thrill that some of the presents of yesteryear did.

My best Christmas present—and biggest heartache—came years ago in Rochelle, Ga. I was ten, and had been longing for a watch—a real one that worked—for what seemed a million years.

Then there it was. All my own. It wouldn't have excited the envy of a Swiss jeweler, for it was what we used to call a "dollar blacuit." Big, fat, and with a tick that could be heard for fifty yards. But my eyes popped out, and my heart jumped with joy when I saw it.

I grabbed it, and then lit out the front door to show it to the boys next door. But they never saw it. As I sailed off the front steps I tripped and landed on the walk, palms down. And the watch was in one palm. It went into more pieces than a hand grenade. So did my heart.

I spent a good two weeks trying to locate all the parts, and another three trying to put the watch together.

Running the watch a close second for top Christmas honors is the billy goat—promptly named Billy—that was waiting for me—but not under the tree—in Dalton, Ga. I was about four then, but the sight and sound and smell of that billy is as fresh as if it were yesterday.

What a splendid animal. He looked bigger than a Percheron, and his horns more formidable than any Texas Longhorn.

There was a wagon, too, and a harness, and a little whip with a cracker. What a wonderful day that Christmas was, with Billy butting me every time I came close to harness him, or standing stock still when he was all harnessed, and I was in the wagon, ready to ride.

And when he did take it into his billy goat head to run, what a runner he was. Head down, whiskers flying, he would head in one direction and keep going, no matter what. Through the hedge, down ditches, across curbs—anywhere.

For third place among my Christmas presents I would have an impossible time trying to decide between my first bicycle and my first—and last—alligator. My Dad gave me the bike, and a cousin shipped the 'gator from Florida. I believe I'd have to vote for the alligator. He came in a crate, was a good five feet long, and, as I remember, on the angry side. But no other kid in town had a real, honest-to-goodness alligator.

We kept him in the back yard in a pen for a few weeks, and I must have made nearly half a dollar showing him to my playmates at anywhere from a penny to two cents a look. It was a sad day for me when my parents thought we had had an alligator in the back yard long enough, and prevailed on the city to place him in the town fountain. It was pretty hard trying to collect money from the kids then.

Fourth spot must go to Spot, the first dog that ever greeted me on Christmas morning. Half something and half something else, he was the finest dog a boy ever had.

Dr. Crane's Worry Clinic

Norma wants definite ideas by which to combat racial bias. So study my answer. Notice how Jesus went out of his way to show his dislike of prejudice. And imitate the theosophical idea in the manner outlined below, for it will widen your spiritual horizon startlingly.

CASE K-496: Norma L., aged 17, is president of her church Young People's Society.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "there is still so much race prejudice in America, we'd like some practical plan by which to abolish it. Is there anything we can do to help wake people up to the fact that God must dislike prejudice?"

"I need some practical suggestions to offer on Sunday night when it is my turn to lead the meeting."

As long as teen-age idealists like Norma are sincerely striving to make this world better, we oldsters can still take hope.

Norma might remind her group that God apparently likes different colors, or he would never have given us so many hues among the flowers.

And sunsets would not show the varied colors of the rainbow. Jesus also vetoed prejudice. So he picked the most hated race of antiquity to furnish the hero of the Good Samaritan Story.

"And who is my neighbor?" asked a smug, self-righteous college man in the audience.

To the Hebrews, the Romans were doubly hated as tax gatherers, as the Philistines.

But the Samaritans were anathema. Jews were not allowed even to set foot on the soil of Samaria, for it meant supreme pollution.

If, however, it was necessary to make a shortcut through that hated country for urgent busi-

In that connection, the next time you feel prejudiced, try to imagine that your dead mother or brother or wife or sweetheart, is now reincarnated in the person of the hated opposite color or race.

Theosophists believe in this type of physical reincarnation on this earth. It is a possibility! So, if you folks have lost a loved one, wouldn't it be terrible if you later abused him via your mistreatment of a person of a different color or race who now is your former loved one?

This thought will widen your perspective fast!

And for church groups like Norma, send for the "Compliment Club" booklet, enclosing a stamped return envelop, plus 20c.

It will show you how to become an immediate verbal Good Samaritan!

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Whether the Congo will develop into another Cuba fiasco for the Kennedy administration will depend on what happens during the next few days of United Nations operations against Moise Tshombe's forces in Katanga.

An alternative, face-saving for the administration could come through an arranged cease-fire and a unification meeting between Tshombe and the Congo's prime minister, Cyrille Adoula.

It is increasingly evident, however, that the Congo situation is causing the U. S. State Department as much trouble here at home, as the United Nations in New York and in North Atlantic Treaty Organization councils in Paris as it is in Africa.

U. S. policy was based on an assumption that the Congo situation could be cleared up by a quick UN military attack on Katanga.

The administration was criticized for not acting aggressively enough in support of the Cuban invasion. Now it is criticized for being too aggressive in the Congo.

The advantage of a successful Congo blitz is that it would set a precedent for similar operations in case it becomes necessary to use force against a Communist effort to overthrow the Adoula government and make Deputy Prime Minister Antoine Gisinga, a former Lumumba lieutenant, top man in the Congo.

There were three miscalculations: —The strength of the Katanga military organization run by mercenaries was underestimated. The all-out support it is receiving from Belgian and British mining interests in Katanga was not foreseen.

—The fact that all 14 of America's allies in NATO—most of them still colonial powers—would not back up the U. S. policy in the UN and in the Congo was a setback.

—Finally, the development of strong pro-Katanga sentiment in the United States came as a complete surprise.

There has been a strong pro-Katanga lobby operating behind the scenes at the UN. It has found ready support from political opponents of the Kennedy administration, conservatives and anti-Communist crusaders like Adm. Ben Moreel of Americans for Constitutional Action, Dean Clarence Manion, William F. Buckley Jr., J. B. Matthews and others.

What emerged was an "American Committee for Aid to Katanga Freedom Fighters," with Dr. Max Yergan, a prominent Negro leader as its chairman and front man of main interest.

He was born in Raleigh, N. C. and graduated from Shaw University in that city. He got a master's degree at Howard University in Washington and has received honours on the dangers of communism in the eastern institutions.

He was in international YMCA work for over 20 years, serving in the United States, in France with Negro troops during World War I, then in India and South Africa. He left Y work in 1936.

The next year he organized the "Council on African Affairs" and became its executive director. Its purpose was to disseminate infor-

To the Editor:
 Why should you "gripe" about the city employees receiving a "gift"? Pay for "overtime" in a year would amount to more than 10 or 25 dollars. I have known some of the city employees to work 16 hours a day, without overtime pay, during shortage of help due to illness, storms and other emergencies.

The wages and salaries most of the employees receive are small and that is one reason it is hard for the city of Sanford to get and keep good qualified employees. What with income taxes, social security and group insurance the "take home" pay is very small. You ought to compare their salaries and wages with those of school teachers, electricians, carpenters, painters, plasterers, truck drivers, etc.—Yes, even common laborers.

Some companies at Christmas give parties, trees, gifts for employees and their families, or money equal to a month's salary as one-tenth of their annual pay, etc., etc. I know a man whose company gave him $115 for Christmas. I saw his check. He also gets 15 per cent discount on everything he buys from them. Another company (here in Sanford) gives 30 per cent discount on all sales and gives gifts to their employees. Some also

The Christmas season may bring a gigantic yuletide blessing to Oviedo residents this year, something the people of this small but wealthy community in East Seminole County have long awaited—an honest-to-goodness football stadium, and following that, the beginning of an Oviedo High School gridiron squad.

Long a matter of speculation, talk, and hearsay, the residents of Oviedo are beginning to look upon the prospects of football and a brand-new football stadium as almost inevitable. Problems which have long been stumbling stones are starting to disappear, and in all probability Oviedo will field its first football team in the fall of 1962.

Several of the leading and reputedly-wealthy citizens of the community have organized what is the beginning of an independent, privately-financed athletic association whose main purpose is to provide recreational facilities for Oviedo High School. This association held its first meeting last week to elect officers and standing committee chairmen.

Purportedly intended as a non-profit organization, the association has yet to select an official name, or move to incorporate as a non-profit organization and apply for a charter. The organizers are awaiting a reply from an inquiry sent to the Internal Revenue Dept. by Association President John Courier of Chase and Company, concerning tax exemption of donations to the athletic fund.

Land problems for the proposed football field have not been solved completely, but the newly-formed Association does have a tentative site picked out. The proposed site for the field consists of a nine acre tract of land south of Oviedo which now belongs jointly to the Masonic Lodge and the American Legion.

An estimated $7,500 will be required to clear the land, install a water system and a lighting system, and provide the necessary equipment for a regulation athletic field. The funds for the project are expected to be raised from local donations to the proposed Oviedo Athletic Association.

Unfortunately, little or no help is to be expected from the Seminole County School Board because as Supt. of Schools R. T. Milwee said Friday, "Seminole County School Board policy and auditing procedure prohibits providing funds for athletic equipment for county athletic associations."

However, Milwee stated further that in his own personal opinion, "the school board would provide maintenance crews to keep a football field moved and in condition. This would not extend to the purchase of bleachers," he stated further.

Association President John Courier said that Attorney Doug Stenstrom had been appointed legal counsel for the proposed athletic association and will handle organizational details in incorporating the association as a non-profit organization.

Some of Seminole Coach Pigott's boys have grabbed another distinction. Besides Orange Belt Conference and All-State honors, Sanford is now represented on the All-Mid-State Football Team. On the first string team is Russ Pearson at guard; J. B. Phillips at center; and Eugene Williams at tackle. Seminoles to make second string were: Don Harvey at end; Bubba Davis at halfback; and Bill Phagan at fullback. Honorable mentions went to Butch Riser and Gary Davidson.

The Mayfair Country Club will begin golf classes for ladies beginning in January. The courses will consist of six one-hour lessons with classes starting at 10 a. m. on January 4th. Registration may be completed at any time by dropping in to see Mayfair golf pro Rudy Goff in the golf shop.

One Seminole County undefeated football team which we somehow overlooked in our seasonal roundup is Virgil Duffell's Blue Angels, the sixth grade champions of Sanford's West Side Grammar School.

The Blue Angels completed an eight game tournament season of rag-tag gridiron play with five sixth grade teams in the running to end up with a seasonal total of 109 points scored compared to their opponents' scoring total for the season of 13 points.

SHS Gridders Get 'Feelers'

Four Seminole High football players have attracted interest in several southeastern colleges, it was learned Friday night. Mississippi State University, the University of Miami, and New Orleans' Tulane University have requested information on members of the Sanford team.

2 All-American Gridders Confirm NFL Pro Bids

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Two All-America grid stars here for the Shrine East-West grid clash, confirmed Friday that they will be playing in the National Football League next year.

Ernie Davis, the great back from Syracuse, said that he is "very happy" with the terms he received with the Cleveland Browns.

"I feel no regret for having turned down the good Buffalo offer," said Davis.

It was announced in Cleveland by Arthur Modell, chief executive officer of the Browns, that Davis had agreed to sign a three-year contract for $65,000 and a $15,000 bonus.

Davis was late getting out to the practice field Friday afternoon at Santa Clara as he sat under a heat-ray lamp directed by trainer Henry (Smitty) Schmidt, who has handled the East squad for many years.

"He has a slight back injury, suffered in the game against Miami in the Liberty Bowl Dec. 16," said the trainer.

Davis expects to be in tip-top shape for the Shrine game on Dec. 30, however.

In Los Angeles it was announced that Merlin Olsen, Utah State's fine tackle, had signed with the Rams. The price on this one was not announced.

But Olsen also had been drafted by the Denver Broncos of the American Football League and there had been a powerful tug-of-war going on to get the 265-pounder.

McRoberts Tires copped all four games from Robson Sporting Goods moving Robson to third place. Midge Woods came through for McRoberts Tires rolling a 215-543 scratch series. Lois May, one of the newcomers to bowling rolled a 518 handicap series.

Joining with the Targa Florio of Italy — Nurburgring, Germany, and La Mans, France, internationally famous road racing circuits, the Sebring 12 Hour Endurance Race becomes one of the races keeping high speed production and prototype sports cars a part of the tradition of road racing circuits throughout the world.

What Next
The new Doral Country Club in Miami will have the country's first girl caddies on the links when its new golf course opens here Friday.

Connie Smith, 19-year-old brown-haired beauty from Buffalo, N. Y., was the first girl picked at interviews to line up the "golfters."

Florida Orange Juice Big Aid To Athletes

By JOHN BIKES
Florida Citrus Mutual

LAKELAND—Bruises and contusions, which make life so black and blue for athletes, household do-it-yourselfers and others beset by hard knocks, are, themselves, taking a beating from Florida orange juice. Or, more specifically, from vitamins C and P teeming in Florida OJ.

First, though, a bit of flash-backing is in order. Back in January, 1959, a Florida Citrus Mutualer stumbled on the info that the Philadelphia Eagles pro footballers were taking these citrus vitamins in capsule form to lessen the incidence of bruises on their bodies, faces, legs, etc., resulting from the tough clashes every time the ball was snapped.

Dr. Thomas F. Dowd, then the Eagles' physician, was quoted on a before and after illustration. Before the Eagles began taking the vitamins it was a task for the doctor to get the players in shape for their next game. After they began the capsuling—at the rate of three capsules per day—the doctor's job was a snap. The players were ready, willing and able, minus the contusions and ecchymosis (fancy name for small bruises) at the next kickoff.

The Mutualer was so simmered up by what he concluded was a brand new potential for selling more Florida citrus to more people (everybody gets black and blue from life's beatings) that he essayed to try out the panacea on the New York Yankees (baseball) then spring training in St. Petersburg.

When he approached the Yankee brass to try out the citrus vitamins on the likes of Mickey Mantle, Yogi Berra, Whitey Ford, Roger Maris, et al, he was reduced thusly, in effect:

"What's the matter with you Florida citrus folks? Don't you keep up with your own products? We've been feeding your vitamins to our boys for years, and if you've been keeping up with the sports pages you should know the Yankees are doing all right."

This Yankee testimonial at the time was duly, if somewhat embarrassingly, belated, spread around in the public prints.

This year the Florida Citrus Commission began researching further into this potential mass use of Florida citrus as a Charley horse preventive. Members of one group of footballers were each privileged to drink a whole quart of orange juice daily, while members of a brother group were each limited to only six ounces of OJ daily.

Results of this test aren't in yet. But the Eagles and Yankees offer a pretty good clue. The former won the 1960 National Football League championship and the latter won four out of five from the Cincinnati Reds last fall to become the 1960 World Champs of baseball.

"I'm not just playing left field or lonesome and," Mutual's Bob Rutledge said when presented the Eagles' and Yankees' facts of citrus life, "but isn't there some kind of a moral here, such as if you want to be a champion drink more Florida orange juice?"

Yep. And if you don't aspire to be a champion, you might up your daily intake of Florida citrus to banish those tell-tale black and blue marks from coming out second in a two-way tussle.

State Begins Program To Provide Rural Bedside Nursing Service

JACKSONVILLE — Florida has launched a state-wide pioneering movement to make bedside nursing available in rural homes — particularly rural homes — within its borders.

Dr. Albert V. Hardy, Acting State Health Officer, said that a recent survey of 24 North Central counties showed an urgent need for expansion of public health nursing programs to include the home nursing service. He announced that Federal funds recently allocated to the State Board of Health will be used to inaugurate such a combined home nursing care program immediately. Approximately 40 additional public health nurses will be employed and will be assigned to positions in various county health departments.

This expanded public health nursing program will be carried out under the direction of Dr. W. L. Wright, Assistant State Health Officer and Director of the Bureau of Local Health Services, who stated that "this is the first attempt in the United States to provide such a service on a large scale through county health departments."

The combined home nursing care service is designed to save money for the ill, conserve available nursing time and reduce the length of hospitalization, aid in the physical rehabilitation of the chronically ill and bring about better utilization and coordination of all local medical services. Doctor Wright will be assisted by Miss

Ruth Mettinger, Director of the Division of Public Health Nursing, who was the first to give impetus to this program in Florida when she established the state's first Visiting Nurse Association in Jacksonville in 1945.

In commenting on this expanding program, Miss Mettinger pointed out that it had the endorsement of the Florida State Medical Association and had been warmly approved by local physicians in those areas of the state where it has already been tried on a demonstration basis. She emphasized that the service is available to everyone in the community regardless of their ability to pay but that it could not be offered unless approved by and carried out under direction of the patient's private physician.

For This They Go To College?

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — Five college sophomores claiming the world's record for "twisting" today after dancing the new craze over 7.1 miles of highway.

H. E. Crow, University of North Carolina; Ronnie Stock, Georgia Tech; Ray Lawand, Millsaps College; Paul Cone, the University of Florida, and Tommy Kelly, Jacksonville University, said they broke the previously-known record held by some students at Louisiana State University.

No Stopping Industrial Expansion In South

ATLANTA (UPI) — Industrial expansion of the once-agricultural South is moving so fast that passenger trains now head for the side tracks to let the freights go by.

Industry is the magic word that is getting governors elected. It is reclaiming rural towns once financed on cotton and peas, converting the land of magnolia blossoms into a land of whirring machinery. It has created problems of water pollution from industrial waste.

Every Southern state has the welcome mat out for industry and is buying slick paper magazine advertising to hawk claimed advantages of pleasant weather, tranquil labor conditions and in some cases major tax advantages. As an incentive to an oil refinery considering a $125 million plant in Mississippi, Gov. Ross Barnett summoned the legislature into special session. Constitutional amendments were adopted and ratified by the voters that extended property tax exemption for new or expanded industry from five to 10 years and permitted sale or lease of public school land for industrial use.

Barnett says the helpful legislation set the stage for the "greatest period of industrial and economie progress this state has ever experienced. Ten years ago agriculture accounted for 31.2 per cent of Mississippi's total income. Today it accounts for only 23.1 per cent.

Most states shy away from giving outright tax advantages and large firms have made it clear this is not a controlling incentive. But all Southern states try some brand of sales pitch to get industry and trade.

One of the most effective southern industrial salesmen was former North Carolina Gov. Luther Hodges, now secretary of commerce. He led delegations of North Carolina businessmen to Europe and sponsored development of a huge industrial triangle in his state.

From a record of 159 new plants in 1950, North Carolina had 523 new industries in the year 1960, an investment for the year of three times what it was 10 years before.

The North Carolina Trade Fair this year attracted 200,000. It was the nation's first state-sponsored event of its kind.

Florida is another state going all out to attract new industry. With the impetus of the space launching complex at Cape Canaveral, the state's business boom seems only in its infancy. The biggest missile industry attracted so far is the Martin Company, employing more than 10,000 at Orlando.

Florida also sponsors expensive tours of the state by foreign diplomats to improve industrial and trade relations with other countries.

With prodding from Gov. Farris Bryant, the Florida legislature this year authorized creation of an industrial development corporation that will lend money for new plants or expansion to borrowers who cannot get funds from regular sources. Twenty firms have already made application.

Georgia and Alabama are trying to draw new industries to small towns that are drying up through declining agriculture or migration to the big cities. Many large companies are expanding in Alabama by moves to towns of only 1,500 to 2,000 population.

Georgia's story can best be told in figures. The state added 8,434 commercial or industrial firms in a decade for a total of 53,019 at the end of 1960. It was the fifth best numerical showing in the nation during the period. Florida, which was first, and North Carolina, which was fourth, were better among Southeastern states.

The Georgia Department of Commerce keeps four full-time salesmen on the road. In addition, Gov. Ernest Vandiver has led a number of expeditions to the North for new industry. He plans a European tour next March.

The department finds that Georgia's best selling points are its right to work law, labor costs and the tax structure.

In Virginia, industrial activity is more than double what it was 10 years ago whereas income from agriculture is down 28 per cent from 1950.

Tennessee, which has 122 new industries so far this year, attracts prospects with a sales pitch of labor supply, proximity to raw materials and expansion room. The state has reduced from three to one per cent the sales tax on machinery for new and expanding industry. A 50 million glass plant has gone up in Hawkins County (pop. 33,500) and a $35 million paper mill in Hardin County (pop. 16,500).

South Carolina expects to end the year "at least as good" in industrial expansion as last year when almost $210 million worth of new industry settled in the state. Textiles is still the big industry but diversification is progressing.

FBI Agents Board Freighter; Arrest Fugitive

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI)—FBI agents boarded a Danish freighter here late Thursday night and arrested a fugitive who left a trail from Florida to the Middle East, Africa and Europe during a 17-month search.

Thomas S. Wall, 37, was arrested on a federal warrant charging him with theft from interstate commerce. Wall, a native of Baltimore, was scheduled to appear before U. S. Commissioner T. V. Cashen.

D. K. Brown, special agent in charge of the FBI here, said Wall was picked up in Copenhagen by Danish authorities, who placed him in the custody of the SS Thialatta to transport him here.

U. S. governmental agencies followed Wall's travels through foreign countries by picking up bits of information from one port to another and one city to another. Brown said he was amazed Wall could have escaped being picked up in the various countries he went through without proper passports and other papers.

Wall is charged with driving a tractor-trailer load of Australian beet from Newark, N. J., to Jacksonville Aug. 25, 1960, and stealing the vehicle and its contents.

Wall's travels took him to the British West Indies; Beirut, Lebanon; Freetown, Sierra Leone; Alexandria and Cairo in Egypt; Accra and Takoradi in Ghana; Lauda, Angola; Leopoldville, Republic of the Congo; Bremen, Germany; and Copenhagen.

Holiday Party Ends In Death

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI)—A Negro man was stabbed to death here Friday when a fellow tenant complained about a noisy holiday season party.

Police said Dock Davis, 41, threw an all-night party in his apartment. When it broke up at 7 a. m., his across-the-hall neighbor, Naomi Johnson, 21, complained that it has disturbed her and her three children.

Officers said Davis pushed her back into her apartment, where she grabbed a 10-inch butcher knife and plunged it into Davis' chest just above the heart.

Postmen Deliver Record Breaking Christmas Cards

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Postmen delivered a record-shattering load of more than five-billion Christmas cards, letters and packages during the last few weeks.

But the Post Office Department reported today that everything was under control.

Total incoming and outgoing mail funneled through the nation's post offices between Dec. 1 and 20 was estimated at about 9.5 billion pieces.

The department said this was "the largest, most successful Christmas delivery operation in its history—with mail handling 5.7 per cent greater than during the same period last year."

Despite the heavy increase, the department said, most of it had already been delivered with a slight drop in the use of manpower hours.

Postmaster General J. Edward Day said the new method of giving regular employees more overtime had allowed the department to reduce the number of temporary workers from 290,000 last year to about 250,000.

Day said the temporary personnel were already being dismissed and that with the exception of special delivery crews all postal employees will be with their families on both Christmas Eve and Christmas.

No 'Silent Night' Behind Berlin Wall

United Press International "Silent Night" has been taken out of the book of songs that may be sung in schools behind the Berlin wall.

But the children still learn the Christmas hymn at home, an escaped teacher said.

"Once before I left I let them sing it—but very softly."

The teacher's story is among about 800 pages of testimony taken in West Berlin in the last few weeks by an international teacher organization investigating the plight of teachers and students in Communist-controlled Germany and East Germany.

The teacher had been asked, "What caused you to flee? Surely music is the same everywhere. What difference could communism make in your job?"

"The songs we used to teach are gone," said the teacher. "There is a whole battery of new politically-oriented songs in the book. And we are not supposed to teach what is not in the book."

Dr. William G. Carr, executive secretary of the National Education Association of the United States, and secretary general of the World Confederation of Organizations of the Teaching Profession, brought back the report which eventually will be published in seven languages.

About 75,000 teachers have left East Germany and East Berlin since 1948, Carr said, because of regulations and restrictions on their teaching. Those interviewed have estimated that no more than 10 per cent of their colleagues were in sympathy with the Communist regime. But they, and the children, are enough to enforce the rules.

A large number of escaped teachers, Carr said, told of leaving because of revulsion at the part they were forced to play in the recruitment and sponsorship of Communist young pioneer groups, whose members are "consecrated" in ceremonies conducted in the manner of religious confirmation rites.

Almost all objected to requirements that they spy on their students, to the disruption of school time for political purposes and the requirement that they teach Marxism-Leninism in all classes.

Teachers said they not only were required to sign pledges not to listen to West German radio or watch West German TV but were required to hold meetings with parents and students and get them to sign the pledges too.

Students told the investigators they left East Berlin after being denied high school educations because of their parents' occupations or "political unreliability." One was the child of a clergyman, another the child of parents arrested during the 1953 East German uprising, another the child of property owners.

Until August, about 10 teachers lived in East Berlin and commuted to teach in West Berlin schools. About 40 of them were in West Germany when the wall went up, and remain there. Two or three have escaped since. The rest are refused teaching positions despite the acute shortage of teachers in the Eastern sector, Carr said. Teachers living in East Berlin on retirement pensions from West Berlin are unable to cash their non-Communist checks.

Teacher Exams Slated Feb. 10

The National Teacher Examinations, prepared and administered annually by Educational Testing Service, will be given at more than 200 testing centers throughout the United States on Feb. 10.

At the one-day testing session a candidate may take the Common Examinations, which include tests in Professional Information, General Culture, English Expression, and Non Verbal Reasoning; and one or two of thirteen Optional Examinations designed to demonstrate mastery of subject matter to be taught.

The college which a candidate is attending, or the school system in which he is seeking employment, will advise him whether he should take the National Teacher Examinations and which of the Optional Examinations to select.

A Bulletin of Information (in which an application is inserted) describing registration procedures may be obtained from college officials, school superintendents, or directly from the National Teacher Examinations, Educational Testing Service, Princeton, New Jersey.

Overwhelmed By Christmas Spirit

BLYTHERVILLE, Ark. (UPI)—Allen Culp, 54, went to jail here Tuesday because he sent a Christmas card to his "old buddy," Sheriff Hugh Champion of Chilton County, Ala.

Culp made the mistake of putting his return address on the envelope. Champion immediately sent a warrant here charging Culp escaped the Chilton County jail about eight months ago while serving a 60-day drunk driving sentence.

Champion said he would have a Christmas dinner waiting for Culp.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Living costs dipped slightly in November as the average factory worker's take-home pay and buying power climbed to record peaks, the government reported today.

The Labor Department's consumer price index fell by one-tenth of 1 per cent, standing at 128.3 per cent of the base period 1947-49. Lower costs for some foods, women's clothing and used cars contributed to the decline.

A further small drop in prices was forecast in December by Robert J. Myers, deputy commissioner of labor statistics. He predicted additional declines in food, gasoline and used car prices.

"It seems certain that we will wind up 1961 with unusual stability so far as prices are concerned," Myers said.

He said the November-to-November increase in consumer prices was seven tenths of one per cent—the smallest rise in any similar 12-month period since 1955.

Myers also had a cheery note for housewives. He said costs of preparing the traditional turkey dinner on Christmas Day probably would be at a 10-year low. The department said that earnings of the average factory worker after federal taxes rose by about one dollar to $85.03 a week for a man with three dependents.

Longer hours and higher hourly earnings accounted for the rise. Because of the decline in living costs, the buying power of the wages climbed almost 1.5 per cent last month to a new peak.

Compared with a year ago, the average factory worker's take-home pay has gone up by more than $5 a week, or 7 per cent.

The November decline in the price index reflected cheaper prices for pork, fresh fruits, and eggs. This pushed down food prices by five tenths of one per cent despite higher costs for fresh vegetables, beef and veal, fresh milk, cereals and bakery products and restaurant meals. The department said more than 130,000 workers will receive one or two-cent hourly wage increases under contracts that links their pay changes in the price index.

Report Goldfine Names 200 Persons

BOSTON (UPI)—The Boston Globe said Wednesday that Bernard Goldfine has named 200 persons including top government officials who took payoffs from him. In a dispatch from Washington, the Globe reported that Goldfine made the disclosures on the advice of his counsel, Abraham L. Pomerantz of New York.

Goldfine now is in jail serving a year and a day term for evading $780,000 in income taxes. He is ill and was recently transferred to a federal hospital in New York City for treatment.

According to the report, the information supplied by Goldfine was turned over to the Internal Revenue Service for a check against tax returns made by those who received the cash.

Belts Popular

DETROIT (UPI)—Automobile seat belts are catching on. Ford Motor Company reports that delivery of belts to its dealers has increased from an average of 6,000 a month in 1960 to a current rate of 21,300 per month.

DEBARY VOLUNTEER FIREMEN were hard at work before 7 a. m. securing rafters in place on the department's new building the Saturday the organization's auxillary sponsored its big carnival and white elephant sale. The new structure, next door to the Fire Hall, will have a seating capacity of 500 when it is completed. (Cox Photo)

Beautiful, beautiful dolls, dressed in lovely clothes to make the heart of any little girl glow with love and joy . . . There were 144 of them on display at the Sanford Atlantic Bank, which are to be distributed to 144 little girls in the county on Christmas Eve by the Salvation Army.

The outfits worn by the dolls have been carefully and painstakingly made by hand by the ladies of the First Methodist Church, the ladies of the First Presbyterian Church, and members of the Salvation Army and the task of dressing them assigned to the willing ladies, who have outdone themselves in creativity and ingenuity.

There are beautiful bride dolls, one in white lace, with real stockings on, and there is one whose white gown is crocheted. She carries a crocheted basket full of roses and wears a crocheted hat attached to her veil.

There is a lovely lady doll in a rose satin gown, with a chiffon-lined stole to match. There is a doll in a tailored outfit of a two piece brown two-toned dress, with a matching hat.

An old-fashioned doll wears a handsome black velvet skirt and cape with a silk blouse and a little velvet hat, trimmed with sparkling rhinestones.

Right in fashion is a pretty girl doll with a white felt skirt, appliqued with a poinsettia, wearing a bulky knit sweater, especially made for her, and a white felt hat.

Blue and gold Japanese pajamas are worn by one doll, and there is a little Florida doll in a two piece swim suit with a matching beach robe. There are also dolls in sun dresses, sunsuits, all sorts of pretty little frocks and many in slacks, capris and slim jim pants.

Thousands of tiny stitches, hours of work and much thought and creativity have gone into the dressing of these dolls. This is an annual project of the Salvation Army and the good ladies of Sanford, in the hope and determination that no little girl will have to wake up to an empty stocking on Christmas morn.

No man can resist that mood when he unwraps his packages and finds it so dazlingly expressed in a fun-inviting sports shirt, corduroy jacket and slacks set, lounging pajamas with complementing bathrobe, princely slippers or a host of other handsome things to wear.

Hard To Visualize Christmas Season Without Santa Claus

Page 4-A—Sat. Dec. 23, 1961 The Sanford Herald

Santa Claus has become such an important part of our merry-making at Christmastime, that one can hardly imagine the holiday season without that jolly old fellow, his sleigh and reindeer. Yet a little over a century ago, Santa Claus as we know him today, did not exist! To be sure, children all over the country eagerly awaited visits from St. Nicholas at Christmastime . . . but they had no idea as to what he looked like. It remained for a university professor to establish Santa's identity as we now know it. On Christmas Eve, in 1822, Dr.

Clement Clarke Moore, a professor at Columbia University, wrote a poem for his children. It was called "A Visit from St. Nicholas" and began, "Twas the night before Christmas . . ." Dr. Moore wrote it solely for his children's enjoyment and had no plans to publish it. But fortunately for other children, and adults as well, his poem was heard by the daughter of the rector of St. Paul's Church in Troy, New York. She asked to be allowed to read it to the children of her father's parish; she also sent a copy of the poem to the Troy, N. Y. Sentinel, where it was published for the first time on Dec. 23, 1823.

African Natives Have A Christmas Carol 'All Their Own'

The Sanford Herald Sat. Dec. 23, 1961—Page 5-A

SINCERE BEST WISHES!

Carroll's Furniture Co.

116 W. 1st. FA 2-5161

For more than 100 years, Americans have been sending missionaries to Africa to explain what Christmas is all about.

Perhaps it's time to reverse the process.

This thought is prompted by a Christmas carol. It's a rather unusual carol — not the kind you'd play in a department store as background music to do last-minute shopping by.

It comes from the Loma tribesmen who live in the interior of Liberia, and is meant to be chanted to the accompaniment of drums.

Here is an English translation, prepared by a missionary who is humble enough to wonder who should be teaching whom about the spirit of Christmas: Whoever on the night of the Celebration of the birth of Christ Carries warm water and a sleeping mat For a weary stranger,
Gives wood from his own fire To a helpless neighbor,
Takes medicine to one

Sick with malaria,
Brings words of peace To one who is bound with fear,
Gives food to children Who are thin and hungry,
Provides a torch for a traveler In the forest,
Sings a new song For the young people Dancing under the stars
Visits a timid friend

Who would like to know about Christ,
Whoever does these things Will receive gifts of happiness Greater than that of receiving a son
Returning after a long absence, So that though he live to be so old
That he must be helped into his hammock
And someone light his pipe for him,

All his wives and sons will die, So that he stands as a trunk stripped of branches,
Yet life will be sweet for him, He will have peace,
As one whose rice harvest is great,
And who hears his neighbors Praise the exploits of his youth.
So will you receive happiness If you do these acts of love and service
On the night of the celebration on Christmas,
The birth of Christ.

Don't bat an eyelash if a robot clanks in to wake you on Christmas morning. It's just a little something Junior put together with his Erector set. Dad may have fond memories of his Erector bridges and elevators but Junior is more likely to spend his time constructing atomic rocket launchers, walking robots and other miniature reproductions of the space age. Like the Teddy Bear, Erector has remained virtually unchanged since it was first introduced nearly fifty years ago. The only changes have been in the addition of more parts, motors and packaging. Almost anything worth mentioning can be built with Erector, and it has been put to some novel, worthwhile uses. The first working model of the Bailey Bridge of World War II fame was made with an Erector set. Its more humane uses include serving as a part of the first successful heart-lung pump, now in the Smithsonian, and in the construction of an agitator used in cancer research at the University of Minnesota.

This "toy" has also exerted an influence in the choice of career for thousands of scientists. M.I.T.'s Claude E. Shannon, a world authority on electronic computers and cybernetics (the theory and application of control mechanisms, including those of the human brain), first became fascinated with science when he was given an Erector set at the age of eight.

The basis for the success of any toy is whether children like it; the sale of more than ten million Erector sets seems to indicate that boys and girls think it's good fun.

Living Fame

One day in 1897, a little girl with a big problem sat down and wrote a letter that was to make her name famous. The little girl was Virginia O'Hanlon — her problem, was there really a Santa Claus?

On the advice of her father, she wrote a letter to the New York Sun, and the answer she received was destined to become a beloved Christmas classic.

She wrote, "Dear Editor — I am eight years old. Some of my friends say there is no Santa Claus. Papa says, 'If you see it in the Sun, it's so.' Please tell me the truth, is there a Santa Claus?"

The New York Sun's Francis P. Church, replied with an editorial that not only answered the question of a little 8-year-old girl but that warmed the hearts of young and old alike.

Since it was written 64 years ago, his editorial has been printed and reprinted in the newspapers throughout the country, and read and re-read to children at Christmastime.

The most famous paragraph in this editorial reads, "Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist and you know that they abound and give your life its highest beauty and joy. Alas! How dreary would be the world if there were no Santa Claus! It would be as dreary as if there were no Virginias."

Mr. Church concluded his editorial with words that have echoed down the years to thrill the hearts of all who hear. "No, Santa Claus! Thank God, he lives and he lives forever! A thousand years from now, Virginia, nay, ten times ten thousand years from now, he will continue to make glad the heart of childhood."

Christmas Dolls More Life-Like Than Ever Before

This Christmas dolls are more like people than ever before. Any such happy surprises for dolling doll mothers as a doll that really kisses with a good loud smack are included in doll collections, reports Toy Guidance Council.

Infant dolls are more embraceable than ever; new adaptations of plastics give a soft pliant quality to arms, legs and neck, characteristic of the newborn baby.

Doll families are real playmate size, with muscular flexibility paralleling real youngsters on the score of agility.

A fascinating array of miniature dolls in the 8 to 12-inch categories are exponents of the latest fashions. New toy dolls too, are outfitted in Ivy League styles.

Nowadays little girls have a wider scope of experience than ever before, thanks to extended travel and TV viewing. In tune with this sophistication in the playroom—dolls, too, are outfitted for a wider-than-ever round of sporting and social activities. They boast airplane style luggage and smart travel costumes, with wardrobes for skiing, ice skating, dude ranch fun, as well as outfits for school and ballroom.

Little girls will love the wide variety of doll furniture planned to fit different sizes of dolls.

Games, Games Available During Season

Thought-provoking, educational, competitive and really diversified—the wide variety of games from Santa's sack are all this and real fun, too.

Games of all kinds draw their inspiration from Civil War history, today's global politics. TV show formats, juvenile book classics and big time sports.

A new and large group of games is based on strategy. From the pages of history come such novelties as the "American Heritage Game of the Civil War" in which an astute armchair general can achieve a victory for the South. This strategic foray is completely documented by an accompanying outline of Civil War history.

Another game taking maneuvering skill is "Stratego"; its playing pieces are elegantly-decorated figures representing Marshals of France from the Napoleonic era.

A topical game—"Summit"—has its players manipulating "foreign aid," conduct drives to obtain spheres of influence and trying to dominate a summit conference. All reminiscent of contemporary headlines.

Games inspired by favorite TV shows are popular; there's a new edition of "Concentration"; "Video Village" which represents a TV show stage; while Deputy Dawg, Shotgun Slade and The Rifleman are heroes in the western game sector.

Every youngster can try to become a millionaire with the new "Game of Life"—developed by Att Linkletter, of radio and TV fame. Games which reproduce favorite outdoor sports with complete realism are also destined for the best seller list.

Among these are a family skeet shoot set, with targets that go up into the air by the player's foot on a pneumatic device; National Football League Electric Football (same that provides realistic action for armchair coaches); "Fun House" and "Hit the Duck" are typical carnival sports games, each stand five feet high for "more fun than a circus."

From juvenile book classics come such novelties as Hilar, the Bubbly Twins, the Happy Little Train and other favorites—to perform their exploits on game boards.

Musical Toys Always A Big Hit

The post-Christmas thumping, tooting or twanging of a musical toy may not mean much to Mommy, but to a 3-year-old it's more exciting than Tchaikovsky.

Marion Ebert, educational consultant for the American Music Conference, believes that properly selected toy musical instruments can provide an exciting way for children to discover rhythm and tone—the basic elements of self-made music.

Musical toys can also exert a strong influence on youngsters' desires to play genuine musical instruments.

Quality toy instruments are usually musically "true" and offer a chance for continued exploration of musical sounds and rhythm.

Musical toys are so popular with youngsters that the toy trumpet was the top seller for many years. Other "pre-band instruments" include bell sets, wood resonator blocks and simple drums. Resonator blocks are exceptionally effective in teaching rhythm to children.

Melody instruments comprise another group of musical toys. Actual tones can be reproduced on such instruments as the xylophone and the "c-note" melody flute.

Toy pianos and electric organs often are used to introduce children to the keyboard. Toy ukuleles, guitars, banjos and mandolins—all priced under $10—allow the child to play simple tunes almost immediately, and youngsters have lots of fun with this type of "first experience."

Whatever the child's choice, parents will be giving a gift of music—that usually outlasts the toy instrument by decades.

Both fantasy and realism are significant trends in the stuffed animal section of Toyland. Youngsters may fondle replicas of their favored pedigree pooches or felines, or cuddle up to fantastic animals inspired by cartoon characters or sheer imagination on the part of designers.

Burning Log Is Charming Fad

The old custom of burning the Yule log is a charming Christmas tradition that has largely passed from contemporary life, although it is still observed in many places. Even though it is always thought of in connection with Christmas celebrations of years gone by, it actually dates far back into pagan times.

During what was then called the Mid-Winter Fire Festival, the log, generally one from an oak tree, would be ceremoniously lighted from a fragment saved from the year before.

When the new log sent out its brilliant flames, it was believed that the house and family would be safe from lightning and fires, that cattle and grain fields would thrive and that the earth would be fertile.

Pearls Always 'A Special Gift'

Pearls have always been a very special gift not only for their simple, elegant beauty but because a pearl necklace is always in good taste.

This season the traditional pearl necklaces assume high fashion importance because of their new designs and the important place pearls hold in the current fashion picture.

There are new multi-strand necklaces that feature a beautiful clasp in all the "true jewel" tones of jade, sapphire, emerald, ruby or lapis. The clasps, lovely enough to be pins in themselves, are worn to the side and matched to earrings to provide one of the most pleasing gifts of the season.

Seed pearl necklaces have become increasingly popular, strung in multiple strands to twist and drape to the mood of fashion's eased bodices and dropped waistlines.

For the smartest look of all, a single strand of pearls combined with two strands of jade or lapis. The jade or lapis adds a lovely note of contrast to the pearls and provides dramatic color accent to fashions.

Mother Of 8 Goes Into Flaming Home Twice To Rescue Children And Invalid Husband

FONTANA, Calif. (UPI) — A 30-year-old woman twice braved flames which gutted her home early today to rescue her eight children and her invalid husband, police reported.

Another daughter, Cindy, 8, was in serious condition and two more daughters, Jeanette, 4, and Annabelle, 13, suffered cuts on the body. The remainder of Mrs. Starry's children were treated at the hospital for minor burns or smoke inhalation. They are James, 3, Rosemary, 10, David, 11, and Deborah, 8 months.

The father, recovering from a hip operation, told police he believed a floor furnace near the Christmas tree started the blaze. Annabelle, asleep in the front room, told officers she awoke and saw the tree afire. She ran screaming to neighbors Mr. and Mrs. Barney Smith, who returned to the Starry home and tried to help rescue the children.

The house and nearly all of their clothes and personal belongings—including Christmas presents—were destroyed.

Others killed were the owner of the home, Curtis Honeycutt, 61, and his son, Vontana, 15. Mrs. Honeycutt, the only other occupant of the house, escaped through a window and was admitted to a hospital with burns and shock.

The 'Hully-Gully'? It's The Perfect Dance For A Fallout Shelter

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Many, many moons ago young Dr. Zhivago, my faithful Indian companion, began urging me to write a column about "the twist."

He even invited me to a couple of parties where I might see the thing demonstrated, but I demurred on grounds that I would never be able to describe it in a family newspaper.

It turned out, of course, that the writhing bodies and contorted faces on the screen had not been photographed in a psychiatric ward, but on a dance floor. They were doing, I hardly need add, the you-know-what.

Alarmed by what I had seen, I sought out Dr. Zhivago and requested him to enlighten me as to the origin and symbolism of this terpsichorean tumbler.

It means that it's already out of date. "You also have missed the chance to acquaint your readers with several successors to 'the twist,' including 'the slop,' 'the fly,' 'the mashed potatoes,' 'the chicken' and 'the pony.'"

But when I pressed him for details, he became evasive. "Maybe you had better stick to the Mexican hat dance," he said, seizing upon "It's more your style."

Only after I had bested him in two out of three falls at Indian wrestling did he agree to continue.

"The hully-gully" is an outgrowth of the war flitters," he said. "It's the perfect dance for a fallout shelter. It packs the maximum amount of movement into the minimum amount of space."
