BRIEFLY City Representation

The Florida League of Cities will hold its annual meeting August 19-21, at the Wyndham Palace Hotel, in Lake Buena Vista. At the most recent City Commission meeting, the City of Longwood voted to send Commissioner Anna Marie Vaaca as its voting member.

At its April 12 meeting, the Sanford City Commission voted to send Commissioner A. A. "Mac" McClanahan as its representative.

Lake Mary City Manager John Litton said he, as well as the entire commission, except for Commissioner George Duryea, will attend the meeting, but Mayor David Meador will be the official voting member, with Litton to fill as alternate, should it be required.

Lake Mary City Manager John Litton said he, as well as the entire commission, except for Commissioner George Duryea, will attend the meeting, but Mayor David Meador will be the official voting member, with Litton to fill as alternate, should it be required.

The City of Oviedo has yet to determine who will represent it. The City Clerk's office said the matter will be brought before the City Council for a vote at the June 21 meeting.

The theme for the 73rd annual Florida League of Cities conference is "2000 and Beyond - The Future of Florida's Cities."

Derby Days

SANFORD - The 11th annual Central Florida Soap Box Derby will be coming up Saturday, June 26 from 8:30 a.m. to 2 p.m., at Sanford's Derby Park.

Children between the ages of 8 and 17 will compete in this local race in order to qualify to represent Central Florida at the National All American Soap Box Derby in Akron, Ohio. The first place winners from each of the three divisions will travel to Ohio to participate in the nationals.

To get to Derby Park, the Sanford Recreation Department suggests, from Interstate-4, take exit 51 (SR-46) east to Rinehart Road. Turn right on Rinehart and follow signs to Oregon Avenue.

There is no charge for parking or admission. For additional information, contact Norm Perry at 330-5697.

Farmers wanted

TALLAHASSEE - Florida Agriculture Commissioner Bob Crawford is now accepting nominations for the Florida Agricultural Hall of Fame for 2000. Anyone can submit a nomination, according to specified instructions which are available.

A total of 84 people have been inducted into the Hall of Fame since 1980. The designation is to honor persons who are considered Florida's agricultural pioneers and leaders, Crawford explained.

For nomination forms or additional information, phone (813) 628-4551.

Residents protest 900-acre development

By Bill Kerns
Staff Writer

WINTER SPRINGS - Residents in Oviedo living near State Road 434 are expressing concerns about how a proposed 900-acre Winter Springs Town Center will affect their neighborhoods.

Valerie El-Jamil said in Monday's City Council meeting that she is concerned about how increased traffic flow on SR 434 will affect Oviedo neighborhoods. Several other residents also said they are concerned about traffic flow in the city.

"How is Oviedo going to be able to deal with a project of this density?" El-Jamil asked.

California developer Rohit Joshi, chairman of Joshi and Associates, said traffic from SR 434 will be diverted along the Greenway, and that other steps will be taken to ensure that Oviedo residents will not be adversely affected by the proposed town center development.

"I think it's complimentary to Oviedo, not competitive," Joshi said. "I want this to be the most beautiful project done in Orlando."

"How is Oviedo going to be able to deal with a project of this density?"

Valerie El-Jamil
Oviedo resident

Winter Springs City Manager Ron McLemore said city's codes will limit the development's commercial and office density to levels that will not have a harmful effect on resi-places to go shopping." The development will include properties along SR 434 between Central Winds Park and the Greenway. Joshi wants to build a 400-room hotel and 120,000 square foot convention center at the Winter Springs Greenway Interchange. County commissioners have said the county would help to market the site.

Although Sanford has been named the site of the county convention center, the county commission is waiting for the results of a feasibility study on Sanford's proposed 300-room water-front hotel and See Development, Page 3A

Lake Mary road work nears end

By Bill Kerns
Staff Writer

LAKE MARY - After nearly 17 months of construction, the $12 million Rinehart Road widening project in Lake Mary is nearly complete.

A ribbon cutting ceremony is being tentatively planned for July 13, according to David Gierach, vice president of CPH Engineers, the company in charge of engineering work for the project.

"The road work and utility work has been completed,"

Gierach said. "Now we're putting the finishing touches on it so the city will have an aesthetically pleasing final product."

The landscaping, sodding, and installation of irrigation systems for Rinehart Road are not yet complete, Gierach said.

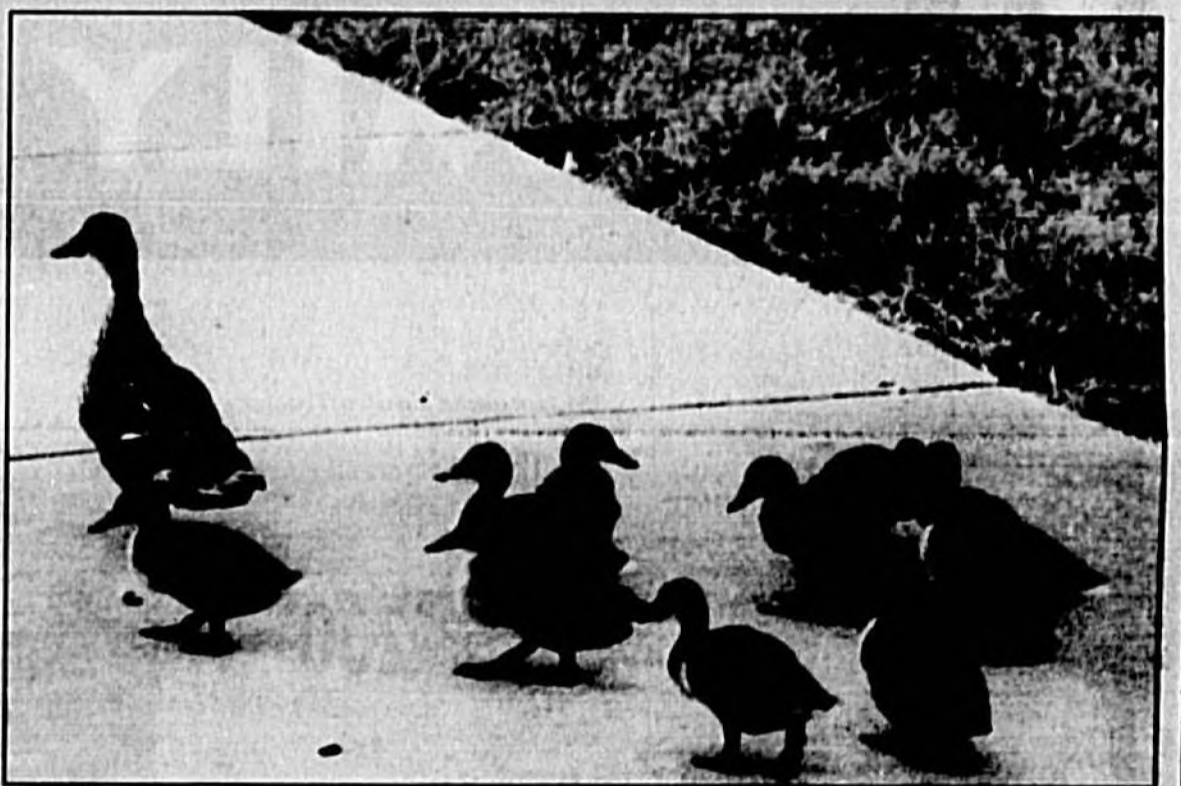

The commission approved plans for enhancements to the city's Entrance Feature at the intersection of Rinehart Road and Lake Mary Boulevard for a total cost of $46,000. The city raised the money for the See Road, Page 3A

SCC names new trustees

By Joe DeSantis
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - Recently appointed by Governor Jeb Bush, the five new trustees to Seminole Community College completed a comprehensive on-campus orientation this week as they prepare to assume their two-year terms.

The orientation included an overview of virtually all of S.C.C.'s functions from budgeting and institutional assessment, to student services and diversity programs.

"S.C.C. has the most comprehensive mission of any community in Florida," said college president Dr. E. Ann McGee.

"We serve students of all ages and all backgrounds. We impact every aspect of life in Seminole County, from education to economic development. Each trustee represents a different facet of the County and enables the College to continue its strong and valued relationships to the business community and with Seminole County Public Schools."

For many of the trustees, this week's orientation was almost like a homecoming.

Top Cop: Clelland competes for international honors

By Nick Pfeiffau
Staff Writer

SANFORD - Officers from the Seminole County Sheriff's Department and various city police departments, will be heading for locations in Brevard County later this month, to compete in the 1999 Florida Law Enforcement Games.

While possibly as many as 50 local officers will be involved, all eyes will be on Sheriff's Deputy, Sgt. Mary Ann Clelland. She achieved such prominence last year, regardless of the outcome of this year's games, she will be heading for international competition to be held in Sweden next month.

The department's Wellness Coordinator, Lt. Jack Cash, said Clelland will be competing on an international scale, in the Toughest Cop competition, as well as the 200, 400, 800 and 1600 meter runs.

In last year's state competition, Clelland took gold medals in Toughest Cop and the 800 meter run, silver medals in the 400 and 1600 meter runs and a bronze medal in swimming.

"If anyone can take top honors, it's Clelland," said Longwood Director of Public Safety Terry

Baker. He said before joining the sheriff's department, Clelland was on the Longwood police force, "and she was really an outstanding officer," Baker said.

Longwood does not have any officers entered in this year's state games.

In Lake Mary, Police Chief Richard Berry said hopes are high this year as Lake Mary officer Chris Taylor attempts to retain the gold medal he won last year in kick-boxing. Lake Mary detective Camiel Long will also be at the games this year competing on the pistol range.

Earlier Lt. Cash said he expects approximately 10 less participants this year from last, but in a late statement, Cash said, "This year the Seminole County Sheriff's Office has the largest number of members participating in this agency's history." Cash himself took the gold medal in cycling last year, and will be participating in that event again in the 1999 games.

The Florida Law Enforcement Games is the largest police athletic competition in the country, with 5,000 sworn officers from all 67 counties in Florida participating.

The Way We Were

Correspondent

Mrs. Frances E. Bolz
Mrs. Bolz was among these people who were consistently identified with civic and social endeavors. She was a native of Everett, Massachusetts and a resident of Sanford since 1926.

From early childhood she had a leaning toward music and dramatic arts and in music circles up north and in Sanford she occupied a major position.

After graduating from high school in Everett, she attended the well known Currie School of Expression. The experience she gained there led her to serve as a dramatic reader during the early days of the World War and for many years she was an entertainer at military training camps.

Mrs. Bolz was active in the Sanford Woman's Club, Garden Club, Eastern Star and First Baptist Church. She also used her talents to direct plays in the Little Theater and was a director of the Young People's WCTU.

Her hobbies include rug making, art embroidery, swimming, and horseback riding.

Mrs. Bolz lived at 1101 Park Avenue with her husband, a retired businessman, and her daughter Lucille, a student at the University of Alabama.

M.R. Strickland, Jr.
M.R. Strickland had maintained an interest in a local car agency for several years, but it was not until the previous October that he had come to Sanford to become President and general manager of Strickland Motors, Inc.

He had been connected with the distribution of Ford cars in Cordele, Georgia since 1924.

As a youth, he had lived in Greensboro, Georgia where he had attended schools. He later continued his education at the University of Florida, Southern College and Palmer College.

Mr. Strickland was a member of the Kiwanis Club and First Methodist Church. Next to watching baseball games, he liked to stay home and play cards with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Strickland made their home at 2472 Palmetto Avenue; his wife was the former Minnie McKenney.

M.L. Raborn

M.L. Raborn had come to Sanford in 1927 to become local manager of the Seminole County Laundry, Inc. Since his arrival, he had consistently introduced new methods that had helped increase his volume of business. He had a long list of satisfied customers.

Mr. Raborn was educated in the public schools of Greenwood, South Carolina and was married to the former Martha Holman. They resided at 818 West Fourth Street with their son, Marion Lamar Raborn, Jr. who was known as "Sonny".

His main hobby was researching and experimenting with various areas in his field of work in order to make his business better than that of a rival.

Baseball, horseshoe pitching and fishing were his favorite sports. He was a member of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce and First Baptist Church.

Frank Evans

Frank Evans, a former county commissioner, came to Lake Mary from Ohio when only one year old to attend local schools.

He had, and his start in the business world by appearing in vaudeville and circuses as a trick bicycle rider and acrobat; he had successfully followed that vocation for years. He was a Seminole County commissioner from 1926 until 1929.

For the previous 18 years, Mr. Evans had been in the manufacturing business as president of the Plymouth Company located in Boston. He continued to maintain a home in Lake Mary where he owned considerable groveland and other properties. He traveled extensively, but he and his family always spent their winters in Lake Mary.

He was married to the former Stella Pelly and they had five children: Tracy and Frank of Boston; Clara, 10; Bill, 12; and Jack, 8.

Mr. Evans was a member of all branches of masonry, the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce and First Presbyterian Church.

Dr. J.O. Laney

As a youth, Dr. J.O. Laney had spent most of his time engaged in farming near his birthplace in St. Clair County, Alabama, but he abandoned that line of work and attended Max Morris School of Pharmacy in Macon, Georgia.

Since 1924, Dr. Laney had been the owner and manager of Laney's Drug Store located on East First Street. He resided at 1912 Sanford Avenue with his wife, the former Julian Martin, and daughter, Gene Martin Laney.

Dr. Laney belonged to the Masonic Lodge and First Methodist Church. He was an avid baseball and football fan, enjoyed fishing and spent most of his spare time reading.

education served as Coordinator of Counseling for the Adult High School program at S.C.C. from 1985 to 1989. His distinguished accomplishments include receiving the Disney Distinguished Award for contributions to The Greenhouse, Inc., Family Counseling, the oldest family counseling organization in Central Florida where he once served as chairman of the board.

"One of my favorite motto's is, "increasing the options," said English.

"I consider myself intuitive, with good people skills. I'm eager to find out how I fit in with the other new board members and to help assist in the areas where there is a need."

New trustee Verdell R. Pugh is likewise no stranger to the S.C. C. community. Armed with an M.A. in Management and Supervision, Pugh is currently a math teacher at Seminole High and was an adjunct professor for 19 years at S.C.C. prior to her appointment by Bush.

Pugh was also recently appointed District advisor for The Future Business Leaders of America, and currently serves on advisory boards with the Seminole Republican Women's Club.

"I look forward to becoming involved in policy making and working with other board members and the college family to continue the success that S.C.C. has had in the past," said Pugh.

"I'd like to have my finger on the pulse of the campus and as a former teacher here, I'm familiar with the college's operation.

S.C.C.'s third new trustee also has strong ties to the Sanford campus. Richard "Rick" Lee is a fourth generation Oviedoan. In addition to tending to family ranching interests, Lee took his Associates Degree from S.C.C., went on to finish a Bachelor's in Computer Science and later a Master's in Banking from Louisiana State University. He joined The Citizens Bank of Oviedo in 1981 as a part-time, learned about every department, and eventually worked his way up the ladder to the bank's presidency in 1998.

"I hope to be instrumental in the development of the Oviedo campus," said Lee. "With new schools going up, I really see Oviedo becoming the focal point of education in that part of Seminole County. I'd particularly like to be involved in S.C.C.'s fundraising and building programs."

Sidney "Sid" Miller also has strong ties to the S.C.C. family. One of his sons is a graduate from the college and Miller last year served as co-chair of the Seminole Community College Dream Auction, one of the college's biggest development initiatives.

He holds a B.A. in Science from Nova University, a mini-MBA in information Services from the University of Phoenix, and has taken numerous graduate courses at Rutgers and Columbia Universities. He has also served as past-president of the Greater Lake Mary-Heathrow Chamber of Commerce. Miller is currently responsible for internal voice and data networks globally for Lucent Technologies following a 32-year career with AT & T.

"The college does two things," said Miller.

"It promotes learning and is responsible for individual student success.

"I work for a company that is very big on giving back to the community. I hope my tenure is highlighted by helping create the type of student body that lends itself to the workforce that our industry will need in the future."

Miller added, "This is a school that knows where it is at and knows where it is going. It's hard not to get excited about S.C.C."

HOROSCOPES

Friday, June 11, 1999

Patience may not be one of your greatest assets, but you'll exercise whatever amount is needed in the year ahead in order to elevate and achieve your goals and objectives.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) It might be wise today for you to be more reactive than assertive. Instead of stirring up issues on your own, you'll fare better dealing with matters one at a time as each occurs. Get a jump on life by understanding the influences that'll govern you in the year ahead. Send the required refund form and for your Astro-Graph predictions by mailing $2 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 1758, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156. Be sure to state your Zodiac sign.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Because you may not be as comfortable with people you don't know too well, stick to socializing with friends with whom you can let your hair down and be yourself.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Even if you're unable to be the first one out of the starting blocks in competitive situations today, you'll have the tenacity and persistence to finish a winner.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You possess the wherewithal to comprehend the whole picture today and not merely just a few brush strokes. Let someone else take care of the details while you take control of the plan.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Even if you are chaffing at the bit today to become involved in a proposal you find extremely intriguing, it'll serve you best if you assume a stoical, serious air.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Harmony will enhance the strength of your relationship today, so be willing to play second fiddle to your mate in a situation where she or he craves the leading role.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You would be doing your waistline a big favor today if you forgo overindulging in foods, sweets or drinks. Let your motto be: everything in moderation.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Associating with friends who think and feel young is your best prescription today for relaxing and having fun. Their exuberance will prove infectious and refurbish what ails you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Peace of mind can only be achieved today by finishing what you start. Tackling and completing your "must do" list will give you gratification and enhance your feelings of self-worth.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Your sincere concern for others has always been your greatest asset. This will be enhanced today to the point that those with whom you're involved will show their appreciation.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Reason and logic precedes success today. Treat all your affairs in a practical, rational manner, especially those that pertain to your financial wherewithal.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You've always been a take-charge person and today those urges will serve you well. While others are contemplating what needs to be done, you'll be way ahead of them completing the job.

WIN AT BRIDGE

From Scotland to New York

By Phillip Alder

An unusual autobiography is Michael Rosenberg's "Bridge, Zia ... and Me" (Master Point Press). Rosenberg, a Scot by birth who moved to New York in February 1978, describes his bridge career, in particular his partnership with Zia Mahmood. For such a great player, Rosenberg is surprisingly critical of his own game.

There are various tips and pieces of advice, and many deals, most of them advanced. But the text is written in a light vein, and everyone should get enjoyment from the book.

In this deal, Rosenberg was sitting West, defending against four spades. What would you have led?

Four diamonds and four hearts were cue-bids, showing the ace in the bid suit and slam interest in spades.

Rosenberg hoped to score four tricks via the ace-jack of spades, a winner in partner's hand, and a club ruff in his hand. Yet where was partner's entry? The opposition's strong bidding didn't leave room for East to hold a king. It would have to be the heart queen. But if Rosenberg led his club, won with the spade ace, and shifted to the heart king, declarer might see what was happening and duck.

So Rosenberg led the heart king at trick one. South won with the ace, crossed to dummy with a diamond, and played a spade to his king. Rosenberg won with the ace, switched to a club, and a moment later received a club ruff to defeat the contract.

Declarer could have succeeded by ducking at trick one, but who would do that?

The book is $18.95 postpaid from Baron Barclay Bridge Supplies. Call (800) 274-2221 to order.

ASK DR. GOTT

Blotchy tongue looks worse than it is

DR. GOTT

PETER GOTT, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Last winter I fell and injured my back. Soon thereafter I developed what looked like cold sores on my face. Then I suffered from a sore throat that the doctor termed a virus infection. Following this, I came down with what the doctor called a "geographic tongue." What is this? I had a lousy winter.

DEAR READER: I'm not sure that your array of symptoms were related; at least, I hope they weren't. Winters are a good time for viruses. We tend to spend more time indoors and are closer to one another. This enables viral infections to spread more readily. I have no scientific proof of this but, as I'm sure you will agree, we tend to be more prone to disease in winter, and viruses are disseminated by direct contact. Your injury may have affected your resistance in some way.

Your geographic tongue could have resulted from your repeated infections. No one knows precisely how geographic tongue develops. As you are aware, this common and distressing affliction is marked by a tongue that looks blotchy, like a continental map. It can occur in normal individuals, or it may follow inflammation, especially after the use of antibiotics. It causes no health consequences other than universal concern among its victims, who tend to be welded to their mirrors to check out the reflections of their outstretched tongues. I hope you have better luck this summer.

To give you related information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Viruses and Cancer." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2017, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: What are nasal polyps? Are they caused by an allergy?

DEAR READER: Nasal polyps are benign outgrowths of the normal membrane that lines the upper respiratory passages. Polyps may result from constant irritation of that lining, either from infection or allergies. If the polyps are large, they should be removed to prevent obstruction; if small, medication can be used to shrink them. Of course, the allergy itself must be treated simultaneously.

DEAR DR. GOTT: After following your column for more than 10 years, I was delighted to see the new picture of you that is being published. For an old guy, you're not bad looking.

DEAR READER: Thanks for the compliment — I think. After 10 years, I thought my readers were entitled to a change. In addition, I am in the process of updating many of my health reports.

Jim Shupe, president of the Rotary Club of Sanford, presents the George Touhy Four-Way Test Award to Carl Bergman. The award is given to a local business person who exemplifies the highest level of ethical standards in business affairs. As the motto of Rotary International, the Four-Way Test asks Rotarians to consider four questions for ethical living: Is it the truth?; Is it fair to all concerned?; Will it build good will and better friendships?; Will it be beneficial to all concerned?

Copeland joins Herald staff

From Staff Reports

Summer Copeland, a rising senior at Furman University in Greenville, SC, has joined the Seminole Herald as an intern reporter.

An Orlando native, Copeland went to high school in Ocala at Forest High School. She now resides in Longwood with her parents Linda and Roger, and enjoys frequent visits with her three brothers who are scattered throughout the country.

"We're glad Summer has joined us for the next three months," said Dan Ping, editor of the Herald.

"While the internship will be a learning experience for her, Summer has the skills to contribute quite a bit to our staff, and we look forward to working with her."

Copeland is a political science major and hopes to find a career in political and international journalism. She has interned at a local law office, and a television news station in Greenville.

Copeland will return to Furman in the fall, and will travel to South Africa in January to study politics and history. She is excited about learning with the Seminole Herald and creating a basis for her future in journalism.

Merchants of HISTORIC LONGWOOD

Old is new again at The Apple Basket

The Apple Basket is a traditional country shop located in restored Clouser Cottage, at 218 West Church Avenue in historic Longwood.

Along with collectible glass ornaments and Heritage Villages, it is filled with 18th, 19th and early 20th Century American reproductions including iron and tinware, wood carvings, hand thrown pottery, shakerboxes, folk art, lamps, primitive hand dipped candles and many other home accessories.

Owners Joan Ridilla and her daughter, Linda Johnson, originally came from Southwestern Pennsylvania, where they collected country antiques and decorated the family home around them. In 1972, the family moved to Central Florida, bringing all their treasures with them. They were surprised to find there were no sources in this area for quality reproductions.

Realizing there was a real need for that type of shop, The Apple Basket was opened in 1987.

With a few exceptions, everything is made or created by Americans and purchases for the shop are done on a personal contact basis. Most items are signed and dated and many are one-of-a-kind. Only the finest craftsmanship and materials are good enough, but in addition it must be affordable. Joan and Linda consider their work a labor of love and sun up their feelings by saying, "Our association with hand crafters and folk artists across the nation, and our wonderful relationship with the best customers in the world—is a continuous rewarding experience every day at The Apple Basket."

Many one-of-a-kind items including wood carvings, folk art and many other home accessories are personally purchased by The Apple Basket co-owner Linda Johnson.

Central Florida needs a big-time sports attitude

SANFORD - Orlando now has a minor league football team. Woo-hoo!

Something called the International Football Federation has announced plans to start a new league which will run from February through June.

Once again, Orlando has embraced the image of being a minor league town.

Orlando, and all of Central Florida, has to get out of that mold. Sure, we have the Magic.

We also have minor league hockey, roller hockey, women's professional basketball (which has taken the city by storm!), arena football, we lost a women's fast-pitch softball team, we're the home of roller derby, a staple of the World Wide Wrestling Federation.

We are in danger of losing minor league baseball and I think there's some sort of men's soccer team playing at Edgewater High School.

Orlando is the number one tourist destination in the world and Central Florida is one of the fastest growing areas in the country.

It's a complete lack of foresight on the part of leaders - not just from Orlando, but all over Central Florida - that this area isn't a major player in big-time sports.

That's too bad. Orlando continues to be a step behind everyone else when it comes to acquiring a big-time sports franchise.

Instead, it's become a haven to every huckster who dreams up a wild idea about a new sports league and looks to cities like Orlando, Birmingham and other cities on the second tier of the national sports landscape.

We don't need women's softball, roller hockey or the WNBA. All they do is cheapen the town's reputation as a minor league city.

Where was Orlando in the early 90's when the NFL was looking to expand?

How on earth did Jacksonville win a team over Orlando.

And don't go to the excuse that Tampa would have balked at a new team in their broadcasting area. It's the same as the Baltimore people who cried that they didn't get an expansion team because the Redskins would have complained.

Has there ever been a group of millionaires as greedy as NFL owners?

They went to the towns that presented the best offers.

And there's no reason for Orlando to even have been considered.

With Orlando's growth, wouldn't it have been feasible to go after major league baseball and fought Tampa for a team? Orlando never even tried.

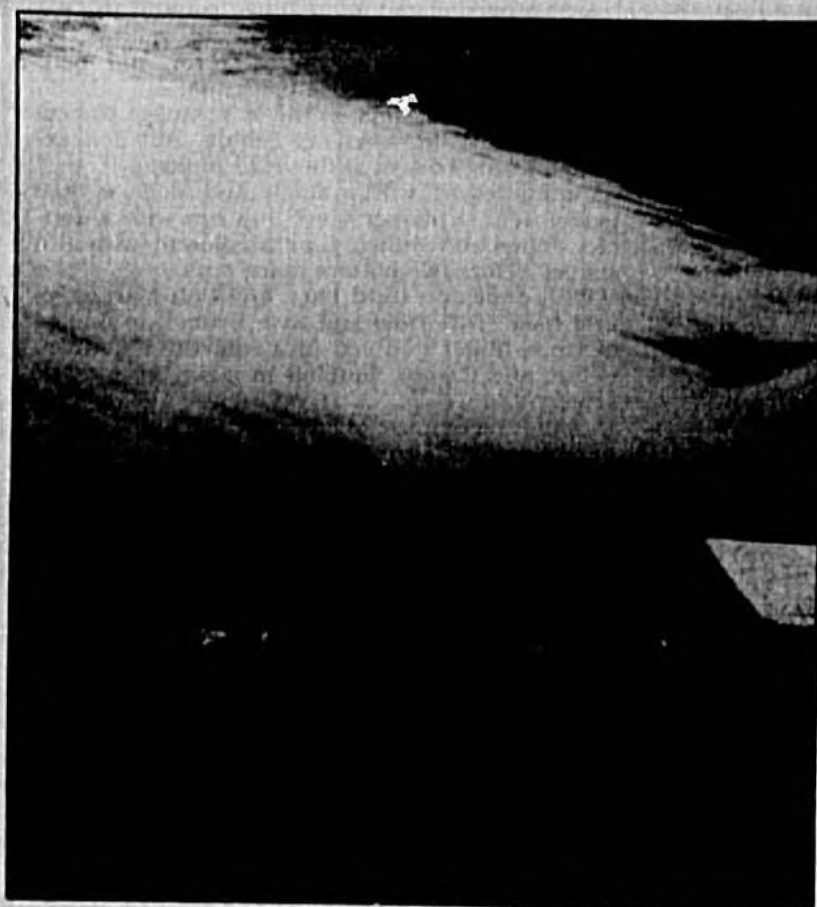

Are there really enough people in Orlando interested in minor league football or will this just be another case where the team folds after a year or two?

Seriously, how successful does anyone think the Orlando Miracle of the WNBA are going to be at the box office. Quick, name two players on your Orlando Miracle.

Orlando will not be a professional sports town until it starts acting like one. Say no to garbage sports and support the

Rare rain ends play after first contest at Pinehurst

By Dean Smith

SANFORD - For the first time since early May, and for only the fourth time this spring league season, softball games had to be postponed because of inclement weather at Pinehurst Park Wednesday night.

Despite the heavy rain that hit the City of Sanford Recreation and Parks Department Men's Spring Wednesday Night Slow Pitch Softball League was able to get in one game.

And luckily it was quick one. Pebble Junction took a 4-1 lead in the bottom of the first inning, but it was not until the bottom of the fourth inning that Pebble Junction could pull away, scoring nine runs in the Jerry Camus (left) made the most of his return from an injured hand, going 2-for-3, including a run-scoring double, and scored two runs himself to help Pebble Junction close to within a half-game of the league-lead with a 14-3, four-and-a-half inning, run rule victory over M.T. Muggs.

But that was the end of the action for the night as the early-evening thunderstorms that hit the Sanford area turned the field at Pinehurst Park into a lake (above).

Sunrise Funeral Home takes top spot in Lake Mary Friday Softball

By Dean Smith
SPORTS EDITOR

LAKE MARY - The sponsor may change, but the outcome almost never does for an Arthur Barnes managed softball team.

This past Friday night at the Lake Mary Sports Complex, Barnes helped lead his team, Sunrise Funeral Home, to its fourth straight victory, using an eight-run second inning to knock off ADAPCO, 15-9, moving into sole possession of first place and avenging its only loss of the season.

Sunrise Funeral Home, which lost its opening game of the season, 18-16, to ADAPCO, is made up of several players that have played together for years, starting with TRC (Tim Raines Connection) over 10 years ago.

Sunrise Funeral Home wasted no time in taking control of this game, scoring five runs in the top of the first inning and then putting the game away with the eight-run second inning.

Nice 'N Easy moved into a tie for second place, erasing a 2-0 deficit by plating seven runs in the bottom of the first inning and going on to an 18-2 victory over Elegant Lawn Maintenance behind a five RBI game off the bat of Dean Parmer.

Blue Haven Pools also moved into a tie for second place, breaking open a 2-1 game by scoring 11 runs in the third inning and easily disposing of Seagate Software, 18-5.

Sunrise Funeral Home stands alone atop the standings with a 4-1 record, but ADAPCO, Blue Haven Pools and Nice 'N Easy are nipping at its heels with 3-2 records. Elegant Lawn Maintenance and Seagate Software trail with identical 1-4 marks.

The City of Lake Mary Department of Parks and Recreation Men's Spring Friday Night Men's Softball League will return to action at the Lake Mary Sports Complex, located on Rantoul Lane across from the Mayfair Country Club, this Friday with Sunrise Funeral Home battling Nice 'N Easy at 6:30 p.m.; Blue Haven Pools facing Elegant Lawn Maintenance at 7:30 p.m.; and ADAPCO playing Seagate Software at 8:30 p.m.

Providing the offense were:
Nice 'N Easy: three hits - Dean Parmer (home run, triple, three runs, five RBI), Mike McLohon and Bill Quinn (one double, two runs scored and one RBI each); two hits - Steve Passwater (triple, two runs, RBI), Mike Berry (double, two runs, RBI), Jerry Governale (run, RBI), Andy Szymanski (RBI); one hit - Mark Huaman (double, two runs, RBI), Ken Perkins (double, run, two RBI), Tom Wilks (run, RBI), Mark Clatterback (two runs).

Elegant Lawn Maintenance: two hits - Jack Riley (run); one hit - Gene Gauger (run), Matt Oatway and John Mellillo (one RBI each), Terry Bartley.

Sunrise Funeral Home: three hits - Kevin Julian (triple, double, two runs, two RBI), Robert Stevens (three doubles, two runs, RBI), Nakia Roberts (run);

Please see Lake Mary, Page 2B

Veteran player Robert "Nip" Stevens showed he is far from over the hill despite being in his 50's as the big southpaw went 3-for-4 with three doubles, scored two runs and drove in one to help Sunrise Funeral Home assume sole leadership in the Lake Mary Friday Night Spring League with a 15-9 victory over ADAPCO.

RAINES GAUGE

Tim Raines is a Sanford native and Seminole High School graduate now playing for the Oakland Athletics. His statistics for the 1999 season is in the first column, personal-best season totals in the second column and career totals (including 1999) in the third column.

Raines was 0-for-4 as the San Diego Padres scored two runs in the bottom of the eighth inning to break a 3-3 tie and defeat the Athletics 5-3 in game late Tuesday night. The A's and Padres also played late Wednesday and will be in action Thursday afternoon at 5 p.m.

UCF inks quarterback, three volleyball players

Special to the Herald

ORLANDO - University of Central Florida recruiting coordinator Scott Fountain announced Wednesday that quarterback Ryan Schneider (Plantation High School) has signed a grant-in-aid to play football for the Golden Knights.

Schneider, 6-foot-2, 205-pounds, originally planned to join the squad as a walk-on.

After redshirt freshman quarterback Brad Banks was lost due to failure to meet academic requirements, there was a need to sign another quarterback.

"We realize that Ryan was being offered a scholarship at another school and did not want to take the chance on losing him," said Fountain.

Schneider was the Class 6A Player-of-the-Year last season and was offered a full scholarship to play at the University of Houston.

His 470 yards completed in a single game broke the state record and he finished the season with 3,764 yards. He had 38 touchdowns and four interceptions and finished his career with a 37-4 record.

Schneider incurred only one regular season loss as a prep player, losing three times in the state playoffs. He will play in
