"Hunchback Notre Dame" Shows Here Today Tomorrow

Unusual interest attaches to the presentation of the Universal special "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," at the Milne Theatre today and tomorrow.

Carl Laemmle, president of Universal, realized the great risk he took in making changes in the masterpiece of Victor Hugo; changes which he defended, however, on the ground that as a drama must entertain all classes, anything offensive to a religious denomination must be deleted.

Lon Chaney, one of the greatest character actors on either stage or screen, plays the difficult role of "Quasimodo," the hunchback. He is supported by such well-known players as Patsy Ruth Miller, Ernest Torrence, Norman Kerry, Nigel de Brulier, Tully Marshall, Brandon Hurst and Gladys Brockwell.

The entire Cathedral of Notre Dame was reconstructed at Universal City as well as eight squares of Parisian streets and houses of the period of Louis XI.

New York Drivers Collide on Sanford Busy Thoroughfare

(Continued from page 1.) have passed an examination to drive and so this woman is to blame for the whole affair, vehemently declares the newcomer.

"It's no such a thing. That woman is to blame. She ran into me and I couldn't help it," rejoins the woman of the first part. Meanwhile the chief puts his hands to his ears as the two women glare at each other and engage in what may be said to be one of the liveliest debates that has taken place since the days of Webster and Calhoun and certainly the greatest that has been held in the local police office.

The chief interrupts. "Now you ladies will have to quiet down and let me get at the bottom of this. Both of you have a seat and let me hear from one at a time and we can accomplish more. Now, you tell me your side of the story," he says, turning to the woman of the first part.

"It was all this woman's fault," she says. "It's no such a thing. Here's the way it all happened," cuts in the second woman. And the chief casts a helpless look around the crowd while the small gathering laughed, thoroughly enjoying the situation. Finally, in spite of frequent interruptions by one as the other told her story, the chief learned the fact that a automobile accident had occurred and not a fight as he had first suspected.

It was quite evident that it was a mixed up affair and the chief asked if they wouldn't compromise. "That's what I want to do," said the smartly dressed one. "Well, will you pay for the other's damage," said the chief to the stranger? "I should say I will not," she replied. He then put the question to the other and she gave the same answer.

Arbitration was out of the question, it seemed, and so he told them to both appear in court Tuesday. Both protested loudly. One had to be in Tampa tonight and the other had to be at home. One said she had the right of way and that she had a license to drive, while the other stoutly maintained that even if her opponent had driven in New York, so had she and besides she had piloted a car through the busy streets of Washington and Baltimore without a single mishap.

After the chief had told them that court was the only solution in view of the fact that they would not compromise, the woman, who was on her way to Tampa, said she would pay the damages on the other machine although she was not to blame.

BORAH KNOCKS PARTIES THAT ACCEPT MONEY

(Continued from page 1.) erment as a government is not corrupt. There are honest and faithful public servants and loyal and patriotic constituents. There are men and women, thousands and millions of them just as willing to sacrifice for the honor of their country and just as capable of serving the cause of clean government as were their forbears.

Not Whole Story "But the demoralization consequent upon what does not tell the whole story. I venture to believe that so long as the present system and standards prevail in American politics, regardless of party, you will have conditions no less deplorable than those which now confront us. The country was shocked to learn that a very large sum of money was given to high officials by a party having business with the government. Well, what have we to say about an individual having business, or expecting to have business, with the government giving a very large sum of money to the political party which is in control or is seeking control of the government? And this is the practice which prevails in this country not as to one party, but as to all political parties.

"Such large sums are asked for or given because of a desire to go beyond the ordinary interests of the individual in his party. You can buy influence with a political party quite as effective as you can an individual. In the latter instance it is still denounced, in the former instance it has become an accepted practice."

Arrangements Made For Political Meeting With Bryan Thursday

By virtue of the fact that Florida will hold a preferential primary, Mr. Bryan, if elected, will be compelled to support the choice of the majority of voters. Mr. Maines said. So far there are only two candidates whose names will appear on the ballot in this state. They are Oscar W. Underwood, of Alabama, and William Gibbs McAdoo, former secretary of treasury, under the administrations of Woodrow Wilson.

Mr. Bryan is known to be bitterly opposed to Underwood, but as far as McAdoo is concerned, he has not publicly expressed his opinion. At various times Bryan has mentioned McAdoo as a possible candidate for the nomination by his party. Not the least of these was one from Florida, Dr. A. A. Murphree, president of the University of Florida.

Local admirers of Mr. Bryan as well as those of other sections of the state, feel that if the Great Commoner is selected by the Florida voters to represent the state at the convention, he will be heard from and that he will be a big factor in the selection of the party's choice for the chief office of the land.

That Mr. Bryan will draw a large crowd from all over the county is the popular belief of his many supporters in this community. Since taking up his residence in this state several years ago, Bryan has endeavored to win the favor of residents of Florida by his activities in many of the many good movements, chief of which was the campaign for funds to erect a Y. M. C. A. building at the University of Florida.

During that campaign last year Mr. Bryan, in company with Dr. Murphree, went to all parts of the state, speaking of the great advantages offered by the University of Florida and urging the whole-hearted support in behalf of the officials to erect a hand-

CONDITION OF BANKS.

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Apr. 7.—The Comptroller of Currency today issued a call for the condition of all national banks at the close of business, Monday, Mar. 31.

Thus the affair was settled and both parties went on their way whether rejoicing or not, one could not tell. It was perhaps the most stirring scene that has transpired at the station. The accident occurred at First and Main and was not of a serious nature. The damaged car was fixed up at a small cost and the play was ended.

"It's all in a day's work," is the only thing the chief says, in reply to a question of how he felt after the affair was over.

MOST of us probably think that recipes are just made. But the aristocratic recipe comes into the world with a great deal of pomp and circumstance and is given careful home training before it reaches the housewife's cook book or her kitchen stove. Here is a small corner of the Mr. White kitchen in the home economics department of the Procter and Gamble Company where recipes are conceived, peddled, tabulated, tried and tested before they are given to the housewives of the nation. The nut doughnuts on the table are just as

TAKE A PRINTED SILK DRESS FOR MENTAL STRAIN

Printed silks should receive Nobel prizes of their own for the simplicity they have brought into feminine attire. So, say charming are they in themselves that they have eliminated the need, and therefore the mental strain of searching for new lines and fashions for each season. The material and the design will create in the thing this year. Flowers bloom in every frock now but they are rather conventionalized flowers, modern in treatment and crisp in conception. The perky little blooms in the illustration are black, printed on a background of Chinese-red hat crepe, and are a golden-rod, versatile brush of M. Henri Creange, the noted fashion expert. They are set off by bands of the same material, but without a design. From the wide, slightly squared neck, there is a low panel down the front, which is cut from the same piece as the low plain band around the waist. A band of the same finishes the bodice and the brief kintana sleeves. Eight little pleats make a panel in the middle of the tunic and two small pockets are disposed on each side in front. From the right pocket falls a small Chinese-red chiffon handkerchief, stitched in black. Hat, shoes and hands should match each other, rather than leading the dress at the moment. The hat illustrated is of white lanket straw, quite an unusual shape, the shirring on strap was made stockings to match and the beads smooth ivory.

Hunt's Washington Letter

BY HARRY B. HUNT, N.E.A. Service Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—As though party leaders weren't having enough trouble to keep their lines straight for the coming campaign, state and county organizations are reporting that newly enfranchised women voters are gunning up the organization program in many sections of the country.

Apparently the spring housecleaning fever has hit a large section of the politically-minded women. They're blaming the men for making the place with oil, tracking in mud and dirt and being not merely untidy but positively filthy. Anyway, they're rolling up their sleeves, getting out the brooms and carpet beaters, and making a show of getting ready to clean up.

One of the first clean-up conferences called by women who want to see the political homestead maintained in better order is that of the League of Women Voters, which will be held in Buffalo April 21 to 23.

Among the women who will wield the duster on that occasion are Della Lathrop of Chicago, former chief of the U. S. Children's Bureau; Mrs. Gifford Pinchot, wife of Pennsylvania's progressive Republican governor, Mrs. Frank Vanderlip, whose husband has organized the Federal Research Bureau in Washington to assist investigations into governmental relocations; and Mrs. Curtis Chapman (née Mrs. Mary Garrett Hay), veteran suffrage campaigner.

The conference will not choose between Republicans and Democrats, but will concentrate its efforts to stimulate women's interest generally in picking "clean" men for office.

STRONG ARM OF THE LAW AFTER DRY OFFENDERS

Sheriff Hand in company with Deputies Williamson, Stephenson and Baxter nabbed three men early Sunday morning on the Wekiva River about 12 miles from Sanford, after they had held an all-night watch. The officers found 20 gallons of moonshine in the possession of the men. The men gave their names as Raymond Sylvester, E. A. Driggers and John Patrick, all white.

Sheriff Hand stated Monday that he believed that the men are old timers at the game and that their still was probably located on

A TASTE of what may be expected from this feminine housecleaning fever has just been experienced by Cumberland county. N. J. An old-time political boss there, as a sop to suffrage sentiment, named a young Smith, Colgate graduate, Thelma Parkinson, of Vineland, N. J., as a member of the state Democratic committee. He figured she'd be satisfied with the honor of the job, he'd get credit among the women for naming one of their sex, and everything would be lovely.

But, alas! Miss Parkinson took her job seriously. Once confirmed as a member of the committee, she got busy. She didn't like the boss' manners nor his methods and said so. She organized the committee against him and then kicked him out. Miss Smith will be at the Democratic convention as a delegate-at-large from New Jersey—doubtless one of the youngest delegates on the floor, if not the youngest. She's just 23.

SIMILARLY, when the men out in Probate county, O., reported there was no use organizing against the G. O. P., it was a woman, Mrs. Ada M. Whipple, of Eaton, who went out and organized the second biggest Democratic Victory Club in Ohio.

"When any man tells me a thing cannot be done," Mrs. Whipple wrote Democratic headquarters, "I'm going to satisfy myself." Acting on this tip, Cordell Hull, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, is turning men and more to women for assistance. "Whenever the men report 'it can't be done,' get a woman to do it," Hull has ordered. "And I never yet have had a woman fail," Hull says.

county at a point probably five or six miles from where the men were captured. They were in a boat and the officers believe that the three alleged moonshiners were on their way to Orlando to dispose of the "shine."

The sheriff stated that he had been receiving some complaints about the activity of bootleggers in that vicinity and on Saturday he received word that a load of liquor would pass through this particular place at a certain time. When placed under arrest one of the men grabbed his gun but by the quick work of the officers, he was grabbed before he had a chance to carry out his purpose.

Driggers is in jail here but Sylvester and Patrick furnished bonds of $250 each. All three will be tried at the next term of court.

On Friday the sheriff and his men caught another violator of the prohibition laws when they arrested Charles Stafford after they found several cases of liquor in his house. Stafford is out under a $250 bond to appear in the next term of court.

Dixon Urges Game Protection

Thomas Dixon, famous author of "Clansman," "The Fall of a Nation," and other widely known works dealing with the Old South, came out strongly for game protection and against the general game projects which now threaten with extinction the wild life of America.

Dixon says: "I wish to add protest to this general drain of marsh, swamp and lake lands from the South. We are losing our game lands as fast as they are being reclaimed. Without doubt it is a sign of progress that within the past five years half a hundred million acres of marsh land have been drained. The acreage under our feet as a sweet morsel for the birds is practically worthless for game purposes. He is sorry he didn't shoot it to the birds—sorry too where there were formerly beds of bodies of water which ducks and fish and furling animals, there lie today as a useless land."

Under the Game Refuge Bill each hunter would pay one dollar for a license. This money would be turned into the Treasury and constitute a special fund known as the "Migratory Bird Protection Fund." Perhaps one-half would be used for the purchase of areas suitable for waterfowl. The other half of the money would be used to protect the migratory birds and make more effective a treaty between this country and Canada for that purpose.

Tracy out of the most democratic sport in the world. "It is for these reasons that Federal and state authorities, national, state and local gunning clubs and individual gunners are uniting to fight for the passage of the Anthony Game Refuge Bill which comes before Congress in a few weeks. If you will stop and think, if you want your sons and sons to enjoy the heritage of sportsmanship as unspoiled as your father left it to you, write to your Congressman and Senator to support the Anthony Game Refuge Bill."

High School Notes

Prof. McKay returned Sunday from Gainesville, where he attended the conference of the I. L. S. at the University of Florida. In Gainesville he also witnessed the closing of the annual track meet. The visitors from the high schools of the state were glad to have with us, on Thursday, Dr. Brownlee, U. S. pupils and teachers also enjoy the visits from the visitors of our city and wish that they would come more often.

Why I Like Florida. Martha Fitts, first of all, Florida, to me, is dearest land in all the world because it is my land. I am proud to know that when I look of the United States, I think of Florida, too.

Florida is an agricultural and citrus state, growing many vegetables and citrus fruits. Sanford is noted for its truck farming. It is also one of the greatest celery centers in the world. Sanford also has many citrus fruit groves.

Florida is Just Right. I like Florida because it has a mild climate all the year, being neither too hot nor too cold. Most of the trees are green all the year and the flowers are blooming, which makes it more beautiful than the country with bare trees and no flowers.

Geneva

Mrs. P. T. Wakefield's name is entered on a program of the Horticultural Society for a paper manufacturing an "market" in titled "Personal Experience" in manufacturing and marketing of Florida fruits, which will be held in Tampa April 28-30.

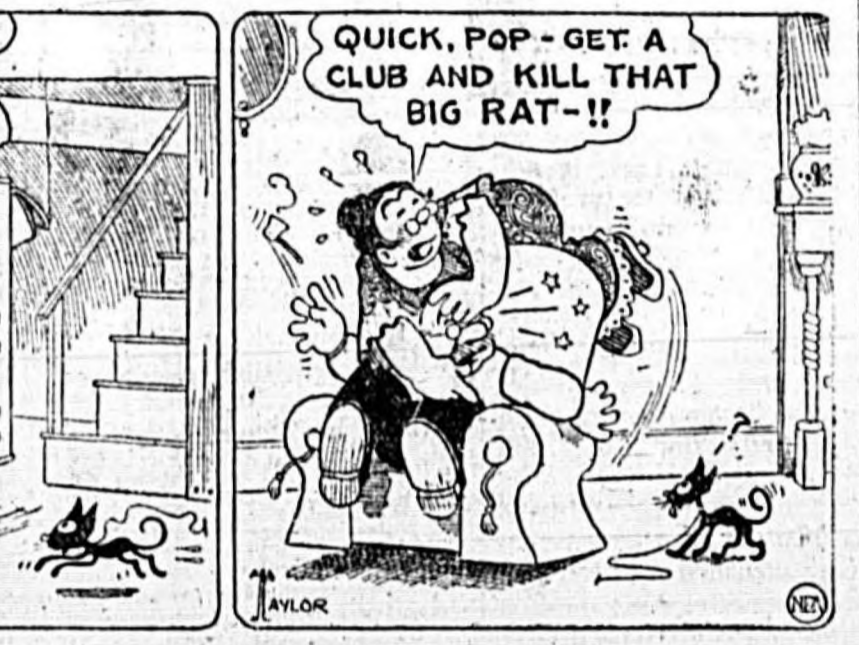

Geneva is having not only a building boom, but many inquiries for land in and around Geneva. Some of their tourists are coming back next year to buy homes and stay and many others are coming to buy homes for farming.

The Geneva Community Club held a regular business meeting Monday, Apr. 7, at the home of Mrs. Quirk. Fifteen members were present and three visitors. This was also the annual election of officers.

Mrs. P. T. Wakefield, president, Mrs. H. Parishall, vice-president, and Mrs. Charles Phillips, secretary, who served faithfully in their respective offices for three years, were all elected again, and Mrs. Franklin, who served one year as treasurer, is also re-elected.

beautiful and prosperous state. It has many pretty flowers and trees. It also has a healthy climate. Although it is damp, it is nice and sunny, for this reason it is called "Sunny Florida."

I like to live in Florida because it has good schools. Instead of having so many small schools, we have consolidated schools, that is they have large schools and bring children from many miles away.

Florida has many large and beautiful cities, including Miami, Jacksonville, Orlando, St. Petersburg, Tampa, and Panama City. Florida is an agricultural and citrus state, growing many vegetables and citrus fruits.

In West Palm Beach and Miami they grow many coconuts. There is a direct water route from Florida, or Sanford rather, to New York.

I think most people who live in Florida like the climate and scenery.

A busy summer for Sanford. Get ready to vote. You'll be foolish to miss the fun.

The baseball season starts in a few days. Sky-scraping has nothing to do with shooting stars.

It is not expected that the O. P. will change its emblem on the ballot to a teapot.

It is rapidly coming to the point where a riderless horse makes you immediately suspicious of the presence of a certain well-known prince.

The story in yesterday's Herald which referred to a man "snorting in his cell" contained a typographical error.

This is "Be kind to animals" week. Everyone is urged to do something helpful to some animals.

William Jennings Bryan, the biggest man in the Democratic party, will speak in Sanford Thursday afternoon.

In the North they had no sooner celebrated the approach of summer by moving their clocks into "Daylight Time," than their folly was revealed by the worst storm of snow, rain and hail that had been seen in years.

Sergeant Murphy, American owned horse and winner of the Grand National, finished fifth the other day, but it is an excellent horse and one for any American to be proud of.

W. K. Vanderbilt is planning to build the largest museum in the world, where he will house more than four hundred rare sea specimens.

There are still twenty-six horses and mules in this country for every fifteen automobiles.

Many Sanford merchants realize the value of good credit and make it a point to pay their bills promptly each month.

By the way they are attacking candidates some newspapers Florida supporting Martin.

April 4 edition of the Miami Free Press of the best weeklies in Florida, contains an illuminating study of the growth and development of Sanford, as well as excellent pictures of the town and country views.

Citrus Growers, Work Together!

Sanford and Seminole county do not specialize as do many Florida sections in the growing of citrus fruits. This is a farming section and not a fruit growing section.

However, Sanford and Seminole county are effected indirectly by the conditions which exist in neighboring counties. And the people of this prosperous county should lend every effort possible to the growers of the orange and grapefruit so that they will hereafter get full value for their crops.

Conservative estimates have it that more than thirty million dollars has been the loss to the state because of disorderly marketing of citrus crop.

The great trouble with the citrus crop this year, as we understand it, lies in the fact that poor quality, immature fruit was shipped early in the season, causing dissatisfaction among consumers and a decided drop in prices.

This condition cannot be allowed to go for another year or soon the citrus industry in Florida will be unknown.

While The Herald is going a little out of its territory in talking about citrus fruits, still it desires to urge every possible co-operation and assistance among the citizens of Seminole county in making May 1 and the Citrus Sign-Up Day a big success so that the growers of Florida's great fruits will get full value for their crops in the years that are ahead.

Dangerous Talk In Miami.

One day last week, the editorial writer of the Miami News-Metropolis took a notion to be inordinately scintillant and wrote this paragraph:

There's one thing that can be said of the bootlegger—he doesn't try to run for office.

Not liking, perhaps, to tread upon too dangerous ground, the News-Metropolis leaves the bootlegger to the bootlegger.

If a bootlegger does not run for office in a community where the bootlegging business flourishes, it must be that he has means of controlling the men who hold the law-enforcement offices.

YOUR SUCCESS in this world depends upon the quality of your brains. If you aren't doing any thinking, if you move in circles where the expression of new ideas is taboo, it's time you look an inventory.

"THE SIDE OF THE ROAD"

If you sit in a house by the side of the road and watch the people go by, you'll soon nod in your chair at the whirl of the wheels, while sleep wins the straining eye.

It is better by far to stand in the road and wave down the passing car, than to sit in a house by the side of the road and watch the people go by.

THE HARVEST OF DEATH

The past week saw its harvest of death from automobiles and more warning fingers have been pointed to impress us with the necessity for greater care in the management of these pleasurable and useful but dangerous machines.

Automobiles are here to stay. They have become a necessity. They are useful and have become indispensable. They are daily growing in numbers.

As Brisbane Sees It

Good News Is Lacking. Brisbane's Biggest Hotel. Wise Briton's Forecast. Only One Flying Force. Copyright, 1924.

ROBERT D. TOWNE says religion is handicapped by "lack of good news." There are no more firm assurances, such as the one given to Peter and Andrew, "Follow Me, and I will make you fishers of men."

PERHAPS A few miracles would help to revive faith and fill the churches. Suppose the Rev. Dr. Straton would say, "I warn you dissenting clergymen that you are all bound for perdition, and to prove it I shall now change Dr. Jones into a stick of candy."

CHICAGO IS to have the champion hotel for bigness at least, 2,268 rooms; costs, including real estate and furniture, $40,000,000.

EUROPE, FUDELY ridiculing and perhaps secretly envying American "bigness," will read these figures with amazement. You could change your room every day for six years in that hotel, never occupy the same room.

SOME BRITISHERS are intelligent, which protects them and the others. James Brown, plain coal miner, who lived in a two-room Scotch cottage, is appointed Lord High Commissioner of the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland by the Labor Government.

SNOB AND fools had planned to boycott the "common workman" socially when he should make his official appearance. But the Duke of Atholl invites James Brown to be his guest.

THE BRITISH Government, to increase the number of flying men, will back young men's flying clubs near big cities.

OUR GOVERNMENT might take the hint. Sending young men to training camps is a good idea. But in future war, one man taught to fly, drop bombs and work a machine gun, is worth ten untaught to parade, present arms, etc.

THAT WOULD give two sets of secretaries something to play with and cost the people a double "overhead," but it is not common sense.

WILL TROUBLES NEVER CEASE?

SECRET OF FORD'S RAILROAD.

Railroad Data of March 20, that publication of propaganda issued by the committee on public relations of the eastern railroads, explains why Henry Ford's railroad is proving to be such a complete success.

Not that the railroads have factories of their own to provide the freight tonnage, but they might seriously concern themselves in the matter of locating plants, developing farm lands, and supplying the town and communities that are discriminated against at the present time.

There should be entire harmonious co-operation and mutual confidence between the public and public service corporations. Progress is being made, but the distance to be covered is yet a considerable way.

SEWANEE TRACK TEAM WILL MEET GATOR SATURDAY

Gator Track Team Will Journey To Sewanee To Meet Cinda Athletes of University of South.

GAINESVILLE, April 8.—Saturday afternoon Florida University's crack track and field combination meets the University of the South (Sewanee) at Sewanee, Tenn., in the opening meet of the 1924 inter-collegiate track season. It is a return meet with the Sewanee team, the Gator path stars having decisively trounced the Tennessee sprinters in a dual meet on Fleming Field last April.

Florida's chances to again register a victory appear very good for the squad of men Coach "Jimmy" White now has under his wing, should find the 1924 season a banner one. Despite the absence of a specialized tutor for track and field, the Gator center artists have entered into their work with a will and a true Gator spirit, and Coach White is pleased with the showing thus far of his proteges. Mr. White, for four years a track man of note at the University of Virginia, is proving himself a dynamo of worth to the aspiring trackers, and is teaching his crew lots about track and how to win dual meets.

The team leaves Gatorland Thursday afternoon at 3:37, and on Saturday swing into the opening competition many miles from home. Coach White has not formally selected his team, and no man yet is sure of making the trip. It is probable that nine men only will be picked to go north, though a tenth man may be given an opportunity to run in the Sewanee meet.

Bobby Jones May Play At Orlando On Next Saturday

ORLANDO, April 8.—Bobby Jones, national open champion, is likely to appear here in a forenoon, 36-hole exhibition match Saturday at the Orlando Country Club. If present plans hold true, Bobby was in Orlando Sunday night and Monday morning, coming here with Frank Adair, vice-president of the Adair Realty and Trust Company, of Atlanta, Ga., of which firm Jones is a member, who spent the morning yesterday in consultation with officials of the Florida McKinnis-Cubbage, Inc., local representatives of the Atlanta firm. Accompanying Jones and Adair were Jesse Capon, president of the Florida Terraces, and E. B. Meyer, junior counsel for the Adair firm.

The quartet left shortly after noon Monday for Tampa, where Jones will be a spectator at the State Amateur Golf Tourney, which starts this morning in the Cigar City. Jones will endeavor to return to Orlando late Friday in time to participate in the proposed forenoon Saturday, according to present plans. He is planning to pay a visit to East Coast towns before returning to the Georgia metropolis.

BIG INDIAN IS TRYING OUT FOR OLYMPIC TEAMS

LAWRENCE, Kan., Apr. 8.—John Levi, Haskell Indian football star, picked as All-America fullback on many selections last fall, will attempt to win a berth on the American Olympic team which will compete in Paris next summer. The gigantic Arapaho brave, regarded the greatest Indian athlete since the days of Jim Thorpe, will enter the preliminary Olympic tryouts at the University of Kansas stadium here, May 30 and 31.

Levi will enter the decathlon, instead of any single event. Coach Frank McDonald believes his experience on the track and his strength will enable him to make a good showing in the events of the decathlon. The Indian has carried his 200 pounds of brawn over the 120 yard high hurdles in 0:15 2-5; over the 220 yard low hurdles in 3:25 2-5 and has high jumped 6 feet. He has put the 16 pound shot 43 feet.

New Smyrna Game Not To Be Played Until Wednesday

Because several members of the New Smyrna High School baseball team are scheduled to appear in a play that is to be given there this afternoon and night, the game between that team and the local high school nine has been postponed until Wednesday afternoon. It was announced by the school authorities Tuesday.

The New Smyrna boys telephoned the school officials here late Monday afternoon asking if the arrangements could be made. Superintendent McKay and Coach McLucas agreed to the arrangement.

Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Ninth Street Park the game will be played. The local boys are confident of winning the game and fans here are anxious of a exciting foot contest between the two teams. Games are being advertised to the game.

ARRIVES FOR BOUT HERE

Jack Middleton, winner over "Rough House" Ross in a recent fight, arrived in Sanford this afternoon to hold his final workouts in preparation for his second match with the North Carolina battler.

Jack Middleton Arrives In City To Hold Final Workouts for Ross Bout

Jack Middleton, crack light heavyweight boxer, who meets "Rough House" Ross here Friday night in a return bout, arrived in Sanford this afternoon, and pronounced himself in fine condition for his set-to with the North Carolinian. Since his bout here with Ross two weeks ago, Middleton has been doing some hard training in preparation for the Sanford fight. When he fought Ross here at the last exhibition and which he won in the third round when he knocked the "wampus cat" out of the ring, Middleton was said to be 14 pounds overweight. But due to good conditioning, the Jacksonville and Miami battler has reduced his girth considerably and is now all set for the encounter.

Middleton announced upon his arrival that he has come several days earlier in order to get a few workouts here. He will have one probably Wednesday and a light one Thursday and then will rest until Friday night. This battler maintains that when he steps in the ring this time he will be in perfect condition and says that the rough house boy better guard himself cautiously if doesn't want to put out quicker than he was in their first meeting. By his victory here two weeks ago, Middleton has won many friends here who will be pulling for him to repeat his victory. That the lad can punch is the vehement declaration of Ross, who after the match declared that Middleton carries one of the hardest punches that he has ever felt. However, Ross declared that he has learned the former's tactics now and that he will not get him (Ross) off of his guard this time. Billy Dawson, who has been arranging the exhibitions here and who has billed this attractive card for this week-end, arrived in the city this morning and stated that Ross will be in Sanford Wednesday. Ross also will have a workout or two before his second match with the Miami and Jacksonville battler.

When he enters the ring Friday night it will be with the confident prediction that he will be returned the winner, according to reports emanating from the camp of Ross, who has been in Jacksonville since his recent bout.

First Aid To Neglected Husbands

ERNEST TRUAX, by virtue of the gross neglect which has been accorded him by his wretched wife since the start of his famous career as the neglected husband of the modern woman, has found ample time to specialize in the art of cuisine. His recommendation to one and all is a "crazy" dish called Eggs a la Truax. In hitting upon this combination the star of "New Toys" has taken due thought of the difficulty confronting housewives in arranging eggs in new modes. His dish is compiled by the following simple formula: Take six or eight sardines, mash up with yolk of a hard-cooked egg, pepper and salt to taste, a little lemon juice and one teaspoon melted crisco. Serve on buttered toast, garnished round the edges with some finely chopped parsley and white of one egg rubbed through sieve.
