Money leaders try ending crisis

WASHINGTON — Top finance officials of the seven largest industrial countries pledged Saturday to cooperate closely in world currency markets in an effort to resolve the worst currency crisis in two decades.

In a joint statement, finance officials of the United States, Japan, Germany, Britain, France, Canada and Italy expressed concerns about the recent turmoil that has battered the British pound and other European currencies. But the statement gave no indication that Germany had relented on the key question of interest rates.

U.S. and British officials have argued that German interest rates must come down further to relieve pressure on weak European countries and boost worldwide growth.

In an effort to restore order, the finance officials said they "will take appropriate additional actions as needed to achieve sustained growth and greater currency stability."

The three-paragraph statement did not specify just what actions the countries would take. But in past periods of instability, the United States has joined with its major economic allies to buy massive amounts of weak currencies on the open market to prop up their price.

Lemon law pays near record

TAMPA — A man whose 1991 Ferrari had a faulty air conditioner, malfunctioning seat belts and a leaky roof will get a $132,805 refund in the second-highest award under Florida's lemon law.

The money for Ernie Haire III granted by a state arbitration panel covers the $106,600 purchase price, interest, sales tax and luxury tax. The award was topped only by January's $134,500 buyback of a defective Rolls-Royce.

Ferrari can appeal the decision to court. A Ferrari spokesman had no comment after Friday's decision.

Lockhart residents clean up streets

By VICKI BOGGERMAN
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The people of the Lockhart community of Sanford want to clean up their neighborhood both literally and figuratively.

So on Saturday about 150 men, women and children came together with members of the Seminole County Sheriff's Office to help bring that about.

For three hours, they scoured the community with bags and shovels and gathered about two truck loads of trash from the streets and open spaces.

The Lockhart community, located just south of Goldsboro, is an older neighborhood, said Algerine Miller, the secretary of the Lockhart Community Association, but over the last few years it has changed.

"There are drugs and there is violence," she

SANFORD — Ignacia "Notcha" Pabon and her daughter Helen didn't have much in their home in Homestead, but much of what they had was ruined by Hurricane Andrew.

Now, they'll have a second chance thanks to the congregation at St. Peter's Episcopal Church in Lake Mary.

The mother and daughter, ages 89 and 85, arrived at Central Florida Regional Airport Friday afternoon in an airplane flown by Dean Byers of Sanford.

Lake Mary hires finance director

By NICK PEPERFAP
Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY — Winter Park Finance Director Randy B. Knight has resigned his position to assume the same one for Lake Mary, effective Oct. 5.

City Manager John Litton recommended the hiring. Without questions or comments, the commission voted unanimously on Thursday in favor of the selection.

Knight will fill the vacancy brought about by the resignation of Robert Lockridge, who had been with the city from Oct. 2, 1989 until Aug. 20 of this year.

In his request to hire Knight, Litton suggested an annual salary of $48,000. "This is almost the same as the salary we have been paying to Mr. Lockridge," he said.

Litton, also hired from Winter Park, said, "My only association with him while I was employed there was in his capacity as an auditor."

In an informational report submitted to the commission, Litton said Knight, "has considerable experience in governmental accounting, and is familiar with our computer system."

Knight is married, has three children and lives in Lake Mary. See Finance, Page 5A

Navy vets return home for reunion

Convening for their 40th reunion this weekend in Sanford are former personnel of Navy Squadron VJ-62. If you're reading this at your breakfast table pour yourself another cup of coffee because right about this time veterans of VJ-62 are having breakfast at American Legion Post 53 on south Sanford Avenue. The reunion planner was Joe Franks of Woodhaven, N.Y.

VJ-62 was organized and commissioned at the Jacksonville Naval Air Station in 1952, just before the unit was transferred to Sanford. The former Navy airmen met Friday night at the Shrine Club and on Saturday at the Holiday Inn. The officers and enlisted personnel of VJ-62 as well as the Navy folks who served during World War II left an indelible mark upon this community.

Throughout the Korean War and through June 30, 1966, most of the personnel would leave Sanford for tours of duty aboard Navy carriers on the high seas. But the folks out at Sanford Naval Air Station — most of which were career people — considered Sanford always as "Home Sweet Home." Many of them resided in Sanford with their families. They shopped in our stores, worshipped in our churches, served as youth leaders in scouting, participated in our civic endeavors and — well, let's put it this way — they just "made themselves at home."

In fact, many of them retired here. Many of them retired at other stations but they came "home" to Sanford. As an example, when Bob O'Neil left the Navy he returned to Sanford and married one of our fair young ladies, Ada Adams O'Neil. See Stenstrom, Page 2A

Politics heats up Lake Mary commissioner runs again

By NICK PEPERFAP
Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY — Lake Mary Commissioner David Meador, who had not intended to run again for office, Friday changed both his mind and the district for which he will vie.

Meador has represented Seat 1 on the commission for the past four years. Friday afternoon however, he qualified to seek Seat 3.

The seat is currently held by Commissioner Paul Tremel, who has said he has not yet decided if he will run. To date, only Meador and civic activist Sheila Sawyer have qualified to run for Tremel's seat.

"People have been coming to me asking me to take another term," Meador said, "and even though I did not intend to run again, I have changed my mind and qualified for a try at another two years."

Former Lake Mary Mayor Jim Lormann had already qualified to seek Meador's present District 1 seat. "Mr. Lormann and I discussed that earlier," Meador said, "and he told me he would not run in opposition to me, and qualified only after I chose not to run."

"Now that I am running," he said, "I have qualified for a different seat."

Meador

Sawyer

Sawyer said Saturday that she was both surprised and amused by Meador's decision.

"That's David. As usual, he never knows how to make up his mind. He has a record of changing his mind on many issues. He's inconsistent. To change his mind about running is funny, but it's even funnier that he is changing his mind about the district," Sawyer said.

Tremel said he was pleased to hear that Meador had reconsidered his candidacy. "I'm glad to hear See Politics, Page 2A

Then there was W.L. Springfield who married Janice Reel. Still there were others such as Frank Voltoline and Albert Antar who, when they left active Naval duty, stayed in Sanford. All of these folks are still active in the business, civic, religious and social life of Sanford. Of course there are many more. Space just doesn't permit listing all of them.

The folks at the Sanford base truly endeared themselves to the people of Sanford. But, it was a two-way street. Sanford folks endeared themselves to the Navy people. If there was a need at the station and Sanford people could provide it they got it.

For example, there was an annual Navy Appreciation Day. Actually, thousands of those stationed at Sanford including their spouses and children would attend fish fries, serve as beauty contest judges, attend dances at the USO center or at the Sanford Armory. Local stores would contribute hundreds of prizes to holders of lucky tickets.

Another example, one year, 1954, Barbara O'Harr of Sanford, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Ben Steele and a student at Seminole High School, was selected by a group of Navy airmen as their "White Hat Queen" on Navy Appreciation Day. One of the judges was Janice Springfield's husband, W.L.

Being good citizens of the community, hundreds upon hundreds of Navy folks would from time to time donate blood to the Central Florida Blood Bank. There was no doubt about it, folks of Sanford and people at SNAS went together like bread and butter.

Let me give you another example. At Christmas the Navy would arrange to host about 200 youngsters from the Methodist Children's Home across Lake Monroe at Enterprise. Following a tour of the base and a close look at the various aircraft, Santa would fly into Sanford. He would climb aboard one of the fire trucks at the station and lead a "convoy" to a dining facility where the young visitors were provided a typical Navy Christmas dinner. Then they'd go to an auditorium where every youngster was provided with an especially nice gift provided by the personnel of the station and beautifully wrapped by Navy wives.

The planes VJ-62 when they came to Sanford were made by North American. The equipment was the AJ-2P "Savage" photo reconnaissance/bomber. These planes had two prop-reception engines and one jet engine. Navy folks referred to the "Savage" as having "two turning and one burning." The jet engine was in the belly of the aircraft.

Of course, SNAS had its sad moments too. For example, in February, 1953, two officers and two enlisted men left SNAS on a routine training mission. Returning to SNAS the plane and crew stopped overnight at Turner Air Force Base near Albany, Ga. The next morning shortly after the aircraft took off for Sanford it crashed. Killed were 28-year-old Lt. William Kushner who with his wife lived at 2400 Stevens Avenue in Sanford. The other officer was 33-year-old Lt. George Von Weller. Then there was Aviation Machinist Mate Ollie Perry who lived with his wife at 1400 Magnolia Avenue. The other enlisted man was 30-year-old Chief Aviation Photographer's Mate Lawrence E. Lewis. You see, these folks were our friends and our neighbors.

So, to the officers and enlisted personnel of VJ-62 who laid their lives on the line to keep America a land of free people, I know that many old timers as well as late comers to Sanford salute you this morning. And, as Bob Hope would put it, "Thanks for the Memories." And please remember, the people of Sanford will never forget you.

Museum closes for construction

By NICK PFENAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The Henry Shelton Sanford Memorial Library and Museum is now closed. It will remain closed through April of next year.

Thursday evening, the museum was opened for one final gathering of supporters and interested persons, allowing them to tour the facility for the final time before a massive construction project gets underway.

"We had 30 or 40 persons at the event," said curator Alicia Clarke. "We had a display of what the museum will look like when work is completed," she added, "and everyone seemed to be real pleased at the future design."

She added, "I was pleased to see a number of members of the Sanford Junior Womens Club attend the open house because they have been very actively involved in helping us through many projects at the museum."

The remodeling and restructuring project is expected to get underway within the next few weeks. "We still haven't finalized everything with the contractor," Clarke said, "but that's just a matter of days off, then the work will get underway."

The project will cost approximately $515,000, with money from the City of Sanford, Historical Society, Tourist Development Council, and a gift from

"We will still be available by phone for research or information. In the meantime, we will be accumulating more items for our collection and undertaking an extensive oral history record of the City."

the Sydney O. Chase family of $240,000.

Inside, the structure will be redesigned to include new display and exhibit facilities, storage areas, office space, restrooms and other areas. The exterior is to be rebuilt to coincide with the historical area in which the museum is located. The building will eventually be almost double its present physical size.

"Although we will be closed to tours and visitors until April," Clarke said, "we will still be available by phone for research or information." She added, "In the meantime, we will be accumulating more items for our collection and undertaking an extensive oral history record of the City."

Through the construction period, Clarke may be contacted at the museum, 330-5688, or through the City of Sanford Parks and Recreation Department, 330-5688.

children, and resides at 428 Stanton Place in Longwood.

"We received over 100 applications for the position," Litton said. "As a result, I interviewed seven people whom I felt were above the rest." He added, "I also had the auditors look through the resumes and provide me with input. They usually come with my recommendation."

In submitting his resignation on Aug. 7, Lockridge indicated he was "moving into the private sector," but did not disclose what or where his new employment would be.

Lockridge remained with the city through Thursday night's meeting under a separate contract, having developed the budget. "I promised them when I submitted my resignation," he said, "that if they wanted, I would continue working with them until the 1992/93 budget was finalized."

At the start of the Thursday commission meeting, Mayor Randy Morris presented Lockridge with a resolution of appreciation for his service to the city.

As the commissioners voted to accept the budget on final reading last night, Lockridge quietly packed up his lap-top computer and left the commission chambers.

that he is running again," he said. "We discussed it early that same day before he qualified, and I have no problem with it, nor do I see it as being opposition if I decide to run again."

Should Tremel decide to run for election again, he would have his choice of running for either commission seat, or the position of mayor.

Present Mayor, Randy Morris, has also remained undecided regarding seeking re-election. Candidates for mayor and city commissioners in Lake Mary represent seats, but are not required to live in or represent specific districts. Persons from anywhere within the city limits are allowed to run for municipal office.

Mealor does have one opponent however, Sheila Sawyer, who announced her candidacy and filed papers early in the qualifying time period.

Qualifying ends in Lake Mary at noon, Friday, Sept. 25. The city election will be held as part of the general election, Nov. 3.

WWII WAVES recall no harassment

By BILL KASSON
Associated Press Writer

WHITING FIELD — A tailhook was something to help a plane land on an aircraft carrier and sexual harassment was unheard of when the first WAVES arrived at this newly opened naval air station nearly 50 years ago.

World War II-era members of Women Appointed for Volunteer Emergency Service, here for a reunion, said they never encountered anything like the Tailhook scandal. "Let's face it, the whole world is changing," said Kitty O'Keefe of Bethlehem, Pa. "Putting a hand on the shoulder at that time was kind of a friendship. Now it's harassment. I don't know why."

Massey and Carrell were among the first group of 10 WAVES to arrive at nearby Pensacola Naval Air Station in March 1943 from Atlanta where they were trained to operate Link trainers, forerunners of flight simulators.

Curious cadets and officers, as well as flight students from Britain and France, visited their barracks "to see what strange creatures we were," Carrell recalled.

"The first day we had quite a crowd in the lobby," she said. "The next day the order went out — the cadets and officers were not allowed to associate with the WAVES. The next day they could associate with us. This went on for several days, on and off. Finally, they made it so we could associate with cadets and officers off the base but never on it."

A few months later WAVES started arriving at Whiting, a new flight training base that continues in that role.

Initially, there was knee-deep mud everywhere but no electricity, hot water, air conditioning or shades in the barracks. When power finally came on the shades still

"We were more or less celebrities. The boys accepted us real well. I had no complaints at all. A few catcalls every now and then, but we enjoyed those, too."

-Ceresse Baisden Massey

hadn't arrived and lights didn't go out until 10 p.m.

"If you could imagine, huddling between the locker doors and trying to change clothes without being in view of the sailors who were in the barracks next door and hanging out by their heels," Carrell said.

Tittler also was a Link operator. She had the added duty of sitting in the glass nose of a training plane to look out for other aircraft while pilots practiced instrument flying.

She recalled having to yank the pilot's pant leg to warn him of another plane because she couldn't be heard over the roar of the engines.

Mary Margaret Lynch, of Laconia, N.H., was a tower operator. She recalled that a hurricane blew out a tower window and after the storm a large plane from nearby Eglin Air Force Base crashed on the end of the runway after it was hit by lightning.

One thing the WAVES didn't do was serve in combat. They weren't even allowed overseas except Hawaii and then only in the latter part of the war.

The WAVE veterans have mixed views on current efforts to open combat duties to women.

Some said women should be given that choice and felt they could stand up to combat as well as men.

O'Keefe was against it, saying, "If the enemy ever took a woman as prisoner, it would be a sad thing."

The WAVES may not have seen combat but they did fill jobs that freed many men for overseas duty.

"When we joined we were very patriotic," Carrell said. "I always felt we were helping the war effort."

POLICE BRIEFS

Retail theft charged

Sandra Kay LaClair, 32, 202 Laurel Dr., Sanford, was charged with retail theft when she was arrested by Sanford Police on Thursday.

Police said that LaClair picked up two pieces of jewelry, an ankle bracelet and a necklace, and attempted to leave the Wal-Mart on S. Orlando Drive in Sanford without paying for the items. The items were valued at $7.94.

She was taken to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility and held in lieu of $100 bond.

Lewd act alleged

Gary Roger Bingley, 55, 1705 Blackmon Ct., Longwood, was charged with committing a lewd act when he was arrested by Seminole County sheriff's officers in Big Tree Park on Thursday.

Police said that Bingley told an undercover agent that he would like to perform oral sex on him and he also grabbed the undercover agent's buttocks.

He was transported to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility. Bond had not been set.

Battery charged

Bobby Coffield, 22, 1812 Peach Ave., Sanford, was charged with domestic violence when he was arrested by Sanford Police on Thursday.

Police said he got into an argument with his girlfriend and during that argument he struck her.

He was transported to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility and held in lieu of $1,000 bond.

Unidentified man arrested

A man who refused to give police his name, age or address, was charged with fleeing and eluding police and with leaving the scene of an accident with property damage when he was arrested by Sanford Police on Thursday.

Police said he was involved in a minor traffic accident at the intersection of 6th Street and Pecan. The driver and his car were gone when police arrived, they said. Soon after they arrived, police said, the car and the driver were seen a block away and positively identified by witnesses.

Police said he attempted to elude police by driving without his lights on.

He was transported to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility and held without bond.

Drug charges filed

Gregory DeWayne Sears, 28, 2522 S. Oak Ave., Sanford, and Don Thomas Menzies, 18, 600 Chealsea Rd., Longwood, were charged with conspiracy to sell LSD and possession of drug paraphernalia when they were arrested by Seminole County sheriff's officers on Thursday.

Deputies said that during an undercover operation deputies attempted to make a deal with Sears though he wanted to go elsewhere to discuss the deal. After some discussion, the deal was made.

The deputies said they purchased 400 hits of LSD from the pair for $800.

A juvenile in the car was also arrested. Sears and Menzies were transported to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility and held on $500 bond each.

DUI arrests

Robert E. Sutton, 36, 113 Jenkins Cir., Sanford, was charged with driving under the influence and with failure to maintain a single lane when he was arrested by Seminole County sheriff's deputies on Thursday. He was held on $500 bond at the John E. Polk Correctional Facility.

Charles Robert Haines, 51, 1270 W. Lake Brantley Rd., Longwood, was charged with driving under the influence and with driving with a suspended license when he was arrested by Seminole County sheriff's deputies on Thursday. His license had been suspended in connection with previous DUI charges, sheriff's deputies said. He was held at the John E. Polk Correctional Facility on $500 bond.

Deborah Pfeiffer Tokarz, 33, 475 Lanark St., Sanford, was charged with driving under the influence when she was arrested by Seminole County sheriff's deputies on Friday. She was held on $500 bond at the John E. Polk Correctional Facility.

Deputy sheriff resigns amidst brutality probe

By VICKI DeBONNIE
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Without waiting for an internal affairs investigation to be completed, Deputy Stan Romanowski resigned from the Seminole County Sheriff's Office on Friday.

Investigators were nearing the conclusion of their probe in relation to Romanowski's alleged use of excessive force with a suspect when he turned in his badge on Friday, George Proechel, public information officer for the department said.

Proechel said that the internal investigation showed that Romanowski, a four year veteran of the department, had punched a drug suspect in the nose and told him that that should "teach him" not to fight with deputies.

He was also facing disciplinary action for making false statements to a superior officer in an attempt to divert attention from himself in the investigation.

Proechel said that Romanowski admitted hitting the suspect but denied the other charge.

According to the internal investigation findings, the incident occurred in the Winwood area of Altamonte Springs. Romanowski was said to have become involved in a struggle with a SANFORD — An impostor writing worthless checks is making Raymond Freid's life "a living hell." And his problem is compounded because of the state's independent court systems.

Freid has been in jail in three counties, is wanted in two others and could face charges in still others for a long time — unless the guy using his name, birthdate and other personal information is caught.

"I feel sorry for him (Freid)," said Lt. Earl Dawson of the Florida Highway patrol, who has some leads and is tracking the impostor.

suspect who was suspected of smoking crack cocaine.

The investigation revealed that the suspect attempted to run and was caught and handcuffed.

The investigation showed that Romanowski punched the suspect in the nose after he was handcuffed, Proechel said.

Despite his resignation from the department, the investigation report would be forwarded to the state Standards and Training Commission, Proechel said. The commission could revoke Romanowski's police certification.

Father of Gregory K. wants custody of other two sons

ORLANDO — The father of Gregory K., a boy going to court in a bid to divorce his parents, said he wants custody of his other two sons.

Ralph K., who agreed to sever legal ties with his oldest son, Gregory, said Friday that he and his longtime companion are moving from St. Louis to Oklahoma to look for work. They hope to win custody of Zachary, 10, and Jeremiah, 8.

Gregory K., 12, has gained worldwide publicity for getting his foot in the courtroom door in an attempt to cut ties with his natural family so he can be adopted by his foster parents. Courts have routinely refused to allow minor children to sue their parents.

During a trial this week in Orlando, Gregory K. plans to try to cut ties to his mother, Rachel K. He wants to be adopted by George and Elizabeth R., a Lake County couple he has lived with since October.

Leadership needed now to save depot

It is an altogether welcome sign that elements in the community have begun to rally to save the Auto Train depot for Sanford.

The possible loss of the depot, as provided for by Amtrak's parent, the National Railroad Passenger Corp., would be a heavy blow to the area's economy in terms of the loss of 150 Amtrak jobs and 200,000-plus passengers traveling to and from the city. In addition, it would stagger the blossoming but still nascent efforts to attract tourists to the city's downtown and lake front.

In a less parochial sense, relocating the depot to another community also could result in an inconvenience to Amtrak Auto Train passengers. In all of mid-Florida, Sanford clearly is the superior, central location for such a depot. And, even though the existing site just south of S.R. 48 may be too cramped to allow modernization, a nearby site just north of S.R. 48 would be perfect. Other sites mentioned either are out-of-the-way (Wildwood) or are themselves too busy or cramped (Taft).

The Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce and the Tourist Development Council already have undertaken inquiries. We applaud their initiative and encourage them to establish the issue as a top priority. Although any move is not planned until 1995, time is of the essence. Other communities already have made overtures to Amtrak in an effort to win the potentially lucrative operation.

This is a time for leadership.
Sanford must leap forward with its effort to convince the railroad that it would be a big mistake to abandon the city. There is much that Sanford can cite to bolster its case, not the least of which is a suitable site, and much the community can do to show the railroad it doesn't want to lose the business.

We believe the city commission should take charge of airing the issue and ensuring that a well-coordinated campaign to save the depot is undertaken immediately.

No commission meeting is scheduled for eight more days but the mayor could call a special meeting with 24-hour notice or such a meeting could be convened if three city commissioners ask the city clerk to schedule one.

It's time for Sanford to take charge of its future.

Acid rain, a salient but silent killer

Acid rain is the salient environmental problem because once the sulfur dioxide and nitrogen oxides are in the atmosphere there is no way to harness them. Burning fossil fuels: coal, oil and natural gas, results in acid rain.

Approximately 100 million tons of manufactured sulfur dioxide and nitrogen oxides are emitted annually, mainly by coal or oil fired power stations and metal smelters. Vehicle exhaust accounts for much of the nitrogen oxides emitted. When sulfur dioxide and nitrogen oxides become a part of the atmosphere, chemical changes are the order of the day, transforming them into sulfuric and nitric acid. These pollutants are deposited further away as acid rain, snow, mist or fog. Nitrogen oxides and unburned hydrocarbons in vehicle exhaust gases react in sunlight to form ozone. Ozone is recognized as a major factor in forming smog.

Man-made ozone in the lower atmosphere is hazardous for crops and other plants, and possibly to human health.

It is estimated that 165,000 tons of sulfur and nitrogen are emitted each day in North America. The concentration of industry and people on the Eastern North American continent, along with prevailing meteorological conditions, causes that part of the continent to receive the most acid rain.

Electric utilities in the United States powered by high sulfur coal produce 70 percent of the sulfur dioxide emissions. The U.S. is responsible for about 80 percent of the sulfur dioxide deposition in Canada. Conversely, Canada is responsible for about 10 percent of the sulfur dioxide deposition.

SEMI-COLUMN OPINION

Quietly, acid rain is killing thousands of streams and lakes across Europe and North America. Acid rain kills young plants, crops, forests, fish and frogs. Acid rain corrodes metals and automobile finishes and, ultimately, our water supply.

In North America and in Europe, all fish are gone from some waterways and forests are dying. One hundred lakes in New York's Adirondack Mountains no longer have fish. Nine thousand lakes and 80,000 miles of streams may be vulnerable in America, according to a Congressional study. One hundred forty of Ontario's lakes have been declared biologically dead, because of acid precipitation. The Canadian Ministry of Environment predicts that if acid loading remains constant or escalates in the next two decades, Ontario could lose much of its aquatic life in 48,000 lakes.

The Erzberg Mountains of Czechoslovakia have lost 247,000 acres of forest to acid rain. Attempts to reforest the area have failed. It is estimated that 1.2 million acres of West Germany's forest are dying and acid rain is the prime suspect. Closer to home, the western end of the Pennsylvania Turnpike has rows of dying trees at higher elevations. The dead trees are generally on the side of the road receiving exhaust fumes. The trees are in the path of westerly winds and are high enough to be in concentrated acid clouds or fog much of the time. It is believed that ozone is formed from nitrogen oxide and unburned hydrocarbons from the constant truck traffic.

The United States National Academy of Sciences estimates that acid rain pollution causes $5 billion or more damage annually in the eastern part of the country.

As stewards of creation, man-made air pollution is something within our control. The following are some of the options available corporately and individually for reducing sulfur dioxide:

□ Industry could burn sulfur-free coal by removing the sulfur from coal before burning it. This would include add scrubbers in coal, add lime to burning coal and generating smokestacks.

□ Another option would be to use alternative, cleaner energy sources.

□ Individually, we can use more efficient electrical appliances and become conservers of electricity by keeping lights and all electrical appliances off when not in use. Solar, hydroelectric, and nuclear are other energy sources.

Cost of business in Mexico is dear

WASHINGTON — Two key words were omitted from the 2,000-page draft of the North American Free Trade Agreement: Investor beware. Doing business in Mexico can be a harrowing experience.

NAFTA is being sold as the gold rush of the '90s. New jobs, markets, sales and opportunities all beckon for American business. It all may be true — but so is the fact that south of the border, the court of last resort can often be a corrupt cop or a graft-seeking judge.

Jack Andrews has some advice for the small and medium-size firms that will rush south if NAFTA is passed: "Anyone a milder than Chevron or G.M. is going to have to fight a 10-year (legal) battle" to resolve financial disputes. Without a battalion of lawyers and friends in high places, mastering the Mexican system of official corruption is treacherous.

It's been a long haul for Andrews, whose odyssey grew out of a contract dispute eight years ago. His small exporting company had signed a contract to deliver agricultural products to Andesa, the Mexican government's food storage monopoly. In a court complaint Andrews charged that Andesa officials conspired with the New York office of the Mexican Coffee Institute to underbid his company by $75. His losses were $1.5 million.

Andrews won default judgments in California and New York courts for $2 million, but still hasn't collected a nickel.

Moreover, he believes it nearly cost him his life. He recounts an incident one night in 1984 as he and a partner drove his late model Camaro back to the Texas border the day after meeting with the Mexican Attorney General's office about his dispute. As they headed down the bumpy main road to the border, a radio-equipped Lincoln Continental began chasing the Camaro, and on one sharp turn, they could see that one of their pursuers was wielding a submachine gun. A second radio-equipped car joined the chase.

Thanks to skillful driving at speeds topping 110 miles an hour, Andrews escaped. When he reported the incident at the border, a Mexican guard told him that the Lincoln had already passed through, and that the men inside were "federales," national police.

Last June, Andrews' case prompted Sen. Orrin Hatch, R-Utah, to write the Mexican ambassador to the United States, with a veiled warning: "I am concerned that there is real potential in cases like this to jeopardize the successful conclusion to a North American Free Trade Agreement."

A second case involves the plight of a Texas-based oil trading company owned by Bill Flanigan. Flanigan had a 1984 contract to buy residual oil from the Mexican Petroleum Workers Union and its Commission of Contracts, which both reneged after Flanigan refused to pay kickbacks. Two default judgments later, Flanigan is owed $420 million awarded by a U.S. court, but has yet to collect a cent. He has also had a brush with death, when a Mexican guide put a .38 pistol against his temple after Flanigan toured a Mexican oil refinery.

The larger point underscored by both cases, according to trade experts, is the lack of an effective and enforceable arbitration mechanism for disputes between private American companies and the government-sponsored monopolies in Mexico.

The court of last resort can be a corrupt cop or a graft seeking judge.

Family values: fact vs fiction

BOSTON — Is there some way to close off this endless, surreal exchange between fact and fiction, real life and sitcom, Dan Quayle and Murphy Brown? It's become as wearisome as witnessing a couple fighting for the last word.

First, it was Dan taking Murphy to task for the malfeasance of unwed motherhood. Next it was Murphy waving an Emmy and a finger at Dan for picking on single mothers.

Then last week, Dan tried to turn this heavy stuff into a Lite controversy by doing a promo for Murphy reruns at a L.A. TV station. "So what's your favorite TV show?" asked the station manager as the tape rolled. "Murphy Brown — Not," said the vice president.

And last week, the show's season opener will have Murphy watching Dan attack her on a TV set inside our TV set. She'll answer back.

This is turning into a series of its own. It's bad enough that George Bush is running against Hillary Clinton without having Dan Quayle run against Murphy Brown. The only one who can keep a grip on reality here is Candice Bergen. But then she had some experience in fantasy, growing up with a ventriloquist father who treated a wooden dummy as if he were her brother.

Mind you, I am not one of those people who regard the "family values" debate as some vast distraction from the "real issues" of 1992. My dictionary defines issue as "a major topic of discussion." Family may be THE major topic of discussion in any gathering less formal than a focus group.

But the Dan-Murphy dialogue about family forms distracts us from the dialogue about family functions. It's the functioning of families, or maybe the dysfunctioning of families, that worries Americans today. There is an uneasy and looming concern that we are shortchanging the people we love.

Like most people, I have spent decades worrying about this as both a working mother and working daughter. I know that parents with growing children are supposed to monitor what is on their children's television and into their schools, to check for lead paint and the seven signs of drug abuse, to have family dinners oversee homework, know their friends. I know that adult children with aging parents are supposed to serve as their buffer with the world, their ombudsman with the system, and sometimes their caretaker. I know how often we don't live up to our own expectations.

Like most Americans I believe that families should take care of their own. But these days we often have to choose between being with our children or housing them. We have to choose between taking care of our elderly parents or preparing for our old age.

Americans do not wake up in the middle of the night worrying about whether an unwed television mother is corrupting the country's morals. We wake up worrying about money and love, work and family. The balancing act.

The Dan-Murphy debate about family forms, morality and motherhood, is a diversion. It turns attention away from what can be done to mute these conflicts. It focuses on private not public choices. On what government can't do rather than what it can do.

Consider what happened recently. While Dan said "NOT" to Murphy, the Bush administration is saying NO — again — to the Family and Medical Leave Act passed by the Congress.

This bill asks much, much too little. It would give full-time workers 18 weeks leave to care for a newborn, or for a seriously ill child, husband, parent. The leave would be unpaid and it would only apply to companies with 50 or more workers. But it is a classic example of the way government can begin to ease family life.

If the president can convince Americans that such a modest bill is too risky because it endangers jobs, then we will have truly sacrificed family to the marketplace. If we go through this season, avoiding a debate on family policies and prolonging a shouting match on family shapes, we will have nothing to lighten our load except bitter judgment of each other.

So much then for the Dan and Murphy show. Life imitates art imitates life imitates art. Anyway you look at it, in this too-long running family sitcom, the comedy is wearing thin.

We wake up worrying about money and love, work and family.

regularly flies patients who might not otherwise be able to afford to travel out of town for necessary medical care.

"He made this possible," said Shari Norman, a member of St. Peter's who first met Notcha and Helen while volunteering her time to help Hurricane victims at St. John's Episcopal Church in Homestead.

A week ago, Norman was helping to distribute donated items to those whose lives were devastated by the hurricane. She met Notcha who told her that she and her daughter, who live in government subsidized housing across the street from the church, would have to evacuate their apartment while repairs were done. They were going to be relocated to the Liberty City area of Miami for four to five months.

"That is not the safest area," she observed. "And at their age it would not be pleasant at all."

Helen suffers from a variety of medical ailments and needs to have air conditioning to be comfortable.

"My heart went out to them," she said.

She called back to the church to ask The Rev. Bev Barge and the vestry what they might be able to do to help the ladies.

"They talked about it and decided that we should try to bring them up here and put them in an apartment until their home was ready for them," she said.

It took some convincing to convince the ladies to leave their home, but they eventually agreed to come here until the work was completed.

"They have made it clear that they want to go back as soon as they can," Norman said.

On Thursday night, a rented truck loaded with relief supplies went left for Homestead from St.

Church fills needs

LAKE MARY — Shari Norman has been helping to organize the donation efforts by St. Peter's Episcopal Church to help the relief efforts in Homestead.

Norman said that the victims

Norman said that the ladies are not indigent, but they do depend on a government subsidy to help them meet their medical expenses.

"We had to make sure they wouldn't lose that by accepting our offer," she said. Church volunteers drove to Lake Coral to ensure that there would be no problems.

Convinced that all was fine and that they would be able to return to their apartment after repairs are complete.

They will remain in Seminole County for four or five months as the guests of St. Peter's Church.

She noted, also, a shortage of feminine hygiene products that are being donated.

said. "We want to reverse that trend."

Miller said the Saturday event was organized by the Lockhart Community Association to bring the community together for a good cause.

"We wanted to give the kids a chance to play and enjoy some fellowship with adults and people in authority," she said.

The cleanup efforts have been an annual event for three years. Mary Bullock, whose husband Horace is the president of the association, said. This, she said, was the biggest turnout.

"Everybody is having a good time," Bullock said. "It's a lot of hard work, but it's fun."

Following the cleanup, the participants gathered for an old fashioned community dinner in an empty lot at 18th Street and Hawkins.

Mable Wesley fried fish in a black kettle over a small fire. She chatted with children and adults who raced from the food line to the activities presented by the sheriff's department.

"This is great," she said, smiling.

Children swarmed over the department's SWATmobile and a boat used by the department. They waited anxiously for a glimpse of a K-9 officer, but were distracted, if only momentarily, by a clown in a polka dot suit who tweaked their noses and made them smile.

"We want to do something to keep making this neighborhood better," Wesley said. "And I think things are getting better and better."

Wesley said that the sheriff department's involvement in the cleanup effort and in the community on a daily basis is helping with the improvements.

"The police are working with the children and the children are having a great time," she said.

Deputy Tony Fannin, who is the vice president of the Lockhart Community Association, has been assigned full time to the neighborhood to act as a liaison between the neighborhood and the department.

"We are doing whatever we can to get everyone involved in the community and to take pride in it," Fannin said.

Fannin said that a special effort was made on Saturday to be sure that even the people who could not join in the dinner because they are housebound, were not left out.

Dinners were packaged up and delivered by volunteers.

Sheriff Don Eslinger took several packages to shut-ins in the neighborhood. He said he appreciated the opportunity to meet some of those who could not join in the festivities.

Eslinger said he believed the community effort showed that there could be some real progress in solving the problems in the community because everyone was willing to work together.

"I am delighted with the effort of the community to solve some traditional problems and build fellowship," he said.

IN BRIEF

Hospital offers CPR

SANFORD — CPR for Citizens is offering a Basic Rescuer course for Health Care Providers on Monday, Sept. 21, 28, from 8 p.m. to 10 p.m., both nights, at Central Florida Regional Hospital. The class will be held in the first floor classroom at the hospital, at 1401 W. Seminole Blvd.

Basic Rescuer is an eight hour American Heart Association training course, taught to two sessions, which is offered to health care professionals. The course fee is $30 and students are required to bring a rescue mask with a one-way valve to class. To register for this and other CPR classes, call 679-4277.

Living wills made available

LONGWOOD — Forms will be furnished and living wills prepared and updated at no charge at the living will workshop sponsored by South Seminole Community Hospital and The Florida Registry of Living Wills/The Living Will Registry of America.

The free workshop will be held on Wednesday at 11 a.m. at 521 Physicians Plaza, at Longwood. The workshop is open to everyone 18 and over. Reservations are requested by calling 800-624-5498.

Monthly prostate lecture set

LONGWOOD — The topic for this month's lecture will be "Treatment and Management of Incurable Prostate Cancer." The meetings are sponsored by the Prostate Center with Drs. Jake Jacobo and Steven Brooks and South Seminole Community Hospital on Thursday. The lecture will be held at 7 p.m. in classroom 103 of Physician's Plaza.

Dr. Donald Dickerson, radiation oncologist, will be the keynote speaker.

To register or for more information, call Leane at the Prostate Center 332-7934.

'Chocolate Fantasy'

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — The eighth annual Chocolate Fantasy to benefit the National Kidney Foundation of Florida, Inc. Central Chapter, is set for today from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Area hotels, caterers, bakeries, cookie companies and candy shops will meet at the Altamonte Springs Hilton to offer samples of their most decadent chocolate desserts.

Tickets are a $10 donation to the National Kidney Foundation at 894-7325.

Transplant support group organized

The Organ Transplant Foundation of Central Florida has formed an "Organ Donor Family Support Group." The first meeting will be Thursday at 7 p.m. The group will meet in the senior's lounge at the Jewish Community Center at 851 N. Maitland Ave. (Maitland Avenue and Maitland Boulevard). For more information call 677-4186.

Flu season

High-risk groups should to get influenza vaccinations early

Both influenza A and B could circulate during the 1992-93 flu season, and people in high-risk groups should get vaccinated early, according to the Baylor College of Medicine in Houston.

The influenza strains expected to dominate this season are A/Texas (H1N1), B/Panama and B/Qingdao, said Dr. W. Paul Glezen, epidemiologist at the Influenza Research Center at the college.

A/Texas and B/Panama are covered by the 1992-93 vaccine.

B/Qingdao is not included in the vaccine, Glezen said, but is closely related to B/Panama. The similarity will provide vaccine protection during what is expected to be a mild to moderate season.

Influenza variants are named according to where they were first identified. The

A/Texas strain was originally isolated in October 1991 by Baylor's Flu Center.

"People in high-risk groups should get vaccinated soon," Glezen said. "In case this season's outbreak occurs early."

Flu usually appears in early or mid-December and peaks in January or February, but the 1991-92 epidemic began earlier.

In most areas, the vaccine should already be available at physicians' offices and community health centers. It takes two weeks for a flu shot to provide full protection.

The people most at risk of flu complications are the elderly as well as people with heart disease; lung disease, including asthma and chronic bronchitis; diabetes; chronic kidney disease; chronic anemia, including sickle cell disease; and immun-system disorders.

Also recommended for vaccination are care-givers likely to come into contact with those in the other high-risk groups.

Influenza produces fever, generalized muscle pain, weakness and a dry, hacking cough. Victims should rest and drink liquids.

In treating symptoms, people younger than 21 should use only aspirin-free pain relievers. Aspirin has been associated with Reye's syndrome, a flu and chicken pox complication that can cause vomiting, convulsions, brain damage and death in children.

Amantadine, an antiviral drug, will provide specific treatment for influenza A infections; however, it is not effective for influenza B. Treatment should be started within 48 hours after symptoms begin.

Childhood leukemia survival rate improving

Leukemia is a form of cancer which attacks the tissues that produce blood. According to the Leukemia Society of America, the disease is the leading cause of death for children in the United States. However, what most people don't know, is that the disease is 10 times as prevalent among adults, half of whom are over age 60.

"In 1980, the survival rate for childhood leukemia was an appalling four percent," said Dave Dennis, president of the Leukemia Society's Chapter Board of Trustees. "Today, thanks to ongoing research, leukemia found in children over the age of two is one of the most successfully treated cancers and up to 73 percent of those children can be cured."

"Leukemia usually strikes children after they have reached the age of two. It is rarely found among babies," said Dr. Robert Reynolds, chairman of the Chapter's Professional Education Committee. "In such cases," he added, "leukemia is difficult to treat and the survival rates are extremely low. When it occurs so early, the leukemia is often traced to early pregnancy, although the causes are still unclear."

The symptoms of leukemia are infections, anemia and excessive bleeding, and are caused by the production of too many abnormal white blood cells.

Researchers do not yet know the cause for the disease although several factors have been linked to it. "Radiation from x-rays has been a suspect cause. Although the amounts of exposure to patients in the United States are extreme, they are not a major risk," Dr. Reynolds said. Long term exposure to chemicals such as benzene, found in gasoline and used as an industrial solvent, is also suspected. Viruses are known to cause one rare type of the disease called adult T-cell leukemia/lymphoma.

Carmack given First Humanitarian Award

LONGWOOD — HCA West Lake Hospital announced that Rudy Carmack is the winner of its annual First Humanitarian Award, according to Winnie Rudat, a representative of the hospital.

Carmack was chosen by his peers from over 125 employees and is now eligible for the National First Award to be presented in Nashville Nov. 13.

"Rudy Carmack was nominated for the award on the basis of his unusual concern for the welfare of patients, community involvement, etc.," says Dr. Dennis H. Jones, hospital administrator. "HCA has long recognized its employees represent its greatest strength. This national employee of the year program is a reminder of HCA's mission: to render quality, compassionate care in a manner that rewards communities, physicians, employees and patients."

Office calls

Members of the physical rehabilitation staff at Hillhaven Healthcare Center, on Mellonville Avenue, in Sanford, made office calls to a number of Sanford doctors Friday to thank them for their business and inform them of the outpatient services available at the facility. Karen Hudson, left, physical therapy attendant, and Robin Edson, physical therapy assistant at Hillhaven, give a doctor's bag filled with goodies to Cheryl Francisco, L.P.N. and Dr. Michael J. Smigielski at his office, Tri-County Orthopaedics. Keith Jones, occupational therapist and Brent Montgomery, administrator in training, helped with the days visitations.

SOUND ADVICE

NICK SPINA
CERTIFIED HEARING INSTRUMENT SPECIALIST

If you are bothered by ringing in your ears (tinnitus), you may wish to see a hearing specialist. There is one called The American Hearing Association, P.O. Box 5, Portland, Oregon 97202.

*****
If your hearing is so poor that you have to rely on lip-reading, be sure to read the newspaper from cover to cover each day. In this way when people laugh to discuss current events, you will have some idea what they are talking about.

*****
Question - I only own one car in it with a hearing aid, what is the most important factor in deciding which car to use?
Answer - Assuming that the hearing loss is approximately the same in both ears, the hearing aid is usually applied to the "deafest" sounding ear. A hearing aid can make sounds louder but cannot make sounds any "clearer" than a damaged nerve is capable of hearing. Think one the "deafest" sounding ear.

IN BRIEF

Winn-Dixie lowers prices

JACKSONVILLE — Winn-Dixie Stores announced that it has lowered prices on more than 1,000 health and beauty-care products at its 1,185 stores.

Winn-Dixie lowered prices after cutting expenses and realizing buying efficiencies, said James Kufeldt, president of the Jacksonville-based supermarket chain.

First Seminole to open new branch

First Seminole Bank has agreed to lease the former First, F.A. office located at 7625 Sandlake Road, Orlando and establish a new banking office in the growing Dr. Phillips area, according to Dennis H. Courson, president/CEO.

This will represent the bank's second location, and is the first of two offices that the bank plans to establish within the next 12 months, the bank reported in a press release.

First Seminole Bank had assets as of June 30, 1992 of $29,698,021.48. First six months after tax earnings were $146,793.50, or .44 per share vs. first six months 1991 earnings of $132,758.00 or .40 per share.

The bank has been awarded a five-star rating from Bauer Financial reports, Inc., a Coral Gables, Florida research firm.

First Seminole Bank's main office is located at 531 West Lake Mary Boulevard, Lake Mary.

Honored Romance ship adds on

By NICK PFERPAUF
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The rivership Grand Romance has been honored by Home & Away, as a "AAA Travel Treasure." The publication focuses attention on major tourism related operations throughout the nation.

Regarding the Grand Romance, the publication reported, "The elegance found on the early steamboats of the 1800's can still be enjoyed today on the Grand Romance, as it explores Florida's St. Johns River."

The magazine is the official membership publication of the 1.8 million households involved in AAA. The Romance appears in the Sept/Oct. issue.

The romance ships started operating from Sanford in June, 1985, when the Romance, the smaller of the two ships began regular river cruises. The Romance was eventually moved to New York, and replaced in Sanford by the Grand Romance which began its cruises July 1, 1989.

This past December, the first ship returned and has been based in Sanford since that time, normally docking along the lakefront west of Memorial Park, but loading at the same ramp as its sister ship, at the marina, 433 N. Palmetto Avenue.

"We have some great things planned for the future," said Gary Briggs, one of the riverships' owners. "We are taking the evening entertainment shows called "River Days" normally run Tuesday through Thursday evenings, and moving them to the daytime, Monday through Friday."

He continued, "Then we will be starting a brand new show called "That's Romance" in the evening cruises." He said the new show will have approximately eight people and be a fun-filled and entertaining show.

"While we are now doing two-day cruises from Sanford to Jacksonville," he said, "we are also planning on having eventual three day cruises which would go from Sanford, through Jacksonville, then south to St. Augustine and return."

Sanford chamber renews its guide to community

SANFORD — The Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce has finalized an agreement for development of its next membership directory and newcomers guide. SEE Chamber Publications, which has handled the project for the past four years, again will prepare the directory.

Chamber Executive Director Dave Farr said, "Since 1984, SEE has helped us become a dominant provider of tourist and visitor information." He added, "Distribution of this publication goes to parties who contact the Chamber almost daily, as well as prospective members, new residents and businesses."

Farr said the directory will cover the Sanford and North Seminole County area. "It will have much of the same information as we've had that proved so successful in the past including a listing of Chamber members and businesses, reports on points of interest and maps from around the area, fun places to visit and annual events."

Meetings with chamber members will be scheduled to discuss this year's publication during the next few weeks.

For information on the Chamber of the publication, contact the Chamber office at 322-2212.

Dear Cindy,

When we first discussed how to best advertise our business, Quality Lawn-Home Improvements, my partner Carl was skeptical about using the Sanford Herald. I'm happy to say that he is very pleasantly surprised! He can't believe that 80% of our phone calls are from the Herald Classified 'Let A Specialist Do It' Business Service Directory. He expected to get much more business from our ad in the other daily newspaper, but it's the other way around! Carl's now a definite believer in the Sanford Herald! And so am I! Our business is building steadily as a result of advertising in your newspaper.

Sincerely,

NATIONAL BRIEFS

Political bus tour like double date

BOSTON — Tipper Gore likens the Democratic presidential campaign bus tour to a double date with Bill and Hillary Clinton, but not so daring as double dates in college. She, Al Gore and their friends would pile onto one motorcycle and turn down narrow alleys to ditch the police. "I would get up on the handlebars, and then there would be Al, and then there would be my roommate and then there would be Tommy Lee Jones," Mrs. Gore said during a visit to the city where she went to college.

Military accused of intimidation

WASHINGTON — The military uses psychiatric examinations and forced hospitalization in mental wards to intimidate and discredit people who disclose wrongdoings, an advocacy group contends. The Commission on the Reform of Military Medical Abuses, made up of former and current military personnel who say they were victimized for speaking out, said that hundreds of people were being "taken against their will without due process and locked up in psychiatric hospitals." During a two-day gathering that ended Friday, members of the 3-month-old group conferred with members of Congress and wrote President Bush, urging him to appoint a special prosecutor to investigate the practice of retaliatory psychiatric testing. The Pentagon, in response to previous charges, has denied abuses of the medical system and said it is working hard to protect whistleblowers from reprisals.

French voters get day of peace

PARIS — French voters, bombarded by pleas, polls and promises for a month, get a day of peace today before their critical vote on whether to accept the treaty on European unity. The frenetic campaign officially ended Friday night. Sunday, voters will have their say on the treaty that would bring the 12 European Community countries under unified diplomatic and economic policies.

Shuttle may be delayed by weather

By MARCIA DUNN
AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE CANAVERAL — Endeavour's astronauts squeezed in a few final experiments on their bonus day in space Saturday and began stowing equipment for the trip home, even though rain threatened to delay landing.

The laboratory research mission already has been extended from seven to eight days for scientific purposes.

NASA aimed for a Sunday touchdown at Kennedy Space Center despite the discouraging weather forecasts. Commander Robert "Hoot" Gibson had two chances to land there: 7:10 a.m. and an orbit later at 8:53 a.m. EDT.

Flight directors said they would prefer waiting until Monday to bring Endeavour back if the weather was bad at Kennedy on Sunday, rather than send the shuttle to the backup landing site at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif.

Besides seven astronauts, Endeavour carries a slew of animals, bone cells and other biological samples to gauge the effects of weightlessness. The scientists in charge of those experiments waited anxiously at Kennedy for their specimens, and a detour to Edwards would delay analysis.

There are two carp aboard the shuttle as well as four adult frogs, as many as 447 tadpoles, 180 hornets, 7,600 flies and 30 fertilized chicken eggs. Seven of the tadpoles were hatched in orbit from eggs fertilized on the ground; the rest were conceived and hatched in space.

Japan's space agency supplied most of the experiments as well as one of Endeavour's astronauts, nuclear scientist Mamoru Mohri. It is the first U.S. space mission devoted to Japanese research and NASA's 50th shuttle flight.

Astronaut Jan Davis spent her last full shift inside Sparclab melting glass in an acoustic levitation furnace. She suspended a small, round glass sample using mirrors, sound waves and krypton gas, and then heated the pellet with halogen lamps.

The bead slowly bounced up and down inside a wire cage as the furnace chamber was bathed in a red-orange glow. The melted glass became stuck, however, to the inside of the cage.

"It's too bad it didn't levitate the whole time, but hopefully we got some good science out of this sample," Davis said.

Scientists hope to create a pure glass, not based on silicon, that can better transmit infrared light.

Davis also doused the four adult frogs with water and took them out of their cages so they could kick and stretch their legs.

They finally got names, thanks to Davis.

Davis named the prime egg producer Amelia and the next-most fertile frog Sally. She named the two others Dolly, after her mother, and Chiaki, after Japanese alternate payload specialist Chiaki Mukai.

The crew beamed down a brief videotape of Hurricane Bonnie as Endeavour passed almost directly over the storm northeast of Bermuda. The hurricane appeared as a tightly packed cluster of fluffy white clouds circled about the storm's eye.

For the first time in a week, the astronauts got some time off to relax. The five men and two women had been splitting 12-hour work shifts since the mission began Sept. 12.

NASA engineers, after analyzing the peeling thermal blanket on the rudder of Endeavour, concluded the damage would pose no threat during the shuttle's return to Earth.

County manager to Lake Mary: Boulevard deadline may be met

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY — Construction on Lake Mary Boulevard remains at a standstill. But officials are still optimistic about reaching the original completion date of June 14, 1993.

At the request of city officials, Seminole County Manager Ron Rabun and Director of Public Works Larry Sellers, addressed the Lake Mary City Commission meeting Thursday night to explain the situation with negotiations.

"I am in constant contact with attorney David Daly," he said. "He represents the firm which holds the surety bonds on the Boulevard project."

Rabun explained, "The work stoppage isn't the fault of the County or the City of Lake Mary. It was caused by economic difficulties from the private contractor, John Mahoney Construction."

"I am constantly stressing my interest and impatience in getting this job back underway," he said. "I do know the bonding company has been in contact with some local companies who do road construction, and I hope they can reach an agreement and assign the project to one of them because we certainly don't want to go through another 90-day delay while we re-advertise for bids on the project."

Rabun said the original reconstruction contract would have expired on June 16. "Mahoney's people have the job about 70 percent completed at this time," he said, "and I believe if we can get someone back on the job soon, we can still meet the deadline."

"Daly told me there is a good possibility we would have work underway by this November," Rabun said, "but I told him I would not be satisfied with November, the only thing I would be satisfied with is tomorrow."

Lake Mary City Manager John Litton explained some of the problems presently affecting Boulevard businesses and motorists. "The undergirding of the conduit, which is part of Lake Mary's involvement, is about 95 percent complete at this time," he said, "but I understand there has now been some damage done and at the present time I have no idea of the cost of the damages or who might be liable."

"We also have deep ditches which are traffic hazards, as well as pipe coverings which stick up above the surface level," he added.

"In addition to calling the bonding agent, I am contacting others as well," Rabun said. "I know I can't force them to respond, but I hope to have some answers within the next few weeks."

Sellers added, "Safety is going to be a constant concern. Our staff is out every day conducting a check. If we don't see movements toward obtaining a contractor within a week or so, we will be sending out County crews to fill in some of the ditches and try to resolve other safety hazards."

Rabun and Sellers were scheduled early in the City Commission meeting. After they had concluded their remarks and left the chambers, a number of citizens arrived to discuss the problems further.

Recycling in county off for second month

By J. MARK BANFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Seminole County recycling efforts dropped for the second straight month in August.

A total of 6.7 million pounds of recyclable materials and yard waste were separated from household and business garbage during the month, according to a county report released Thursday. The amount is down more than 5 percent from the 7.1 million lbs. collected in July and 30 percent from the amount collected June, 9.6 million lbs.

The county tracks the amount and types of garbage collected throughout the county in an effort to meet the state's garbage reduction goal of 30 percent by 1995.

In the unincorporated areas of the county, curbside recycling dropped from about 1.9 million lbs. in July to about 1.1 million lbs. last month. Yard waste disposal dropped from 677,120 lbs. in July to 585,680 lbs. in August.

Sanford residents actually increased their recycling efforts by about 6 percent last month. In July, 135,220 lbs. of recyclable materials were collected. In August, 142,900 lbs. were collected. Yard waste collections in the city grew from 720,580 lbs. in July to 774,320 lbs. in August.

In Lake Mary, curbside recycling increased from 50,110 lbs. in July to 62,111 lbs. in August. Lake Mary yard waste disposal was mowed down from 150,100 lbs. in July to only 70,880 lbs. in August.

Longwood recycling efforts crept up from 95,911 lbs. in July to 96,177 lbs. last month. Longwood yard waste collections plummeted from 276,960 lbs. in July to 82,960 lbs. in August.

Vols halt Gators

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. — Heath Shuler ran for two touchdowns and passed for another Saturday to lead No. 14 Tennessee to a 31-14 upset of No. 4 Florida.

The Vols (3-0 overall, 2-0 Southeastern Conference) got scoring runs of 11 and 8 yards from Shuler, one of 15 yards from James "Little Man" Stewart, and a 66-yard touchdown pass from Shuler to Mose Phillips to end Florida's SEC winning streak at 11.

The Gators (1-1 overall and SEC) lost for the second time in 16 league games since Steve Spurrier became the coach. The other defeat was a 45-3 thrashing at the hands of Tennessee, also in Knoxville.

Florida's famed Fun 'n Gun offense was effective mostly for shooting itself in the foot most of the day. The Gators were penalized 12 times, punted nine times, and managed what is for them an anemic 278 total yards of offense.

Florida was hampered by the loss of star runner Ernie Rhee for most of the game with an injury. He carried 11 times for 34 yards, half of the Gators' total for the game.

Ward leads Noles

RALEIGH, N.C. — Charlie Ward shook off a slow start and yet another interception to pass for three long touchdowns and No. 3 Florida State continued its early-season roll through the ACC with a 34-13 victory over No. 16 North Carolina State on Saturday.

The Seminoles (3-0 overall and in the Atlantic Coast Conference) had 13 yards of offense with about six minutes left in the opening half as the Wolfpack (3-1, 1-1) dominated early and led 3-0.

But Ward, who threw his ninth interception of the season in the first quarter and missed on his first five passes, recovered in Florida State's final two drives of the half.

Ward, fifth in the nation in total offense and the ACC leader averaging 332 yards a game, completed seven of eight passes for 150 yards in the two drives.

Canes whitewash FAMU

MIAMI — Even with Gino Torretta and Kevin Williams sidelined before halftime Saturday, the top-ranked Miami Hurricanes eased past Florida A&M, 38-0.

Miami (2-0) increased the nation's longest winning streak to 20 games. Division I-AA Florida A&M slipped to 2-1.

The city's first football game since Hurricane Andrew drew a crowd of 74,392, including 3,277 military personnel helping South Florida's recovery effort. The troops did the wave, and most stayed until the end of the game.

The Hurricanes' defenders, who have posted nine consecutive scoreless quarters at the Orange Bowl, allowed the Rattlers just 92 yards of total offense.

Torretta completed 12 of 22 passes for 170 yards, including touchdowns of 10 and 5 yards to Lamar Thomas. No. 2 quarterback Frank Costa, drawing something more than mop-up duty for the first time, hit eight of 16 passes for 95 yards, and freshman Ryan Collins threw a 2-yard touchdown pass to Kevin Kirkeide.

Stephen McGuire, Miami's leading rusher the past two seasons, carried 13 times for 40 yards in his first game since undergoing knee surgery last November.

Tribe hammers visting DeLand

By DEAN SMITH
Herald Sports Writer

SANFORD — Oof. Crash. Ouch. Bam. No this is not an old Batman television series rerun. It was the sounds coming from the DeLand Bulldogs Friday night at Thomas E. Whigham Stadium.

The home-standing Fighting Seminoles not only beat DeLand, they hurt DeLand, as the Tribe forced seven turnovers in crushing the Bulldogs 38-3.

Last week's season opening loss to Lyman seemed to inspire Seminole as they physically manhandled a large DeLand squad right from the opening kickoff.

"There were some kids (from DeLand) wanting out of the game tonight," said Seminole head coach Emory Blake. "The kids were really hungry tonight. I give most of the credit to Bill Berry (defensive coach), the defense had a great game."

A great game indeed. The Tribe defense forced DeLand to fumble the ball nine times and Seminole came up with the ball five times. They also grabbed two interceptions and held the Bulldogs to only four yards of total offense, including a minus-38 running the ball. In the second half, DeLand had a net total of minus-five yards of total offense.

But despite the impressive performance, Berry and his defensive assistant Bill Cughill both

Pats use special plays to nip Rams

LAKE MARY — In a game that featured a season's worth of offensive highlights, a defensive player was the trump card.

J.D. Russell, a mainstay of the Lake Brantley defensive backfield, took a lateral from quarterback Jeff Shaw and threw a 57-yard touchdown pass to Chris Gray with 29 seconds left to give the Patriots a thrilling 20-17 come-from-behind win over Lake Mary Friday night.

The victory gives Lake Brantley (2-0) an early advantage in the 5A-District 4 race, tying the Patriots with the Lyman Greyhounds at 1-0 in the district. Lake Mary is now 1-1, 0-1 in the district.

Next week, Lake Brantley hosts Lake Howell in another district and Seminole Athletic Conference contest while Lake Mary hosts defending 4A-District 7 champion Edgewater.

"Chris (Gray) is my best friend," said Russell, who started five games as quarterback for Lake Brantley as a sophomore. "We throw the ball around all the time. I knew that if I could get it there, he'd catch it."

It was the second trick play pulled off by the Patriots, normally one of the more offensively conservative teams in the county. Earlier in the fourth quarter, Shaw, Russell and Joe Pagan ran the book-and-ladder, Shaw completing a five-yard pass to Russell, who immediately pitched to Pagan as he sprinted by.

"They (Lake Mary) shut us down so well. It looked like they had our playbook," said an emotional Fred Almon, head coach of the Patriots. "I was saving that play (the double

Tiebreaker gives Lyman win over Lions

By BILL KERNS

OVIDO — When a deadly pattern develops, somewhere down the line the piper looms with the sharp axe of fate.

In a thriller that may become known as one of the best games of the Seminole Athletic Conference football season, home-standing Oviedo committed one too many mistakes Friday night as Lyman burned the Lions 32-26 in their first possession of the Texas Tiebreaker.

Oviedo, now 1-1, missed three extra points and lost three fumbles in finishing tied with Lyman 26-26 after regulation. The Lions won the right to strike first in the Texas Tiebreaker, in which each team has four downs to score from the 10 yard line, taking turns until someone scores. But Oviedo promptly lost another fumble.

"We just made too many mistakes," said Oviedo head coach Jack Blanton. "We should have made our extra points and field goals."

Lyman quarterback Todd Cleveland then faked to running back Dallas Simpson, who rushed for 120 yards in the game, and swept to his left for the win.

Cleveland's dash capped a fitful contest that saw Oviedo climb back from trailing 20-7 to tie the score. Lyman made it 26-20, but had the extra point blocked. Oviedo crossed the end zone and tied it again before missing another extra point, as well as a field goal with 0:11 seconds left.

Four speedsters had over 100 yards rushing, including Bobby Washington (175 yards, two touchdowns) and Simpson (120 yards, one touchdown) for Lyman as well as Leon Lowman

Hey, Bulldog Harvey to work in Venezuelan league

By TONY BOGOMMER

SANFORD — It's hard to imagine, but Randy Harvey said he found his true calling while engaged in a heated argument.

"I was working for Wes Rinker at Sanford Memorial Stadium about eight years ago," recalled Harvey, a 31-year-old graduate of Seminole High School. "The United States Olympic baseball team was in town and they were going to play the Canadian national team in an exhibition game."

"The day of the game, Wes told me that I was doing the game behind the plate, even though I had never umpired before."

Things were going smoothly until the fourth inning. "I missed a pitch right down the middle of the plate," said Harvey, laughing at the memory. "The Canadian coach jumped all over me. While we were arguing, I fell

What to do in an emergency

Many of us enjoy water-related sports and we all need to know what to do in case of an emergency.

Jellyfish and Portuguese Man-of-War stings are very common here in Florida. The recommended treatment is to splash the affected area with rubbing alcohol, an ammonia/water solution, or baking soda/water solution. Next, sprinkle the area with Adolph's unseasoned meat tenderizer. The tenderizer detoxifies the poison. An antihistamine such as Benadryl helps to reduce the swelling and inflammation, as does commercially available cortisone.

Sea urchin spines or stingray barbs pose a more serious health threat than the stings mentioned above. The poison injected by the ray through the barb of its tail can be highly infectious. To relieve the immediate pain associated with such an injury, soak the area in a solution of hot water and Betadine for a half-hour or longer, making sure that the solution is replenished with hot water. If warm fresh water is not available, the wound can be constantly irrigated with vinegar and water. This helps to detoxify the wound and reduce pain.

The same type of treatment is suggested for anyone who mishandles or steps on a sea urchin and breaks off its spines in their hand or foot. Sea urchin spines contain a toxic poison, and it is necessary for a doctor to remove any which are imbedded. You will also need an antibiotic and as with all injuries which pierce the skin, have an up-to-date tetanus booster.

Very few anglers have escaped the barbs of a catfish and the resulting pain of such an injury. The area should be soaked in hot water and Betadine or vinegar and water for at least half an hour. This will help to reduce the pain and reduce the inflammation.

prove as temperatures gradually fall. Bass are still primarily in deep water or heavy cover, but they will soon begin to roam in search of food as they fatten up for the rigors of spawning.

Sebastian Inlet has been good for snook on the outgoing tides. Big live shrimp and baitfish are the top offerings, but jigs and a wide variety of lures will also work. Flounder, jack crevalle, ladyfish and a few tarpon are also being caught.

Captain Jack at Port Canaveral reports that high seas have kept boats in port. Offshore fishing has been slow, except for small king mackerel and wahoo. Swarms of barracuda have only added insult to injury. Flounder and mangrove snapper are hitting finger mullet inside the Port. Redfish are rated as good on the flats of the Banana and Indian Rivers and in the south end of Mosquito Lagoon.

Ponce Inlet has been very rough with strong easterly winds. Consult the marine forecast before planning a trip to this dangerous spot. Flounder are hitting on the south side of the south jetties, while sheepshead are biting all over the inlet on live shrimp or fiddler crabs.

In love with it (being an umpire).
It didn't take long for Harvey — fondly and respectfully known as "Bulldog" — to become one of the area's top diamond arbiters, working local high school and college games. He also called games for the now defunct Senior Professional Baseball League.

Two years ago, when the Major League Baseball umpires staged a short walkout, Harvey's ability received the highest recognition when he was selected to work the season-opening game between the Detroit Tigers and New York Yankees.

This winter, Harvey will once again get a chance to umpire professional games.
"I've been invited to go to Caracas, Venezuela, to umpire in the professional winter league there," Harvey said, noting that the teams in the league are stacked with Major League Baseball players who are sent down to work out their game before spring training opens in February.

Just as young professionals are trying to catch the eye of their parent club with a good showing in the winter leagues, Harvey is hoping that he will attract the attention of Major League umpire officials.

"The more games I do, the greater the chance for someone to see me," said Harvey. "I'm trying to broaden my horizons and improve my game."

"I applied to do games for the Southeastern Conference (SEC) this year, but I'm going to hold off on that and apply again next year. Everything I do is to try and get me to a higher level of baseball."

The first thing Harvey had to learn when he embarked on a career as a baseball umpire was to hold his temper when a coach would get in his face for blowing a call, such as calling a pitch right down the middle of the plate a ball.

"They always called me 'Quick Trigger,'" said Harvey. "But I learned that I have to be able to accept some criticism. Once I learned that, I became a better umpire."

Working in Harvey's favor is the imposing figure of his 6-foot, 220-pound frame, which cuts down on the number of confrontations.

One night, Harvey was doing the bases during a game between Lyman and Bamberg-Eikhart (S.C.). The Bamberg coach disagreed with a close call at first base and came charging out of the dugout. But when he looked up and saw Harvey standing there, arms crossed and waiting, he opted to return to the dugout.

Even though he has not attended an umpire's school — the primary way for an aspiring umpire to get selected to work professional baseball games in the Major and Minor leagues — Harvey hopes that the impending expansion of the National League will also create a need for more umpires.

"There's no telling what might happen," he said. "An umpire might get sick or get injured. Sometimes it's just being in the right place at the right time."

"I have to thank Don Trawick and Tony Manera (of the Orange Baseball Association)," said Harvey. "They showed me what I needed to do if I was going to be successful as an umpire."

Harvey also said that he's been very fortunate to work for individuals who respect his dream of becoming a professional umpire and work with him to arrange his schedule so that he can get out on the field whenever possible.

"The staff at Wilson-Eichelberger Mortuary, especially the owner, Miss Eunice Wilson, have been wonderful," Harvey said. "Any time I needed to go, they backed me."

"Mr. Don Smith, the principal at Lake Mary High School, also works with me. I'm taking my vacation time to go to Venezuela, but he's the one that's letting me go."

Then there are the really important people in his life.

"I love a lot to my grandparents, Oscar and Lillie Merthie," Harvey said. "They taught me to do what it takes to be successful."

Women's 111st, running a time of 32:37.47 to finish better than one-minute ahead of Holly Heath, who completed the course in a time of 33:55.56. Angie Waters finished third in 34:23.13.

The other big winner Saturday was Peter Stapp, who ran a 12:20.28 to take the 2-mile Fun Run. Greg Stake was second and Bradley Goemmel third.

The race featured a race within a race as awards were also given out to the top three finishers in 11 different age groups, for both men and women.

The 13-and-Under winners were Sean Claffey for the boys and Candie Gardner for the girls.

Other winners were: John Tasso and Tremini L. Jones (19-24); Greg Wingate and Kim McCollum (25-29); Craig Van Slyke and Monika Cerro (30-34); Todd Boring and Sue Sofkianis (35-39); John Nolan and Shirley Budd (40-44); Phil Little and Barbara Miller (45-49); Bob Bazzetti and Mary Ellen Cole (50-54); Dave Young (55-59); David Long and Yuko Hudak (60-64); Sam Maxwell and Pepper Davis (Over-65).

Darters run past Silver Hawks

By RYAN ANDERSON
Herald Correspondent

WINTER PARK—The Lake Howell Silver Hawks and the Apopka Blue Darters picked up where they left off last year with the Blue Darters crushing the Silver Hawks 42-12 in a non-District non-Conference game Friday night at Richard T. Evans Field.

This has been a rough season for the Silver Hawks with two tough losses coming at the hands of two of the top four Orange County teams (the Silver Hawks lost to Winter Park 40-13).

"What a way to start the season, playing Winter Park and Apopka," Lake Howell coach Mike Blacaglia said. "We are looking forward to beginning our district play next week against Lake Brantley. We are going to be ready for that."

The Silver Hawks' problems started on their first drive which pretty much set the tone for the remainder of the game. After fielding the kick off at their own 24-yard line, the Silver Hawks were forced to punt four plays later. Chet King's punt was then blocked by Steve Quiles and the Blue Darters took over with first and goal on the Lake Howell 8-yard line.

The Silver Hawks were able to get a drive going late in the first half penetrating down to the Blue Darter 20. But the field goal attempt by King as time expired hit the left upright and at the end of the first half the Silver Hawks trailed 21-0, unable to get any sustained drives going against the Apopka defense.

The Silver Hawks came back strong in the second half forcing a Blue Darter fumble and then ran it back 20 yards. The Silver Hawk offense took over with first and goal on the three.

Lake Howell scored on the next play with a run up the middle by Jackson Patkus. King's extra point attempt was blocked making it 21-6 Apopka.

On the ensuing kick off Marlon Coley ran the ball 98-yards into the end zone all but deflating the Silver Hawks.

The Silver Hawks fumbled on their first play after the kick off and the Blue Darters capitalized with a touchdown four plays later, increasing their lead to 38-6 with 7:45 left in the third quarter.

The Silver Hawks next score came on a six-yard run by Maurice Smith. The two-point conversion failed and it was 42-12 Apopka.

Both teams played defensive tug-of-war for the remainder of the game with neither team being able to score.

The Silver Hawks (0-2) will play Lake

Brantley (2-0) next Friday at Tom Storey Field.

Lake Mary

pass). I told the officials at the beginning of the game that we were probably going to run it, but I didn't want to break it out too soon.

"This is one of the finest football games I've been a part of in the last five years."

The loss left Lake Mary coach Doug Peters wondering how his team could have accumulated 280 yards of offense, be called for only two penalties, turn the ball over only once and, for the exception of a 78-yard scoring run by Jeff Butler on the Patriots' first offensive play, contain the Lake Brantley flexbone attack, yet still lose.

"It was a great football game," admitted Peters. "Olive Fred (Almon) credit. He's beaten me three years in a row. They always do a great job against us."

After Butler's touchdown rumble through the heart of the Lake Mary defense, the Ram offense dominated much of the next three quarters as quarterback Jason Rasmussen sliced up the Patriot backfield for 143 yards on 14-42-30 passing.

Lake Mary missed the score when Peters' five catches, 92 yards) broke free following a pick-and-roll with teammate Mike Werner and caught a 45-yard aerial pass from Rasmussen with 6:22 left in the second quarter.

Five minutes later, Al Holt cut inside of two Lake Brantley defenders to catch a 21-yard scoring pass from Rasmussen. Chad Kesler's two extra point kicks gave the Rams a 14-7 advantage at halftime.

After the Ram defense opened the third quarter by forcing the Patriots to punt after six plays, Rasmussen continued his surgery, hooking up with Werner on a 33-yard pass before connecting with Holt on a 34-yard play that gave the Rams' first and goal from the Lake Brantley 1-yard line.

From there, Lake Mary tried to hammer it in. But the Patriots, who limited the Rams to 38 yards rushing on 28 attempts for the game, didn't yield an inch, forcing Kesler to come on and try an 18-yard field goal from a very wide angle, the kick sailing just wide to the right.

"We should have scored during that series," said Peters. "We had the opportunity and didn't score. You can't do that against Lake Brantley."

Buoyed by the defensive stand, Lake Brantley spent the next seven minutes marching down field (it was the only Patriot offensive series that lasted more than six plays) and scored with 10:38 left in the game as Butler (27 carries, 174 yards) bulled in from the 3-yard line.

But when Tim LeCroix's kick on the point after went wide right, the Rams still led, 14-13.

They stretched that lead to 17-14 when Kesler kicked a 47-yard field goal with 4:13 left in the game.

Lake Brantley tried to counter quickly, passing the ball downfield and using the Shaw-Russell-Pagan trifecta to get down inside the Lake Mary 20-yard line, only to have the drive end when Shaw stumbled and fumbled on the Ram 18.

Once again, the Patriot defense rose to the occasion, forcing Lake Mary to punt after three plays and giving the offense the ball at the Lake Brantley 47 with 54 seconds left to play. After Shaw was nearly intercepted, he flipped a lateral down to Russell, who relayed it to Gray.

kickoff to the Lake Mary 40, Rasmussen completed passes to Kuc and Werner before Dexter Graham carried the ball to the Patriot 38.

Kesler came in to attempt a potential game-tying, 81-yard field goal. It had plenty of distance, but hooked to the left as time expired.

Patriots run away with Lakes Classic

From Staff Reports

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS - In what amounted to little more than a training run, the Lake Brantley Patriots made almost a clean sweep of The Lakes Classic cross country meet Friday afternoon at Lake Brantley High School.

Running on their home course, the Patriots won both the varsity boys and girls team titles, the junior varsity girls' title and all the individual championships except for the varsity girls.

"We're still in the early stages of our training," said Lake Brantley coach Charles Harris. "We're working hard. We're content about our races, but we're not complacent about our training."

Breaking up Lake Brantley's bid for perfect was Seminole's Carolyn Hubbard, who won the girls' race in 12:59. The Bishop Moore junior varsity boys outpointed Lake Brantley 126-132 for the team trophy.

In order to expedite matters, the meet was run in two races. A school's top six finishers were considered the team's varsity finishers with all the rest going toward a junior varsity score.

Danielle Leaf (second, 13:19) led the Patriots to an eight-point victory over Lake Mary, 34-42. They were followed by Lake Howell (93), Bishop Moore (127) and Oviedo 142. Seminole and Edgewater did not have team scores.

Christina Olson, who came in third at 13:23, was Lake Mary's top finisher while Linn Hald (13th, 14:24) led Lake Howell. First across the finish line for Oviedo was Ashley Radkevich (14th, 14:27).

In the junior varsity girls' competition, Chrissy Yutoasdi finished 15th overall (14:28) to pace Lake Brantley (129), Lake Howell (168) and Lake Mary (168) were the only other schools to field junior varsity teams.

Brian Lucyk led a string of five Patriots across the line in the boys' race, covering the three-mile distance in 18:24. Not only did Lake Brantley sweep the top five places, the Patriots had six in the top seven.

Bishop Moore was second (46) ahead of Oviedo (74), Scott Thelen (11th, 18:28) and Ryan Thompson (12th, 18:36) were the top finishers for the Oviedo boys' varsity.

Sieve Caldwell came in 14th (18:39) to pace Lake Brantley's junior varsity squad while J.P. Green (23rd, 20:01) was the top finisher for the Oviedo junior varsity (151).

Toasting best speaker

Sanford Daybreakers Toastmaster of the Day, Gus Ormberg, recently presented the Table Topic trophy to Marion Reithwell as president Lester Reithwell assisted.

The Table Topic was Labor Day. Participants outlined the best and worst jobs, best boss, first job and job-related anecdotes.

Marion won the trophy by telling what she likes about her present job. She is retired.

The Daybreakers Toastmasters Club meets every second and fourth Thursdays at Christos, 107 W. 1st St., Sanford at 7 a.m.

Guests are always welcome.

Educators and artists named

By MARVA HAWKINS

The Arts and Education Committee in conjunction with the "I Dream A World" exhibit paid tribute to African-American women in the arts recently. Several Seminole County educators and artists were honored.

A collaborative dramatic production that captured the literary minds of poets, playwrights and storytellers was also presented.

The script was written by Vicki-Elaine Felder, directed and edited by Ronita Sanders. The production was produced by Jackie Perkins and Eddy K. Walden, two phenomenal, extraordinary women who had a dream that enabled local professionals like Patricia M. Hitchmon to bring the portraits of black women in the performing and visual arts to life. Hitchmon again starred in the presentation of the recognition that was paid to the African-American women of Central Florida and Seminole County who are constantly making significant contributions to enhance our lives, particularly in the fields of art and education.

Tajiri Arts repertory and apprentice group presented "One Moment in Time," which paid tribute to those honored this past Sunday at the Orange County Historical Museum. The dynamic talents of Pat Hitchmon, Vicki-Elaine Felder, Valada Flewellyn, Winifred King, Ronita Sanders and Katrina Webster were presented again yesterday.

Navyman John L. Boatwright is a crewman aboard the newly commissioned USS Ashland. The amphibious assault ship recently took part in Hurricane Andrew relief efforts. Boatwright, 22, joined the Navy in 1991.

MIAMI — Arriving at the Port of Miami on September 3, the Navy's newest amphibious warship was already an old hand at providing disaster relief. The USS Ashland, an amphibious dock landing ship, steamed to south Florida having provided assistance to the local population at Eleuthera Island in the Bahamas. That island was also ravaged by Hurricane Andrew's 140 to 160 mph winds and torrential rains.

John L. Boatwright, the son of David and Carolyn Boatwright, and son-in-law of Bill and Melody Kennedy, all of Sanford, is a crewman aboard the newly commissioned Ashland. The ship had just completed its initial shakedown training at Naval Station, Guantanamo Bay, Cuba before being diverted to join the six ship Navy task force sent to South Florida.

Although Boatwright had heard the news reports from Florida, he admitted he was still unprepared, after docking in Miami, for the enormity of the damage he saw around him. "The U.S. Navy is one hundred percent behind this relief effort," he said.

According to Ashland's commanding officer, Commander D.W. Keith, the ship was loaded with materials that had been used in assisting Haitian migrants, once temporarily sheltered at the Navy's base in Cuba. The supplies, which were headed back to the United States for return to storage were put to a more immediate use in South Florida.

Boatwright, a 1990 graduate of Seminole High School, noted that an advantage of sending a naval vessel, like the Ashland, to the scene of a natural disaster is that his ship is self-supporting. Capable of making its own water and power, and having on-board communications technology, a naval vessel does not require assistance from shore for support services. It does not place an added burden on an area already struggling to restore even basic services to its residents.

Boatwright added that the able-bodied and technically trained crew could also provide badly needed manpower to assist with relief operations.

Although the opportunity to participate in humanitarian missions was not in the forefront of Boatwright's thoughts when he joined the Navy in 1991, he soon realized that missions of this sort were nothing new for the sea service.

In the recent past Navy men and women have assisted, to name only a few instances, in the cleanup of Hurricane Hugo and the San Francisco earthquake. In the attempt to protect the Kurds during Operation Provide Comfort and in the relief work that followed the eruption of Mt. Pinatubo in the Philippines. Even as Hurricane Andrew operations got underway, on the other side of the world, Navy people were assisting the people of Guam as they dug out from the excesses of Typhoon Omar.

There's no place like home for city's 'main ambassador'

By DEL FREEMAN
Herald Correspondent

SANFORD — The first smiling face many developers and individuals who seek to build in Sanford come into contact with is that of Bettie Sonnenberg, the City of Sanford's Land Development Coordinator. She is, according to her boss, Jay Marder, "the city's main ambassador to the hands-on development community."

She is also the city's employee of the month for September.

Bettie came to work for the city in 1981 in the utilities department, she says, and her position just sort of evolved into the current one. She has been involved in minimum housing codes and zoning since shortly after coming to work for the city, when she was transferred to the building department.

involves determining what trees may be preserved and which ones removed in any development, either by builder or individual. She has a criteria, she says, and takes into account such factors as the type and health of the tree, and whether it is a lone growth or one of many. In a unique situation where she may be unsure, she has several departments within the city upon which she can call for assistance and advice.

Bettie is well-versed in her job requirements, and says she's taken seminars and such over the years to improve her ability and expand her knowledge. Her background of many years ago in drafting has been an added plus, she says.

Bettie is a Florida native, having lived in Miami before relocating to Sanford, and says she is proud and pleased with the approach Sanford has taken to development, and believes it will save this community from the over-growth and under-development of infrastructure sustained by so many Florida cities.

She's glad to be in Sanford, she says, because it simply means home to her.

"It's been an ideal place to raise children, and it has been an area of old time Florida which I can appreciate," she says. "We're trying to preserve some of that unhurried character of

WEDDINGS

Hardman, Royster announce marriage

SYLVA, N.C. — Allison Hardman and Keith Marshall Royster are announcing their marriage today. They were married Aug. 1, 1992, noon, at First Baptist Church, Sylva, N.C. Dr. John Bunn officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Winston and Carol Hardman of Sylva, N.C. and the groom is the son of William and Amelia Royster of Sanford.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her vows a formal gown of candlelight silk featuring short princess sleeves, fitted dropped waist, and bodice embellished with Venetian lace and pearls. The full skirt was edged with pearls. A band of silk flowers held her fingertip illusion veil. She carried a cascading bouquet of pink and white roses.

The church was decorated with foliage and wildflowers native to North Carolina. A set of spiral candelabra, featuring long tapers, was filled with cascading multicolored floral arrangements. A chamber group from Asheville, N.C. performed music for the wedding ceremony.

Dianne Jagdmann of Melbourne Beach, Fla. served as maid of honor. She wore a tea-length dress of floral pastel with dropped waist and full skirt enhanced by a bow at the back of the waist. She carried a spring bouquet of multicolored flowers.

Bridesmaids were Audrey Wilhite, Apple Valley, Minn., cousin of the bride; Sue Concolitti, Raleigh, N.C.; Clarissa Crockett, Charlotte, N.C.; Susanne McNeill, Raleigh, N.C.; and Sabra Queen of Raleigh, N.C. Their dresses and flowers were identical to the honor attendant's.

Gregory Royster of Sanford, brother of the groom, served as best man. Groomsmen were Bill Hardman, Sylva, N.C., bride's brother; Brian Bice, Statesboro, Ga., groom's cousin; David Farr, Sanford; Alex Fiquier, Sanford; and Derek Wilcox, Longwood.

A reception luncheon was held after the wedding ceremony at Frysmont Inn, Bryson City, N.C. Guests attending from Sanford and the area were Ron and Lois Dycus, Bruce and Linda McKibbin, Thad and Jennifer (McKibbin) Hawkes, Kirby and Lynda Moncrief, Katie and Leigh Moncrief, David and Gina Farr, Miss Debbie Farr, Miss Jennifer

Their love story is romantic tale

There was never a more radiant bride-to-be than Mabel Chapman. In fact, Mabel is so radiant, she glows.

Her love story is straight from the pages of a romantic fairy tale. In fairy tales the brides are usually very young when Prince Charming comes along to sweep them off their tiny feet.

But Mabel, who has never been married at age 70, waited for many years for her Prince Charming, Horace Thomas of Orlando, to re-enter the picture. She had already retired several years back after teaching in Seminole County schools for 34 years.

As the love story goes, Mabel and Horace, retired military, dated for about three years in the '50s and then broke up. After his wife's death, Horace started a diligent search for Mabel, but didn't have to go far. She was still in Sanford and the original spark was rekindled to the tune of wedding bells.

A young bride was never more lovely than Mabel when she was honored Sept. 10 at a bridal luncheon in the private dining room of Holiday Inn, Sanford Marina. She arrived wearing a crisp white dress featuring cutwork embroidery detail, complemented with pearl jewelry.

Hostesses for the festive gathering were: Mildred Coker, Lucy Fitzgerald, Jean Leonard and Frieda Tyre. They presented the honoree with a wedding candle, a blue garter and a calendar of humorous daily events for the bride and groom. Mabel shared some of these events to the delight of the guests.

Spring flowers decorated the U-shaped table arrangements. Each guest's place was marked with a card and a miniature silver basket of white chocolate confections.

Jean Leonard entertained the guests with a humorous reading before Mabel opened her gift and told the guests all about her bridegroom-to-be.

Guests were served an attractive plate including turkey salad, deviled eggs, assorted fruits, croissants, coffee, tea and rainbow sherbet.

Invited guests were: Virginia Anza, the bride's sister from Uruguay, South America, Kit Bedell, Marl Briggs, Edith Meyers, Jo McDaniel, Rubye King, Selma Williams, Lottie Echols, Nancy Terwilliger, Dot Waller, Gienna Brockman, Isabel Wilson, Clayda Jones, Joyce Sawyers, Jean Norris and Betty Doyle.

An October wedding is planned at the First United Methodist Church followed by a reception.

Maria turns 93

Maria King, a former resident of Sanford, celebrated her 93rd birthday last week. The spry little lady, now a resident of Winter Park Care Center, was honored by Lottie and Lamar Echols at the Red Lobster on BR 436, Altamonte Springs.

Maria was born in Honduras and was adopted and brought to the USA when she was 13. She is the mother of the late Lucilla Echols and is now the legal ward of Lamar. A lot of responsibility for Maria's care has fallen on Lottie's shoulders which she carries like a real trooper. Lottie says she is happiest doing for others.

During her younger years, Maria's home was always open to children. She transported kids back and forth to school and ran the canning kitchen at Oviedo for many years.

Lottie and Lamar Echols invited longtime friends of Maria to come help her celebrate. "She just had a ball," Lottie said.

The beautifully decorated birthday cake featured the top as a woven basket filled with pink rosebuds and daisies. Many friends sent cards and gifts. Friends attended from Orlando, Oviedo and Tampa.

"Just Because" luncheon

A group of friends gathered recently at Pasta Lovers, Heathrow, "Just Because" to celebrate the beginning of the fall season and to stay in touch while sharing news of happenings in their lives.

Following luncheon, they toured the interesting and exciting display of Italian furnishings and artifacts being featured at the Heathrow complex.

Enjoying the social gathering were: DeLores Lash, Martha Yancey, Jeri Kirk, Bill Glew, Liz Helfrich, Nellie Coleman, Lourine Messenger, Vida Smith, Dorothy McReynolds and Faye Kelly.

Artists to meet

The Sanford-Seminole Art Association is sponsoring a fashion show and luncheon scheduled Friday, Sept. 25 from noon to 1 p.m.

Loan of tape is loss of memories

DEAR ABBY: You had a letter in your "column" from someone who had lent a book to a friend 10 years ago and never got it back. My problem is similar, only it wasn't a book; it was a videotape.

Our children were in a program at their school, so I taped the performance thinking it would be nice to preserve those precious memories.

Well, I haven't seen the tape since I let this friend borrow it. She keeps saying, "I'm so sorry — I promise I'll get it to you soon."

Abby, that was three years ago, and still no tape. I suppose I should resign myself to the loss of that tape. Even if she accidentally recorded over it, erased it or lost it, I wish she would admit it; then I would accept the loss and quit asking her to return it.

One thing is sure. I will never lend a tape again. I will have copies made for friends, but the original will never leave my house!

St. John Metropolitan Missionary Baptist Church

Church continues to make history

St. John Metropolitan Missionary Baptist Church, began making history in May, 1895 and it continues to be a history maker in 1992. The need to make the St. John edifice accessible to the church-worshippers was the reason for the lowering of the church. The miracles of the Master can be seen by all.

The celebration began on Saturday evening when the builder and contractor presented the keys to the pastor for the newly remodeled edifice. The march of celebration, prayer and praise will begin at 10:50 a.m. today at the corner of 10th Street and Cypress. Pastor Robert Doctor, Chairman Herbert Cherry, Trustees Raymond Gaines, Isaacson, laymen, officers and members of the St. John Metropolitan Missionary Baptist Church will march into the church. The community is invited to worship with St. John throughout the celebration.

The homecoming celebration message will be delivered by Pastor Robert Doctor with music under direction of Edward G. Mayo. All choirs will sing. All former members, Christians, and friends are invited to share this homecoming-dedication worship service of praise and thanksgiving for the success of the Master's work.

At 4 p.m., the dedication services will be conducted by the Rev. R.T. Davis of the Second Shiloh Missionary Baptist Church. The Rev. Davis and congregation will be in charge of the services. Pastor Doctor says he is indeed grateful to the officers and members of St. John for their dedication and Christian love shown during the four months of the church remodeling. A special thanks to the Mars Hill Seventh Day Adventist of worship to St. John to have their services weekly. Thanks again to the community of Sanford for the many kindnesses shown and help given in any way.

Partnership meeting set

The Agricultural and Labor Program, Inc. Northern Regional Advisory Council and ACTION of Apopka invites the community to its partnership town meeting for the communities of Seminole, Orange, Lake and Osceola. The agencies will display their services available to the people of the community. The town meeting and community needs meeting will be held Sept. 28 at 7 p.m. at the John H. Bridges Community Center, 458 West 12th St., Apopka.

Jazz lovers unite

To all jazz lovers, Rich Zellan's latin jazz will be presented at Chris's House of Beef, today, September 20, at 8 p.m. Also featured will be Sam Rivers, famous jazz tenor artist; Freddie Navao, master Latin percussionist; Dave Spring, bass; Per Danielsson, keyboards; Barry Smith, drums and Eddie Montez, percussion.

Clinard, Patrick Dougherty, Alex Piquer, John and Judy Wimbish, Miss Melinda Wimbish, Patsy and David Barrett, Columbia, S.C., formerly of Sanford; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Squires, New Smyrna Beach and Mrs. Richard Mills, New Smyrna Beach.

Following a wedding trip to Jamaica, the newlyweds are making their home in Gainesville, Fla. The bride is employed by Alachua County School Board. She is a teacher of mathematics for 4th and 5th graders. The groom is completing studies for a degree in environmental engineering at the University of Florida, Gainesville.

Roberts mark 50 years

Arthur Oswald Roberts (A.O., Osi) and his bride of 50 years, Frances, would marry again if given the choice.

"I would marry her again tomorrow," A.O. declared. "I haven't regretted one second. I wouldn't trade her for all the women in the world."

And, oh, yes, the feelings are mutual. Frances said she "sure would" marry A.O. all over again.

The couple were married Aug. 23, 1942 in McAllen by Judge Frank Dowling and have lived in Sanford for 49 years. The winds of World War II were raging and A.O. was serving in the military. Frances' mother and sister lived in Sanford and she came here to have her first baby.

Later after A.O. was discharged from the military, they settled in Sanford. He went to work for the Atlantic Coastline Railroad where he remained for 37 years until his retirement as an engineer 10 years ago.

Frances retired from the Seminole County School Board in June after working there for 22 years. She was also a substitute teacher.

In celebration of their golden wedding anniversary, Frances and A.O. were honored at a reception at the Sanford home of their son, Mike. Co-hosting the reception were their daughters and husbands Kim and Rick Steele, Fischerville, Va.; and Diane and Merlin Oepfhook, Vanceboro, N.C.

The grandchildren are Mike's children, Jennifer, Jessica, Anna and Bryan; Diane's children, Rachel and Sara; and Kim's children, Brandon, Rebecca and Kevin.

Sharon Winton greeted between 75 and 100 guests at the door who arrived from Virginia, North Carolina and Florida.

The guests of honor received numerous cards and gifts and departed the scene in a decorated car to let the world know they have been married 50 years.

Frances is proud of her 50-year marriage. "You have to respect each other," she said. "Don't expect too much and how won't be disappointed. There has to be a lot of love there...and understanding."

A.O.'s philosophy is: "Marriage is give and take. There are two roads, a rough road and an easy road. It's a togetherness thing — you have to work together. You can't work against each other."

Boatwright said he was proud to be a part of relief effort dubbed "Operation Help From the Sea." Navy ships were part of a larger joint task force operation that has brought more than 20,000 military people to south Florida to help.

Trained as a seaman, Boatwright said, "Assisting in the rebuilding/cleanup effort here makes me realize that all that Navy training is being put towards a good thing."

The Ashland's motto, "Delivery Liberty, Defend Freedom," was put to good use during its part in the relief work. Captain Keith observed, "The motto...applies describes the modern-day mission of Ashland, to be where the nation needs us."

This time the need was in south Florida. USS Ashland is homeported at Little Creek Amphibious Base in Norfolk, Va. Boatwright has served aboard the ship since August of 1991.

Bettie says she knows what it was like growing up in South Florida and what unbridled development has done to that area.

"I'm glad Sanford is doing growth the right way," she says. Bettie and her husband, Bob, are also mindful of those less fortunate in Sanford. They were instrumental in the success of the Grace and Orita mission, a program to feed the needy on Wednesday nights at Holy Cross Episcopal Church. Many churches now participate in the program that stemmed from one in which needy were fed during the cold months. Grace and Orita may expand to more than one night a week.

The City of Sanford is pleased to have Bettie helping them grow the right way, too, and Marder says that "in great part, the timeliness of the city's development process is a tribute to Bettie's diligence in the plans review process. She always accomplishes her work in a professional, yet unassuming and modest way."

YOUR BIRTHDAY
Sept. 20, 1992

Greater success is likely in the year ahead in endeavors you conduct on your own, rather than from those you engage in with others.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If you get involved with friends today who enjoy activities you dislike, your day could be spoiled. Be selective when choosing leisure-time companions. Virgo, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for Virgo's Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $1.25 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) If you approach a difficult objective in an ad-lib fashion today, you might not achieve it. To be successful, you must be consistent and tenacious.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) If you have a captive audience today, do not attempt to impose your views or opinions on it. The individuals will resent your assertiveness and totally turn against what you're espousing.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Usually, you're a generous individual, but today you may be a trifle too self-serving. Unfortunately, you might have to deal with someone equally as selfish.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) A strong-willed associate will see to it to make decisions for you today -- if you do not think for yourself. This could force you to do something you'd rather not.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Participating in frivolous pursuits could be very tempting today, and you might waste a lot of precious time without producing anything of substance.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't introduce imaginary problems into your social involvements today. You could get everyone all stirred up over something they can do nothing about.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You must be careful today that you don't make impulsive

By Bernice Bede Osol
YOUR BIRTHDAY
Sept. 21, 1992

It's to your advantage in the year ahead to seek committee work in an organization with which you're affiliated. Such a position could produce a number of valuable contacts.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Going out on the town with friends today might turn out to be more expensive than anticipated. Better have some back-up funds on hand -- just in case. Major changes are ahead for Virgo in the coming year. Send for Virgo's Astro-Graph predictions today. Mail $1.25 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) An important objective can be achieved today without your having to be too assertive. Try to keep the force you use down to a minimum.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) When socializing with friends today, subdue the temptation to pass on gossip that has yet to be verified. Deal with facts, not hearsay.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) If properly handled, joint efforts can gratify your ambitious aspirations today. But if mismanaged, they could leave everyone trying to protect a personal position.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Unless you know exactly what you want today, there's a strong chance you might end up spinning your wheels. Be both purposeful and methodical.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If you're rendering service for another today, spell out in advance what you expect to be paid for your efforts -- or else there might be a misunderstanding.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) It looks like the marker is going to be called in on an impulsive commitment you recently made. If you fail to keep your word, hard feelings could result.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) This could be a productive day changes where critical objectives are concerned. Your revisions may lack the quality of your initial thoughts.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Your position on politics and religion might be diametrically opposed today to that of an individual with whom you'll be involved. A thoughtful remark could ignite the temper of either party.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Even though you're noted for being a quick thinker who makes snap judgments on important issues, it could be a mistake to have this as your modus operandi in financial affairs today.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) In order to make your agenda more comfortable today, there's a possibility you might rearrange things in a manner that will inconvenience others. Consider everyone's position.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) It's best not to attempt on your own today -- or with inexperienced helpers -- tasks that involve working with unfamiliar materials or tools.

(C)1992, NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.

for you, provided you don't let those who aren't involved in your critical assignments interfere with what you hope to accomplish.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Try to either schedule your day so you can participate in social involvements or dedicate your time to tasks that need immediate attention. Don't attempt to do both.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Funds earmarked for family and household needs will be well-spent today, but if your non-essential extravagant urges control your credit cards, you won't be as equally shrewd.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Individuals who come in contact with you in social situations today will be impressed by your warmth and wit. However, those you have business dealings with may see another side of you.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You'll be inclined to treat others generously today. But if you realize you have done your kind deeds impulsively, you may have giver's remorse later.

By Phillip Alder

Benjamin Disraeli requested, 50 years before his actual death, that he be allowed to die eating ortolans (small game birds) to the sound of soft music.

I doubt he got his wish, but if your contract dies, you should be able to say, "I gave it my all, but it was impossible to make with the best line of play."

South opened two no-trump, showing 20-22 points in the modern style. North used a transfer bid, and South jumped to game because he had an excellent hand for play in spades. North needed no further encouragement to bid a slam.

West led the club jack to dummy's king. At once South noticed the irritating duplication in clubs. Nine high-card points, yet only two tricks. Thinking he needed a 2-2 spade break and the heart finesse to work, South immediately cashed the ace and king of spades. When East discarded a low club, South groaned. Then South led a low heart and finessed the queen. When it held, he said: "That would work, wouldn't it? But I still must lose two major-suit tricks -- one down."

If you had been North, would you have sympathized with your partner? I hope you would at the table, but afterward you might have taken him to task for going down in a cold contract.

When the trump loser is exposed, there is a faint chance for success. After the finesse of the heart queen wins, declarer cashes the heart ace, the club ace and his three diamond winners. Finally, South exits with a trump. Since West started with only two hearts, he is endplayed. On his minor-suit return, dummy's heart loser is discarded while South ruffs.

Write A Want Ad That Sells!

YOUR CLASSIFIED AD works best when it contains what the reader wants to know.

GIVE FACTS
 Put yourself in the buyer's place. What would you want to know? List the item's age, condition, size, brand name, model and approximate value. If you're selling a car, state the type of transmission, mileage (if it's low) and special equipment.

DON'T EMBELLISH:
 It's risky business to exaggerate and it won't increase your chance of success. Misleading information may get a buyer to your home. It may also get you a punch in the nose.

AVOID ABBREVIATIONS:
 While a few abbreviations can save you space, too many of them string together can create confusion. A confused reader won't take time to sort out your meaning.

INCLUDE PRICE:
 Surveys indicate that buyers are more interested in the merchandise when they know the price. This applies to everything from hand saws to home appliances. Good merchandise, priced fairly, is the best guarantee of success.

BE AVAILABLE:
 A telephone number is best if you're at home when your ad runs. If you're not going to be home, state the time you will be. Most people want to call back twice.

USE YOUR TIME:
 Put your name in your ad. It gives credibility to the item you are advertising. You may even get results when someone who has read your ad sees you in a restaurant or walking down the street. That's taking advantage of being in a small community who see you.

ST. JOHNS RIVER WATER MANAGEMENT DISTRICT GIVES NOTICE OF INTENDED AGENCY ACTION
 The District gives notice of its intent to deny the request for a permit by the following applicant(s) on October 12, 1992:
JOSEPH C. SPAULDING, P. O. BOX 10894, CASSEL BERRY, FL 32718, application #2-117-833818. The project is located in Seminole County, Section 22, Township 26 South, Range 26 East. The application is for a STORMWATER MANAGEMENT SYSTEM TO SERVE SPAULDING INDUSTRIAL PARK, II. The receiving waterbody is LAKE JESUP.
 The file(s) containing each of the above listed application(s) are available for inspection Monday through Friday except for legal holidays, 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. at the St. Johns River Water Management District Headquarters or the appropriate field office. The District will take action on each permit application listed above unless a petition for an administrative proceeding (hearing) is filed pursuant to the provisions of section 120.57, F.S., and section 40C-1.011, F.A.C. A person whose substantial interests are affected by any of the District's proposed permitting decisions identified above may petition for an administrative hearing in accordance with section 120.57, F.S. Petitions must comply with the requirements of Florida Administrative Code Rules 40C-1.111 and 40C-1.221 and be filed with (received by) the District Clerk, P.O. Box 1429, Palatka, Florida 32778. Petitions for administrative hearing on the above application(s) must be filed within fourteen (14) days of publication of this notice or within fourteen (14) days of actual receipt of this notice, whichever first occurs. Failure to file a petition within this time period shall constitute a waiver of any right such person may have to request an administrative determination (hearing) under section 120.57, F.S., concerning the subject permit application. Petitions which are not filed in accordance with the above provisions are subject to dismissal.

Sowers graduates with honors

Kevin Lane Sowers, son of William and Jeanette Sowers of Longwood, graduated with honors from Radford University in Radford, Vir. this summer.

He earned a bachelor of science degree in interdisciplinary studies.

Oviedo to offer adult art course

OVIEDO — Oviedo High School, with the help of the school's PTSA will be offering two evening art courses for adults in the community.

Photography in Black and White will be offered Wednesday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m. The class will run from Sept. 30 through Nov. 4.

Clay and Handmade Paper, A Creative Approach will be offered on Tuesdays from 7 to 9 p.m. It will run from Sept. 29 through Nov. 3.

The cost of each course is $40, plus $25 to cover the cost of materials. Profit from the course fees will be used to purchase supplies and equipment for the school's art department.

Classes will be limited to 20 participants each. To reserve a place in either course, call 365-5871, ext. 273 or 251.

Moncrief, on deans list, graduates

Susan Kathleen Moncrief of Sanford graduated recently from Georgia Southern University in Statesboro, Ga. with a bachelor of science degree in criminal justice.

Moncrief was also named to the Deans List for the summer quarter. To be eligible for the deans list, a student must have a grade point average of at least a 3.5 on a four-point scale and carry a minimum of 15 hours for the quarter.

Hamilton PTA meeting set

SANFORD — The Hamilton Elementary School PTA will hold its first general meeting on Thursday, Sept. 24 at 7 p.m.

The meeting will be in the school's multi-purpose room. The business meeting will be at 7 p.m. followed by an open house where parents will be allowed to meet the school's new principal David Scott.

Parents will also be allowed to tour the school and see their students' classrooms.

For more information, call David Scott at 322-1864.

Dividends workshops underway

The Dividends school volunteer fall workshops are underway across the district. They are free and open to school volunteers and to the public.

Tuesday, Sept. 22 from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. at Sterling Park Elementary School in Casselberry. Publishing labs will be discussed by presenter Linda Henderson. The district hopes to have every elementary student to have a published work every year. The workshop shows how to set up a publishing lab or to work in an assisting lab.

In October, there will be a Super Scientists workshop for volunteers who want to help science "come alive" for elementary school students by helping with simple science experiments in Kindergarten through fifth grade classrooms.

High school report

Rams excited by Patriots' game

LAKE MARY — This past week, Lake Mary's students and faculty devoted their energies gearing up for one of the year's biggest athletic events.

Everyone has anticipated the Lake Mary vs. Lake Brantley football game since the (Lake Mary) Rams defeated the (Lake Brantley) Patriots by a score of 21-0 in the Spring Jamboree.

But even before then, Lake Mary has anxiously waited and vigorously cheered to avenge last year's 14-13 loss to the Patriots.

Both Lake Mary High and Lake Brantley High held "Spirit Link" contests this week.

Students bought links for a paper chain for 25 cents apiece.

All four classes at each school competed to see which grade had the most spirit.

As it has been in the past, this competition between the two schools was used to encourage healthy, but not malicious rivalry between the two schools.

The Lake Mary High School Leadership class announced that there would be a dress up day to help students get in the proper frame of mind for the game which was on Friday night.

There was an air of excitement around the school in anticipation of the game.

Students, one day during the week, dressed in their pajamas in an effort to demonstrate their belief that the Rams were going to "turn the lights out" on Lake Brantley.

The student government also sold "Real Men Wear Black" t-shirts to commemorate Lake Brantley Week.

On Friday afternoon the Rams' Pep Rally was filmed and will be televised on Cable Vision in the future.

Seniors Shawn Anasasi, Megan Gambill and Niki Letierio appeared on radio station XL 106.7 on Thursday night.

The three represented the school as high school ambassadors.

Seminole parents involved in school

SANFORD — When there are so many things that need to be done at a high school, teachers and administrators can not be asked to do everything.

That is why parents are always encouraged to get involved and support their child's school.

On Monday night, the Sports Boosters, Band Boosters and the PTO (Parent Teacher Organization) met to discuss various topics.

The athletic programs have been hit hard by the budget cuts and the Sports Boosters have raised money to keep the programs alive because without money there would not be any teams for Seminole High's great athletics to play on.

The Booster Club also helps take tickets at the football games, keeps records of the equipment, operates the concession stand, and sells ads to many local sponsors.

The Band Boosters have the same responsibility as the Sports Boosters: making money.

The Band Boosters are presently giving most of their attention to the County Marching Band Festival that they are hosting at the Thomas E. Whigham Stadium.

At the PTO meeting on Monday night, parents and staff voted to affiliate with the state and national PTA association, making Seminole High's organization a PTSA (Parent, Teacher and Student Association).

Students are encouraged to join and participate in the decision making. Parents can join and obtain further information about the school and the PTSA at their open house tomorrow evening.

The week brought many bright occasions for the Seminole High sports fan.

The boys' volleyball team won a match for the first time in about two years. After losing their first game to rival DeLand, they came from behind to win the next two.

All Souls' students: a sweet sell

By VICKI BOGERTMAN
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The students at All Souls Catholic School in Sanford have embarked on their first fundraising activity of the year. And it's a sweet one.

The students have begun selling candy bars throughout the community for $1 apiece.

All of the money from the sale of the pure milk chocolate candy bars will go to the All Souls' Home and School Association, the school's equivalent of a Parent-Teacher Association.

The Home and School Association will use the money to purchase new materials and necessary equipment for the students for the students and for the school, according to John White, the association's publicity chairman.

Students began going door-to-door on Friday afternoon to sell the candy bars.

They also sold the candy from booths set up at all three Sanford Winn-Dixie stores, at the Publix in Sanford, at the Magnolia Mall in Sanford, the Publix in Lake Mary and the Alberson's in Lake Mary yesterday.

They will be at those location again next Saturday, Sept. 26 between 8:30 a.m. and 1 p.m.

The students will be selling the candy throughout the community through Oct. 15.

According to Dr. Margaret Curran, principal of All Souls', the annual candy drive is a very popular fund-raiser.

"People love the chocolate and their purchases certainly help the school," she said.

The school has worked, once again, in conjunction with Subway Subs to offer an additional incentive to purchase the candy bars. Each bar is wrapped in a certificate for a free six inch sandwich with the purchase of a sandwich at participating Subway Subs stores.

"It's a very good deal," said Curran.

White said the students enjoy selling the candy because it is a great product that they know just about everyone likes.

Know Your School:

Woodlands Elementary School

Exciting year expected

LONGWOOD — Laura Sanborn is excited about taking over the principalship at Woodlands Elementary School in Longwood.

"I've always heard such good things about this school," she said. "I've heard about the involved parents and the creative staff. And, it's all true."

Sanborn, who until last year served as assistant principal at Winter Springs Elementary School, said she was excited about the possibilities of what her staff and students could do together.

The students, she added, are for the most part willing and ready to learn.

"They come in ready to work," Sanborn said.

The Dividends program of community volunteers has organized a program that is designed to help students, especially those in the first and second grade, master the skills necessary to get on the road to being good readers.

The as yet unnamed program is staffed by parents and business leaders from the surrounding Longwood community.

"They just work on mastering basic skills with those kids and getting them on track."

The school's PTA has also instituted a program that they call "Care."

The program allows parents to call in and inform the school if their youngster will not be in school on a particular day. Since elementary school do not require parents to call in on a day that they will be absent the program makes it easier for teachers to anticipate absences.

If a parent does not call in and the child is not in school, the parent volunteers will call home to check on the situation.

Parents are involved in making Woodlands a better place for students. The board of directors are president Elaine Ray; Janice Smith, first vice president; Jan Peterson; Kathy Shatlock, corresponding secretary; Shelly Brown, treasurer; and principal Laura Sanborn.
