Shuttle Spacewalkers Retrieve Lost Gear

By Al Rossiter Jr. UPI Science Editor

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — In an unexpected demonstration of the shuttle's rescue capability, spacewalker Bruce McCandless today grabbed a piece of equipment floating in space after Challenger commander Vance Brand maneuvered the ship after it.

The piece, a white foot restraint, had drifted out of the payload bay and was slowly moving away from the shuttle when Brand decided to go after it. McCandless, linked to the ship with a safety line, went to the tail, reached out and captured it.

This occurred after both he and Robert Stewart flew free outside the Challenger with the ship's second jet backpack.

The surprising maneuver came after failure of the shuttle's mechanical arm ruined a key part of the spacewalk rehearsal for the rescue of a satellite in April.

Controllers in Houston, watching on television, applauded when McCandless grabbed the foot restraint.

"We thought it might get away from us so we went and got it as you noticed," Brand said matter of factly. "I guess the procedure works to go get things if they get lost."

The 50-foot robot arm was to have been used to rotate an instrument package to simulate the spinning motion of the sick satellite called Solar Max. McCandless had planned to use the jetpack to match the rotation and then ease to a docking with the satellite stand-in.

Instead, he docked with the shuttle's payload bay, using a docking apparatus mounted on the jetpack's arms to make the hookup. That was a simpler task than what was originally planned.

The pace was a little slower today than on Tuesday and Stewart noted it. It gave him time to enjoy the view.

"I can see cities passing by down there, up there," he said as Challenger passed over the southern United States on its 96th orbit.

Brand told him they should be passing over their homes in Houston soon.

"Really? You're kidding," Stewart said, far more relaxed than he was Tuesday.

"When you're over them why don't you shine your flashlight at them?" another astronaut said.

"God, it's really pretty. It's really neat," Stewart said.

"Hey, I can see stars out here," McCandless said.

"Turn around and look at the towns," Stewart told his colleague.

"Good morning, Houston," McCandless said.

The five astronauts are scheduled to end their eight-day mission at dawn Saturday with the first shuttle landing at the Kennedy Space Center. Weather once again was a concern.

Florida Marine Found Dead

U.S. Warships Unleash 10-hour Barrage Against Rebels

By Steve Hagey

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Weary Beirut residents enjoyed a few hours of quiet early today after a thunderous 10-hour barrage by U.S. warships against Syrian-backed rebels who shelled the capital's eastern sector.

The battleship New Jersey and the destroyer Caron fired more than 550 shells Wednesday at rebel positions east of Beirut in what officials said was the fiercest American naval barrage since the Vietnam war.

A Florida Marine officer was found dead from a gunshot wound in his quarters in the American compound at Beirut airport, but officials could not immediately explain his death.

The Marine was identified as Maj. Alfred L. Butler, 33, of Cocoa, Fla. Butler was a liaison officer to the Lebanese armed forces.

U.S. officials said the bombardment, including the

New Jersey's huge 16-inch guns, was in retaliation for shelling from Druze Moslem gunners in the Syrian-occupied mountains that scored direct hits on the U.S. ambassador's residence and the Lebanese presidential palace in east Beirut.

From Jordan, Lebanon's Druze Moslem militia threatened today to attack American interests in Beirut if U.S. ships off the Lebanese coast do not stop shelling Moslem positions.

Druze chieftain Walid Jumblatt also branded Lebanese President Amrta Gemayel a "damn dictator" and said it would be better for Lebanon if the Americans withdrew entirely and took Gemayel with them.

"The American presence in Lebanon, the multinational force, is no more a so-called peace-keeping mission ...

From California, where President Reagan is vacationing, White House spokesman Larry Spokes warned Syria the pullback of U.S. Marines from Beirut to ships off the Lebanese coast does not lessen U.S. resolve to defend the beleaguered Lebanese government.

"I don't think there should be any misimpression by the government of Syria that there has been any lessening of the determination of the United States government to support the government of Lebanon," White House spokesman Larry Spokes said Wednesday.

Even when the Marines are moved to 6th Fleet ships off Lebanon, "They are there for a very specific purpose. They are there as a contingency," he said, adding that it was possible, but unlikely, the Marines could be sent to Beirut again.

Spokes denied assertions by some relatives of Marine fatalities that the 264 servicemen killed during the tour in Beirut died for a lost cause.

"No," said Spokes. "There have been significant accomplishments there over the period of time the U.S. military has been involved.

"Number one, there has been a departure of the P.L.O. there has been an agreement that Israel withdraw and that has proceeded, and second there has been a commitment to reconciliation on the part of the factions."

Geneva talks on reconciliation have fallen apart since Lebanese President Amin Gemayel convened them last year, but Spokes said the willingness of all parties to even have gone to Geneva was a result of the Marine presence.

"History will not forget the Americans," said a Druze spokesman in the Shouf village of Aley. "Why this American escalation? The Reagan policy has failed, so he's taking his revenge on the poor people."

Cigarette Tax Funds For Jails?

Jail Construction Bill Leaves County Skeptical

By Donna Estes Herald Staff Writer

A proposed Florida Senate committee plan to raise $26 million by diverting 2 cents of the existing 21 cents per pack state cigarette tax to help counties build more jail space was met with skepticism by three Seminole County commissioners today.

Meanwhile, four county officials are in Boulder, Colo. this week on a U.S. Justice Department all-expense-paid trip to find cost-saving but court-approved ways of expanding the county jail.

Earlier this week the state Senate Corrections, Probation and Parole Committee agreed in principle on a jail construction bill, referring details to staff members for work before the April session.

The proposal would not increase the cigarette tax, but would earmark 2 cents of the existing 21 cents per pack tax for the counties.

The committee agreed to put 70 percent of that money into a building fund for jails, with the other 30 percent going for administration and $15-a-day costs of housing inmates imposed on the counties by state rule — including parole violators, those awaiting transfer to state prisons and people committed to treatment facilities under state alcoholism and mental health acts.

Too many questions are left unanswered, said County Commission Chairman Sandra Glenn.

"I want to see the details. I wouldn't take it at its face value. What will we get, what won't we get and what's the cost?" asked Commissioner Bob Sturm.

And Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff said until the proposed Senate bill comes out and is passed in final form — until there is something concrete in hand — he can't know whether the proposal is a good idea or of benefit to the county.

"What kind of facilities are they talking about? Minimum security, maximum security, what? What kind of alternatives are there?" Kirchhoff asked.

Sturm said the county will be happy to accept state money as long as additional mandated funding from the county isn't required.

"We can't afford any more mandated state programs," Sturm said.

Mrs. Glenn immediately picked at the $15 per day reimbursement.

It costs about $24 per day to house state prisoners," she said.

"We have to look at this from an equity point, seeing what it costs now, the number of prisoners in jail awaiting trial, those awaiting sentencing and those awaiting transfer to a state facility," she said.

Mrs. Glenn said any help in jail construction would please counties, "but we have to look at the revenue generated for Seminole County."

County officials at the seminar and scheduled to return home Friday evening include Sheriff John Polk, Commissioner Barbara Christensen, Jail Administrator James Shoulitz and County Administrator Duncan Rose.

Assistant County Administrator James Easton said the seminar is sponsored by the National Institute of Corrections of the U.S. Justice Department and all expenses, including transportation, food and lodging for the county officials are being paid by the federal government.

Mrs. Glenn said the group specifically is seeking information on whether a dormitory type facility can be built to house prisoners who do not need to be in a high security jail.

Last-Minute Registrants Swamp Elections Office

Seminole Supervisor of Elections Sandy Goard's courthouse office in Sanford has been swamped with prospective voters seeking to have their names placed on the registration rolls to vote in the March 13 presidential preference primary.

And her office telephones have been ringing off the hook from voters asking when they will receive their new identification cards.

Mrs. Goard said today that her courthouse office has signed up 162 new voters in the past seven days, compared with a normal flow of four-to-five a day.

And, she added that the 162 do not include those who are signing up at her branch office at the Interstate Mall in Altamonte Springs nor those who are registering at the city halls in Lake Mary, Longwood, Winter Springs, Casselberry, Altamonte Springs and Oviedo.

Registration for the March 13 presidential preference primary closes at 5 p.m. Saturday at both the courthouse office and the Interstate Mall, she reminded.

She also noted that about half of the 75,000 voter identification cards were mailed out to Seminole County residents Wednesday and the balance were to be put in the mail today.

"The lobby in the courthouse office has been full every day for the past week," Mrs. Goard said, adding that normally fewer voters register at the courthouse than at the branch office.

Those seeking to register must execute an affidavit attesting to the fact that they are legal residents of Seminole County.

The elections office at the courthouse is open from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., daily.

The branch office is open from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 2 to 5 p.m.

Absentee ballots for the March 13 election also are available now.

'SCC Appreciation Month' Designated

In recognition of the month-long drive at Seminole Community College to raise funds to match a state grant for "much needed technical equipment," the Seminole County Commission has designated February as "Seminole Community College Appreciation Month."

A goal of $25,000 has been set by the SCC Foundation Developmental Council to be raised by March 1. The money raised will be matched with state funds on a ratio of $6 in local money for each $4 given by the state.

Dean of Students Dr. James Sawyer said new equipment is needed to bring the school into the high technology area and to add computers to the classroom and institute robotics into the technological programs.

In other business Tuesday, the county commission in a meeting with Lake Mary city officials agreed to supply Lake Mary with water for the proposed new 61-house Country Downs, located on South Country Club Road.

County Commission Chairman Sandra Glenn said the city of Lake Mary will collect from the developer, Bing Hacker, a connection fee of $450 per house and turn that money over to the county.

She said while city officials asked if the connection fees thus collected could be refunded to the city when it has its own water system and disconnects from the county system, the commissioners decided there would be no refund.

Lake Mary is looking into acquiring a water system of its own, but for the past eight years the city of Sanford has been supplying water on a bulk basis to Lake Mary without any fee charged per connection.

The Lake Mary City Commission has scheduled a special meeting for 7 p.m., Thursday, at city hall, 158 N. Country Club Road, to discuss a proposed contract with the county for the water service.

Morning Manhunt

Sanford Police direct an unidentified man into a squad car at about 9:30 a.m. after capturing him after a mid-morning manhunt in east Sanford. His identity was not available at press time. A short time before he was taken into custody police received a report of a purse snatching outside Dr. John Epps' office, 245 San Marcos Ave., Sanford. According to Dr. Epps' assistant Laraine Howell, the woman whose purse was taken said as she arrived for her dental appointment, she was knocked down by an assailant and her purse taken. Several members of the police department — on foot and in cars — scoured an area between Pine and Hickory avenues and 3rd and 5th streets.

Refunds Promised

The owner of the company which mailed new residents homestead exemption forms offering to file them for a $22.75 fee said he will refund the money to anyone who does not want to use the service.

Michael Hines, owner of Relocator Service Inc., of Doraville Ga., said today that any Seminole County resident who mailed the form to his company — Seminole County Homestead Exemption Service — can call him collect to get their refund.

He said his office has received less than 100 forms from Seminole County residents. His telephone number is: 404-457-3195.

Polonaise Ball Benefit

The Incorporated Polish American Cultural Society of Metro Orlando is presenting a Benefit Washington-Kosciuszko Birthday Polonaise Ball Feb. 25, from 7 p.m. to midnight, at the Westmonte Civic Center, 500 Springs Oaks Blvd., Altamonte Springs. The Polonaise Ball will include a five-course buffet dinner, a four-piece Lou Feldman "Polonaise Players" orchestra, with a Polonaise Grand March Cotillon planned to open the ball.

Cocktails will begin at 7 p.m. There will be a cash bar. Proceeds from the benefit will launch the Society's planned Polish Cultural Studies Library-Museum for a mid-Florida campus or cultural center.

During the past two years, the PACS, Inc. has established two grants for the Chopin-Wieniawski Scholarship at Rollins College and has shipped shoes valued at $1,000 to the children of Poland and a $500 purchase of children's hospital medicines or supplies will be sent this spring to the city of Gdansk, Poland.

Tickets are available on a prepaid reservation basis at $15 each, including all amenities. Round tables of eight are provided — group reservations are encouraged. All donations are tax-deductible. The PACS, Inc. is a Non-Profit Cultural organization and has been presenting community-wide presentations of films, recitals and other benefits for the past two and one-half years.

The ball committee includes: Bea Shopin, 671-7967; Julia Stefanik, 645-5870; Verna Lopatkiewicz, 862-2187; and Marge Spyrka, 671-5092. Call a committee member for information, tickets and reservations.

Welcome Wagon Membership Open

The Welcome Wagon Club of Seminole County invites women who have recently moved to Seminole County to join their social club. The 185 members enjoy a monthly luncheon as well as the 20 activity groups which range from crafts, bridge, bowling, book discussion, gardening to eating out, etc.

For further information, call Mrs. Lisa Ashby at 862-9944 or Mrs. Mary Gibson at 788-3810.

Museum Opens 'Latin America' Exhibit

The artistry of Mrs. Joyce Mikkola, writer, photographer and world traveler, together with the creativity of Dr. Genevieve Richardson, designer, and associates, Mrs. Ruth Lee and Mrs. Barbara Moore, will be features of the mid-season exhibit "The Beauty of Latin America" scheduled to open Sunday, Feb. 12, from 3 to 5 p.m. at the Henry S. Sanford Library-Museum, 520 E. First St., Sanford.

Curator Mildred M. Caskey, who instituted seasonal exhibits at the Library-Museum some 10 years ago as a part of its cultural contribution to the community, has made a point of selecting exhibits which are, in some way related, not only to current events and trends but to the historic past of the city and the city's founder, Henry S. Sanford.

"The Beauty of Latin America" is just such an exhibit, with an exciting collection of art and artifacts from Costa Rica, Guatemala, Panama, Colombia, Peru, Ecuador and Brazil and while Latin America is very much in the news today, so it was 140 years ago when Henry

S. Sanford, then a young international attorney, became involved in settling the celebrated "Aves Island Case." Located in the Caribbean Sea and sometimes known as the "Chincha Islands" off the western coast of South America, this famous controversy resulted in establishing "The Rule of Derelict Islands" which was enacted into law by Franklin Pierce early in his term as president, according to the curator.

Adding to the exhibit, Ballet Guild of Sanford-Seminole will be presented in a group of Latin American dances on the east lawn at 3:30 p.m. Limited seating accommodations will be available and light refreshments will be served following the ballet performance. The public is invited.

The regular Library-Museum hours are Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Sunday, 2-5 p.m. There is no admission charge.

Suntones Perform In 'Adelines' Show

The Sound of Sunshine Chapter of Sweet Adelines presents "In The News," Friday, Feb. 10 and Saturday, Feb. 11 at the Lake Mary High School Auditorium at 8:00 p.m.

The Suntones, International SPEBSQSA Champions will highlight this theme show of barbershop music.

Also featured will be Ambrosia, the 1983 Regional Champions as well as the Sound of Sunshine Chorus.

Tickets are $7 adults, $6 groups of 10 or more, and $5 for children under 12. For more information call 699-0177 in Orlando or 1-868-8444 in DeBary.

SSAA Sets Demo On Stained Glass

The Sanford-Seminole Art Association will hold its monthly meeting at 7:00 p.m. in the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce Building on Feb. 13.

The guest speaker will be Patsy Parr who will demonstrate stained glass techniques. Ms. Parr will discuss the different types of glass used, how to cut glass, and methods of assembling lamps and windows.

The public is invited to attend and refreshments will be served.

Cake Arts To Honor Elderly

The Cake Arts Society of Sanford initiated and installed two new members, Melissa Burns of Sanford, and Lori Leeds of Lake Mary, at the regularly scheduled meeting, Joan Cameron, past president, was the installing officer in a candlelight ceremony.

Plans were formulated for gifts for Valentine's Day for 71 elderly persons on the Meals on Wheels program. Each will receive a Valentine Card containing a handkerchief inside monogrammed with their initials handpainted.

All projects prepared by the Society are made at the clubhouse, 2549 Palmetto Ave. They are then delivered to the Meals on Wheels site where they are distributed with the lunches.

Relief For Fire Victims

The home of George and Debbie Wiegert, 2013 Palmetto Ave., Sanford, was severely damaged by fire Tuesday.

According to Vivian Buck, an emergency account in the couple's name has been established at Florida National Bank, 101 E. 25th St., for those who want to make a contribution.

Assistant fire chief Tom Hickson estimated the one-story frame home sustained damage up to $15,000.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY FEBRUARY 9, 1984
Your possibilities for success this coming year look good, provided you do not have more projects going at one time than you can competently manage. Be selective.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) It will be up to you to put a stop to outside influences coming in and disturbing the tranquility of your home today. Plug the openings. Your romantic compatibilities are revealed in the Astro-Graph Matchmaker set. Get yours by mailing $2 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. For your 1984 Astro-Graph predictions, send an additional $1 and your zodiac sign.
PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Be extra-mindful of what you say today or you could find yourself on a collision course with a strongly opinionated individual.
ARIES (March 21-April 19) Monitor your resources carefully today. Try to keep your budget in balance. Clear up old obligations before assuming any new ones.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Today you will be judged by the company you keep, so select your companions with care. Don't let the actions of others tarnish your image.
GEMINI (May 21-June 20) It's important to maintain a steady schedule today. If you leave tasks until the last minute, the quality of your performance will suffer.
CANCER (June 21-July 22) Speculative ventures should not be entered into hastily today. Jumping in before you have all the facts could lead to your undoing.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) If you have a chip on your shoulder today, you're sure to find one or more persons prepared to knock it off. Avoid confrontations.
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Giving someone a piece of your mind today will only serve to momentarily lessen your frustrations. However, the damage you cause could be lasting.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Be extra-careful today where your prized possessions are concerned. Don't leave anything lying about that could tempt a dishonest person.
SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Independence is an admirable quality, provided it is not carried to extremes today.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) There are two conditions that can negatively affect your work today - being a clockwatcher and having others peer over your shoulder.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Try to avoid any form of financial involvements with friends today. There's a possibility money could lead to a serious misunderstanding.

Get Advice When You Take Vitamins

DEAR DR. LAMB -- I became worried after I read your column concerning large doses of vitamin E. Several years ago, my doctor recommended I take vitamin E for cysts in my breast. I haven't had cysts in more than a year. I started taking 400 units and it stated on the bottle this was the recommended daily amount. Recently I purchased a bottle of another brand and the daily recommended dose was 30 IU. What is the difference between "mg." and "IU"? I am thoroughly confused. Also, what is the correct dosage?
DEAR READER -- There are studies that suggest vitamin E in large doses is not always safe. But I'm really not concerned about people who take vitamin E prescribed by their physician. I'm very concerned, however, about those who take large doses on their own for a variety of medical complaints. In fact, some people who take vitamin E for serious medical problems need medical attention or something more effective. There are several different vitamin E substances. One milligram (mg.) of alpha-tocopherol is equivalent to 1.35 IU (international units); one mg. of gamma-tocopherol is equivalent to only one-twentieth of an IU. These confusing problems are now being standardized with a measure called "alpha-TE."
In any case, it's fine if your doctor wants you to take vitamin E for a breast cyst, as long as he's able to follow your progress and is certain you're not having any complications. But I must add that breast cysts often disappear on their own. It's equally important for women with cysts to eliminate all sources of caffeine and cigarettes. This appears to be very effective after one year in many women. To help rid your confusion about vitamins, I'm sending you The Letter SR-11, Current Status of Vitamin E. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.
DEAR DR. LAMB -- Our daughter loves physical fitness. But when she jogs, her legs itch until she is nearly out of her mind. If she scratches, they break out into red welts. This is keeping her from running as much as she would like. We haven't found anyone who knows anything about this.
DEAR READER -- Take your daughter to see an allergist. Some runners have this problem, although it's rare. It can be caused by an allergic reaction to heat. In those instances it's more apt to occur during running in hot or humid weather. After a medical examination, there are several things your daughter might try. One is the use of antihistamines before she runs, taken on a regular basis. Another trial effort would be to try cromolyn sodium, which is used to prevent asthmatic attacks. But she must see a doctor first.

Coors Backed To Replace Edwin Meese

DENVER (UPI) — Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger and Interior Secretary William Clark are backing business executive Joseph Coors to replace Edwin Meese in the White House, the Denver Post said Wednesday.

The Post reported that Coors, president of Adolph Coors Co., and a longtime friend of President Reagan, also is backed for the job by influential conservative groups.

Coors could not be reached for comment. There was no immediate comment from the White House.

Meese, whose title is presidential counselor, has been nominated to replace Attorney General William French Smith and the White House has said that Meese will not be replaced in the White House.

The Post reported that Coors has backing from Weinberger, Clark and the Committee for the Survival of a Free Congress.

The head of the committee, Paul Weyrich, was quoted saying that conservative and mainline Republicans are suggesting to the White House that Meese be replaced by a longtime confidant.

"There aren't too many of those, and Joe fits that category," Weyrich said.

Coors has been an influential member of Reagan's "kitchen cabinet," made up mostly of conservative Western friends.

Weyrich told the newspaper that Coors told him he was not seeking the job, but would take the post "if it was the only way to ensure that someone of our philosophy" is at the White House.

SEEDCO Awaits Grant Fate

Distribution of grant funds to community development agencies in Florida by the state Department of Community Affairs has "run into an administrative glitch," said an agency official, and names of the recipient agencies probably won't be announced until the end of the week.

The Seminole Economic Employment Development Corp., a Sanford-based agency which promotes and assists in the development of businesses and jobs in the county, is among the applicants for a grant from the program.

SEEDCO applied for a $100,000 grant for administration of its programs. In its application for the grant, SEEDCO president Horace Orr said it has guaranteed matching funds on hand of $125,000.

He said part of the matching funds will be the interest it is earning from a loan to Dade County to build migrant housing.

Barbara Henderson, director of the DCA's intergovernmental policy office, said although it was expected that the grant recipients' names would be announced last week, "we have run into an administrative glitch."

She said by the end of the week an announcement should be made.

11 Seminole Countians On Primary Ballot

The names of 11 Seminole County residents will be listed on the March 13 Democratic presidential primary ballot in the 5th congressional district as candidates for either delegate or alternate to the August Democratic convention in San Francisco.

The 5th congressional district comprises all of Seminole County as well as parts of Orange and Lake counties.

- They are:
  - Roland Williams of Longwood, school board member, as an alternate pledged to former Gov. Reubin Askew.
  - William H. "Bill" Wack III, Elaine Wack and Patricia L. Mosley, pledged to California Sen. Alan Cranston.
  - Sheila Morgan and Victor Suarez, pledged to Ohio Sen. John Glenn.
  - Fred J. Donnelly, pledged to Colorado Sen. Gary Hart.
  - Sarah Bilderbeck and Douglas E. Wilson, pledged to former presidential nominee and ex-South Dakota Sen. George McGovern.
  - Jackie L. Johnson, pledged to Jesse Jackson.
  - Irving B. Gussow, uncommitted.
  - Former Vice President Walter Mondale selected his delegates from Orange County, by-passing Seminole.

Each of the eight presidential candidates may have a slate of three delegates and one alternate on the ballot. Voters may select all three delegates and alternate of one candidate or may choose a mixture of delegates and alternates from those listed as committed or uncommitted.

Listed first on the ballot will be the presidential candidates — Askew, Cranston, Glenn, Hart, Jackson, South Carolina Sen. Ernest Hollings, West Palm Beach attorney Richard B. Kay, McGovern and Mondale.

Persons wishing to give a specific candidate delegates must vote for the delegates individually.

However, the winner of the race, being called a "beauty contest," will not receive any delegates as a result.

Persons wishing to give a specific candidate delegates must vote for the delegates individually.
