CENTRAL FLORIDA WATER TRAFFIC LEAGUE TO HOLD HEARING HERE JULY 27

Plans Being Made For Most Comprehensive Report to Lemen

BIG MEETING HERE

THAT WILL BE ATTENDED BY ALL THE BUSINESS MEN, GROWERS AND SHIPPERS

The Central Florida Water Traffic League is now preparing additional data to be submitted to Major Lemen at the meeting, which the latter has called for June 27th at Sanford. While those in charge of this work will not disclose their plans, they have advised that this date, when completed, will be the most concise that has ever been submitted in support of the St. Johns-Indian river project. They feel confident that it will be an irrefutable argument and that the government engineers, on the basis of the facts shown therein, can take no other course than to endorse this project.

Never before have the sections tributary to the St. Johns river realized the importance the completion of this project means to them. In addition, the entire East Coast south of Titusville, is also cognizant of the great possibilities which an opening into the St. Johns river would give them. The interest aroused in these sections has also facilitated the compilation of statistics upon which will be predicated the claim made by the supporters of the St. Johns-Indian river route for government action.

The most influential citizens of these sections will be present at the meeting June 27th to give testimony showing the urgent necessity for the government engineers recommending this route, and this testimony will support the brief which will be submitted by the Central Florida Water Traffic League. At the conclusion of the hearing Major Lemen will then submit his recommendation to a board of six army engineers, who in turn will approve or disapprove, and their recommendation will be referred to the chief of the army board of engineers. The chief of this board in turn makes a recommendation to the Secretary of war, and from him it is transmitted to congress for whatever action they care to take in the matter.

It is obvious that before the adherents of the St. Johns-Indian River canal can hope to see their efforts rewarded, it is necessary that all the sections in the territories tributary to the St. Johns river maintain an active and militant campaign, following it up to the halls of Congress. To insure the success of this campaign the Central Florida Water Traffic League is preparing plans along well thought out lines, which have proven uniformly successful in similar campaigns of this kind. Within the near future an active movement will be started to secure 5,000 members for the League at $10.00 per member, to give it the necessary financial sinews to see this fight through to a finish.

Fighting valiantly for the same end is the Sanford Chamber of Commerce. Its efforts are successfully being expended to secure the necessary financial and moral support of the commercial organizations of these sections, in assisting the representatives of the League in the compilation of statistics for the brief the latter is preparing. It is indeed gratifying to those, who have watched the development of this proposition, to know that such capable men as ex-Congressman W. T. Bland, formerly of Missouri, and S. J. Sligh, of Orlando, are giving so liberally of their time and ability to the furtherance of this project. Ex-Congressman Bland, for several terms represented his state in congress, led the fight in that body to secure appropriations for the deepening of the Mississippi river. No one is better qualified than he to know the sequence of moves necessary to secure governmental appropriations for waterway improvements.

His handling of the situation at the hearing in Titusville was favorably commented upon and drew home the impression that those behind this movement are determined to win out. Letters from prominent merchants and growers of the interior and lower East Coast sections of the state

STATE POLICE GUARD JAIL OF MURDERER

GEO. STUART, ALLEGED SLAYER OF MISS MELLETT MAY BE MOBBED

(By The Associated Press) LANSING, Mich., June 15.—State police today continued the guard the city jail where George Stuart, the alleged confessed slayer of Miss Alice Mellett, being held in safety last night as several score of Jackson men demanded the prisoner. Local officers on guard all streets in the vicinity to disperse crowds or prevent demonstrations that might lead to another attempt at violence.

SENATOR GLASS DENOUNCES BONUS BILL

NOT IN FAVOR OF YOUNG MEN TAKING VACATION TO BE PAID BY PARENTS

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., June 15.—United States Senator Carter Glass, delivering the annual commencement address at the University of North Carolina yesterday morning, denounced in emphatic terms the soldier bonus bill, and rendered high praise to Woodrow Wilson, whom he termed the "real author" of the federal reserve system.

The senator's address was heard by an audience that packed the University auditorium to capacity, and his tribute to the former president brought spontaneous and prolonged applause.

Governor Cameron Morrison made a short address following Senator Glass. It was a word of appreciation for the senator's address. "Whether you agree with his views or not," the governor said, "I know you will recognize in him a man, an American, a deeply sincere statesman."

Honorary degrees were conferred yesterday morning by Dr. Archibald Henderson on the following: William Preston Byrum, William Robert Webb, David Franklin Houston, Cameron Morrison, Charles Edward Maddy, and Edward Victor Zoeller.

Senator Glass in his address traced from its infancy the growth of the banking system of the nation, calling it the vital problem facing the young men and women about to leave the university. He termed the banking and currency system a problem of vital importance to every member of the graduating class, regardless of the professions they will pursue.

Senator Glass declared that the Wilson administration put an end to nation wide panics. "We made it so that no two or twenty banks may fail in New York and not affect business in North Carolina or any other state in the union. We have panics now in New York, but they never get beyond the walls of that great money center."

The senator, in explaining opposition to the bonus bill, said: "I am opposed to burdening the people with it, for the same economic reason that he would not surrender to the 'printing press' remedy for the currency problem. Many, he had asserted, had actually been in favor of turning to the printing press to relieve the country, a method that had been employed in Germany, Russia and other countries where money now is practically worthless." Although he had two sons in the war, and a sister in the Red Cross, Senator Glass said he was opposed to the sentiment appeal of the bonus. He was not in favor of the young men taking a vacation to be paid for by parents, themselves, and posterity. His words were applauded vigorously.

LASKER DEFENDS POSITION ON SHIPPING BOARD VESSELS, SELLING LIQUOR AS STATED

Will Continue Until the Supreme Court Renders a Decision

(By The Associated Press) ST. LOUIS, June 15.—The Anheuser-Busch Brewing Company is willing to produce witnesses to support the charges that the United States Shipping Board is violating the prohibition law and the Volstead act in event congressional inquiry it was made known here today by representatives of the firm.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—The House Merchant Marine Committee adjourned today until tomorrow without action on the Bankhead amendment providing no steamship lines on which liquor is sold should obtain any part of the federal ship subsidy funds. Continuance of selling liquor aboard the American ships "justified charge that Uncle Sam is engaged in bootlegging" Representative Cooper, Republican, of Ohio, declared in a statement announcing he would support the amendment in the ship subsidy bill to stop it.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Definite steps through legislation to stop the sale of liquor on American ships was started today through presentation by Bankhead, Democrat, Alabama, of amendment to merchant marine bill which would cut off government aid provided in measure from any ship carrying intoxicating liquors. Alabama representative offered amendment at meeting of house merchant marine committee of which he is a member. Considerable doubt expressed that amendment would be accepted as indications of the majority members of the committee would vote to report the bill as framed by the committee.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Attorney General Daugherty will be asked for a new ruling on the question of the sale of liquor on shipping board vessels it was indicated today at the treasury.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Sale of liquor on shipping board vessels at sea will be continued, Chairman Lasker reiterated last night, until a supreme court decision has been rendered holding such practice illegal under the prohibition laws, or until he "has been convinced of its illegality." Mr. Lasker maintained throughout the day the position taken by him in his letter to Adolphus Busch, third vice-president of the Anheuser-Busch Brewery Company, St. Louis, despite indication that it would be made the subject of attack in congress and by the Anti-Saloon League and other dry organizations.

AMERICAN FEDERATION DISCUSSES SUPREME COURT DECISION URGES CONGRESSIONAL VETO

And Denial of the Power of Lower Federal Courts to Set Aside Law

(By The Associated Press) CINCINNATI, June 15.—Officers of rail unions will not interfere to stop the strike of one million two hundred and twenty-five shop craft and maintenance of way workers, B. M. Jewell declared today in addressing the Federation of Labor convention here. Jewell is president of the railway employees department of the federation.

CINCINNATI, June 15.—Without opposition or debate the Federation of Labor convention today killed the resolution proposing radical change in the form of organized labor movement in the United States by the amalgamation of all unions into single organizations, each covering an industry.

CINCINNATI, June 15.—Organized labor indicated a determination at the American Federation of Labor convention here yesterday that it would start a drive for a constitutional amendment for a congressional veto of the supreme court decisions, and for the denial of the power of lower federal courts to set aside a federal law as unconstitutional. This,

Officials of the department of justice refused to comment on the situation, but in other quarters attention was called to an opinion on file there which was rendered by former Acting Attorney General Frierson in 1920. Mr. Frierson held that the national prohibition act was effective upon ships flying the American flag wherever they might be.

According to high department officials an opinion of an attorney general remains the official interpretation of law until it has been revoked by court decision or by a superseding opinion. Furthermore, they added, such opinion always stands unless request for a review comes from the same department or agency which originally requested the ruling.

Mr. Lasker's stand as to liquor sales on board American vessels was taken, he informed Mr. Busch, on the authority of an opinion rendered by General Counsel Schlesinger of the shipping board.

The chairman conferred yesterday with Attorney General Daugherty and while there gave him copies of the correspondence with the St. Louis brewer. The matter of liquor sales at sea was not the primary purpose of the conference, Mr. Lasker indicated later, but it was brought up incidentally.

Refusing to discuss his talk with Mr. Daugherty, Chairman Lasker declared he would not ask the department of justice for a new opinion, being entirely satisfied with that rendered by Mr. Schlesinger. He added that he would not answer further letters on the subject of liquor selling.

Representative Upshaw, Democrat, Georgia, publicly announced yesterday he would offer an amendment to the ship subsidy bill providing that no part of the federal subsidy fund should be used by steamship lines on whose ships liquor is sold. A leading Western Republican previously had announced that he would offer the same amendment, and friends of the bill said it seemed certain the issue would have to be met unless the bill was reported by the rules committee with a stipulation that none but merchant marine committee amendments would be considered.

There was talk last night that such an amendment would be put squarely before the committee itself, probably today, although its defeat there was predicted.

One ardent prohibitionist went so far as to express the opinion that "by next summer a law will be enacted prohibiting the landing in the United States of foreign ships on which liquor selling is permitted."

ALL OF EUROPE'S HOPES ARE CENTERED TODAY IN THE HAGUE CONFERENCE

BOOZE FIGURES IN BIG RIOT ON STEAMER

BETWEEN WASHINGTON AND POTOMAC RIVER RESORT LAST NIGHT

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, June 15.—Dispute over a quart of whiskey is said to have started a riot on a steamer between Washington and Potomac River resort last night, in which four hundred excursionists took part and one man was killed and a score injured, one probably fatally, before the disorder ended when one of the contending factions left the vessel at Alexandria, Virginia, several arrests were made. Pop bottles and knives inflicted most of the injuries.

WALTER WARD IS INDICTED FOR MURDER

ARRESTED AND PLACED IN JAIL WITHOUT BAIL

(By The Associated Press) WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., June 15.—Walter S. Ward, millionaire banker's son, was indicted today by the Westchester grand jury on a charge of killing Clarence Peters, former sailor. Soon after indictment was returned a deputy was sent to Ward's home in New Rochelle to arrest him. He had been at liberty on $50,000 bail.

RESULT RAILROAD COMMISSIONER RACE IS STILL IN DOUBT

(By The Associated Press) JACKSONVILLE, June 15.—With the counting of votes in the recent primary still in progress at the office of Secretary of State Crawford at Tallahassee, the result of the contest for membership on the state railroad commission remained extremely in doubt.

The official count of first and second choice votes from 53 out of the 61 counties shows R. L. Eaton leading A. D. Campbell, incumbent, by several hundred votes. But on the face of incomplete returns from seven of the remaining eight counties, compiled by the Florida Times-Union Mr. Eaton's margin is cut down to 367. Okaloosa is the county from which no official or newspaper returns have been tabulated, and Mr. Campbell claims to have substantially carried this county. The vote of the seven counties compiled by the Times-Union does not take in the second choice votes.

Regardless of the final outcome of the race it will remain as one of the closest in this state since the memorable contest between the late W. A. Blount of Pensacola and Judge Nathan P. Bryan of Jacksonville, for the United States Senate in 1912.

Mr. Campbell was appointed a member of the commission by the governor to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Newton H. Blitch.

Dedicated to the Task of Bringing Russia into Concert of Nations FIRST SESSION

STARTED TODAY FRAUGHT WITH MANY RESPONSIBILITIES FOR WHOLE WORLD

(By The Associated Press) THE HAGUE, June 15.—The conference to consider the Russian affairs was called to order in Peace Palace this afternoon by Dutch Foreign Minister H. A. Van Karnebeck, with sixty delegates representing about thirty countries present.

THE HAGUE, June 15.—All Europe centered its hopes today in opening international conference dedicated to task of making practical arrangements for re-entry of Russia into the concert of nations.

THE HAGUE, June 15.—Two notable meetings will be held in The Hague peace palace today. At 11:30 o'clock this first annual session of the permanent court of international justice was opened and at 2:30 this afternoon the conference arranged to consider Russian problems began its effort to settle those questions which the Genoa conference abandoned after weeks of unsuccessful wrangling.

Two more dissimilar meetings it would be difficult to find under the same roof. The first will be purely judicial, with the solemnity and restrictions which the erudite casts about its doings, while the second will be a continuation of the spirited sessions at Genoa, devoted to attempts to untangle vexatious problems arising from the war.

The Hague is not especially pleased, particularly the officials of the capital, in having the Genoa troubles transferred here and sheltered under the peace palace. P. A. Van Karnebeck, Dutch minister of foreign affairs, will extend a welcome to the conference and then turn it over to the representatives of the various European powers which have sent delegates.

Until the Russians arrive and begin participation in the conference on June 20, interest in it will probably not reach a great height, as the interim will be devoted chiefly to arrangements preliminary to dealing with the Bolshevik delegation. Great uncertainty and lack of organization characterizes the affairs of the conference to which Holland apparently does not wish to give great publicity or prominence, as the Dutch did not seek the conference, but merely offered neutral territory for the meeting, without desiring herself to direct or influence its development.

Delegations from the major countries arrived yesterday or late last night, but some of the representatives of the smaller countries will not reach The Hague until after the opening of today's meeting. The British delegation, headed by Sir Philip Grame, numbers 50, and the Italian delegation, headed by Baron Avezzano, former ambassador at Washington, 25. Some of the smaller countries like Czechoslovakia, may not dispatch representatives until June 20, when the meetings with the Russians will begin.

Baron Avezzano remained in Paris for several days to discuss Italian viewpoint at a conference with the French officials, endeavoring to bring about harmony and close co-operation between the two countries.

The Japanese delegation is headed by M. Sato, councillor of the embassy at Paris, who is a son of Almaro Sato, former ambassador to the United States, and one of the Japanese representatives at the Portsmouth peace conference.

Hugo Stinnes is expected to arrive here today from Berlin.

In the game of hearts, the prize, a bud vase, was won by Miss Florence Henry, while the high score among the bridge players was made by Mrs. Ben Caswell, who was awarded a candle stick, painted in platinum, the artistic work of Mrs. A. B. Commons, this she presented to the honoree.

Following the awarding of the prizes, the tables were cleared away and little Miss Billie Wight danced the "Fountain Dance," she was followed by little Mary Wight who interpreted the graceful "Narcissus dance." After the dances, these dainty little maidens entered with a silver basket filled with clever toasts, written by the guests and presented them to the honoree.

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

LOOK YOUNG! BRING BACK ITS NATURAL COLOR, GLOSS AND ATTRACTIVENESS

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revolution if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.—Adv.

IF SKIN BREAKS OUT AND ITCHES APPLY SULPHUR

Just the moment you apply Mentho-Sulphur to an itching, burning or broken out skin, the itching stops and healing begins, says a noted skin specialist. This sulphur preparation, made into a pleasant cold cream, gives such a quick relief, even to very eczema, that nothing has ever been found to take its place.

Because of its germ destroying properties, it quickly subdues the itching, cools the irritation and heals the eczema right up, leaving a clear, smooth skin in place of ugly eruptions, rash, pimples or roughness.

You do not have to wait for improvement. It quickly shows. You can get a little jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur at any drug store.—Adv.

SUFFERED FOR FIVE YEARS WITH RHEUMATISM

T. L. BELL, OF WEST END, THE REMARKABLE CASE OF MR. BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

"I suffered for five years with rheumatism and had Eczema for two years," says Mr. Bell. "I had such severe pains in my limbs and body and such terrible itching on my feet and legs from Eczema that I was in a horrible condition; my kidneys also became affected and I was in a general run down condition.

"I was attracted to Ferraline by seeing it advertised in Alabama papers and after using less than one bottle I was noticeably relieved and now since taking Ferraline the pains have left and I am greatly improved and I have Eczema in much better. I am glad to recommend Ferraline because it has the best remedy that can be found, I would not be without it for much more than it cost. Two bottles have made me a well man."—Adv.

Why sell fruit for less when you may get the high dollar?

When you sell grapefruit or oranges to a speculative or commercial buyer you get less than he believes it is worth.

The purchaser of your fruit expects to make a profit and the amount he agrees to pay you is figured just that much below the anticipated selling value.

More, the average privately owned marketing agency must sell the fruit it handles for lower prices than are obtained by the co-operating growers, in nine cases out of ten!

Why? Because the speculators and commercial buyers have not been able to establish the reputation for dependable grade, pack and quality that is had by Sealdsweet grapefruit and oranges in all the markets.

Because, too, the consuming public is slower to buy the comparatively unknown and non-advertised brands than it is to purchase citrus fruits sold under the nationally advertised and well-known Sealdsweet trademark.

When a speculative or strictly commercial marketing agency buys your fruit it must, therefore, pay you enough less for the crop than the expected worth at time of shipment to provide margins for price-cutting and for profit.

The growers' own marketing agency can sell the fruit of its members for the high dollar, because it deals in advertised goods, which consumers buy quickly, and because it sells under a brand that means something to the trade.

The Florida Citrus Exchange has no stockholders and pays no dividends nor profits. Every dollar realized for the fruit of the members, less actual cost of selling, is paid to them, through the sub-Exchange and local associations. They get what their oranges and grapefruit are worth when marketed.

Join the Florida Citrus Exchange and receive the high dollar for your fruit. Consult the manager of the nearest association or sub-Exchange or write the business manager at Tampa, Florida.

Getting Dope in The Federal Pen Starts Investigation

ATLANTA, Ga., June 12.—Fifty-six warrants charging violation of the Harrison narcotic law have been issued in connection with investigation of an alleged "dope ring" at the Atlanta Federal penitentiary, Federal District Attorney Hager stated today.

Dr. H. C. Carrick, the physician at the prison, and three guards are in jail in default of bond and Mr. Hager said they were "only the beginning of the clean-up". A number of arrests may be expected before the end of next week, he said.

The investigation began a week ago. All of those arrested deny any connection with the sale or distribution of narcotics at the prison.

"We never dreamed that such conditions existed at the prison until we started the investigation at the instance of Warden Joe Dyche," the district attorney said. "Evidence is now in our hands which will show that more than 150 prisoners, who were not addicted to the narcotics before being sent to the prison, acquired the habit after their imprisonment from drugs furnished by the dope ring."

Approximately 750 of the 2,300 prisoners are drug addicts, many of them having been sent up for violation of the federal narcotic laws and others for other violations. The guards at the prison, who are paid between $120 and $125 per month are owners of high powered automobiles and are living in a state of luxury which never could have been attained from their salaries alone.

Evidence has been obtained which will show that a number of prisoners implicated in the dope ring disposed of their surplus stock, "assets and good will" in the business to the other prisoners before completing their terms.

THE MYSTERIES OF ROAD BUILDING

Chas. A. Browne, engineer in charge of building the Orlando-Titusville ocean highway in Orange county in an address before the Tampa Civitan Club said counties could save $7,000 a mile on every mile of road building by using home material—that at least $7,000 per mile of the cost of road building is taken up by freight costs on materials.

Mr. Browne further stated that the labor costs of road building had dropped about 33 per cent in the last 18 months.

Road contractors will tell you that when concrete or asphalt is used for hardsurfacing, coquina rock or any home rock is as good as imported rock, with no outlay for railroad freight.

Engineers in St. Lucie county say that for every $100,000 spent on roads in that county $50,000 was paid to railroads for hauling the rock.—Titusville Advocate.

SOME CIVIC COMMANDMENTS

A short time ago, in a southern city, a civic booster wrote out a set of ten commandments that he considered essential for the guidance of his people in the upbuilding of their home town.

Although designed especially to meet what he deemed to be the peculiar needs of a particular city, the commandments were so well chosen that they will apply very aptly, right here in Sanford. Here they are:

I.—Thou shalt love thy home town above all other towns. Thou shalt be loyal to her people and to her institutions.

II.—Thou shalt guard thy home town from the hosts of evil that would invade and destroy her soul. Thou shalt keep the good name of thy home town clean and without stain or blemish.

III.—Thou shalt elect as thy public servants in political office men of strong character, eager to conserve the best interests of thy people. And when thou hast elected such men thou shalt stand by, support, and encourage them, for their temptations are many and their burdens are not light.

IV.—Thou shalt exalt thy public school and honor it all the days of thy life with the best of teachers, building, and equipment, for the school is the cradle of the future. Thy children are here and they shall be the citizens of tomorrow. No training is too good for them and no preparation superfluous.

V.—Thou shalt defend the health of thy home town from the death that lurks in marshes, swamps, and heaps of filth. Thou shalt exterminate the fly and the mosquito for they carry typhoid and malaria. The tubercle bacillus shalt thou drive before thee with the sun and fresh air as thy allies.

VI.—Thou shalt build good roads, and keep them good. For by her good roads is a town known for good or ill. Eternal watchfulness shall be thy motto, that thy roads may not ravel nor thy supervisor forget thee.

VII.—Thou shalt keep thy home town beautiful. The hills, the trees, the waters that nature has given her thou shalt preserve in sacred trust. No hovel shalt thou permit to disfigure them. Thou shalt keep thy homes and the door yards clean and cheerful. Thy waters shalt thou purify that they may bring thee life and strength. The future of thy town shalt thou plan with care and diligence, that thy growth be not haphazard, but full of thought and loving care as the plans of a mother for the growth of her child.

VIII.—Thou shalt honor thy community institutions. Thou shalt work together with thy neighbors with all thy heart and strength and mind. Thou shalt work together in thy organizations and clubs for the common welfare. Thy leaders shalt thou learn to obey. Thou shalt serve on committees where thou art put and not intrude on committees where thou art not put. Thou shalt know each other better, thy work shall prosper, and thy friendship shall multiply.

IX.—Thou shalt be a good neighbor to all who live in thy home town whether they be rich or poor. Thou shalt speak ill of none and good of many. Thou shalt be a friend to strangers and visit the sick in their affliction.

X.—Thou shalt go to church for the honor of thy home town and for thine own good. Thou shalt not consider thyself too wise, too busy, too bad nor too good, to spend an hour or two on Sunday with thy neighbors in the worship of God. Thou shalt not send thy children to church. Thou shalt bring them there. Thou shalt offer thyself to thy spiritual leader for the service of God and thy community. So shall we win many battles together.

GLASS OF SALTS CLEANS KIDNEYS

IF YOUR BACK HURTS OR BLADDER BOTHERS YOU, DRINK LOTS OF WATER

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.—Adv.

LABOR DISPUTES HOLDING BUSINESS BACK—BABSON

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass., June 13.—Roger W. Babson, the statistician, today indicated several of the factors which are responsible for the slowness of business recovery.

"The floods still continue to trouble the Southwest," said Mr. Babson. "Nearly four million acres of land are said to be submerged. This tends to delay planting as well as to interfere with transportation and general buying. With the exception of this flood situation and the lateness of spring, the crops are coming along very well. A little scare in the case of cotton will do no harm. Scarcas do not affect crops but only straighten prices and make for business activity."

"The four industries which are the most active at the present time are the building industries, railroad equipment, public works, and automobile manufacturing. They are all industries of a fundamental nature. Not only is development of these industries giving temporary employment, but they provide permanent and productive capital for the country. This is especially true in the first three instances; building, railroad equipment, and public works.

"Very hopeful reports come from the Michigan district. Mines which have not been opened for a year or two are now running on full time. Thousands of men in the mining sections are now going back to work, and the whole Michigan district, looks more prosperous. Although the copper situation is still very flat, it is like a man flat on his back. There is only one way he can look and that is upward. Michigan during the next two years is apt to be a very busy state.

"The mill situation in New England is upset. Thousands of people are still out on strikes. Altho both sides claim decided advantages, statistics are rather in favor of the employers. It is believed that a cut is inevitable, and it is only a question of what the cut will be. When the bills are opened, wage reductions will run from 10 to 20 per cent; although these reductions will do little good unless the workers feel right and are happy. At some mills reopen, they will reopen on an open shop plan, altho I believe that in many instances these manufacturers will go back again and deal with the union as soon as business becomes good and help scarce.

"Wage reductions apply not only to the textile industries but to the shoe industries and in some cases to the building industries. The Structural Iron and Steel Workers Union in Syracuse, N. Y., have recently accepted a wage scale of a dollar an hour for all work. I emphasize that these labor conflicts—whichever side may be to blame—are the one important factor preventing business from coming back to normal. Both profits and wages must be cut and all connected with industry from the president of the concern to the office boy must give more service per dollar received.

"The Babsonchart index now stands at 16 per cent below normal as against 22 per cent as it was at this time in 1921. This chart is really a chart of production and values. To have prosperity people must be at work; to have people at work there must be a demand for goods; and to have a demand for goods, people must be prosperous! Hence, the soundness of the Golden Rule and why we all—whether employers or wage workers—should be interested in having the other fellow prosperous. Yes, "concluded the statistician, "there is a real connection between religion and business. The sooner we realize it the sooner we'll be back to normal."

NEW BUILDING STARTS.

S. O. Shinholer has the contract for the new Merriweather block to be erected on the old Magnolia House site opposite the Miller Bakery on Magnolia avenue. There will be three store rooms erected to be one story but with foundations sufficient to stand several more stories as the city grows. The building will be of brick and modern in every respect. One store room will be twenty-five feet wide and two of them will be twenty-two feet each. All of them will be fifty feet long. Ground is being broken today for this new building that will add much to the business life of "Wall Street," or "Herald Square."

The others may reopen after installing new equipment and meeting the provisions of the state law, the inspector said.—Tampa Tribune.

MRS. SWANSON IS FREED AT PRELIMINARY HEARING HELD HERE YESTERDAY

State's Attorney Makes No Case Against Girl Accused of Murder

COURT ROOM FILLED WITH CROWD OF MEN AND WOMEN WHO HUNG ON EVERY WORD OF WITNESSES

(From Tuesday's Daily) The second scene in the killing of George McDougall by his daughter, Mrs. Norman Swanson, came to an end yesterday afternoon in the court house that was crowded to suffocation with men and women eager to catch every word of the preliminary hearing.

The state was represented by State's Attorney George A. DeCottes and he was assisted by E. W. Davis, of Orlando, and John Leonard, of this city. The defendant was represented by J. J. Dickinson and E. F. Housholder.

Dr. Ralph Stevens was the first witness called and told of being called to the McDougall house about six o'clock Saturday morning by Mrs. McDougall and her daughter Frances, and upon his arrival seeing the body of McDougall, who was dead before the physician reached him, that her mother said: "Frances had to do it to save her life." That the bullet had gone into the body in the upper left scapula passed through the body coming out just under the right nipple and going into the right arm showing a downward and outward trend.

H. R. Stevens was called and as he had accompanied his son, Dr. Ralph Stevens, to the scene he was among the first to arrive and had seen the body before it was touched. Frances told him she had shot her father as he was about to cut her mother's throat at the kitchen sink. He saw a white rag on the right arm of the body, two knives in the kitchen sink and the empty shell from the pistol laying on a table and he had given it to the deputy sheriff. He said Mrs. Swanson said she was standing in the bath room door opposite the door leading from the kitchen to the porch when she fired the shot.

Norman Swanson, husband of Mrs. Swanson, said he was called on Saturday morning at the usual time and had arisen and gone to the bath room to put on his shoes and clothes as usual custom with him when McDougall had come up to him with a butcher knife in his hand and said: "I see you cut the hay yesterday," and Swanson replied that he did not cut it but he had it cut and McDougall said, "I want you to understand I am boss of this farm and you or no one else have a damn thing to do with it," and then turned and walked toward the kitchen. Said he heard a scuffle in the kitchen and getting to the door saw his wife with her right arm stretched out and heard the report of a pistol, saw McDougall with a knife in his right hand and knife dropping to the floor, saw him walk to door leading out on back porch, turn round like he was coming back in kitchen and then laid down on the floor and did not make a sound. Swanson had rushed out of the house after trying to get an officer by telephone and drove to Sanford to get the deputy sheriff. He did not see McDougall until his return and physicians had been there by that time and pronounced him dead. Did not go to body but was positive deceased had not spoken after he was shot. "Yes, she had gone to Ben Monroe after McDougall had choked her and asked for protection. Had asked Mr. Lake if some means of protection could not be given her. Had come to Sanford Wednesday to lawyer's office to make settlement and McDougall asked to stay the settlement until the following Thursday. She had offered him the Waycross property or $2,500 in cash. He had been staying at the Weeks home until recently and had always risen after the family was up but Saturday morning had been down some time before the rest of them had wakened.

Mrs. Swanson was then put on the stand and said she had been living here 18 years, was with her mother Saturday morning in their room, had dressed and come down just behind her mother about 5:50. Mother had led the way into the kitchen and she had just started to step down from the bath room door into the kitchen when she heard a scuffle in the kitchen and turned round saw her father with his left hand draw back the head of her mother against his breast and his right hand held a butcher knife ready to draw it across her mother's throat. She drew her pistol out of the right hand pocket of her dress and fired at him holding the pistol in her right hand extended full length. Her mother scrambled out of the arm of her father and she was in doubt as to whether she had hit her mother or the father until the mother ran into the other part of the house screaming. Her father looked toward her standing sidewise, turned and went out the screen door to the side porch and she did not know then that she had hit him. As she shot the knife had been dropped on the floor. He turned round on the outside porch as if to come back into the kitchen and laid down in the doorway with his hands under him. She followed her mother into the house. It was all in a flash and being cross questioned said that she thought her mother was in danger of being killed and she fired. Was within six or eight feet from him when she shot. Told the same story as her mother about the trouble over the pay checks and the fear of the father and about staying down town while Norman was at lodge as they were afraid to go home. Told about occasions when father had threatened her and her mother with his knife, that he had cursed her and said he would cut her throat. That she had asked in Lake's office at the bank if something could not be done for their protection. Friday morning had gone with mother to Railroad shops to get husband to go with them to county judge's office to swear out a peace warrant or bill of complaint for protection. Had told Moffets and several others about threats of father and said she would kill him if he touched her mother. On cross examination said she said she kept the pistol all the time and kept it under her pillow at night and ever since her uncle had left she never went without the pistol and she was constantly on the alert to keep her father from doing bodily injury to her mother. Upon being asked if she thought her mother was in danger she said, "I did." "My mother was about to be killed and there was no other way to prevent it except to shoot."

Deputy Sheriff Cleveland Jacobs identified the pistol and the bullet and Deputy Sheriff Williams said the shirt of deceased had showed powder burns but the shirt could not be produced in evidence as it had been destroyed it was said.

Scott Benton, of Waycross, Ga., a brother-in-law of Mrs. McDougall told of being wired to come here on the 24th of May. After his arrival had seen McDougall in the packing house near the barn and McDougall said if his wife and daughter would not divide up the property he "would cut their throats and spit in their faces." That he had repeated this conversation the next day in a meeting with Banker Lake and Mrs. McDougall and Mrs. Swanson when they were trying to make some arrangement to patch up the difficulties and he had remained several days trying to adjust matters. That McDougall had said his wife upbraided him before the negroes in the field and if she ever did it again he would kill her and he wished he had cut her throat when she did it.

F. C. Inman and his wife, M. A. Inman, of the Valdez Grill, were called to the stand to relate what McDougall had said in the grill. Coming in to collect a milk bill the Inmans had refused to pay it unless Mrs. McDougall signed the bill and McDougall had said: "There will be a shooting match over this yet," and on another occasion had said that he held a knife on his wife's throat and the next time he did it he would kill her.

Mrs. McDougall was then led to the stand and stated that she had been partly blind nine years, had come to the Celery avenue home some 18 years ago, that she and her husband had been having trouble for many years; that on the morning of the 10th she had arisen as usual and gone down stairs just ahead of her daughter, knew Norman was in the bath room or the kitchen, had sensed some one standing near her and had then felt an arm thrown around her neck as her head was pressed back and then the shot was fired as she saw an arm go up, she struggled out of the arm and was so excited she ran into the main part of the house to the telephone had called up Dr. Tolar and then Dr. Stevens and failing to get an officer had urged Norman to go to town for one. Witness being examined on stand said Swanson had been like a son to her since her own son had died and led her around and daughter Frances had been compelled to come home to take care of her after son's death. After Norman had gone to shops to work she had trouble with husband over the making out of pay rolls on farm and upon several occasions he had come into house and told daughter and mother he would cut their throats and once when Frances had gone into the library for a book McDougall came up to her and said: "Damn you, I will cut your throat, too." She had sent for her sister and brother-in-law as they had decided to have a divorce and settlement of property and McDougall had told her brother then that he intended to cut her throat and after her brother's departure she and her daughter had been in constant dread of the threats and were afraid to stay in the house when Norman was down town. Upon cross examination of state about shooting said she did not see McDougall after he was shot and did not hear him say anything. That she had thirty years of trouble and just recently had instituted divorce proceedings against him. Asked if she told anybody about his threats, she said: "Yes, she had gone to Ben Monroe after McDougall had choked her and asked for protection. Had asked Mr. Lake if some means of protection could not be given her. Had come to Sanford Wednesday to lawyer's office to make settlement and McDougall asked to stay the settlement until the following Thursday. She had offered him the Waycross property or $2,500 in cash. He had been staying at the Weeks home until recently and had always risen after the family was up but Saturday morning had been down some time before the rest of them had wakened.

Mrs. Swanson was then put on the stand and said she had been living here 18 years, was with her mother Saturday morning in their room, had dressed and come down just behind her mother about 5:50. Mother had led the way into the kitchen and she had just started to step down from the bath room door into the kitchen when she heard a scuffle in the kitchen and turned round saw her father with his left hand draw back the head of her mother against his breast and his right hand held a butcher knife ready to draw it across her mother's throat. She drew her pistol out of the right hand pocket of her dress and fired at him holding the pistol in her right hand extended full length. Her mother scrambled out of the arm of her father and she was in doubt as to whether she had hit her mother or the father until the mother ran into the other part of the house screaming. Her father looked toward her standing sidewise, turned and went out the screen door to the side porch and she did not know then that she had hit him. As she shot the knife had been dropped on the floor. He turned round on the outside porch as if to come back into the kitchen and laid down in the doorway with his hands under him. She followed her mother into the house. It was all in a flash and being cross questioned said that she thought her mother was in danger of being killed and she fired. Was within six or eight feet from him when she shot. Told the same story as her mother about the trouble over the pay checks and the fear of the father and about staying down town while Norman was at lodge as they were afraid to go home. Told about occasions when father had threatened her and her mother with his knife, that he had cursed her and said he would cut her throat. That she had asked in Lake's office at the bank if something could not be done for their protection. Friday morning had gone with mother to Railroad shops to get husband to go with them to county judge's office to swear out a peace warrant or bill of complaint for protection. Had told Moffets and several others about threats of father and said she would kill him if he touched her mother. On cross examination said she said she kept the pistol all the time and kept it under her pillow at night and ever since her uncle had left she never went without the pistol and she was constantly on the alert to keep her father from doing bodily injury to her mother. Upon being asked if she thought her mother was in danger she said, "I did." "My mother was about to be killed and there was no other way to prevent it except to shoot."

Upon question of defense said she could have shot her father any time if such had been her intention and she could not have prevented her father from cutting her mother any other way.

Attorney Dickinson went on the stand and said that Friday morning McDougall had approached him and wanted him to defend him in the divorce proceedings but Dickinson refusing had turned aside and said, "I will go out and finish the thing myself."

State's Attorney DeCottes then addressed the judge and the people assembled and said that he had heard much about the case on the outside, had been given much advice, had heard that unless he bound the defendant over or had it done he would lose his job and that he wanted to say he had told the coroner's jury Saturday there was no case against the defendant and it being his duty as State's Attorney to find a case if possible, that such a case was impossible and the state had no case and he asked that the defendant be discharged.

Attorney Dickinson said that it was not the law of self defense they were invoking but the law of defense of a parent or other relative that gave one the right to shoot in defense, the right to defend any member of the family and if a homicide is committed in this defense the law says it is justifiable.

Judge Stringfellow said that under the circumstances and since the state's attorney had no case against defendant that he would discharge her.

GEO. McDOUGALL KILLED TODAY BY HIS DAUGHTER

Said He Was Attacking Her Mother With a Knife

(From Saturday's Daily) The city was shocked this morning to learn that Mrs. Norman Swanson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George McDougall, had shot and killed her father at the McDougall home on Celery avenue about six o'clock. It seems that several days ago Mrs. McDougall had started divorce proceedings against her husband on account of troubles between them and the shooting this morning was the outcome of the altercations that seemed to have occurred from time to time. Mr. McDougall had been brooding over the death of his son, George, that occurred some time ago and he had not been himself and it is said that he had used threatening language toward the family at times. This morning Mrs. Swanson said he had attacked her mother in the kitchen with a butcher knife and she shot him to save her mother's life. The bullet fired from a 32 automatic pistol entered his left

CONTRACT LET FOR MEISCH BUILDING

WILL CONTAIN FIVE STORES AND THIRTY-TWO OFFICES

The contract for the new Meisch building was let today to R. J. Galaspie, of Jacksonville, and the work on this building will start at once to be completed by October first. The new building will be erected on the property that formerly held the old Sanford House on First street next to the postoffice and is one of the most desirable business lots in the city. The new building will have a frontage on First street of 108 feet and extend back 194 feet and will have five store rooms on the first floor and thirty-two up-to-date offices on the second floor. The foundations and walls will be erected with a view of adding four more stories in the near future. The material in the building will be brick and reinforced concrete and will be one of the most up-to-date and modern buildings to be erected in Sanford in many years as no expense will be spared in the construction to make the building of the very best material and the exterior that will be a credit to the city. The cost of the building will be about $75,000 and will add much to the city being among the first of many new buildings that will be built here in the next six months that will total over the million dollar mark.

W. B. Talley, the well known architect of Lakeland, drew the plans that were bid upon by some of the largest firms in the state and Mr. Talley will have charge of the building until it is completed in every detail.

BIG RUSH IN DIAMOND FIELDS AGAIN

SOUTH AFRICA THE SCENE OF ANOTHER RUSH FOR DIAMONDS

(By The Associated Press) CAPE TOWN, June 10.—The biggest rush in history of South Africa's alluvial diamond digging occurred at Mosesberg, sixty miles from Kimberley today when about fifteen thousand diggers from all parts of South Africa pegged out their claims. The line of start extended over four miles and immediately after proclamation was read the diggers rushed to points they favored. No casualties, which is regarded as remarkable considering the number of claimants.

GOING TO CHAUTAUQUA?

Mrs. Henry Wight leaves on the 14th of June to attend the Biennial at Lake Chautauqua and to spend the entire season at the Assembly. Parties interested in Chautauqua and in the fine camps for boys and girls may get all particulars about rates and accommodations from Mrs. Wight. 1twkly—Stdly side and passing through his body lodged in his right arm causing death almost instantly.

The coroner's jury empanelled by Justice Stringfellow went to the McDougall home to view the remains and adjourned to the judge's office in the court house where after deliberating for an hour returned a verdict of murder in the first degree. Mrs. Swanson was arrested and placed in the county jail where she will remain until Monday when a preliminary hearing will be called by State's Attorney George A. DeCottes.

George McDougall came to this city about twenty years ago purchasing a place on Celery avenue where he has resided ever since, farming and also working in the machine shops of the Atlantic Coast Line here and at Lakeland and Waycross at various times. He was an experienced air brake machinist and at one time was foreman of the air brake department of the shops here. He was also an employee of the Coast Line Shops at Lakeland for some time and for the past six months had been living at home. He was a native of North Carolina, having been raised near Wilmington.

Mrs. Swanson is the wife of Norman Swanson and had resided here with her parents since childhood and is a trained nurse and as Miss Frances McDougall, was known to everyone in this part of the county.

The sympathy of the many friends is extended to the family in the dark hour of sorrow and affliction. Deceased leaves a wife and the daughter, Mrs. Swanson, the only other child being the son, George, who was injured in an automobile accident several months ago, from the result of which he died several days later.

HOW ABOUT THE PEOPLE?

The Miami Herald stoutly maintains that it is perfectly proper and right for railroads in Florida to charge more service than other roads in other parts of the country are allowed to charge. It was talking specifically about its own railroad, the Flagled system, but it admits that "the rates now in force on the Florida East Coast railroad are the same, mile for mile, as those in force on other roads of the state."

If it were only the Florida East Coast people who were affected by the unfair discriminatory rates charged in this state, it would not be the business of The Tribune to interfere, but all the state being affected by these rates, the discrimination comes home to all of us, and is just cause for interference by every paper.

The Herald speaks of the rates between Miami and Jacksonville as compared with those for the North to Jacksonville, admits they are much higher, and says:

"The East Coast road runs through largely undeveloped country. It does not have a vast amount of freight to handle. On the average it has only a one-way haul. Consequently, it is an equitable proposition that that road is entitled to a higher rate than is the one which is operated in a wealthy and populous section."

And yet less than a week ago, the Miami Herald delivered a logical and scathing editorial rebuke to the editor of the Punta Gorda Herald for declaring Florida does not need more settlers, more business and more accommodations for the people!

The argument of the Herald resolves itself into this: That the railroad in question is content with the business it is getting at the higher rate it is able to charge because of the business it is getting.

Why should that railroad want to carry two tons when it can get, for the carrying of one ton, almost as much as the two tons would return under an adjusted railroad compensation law?

Why should a railroad encourage more settlers to produce more freight, when it would mean the railroad would have to dig up more equipment to carry that added business?

Why shouldn't a road keep the one-way haul condition when it is satisfied with the returns from that one-way haul, and that one-way haul is nearly or quite as remunerative as the round trip other successful roads have to make?

Another point has been overlooked by the Herald also. Do the railroads exist merely for the purpose of earning "what the courts would say was a fair return on the actual value of the property?" Or do they exist as carriers of commerce between states, and sections of the country?

Assuming that they exist partly for the benefit and upbuilding of the section through which they pass, it appears that a spirit of give and take should exist between the public and the road. That, looking forward to the time when business for the road will be greater, the road would lend itself partly at least to the assistance of the people who are trying to produce that greater freight business for the roads.

No one forced the East Coast railroad to build down that "barren, sandy shore." The master mind who put it through foresaw an immense and ever-growing larger business to come from that long mileage, as the country was settled and development advanced. Have those now in control of the road reached the point where they conclude "It is enough. There are people enough; sufficient acreage is in cultivation; the tonnage is ample to keep us busy for several months twice year at the high charge permitted us. We do not want to see more freight produced in this area, therefore we will not assist in that production by reducing rates to give the grower and the producer and opportunity to make the necessary money he must have to encourage him."

When the Herald spoke of Hon. Adrian P. Jordan of Punta Gorda as "Florida's last reactionary," it did an injustice to itself. The Herald should take a look in the office mirror, and then write an apology to Mr. Jordan.—Tampa Tribune.

WORKING EFFICIENCY

More interesting even than the stories of record automobile production are figures showing the productivity of labor at present compared with the boom period.

Detroit dispatches say that the Ford plant is turning out more cars than ever before, with a much smaller pay roll. The Dodge plant is said to be making as many cars a day with 15,000 men as it used to with 24,000. Other plants report a similar situation.

This is not peculiar to the automobile industry, either. It is true of industry in general, and has attracted special notice in the building industry. The improvement is partly, no doubt the result of economic pressure. When work became slack and jobs became competitive again, it was natural to work a little harder. Business and professional men have done the same thing, under the stress of necessity. But such speeding up is probably for the most part unintentional and unconscious—a phase of the new psychology of a more wholesome business situation. Everybody works harder now. It is in the air.

As far as the workmen are concerned, it is unquestionably the way of prosperity. Nearly all classes of workers are still getting wages considerably higher than those before the war. The way to keep those wages, and to gain new increases rather than to suffer decreases, is to produce more.—Tampa Tribune.

"CHARGE IT"

"Charge it" is the slogan of the great American consumer.

Americans are great on peace, but they are also the most gallant chargers in the world. An American who cannot sleep for fear our standing army will enslave the country will rise early in the morning and charge meat, potatoes, shoes, gasoline, automobile tires and diamond rings with an intertidity which would cause unlimited awe in a Frenchman.

"Charge it" is the greatest substitute for money ever invented. It enables a man to spend his next month's salary with ease and safety, to ride in an automobile because he hasn't the ready cash for street car fare and to cash his hopes of wealth into a large bale of "Balance Due" and "Please Remit" statements, renewed monthly.

"Charge it" is the modern Ala Baba lamp. The worried citizen says "Charge it" and appears five minutes later in joyful raiment, thus transferring the worry to the merchant. Armed with these two precious words an American citizen with a fairly good reputation can get downtown with an empty pocketbook and return home reeking with luxury.

It is now possible to buy food, houses, clothing, steam threshers, seal skin coats, corner lots, American Beauty roses, baths, haircuts, operations, publicity and balloons on account. It is also possible, though not always easy, to pay cash for shoes, coal, prunes, water, beefsteak and underwear. It is usually easy to tell the difference between the man who says "charge it" and the man who says "How much, please?" The former is better dressed but the latter is much more visible on the first of the month.—George Fitch.

THE SOUTH'S DIMINISHING WEALTH

Forests are wealth. Four-fifths of the South's virgin timber is gone, according to Ovid M. Butler, forester of the American Forestry Association. The number of Southern mills cutting over a million feet a year decreased 20 per cent in the year 1919-1920, while in the same time the number of such mills on the Pacific coast increased by 27 per cent. The Southern mills dominated the great northern lumber markets for a score of years, by reason of their proximity to those markets and of the desirability of our yellow pine lumber. Yet that command has passed to the Pacific mills with high freight rates to pay over 3,000 miles of trans-continental railroad.

For three generations the South has led the world in the production of naval stores, as Mr. Butler remarks. "From the beginning of the naval stores industry the Southern pines have contributed practically 100 per cent of the turpentine and rosin used in this country. In addition, they have supplied for exports an amount greater than the naval stores exports of all other nations combined," says the same authority. The naval stores industry must vanish if the pine forests disappear. And Florida furnishes the greater part of the naval stores of the country.

"The application of forest management to its forest lands," is Mr. Butler's remedy for the threatened loss of the fifth of the South's forests still remaining of its original magnificent sylvan wealth. That is, the adoption of a strict consistent and enlightened system of regulation of all things connected with our forests with a view to their conservation, the forbidding of the unconscionable waste of the trees by man and the prevention of their wholesale destruction by fires, the result of carelessness or, worse, of senseless greed, as much as of unavoidable accident.—Live Stock Record.

CITIZENS ARE VERY TIRED OF CAMOUFLAGE

The editor of The Times has been permitted to read some interesting and illuminating correspondence, which recently passed between J. W. Hart, of Palatka, secretary of the capital removal association, and H. P. Adair, president of the Jacksonville chamber of commerce.

It appears that the Jacksonville chamber of commerce was invited to send representatives to the sessions of the capital removal association held in Ocala and Orlando, but both invitations were ignored; but a more insistent invitation that Jacksonville be represented at the meeting of the capital removal association being held in Palatka today at least "smoked 'em out." Mr. Adair says Jacksonville purposes to be neutral on this question which has been agitating the people of the state for years. To quote from his letter:

"If I should attend this meeting representing the Jacksonville chamber of commerce, it seems to me that I would thereby definitely pledge that body to a present active campaign for capital removal. The mere membership in your Florida State Association for Capital Removal would offend the good friends of Jacksonville in middle and western Florida; to oppose it would offend the good friends of Jacksonville that comprise the Florida State Association for Capital Removal. We value too highly the friendship of each side of this controversy to support one side against the other at this time.

"I believe that at the present time Florida is the most prosperous state of its area in the world. The whole United States knows this, and the eyes of the whole country are upon Florida. I believe that during the next few years we will see the greatest influx of population and the greatest development that this state has ever known during a like period in its history. During that time it seems to me that it is essential for the good of the whole state that we here in Jacksonville maintain the closest and most cordial relations with every section of the state, so that we may render to and receive from every section alike all possible aid and co-operation to enable all sections to take advantage of their great opportunities. This the Jacksonville chamber of commerce cannot do if it takes sides the one way or the other in the capital removal controversy.

"Therefore, I regret to say that I cannot accept the courteous invitation that you and Mr. Wilder have extended in your letter."

President Adair's letter was not satisfactory to Secretary Hart, and in his reply he indulges in some very straightforward comment on the evident purpose of the Jacksonville organization to carry water on both shoulders:

"I have more or less anticipated such a reply, after a conversation held with Mr. Snell in St. Petersburg last Friday. I doubt there is any room for 'neutrality' in the issue, once you understand it, and in view of your public utterances, if the press of Jacksonville has correctly reported them, I am lacking in the conviction that you are neutral, even if we were to take your understanding of the objects of the capital removal association as correct—and they are not.

"The sole object of the capital removal association is to determine whether the majority of the citizens of Florida want the capital removed. You cannot confuse location with this issue. Every member of the association is bound to its principles, which clearly stand out as having no interest in where the capital is removed, but as I have stated they are bound together to get an expression as to whether or not the majority want the capital removed. On that issue there is absolutely no room for neutrality.

"If, as you contend, you do not care to offend the sensibilities of any part of Florida, then I must in perfect frankness say to you that there are several sections of the state that do not understand a point you made in an address before the Rotary club of Jacksonville, that while you favored reapportionment, and you thought it would carry, that you had some misgivings of the amendment carrying if as a result of it any part of Florida hoped to make capital removal possible thereby. One commentator has put it that you are satisfied that the medicine is good, but that once you bought it, it should not be used. Your reasoning, if the press correctly reports your remarks, seems fallacious, and certainly not neutral.

"We are confident that if Jacksonville seeks to serve 'all Florida,' a point which your organization has stressed, that you are either for an expression of the majority on the issue I have mentioned or you are opposed to it. If we are going to have state unity, to which we subscribe, the nearest approach we will ever get to it is to abide by a decision of the majority, and that decision is impossible if there are any influences at work to defeat the rendering of an expression on it by all of the people.

"I want to be frank in another extreme. Florida is going to make progress only if we get expression of all Florida on this issue. Consequently we want Jacksonville to express itself. We do not want any influence that retards the expression. We don't think in justice to the progress of Florida that you can sanction the Jacksonville chamber of commerce straddling the issue or attempting to carry water on both shoulders, and we are confident that you will agree with us that apportionment when just is as safe in the hands of all the people as unjust apportionment is in the hands of a few. We are placing our reliance on that great number of fair-minded, just, liberal Jacksonville business men to say to you that the reapportionment amendment will carry in your city, and we are very pleased.

"I think you should reconsider your decision and without subjecting you to membership in the association come to Palatka on the 13th and really find out what we are bound to bring about."

It must be clearly evident, as has been convincingly presented by Mr. Hart, that Jacksonville's position on this question—if the sentiment of the people of that city is expressed by Mr. Adair—is untenable. This is an important question, and Jacksonville, the metropolis of the state, cannot remain neutral or indifferent. Business men of the community may harbor the delusion that they can "play both ends against the middle," but they will be awakened in time.

The insidious suggestion that the people of Jacksonville may vote against the pending reapportionment amendment if they get the impression that south and central Florida will use the increased power gained thereby to bring about the removal of the capital to the center of population, alleged to have been made by President Adair in a speech before the Jacksonville Rotary Club, will not promote kindly feeling in the people of this section of the state. We are asking no more than justice—compliance with the constitution. The pending measure is a compromise, but it may put us in position to compel northern and western Florida to surrender the illegal and unfair advantage arbitrarily employed the past quarter of a century.—Tampa Times.

FLORIDA IS GETTING IT "IN THE NECK."

How, in the name of common sense and good reasoning, can the railroads expect to disregard water competition in fixing their freight rates to Tampa and other Gulf ports? This principle has been taken into consideration in determining the rail tariffs to important harbors ever since the first locomotive puffed its way down the peninsula. The interstate commerce commission, time and time again, has decided that water competition is a fair and rightful basis of adjustment; yet the carriers again have the nerve at the rate hearing in Atlanta, to insist that the coast cities should pay the same proportional rates as the inland towns.

Under the proposed adjustment, the railroads propose a rate of 232 cents per 100 pounds from Atlanta to Tampa, instead of the rate of 174 as at present. From Cincinnati to Tampa they propose a rate of 290 instead of 227; from Memphis a rate of 280 instead of 220 1-2; from Chicago, 340 instead of 316 1-2; from New York 302, instead of 241 1-2; from Richmond and Lynchburg, Va., 262 instead of 197. From every shipping point in the north, Tampa jobbers will have to pay an increase of from 10 to 30 per cent in the freight charges on their goods. The wholesalers will of necessity have to increase their prices, and the public, as usual, will pay the bill.

The railroads are trying to force this increase on Tampa under the pretense of giving a decrease to the inland cities. The real truth is, according to Charles S. Hoskins, traffic manager of the Tampa board of trade, that the carriers are blinding the inland cities with reductions in freight costs over Jacksonville, but obscuring that the fact that their proposals means generally higher class rates. The inland cities in the southern portion of the state should remember, too, that the small retailer in the Tampa trading district will always look to the Tampa jobber for his supplies. In the long run, any rate increase which hurts Tampa will hurt every other city in this territory.

Every city in south Florida should wire its representative at Atlanta to stand behind Mr. Hoskins in his fight against this destructive increase. If the inland cities allow themselves to be duped into an acceptance of this misleading proposal, all Florida will suffer. No adjustment of freight rates should be considered except one which will give every section of the state a fair and equitable reduction justified by lower costs of operation.—Tampa Times.

IN AGREEMENT WITH THE BANK.

Merchants, manufacturers and others in Jacksonville who have things for sale will most heartily agree with the Atlantic National Bank which, in a foot-note to an advertisement published in the Times-Union on Monday, says:

"Patronize Home Industries. Your local merchants can supply you with everything you need and at prices as low as any foreign competitor. Why treat your own town's business firms unfairly by sending your money to other cities and thus deprive local trading institutions of their rightful due. Keep your money here and benefit Jacksonville."

This is advice that listens good, even though it is in words. But the Atlantic National Bank does not stop with words; it practices what it preaches by using liberally of advertising space. What for? To "sell" that bank to the people of Jacksonville and of Florida. Does it pay? The answer is in the bank's patronage and assets, both most generous, and, we may well believe, brought to the bank by its broad-minded advertising policy, an institution built up, maintained and steadily increased by efficient management and courteous attention to the needs of the public. Advertising is as much a department and policy of the bank as arg its deposit and investment functions. It pays the bank to advertise, to make known its facilities, its stability, else money would not be expended for printers' ink.

What is true with reference to bank advertising is true with regard to other business that depends on the public for patronage, for growth and success. Jacksonville merchants and others generally realize this and are liberal advertisers. But, at that, some of them fail to avail themselves of valuable mediums for their advertising publicity, home institutions, home publications, such as the Atlantic National Bank advises the people to patronize.

Take, for instance, the Farm and Live Stock Record, a farm journal, published in Jacksonville, but reaching out to all the state, into Georgia and Alabama and further afield for the special information that, month by month, it broadcasts for the purpose of giving definite, accurate and therefore, reliable information to tens of thousands of subscribers and readers, with reference to Florida's most important industry, agriculture, and its close second, animal husbandry.

The Farm and Live Stock Record, by its fund of information, by its encouragement of the farming industry, and of related industries, has been the means of helping very materially to develop and uphold the state's resources, has, through its news pages, attracted the attention of thousands of people in other sections of the country, and even in foreign lands, and has aided materially in deciding them to come to Florida, bringing with them millions of dollars, in the aggregate, and here establishing themselves, making more money to add to the assets by which banks and communities, its merchants and dealers, thrive and grow prosperous.

Following the Atlantic National Bank's advice, it, therefore, is to the advantage of bankers, merchants and dealers to "patronize home industries" and institutions, of which latter the Farm and Live Stock Record is one. Many who have something to sell do use the advertising columns of the publication referred to. More would derive benefit by using its advertising pages, by doing what the bank so properly advises: "Patronize home industries."—Times-Union.

BUSINESS MEN GET A POINTER.

Nearly every city where there is a large wholesale competition there is an organization which pools its issues, subscribes for all the country weeklies within its territory and engages a "clip-girl" to study every issue of each paper. The girl has to clip every article pertaining to the merchants of each city and town; to note the prices made which would indicate that something might be going wrong; get announcements of new industries—either immediate or prospective; and to report when a constant advertiser "drops out" his publicity. There are many other notations which this operative must do to meet the requirements of the men in the pool. In another column today will be seen a notice which has been received by the Florida Development Board—in which one man proposes to learn for himself where may be found the best location for a new business. Mercantile establishments nowadays make careful examination of all conditions of the city and of the locality where they expect to locate—and come to no hasty conclusions as in the days of old.—Kissimmee Gazette.

clides that advertising in all forms does not pay and he has a hard time keeping his business together. If merchants will quit this business of listening to the theorist and follow up the program that has made other men successful in this country today, they will stick to the newspaper advertising, because newspaper advertising is direct; it goes right into the hands of every member of the family and the neighbor's family and the fellow that gives you an argument that newspapers don't circulate among the people is simply showing his ignorance, because we speak from experience of what we know of The Star and it has the circulation and therefore reaches the prospective customer. Business men who concentrate on newspaper advertising and quit throwing their money away on questionable ideas which are nothing but experiments are the ones that will eventually win. Just go down the line from top to bottom and see.—Lakeland Star.

Some merchants think that all they need to do is to try a little newspaper advertising and then quit after about one splash or two. Then some "scientist" comes along and persuades them to use circulars, telling them that it beats newspapers all to pieces and reaches more people; then he will advocate and try folders, then something else and before he knows it he has scattered his efforts and his money to such an extent that nothing does him good and he either goes broke or de-

According to the Sanford Herald, the contract has been awarded for constructing the new Melsch building. The site to be occupied, which is next to the postoffice, was formerly occupied by the old Sanford House. The new building will have ground dimensions of 108 by 104 feet, and will contain five stories on the ground floor. The second floor will have modern office rooms arranged for the convenience of tenants. There will be thirty-two rooms on the second floor, and it is understood that the foundations of the building will be sufficiently strong to carry five additional stories should the patronage prospects demand more offices. The two-story building, which will be finished in a few months, will be handsome, and a credit to the city.—Times-Union.

And now the bonus bill is given to the Senate and we shall await the verdict. And while waiting we would like to say that the burden of payment should not fall on the people but on the war profiteers and the corporations that made a killing while the boys fought in the trenches for $30 a month. There are several changes that should be made in the bonus bill before it becomes a law and if the boys and the future generation are to pay the bonus instead of the ones who can afford to pay it we are dead against it.

The close associates of Henry Ford says he is not hankering for the job of president of the United States. As one of his close associates—there are only one thousand miles between us—we said several days ago that he would not and should not consider the presidency and we are quite sure he will take our advice. Henry gave us a car several months ago for $980.08 and we certainly owe him a debt of gratitude and as long as the car lasts we are not going to see our friend and benefactor get into trouble.

There is considerable fast driving on the country roads, there is considerable disrespect of all the rules of driving cars on the roads, glaring headlights are turned on while passing cars and other breaches of law and good fellowship are being violated every day and night. It might be an added expense to put on a motor cop but it would certainly teach some of the drivers good sense and shave some of the bribes off the "road hogs" and a little teaching is certainly necessary.

Germany's war secrets are being bared to American officers who are now in Berlin searching records to make text books for the training of American soldiers. We would not care to adopt the tactics employed by the German war office in the last campaign and we fail to see just why the American army wants them. The "goose stop" is a has been and was not a winner—then why adopt the failures?

A preacher up in Ohio is running for sheriff. Not a bad idea at that. Sometimes preachers are needed for sheriffs.

Another murder mystery in Jacksonville. They need more law enforcement.

What a calm and peaceful atmosphere after the election.

Lloyd have returned from a trip to Jacksonville where they attended the Retail Shoe Dealers Convention and had a fine time being entertained royally by the people of Jacksonville. REMARKABLE FILM SENSATION "OVER THE HILL" TO BE SEEN HERE

"Over the Hill" the William Fox picture of one of Will Carleton's "Farm Ballads" which broke the best record of any screen attraction that ever visited Broadway, playing there one solid year in six different theatres will be seen at the Princess Theatre Friday and Saturday of this week.

The story of "Over the Hill" was adapted from Carleton's poems by Jaul H. Sloane, who wrote a screen story that has defied criticism in this form of entertainment. The story has to do with the adversities of a typical American family, the mother of which is called upon to bear the brunt of all the shortcomings of her little flock. The principal characters, aside from the mother, are lazy father and six lively kids—one of whom is destined to figure as the "black sheep" As the story unfolds, the youngsters are seen growing to manhood and womanhood, and eventually leaving the homestead to set out into the world for themselves.

The story is worked up to one of the most beautiful climaxes ever devised and one that is said to stir the emotions of men and women as they never before have been stirred by a stage presentation. There is also abundant comedy in the picture, and the production can well be said to meet the entertainment needs of every member of any family, young and old.

SHRINERS ELECT NEW IMPERIAL POTENTATE

(By The Associated Press) SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 15. Washington, D. C., was chosen yesterday by the Imperial Council of the Order of the Mystic Shrine for its next meeting place. The council also re-elected two trustees for the shriners hospitals for crippled children. They were W. Freeland Kendrick of Philadelphia and Dr. Oscar M. Lendstrom of Helena, Mont.

James S. McCandles of Honolulu was named imperial potentate. McCandles announced he would make his headquarters in San Francisco, Conrad V. Dykeman, Kismet Temple, Brooklyn, N. Y., was advanced to the post of imperial deputy potentate; James Chandler, Kansas City to imperial chief rabban and James C. Burger, Denver, to imperial assistant rabban.

Two incumbents succeeded themselves, William S. Brown, Syria Temple, Pittsburg, as imperial treasurer and B. W. Rowell, Aleppo Temple, Boston, as imperial recorder.

Other officers elected without opposition included E. A. Fletcher, Damascus Temple, Rochester, N. Y., imperial marshal.

Early Mills, Des Moines, Iowa, was elected outside guard of the imperial divan over John Fouche, Alhambra Temple, Chattanooga. It was the only contested position.

A human river of color flowed through the streets of San Francisco last night, the shriners welcome to the potentate.

Scores of bands and Arab patrols dressed in the bright-hued oriental garb, briskly marched their way thru banked masses of spectators to the strains of highly American music.

We congratulate President Harding on his stand for the Ship Subsidy Bill and the no uncertain way in which he told Congress yesterday to pass it or come back for a special session. The Ship Subsidy bill is one of the most important bills before congress. We would like to see America with one of the greatest fleets of merchant ships in the world. It will not only give us the shipping of the world and the prestige among nations but it will give the unemployed ship carpenters plenty of work for years to come. It will make up for the loss of war ships and will mean that America will have a navy of peace ships instead of war ships. The nation with the ships is the greater nation in peace or war. Harding is right.

AFTER VACANCY IN STATE ROAD DEPT.—SOUTH FLORIDA ACTIVE

TAMPA, Fla., June 15.—With three men already in the field for appointment to succeed the late W. W. Clark, the race for the vacant place on the state road department has opened in earnest. Recognizing the fact that the west coast section of south Florida is entitled to the place, and the additional fact that the late Mr. Clark's successor must be a man thoroughly acquainted with conditions of this great and growing section, as well as with the program, in all of its details, of state road construction affecting southwest Florida, friends of the three candidates already in the field are lining up support for their favorites and announcing their attitude on the vital problems to be handled in the immediate future.

The three men so far put forward for the appointment are T. Ed Bryan, of Tampa; Frank A. Walpole, of Sarasota and L. L. Bean, of Fort Meade.

Mr. Bryan was "placed in nomination" by Tampa friends and by the Charlotte County Board of Trade, the Punta Gorda Commercial Club, C. C. Carlton, mayor of Punta Gorda, W. H. Johnson of Punta Gorda, and by the chamber of commerce of Perry, Fla.

The Sarasota County Chamber of Commerce, by A. B. Edwards, its president, is behind the candidacy of Frank A. Walpole and is actively advocating his appointment to the vacancy created by the sudden death of Mr. Clark last Sunday.

The name of L. L. Bean, Fort Meade, banker and capitalist, was put forward at a meeting at Avon Park of the associated boards of trade of central south Florida. Mr. Bean has the support of the Lakeland Chamber of Commerce as well as that of organizations as far south as Fort Myers. At yesterday's meeting at Avon Park sentiment was definitely crystallized in his favor, and Mr. Bean's consent to serve if appointed was obtained. In a statement to the representatives of the various organizations gathered that he stood for justice in the distribution of state road funds and that he was in favor of finding, if possible, a less costly program of road construction, by which it would be possible to build more roads for the dollar than can be built under the $30,000 to $40,000 per mile program. He stated that he was not in favor of cheap roads but of roads at more moderate prices, that have proven entirely successful wherever tried. Mr. Bean pledged himself to work for the completion of State Roads Nos. 2, 5 and 8, all in the First Congressional district and declared particularly for No. 5 the Tamiami Trail, linking the cities of the west coast and for No. 8, the cross-country highway.

It is well to remember, however, that the past occasionally produced a great man who hadn't a single million to his name.

Arthur Brisbane is now writing for the Jacksonville Journal. We suppose Willie Hearst will follow.

HERE IN FLORIDA

By Claude Wright in DeLand News

There is no doubt but that the reports of comparatively immense sums taken from a small acreage of certain truck crops grown in Florida have led many would be Florida farmers to gamble on their ability to do likewise and falling in their first efforts, have found themselves without the means to keep up the game long enough to win out. But these newcomers are not wholly to blame in as much as they have read in many land prospectuses wonderful accounts of so and so receiving large amounts of money for a few acres of this or that and, having raised a small bed of the same vegetables, mentioned in the land prospectus in their back yard garden, they come to the conclusion that they ought to be able to raise the same thing on a large scale little realizing what it means in initial expense to raise 10 or 20 acres of celery, or lettuce, or peppers, etc., nor giving a thought to the fact that there are many other factors which contribute to the success or failure of the financial end of those crops besides the ability to produce the crop. The packing, shipping and successful marketing of the crop has not entered into the game nor realized that there were any such factors until failure sits staring them in the face.

I recall a certain mechanic who, tiring of his trade which he worked at in the north, came down to Florida and located in a new colony. He bought ten acres of land and worked like a Trojan all summer and fall until he had his ten acres cleared and ready to plant to Irish potatoes. He studied the planting carefully and took good care of them and was successful in raising a fine crop which run about fifty barrels to the acre. A solicitor for a commission firm in New York provided him with a dandy stencil and he shipped his crop to that firm. He had paid for the seed and fertilizer and in fact had paid all expense up to loading the potatoes in the cars. He loaded four hundred and sixty-eight barrels and figured that if he received $1,500 gross he would be well off and at the prices then prevailing he should have received at least that amount. Imagine his keen disappointment upon receiving $112.00 for his entire crop. The man came over to my house and showed me the check and the letter, which came with it, expressing regret that the potatoes had arrived in bad order but at considerable expense they had been able to salvage a small percentage of salable potatoes and "herewith find statement and check enclosed."

Now what to do; the man had never heard of anything but potatoes being raised in that section as a cash crop and it would be a whole year before another crop could be raised and he would not have the money to finance the crop anyway. He had five acres of corn planted, his good wife had about a hundred pullets which were about ready to lay and I advised him to buy a good cow, which could be purchased at that time for about $40, plant three acres to sweet potatoes, and two acres to cow peas and, when the corn was ready to lay aside, plant velvet beans in the corn field and plant sun flowers around the edge of the entire ten acres. He took my advice, but went further, he made a small garden near the house, obtained some cypress poles from a swamp near by and made a shade for the garden where he raised what vegetables his family needed for their own use and incidentally kept a little spare change in the house during the summer from the sale of vegetables which he grew in his shaded garden. His chickens soon began to lay and his wife sold butter and cottage cheese and eggs enough so that she felt justified in buying another cow and going in debt for the larger part of the purchase price and in a short time she had made the cow "pay for itself" by the sale of the products she made from the milk.

In the fall my friend harvested nine hundred bushels of sweet potatoes, eight hundred of which he sold at 50c a bushel and kept one hundred bushels for his own use. Then he bought ten hogs and turned them in where he had dug the sweet potatoes and in about six weeks had them rolling fat on the roots and small potatoes which were left in the field when he sold them at a good profit. He sold two tons of peavine hay on the place at $20 a ton and had enough hay left for his own use, he sold enough velvet beans to an Atlanta firm to buy what wheat and meat scraps he needed to mix with his corn and sun flower seed for his chickens and to purchase bran and oil meal for his cows. In the fall he planted four acres to vegetables of all kinds and managed to have something to sell every week. In fact he never went to town but that he had something along with him to sell.

I left that place that fall and did not see my friend for ten years after but when I did see him he was not the despondent fellow I knew him to be when he showed me the check for $112 from the commission firm but instead he had acquired a farm of forty acres, had a nice home with his own electric light plant and water-works, ten acres of his farm was irrigated; he was the possessor of 20 head of thoroughbred Jersey cattle, had a motor truck as well as a car and he told me that should he write his check for two thousand dollars he was certain it would be cashed. I asked him then how strong he goes into the potato game. He winked and replied that some years he raised as high as four acres for the potato market.

Now I have not told this story to wind up with "What this man did, you can do," but to show that the real, good clean, steady way of making money on a farm in Florida is not all in growing the big money crops that we hear so much about but with perseverance coupled with intelligent application, certain success will come from dairy cattle, chickens, hogs and a diversification of crops and to prove what I have said before, that more net returns can be made and made easier on twenty acres here in Florida than can be made on one hundred acres in the north devoted to general farming and I want to ask: Where else can these things be done outside of Florida?

The Turks are massacring Greeks again and hanging their heads on poles and America and England and France and all the other allies are allowing it. Part of our interest in the late war was the idea that Turkey would be wiped off the map and yet we find her stronger than ever, we find her more cruel than ever, we find her wielding the scimeter stronger than ever and nothing is done about it because of European politics. It is about time the Near East Relief and other reliefs spent some money on trying to put Turkey out of business before spending any more money on fool that falls into the hands of the Turks nine times out of ten instead of feeding the starving christians. The greatest relief the civilized world can have at present is the demolition of Turkey.

The American Automobile Association is doing a great work all over the United States in building good roads and making automobiling what it should be. They are now concentrating on the southeast and if the people will join them in their efforts they will see that good roads extend to the southeast through the portions of the mountains that have been inaccessible for years. They also see that tourists get a square deal from garages and from different counties, frame better auto laws and do all they can in making touring by auto the great sport and pleasant pastime that it should be.

About the only nation that appears to be making progress in the direction of peace is imagination.

PRIZE ESSAY THAT WON HONOR IN SANFORD HIGH

Medal Given to Winner, Miss Georgia Mobley, by Colonial Daughters

The essay on "The Importance of Preserving Our Forests," written by Miss Georgia Mobley of the Sanford High School that won the prize given by the National Society of Colonial Daughters is requested space in the local paper as one of the requisites of being given recognition by the society.

Within the last few years there have been published thousands upon thousands of pages dealing with the forest situation in America. Text-books and bulletins, congressional documents, presidents' and governors' messages, magazine articles, and hundreds of columns in the newspapers have been discussing our forest affairs.

The two main causes of the destruction of forests are: the forest fires and destructive forms of lumbering. Careless smokers, foresters tell us, are responsible for numbers of these fires.

For over a century the nature of this forest trouble has been stated time and again by many competent observers. In 1905, for instance, President Roosevelt said, "If the present rate of forest destruction is allowed to continue, with nothing to offset it, a timber famine is inevitable."

Between 1905 and 1907, some 150,000,000 acres of national forests came into existence, and many state forests were created also, which were placed under the care of trained foresters.

ests, where they were kept very busy indeed. During the war hundreds of our foresters went to France, where they worked side by side with French foresters in the old "handmade" French forests.

In 1919, the following report, which served to wake up some of our people, was submitted by an investigating committee of lumbermen:

- "1.—The United States is the world's greatest lumber consumer.
"2.—The bulk of all our standing timber is privately owned.
"3.—The privately owned forests have been, and are being, devastated.
"4.—The acreage of idle forest lands is already enormous, and is rapidly increasing.
"5.—A timber shortage has already developed.
"6.—The timber shortage will soon become more acute.
"7.—The timber shortage is due to forest devastation.
"8.—Nothing yet done or heretofore proposed offers an adequate remedy.
"9.—The only possible remedy is to keep enough forest land growing trees.
"10.—To maintain our forests in continuous production is easily practicable."

From this report, the seriousness of the situation may be seen. Colonel Graves, chief of the Forest Service said, "The lumberman is killing his forests; lumbering must stop. In its own behalf, and for its own protection the public must intervene."

Today we have some 150,000,000 acres in the National Forests, and some 4,000,000 acres in the state forests, but all the timber on those acres is worth less than that of the farm woodlots.

The people who are most interested in the preservation of our forests are the lumbermen, the industries dependent on forest products, the farmers, the foresters, and the forward-looking citizens of the United States.

HART-MIDDLETON The wedding of Ruby Elmly Hart and Arthur Herman Middleton took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. D. Hart on Geneva avenue at 8 o'clock the evening of June 7th. Dr. Walker performed the ceremony using the ring service.

The parlor where the wedding took place was decorated with vases of pink roses and fern and a bridal bower was made of asparagus fern, lady bamboo and pink hydrangea under which the wedding party were assembled. First came the maid of honor, Miss Margaret Zachary, followed by the dainty little flower girl, Marion Estridge bearing the bride's bouquet. The bride entered with her father who gave her in marriage. The party was met by the groom and his best man, Tom Brotherson. Mrs. Boyd was at the piano and accompanied Miss Herminia Lehman, who sang just preceding the ceremony, "Oh, Promise Me" by DeKoven. The Lehengrinn wedding march was played as the party was taking its place, and again Miss Lehman sang softly and sweetly during the ceremony, "Oh Promise Me" by D'Hordelop. The bride, a dainty brunette, was very sweet and lovely in her frock of white, Canton Crepe made basque effect and trimmed in shirred white Satin ribbon and wearing a long bridal veil of white tulle with tiny clusters of white ostrich feathers on the border, the veil was held in place with a wreath of orange blossoms. The bride's bouquet was bride's roses and asparagus fern. Miss Zachary's frock was of green tulle made basque effect. She carried pink roses and fern. Little Miss Estridge was dressed in dainty white organdie.

Cake and brick ice cream were served at the conclusion of the ceremony which carried out the chosen color of pink and white. There were about 150 guests, among them the bride's paternal grandmother and great aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Miller and the girls from the bride's Sunday school class, the Dependable Class from the M. E. church.

The out-of-town guests were: Mr. Middleton's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bellamy and family of Sorrento; a brother, Berlin Middleton and Mrs. Mabel Register, of Palatka, and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Proctor, of Geneva; Mrs. I. C. Hughes, Mrs. Kate Powell and Mrs. Edna Ogilvie, of DeLand.

There were many lovely gifts, among them a beautiful chest of silver from Mr. and Mrs. Hart, cut glass, China, silver, table and bed linens and a beautiful mahogany clock and many other things.

The happy couple are spending their honeymoon at Daytona Beach. The bride's going away frock was of blue taffeta trimmed in Henna with accessories to match. They will be at home on Geneva avenue after July 1st. Both bride and groom are favorites with a large circle of friends. The bride is a graduate of Sanford High School class of 1921. The groom has been a valued employe at the McCuller store for the past four years. One and all wish them a long and happy life together.—Written by Mabel C. Ellsworth.

CANDIDATES FOR SPEAKER OF NEXT HOUSE ARE BUSY

TALLAHASSEE, June 13.—Candidates for speaker of the next House of Representatives are now making vigorous canvasses, and five have already signified their intention of making the race. L. D. Edge of Cleveland, Lake county, is a candidate. Mr. Edge was speaker pro tem during the 1921 session and made a fine record as a presiding officer at the times he was called to the chair.

Eugene S. Mathews of Starke, Bradford county, has announced that he will be in the race. Mr. Mathews was a member of the legislatures of 1905, 1907 and again in 1911. He was speaker of the house in 1907 and made a splendid record as a presiding officer.

Forest Lake of Sanford, Seminole county, has announced his candidacy. Mr. Lake is an experienced legislator having represented his county in the sessions of 1911, 1913 and 1915.

Friends of Amos Lewis, of Marianna, Jackson county, say he will be an active candidate for speaker. Mr. Lewis represented his county in the legislatures of 1915, 1917 and 1919.

A. W. McLaren of Wellborn, Suwannee county, is being urged by his friends to enter the contest, but he has not yet made formal announcement of his candidacy.

The Taylor County Herald has nominated W. T. Hendry, who will represent Taylor in the 1923 session for speaker and strongly urges his fitness for that important position.

It is probable that others will enter the contest and that the caucus of 1923 will be one of the liveliest held in many years.—Palatka News.

GUN CLUB TRANSFERRED PROPERTY

TO THE ELKS LAST NIGHT AND THE ELKS WILL GET BUSY AT ONCE

The transfer of the property of the Rod and Gun Club was made last night at a meeting held in the court house and this fine club building now becomes the property of the Sanford Elks lodge. The property consists of a fine club house and an acre of land situated on the lake front just off of Second street an dthe plans of the building will make it an ideal Elks lodge room and club house. The Sanford lodge will take on new life now that they have their own quarters again and the members are planning a big campaign for membership to be started with a big celebration to be held some time in July to which all the lodges in this part of the state will be invited.

Water Traffic League Had a Good Meeting at the Valdez Hotel

The Central Florida Water Traffic League held a preliminary meeting at the Valdez hotel, Sanford, Thursday afternoon for the purpose of discussing a new brief which will be set up, and the drafting of a map which will show several proposed water routes, and which will be presented at the hearing in Sanford on June 27 by the Government engineer. Several members of the league from Orlando and Sanford were present and discussed plans in which valuable information for this project could be obtained and placed in the proposed brief and map which will be one of the sources of interest at the next meeting. The map will show the proposed water route, the railroads and all canals which have already been constructed in various parts of the state. It will also indicate the old and new hard surfaced roads which are now under construction. One of the most valuable items of interest which will be a large acreage that would be needed if canals were built. A plan was also put under way for securing of new members of the league. At the meeting on June 27 the committee will be engaged to sign new members of the league, and expected by officials of the organization that at this time the membership list will be increased several per cent. New members are needed in this organization and urged by the officials for people to take a large interest in it so money may be obtained for the uses of a representative whom would like to send to Washington. By sending a man to the capitol results could be obtained as would be striking at the very heart of which aid will probably come. The plan of the league is to send several men to this place to for the project.

A new member was added to the league and the Sanford people stated they were working every day on the project and hoped to soon be able to port a list of new members. One of the valuable points brought out at the meeting was that a number of the men would be willing to agree to certain per cent of their property water if these canals were constructed. All reports from different places in the state indicate that are greatly enthused over the project and are working for new members. The main thing that the league especially needs at this time is men and all people interested in the organization are urged to join as soon as possible. Good results have been experienced from this project, as a woman whose name is held purchased several thousand worth of property in Brevard county enthusiastic meeting is expected to take place on the 27th as a time people from all over the state will be present and several meetings will be placed on the stand by as to the good the canals.

THE COMMERCIAL GROWTH OF SANFORD

By FLORENCE LAWSON, in Times-Union

Sunday's Times-Union gave Sanford a half page filled with views of the city and the following glimpse of the commercial growth of the city as seen by Florence Lawson, special writer on the Times-Union, who was sent here last week for that purpose:

From the moment you see the cozy homes set back on wide streets with well kept lawns shaded by tall, beautiful trees you know that Sanford is a substantial, growing town.

They are not merely houses, they are homes harboring happy families of contented well-being. You know they love their homes for there is evidence in not only the cleanliness and look of comfort—but in the flowers and nicely trimmed hedges and shrubbery in the gardens each home possesses despite its grandeur or humbleness.

The farther you walk in the residential section the more you suspect that there must be a secret society at work whose motto is: My home shall be cozier than yours.

Charity may begin at home—but of greater importance success begins there. A real home and its environment is the inspiration spurring a man on to the heights.

Is it any wonder then that Sanford, with its background of homes should be making such rapid strides in commerce? Every six months records an improvement and marks some unusual growth here.

The next half year will witness the erection of several important buildings.

The Meisch building, a two story block building, is being erected on the north side of First street, next to the post office, probably one of the best locations in Sanford. It will have five stores with thirty-two offices above, modern in every respect, even to being equipped with a sprinkler system.

Mr. John Meisch, its owner, is one of Sanford's leading citizens, a prominent grower and holder of Sanford real estate. With characteristic Sanford foresightedness, he has planned this building with an eye to the future. Five additional stories may be added to the building whenever the need arises.

All of Sanford has been laid out in the same foresighted manner. The wide streets show that they are planning now on being 500,000 strong some day, and when they do Sanford will be elastic enough to accommodate that many and more.

The Meisch building, it is said, will cost $65,000. Talley, of Lakeland, is the architect.

The building on the northeast corner of First and Park streets is owned by Dr. S. Puleston and L. A. Brumley, who are contemplating the erection of a business block and annex to the Valdez hotel. The old building is now being torn down, but definite plans have not been finished for the new building, which, it is estimated will cost about $75,000.

Charles Merriwether has had the old Magnolia House torn down, and is building in its place a modern two-story office block, with stores on the ground floor and offices above. This building will cost between $30,000 and $40,000.

Mr. Merriwether is also one of Sanford's successful growers.

Another indication of Sanford's growth is the erection of the First National Bank building, on the southeast corner of First and Park streets, which will cost approximately $150,000, and be six stories high. The site alone is said to have cost $30,000.

The banking space will cover 50x 180 feet, and without a doubt this will be one of the finest bank buildings in the state. The New York architects, Mowbray and Fussinger, have been engaged for the work. They excel in planning bank buildings, having contracted on that work, and are responsible for many fine bank buildings erected in Florida.

In addition two new garages are being built, one of them to be owned by the San Juan Garage Company, of Orlando.

O. P. Herndon is planning a motion picture house which promises to be one of the biggest in the South when completed.

An enthusiastic and aggressive chamber of commerce is in part responsible for many improvements.

A bond issue of $625,000 was voted and passed upon on May 17, $60,000 of which will be used to build a new primary school and for remodeling the high school and renovating other school buildings.

Congested conditions made this necessary, and is another indication of Sanford's fast growth.

$15,000 has been set aside for a public library, and $32,000 for sewerage improvements and extensions to subdivisions quickly springing up around Sanford. Plans have been made to pave ten additional miles of city streets, $60,000 is to be spent on a yacht basin and municipal pier.

An eighteen-hole golf course is under construction, nine holes of which have been laid out and about ready for play.

Hitherto Sanford and celery have been synonymous—and although acres and acres of celery are planted and shipped, it is not the only means of livelihood as can be ascertained by its steady growth in commercial and other directions.

Business Continues Steady Improvement Throughout Country

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, June 12.—Indications of industrial improvements, signs of a renewed easing in money rates and diverse testimony as to crop conditions are the features in business and finance of the past week. Commodity prices still show a firmer tone, retail trade is about what might be expected at this time of year, and the labor situation shows no decided change. Altogether, the picture continues to be one of gradual but fairly steady recovery from depression—a recovery in fact which on the whole exceeds expectations entertained earlier in the year.

From the industrial field, recent reports show that the steel plants are still operating at rates which compare favorably with full capacity operations before the war—even if those rates correspond to only seventy-five per cent of present capacity. Steel prices are firm and most of the companies appear to be making modest profits. The value of building contracts let in twenty-seven northeastern states during May set a new high record for all time and was six times greater than the monthly average during 1914.

Automobile production during May also exceeded all previous records, while the steel companies report increased demand from manufacturers of agricultural implements. Railroad car loadings rose in the week ending May 27 to a level comparable to that prevailing before the coal strike and the movement of merchandise was sixteen per cent greater than the same week a year ago. Orders for railroad equipment continue to be placed in satisfactory volume.

Latest reports from the northwest indicate, meanwhile that the prospects are for a good wheat crop.

Prices of wheat for future delivery have, to be sure, declined sharply in the last few weeks, but a liberal supply of grain at fair prices is considered to hold out better prospects for general business than a short crop at high prices.

On this basis, cotton prospects are not so encouraging. Floods have washed out important growing areas in the southwest while the mild winter and wet spring have aided the boll weevil and delayed planting. Further rains during the past week in many parts of the belt causing something resembling a short crop. As a result, prices jumped to the highest since last November, the leading futures closing 22 cents.

Whether prices will rise further or discourage consumption remains to be seen. It is clear, however, that the consequences of a short crop will be mitigated by the effect on the carry-over, which has been reduced to approximately normal proportions.

Do the right thing at the right time. Act quickly in time of danger. In time of kidney danger, Doan's Kidney Pills are most effective. Plenty of Sanford evidence of their worth. Ask your neighbor!

Miss Ruth H. Phelps, 318 Palmetto Ave., Sanford, says: "I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills as I have used them and know what they are. I was tired all the time and lacked energy. I had pains in my back and often specks came before my eyes and confused me. I felt bloated badly and my kidneys did not act as they should. Another member of my family had used Doan's Kidney Pills so I procured some at the Union Pharmacy. Doan's cured me of the trouble and I am glad to say a good word for them."

BAND CONCERTS TO BE RESUMED BY OUR BAND

COLLECTIONS MADE BY COMMITTEES HAVE BEEN TURNED IN

Committees from the various civic organizations appointed to raise funds for the band during the week May 1st to 6th have turned in their final reports which show $688.45 collected. The following individuals collected the sum set opposite their names. In addition there were a great many smaller amounts collected by individuals not on the committee:

G. F. Smith	$100.00
Ed. Higgins	75.00
Mrs. R. E. Tolar	52.50
Fred Williams	71.50
Mrs. J. T. Brady	34.00
W. E. Scoggan	26.00
Randall Chase	31.00
A. K. Rossiter	25.00
Fred Walsma	24.00
F. Woodruff	23.00
W. M. McKinnon	18.00
Deane Turner	13.00

There has been disbursed from this fund the following amounts:
April concerts $200.35
May concerts 278.50
Cost and printing of tags. 32.50

Leaving an amount of $105.45 to defray the expenses of the band.

The results of Bank Week were very disappointing to those who had this matter in charge and rather than have the citizens of Sanford deprived of these concerts the Chamber of Commerce has made arrangements to give a gala dance at Lark Mary Casino Thursday, June 29th. Bandmaster Ball has been appointed chairman of the committee on arrangements and this affair will be given wide publicity.

It is hoped that by drawing from neighboring communities a large attendance will be secured and sufficient money raised to assure the band the necessary funds to continue their weekly concerts.

A number of local people have the mistaken idea that since the band has been mustered in as a military outfit they are receiving the same money the city and Chamber of Commerce paid them. This, however, is not the case. There are a number of players in the military outfit who are not members of the city band. Those who constituted the city band have specialized on concert selections and it was for this service and class of music that they were paid. As a military organization their repertoire will be chiefly marches and it is hardly fair to expect them to put in the extra time rehearsing for concerts without some compensation. Further particulars of the dance to be held at Lake Mary Casino on June 29th for the benefit of the band will be given later.

MORTGAGED HOMES.

There was recently published a statement relative to the ownership of homes in New York state. According to that statement the number of homes other than "farm houses" was 2,240,931, of which 597,753, or 26.7% were owned by the occupants. Of these owned homes, 329,438, or 55.1% were mortgaged. Thus, over half of the private homes in New York state are mortgaged.

Possibly this exhibit of mortgaged homes is exceptional. Study of 1920 census statistics on the subject seems to indicate that in large industrial states the number of mortgaged homes is greater than in agricultural states, both in number and per centages. Indeed, such indication hold good with the exception of states where farming is conducted on a large scale. In so such state, however, are farm mortgages on the average of long duration, they evidently being cleared by crop sales within a few years. Mortgages on private homes invariably extend over large periods.

Farm mortgages are for "business" purposes. Mortgages on private homes on the other hand, are a means to the end of home-owning. Home-owning is incentive to saving, and is more thrifty when it comes within earning capacity than rent-paying is. This is why such organizations as building and loan associations encourage the buying and building of homes when over there is enough capital and future prospects to warrant.

Mortgaged homes are much more creditable than rented homes. In spite of the mortgage the home-owner gains a different and more advantageous status in society. He gives evidence of substantiability and permanence, and has credit he otherwise would not have.—Florida Post.

The Hof-Mac Battery Co., is not going to put in a radio receiving station, they already have it in. This is good news for the amateurs in Sanford for Billy Hofmann is a good fellow and is ready to help any radio enthusiast with his troubles.

Billy is very much interested in the Radio Amateur and will in the near future have his Radiophone relay in operation whereby the radio fan will not have to install an expensive outfit but can catch all the big broadcast concerts as they are received and relayed by Billy.

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

IF MIXED WITH SULPHUR IT DARKENS SO NATURALLY NOBODY CAN TELL.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive.—Adv.

Druggist Sells 12 Gross (1728 Bottles) of FERRALINE in Short Period. Only Wonderful Properties Could Sell a Medicine So Fast.

In a recent letter received by the Ferraline Medicine Company, the owner of Ortmann's Drug Store, a thriving Mobile, Ala. company, says: "Your salesman strolled into the store and introduced Ferraline. After listening to what he had to say, decided to try three dozen, classing it along the lines of patent medicines. In three days I ordered a gross and with your line of advertising, it has been one gross after another and up to the present time I have handled twelve gross. Going some for one kind of medicine. It sold strictly on its merits and I consider it one of the best repeaters I have handled. Hundreds of people have taken from one to a dozen bottles.

Could a medicine sell like this unless it really did bring to those suffering from rheumatism's aches and pains, indigestion's pangs and the effects of impure blood and poor functioning kidneys and liver, real and satisfactory relief? No. These large sales prove that Ferraline is what we claim it to be. Nature's one greatest tonic.—Adv.

Cadet Aviator of Carlstrom Field Found by Indian

ARCADIA, June 12.—Treed by a panther and compelled to spend the greater part of a night in the branches of a cypress in the wilds of the Big cypress country; devoured by mosquitoes; his clothes torn to tatters by the cruel teeth of the giant sawgrass of the south Florida swamps; without food for nearly forty hours—these were among the experiences of Cadet Raymond White, Carlstrom Field, aviator, whose plane crashed in the wilds of southeastern Lee county last Thursday about noon, and who returned to the flying field yesterday afternoon in one of the planes that had searched for him since Thursday.

Cadet White, whose home is at Pritchett, Tex., was making a practice flight from Carlstrom Field to Okeechobee City and return last Thursday part of the flight was completed without incident and Cadet White flying alone, started on the return trip, becoming turned around and losing his bearings and his sense of direction completely almost as soon as he started.

Instead of flying northwestwardly White headed his plane almost due south. When at a point about forty miles southeast of Immokalee, Lee county, his fuel tank ran dry and his plane crashed. The plane was completely wrecked, but White escaped injury.

He stayed with the wrecked plane until the sun had sunk far enough to give him his direction. Then White started to walk toward the northwest looking for signs of human habitation but finding none.

With his clothing torn to tatters, and bitten almost beyond endurance by the swarms of mosquitoes in the swampy saw grass, darkness overtook White in the edge of the Big Cypress and he prepared to spend the night under a tree. During the night one of the huge panthers that infest that remote section chased the aviator into the branches of the tree, and there he remained until daylight drove the beast away.

Continuing his tramp, foodless and with only the swamp water to quench his thirst, young White was picked up Friday evening about 5 o'clock by a Seminole Indian and was taken to the camp of a small band of the southern Seminoles. There he spent the night, proceeding Saturday to another camp several miles distant. On the way two of the searching planes from Carlstrom Field were sighted but signals from the young aviator and his Seminole guide were not seen and the planes passed on.

Saturday afternoon the aviator and his Indian guide reached Kennedy Carson's ranch where the night was passed and White had the first meal of white man's grub he had eaten since Thursday morning. Early yesterday morning Carson started with White in a buckboard for Immokalee. On the way another searching plane was sighted and Carson and White signalling with a sheet, attracted the attention of the flyers, the plane making a landing.

White was taken aboard and the plane made the return flight to Carlstrom Field, reaching there shortly before dark yesterday evening. White suffered no ill effects of his harrowing experience beyond a myriad bites of mosquitoes, the fright caused by the visit of the panther in the Big Cypress and the exhaustion of his walk, in which he covered at least fifty miles of the worst country in south Florida.

PERSONAL NOTES

(From Monday's Daily)

Roy Howard, the bard of Pahokee is here for the summer, after spending the past few months at the banana plantation on Lake Okeechobee.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Middleton have returned from a wedding tour to points on the east coast and their many friends are congratulating them upon their safe arrival.

B. A. Howard, who owns lots of that muck land and about all the hot air around Okeechobee, is in town, getting acquainted with his family and meeting his host of friends here.

Soundings have been made for the First National Bank building and the excavation will commence at once. Much care had to be exercised in making the soundings as the building will be six stories in height and will require a good foundation.

The many friends of P. M. Boyd will be glad to hear that he is able to sit up and will soon be out again. He has been too ill to get around and his friends all over Sanford have missed him greatly especially the Sunday school classes and the members of the Methodist church.

The Coca Cola Bottling Company of this city has recently installed one of the latest electrically driven bottling machines on the market. It is entirely automatic in action, much faster than the old style machines and Manager Farish is very proud of it. The public is cordially invited to call and see the new machine in operation.

Volie Williams returned this morning from Jacksonville where he went to get some cars and among them was one of the new Sport Models of the Eight Oldsmobile. This is the car that caused a furor here and elsewhere in the state and Volie has already had several customers for the sport model. It is certainly a good looking model.

Man named Carrol had a bad accident on the Sanford Orlando road yesterday when a car coming out of a side road swung almost into him and he had to turn off the road quickly overturning his car. He broke the Dodge up a trifle, but being a Dodge it escaped bad injury and Carrol escaped with a few bruises and scratches. Another accident occurred on Celery avenue when a negro driver draped his Lizzie around a telegraph pole causing much pain and bruises to all the Lizzies present.

A Winter Park Man, when approached for an ad in that burg's homepaper, is reported to have said that advertising didn't pay. That would seem to lend color to the assertion that Florida is the "last frontier." Wonder, now, how did he ever get that way?

MOST IMPORTANT ROAD IN FLORIDA IS NEGLECTED BY STATE ROAD DEPARTMENT

By F. M. BURT

The question of at least ONE serviceable highway leading from the northern states down through Georgia into Florida and thence to Central and South Florida where passable roads are encountered, is a matter that should be taken up immediately and vigorously by the State Road Department.

The present Road Department have the acts and commissions of their predecessors to contend with; they have various influences brought to bear on them that tend to scatter energies and funds; and criticism that is just and unjust. However, we all have our troubles and, at this stage of the game they know or ought to know that with the funds now available or that will probably be available for a long time to come that ALL State and State Aid Roads will not be standardized their entire length for many years, and, that the logical and practical plan is to concentrate work on the Main State Roads known as Roads 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8, and refuse to consider any new project until those roads are finished.

It is also known that the State Roads, Nos. 2, 3, and 4 are the ones which accommodate the most travel and will for years to come. It is also well known that these three roads are in bad condition. That is, Road No. 2 is in poor condition between Ocala and Lake City, a large extensive stretch; Road No. 3 from De Leon Springs to Jacksonville (is in bad shape in some links, but for a comparatively short distance; and, Road No. 4 from Ormond to Jacksonville, a long expensive stretch is in poor condition.

Thus it will be seen that these three important State Highways are choked at their throat.

Judge H. B. Phillips, Chairman of the State Road Department, in an address to the American Automobile Association Delegates, in January said in part that there could be built in one year a system of roads that would enable the people of Florida to travel in comfort to South Florida—not hard surface them—but in them in condition for travel. He mentioned Roads 2 and 4, but said nothing about Road No. 3. By looking at the State Road Map it will be seen that Road No. 3 is the shortest route; goes through the most populated and productive land, and, can be made safe and comfortable to travel from Jacksonville to DeLand with less expenditure of time and money than any other route. South of DeLand the roads are in serviceable shape for travel over to Orlando and from which point the traveler may proceed over good roads to either the west or East coasts or Central Florida. Road No. 3 is not only a State Road but is an Intra-state road as it connects with Road No. 4 running from Jacksonville to the Georgia line and with Road No. 1 running from Jacksonville to Lake City and thence over Road No. 2 from Lake City to the Georgia line connecting with the Valdosta road. The bulk of the travel to and from Florida is over the Valdosta and Wacross roads, which connect with Road No. 3, the shortest route south, to relieve all of Central and South Florida.

Why Judge Phillips ignored Road No. 3 in his address is not known.

Roads 1, 2 and 4 are very important; but, Road No. 3 is more important due to the fact that it can be placed in serviceable condition, is not first-class standard shape, quickly; and, which would be in the way of an emergency measure and relieve all of Central and South Florida through the Gateway City of Jacksonville, and thereafter build those long expensive Roads Nos. 2 and 4 as funds are available in a Standard manner. Just why Judge Phillips ignored Road No. 3 many people would like to know.

During January contracts were awarded for road construction work amounting to two million dollars or more by the Road Department; but bids for the Volusia County stretch of Road No. 3 were neglected, and so far as published reports are concerned it was the only project turned down. Since Judge Phillips stated that bids were rejected because all bids were too high. People would like to know whether they were too high because the District money available would not cover the expense, without the State contributing, or whether they were too high based on the work compared with like work on similar projects?

It is understood that the Volusia County link of Road No. 3 was made a Federal Aid Project; that a Federal inspector was on the work for six months or more and then discharged or allowed to go and thus automatically cancelled Federal Aid. The District contributed $8,333.33 per mile to this road; the State Road Department contracted to do the work on this road according to specifications of the Bureau of Roads at Washington. It is understood they asked for bids and let contracts for the bridges and culverts without having them constructed according to specifications and under the inspection of the Bureau of Roads at Washington as per their contract with the County Commissioners of Volusia county. The people would like to have an explanation of this seeming act.

The Road Department in asking for bids on this road, ask for bids on shell and crushed rock base. A special Act of the Legislature and the Contract between the State Road Department specifically states that a Macadam Road 10 feet wide shall be built the base of which shall be of coquina rock or Ocala lime rock or their equal.

A Macadam Road means something. John McAdam (a Scotch engineer, invented this road, and the specification are "That the top soil of a roadway be removed to a depth of 14 inches. Coarse cracked stone is then laid to a depth of 7 inches and the interstices and surface depressions are filled with fine cracked stone. Over these, as a bed, is placed a layer 7 inches of road metal or broken stone of which no piece is larger than 2 1/2 inches in diameter. This is rolled down with heavy rollers and the top is finished with stone crushed to a dust or fine gravel, and rolled smooth."

Knowing a true description of Macadam Road as engineers know it, be acceptable in Florida; but, shell or crushed rock for a base would be so far from the specifications and so impractical that they should not be considered for a moment.

When new highways are built they should be built with the idea of permanency as the chief factor.

We do not know whether or not, in asking for bids on Macadam road construction the Road Department have asked for bids for shell or crushed rock bids on roads other than this particular stretch. 'Shell' covers a wide field in Florida.

Small shell, oyster shell, conglomerate shell, etc., are used with varying degrees of failure in road building. In fact, shell roads are probably the most expensive roads known on account of their maintenance cost. Possibly some kind of shell may have passed through a laboratory test as a base for a Macadam road, and a good illustration of this is on the DeLand-Daytona road. Rock was used for the base of the East end of this Macadam road and shell for the West end and although the West end was laid more than a year after the East end it is breaking up while the East end is practically intact.

To make Road No. 3 safe and comfortable and take the cork out of the end of the neck of the bottle to relieve Central Florida and all of the East Coast to Miami and the West Coast to Tampa only requires:

DUVAL COUNTY to repair her brick road to the Clay county line.

CLAY COUNTY to repair her asphalt road from the Duval county line to Green Cove Springs and build a new road a comparatively short distance from Green Cove Springs to the Putnam County line.

PUTNAM COUNTY to repair and build a road from the Clay county line to Sisco, a relatively short distance. From Sisco to the Volusia county a Standard road is now being built.

VOLUSIA COUNTY to complete the road which is now graded from the Putnam county line to DeLeon Springs. This stretch of 10 miles has been graded and bridges and culverts built (but not in accordance to contract) and the state Road Department have contracted to put in the base but are extremely slow in executing it. In fact have not started. They also agreed to put on the finishing coats and complete the road when 'Funds may be available' which may mean little or much.

When the State Road Department is approached they seem to be adverse to talking about Road No. 3. When written they do not answer pertinent questions but say, 'yes, we realize the importance of Road No. 3. It is having our consideration, etc., etc.'

action on this road. The Volusia county Board of Education have petitioned to put this road into condition in order that children may reach schools. Individuals have petitioned, without results. But nothing happens while work on other scattered projects seems to progress.

The question arises, what are the people of Duval, Clay, Putnam, Volusia and Seminole counties, and in fact all of Central and South Florida, going to do about the matter. It would seem that patience has ceased to be a virtue.

It would seem that the Road Department should strain a point and place Road No. 3 in passable condition between Jacksonville and DeLeon Springs, even though funds are diverted from other and less important projects.

If the State Road Department desire the support of the public when appropriations are asked for they will undoubtedly secure it if they practice strict economy and rigid honesty; and, officiously in showing something "done in main Highways. The public generally speaking do not hesitate about being taxed if they receive value or feel that they are going to get their money's worth, but they do protest against large appropriations when they have little or no confidence as to whether or not their money will be spent judiciously and not scattered so thin that results cannot be seen.

Farm Bureau Plans Concerned Drive for Ford's Shoals Offer

Federation Favors Action on Bid Immediately

WASHINGTON, June 12.—A campaign for acceptance of Henry Ford's Muscle Shoals offer at this session of congress was begun last night by the American Farm Bureau Federation, whose Washington representative, Gray Silver, forwarded to state secretaries of the organization a circular suggesting that members of congress be informed "in unmistakable terms" of the sentiment of the farmers toward the Ford plan.

"There is no assurance" said the letter, "that the proposal will be still proffered if it is not accepted before adjournment. The offer was made one year ago and the time has come to say 'yes' or 'no'. This cause is worthy of your most active support. Members of congress cannot reflect your desires unless you tell them in unmistakable terms that you want a vote on the Ford proposal and that you want it accepted at this session."

The federation, which under Mr. Ford's offer would be one of three farm organizations having membership on an administrative board organized to regulate fertilizer sales and audit the transaction of the plant, calls attention to the differences that have arisen in the house military committee over the question and suggests that the "Gorgas plant controversy" "is not the true issue before congress."

"It has been raised by the Alabama Power Company," the circular continues, "which is acting as the mouth piece of all the special interest groups that are opposed to the Muscle Shoals development. The real issue is between the consuming public and these special interest groups. These great interests are the fertilizer manufacturers and allied interests, the by-product coke ovens with their related steel interests, the water power group, the aluminum monopoly, the chemical combine and the financial interests."

It is declared further in the circular that the Ford proposal "inaugurates a new method of developing our great natural resources with low interest rates and amortization of the cost," in addition to giving to a board of farmers the regulation of distributing methods.

FERTILIZER FOR CITRUS TREES

Now is the time for Summer application of fertilizer to citrus trees to serve the double purpose of creating new growth, which is the foundation for next year's crop, and of developing the crop now on the trees. Summer Fertilizer pays for itself by increasing the size of the fruit. Be liberal with your trees. We recommend the following brands:

W. & T'S SEMINOLE FRUIT MANURE (3% Am., 8% A. P. A., 5% Pot.) ALKIDEAL FRUIT MANURE (8% Am., 13% T. P. A., 10% Pot.) IDEAL FRUIT AND VINE MANURE (3% Am., 6% A. P. A., 10% Pot.)	SEMINOLE FRUIT AND VINE (3% Am., 6% A. P. A., 8% Pot.) W. & T'S SPECIAL FRUITER (4% Am., 8% A. P. A., 8% Pot.)

Send for our booklet, "Fertilizers for the Summer Application" by Bayard F. Floyd. It treats not only of fertilization, but gives summer schedule for spraying.
