Reynolds says, 'I am not a murderer'

Sheriff's investigators say suspect killed Geneva couple, little girl, and should face the electric chair

By Russ White
HERALD STAFF WRITER

SANFORD - Michael Reynolds says he is not the fiend who bludgeoned to death a Geneva couple and their 11-year-old daughter in July.

"I've done all the things that I've been charged with before and deserved the punishment," Reynolds told the Seminole Herald Thursday. "But I am not a murderer. I didn't kill those people. I have never hurt a child. I have children of my own."

"This is crazy - absolutely crazy. I need my day in court," he said.

Reynolds, 37, spoke for the first time since his arrest for the murders of Daniel Privett (33), Robin Razor (31) and their 11-year-old daughter, Christine. The family lived in a trailer home on Clekk Circle west of Geneva. Reynolds, a drifter and convicted felon, lived on the same dirt street.

dividual who has victimized his last law-abiding citizen. It's our desire," Eslinger said that "he never sees the light of day again. He should never have been let out of jail."

All efforts to get a confession from Reynolds on the murders have failed. "He denies it," said Seminole County Investigator Ray Parker. "The more we tried to engage his (Reynolds') conscience he kept on saying he didn't do it."

Reynolds' arraignment is scheduled for Oct. 1 before Circuit Judge Kenneth Lester. On this day, he will make a guilty or not-guilty plea to three first degree murder charges. The Public Defender's Office has assigned Timothy Caudill and James E. Figgatt to the case. Reynolds said that Caudill had told him he'd probably be assigned to the case. "He's yet to come talk with me, though," Reynolds said.

(Neither Caudill nor Figgatt returned calls from the Herald on Friday.)

Depleted as a big, scary man with nasty tattoos all over him and sullied by eight or more years in jails in Florida, Texas and Arizona, Reynolds is remarkably well-spoken and ra-

Family members and friends grieve upon learning the shocking news that a Geneva family had been bludgeoned to death in their home this past July. Michael Reynolds was arrested and charged with the slayings.

On the road in a virtual forest

The Florida Forests Forever Showvan was at the Central Florida Zoo, 3755 N.W. Highway 17-92, Sanford, this week with learning opportunities for interested people of all ages to find out about how crucial the forests are to the Florida environment. Forester Dana Susmann was one of those who guided students through the computer-enhanced learning experience that is housed in a brightly colored 18-wheeler. The van travels around the state to bring the virtual forest tour to those who want the chance to learn about forest animals, the trees and why it is important to take care of them. The tour ends Sunday, open today from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Admission is free. For more information about the zoo, call 323-4450.

Ritz renovation rates high in state, but loses grant bid

By Maria Orem
HERALD STAFF WRITER

SANFORD - Renovations on the Ritz Theatre will have to wait a bit longer.

The Ritz Community Theatre Renovation Project did not make the cut for state grant money it had sought to complete restoration. Members of the Ritz Theatre board were informed Thursday that the project ranked 47 out of 116 applicants from around the state.

Though ranked as a high high by the state's Historic Preservation Advisory Council, the theater project did not make the list of the final 16 that will have to share $4 million in state grant funds.

"Only half a dozen applicants received the high high designation, so we were hopeful that we would get the grant," said Sanford Mayor Larry Dale, who flew with several members of the board on his private airplane to Tallahassee on Tuesday to show support for the project.

"Of course we're disappointed," Dale said, "but there are some other avenues we can pursue."

Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce Executive Director Ron Rose, who is also a member of the theater board, said there is a small chance the project can receive grant money. The historic advisory council, Rose said, will ask the state for additional funding for projects

Heritage festival to debut this fall

By Maria Orem
HERALD STAFF WRITER

SANFORD - Some big names are expected this fall in Sanford to inaugurate a downtown street festival that will get the town on the map and on the minds of Central Florida visitors.

Billed as the Big Event, the Sanford Heritage Festival will make its debut Nov. 13-15 in the downtown historic district along First Street.

The brainchild of Ron Rose, executive director for the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, the event will feature headline entertainers such as Chubby Checker, and the bands Lonestar and Loverboy, on four stages.

The mission of the regional event, Rose said, is to showcase the community and the historic downtown area. The festival is expected to draw close to 35,000 visitors.

"We want to enhance community pride to achieve mass appeal and earn a reputation as one of Central Florida's top events," Rose said. "This will benefit the city image."

Other than the Fourth of July celebration each year, the heritage festival is the only other event of any magnitude in Sanford, Rose said. Production cost is about $146,000.

"This, hopefully will be our signature event," he said. "This is a party, a street festival that celebrates who we are and we want to put our best foot forward."

Educator chronicles roles of women in local historic black community

By Marva Hawkins
HERALD CORRESPONDENT

SANFORD - One local educator recently traveled halfway around the world to promote the history of women's roles in the historic black community of Midway.

Rosalie Wright Cook is a doctoral candidate at the University of Central Florida. She says one of the latest and great events in her educational career was to be invited to present her doctoral dissertation at the 20th International Conference for the History of Education held in August at the University of Leuven, Kentrjik, Belgium.

Cooks paper is entitled "The Oral History of Midway as Seen Through the Eyes of the Women." Her paper shares the stories of the matriarchs of that community and the teachers who taught at Midway Elementary School during the segregation and integration of the Seminole County school system.

Neighbors

Cook, a 1983 Crooms Academy graduate, now teaches there. Cook furthered her education at Florida A & M University and graduated from the University of Central Florida with bachelor's and master's degrees.

Cook says the intent of her paper is to enable the children to see and understand the positive aspects of the Midway heritage and to believe strongly enough that education is the key to mankind's survival.

"We must continue the mission of the matriarchs--to always instill respect, dignity for self and others not only in Midway but in the mainstream of society," Cook says.

Rosalie Wright Cook is an educator and doctoral candidate.

IN BRIEF

Boating course

SANFORD - The Seminole Power Squadron, a unit of the United States Power Squadrons, a voluntary nonprofit organization of recreational boaters, will sponsor the "USPS Boating Course". The seven week classes are held on Wednesday evenings at Seminole Community College, Building J, starting on Wednesday from 7:30 until 9:30 p.m. This accredited course is approved for those who must meet the new state law. Boaters and personal water craft riders ages 18 and under must certify they have successfully completed a safe boating course. The law went into effect in October 1996.

Graduates receive a certificate of completion awarded by the Seminole Power Squadron. The certificate is also good for discounts on family boat insurance. Boaters of any age may take the course. Topics include boat handling and seamanship, needed equipment, rules of the road, line and knots, charts and aids to navigation, engine trouble shooting, boat trailering and much more. The course exceeds educational requirements in all states.

The cost for books and materials is $35; additional family members $15. For more information call Mike Wilson at 324-3771 or Bill Snider at 869-4291. Registration is on the first night of the course at 7 p.m.

Oktoberfestivities

CASSELBERRY - Casselberry will be celebrating the 5th Annual Oktoberfest and Craft Fair Sept. 26 from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. at Secret Lake. There will be a wide variety of live entertainment, German foods, music, dancers, rides, prizes and games for the whole family.

The Florida Fresh Water Fish Commission will be on hand to provide free fishing instruction and tournament for all children. Loaner rods and reels will be available.

Admission is free. Crafters are needed. For more information call Casselberry Parks and Recreation at (407) 262-7720.

Eco-Day Fair

CASSELBERRY - If you've ever wanted to hold a bat, shake hands with Smokey Bear or see a barn owl up close, you'll have your chance at the Eco-Day Fair Sept. 26.

The fair will include many activities and exhibits of ecological interest including Birds of Prey Center, Bat Society, Eco-Store, Native Plant Society, Seminole County Recycling, Forestry Department, manatees and more. There will also be a display of ecological art by local school children.

The event, which is free, will be held from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Westminster Presbyterian Church, 2641 Red Bug Lake Road, Casselberry. A "low-on-the-food-chain" lunch will be served for a nominal fee.

For more information contact Mary Villilo at (407) 339-1100.

Backpacking seminar

ORLANDO - Wilderness Trekkers, Inc. is sponsoring a free Backpacking Seminar. Backpacking provides a means to get away from the hectic, soliciting life of our metropolitan areas and visit those places not accessible by the family auto. Backpacking 101 instructors will explain the basics of carrying on your back all you need to spend a night away from civilization. Topics include clothing, shelter, food, gear, emergencies, first aid, planning and much more. Participants will see first hand the items a backpacker typically carries.

The seminar will be held Sept. 26 at 10 a.m. at 8777 State

Take time to play The language of Legos

By Jane Lord
SPECIAL TO THE HERALD

At our house, the language of Legos is the language of love.

Almost daily during this past summer vacation my son asked, "Mom, will you do Legos with me?" Who could resist such an invitation? I could because my laundry basket is overflowing and my list of To Do's goes on for pages, but my reply is, "I'd love to!"

We sit on the floor and surround ourselves with plastic pieces of assorted colors and shapes. There are detailed building instructions but sometimes he creates things from his imagination. He's very inventive. Personally, I'm an instruction follower.

To successfully complete a Lego edifice, a certain amount of organization is required. If you're a kid, you don't mind dumping all the pieces on the floor to look for the one you need. When I saw that mess for the first time, I knew there had to be a better way. We now have several plastic boxes each containing a different color. I'm a real stickler about keeping the colors separate, so at the beginning of each Lego session I spend a few minutes sorting them. This works well for us. My only complaint is the box of black pieces. When the only illumination in the room is a few 60-watt-bulbs, all the pieces seem to melt together. At this point, I'm the one suggesting we dump the whole thing out.

Effective communication is also required. Just the right piece is needed at just the right time. We've developed a code which only we understand completely. For example, if he needs a blue, flat one-eye, I know just what to give him. There are high, black two by tens; gray, double upside-down slopes; white, long slantles; red, flat, four by four squares; and many, many more. My favorites are the single pieces with projections that hold other pieces. In this category, there are stick ups, stick outs, stick one and the infamous stuck. This is the piece the dog chewed and it can no longer be separated from the piece

Magic Bus at Oviedo mall

Special to the Herald

OVIEDO - Scholastic's "The Magic Bus-Live!" roars into Oviedo Marketplace Saturday at 11 a.m., 2 p.m., and 4 p.m. and on Sunday at 1 p.m., 3 p.m., and 5 p.m. with the 30-minute live special events production "Recycling", an original musical production based on Scholastic's The Magic School Bus award-winning television series premiering on the FOX Kids Network in the Fall of 1998, produced by Scholastic productions and based on the best-selling book by Joanna Cole and Bruce Degen published by Scholastic Inc.

Climb on as Ms. Frizzle, Liz and her class make a stop with an all new show. An innocent lunch break turns into more than the kids bargained for when Ms. Frizzle points out that their favorite picnic area is to become a landfill. With the audience's help, Ms. Frizzle's class discovers the principles of recycling and how our careful disposal of trash can save more than one beautiful area from becoming a dump--it can save the earth!

"Recycling" is produced by Jack Desroches. The theatrical script is written by John Michael Burke with its story-line by Lionel Audette based on the television script by Brian Meehl and John May. The show includes songs written by award-winning composer/lyricists Dennis Scott and Peter Luyre.

Editor from Chile senses media overkill

TODAY IS...
RUSS WHITE

Traveling across the United States for a month, Rafael Lopez, an editor-journalist from Chile, is learning a lot about the American media and American people.

Lopez is here as part of the International Visitor Program sponsored by the U.S. Information Agency. He speaks little English but he's getting a good feel for what people are saying.

"There's a morbid interest by the press into President Clinton's crisis," Lopez said through an interpreter. "It should not be that big a deal. Do the American people care that much? It must be very difficult for him. It is good you have (Mark) McGwire and (Sammy) Sosa and some good news."

Lopez said that the children of his country are working on computers at their schools and learning English as a second language. He said his daughter speaks English and so does his wife. "I'm the only one in the family who doesn't, I'm afraid."

While in the U.S., Lopez wants to find out more about the impact of the Internet on traditional news media, the relationship of the press to local, state and federal governments, the press coverage of U.S. foreign policy, El Nino and space flight - and to keep track of the McGwire-Sosa race, perhaps.

His trip to Central Florida was short but sweet. He was escorted by Patricia Gehri, vice president of the International Council of Central Florida. Gehri said she was delighted to be doing something that had nothing to do with the county's recent elections.

Editor-journalist Rafael Lopez from Concepcion, Chile is finding out about America on a one-month stay. He is assisted by Karima Azzouz, a U.S.-Spanish interpreter from San Francisco.

"This is much more fun," she said.

These special moments may disappear soon. My son is 11, and I've been told by other moms that his interests will begin to shift away from Legos. That will be a sad day for me. Until then, I'll continue to be honored by his invitation to include me. Because after 10 minutes of searching and finally coming up with an elusive piece, I hear, "Mom, you're awesome!" and that is the language of love.

Sometimes, we name a piece according to the way we first used it. This is true in the case of the little light-house, the turbo engine, the torch, the nose and the cannon ball. In subsequent acts, these pieces reappear with different functions, but to us, they will always bear their original names.

Our Lego acts range from medieval castles with trap doors to laser-powered robots and it takes time and patience to put one together. Some are all day projects. My husband will often come home to find

POLICE LOG

The following reports were compiled from the Seminole County Sheriff's Office for incidents reported Sept. 18:

Aggravated assault:

LAKE MARY, Emma Oaks Trail, 1000 block, Sept. 17, 5:24 p.m. A 44-year-old man was arrested for aggravated assault with a motor vehicle by Lake Mary police after he tried to run over a co-worker with a forklift. Police said witnesses said after he failed to run over the man, he hit him in the face with his arm and hand.

SANFORD, State Road 46, 4600 block, Sept. 17, 2:12 a.m. A 46-year-old man was arrested for aggravated battery and for possession of drug paraphernalia by Seminole County sheriff's deputies. Deputies said they responded to reports of an incident at a hotel where they found a man and his co-worker involved in a fight. The men were sharing a hotel room while in town working but they got in an argument. The defendant allegedly hit the other man in the head with a beer bottle. During the arrest, police found a beer can that had been fashioned into a smoking device for crack cocaine.

Criminal mischief:

SANFORD, French Avenue, 800 block, Sept. 17, 10 a.m. A 19-year-old man was arrested for criminal mischief after he hit a woman's pick up truck with a baseball bat. He reportedly broke the windshield and the windows before Sanford police arrived.

Domestic violence:

SANFORD, White Pebble Court, 3900 block, Sept. 17, 6:08 p.m. A 34-year-old man was arrested for domestic violence by Seminole County sheriff's deputies. Witnesses told deputies that the man tried to prevent his live in girlfriend from leaving their residence during a fight. They said he was grabbing things away from her and called her names. They said he grabbed her by the hair and dragged her across the lawn as she tried to get away.

SANFORD, Perimeter Avenue, Sept. 17, 11:39 p.m. A 38-year-old man was arrested for domestic violence after he reportedly hit his wife in the head with a perfume bottle and in the arm with another object.

Driving under the influence:

LAKE MARY, International Parkway and Lake Mary Boulevard, Sept. 17, 9:18 p.m. A 22-year-old woman was arrested for driving under the influence.

Drugs:

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS, Lake Mobil/Oak Street, Sept. 17, 7:07 p.m. A 36-year-old man and a 37-year-old man were arrested after they allegedly sold $57 worth of marijuana to undercover Seminole County sheriff's deputies. One of the men was also arrested for selling a substance reported to be crack cocaine to officers as well.

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS, Anchor Road/Live Oak, Sept. 17, 6:55 p.m. A 45-year-old woman was arrested for possession of less than 20 grams of marijuana. Seminole County sheriff's deputies said they stopped the woman for a traffic violation and said she was shaking more than they thought she should. Inside, they found a plastic bag of marijuana.

APOPKA, State Road 438/Balmy Beach, Sept. 17, 6:45 p.m. A 30-year-old man was arrested for possession of drug paraphernalia by Seminole County sheriff's deputies after they stopped him for acting suspiciously. Deputies found a small marijuana pipe in his back pocket.

SANFORD, Rosa Avenue, 100 block, Sept. 17, 4:56 p.m. A 40-year-old man was arrested for possession of cocaine and for the sale of crack cocaine by Seminole County sheriff's deputies. Deputies said he sold undercover deputies $65 of crack cocaine. During his arrest, they found cocaine in his pocket.

SANFORD, Orlando Drive, 3800 block, Sept. 17, 9:03 p.m. A 34-year-old man was arrested for obtaining drugs with a forged prescription. The pharmacy called Sanford police when the woman produced a prescription for Darvecet pills, which appeared to be forged, and altered in quantity from 6 to 60.

Commending Ritz Theatre committee

Members of the Ritz Theatre renovation committee traveled this past week to Tallahassee seeking a $411,000 state grant that, matched by the county's Community Block Grant of $437,000, would have bankrolled the completion of the project. Along with the Ritz, 115 historic preservation projects were in the running for the money to be awarded to 18 applicants. The Ritz placed 47th in that field of dreams, so did not receive the needed influx of funds.

The Seminole Herald believes all good things are worth waiting for, and the Ritz renovation is a very good thing.

Much is said about growth and progress nowadays. Complacent design and cost efficient architecture surely diminish what Central Florida could have been. But Sanford in the 1980s was given a unique opportunity to show the world a more genteel time in our history, and how that elegant era can be integrated into our lives today. The commercial and residential downtown was designated a protected site on the National Register of Historic Places.

Although the project didn't make this cut, Ritz committee members are optimistic. Additional funds may be made available to those projects that placed through 48th. That would make the Ritz, at 47th, eligible.

We commend the selfless efforts of those backing the project, including Helen and David Stairs, Beverly Boothe, Carol Kirehoff, Ron Rose and Larry Dale, all of whom traveled to Tallahassee for the grant presentation. Kay Bartholomew also has donated time and space to Ritz projects over the years, allowing plays to be presented and artifacts to be stored at her gallery during the renovation.

The Ritz Theatre is certainly worthy of restoration, as a rich reminder that our traditions are always a part of us, strong roots from which strong community identity can grow.

Cop speaks on public nudity ordinance

An issue of public nudity is being proposed to the people of Seminole County for a public vote in November. The people are to vote if public nudity is not acceptable in a wide variety of circumstances. Each side of the issue has a stake in its outcome and each thinks that they are right.

Seminole County is not the Garden of Eden or Sodom or Gomorrah. It falls somewhere in between and actually leans toward the Garden of Eden. The church I attended as a child taught that God made Adam and Eve in the image of God. God did not clothe Adam or Eve and allowed them to roam the Garden of Eden in peace and tranquility as long as they did not eat the fruit of one tree. Only when they shared the fruit did they become ashamed of their bodies and tried to hide them from each other. They were also at the same time banished from the Garden of Eden. God gave every person the freedom of choice and as the centuries went by some people have chosen the wrong path. In the depravity and wickedness of Sodom and Gomorrah, God saw the people of these towns at their worst and destroyed the entire population except for one virtuous family.

In modern times we have set rules and regulations beyond the Ten Commandments. One example is the United States Constitution. This Please See Letters, Page 5A

Our nation on the path of self destruction

I think for the first time in my lifetime, I really believe that this nation is on the path of self destruction. Our greatest enemies are within. There are those who are active in the political process who despite all that they may say, have no regard for truth and decency. They have become powers unto themselves. Self serving and willing to do or say anything that will enhance the chance of achieving their political agenda.

Both the Republican and Democrat parties have become prostitutes to special interest and themselves. What is happening in Washington now is just a small, almost insignificant, symptom of a much deeper illness within our political system. Truth, dignity, and the desire to fulfill the dream of the founding fathers that this nation could be an example for others is failing. In their wisdom they knew that we alone could not stand as the nation they envisioned without God. But man is weak and easily misguided. Slowly we moved away from the very glue that the founders knew we must have to preserve this dream, this nation.

Some sin most of their lives and then when they say that they have found God there is little room in their hearts to forgive others. Much like the former smoker who can no longer tolerate those that smoke. While they were smoking and blew smoke into the faces of those around them, they gave little thought to their actions. Once they have succeeded in breaking the addiction they have the least tolerance for those still addicted.

ERNEST HATTON

So it is with our nation. Like the former smoker, the former sinner has little tolerance. There are those that believe that they are the saviors of this nation. That God is on their side, but their actions seem to contradict what they say and perhaps their interpretation of God's desire may not be entirely correct.

Then we have those that we condemn as being too apathetic. Who apparently have little desire to participate any longer, that have little faith in the system or the process. Could we have misjudged them? Is it possible that they concluded long ago that we can no longer gain back the greatness of this nation?

In truth, the two predominate political parties are not serving us well. They thirst for power and in their desire to reach that goal there is no room for God, truth, love and decency. As we approach the year 2000 we can look back and see the destruction we have sown. The dream of the founding fathers is all but gone.

Some will say that what is taking place in Washington today is just. That one side is right and the other wrong. The truth is that there is more than enough evil and personal desire on both sides to destroy the other. There is precious little morality left. Our political system is not moral. It is corrupt, and my fear is that we cannot continue to exist. This soap opera in Washington is what we are all about as a nation. The broadcasters have had a few long running shows that have clearly mirrored this nation. The O.J. Simpson trial, Bill and Monica, and others. We condemn, while we sin, by allowing ourselves to be completely absorbed in these matters giving little time, debate or the same concentration to other issues.

The newscasts and debates about politics are nothing more than one liar calling another liar...a liar. To rise to political power almost requires that you forget truth and distort truth. The object is to win by whatever means. The decent among us who may have entered the political arena will not, leaving us little choice, and a dismal future.

We are not fair, nor just. We are destructive, self serving, and are becoming quite shallow. As we come closer to landing on distant planets we are drifting away from our only salvation as a nation, God. God is truth. Where is truth? You will not find it within our political system.

Change not synonymous with progress

Let's see. Those of us who want Fort Mellon Park to remain wholly a park have been called "carpetbaggers," "newcomers," "liars," "retired (not with admiration)," and other names. Now a former city commissioner, Bob Thomas, calls us selfish in his recent guest column to the Seminole Herald. He also, once again throws the "P" word upon the altar for readers to worship. Please, Mr. Thomas!

progress n. 1. Movement toward a goal. 2. Steady improvement as of a society or civilization. 3. To advance toward a more desirable form. The American Heritage Dictionary

What is the goal toward which this will move our city and its people? What improvement will it bring? How will it advance us toward a more desirable form?

Mr. Thomas mentions the following as benefits: money, money, money, money, and a reason for our young people to remain in Sanford. These hopes are based on a dream -- the dream that this project, if built, will succeed at all. They are also based upon misinformation. An economic impact study done at taxpayer expense purports to demonstrate some of the points Mr. Thomas makes.

What are some of the economic realities? The Fishkind Report is a formulaic guess, nothing more. It is based not only on a fundamentally different project than the one currently proposed but it is also based upon the giant assumption that this project, if built, will be successful. The developer has yet to complete the feasibility study that was due to the city nine months ago. Additionally, this report bases employment earnings for those who might work at this hotel at an average of $25,000 per year. This might be the mathematical average between the highest and lowest salary at a Central Florida hotel but it is not even close to what most hotel workers here make. The July 1998 Wage & Salary Survey of the Employers Association of Central Florida reveals that the average wage paid to the overwhelming majority of hotel workers in this area (housekeepers, bussers, kitchen helpers, greeters, concierges, banquet setters, bartenders, etc.) is $5.26 per hour. Some of these, of course, provide the opportunity for tips.

As to the management jobs (about 20 percent of the total hotel staff) the 1997 graduates of the Cornell University Hotel School, one of the foremost college degrees in this field in the nation, received an average starting salary of $27,325. Also, all large hotel chains transfer 90 percent of these management jobs from other existing hotels. They rarely hire these people locally. So, who is trying to fool whom about the great personal prosperity this project might bring to our citizens? Certainly a successful project such as this would benefit our downtown merchants. That's great -- for a tiny portion of our people.

Change is not necessarily progress. Many Americans continue to cling to the post-WWII myth that bigger, or more, or buildings, or paving, or an increased tax base equals progress.

Doug and Debra Gressclose

Nothing could be less true. The biggest fallacy of this myth is that change is the same as progress. Bigger is clearly not necessarily better. Change is clearly not necessarily progress. Just look around Central Florida. "Look at what's happening in Lake Mary," one of our commissioners recently said. Exactly. Lake Mary is a five mile long hodgepodge strip mall with a walled community of rich people at one end, Sanford airport at the other end, a crumbling, forgotten old downtown on the fringe. It is the result of unplanned development, not progress.

"There is no stopping progress," Mr. Thomas claims. Sir, we have stopped progress all across this land. We have changed from close-knit communities where people cared about each other to strip mall towns where no one even knows their neighbor. That is change but it is not progress. We have changed from quaint, peaceful small towns to traffic-clogged suburbs. That is change but it is not progress. None of this is progress because there is no goal. There is no vision.

Traffic, traffic, and more traffic. "Just as sure as this project is realized, the first Street corridor will come to life," Mr. Thomas continues. You bet your life it will, with wall to wall traffic. Tractor trailers will roll down First Street delivering food and other supplies. Other trucks, from vans to panel trucks will rumble through downtown carrying laundry and the hundreds of other things it takes to sustain a hotel/convention center on a daily basis. Strolling leisurely across our main street will be traded for a mad dash to avoid the traffic.

The wrong place, at the wrong time, with no goal or vision. Placing this proposed hotel/convention center on our lakefront park is an example of the same kind of opportunistic, short-sighted, reactionary thinking and unshaped development that plagues Central Florida. We have not determined what the goal is--what Sanford can and should become. Until there is a clear goal and vision there can be no progress--only change. We, as individuals and as leaders of The Society for the Preservation of Fort Mellon Park are staunchly in favor of progress. We are just as staunchly opposed to a change of our people's park to a building site. Building this, or any other future project, on another site might be a great thing for all of Sanford. Building this project, or any other, on Fort Mellon Park is misguided.

Brotherhood of the disabled

I thought about the subject for today's column and as I wrote down the title, I said, are you still allowed to use the term brotherhood when discussing a group of people? After all, this is the politically correct '90s, maybe I should have called it a personhood.

In more than a year and a half doing Special People, we cannot believe we have never discussed this subject before, so today we will be discussing the disabled sharing their experiences in groups or organizations. By doing this you are creating a kind of brotherhood.

Being in such a group will help to reinforce the fact that we are not the only people on earth with a disability. Furthermore, the activities of such an organization will only help to make things better for all disabled people. Take note, however, that we are talking about something that is related to the disabled.

As such we are speaking of anything that gives aid or support to the disabled community. In this we could also be talking about any government, private board, committee or organization as well. Webster's dictionary defines brotherhood this way: It is an affiliation or being affiliated. For example, with an organization, club, etc.

Think of it. There is a constant, somewhat instinctive connection we have with someone who has had the same experiences we have. Although I cannot speak for anyone else, I do have some ideas on this.

Personally I feel that sometimes it is easier for a disabled person to speak with someone with the same interests and concerns as they have. All this said, why is it there are so few disabled people involved with disability based organizations. I can only venture a few suggestions about the kind of fears that are experienced.

1. Fear of admission. Maybe if we belonged to such a group we would have to admit to others that we have a disability.

2. Fear of commitment. Sometimes the physical and emotional demands of being disabled.

3. Fear of something new. Whether we are disabled or not, some of us do get a little nervous about new experiences. In some cases this can be due to a lack of experiences.

4. This last fear has nothing to do with the disabled directly. We are never asked. It seems that many of the decisions for who will be in these groups are made in the non-disabled community.

There is another type of fear, the fear of not doing anything. As human beings we grow best spiritually, physically and mentally when we have the stimulation of other people and things to do. This is of course, dependent on a person's health as to how much he or she can do.

If you have a non-profit organization relating to the disabled and have a fund-raiser or special event coming up, please let us know about it. Please include the name, address and phone number of the organization as well as the time, place and contact person for the event.

Our religious beliefs support forgiving our president

The cornerstone of religion has always been reconciliation, redemption, and forgiveness from God. Yahweh, The Buddha, Krishna, Allah, The Great Spirit a Higher Power or however you choose to see yourself in relationship to your creator. These things we have held in covenant with our creator every since the beginning of time. We know and have been taught from the time we were first planted here on the mortal soil to follow the three simple processes above: reconciliation, redemption, and forgiveness.

Let's review how this process works. True reconciliation starts from within. We start internally, in our heart of hearts, and find that place that speaks to us in our loneliest hours. This is where the true "us" really lives. Where we alone dwell and dance our dances of joy and remorse. The place where we know what we truly know.

Having come to this place we must first reconcile with ourselves that we as a person have done wrong. We have hurt ourselves and brought offense to our Creator. We have hurt the ones we hold a common bond with; our loved ones, our friends and our neighbors. We must accept that the wrong that we have committed is an experience that has happened and that just because we have made bad decisions we are still the Creator's most perfect child. The experience is just that and no more; it is not part of the "US".

We must, starting with ourselves, seek redemption. We must atone for our mistakes and shortcomings, seeing ourselves as we really are: frail, weak and easy prey for the temptations of a life and times that so turbulently wheels around us with the promise of power, beauty, and popularity with just the right consumer goods sitting in our house, driveway, on our face or on our backs.

Guest Columnist

Next having atoned to ourselves, our Creator, and those with whom we share this life; we must seek forgiveness. As in all steps of this process we must begin with the forgiveness of ourselves first. It is only through the active forgiveness of one's self that the true healing process can begin. Coming before the Creator with a contrite and examined heart and soul we may ask forgiveness for the wrongs that we as humans so often commit. We then seek the forgiveness of those we may have hurt or dishonored by our own actions. We seek to make amends for the wrongs and try by our behavior to make accounts right by the forgiving of the wrongs that are done to us. Note that the word forgiveness does not require you to forget the offense. It requires only that the offense be pardoned. There are some offenses that are extremely hard to forget. This is why many times it is very difficult to forgive ourselves and others as well.

This brings us to the reason for this piece. We, the American people, seem to have forgotten that reconciliation, redemption, and forgiveness are something that we have always believed in and supported, not only on moral issues, but as national policy as well. We have consistently rebuilt the vanquished enemies of our many wars. We have even sent aid to people who hate us and would destroy everyone of us if they could. Our history is resplendent with the many times we have had the moral courage and fortitude to do the right thing; that is until now.

We rush to condemn the moral indiscretions of our president from every pillar and post. Shouts of moral indignation are heard in Congress, a body that, as it turns out this week, has had little room to talk about morality. It is this writer's opinion that the rhetoric and the finger pointing need to be used to a better advantage. We as a nation are not perfect. We all live in glass houses and this writer would personally challenge anybody on this planet who has the temerity to say they are without sin. Do I like what the president has done in this lurid affair? No. But it would seem to me that if a man would change his course, that if he seeks the reconciliation, redemption, and forgiveness, of himself, his Creator, and of us then how can we in good conscience and believing all that we pro-less to believe, turn him away? We are better than this as a people and as a nation.

For those who say that the president has set a bad example for our children, I would say to you he has and he hasn't. By his actions with a younger woman and lying about it to cover it up he has indeed set a poor example for our children; but I would also recall that over the past week he has started the process outlined above. If he is to be believed, and I have to, because only he knows his own heart, then he has come to a crossroads of sorts and it is up to each of us to examine our own process before we condemn or accept his apology. If we do, then he has indeed begun to set a good example for our children. The ability to say "I was wrong and I ask for your forgiveness" is one that our children and we ourselves need to learn.

I would also like to point out that the real examples that stand up to the test of time are the ones you set for your children. How many times have you thought to yourself, I sound just like my mother or my father? You are the best example for your child; not the president or Congress or any sports hero or even religious leader. It is you and only you that can teach your child the good and the bad of this life. So if you want to see the real and true influence on your child, look in a mirror and you will see it looking back at you.

Voters should be informed before going to the polls

Most voters are not into politics; they want to vote and be informed, but it is difficult for them to find out about each candidate. So how do voters find out the truth about the candidates that are seeking a particular office?

There are four basic ways that voters can learn about candidates.

• They can get involved in a political campaign. Ask questions; see if the candidate really stands for and does what he/she claims. Be open minded and careful not to be fooled by smoke and mirrors. They will probably find out more than they want to know about all the candidates.

• Voters can talk with someone whom they respect and who has the same basic philosophies that they do. Discuss where candidates stand on issues or philosophies that are important to the voters.

• Read the local newspaper to see whom it endorses. Be careful of this one because not only writers, but also their editors, can be very biased in their opinions about certain people or groups of people. One local paper is so biased that it would not print a campaign advertisement submitted by Winter Springs attorney, Michael Jones.

Guest Columnist

DON NICHOLAS

• Read the campaign literature that is put out by the candidate or an organization. Obviously, one would expect these pieces to be biased, but they can tell a lot about the candidate if the reader knows what to look for in the campaign piece.

Campaign literature can tell a lot, not only with what is printed, but about the individual or group that put out the literature. There are several types of literature that can be put out by a candidate or PAC (political action committee).

These are referred to as a puff (or feel good) piece, an issue piece, a comparison piece, and the negative (or dirty) piece. No one minds the first three, but most people do not like the last one. What are these different pieces and how are they used?

• The puff, or feel good piece, gives information about the candidate, his family, his education, work experience, organizations and activities in which he has been involved, and his goals and objectives. Some candidates list so many organizations or activities that I wonder if they ever sleep, or how good a job they could do with limited time to devote to each one.

• The issue piece looks at a specific issue and tells the voter how either the candidate or the opponent stands on the issue. Some people feel that this is negative. It is not, as long as the material is factual (not alleged) and documented.

• The comparative piece looks at issues or situations that a candidate feels are important to the voters and compares him to the opponent to show significant differences as reasons why the candidate should be supported. Again, some people feel that this is negative campaigning if personal issues are involved. However, many people feel that character and moral values are important in their elected officials. As long as the information is factual (not alleged) and documentable, this is not negative campaigning.

• The negative or dirty piece is used to smear a candidate by innuendoes, allegations, and non-factual statements. These pieces are used to confuse the voters. Some candidates or supporters even go so far as to use phony organizations to put out negative or dirty pieces; this is illegal.

These pieces are used in a variety of way, but their use really depends on the information that one wants to put out and the finances of the candidate or organization. An organization usually puts out issue pieces that are relevant to that organization. A candidate who has reasonable finances will usually put out a puff or feel good piece, several issue pieces, and a comparison piece.

It is important for voters to be informed when they vote and not be confused by candidates or their supportive groups. The political season is not over; there are several offices and issues yet to be voted on this Nov. 3. You, the voter, need to be aware and informed every time you go to the polls to vote.

document, while not as old as the Bible, protects certain rights for the people of this country. One is the freedom of speech but it still does not allow for the improper use of this right. As the Bible has been interpreted by numerous people, so has our Constitution. The Constitution does not allow for a person to incite a riot or yell fire in a crowded theater. The Constitution allows for reasonable freedom of speech. It does not prevent a state, county, city or town on how each can permit or restrict the ways the freedom is allowed. Usually the governing body of an area requires permits be obtained to express certain types of free speech such as parades and demonstrations, and has a noise ordinance that allows for the time and volume of such use of this freedom. In my opinion the government can restrict nudity as long as it does it without prejudice.

In my opinion, as a retired detective of the New York City Police Department, the proposed ordinance is unenforceable as written. Every person's buttocks and/or breasts are not created equal by God or man and by restricting the covering of one's buttocks and/or breasts, by the measurements as stated in Sections 1 (a) and (b), the ordinance would allow for the greater exposure to those who are endowed with larger buttocks and/or breasts. Also, who would have the duty of measuring these areas and what training will they have to receive to give their testimony credence? The allowing of nudity in certain parts of sections Section 1 (f) is too vague to be enforceable. Which parts of a hospital are allowed and are there exemptions in case of need or emergency? If a model poses nude for an artist or photographer for compensation, under Section 1 (f) would this also be considered illegal? If the definitions and restrictions are not in place, every exotic dance club will be handing out a pad and pencil or a camera and charging a modeling fee. There are other sections which also need better definitions so that they would be considered enforceable.

Instead of restricting nudity in such a wide spectrum in one proposed ordinance, it may be better to break the one ordinance into several smaller ones and this may allow for a passable and enforceable ordinance. Several suggestions are as follows:

1. Require permits for all locations and/or businesses that receive compensation in any form and allow for the display of a person partially or totally nude in any form. Make these permits revocable if any law is broken.
2. Require licensing of all owners and/or employees of any establishment that receives any compensation or profit in any form and allows for the display and/or performance of any person partially or totally nude in any form. Make these licenses revocable if any law is broken.
3. Restrict the distance of the "exotic" dancers from the patrons of the establishment.
4. Restrict the amount of time an "exotic" dancer may remain on stage.

5. Restrict the amount of people who may be in attendance of "exotic" dancers.
6. Restrict the amount of and/or the type of touching by the patrons and/or "exotic" dancer.
7. Do not allow for any minimum purchases.
8. Do not allow for the "handing" of gratuities.
9. Restrict the placement and size of all establishments signs.
10. Restrict the amount of alcoholic beverages to be served to a patron during a specific time period. This would also decrease the possibility of a patron from driving while under the influence.
11. Restrict the location of all establishments that allow for nudity in relation to homes, schools and places of worship.
12. Make the measurements to cover the entire part of the body mentioned and not only a portion of.

The best advice I could give to those who wish to have this type of ordinance pass is to model it after a successful ordinance that has withstood the scrutiny of the courts from a different state, county or town. Do not waste our, the people of Seminole County, money or time fighting a battle in the courts that may not be won. I am not a lawyer but I believe I have common sense and if I could find sections of this proposed ordinance that would be unenforceable and may not stand up in court, I am sure that a well-educated lawyer may find even more. I am sure all of the members of our legislature do not wish to restrict any person's freedom of speech but to provide our children with safe, moral responsible neighborhoods to live in and at the same time protect the value and appearance of the neighborhoods.

Respectfully yours,
Gregory P.A. Cecewicz

Please tell us

If the conference center is built, 36,000 Sanford residents and thousands more will be impacted. Yet only a handful will vote on election day. At this point most have little information on the collateral impact of this project.

If indeed 1,100 jobs will be created, will they be "good" jobs for local people? Where will 1,100 workers park? Where will the multitude of guests and visitors park? What transportation and roads will carry these people to and from this great vortex of activity? Will 17-92 along the lakefront to I-4 need widening? How much traffic will move to and from the airport; and on what roads? What businesses will be drawn to these routes?

Before we vote, we would like to be informed about the whole package. I am confident that those involved in the project and those who publicly support it have had the vision to consider these aspects! Please tell...we who need to know! HELP US BE INFORMED VOTERS!!

Do I have this straight?

If I understand Bill Clinton and his lawyers correctly, his latest defense is this: Clinton lied under oath, but it was not perjury, because he does not understand what "having sex" and "being alone" mean. He was forced to lie under oath because, otherwise, he would be embarrassed. Clinton's lying under oath was not criminal nor did it offend God, because it was "about sex" and Clinton said that he was sorry.

It was Starr who dragged the country through torment, because Clinton would have been happy to forget it. Although Clinton lied to the country, he forgives the country.

Do I have all that straight?

Rules of Revolution

You will never know the degree of satisfaction this writer enjoyed when the Seminole Herald refrained from publicly holding the President of the United States up to ridicule and disgrace. Another Florida publication did just that on its editorial page September 9. After reading that editorial, which I can only assume is the view of the president and publisher of said publication, I remembered the sexual inducements that were offered, in the 1940s and 50s, to many college students to increase the American Communist Party membership. With leadership from our President, William J. Clinton, there is no solidified "communist threat" in the world today. "Communist Rules for Revolution" were first printed in 1919 and reprinted in 1946. The "Rules", a copy of which has been enclosed for your review, provide, among other thing, the following:

- A. Corrupt the young: Get them away from religion. Get them interested in sex. Make them superficial; destroy their ruggedness.
- B. Get control of all means of publicity, thereby:
 1. Get people's mind off government by focusing their attention on athletics, sexy books and plays and other trivialities.
 2. Divide the people into hostile groups by constantly harping on controversial matters of no importance.
 3. Destroy the people's faith in their natural leaders by holding the latter up to contempt, ridicule and disgrace.

4. Always preach true democracy, but seize power as fast and as ruthlessly as possible.
5. By encouraging government extravagance, destroy its credit, produce fear of inflation with rising prices and general discontent.
6. Incite unnecessary strikes in vital industries, encourage civil disorder and foster a lenient and soft attitude on the part of government on such disorders.
7. By specious argument, cause the breakdown of old moral virtues, honesty, sobriety, self-restraint, faith in the pledged word, ruggedness.
- C. Cause the registration of all firearms on some pretext, with a view to confiscating them and leaving the population helpless.

Is it possible that our country, our president and even the female White House intern are unwitting victims of the "Communist Rules of 1919"?

You decide!

Breaking contracts

An open letter to Mrs. Clinton:
You're a lawyer. What would you do if I broke a contract with you? Would you forgive me? Or prosecute me? What if I lied, cheated, betrayed, and deceived you? What if, in our affairs, I was a fraud? What if I embezzled the resources of our contract? Both tangible and intangible? Time. Money. Emotions. Trust. Honesty. Love. In addition, what if I disgraced and dishonored you? Could I count on your forgiveness?

I'm not the only one who would like your answer. Those who have been convicted and fined or imprisoned for these offenses want to know, too. If forgiveness is all that is required, then open the prison doors and let the guilty go. Why do we need lawyers when all we need is forgiveness?

Mothers and daughters around the world are watching you. What is your message? That it's OK to have a contract violated? We're waiting to see how you treat this. How you treat us. Will you move women ahead or set us back?

What would you do if I broke a contract with you?

Festival

Also included in the event are parades, display tents, and amusement rides provided by Degler Attractions. A Bahamian Marketplace will feature island music art, food, fashion and a parade.

The rides will be open all three days, with a special moonlight mania on Nov. 13 where $5 pays for unlimited turns on about 20 rides between 10 p.m. and 1 a.m. The $5 festival admission will be waived during those hours. Family day, Nov. 15, will also offer rides for one price from noon to 10 p.m.

Seminole County Public Schools will have its own tent to showcase the work of students and several school bands will also be part of the program. Teaching kids how to think and dream will be the theme, Rose said.

Rose said a festival prince and princess will be chosen prior to the event during a contest that will be open to children ages 5-10.

In addition, the festival logo will be showcased on T-shirts and merchandise that will be for sale. Rose commissioned an artist to develop the design that features a steamboat on water surrounded by palm trees. Another creation depicts the "Celery Heads," three singing celery bunches wearing sunglasses.

with the sponsorship, so far, which includes The Florida Lottery, Central Florida Regional Medical Center, Seminole Community College, Rich Plan and the Seminole County Convention and Visitors Bureau.

"There's plenty of space," Rose said. "We invite organizations and exhibitors to participate in this signature event."

About 80 spaces are available to businesses and organizations. The chamber is also seeking sponsors and local performers. The deadline is Oct. 15. For more information, call (407) 322-2212 or (407) 321-3140.

16 to 48.

"There's still a chance," Rose said.

The theater board had asked for $411,551, but that amount had been reduced by the state, Rose said. Seminole County recently committed $437,000 to the project in block grant money.

"This would have helped us finish the project, not including the furnishings," Rose said, adding that the projected completion date is Jan. 1, 2000.

To help raise money for the new seats, the renovation committee has launched its Seat Project. For $500, a person can have his or her name or the name of a business engraved on a plaque that will be permanently affixed to a chair.

Rose also commended Helen Stairs, a Sanford businesswoman and chairwoman of the Ritz Theatre board, for her dedication. Stairs, who wrote the grant, was part of the delegation that traveled to the state's capital this week.

"If it wasn't for her leadership, we would have never been this far," he said.

Under the supervision of architect Gerald Gross, the Ritz Theatre recently received a new roof and a stage has been poured. The interior has been completely gutted and the boards on the windows have been removed. The estimated cost of the renovation is about $1 million.

Located on Magnolia Avenue, the Ritz first opened in 1923 with about 1,000 seats as a vaudeville theater offering Sanford residents live entertainment. The Ritz has also served as a movie theater, but has been in a state of decay since the 1970s.

Once completed, the 10,000 square-foot theater will seat about 500 people. The orchestra pit will be restored and the facade of the building will be brought back to its original state including a marquee and canopied windows. Several artifacts have been discovered during the demolition, including old film reels and a fountain used during the days of segregation.

Sanford banker, treasurer 'got his money's worth'

From Staff Reports

SANFORD - Roy Richardson Wright Jr. was born in Rome, Ga. on April 22, 1917, but lived most of his life in Sanford, a city he loved.

A retired vice president and secretary to the board of directors of the Sanford Atlantic Bank, he was considered one of Sanford's most respected bankers for more than four decades.

A 1936 graduate of Seminole High School, he attended the University of Florida and remained a Gator for the rest of his life.

During the Depression, he served in the Civilian Military Training Corps. Later, he joined the U.S. Navy, serving in the North African and Mediterranean theaters during World War II and attaining the rank of Pharmacist Mate First Class.

At home in Sanford, he was a member of the First Presbyterian Church and active in the Masonic Order.

Wright was a member of the Sanford York Rite Bodies for 54 years, a member of the Scottish Rite and numerous State Masonic Organizations. He was Secretary Emeritus of the Grand York Rite Bodies of Florida.

"He was well-respected and loved by all who knew him, especially his fraternal brothers," said Mike Hartman, Worshipful Master of the Sanford Masonic Lodge.

In addition, he was president of the Lions Club of Sanford in 1969, and treasurer of the Sanford Memorial Library and the March of Dimes.

Wright was an avid golfer, who never wanted to reveal his score, saying instead that he "got my money's worth."

Known to most as "Curly", he is survived by his wife, Polly; his son Roy R. Wright III and his daughter-in-law Marilyn Rudd Wright of Sebring; his step-daughter Joan J. Levy of Sanford; three grandchildren, Sara W. Bryant of Graceville, Fla.; Marjorie W. Ayala and Roy R. Wright IV of Sebring; one great-granddaughter, Marilyn Ayala; and many nieces and nephews.

tional. He says he's no intellectual but neither is he "illiterate." He says he's read the terrible things written about him and says much of it is untrue.

"I have a wife (Kathy), a 17-year-old daughter (Amy) and a 14-year-old son (Raven) who live in Alabama. I was born in Birmingham," Reynolds said. "I'd been out of jail for 16 months since being released in Arizona. I've been able to pay $125 a month for my home, and $50 on a car. I've been working....I was working the night they say the murders took place."

IN BRIEF

Park's history

Jim Robison, columnist and co-author of Flashbacks: The Story of Central Florida's Past, will be the speaker at the September 24 meeting of the Sanford Historical Society. His topic will be "A History of Fort Mellon Park." He will sell and autograph books beginning at 4:30; previously purchased books can also be autographed. Mr. Robison will speak following the 5 p.m. business meeting. The society will also celebrate the City of Sanford's 121st birthday which is September 29. All of this will occur at the Sanford Museum, 520 East First Street. For further information, call 302-1000.

Public invited

Members of Mt. M.B. Church invite the public to attend a Church Deaconess, Mission and Prayer Band Anniversary Sunday at 3 p.m. The church is located at 1843 Jerry Ave. in Sanford.

Reynolds said he knew the family and occasionally visited with Danny Privett. "Danny and me weren't buddy-buddy, but we always had a kind word for each other.

"I gave his little brother, Pee-Wee, a $1,000 pit bull.

"That story about the trailer frame feud is wrong. It meant nothing," Reynolds said. "It certainly wasn't a reason to kill someone. I had no reason to kill anyone. None."

The Sheriff's Office said it had DNA proof that linked Reynolds to the site of the murders - palm prints, boot prints, hair and skin from his leg. "That's what they told me they have," Reynolds said. "They were going to haul me off no matter what they had or didn't have. Well, we got you," this sergeant told me. He was pretty pleased with it, too."

Danny Privett's body was found outside his trailer home, his wife and daughter inside. Investigators said the killer most likely came up from behind to kill Privett and then went inside to kill the other two. Each was beaten badly. Almost from the start, authorities knew these were not random killings. Someone nearby was responsible - and that someone became Michael Reynolds.

Now, Reynolds resides in a cold cell at the county jail, awaiting his trial. He's also got a court date in Hillsborough and has been up and down Interstate 4 - as two law enforcement agencies wrestle for his presence.

If convicted of the triple murders in Geneva, Reynolds is well aware the consequence could be death in the electric chair. Investigators - though they wait for more lab tests - insist Reynolds is the perpetrator responsible for the murders.

"They are wrong," Reynolds said.

Da' Bomb!

What's up in and out of the classrooms of Seminole County

Seminole Herald, Sanford, Florida - Sunday, September 20, 1998 - 7A

Da' Bomb hears all...

Da Bomb sez the gang at Lyman High sure knows how to make the best of a bad situation. Friday night, it was raining, then it started pouring, then it got worse at the Lyman football game. But the band members and everybody else that traveled to Winter Park for the game just splashed around and had a great time. The stands on the Lyman side were filled even though the field was half underwater, and Principal Sam Momary stayed on the sideline throughout the entire game. Too bad the Greyhounds ended up losing.

Ya' gotta check out the gym at Winter Springs. Last year, it was the best in the county. This year, they've painted a giant Bear up on the side of the gym and it looks awesome. Da Bomb wants to know who dunnit.

Da Bomb hears that Winter Springs and Lake Howell have the best band uniforms in Seminole County. All of the bands will get together for the annual Band Festival sponsored by the Optimist Club next month.

Didya know that football coaches at some schools are also responsible for putting together a theme for each pep rally? Da Bomb didn't know either.

Speakin' of football coaches, Da Bomb sez check out the Seminole football show on television every week. Coach Jim Worthington and Sylvester Wynn, Jr., put together a great set of highlights and there should be a lot of them at Seminole this year. It's on Time Warner Cable Channel 21 Wednesdays at 10 p.m. and Thursdays at 9:30 p.m.

Da Bomb read recently that the Custodial Services of Seminole County evaluated the cleanliness of each high school, giving grades to bathrooms and classrooms. No need to get into which was voted dirtiest, but we haven't figured out who came out best. Give us a call if you know.

Officer Mohr makes Lyman a safe place

By Alex Kane
HERALD STAFF WRITER
After asked if there was anything he did not enjoy about being the resource officer at Lyman High School, Officer Joseph Mohr responded, "Nothing comes to mind."

As a resource officer, Mohr investigates complaints and provides his school with a sense of safety. Mohr is a 29-year-old member of the Longwood Police Department, and decided to take the opening at Lyman, and has not regretted it. "I like working with the kids," said Mohr. Charged with protecting the students and staff at Lyman, Mohr also finds time to coach baseball, and interact with the students. Mohr has quickly become a school figure after replacing former resource officer Ken Shea. Aside from his normal duties of protecting the school from drugs and violence, Mohr also participates in the more positive aspects of Lyman.

Happily married with one kid, Mohr is also a member of the Multi-Agency Gang Task Force.

How does being a resource officer compare his other police experience. "Any police work is dangerous," said Mohr. Still, he added, "It is a completely different job."

From his office in the discipline office, the students have found Mohr to be easily accessible, and he has settled into his work. He said he plans on staying at Lyman "at least two years and probably more."

Joseph Mohr is a resource officer at Lyman High School and a member of the Longwood Police Department.

He is one of many officers who are charged with keeping schools safe.

Serenity fills the heart

By Dawn Hatton
SPECIAL TO THE HERALD

As one gazes out onto the innocence and beauty of nature a sense of serenity fills the heart.

For when all seems hopeless, stopping to notice the things most taken for granted gives refuge to the soul. Lush green trees form a backdrop for the tall golden grass blades of grass that rustle and sway in the wind. Immediately, all worries cease as the warmth and reflection of the sun's rays fall from the sky. Looking up, one can see streams of colors branching out from above, forming a rainbow of promise and hope. Suddenly, birds fly overhead, flapping their wings with confidence and unending persistence, making the rhythm play a song in the wind. Once can then feel the breeze against one's flesh and taste the coolness and perfection of it.

The breeze then sweeps through the petals of wildflowers growing along a hill, filling the air with as much beauty as the flowers themselves.

Smelling the sweet aroma while staring out among the land, one feels peace in a timeless second where, for that moment, all is right.

Dawn Hatton is a student at Lake Howell High School.

Sanford businesswoman wins award

Special to the Herald

SANFORD - Helen Stairs of Stairs Property Management and Realty has been named winner of the 1998 Sam Walton Business Leader Award, which is sponsored by the Wal-Mart foundation and the company's store in Sanford.

The Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, which nominated Stairs for the award, received a $500 grant in her name. This is the first time the award has been given in Sanford since it was founded three years ago.

Stairs was nominated because of her years of public service in the community, said Ronald Rose, executive director of the chamber.

Next year, Rose said, Stairs will serve as chamber president. She has volunteered for community committees and boards including the Waterfront Steering Committee, Sanford Main Street, Historic Preservation, and president of the Ritz Theatre Restoration Project Inc.

Stairs recently served as chairwoman of the Sanford Planning and Zoning Board and was nominated by Congressman John Mica to serve on the National Council for Stairs was one of more than 1,000 business people around the country, who were nominated for the award. Participating chambers received more than $530,000 in grants from the foundation. In 1997, the foundation contributed more than $102 million to the communities it serves through education grants, economic development grants, and matching contributions to community programs.

IN BRIEF

New car dealer in town

SANFORD - Daewoo Motor America this week opened its doors for business at its new location on U.S. Highway 17-92, south of Lake Mary Boulevard. The dealership will offer three models of the Korean-made cars, which are targeted for the middle income market, in particular students between the ages of 18 to 24. Prices top out at $20,000 for the most expensive car. All vehicles sell at a fixed cost and are backed by a 36-month, 36,000 mile warranty, which includes free tune-ups and oil changes.

Heathrow firm, a top industry

ORLANDO - Brite Voice Systems Inc. in Heathrow was among four companies honored this week by the Economic Development Commission of Mid-Florida as an Industry of the Year. Brite Voice relocated its headquarters from Wichita, Kansas in 1997 into a 25,000 square-foot facility, which has expanded into 38,000 square-feet representing a capital investment of more than $3 million. Also named were Door-Craft of Florida Inc., Osceola County; Planet Hollywood, Orange County; and G&T Conveyor, Lake County.

SouthTrust Bank in top 10

ORLANDO - SouthTrust Bank with offices in Altamonte Springs, Fern Park, Lake Mary and Oviedo, has been ranked 10th in the nation by Entrepreneur magazine in the best small business bank category for its programs and services. SouthTrust Corporation is a $34.7 billion regional bank holding company with headquarters in Birmingham, Ala.

Real estate

HEATHROW - Stirling International Realty posted more than $17 million in sales of residential and commercial properties in August, the highest volume in a single month since the company was formed in 1989. The company plans to open a digital, interactive store where homeowners can use computer technology to preview new homes.

LONGWOOD - Taylor Woodrow is building a seven-acre community park in Alauqua Lakes in Longwood that will include a main pavilion, tennis, basketball and volleyball courts, a tot lot, a swimming pool and a sport field for soccer and baseball. The project could cost as much as $1.2 million, according to company officials.

LONGWOOD - MBA Inc. of Longwood, a mystery shopping company that anonymously evaluates businesses, has changed its name to Shoppers International Inc. The company is an associate member of the Florida Attractions Association.

Bill Troup

Ingrid Peterson

Carol Logan

SANFORD - Bill Troup, former National Football League quarterback, has joined Celery Marketing Communications of Sanford. Troup will be responsible for sales expansion and will also share management duties with Byron Lawrence, president of the company.

"Not only did Bill have a satisfying career as a professional athlete, he acquired valuable experience in the printing industry as a marketer of fine printing papers, and in the broader area of marketing communications," Lawrence said.

For nine years, Troup played football with the Baltimore Colts, Green Bay Packers, and the Philadelphia Eagles. He also played with the Calgary Bombers and the Winnipeg Stampeders in the Canadian League.

After his professional football career ended in 190, Troup spent several years with large paper companies in Maryland. He attended the University of North Carolina and received a bachelor's degree in education from Towson State University in Maryland.

LAKE MARY - Dr. Ingrid Peterson and Dr.

Carol Logan of Bayhead Eye Centre on Lake Mary Boulevard have been named National 1998 Independent Optometrists of the Year by Eye-care Business Magazine. The award will be presented Sept. 26 in Los Angeles, Calif. at the International Vision Expo West. An upcoming edition of the magazine will also feature the Lake Mary business.

According to Logan, the eye center sets itself apart by delivering innovative solutions to meet the patients' personal needs.

"Because we listen, over 15,000 patients have entrusted their vision to us since 1978," Logan said. "We have built a professional team of optometrists, opticians and support staff to provide state-of-the-art eye care."

The magazine also recognized the doctors' community service who together with their staff work closely with the Seminole County Public School system in health fairs, job shadows, career days, public speaking and free eye examinations and glasses for the needy through organizations like the Lion's Club, Project Right to Sight, and local battered women's shelters.

Local high school reaps benefits from kitchen supply donation

Special to the Herald

WINTER SPRINGS - Bob Evans Restaurants in Central Florida recently donated china valued at $12,000 to Winter Springs High School's ProStart Food Service Management program. The high school began the school year with a new commercial kitchen to provide students with hands-on experience in preparation for careers in the food service industry. Winter Springs High School instructor Rita Law-McCumber, spent a paid "externship" at a Fern Park Bob Evans Restaurant. She had mentioned her desire to obtain "back-of-the-house" training to Dennis Murray, vice-president of operations, Bob Evans Farm Restaurants, who made the china and the externship all possible.

Murray is the president-elect of the Florida Restaurant Association, and sits on the association's education foundation executive board.

Joining some 57 other instructors, Law-McCumber also attended the association's annual ProStart Teacher Training Institute, co-hosted by Johnson & Wales University at the North Miami Campus, July 12-17.

What drove Williams to throw away his future?

WINTER SPRINGS - By all accounts he was a nice guy.

Maurice Williams didn't seem to have any enemies. His teachers said he was one of the most popular students at school.

Tuesday, he was spotted hanging out with some of his Winter Springs teammates, laughing and joking around like thousands of other high school students in Seminole County.

A star athlete, not just in football, but also in track and field, he had the world in front of him.

Along with an arrest warrant.

Thursday, Winter Springs junior Maurice Williams wasn't running anywhere. He gave up on that sometime last Saturday when he allegedly murdered a man in Sanford.

He gave up his freedom, his opportunity to play football, his chance to get a high school degree, his chance to go to the prom.

He gave it all up.

And only he knows why.

The details are sketchy. According to police reports, Williams put a gun through the window of a young man driving through the Washington Oaks area of Sanford last Saturday.

It could have been a carjacking attempt, maybe a chance for someone who has shown off on athletic fields for years to show off in the arena of the streets where you don't get a flag thrown at you for doing wrong and the punishments are more than a five-yard penalty.

For whatever reason, the gun went off and Williams, despite attending some classes this week at Winter Springs, admitted to shooting the man to death when the police came to the school on Thursday.

In today's paper, there should be pictures of Williams pulling in an interception. He was a standout defensive back and broke up three passes in last week's 9-0 loss.

Instead, he made it into the paper a day early, only it wasn't on the sports page.

It was on the front page and Williams, handcuffed, was being led away by a deputy from the sheriff's office.

Right next to that is a picture of Williams in his football uniform.

He isn't smiling.

In fact, he looks angry.

Every day we read about the horrors of athletes gone mad. Assault and battery, domestic violence, scissors fights in the Dallas Cowboy locker room, they are all a part of sport today.

The perpetrators are athletes making a lot of money who have been put on a pedestal since childhood.

Being a standout athlete gives you power. It let's you stand out from the crowd.

It also gives a certain sense of domination; an invincibility.

Was that what Maurice Williams felt last Saturday when he pulled the trigger?

Did he think he could get away with being a star athlete who had always gotten the extra breaks?

Who knows. It will be awhile before Williams does much talking, at least to the press.

But one thing is for sure. A promising life, one that should be peaking and enjoying the best time of all, is now sitting in a prison cell.

You have to wonder if he even knows whether his teammates, make that former teammates, did well against Lake Brantley Friday night, maybe even pulling off a win with a big play from the defensive backfield.

It really doesn't matter.

It doesn't matter if the Bears won or lost, all we know is that Williams and a victim who happened to be in the wrong place at the wrong time lost.

When the Bears' Class of 2000 walks across the stage next year, there will be a familiar face missing.

He'll be sitting in a jail cell, wondering how he could have made the decision to ruin his life.

Riding out the storm

Seminole rushes past Lake Howell

By Kellie Werner
HERALD STAFF WRITER

SANFORD - Through a driving rainstorm, two county teams battled for a win, bragging rights and a foothold in the Seminole Athletic Conference.

Seminole High School won the battle, shutting down visiting Lake Howell, 28-8, at Thomas E. Whigham Stadium.

The 'Noles proved last night that they are at least one of two teams to beat in the county, with their 3-0 record, 2-0 in the SAC, tying Lake Brantley.

"Everyone played a great game tonight," said Seminole coach Jim Worthington. "Clarence Lattimer had a good game tonight. We knew he was ready to break out. Bobby Williams stepped up again for us and so did Mario Frederick. The offensive line did a super job tonight and the defense hung in there until the end. It was really an all-around effort."

There was no score at the end of the quarter, with both teams trying to figure out what the other was doing and how to maneuver around each to help Seminole run past Lake Howell, 28-8, to remain unbeaten in the Seminole Athletic Conference.

Quarterback Regan Russell was at the controls as the Lake Brantley offense totaled 331 as the Patriots throttled Winter Springs, 26-6, in the rain Friday night.

Lake Brantley romps to third straight victory

By Alex Kane
HERALD STAFF WRITER

WINTER SPRINGS - It rained and rained and rained. Then it rained some more. Then Lake Brantley overwhelmed Winter Springs, 26-6.

The game kicked off over an hour late, and the weather proved ominous for Winter Springs, as Lake Brantley's low opening kickoff from Trey Keeley drove into the front line of Winter Springs, and was picked up by Brantley.

The ensuing drive was composed entirely of runs by Patriots' quarterback Regan Russell and running back Arnold Celeste. Celeste capped the 65 yard drive with a 12 yard touchdown run. Keeley's extra point put the score at 7-0.

On Winter Springs first play from scrimmage on offense, running back Adam Sorkness blew past the Lake Brantley defense. It appeared as if he would score, but linebacker John Miller caught him from behind, tackling him at the 6. The tackle proved extremely important, as two plays later Winter Springs fumbled the ball away.

Lake Brantley held the ball for a great deal of time, until finally losing the ball on an incomplete pass on a fake punt.

The Bears took over on their own 45, and again looked to score following a 12 yard run by quarterback Brandon Blake combined with a personal foul on Lake Brantley, leaving the ball on the Patriot 12. After a seven yard loss, John Miller intercepted the ball in the end zone.

Lake Mary triumphs, 7-0, over Pine Ridge

By Amy Hawkins
HERALD CORRESPONDENT

LAKE MARY - It seemed to be a short game, but it was a long Friday night in Lake Mary as the Lake Mary Rams defeated the Pine Ridge Panthers 7-0 in a rain-soaked battle.

The rain came down steadily for most of the night at Don T. Reynolds Stadium in Lake Mary, but it did not drench the spirits of the Lake Mary Rams who walked away with their second victory of the season.

Once the touchdown came, the night seemed like it would never end as the Rams watched the clock tick slowly away in the fourth quarter.

The only score of the game came on a 24-yard pass from back-up quarterback Jason Hadley to John Dole that was setup by a string of eight straight runs by Rams running back Justin Wright.

Coach Greg Stanton commented that Wright was playing "Lake Mary brand of football" last night.

Even the fans felt the tension of the evening as some of the loyal members of the band conducted a small half-time show in the rain.

The touchdown was actually the third time that the ball had crossed the goal line in Lake Mary's possession on the night, but the other two were called back on penalties.

The Rams also had an impressive fake punt in the first quarter to set up a first down.

Derek Chontas was one of the noticeable leaders of the defense for the night, with more than his share of Panther tackles.

Stanton said that this win seems to have Lake Mary "back on track" to his predicted seven wins for the season.

Pine Ridge had a chance to come back for a tie in the final minute of the game, but Lake Mary was able to force a fumble to regain possession to end the game.

The score does not properly reflect the effort that both teams put forth in last night's match-up.

Both teams seemed able to move the ball well for the first three quarters of the game and rain could be blamed on the lack of connection for points, as it completed flooded all chance of a passing game.

The game was a moral victory for the Rams, proving that their first victory of the season, which was the first victory for the team in eleven games, was not a fluke and that they are ready for some definite competition.

Stanton said that next week's competition against the Lake Howell Silver Hawks would be a test to see who made the least amount of mistakes.

Next week Lake Mary will travel to Lake Howell for a battle 7:30 p.m. Friday.

Lawrence Rudolph ran for 62 yards on 18 carries, but it was his back-up, Justin Wright, that carried the load during the Rams' game-winning drive Friday night.

Wildcats rain all over Oviedo

By Tony DeSormier
HERALD CORRESPONDENT

WINTER PARK - Like the bands of rain that kept working their way across the state, the Winter Park Wildcats never let up Friday night.

The combination made for a very ugly night for the visiting Oviedo Lions.

Scoring on eight of their 10 possessions - one was ended by a turnover and the another by the final whistle - the Wildcats drilled winless Oviedo, 55-12, in a Class 6A football contest at Showalter Field.

Winter Park scored two touchdowns in every quarter.

Despite the incessant rain, Winter Park quarterback Nick Jackson completed nine of 10 passes for 231 yards and four touchdowns. Greg Hobbick caught four passes for 108 yards and two touchdowns.

Not only did the constant rain make for generally unpleasant conditions (both schools' marching bands had packed up and gone home by the end of the first quarter), but a transformer blew about 30 minutes before game time, leaving the light standards at the other side of midfield dark.

Once again, the Lions were their own worst enemy. A fumble on their possession of the night gave Winter Park the ball near midfield.

The Wildcats' first drive was kept alive by an Oviedo "roughing the kicker" penalty on a fourth and-nine situation. Trez Jones helped Winter Park capitalize by breaking several tackles during a 27-yard touchdown scramble.

Getting the ball back two minutes later, the Wildcats needed just four plays to travel 67 yards for a second touchdown. Jackson hooked up with Sidney Soliman on a 36-yard scoring play.

Oviedo responded with an 11-play, 76-yard drive. Kevin Quintero bulging in from the 3-yard line at 11:23 of the second quarter. Winter Park snatched the momentum back quickly, constructing an 80-yard touchdown drive capped by a 6-yard Jackson-to-Hobbick scoring toss.

After a punt and an exchange of fumbles, the Wildcats stunned the Lions with a 58-yard touchdown strike from Jackson to Hobbick with 10 seconds left in the half.

The second half began the way the first half ended. Jackson connecting with John Worrell on a 46-yard touchdown pass play at 3:34 of the third quarter.

Sam Abercrombie (1-yard run), Anthony White (1-yard run), and Anthony Hodges (1-yard run) each added a touchdown in the final going as the Wildcats kept the ball on the ground for 19 of its 20 final plays.

Wildcat placekicker Steven Harrar converted seven of eight extra point attempts.

The Lions put together one last scoring drive capped by Kenny Starling's 2-yard touchdown

Brian Krause did not throw a pass until the second half, but directed a Lyman offense that did everything but get into the end zone.

Lyman on short end of stick at Edgewater

By Jeff Berlinicke

ORLANDO - It's got to be frustrating to be a Lyman Greyhound.

For several years now, the Greyhounds have lost close game after close game, but last night, in a 6-5 loss to Edgewater, it was a frustrating as it gets.

Again, Lyman had chances and just let them slip away.

"The opportunities were there, we just gave up too many chances," a drenched coach Larry Baker said after the game which was started almost an hour late due to the torrential downpour which caused turnovers and quarterbacks throwing little more than a heavy rock by the end of the game.

The Greyhound's record fell to 1-2 as Edgewater, which lost to Lake Mary in its opener, improved to 2-1.

Lyman controlled field position from the start, relying on a conservative ground game.

Quarterback Brian Krause didn't throw his first pass until the second half, but a bevy of running backs including

Was sports to blame?

Probably not. But who knows? We won't be able to ask Maurice Williams any time soon.

Pocock emerges to lead Rams

By Jeff Berlinicke
ASSISTANT SPORTS EDITOR

LAKE MARY - They were some very long shadows, but Brett Pocock has finally emerged.

Last year, the Lake Mary Rams' Brett Pocock starred in virtual anonymity, playing in the shadows of Lake Mary star Jason Hawkins, now a freshman playing at Penn State.

Hawkins got all the ink, but the Rams also lost VolleyFest, the unofficial state championship of Florida, for the first time in years.

Oviedo knocked off the Rams to capture the crown and Lake Mary lost a strong graduating class.

"Last year too many players were out for themselves," Pocock said. "Not this team, this year."

This year's new and improved Rams are now 7-0 and just won a big revenge match against Oviedo and star hitter Turner Elliott, who plays with Pocock on the Orlando Gold summer team which finished 21st in the nation.

Pocock has played all four years at Lake Mary and spent each of those summers playing for the Gold. Volleyball is his only sport and, despite his 6-foot-7 height, he isn't interested in playing basketball.

Pocock really arrived as a sophomore when he led the junior varsity to a second-place finish at the Lake Brantley Tournament. Pocock won the team's Best Defensive Player award and was honored on the all-tournament team.

After moving up to varsity last season, he learned he wouldn't be getting a lot of recognition with Hawkins leading the way, but he never minded waiting for his turn to shine.

"It never bothered me," Pocock said. "I knew I'd have my Brett Pocock uses his 6-foot-7 height to go high above the net and dominate the front court for the undefeated Lake Mary boys' volleyball team.

senior year. Now I can be famous for my 15 minutes."

He spends a lot of time around famous people. When he's not playing volleyball or earning his 3.0 grade point average, he works as a tour guide at MGM Studios. Pocock has worked summers and vacations there for several years at the Great Movie Ride.

The job will give Pocock an impressive addition to his resume. He wants to study business management and eventually work up the Disney ladder.

For the next two months, though, Pocock's thoughts are on recapturing VolleyFest. The Oviedo win was about a measure of revenge, he said, and he doesn't want to be one of the few Lake Mary players who have ended their varsity careers without a title.

He said coach Jeannie Fischer started talking about this year almost as soon as the Rams walked off their home court after being eliminated last season.

"She told us we needed to work on our intensity," he said. "We needed to play our game, so beating Oviedo last week meant a lot. It was a big game and we were all up for it. We even recruited a big crowd."

If the Rams stay undefeated, they can count on some even bigger crowds when it comes time to reclaim their title.

What's Up In The NFL..... Week No. 3

SANFORD - Welcome to Week Three football fans. It's a tough one. This week's schedule has a number of good matchups with the point spread presenting no clear advantage.

However, before we get involved in the difficult task of sorting out winners, let's take a look at last week's action.

Seattle, Baltimore, New Orleans, and San Francisco all provided performances worth discussing today.

The Seahawks continued to validate my prediction of greatness for them by disposing of the Arizona Cardinals as if they were children. This vicious defense, paired with the second best offense in the League, will make a serious run for the playoffs. If not for the fact that they are in the same Division as Denver and Kansas City, they would be given the respect they deserve.

The Baltimore Ravens stunned New York Jets with a pass rush so brutal that they have Glenn Foley contemplating retirement. While I don't foresee greatness for this much improved squad, I do feel they will continue to be a point spread winner for a few more weeks.

Mike Ditka has the New Orleans Aint's playing out of their minds! While Danny Wuerffel is playing good enough to keep them in games, solid defense and special teams is doing the rest.

BRADY LESSARD

NFL COLUMN

San Francisco thrashed the Redskins so badly on Monday night that many feel this team can go all the way. I agree that Steve Young and Company are talented, but I think much of it depends on whether this team can stay healthy.

Florida's team fared well last week although the Bucs are now 0-2. The Dolphins and Jaguars both won important games while Tampa Bay showed that they are planning on starting slow again this year.

By the way, in case you failed to notice, my LOCK OF THE WEEK once again hit pay dirt as the OAKLAND RAIDERS sent the NEW YORK GIANTS home with their first loss. The CRYSTAL BALL OF FOOTBALL is now 2-0 this year in LOCK selections and doing great overall as well.

How great? Every week I compete in a national pool of top handicappers that pick every game of the N.F.L. schedule.

Last week's result? First place and I didn't even need the bulls-eye I hit for the Monday night tie-breaker. This unbelievable performance vaulted me into first place for the season, which is where I intend to stay.

The calls and e-mail I have received lead me to believe that a number of you have had similar results in office pools with my selections. I'll continue to do my best as the season continues. Now let's peek into the CRYSTAL BALL OF FOOTBALL and find some winners.

MIAMI (-3) VS. PITTSBURGH

This should be a very competitive game. I think the Steelers will be able to run the ball, so if I play it, I'd have to take the points. Steelers 21, Dolphins 20.

TAMPA BAY (-7) VS. CHICAGO

The Bucs need an opportunity to gain some confidence and the Bears should do the job. They have played tough against the Jags and the Steelers, but heart only gets you so far in this League. Tampa Bay is a much better team than Chicago and will look to put some big points on the board. Bucs 31, Bears 7.

JACKSONVILLE (-7) VS. BALTIMORE

The Jags will have their hands full with a tough Raven defense, but have yet to display their total offensive prowess. I look for the Jags to win, but I wouldn't give Baltimore's defense seven points. Jaguars 23, Ravens 17.

GREEN BAY (-7) CINCINNATI

The Packers enter this one as the lone road favorite of the week. The Bengals won't make a change at Q.B. which would help their cause. I'd love to see the Bengals win (it would help the Bucs), but even my best daydreaming can't make it happen. Packers 31, Bengals 24.

MINNESOTA (-8) VS. DETROIT

The Vikings got a scare in St. Louis last week, and they didn't like it. Look for them to take control early, but DO NOT count Barry Sanders out of this one. He will have a big day on the friendly astro-turf in Minnesota. Vikings 23, Lions 20.

NEW ENGLAND (-7) VS. TENNESSEE

The Oilers blew it last week as they let the Chargers get their second win. I was very disappointed with the play of the entire team, and look for a better effort in this one. Unfortunately, the Patriots seem to have their act together and won't give this one away easily. Patriots 26, Oilers 20.

KANSAS CITY (-9) VS. SAN DIEGO

Speaking of the Chargers, they will get a reality check today. The Chiefs are furious after their loss last week, and will take it out on this young team. Ryan Leaf and the Chargers have no idea what the Chiefs have planned for them. My sources tell me there will be extra ambulances at Arrowhead Stadium. Chiefs 29, Chargers 8.

BUFFALO (-4) VS. ST. LOUIS

While it doesn't seem that Buffalo should be giving points to anyone, remember, this is the Rummies. The Bills looked O.K. in Miami last week, and may be able to muster the strength to beat Tony Banks at home. Wouldn't touch it with a stick! Bills 17, Rummies 14.

NEW YORK JETS (-9) VS. INDIANAPOLIS

The Jets look to redeem themselves after an 0-2 start, and Parcells will insist upon it. I realize this is a lot of points, but the Colts have a lot of work to do. Besides, with Jim Mora running the Colts offense, it's probably a safe bet they won't score more than nine points! Jets 24, Colts 9.

SEATTLE (-8) VS. WASHINGTON

The Seahawks have to be thrilled with their start, and I think Warren Moon will keep this team focused. They need to win this game with Pittsburgh, Kansas City, and Denver. In the next three weeks, even at 2-0, this is a MUST win for the Seahawks! Seahawks 31, Redskins 13.

ARIZONA (-3) VS. PHILADELPHIA

The Cardinals are thrilled to be at home for the first time this season and are starving for a victory. The Eagles may be the worst team in the League, while Arizona may be the best 0-2 team in the League. I look for the Cardinals to dominate this one. Cardinals 23, Eagles 3.

NEW YORK GIANTS (-4) VS. DALLAS

Boring! Without Altkman the Cowboys are no longer contenders, the Giants never have been. Who cares? Giants 24, Cowboys 15.

Like I said earlier, this is a very tough week to make "winning" selections.

It's times like this that Las Vegas drools, and bettors get slaughtered. Many of you are looking for the CRYSTAL BALL OF FOOTBALL to speak and make it all better, and I will. As I have done for the past three seasons, I have sorted through the mess to come up with the selection I feel most confident releasing as a "heavy play." Today I'm going with the KANSAS CITY CHIEFS (-9) OVER THE SAN DIEGO CHARGERS as my patented LOCK OF THE WEEK.

Too many points to give up? Get out of the way sissy! This is the National Football League, and there is no room for those with weak stomachs.

The Kansas City fans will make Ryan Leaf's ears bleed as they scream for their defense to hurt somebody! This one will be over by the first half and local hospitals will work through the night to repair the damage.

Keep the faxes (330-1987) and e-mail (brady32405@aol.com) coming. I'll answer every one. Enjoy your football, and don't worry about washing the cars today, it rained Thursday!

Lake Howell girls fall in three games

By Kellie Warner
HERALD STAFF WRITER

GOLDENROD - They're still winless but they certainly aren't giving up.

Last night, the Lake Howell girls' volleyball team traveled to Trinity Prep and tried to accomplish something for the first time this year.

A win. It didn't happen, though, as the Silver Hawks fell to the South Seminole County private school, 15-1, 13-15, 15-6.

Despite the Saints only being a Class 2A school, the loss is deceiving because Trinity Prep (9-3) has one of the top volleyball programs in the state, regardless of classification.

"I think it's a good thing that we're taking teams to three games," said Lake Howell coach Brandi Sanford. "It shows that we're getting stronger and getting it together after they drop a game."

Maybe it was the rain that slowed Lake Howell down a bit. Or maybe it was the lack of a crowd, since the game took place on a night when most were at the football games.

More likely it was because of the tough match the Silver Hawks played against Lyman on Thursday night.

The contest went to three games, each win coming with only a two-point spread (14-16, 15-13, 15-13), before Lake Howell fell to the Greyhounds, who were riding high after winning their first match of the season on Wednesday.

There were bright moments last night, though, as several players stepped up to the task. Setter Liz Johnson had a great night and served quite well, as did Krista DeFilippo and Jackie Samelson. DeFilippo was also strong on the defensive end.

Despite the fact that the Silver Hawks didn't come away with a win, the very young team is learning a new system and getting a very good education.

"We are improving slowly but surely," Sanford said. "Taking teams to three games shows that we're not giving up and we're at the point in the season where I think we should be."

"As long as the players don't start giving up, which I know they won't, we'll continue to improve and start to get the wins we know we can achieve."

Next week Lake Howell will have one of the truest tests of the year, playing Semi-

It may be a tough week for the inexperienced team, but who better to learn from than two of the strongest teams in the county?

the weather.

On its first possession of the second quarter, Seminole quarterback Garrett Goldsmith snuck into the end zone on a quarterback keeper from the one-foot line and then ran in for the two-point conversion.

Down 8-0, Lake Howell (now 1-2 overall and 1-1 in the conference) refused to be outdone. On its next possession, it copied almost exactly the scoring drive of the Seminoles when quarterback Jesse Hannon rushed into the end zone. Running back Christian DeJesus tackled on the two-point conversion to tie the score 8-8.

The Silver Hawk defense let its guard down for a minute near the end of the second quarter and Mario Frederick found a hole. He ran 50 yards for the Tribe's second score, but this time the two-point conversion failed. Seminole left the field for the break with a 14-8 lead.

Much like the first, the third quarter was scoreless. In the fourth, however, Seminole would double its score while holding Lake Howell.

Lattimer broke loose from the 32-yard line and added six to Seminole's score. It took two attempts for Matt Nixon to get the PAT on the board, when a penalty against the Silver Hawks led to a second attempt. When the drive was finally completed, Seminole was up 21-8.

Though the rain subsided, Lake Howell was unable to change its position and quickly turned the ball back over to the Tribe. A huge run by Julius Francis set up a 3-yard touchdown by Frederick. It only took one attempt this time for Nixon to give Seminole a 28-8 lead.

That score would hold until the end of the game, thanks to a huge interception by Williams which gave the ball back to Seminole with 2:28 left. Lake Howell was unable to put anything together before the clock ran out on its last drive.

"Our defense did a nice job for us tonight," said Lake Howell coach Mike Bisceglia. "Jesse (Hannon) played real well tonight in some respects and the whole team played with heart. Defeat is never final and just like in life, the team will be down for awhile but then they'll be back up. They'll be ready to play next week."

Lake Howell will take a trip to Lake Mary (2-1) next week for a conference and Class 6A-District 3 match up at 7:30 p.m. Seminole will host fellow Class 5A-District 5 contender Spruce Creek at the same time.

Patriots

Brantley's next possession, Celeste broke through what appeared to be sure tackles to carry the ball for a 52 yard touchdown run. After the extra point, the Patriots led 14-0.

The score remained as such into halftime.

On the first play of the second half, Lake Brantley had a 72 yard Celeste touchdown run brought back on a penalty. After two more penalties in the series, Brantley punted.

Courtesy of runs of 10 and 11 yards by Johnnie Blake, Winter Springs drove deep into Lake Brantley territory. On third and 6, quarterback Brandon Blake hit wide receiver Marcus Wiggins for a diving touchdown catch. Winter Springs closed to within one score, 14-7.

Lake Brantley responded, however, by marching down the field on a long, methodical drive. Again runs by Russell and Celeste constituted all of the yardage, and Celeste again added the finishing touches with a 15 yard touchdown run. Winter Springs blocked the extra point, leaving the score at 20-7.

Winter Springs fumbled the kickoff. This blunder led to the final score of the evening, an 18 yard run by Patriots' running back Lanier Bush.

After an interception on Winter Springs' next possession, Lake Brantley held the ball for the remainder of the game.

The events of the previous day overshadowed the game for Winter Springs, as standout safety Maurice Williams was arrested for and confessed to murder. There was little anyone had to say on the matter, and Coach Mick Harris said, "Maurice mostly kept to himself."

Whether or not Williams' absence from the team affected the team can not be judged, but it can be said that the seniorless squad competing in its first year of varsity football played well against a team which had greater size in numbers and in mass. Despite 3 interceptions, Brandon Blake passed especially well, and all three of his turnovers resulted from amazing plays by the Brantley defense. Adam Sorknness managed to gain solid yardage and even break open a few plays against a stellar Lake Brantley defense.

Winter Springs' defense played solid against the rushing attack of Russell and Celeste. Ken Osbourne and Kurt Blaine both stood out in the effort.

Coach Mick Harris could have been happier with the score, but was pleased with the effort. "We blew a few opportunities, but for a team with no seniors against a team like Brantley, I think we did performed well."

Lake Brantley coach George Clayton said, "The game was like the field: Sloppy and messy."

Still, Lake Brantley, despite a few errors, continued to look like they are the team to beat in Seminole County this year. The defense looked impressive, led by Clint Hanson, John Miller, and Collin Hansen. The offense sputtered, but got the job done.

Lake Brantley will play next week on the road at Lyman, and Winter Springs will play Melbourne Central Catholic at home.

Arnold Celeste ran for 170 yards on 27 carries and scored three touchdowns as Lake Brantley whipped Winter Springs, 26-6, to go to 3-0.

Trez Jones added 87 yards on 11 carries to the Wildcat attack while James Lowe garnered 62 yards on 11 carries. Alvin Hudson led the Oviedo ground game (12 attempts for 63 yards). Quintero finished with eight rushes for 30 yards.

Oviedo (0-3) returns home to face the DeLand Bulldogs in a GA-District 3 clash next Friday night. The Wildcats (2-1) will celebrate their homecoming next Friday when they entertain the Edgewater Eagles.

Bradley working to make top 10 in state on defense

By Amanda Coho
HERALD CORRESPONDENT

SANFORD — As it rained down hard on the field Friday night, the Fighting Seminoles drenched the Lake Howell Silver Hawks in the third game of the season.

Junior Mike Bradley led the defense as it held Lake Howell to only one touchdown and one two-point conversion, to bring the final score to 28-8.

The Seminoles walked away with their third victory, heads and spirits high, looking up at a clearing sky.

Bradley, a second year varsity member, is a linebacker for the Seminoles.

His sophomore year, he moved from the freshman team to play with the big boys on the varsity.

Because of the early recognition of his skill and his desire to win, he was never given the opportunity to play at a junior varsity level.

Even though the team has three wins already this season, they still are not ready to call themselves the "team to beat."

"We did well, but we could have done better. The rain is what did us wrong. Without the rain we could have blown them out," commented Bradley on the team's performance.

Bradley, like all of the other members of the varsity team, is setting his sights on a state championship team.

He is also looking to reach some personal goals.

"I have to get 150 tackles to be in the top 10 in the state."

As a general routine to psych himself up for the upcoming games, Bradley takes a little time to himself to listen to soothing words of wisdom.

"I like to listen to war music," said Bradley, "like Master P."

Next week, Seminole will face Spruce Creek, an important district game. Bradley, along with all of the others of the Seminole varsity team, are already focusing on claiming their fourth win.

Mike Bradley has become the leader of the Seminole defense despite being just a junior for coach Jim Worthington's Fighting Seminoles.

Lyman

Dominick Cleveland, Asa Cleveland, Brad Harris, Kit Kaminsky and Julian Johnson all had carries.

Johnson starred on both sides of the line, dominating from his linebacker spot. The Lyman defense stood up all night and kept the Greyhounds in the game as the offense sputtered on the slop.

Russ Feist was all over the Edgewater backfield with Josh Faircloth and Chad Buker throughout the game.

While winning the battle of field position, Lyman mounted a drive midway through the first quarter.

Asa and Dominick Cleveland did all of the running and kicker Travis Rothstein nailed a 38-yard field goal after the Lyman drive stalled.

Lyman blew the first of many chances after Edgewater took over at its own 33. The Greyhounds defense dominated and forced a punt which was blocked and returned by Johnson to the Edgewater 12.

By that time the rain had temporarily subsided and a carry by Kaminsky moved the ball to the three, but Edgewater's defense held and a field goal attempt was wide.

That's all Edgewater needed to get back into the game. The Eagle offense couldn't get untracked, but the defense shut down the Greyhounds as the turnovers started to mount on both sides.

After the half Edgewater struck quickly as Jonas Wheeler broke at least five tackles on the way to a 65-yard touchdown gallop. Edgewater missed the extra point, but led 6-3.

After that, the rain came down harder than ever and neither team seriously threatened, but Lyman would have a chance as time expired. With 2:03 to play and Edgewater holding the ball deep in its own territory, the Eagles chose to step out of the end zone to take a safety, closing the gap to 6-5 and the free kick gave Lyman one last chance.

Krause connected on four straight passes to move the ball to the Edgewater 28. On the night, he was 9-of-11 on short passes, but his final toss on fourth-and-four with 32 seconds remaining fell short as Lyman took the loss.

No later than the seventh day after the filing of such petition, the supreme court shall file with the custodian secretary of state records an order making such appointment.

(f) JUDICIAL REAPPOINTMENT. Should an extraordinary appointment session fail to adopt a resolution of appointment or should the supreme court determine that the appointment made is invalid, the court shall, not later than sixty days after receiving the petition of the attorney general, file with the custodian secretary of state records an order making such appointment.

SECTION 19. State Budgeting, Planning and Appropriations Processes --

(f) TRUST FUNDS

(2) State trust funds in existence before the effective date of this subsection shall terminate not more than four years after the effective date of this subsection. State trust funds created after the effective date of this subsection shall terminate not more than four years after the effective date of the act authorizing the creation of the trust fund. By law the legislature may set a shorter time period for which any trust fund is authorized.

(3) Trust funds required by federal programs or mandates, trust funds established for bond covenants, indentures, or resolutions, whose revenues are legally pledged by the state or public body to meet debt service or to discharge a requirement, or to meet obligations of the state or any public body, the state transportation trust fund, the trust fund containing the net annual proceeds from the Florida Education Lottery, the Florida retirement trust fund, trust funds for institutions under the management of the Board of Regents, where such trust funds are for auxiliary enterprises and contracts, grants, and donations, as those terms are defined by general law; trust funds that serve as clearing funds or accounts for the chief financial officer, state or local agencies, trust funds that account for assets held by the state in a trustee capacity as agent or fiduciary for individuals, private organizations, or other governmental units, and other trust funds authorized by this Constitution, are not subject to the requirements set forth in paragraph (2) of this subsection.

ARTICLE IV EXECUTIVE

SECTION 3. Succession to office of governor, acting governor --

(b) Upon impeachment of the governor and until completion of trial thereof, or during the governor's physical or mental incapacity, the lieutenant governor shall act as governor. Further succession as acting governor shall be prescribed by law. Incapacity to serve as governor may be determined by the supreme court upon due notice and a showing of a requirement, or by the lieutenant governor and members of the cabinet, and in such case restoration of capacity shall be similarly determined after docketing of written suggestion thereof by the governor or the legislature or three cabinet members. Incapacity to serve as governor may also be established by certificate filed with the custodian of state records by the governor declaring his incapacity for physical reasons to be relieved of such capacity. In such case restoration of capacity shall be similarly established.

SECTION 4. Cabinet --

(a) There shall be a cabinet composed of a secretary of state, an attorney general, a commissioner of agriculture, a commissioner of education, and a commissioner of transportation. In addition to the powers and duties specified herein, they shall exercise such powers and perform such duties as may be prescribed by law. In the event of a tie vote of the governor and cabinet, the side on which the governor voted shall be deemed to prevail.

(b) The secretary of state shall keep the records of the official acts of the legislative and executive departments.

(c) The attorney general shall be the chief state legal officer. There is created the office of the state prosecutor, who shall have concurrent jurisdiction with the state attorney to prosecute violations of criminal laws occurring or having occurred, or when any such offense is affecting or has affected two or more judicial circuits as provided by general law. The statewide prosecutor shall be appointed by the attorney general from not less than three persons nominated by the judicial council, and shall serve as a member of the judicial council, or as otherwise provided by general law.

(d) The chief financial officer shall serve as the chief fiscal officer of the state, and shall settle and approve accounts against the state, and:

(1) The treasurer shall keep all state funds and securities. He shall disburse state funds only upon the order of the comptroller. Such order may be electronic or by means of a magnetic tape or any other method.

(2) The commissioner of agriculture shall have supervision of matters pertaining to agriculture except as otherwise provided by law.

(3) The governor as chair, the chief financial officer, and the attorney general shall constitute the state board of administration, which shall succeed to all the powers, control, and authority of the state board of administration established pursuant to Article IX, Section 18 of the Constitution of 1985, and which shall continue as a body of legal for the life of Article XII, Section 1(c).

(4) The governor as chair, the chief financial officer, the attorney general, and the commissioner of agriculture shall constitute the trustees of the internal improvement trust fund and the land acquisition trust fund as provided by law.

(5) The governor as chair, the chief financial officer, the attorney general, and the commissioner of agriculture shall constitute the agency head of the Department of Law Enforcement.

(6) The commissioner of education shall supervise the public education system as provided by law.

SECTION 7. Suspensions; filling office during suspensions --

(a) By executive order stating the grounds and filed with the custodian secretary of state records, the governor may suspend from office any state officer not subject to impeachment, any officer of the militia not in the active service of the United States, or any county officer, for malfeasance, misfeasance, neglect of duty, drunkenness, incompetence, permanent inability to perform his official duties, or commission of a felony, and may fill the office by appointment for the period of suspension. The suspended officer may at any time before removal be reinstated by the governor.

SECTION 8. Clemency --

(a) Except in cases of treason and in cases where impeachment results in conviction, the governor may, by executive order filed with the custodian secretary of state records, suspend collection of fines and forfeitures, grant reprieves not exceeding sixty days and, with the approval of two-thirds members of the cabinet, grant full or conditional pardons, restore civil rights, commute punishment, and remit fines and forfeitures for offenses.

LOCAL GOVERNMENT

SECTION 1. Counties --

(c) COUNTY ORDINANCES. Each county ordinance shall be filed with the custodian secretary of state records and shall become effective at such time thereafter as is provided by general law.

ARTICLE IX EDUCATION

SECTION 2. State board of education -- The governor and the members of the cabinet shall constitute a state board of education, which shall be a body corporate and have such supervision of the system of free public education as is provided by law. The state board of education shall consist of seven members appointed by the governor in staggered four-year terms, subject to confirmation by the senate. The state board of education shall appoint the commissioner of education.

ARTICLE XI AMENDMENTS

SECTION 2. Revision commission --

(c) Each constitution revision commission shall convene at the call of its chairman, except its rules of procedure, and the constitution of the state, hold public hearings, and, not later than one hundred eighty days prior to the next general election, file with the custodian secretary of state records its proposal, if any, of a revision of this constitution or any part of it.

SECTION 3. Initiative -- The power to propose the revision or amendment of any portion or portions of this constitution by initiative is reserved to the people. It may be invoked by filing with the custodian secretary of state records a petition containing a declaration that a constitutional convention is desired, signed by a number of electors in each of one-half of the congressional districts of the state, and of the state as a whole, equal to fifteen per cent of the votes cast in each such district respectively and in the state as a whole in the last preceding election in which presidential electors were chosen.

SECTION 4. Constitutional convention --

(a) The power to call a convention to consider a revision of the entire constitution is reserved to the people. It may be invoked by filing with the custodian secretary of state records a petition containing a declaration that a constitutional convention is desired, signed by a number of electors in each of one-half of the congressional districts of the state, and of the state as a whole, equal to fifteen per cent of the votes cast in each such district respectively and in the state as a whole in the last preceding election of presidential electors.

(b) At the next general election held more than ninety days after the filing of such petition there shall be submitted to the electors of the state the question: "Shall a constitutional convention be held?" If a majority voting on the question votes in the affirmative, at the next succeeding general election there shall be elected from each representative district a member of a constitutional convention. On the twenty-first day following that election, the convention shall meet at the capitol, elect officers, adopt rules of procedure, and elect the electors of its membership, and fix a time and place for its future meetings. Not later than ninety days before the next succeeding general election, the convention shall cause to be filed with the custodian secretary of state records any revision of this constitution proposed by it.

SECTION 5. Amendment or revision election --

(a) Any part of it shall be submitted to the electors at the next general election held more than ninety days after the joint resolution, initiative petition or report of revision commission, constitutional convention or taxation and budget reform commission proposing it is filed with the custodian secretary of state records, unless, pursuant to law enacted by the affirmative vote of three-fourths of the membership of each house of the legislature and limited to a single amendment or revision, it is submitted at an earlier special election held more than ninety days after such filing.

SECTION 6. Taxation and budget reform commission --

(a) The commission shall hold public hearings as it deems necessary to carry out its responsibilities under this section. The commission shall issue a report of the results of the review carried out, and propose to the legislature any recommended statutory changes related to the taxation or budgetary laws of the state. Not later than one hundred eighty days prior to the general election in the second year following the year in which the commission is established, the commission shall file with the custodian secretary of state records its proposal, if any, of a revision of this constitution or any part of it dealing with taxation or the state budgetary process.

ARTICLE XII SCHEDULE

SECTION 9. Bonds --

(c) MOTOR VEHICLE FUEL TAXES

(2) Article IX, Section 18, of the Constitution of 1985, as amended, is adopted by this reference as a part of this revision, as amended, as though incorporated herein verbatim for the purpose of providing that after the "second gas tax" as referred to therein shall be allocated among the several counties in accordance with the formula stated therein to the extent necessary to comply with all obligations to or for the benefit of holders of bonds, revenue certificates and tax anticipation certificates or any refunding thereof secured by any portion of the "second gas tax."

(3) Subject to the requirements of paragraph (2) of this subsection and after payment of administrative expenses, the "second gas tax" shall be allocated to the account of each of the several counties in the amounts to be determined as follows: There shall be an initial allocation of one-fourth in the ratio of county area to state area, one-fourth in the ratio of the total county area to the total population of the state in accordance with the latest available federal census, and one-half in the ratio of the total "second gas tax" collected on retail sales or use in each county to the total collected in all counties of the state during the previous fiscal year. If the annual debt service requirements of any obligations issued for any county, including any deficiencies for prior years, secured under paragraph (2) of this subsection exceeds the amount which would be allocated to that county under the formula set out in this paragraph, the amounts allocated to other counties shall be reduced proportionately.

(4) Funds allocated under paragraphs (2) and (4) of this subsection shall be administered by the state board of administration created under Article IX, Section 4, and Article IX, Section 18, of the Constitution of 1985, as amended, and which is continued as a body of legal for the life of Article XII, Section 3(c).

(5) The board of administration shall allocate the "second gas tax" in each county account for use in said county as follows: eighty per cent to the state agency supervising the state road system and twenty per cent to the governing body of the county. The percentage allocated to the governing body may be increased by general law. The proceeds of the "second gas tax" subject to allocation to the several counties under this paragraph (5) shall be used for the payment of obligations pledged by the state or county pursuant to Article IX, Section 18, of the Constitution of 1985, as amended, and any refunding thereof, second, for the payment of debt service on bonds issued as provided by this paragraph (5) to finance the acquisition and construction of roads as defined by law; and third, for the acquisition and construction of roads and for road maintenance as authorized by law. When authorized by law, state bonds pledged to the full faith and credit of the state may be issued without any election: (1) to refund obligations secured by any portion of the "second gas tax" allocated to a county under Article IX, Section 18, of the constitution of 1985, as amended; (2) to finance the acquisition and construction of roads in a county when approved by the governing body of the county and the state agency supervising the state road system, and (3) to refund obligations secured by any portion of the "second gas tax" allocated to a county under Article IX, Section 18, of the constitution of 1985, as amended, and which is continued as a body of legal for the life of Article XII, Section 3(c).

(6) No such bonds shall be issued unless a state fiscal agency created by law has made a determination that in no state fiscal year will the debt service requirements of the bonds and all other bonds secured by the pledged portion of the "second gas tax" allocated to the county exceed seventy-five per cent of the pledged portion of the "second gas tax" allocated to that county for the preceding state fiscal year, or the pledged net tolls from the toll district collected in the preceding state fiscal year. And of the annual average net tolls anticipated during the first five state fiscal years of operation of new projects to be financed, and of any other legally available pledged revenues collected in the preceding state fiscal year. Bonds issued pursuant to this subsection shall be payable primarily from the pledged tolls, the pledged portions of the "second gas tax" allocated to that county, and any other pledged revenue, and shall mature not later than forty years from the date of issuance.

SECTION 22. Executive branch reform --

(a) The amendments contained in this revision shall take effect January 7, 2002, but shall remain in effect until the switching for and the holding of primary elections in 2002. The office of chief financial officer shall be a new office as a result of this revision.

(b) In the event the secretary of state is removed as a cabinet officer in the 1998 general election, the term "custodian of state records" shall be substituted for the term "secretary of state" throughout the constitution and the duties previously performed by the secretary of state shall be as provided by law.

(2) Persons holding statewide elective offices shall also file disclosure of their financial interests pursuant to subsection (b)(1)(HHH).

(3) The independent commission provided for in subsection (f) shall mean the Florida Commission on Ethics.

SECTION 3. Sessions of the legislature --

(a) ADJOURNMENT BY GOVERNOR. If, during any regular or special session, the two houses cannot agree upon a time for adjournment, the governor may adjourn the session sine die or for any date within the period authorized for such session, provided that, at least twenty-four hours before adjourning the session, and he shall, while neither house is in recess, give each house a written notice of the governor's intention to do so, and agreement reached within that period by both houses on a time for adjournment shall prevail.

SECTION 5. Executive approval and veto --

(a) Every bill passed by the legislature shall be presented to the governor for his approval and shall become a law if the governor approves and signs it, or fails to veto it within seven consecutive days after presentation if during that period or on the seventh day the legislature adjourns sine die or takes a recess of more than thirty days. The governor, he shall have fifteen consecutive days after the receipt of the presentation to act on the bill. In all cases except general appropriation bills, the veto shall extend to the entire bill. The governor may veto any specific appropriation in a general appropriation bill, but may not veto any qualification or restriction without also vetoing the appropriation to which it relates.

(b) When a bill or any specific appropriation of a general appropriation bill has been vetoed, the governor, he shall transmit his signed objections thereto to the house in which the bill originated if in session. If that house is not in session, the governor shall file them with the secretary of state, who shall lay them before that house at its next regular or special session, whichever occurs first, and they shall be entered on its journal. If the vetoing house votes to re-pass a vetoed measure, whether in a regular or special session, and the other house does not concur in that vote, the veto shall stand. No further reconsideration by either house at any subsequent session may be taken. If a vetoed measure is presented at a special session and the vetoing house does not concur in that measure, it shall be available for reconsideration at any intervening special session and until the end of the next regular session.

SECTION 17. Impeachment --

(a) Any member of the house of representatives shall be disqualified from performing any official duties until acquitted by the senate, and, unless the governor impeached, the governor may by appointment fill the office until completion of the trial.

(c) All impeachments by the house of representatives shall be tried by the senate. The chief justice of the supreme court, or another justice designated by the chief justice, shall preside at the trial. The senate shall sit in public, and in such cases as the governor shall provide. The senate shall determine the time for the trial of any impeachment and may act for the trial whether the house of representatives be in session or not. The time fixed for trial shall not be more than six months after the impeachment. During an impeachment trial senators shall be upon their oath or affirmation. No officer shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the senate. Conviction shall result in removal from office and in the discretion of the senate, may include disqualification to hold any office of honor, trust or profit. Conviction or acquittal shall not affect the civil or criminal responsibility of the officer.

SECTION 18. Conflict of interest -- A code of ethics for all state employees and private interests shall be prescribed by law.

SECTION 19. State Budgeting, Planning and Appropriations Processes --

(d) SEVENTY-TWO HOUR PUBLIC REVIEW PERIOD. Sixty-two hours before the passage of all general appropriation bills shall be furnished to each member of the legislature, each member of the cabinet, all officers of the state and counties, and to each member of the legislature at least seventy-two hours before final passage thereof, a copy of the bill in the form that will be presented to the governor.

ARTICLE IV EXECUTIVE

SECTION 1. Governor --

(a) The supreme executive power shall be vested in a governor, who shall be commander-in-chief of all military forces of the state not in active service of the United States. The governor shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed, commission all officers of the state and counties, and transact all necessary business with the officers of government. The governor may require information in writing from all executive or administrative state, county or municipal officers upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices. The governor shall be the chief administrative officer of the state responsible for the planning and budgeting for the state.

(c) The governor may request in writing the opinion of the justices of the supreme court as to the interpretation of any portion of this constitution upon any question affecting the governor's executive powers and duties. The justices shall, subject to their rules of procedure, permit interested persons to be heard on the questions presented and shall render their written opinion not earlier than ten days from the filing and docketing of the request, unless in their judgment the delay would cause public injury.

bers, one of whom shall be a member of the minority party in the senate, shall be selected by the president of the senate. (b) Vacancies in the membership of the commission shall be filled in the same manner as the original appointments.

(c) At its initial meeting, the members of the commission shall elect a member who is not a member of the legislature to serve as chair. Thereafter, the commission shall convene at the call of the chair. An affirmative vote of two thirds of the full commission and the concurrence of a majority of the members appointed by the governor pursuant to paragraph (a)(1), a concurrence of a majority of the members appointed by the president of the senate pursuant to paragraph (a)(2), and a concurrence of a majority of the members appointed by the governor pursuant to paragraph (a)(3) shall be necessary for any revision of this constitution or any part of it to be proposed by the commission.

(d) The commission shall examine the state budgetary process, the revenue needs and expenditure processes of the state, the appropriateness of the tax structure of the state, and governmental productivity and efficiency, review policy as it relates to the ability of state and local government to tax and adequately fund governmental operations and capital facilities required to meet the state's needs during the next biennial session period.

(e) The commission shall hold public hearing as it deems necessary to carry out its responsibilities under this section. The commission shall issue a report of the results of the review carried out, and propose to the legislature any recommended statutory changes related to the taxation or budgetary laws of the state.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the Great Seal of the State of Florida at Tallahassee, the Capital, the 5th day of August, A.D. 1998. (SEAL)

SANDRA B. MORTHAM SECRETARY OF STATE Note: Constitutional amendment one through four were proposed by the Florida Legislature and are coded as follows.

SECTION 18. Public defenders--In each judicial circuit a public defender shall be selected for a term of four years. He shall perform duties prescribed by general law.

SECTION 20. Schedule to Article V... (c) After this article becomes effective, and until changed by general law consistent with sections 1 through 19 of this article.

(b) No justice or judge shall be a member of a judicial nominating commission. A member of a judicial nominating commission may hold public office other than judicial office.

(5) Any municipality or county may apply to the chief judge of the circuit in which that municipality or county is situated for the county court to sit in a location suitable to the municipality or county and convenient in time and place to its citizens and police officers.

(6) When this article becomes effective... (b) No judge of a court abolished by this article shall become or be eligible to become a judge of the circuit court unless the judge has been a member of bar of Florida for the preceding five years.

(c) LIMITED OPERATION OF SOME PROVISIONS... (1) All justices of the supreme court, judges of the district courts of appeal and circuit judges in office upon the effective date of this article shall retain their offices for the remainder of their respective terms.

SECTION 4. Taxation, assessments--By general law regulations shall be prescribed which shall secure a just valuation of all property for ad valorem taxation.

(b) Not more than one exemption shall be allowed any individual or family unit with respect to any residential unit. No exemption shall exceed the value of the property.

SECTION 5. Superintendent of schools--In each school district there shall be a superintendent of schools, who shall be elected by a general election in each year the number of which is a multiple of four for a term of four years.

SECTION 6. Homestead, exemptions... (1) A homestead, if located outside a municipality, to the extent of one hundred sixty acres of contiguous land and improvements thereon, which shall not be reduced without the owner's consent by reason of subsequent location in a municipality.

SECTION 7. Vacancy in office--Vacancy in office shall occur upon the creation of an office, upon the death, disability, resignation or removal from office, or resignation of the incumbent of the incumbent's succession to another office, unexplained absence for sixty consecutive days, or failure to maintain the residence.

SECTION 8. Taxation and budget reform commission... (a) Beginning in 1997, 1998 and each biennial session thereafter, there shall be established a taxation and budget reform commission composed of the following members:

(1) eleven members selected by the governor, none of whom shall be a member of the legislature at the time of appointment. (2) seven members selected by the speaker of the house of representatives and seven members selected by the president of the senate, none of whom shall be a member of the legislature at the time of appointment.

(3) four non-voting ex officio members, all of whom shall be members of the legislature at the time of appointment. Two of these members, one of whom shall be a member of the minority party in the house of representatives, shall be selected by the speaker of the house of representatives, and two of these members, one of whom shall be a member of the minority party in the senate, shall be selected by the president of the senate. (b) Vacancies in the membership of the commission shall be filled in the same manner as the original appointments.

(c) At its initial meeting, the members of the commission shall elect a member who is not a member of the legislature to serve as chair. Thereafter, the commission shall convene at the call of the chair. An affirmative vote of two thirds of the full commission and the concurrence of a majority of the members appointed by the governor pursuant to paragraph (a)(1), a concurrence of a majority of the members appointed by the president of the senate pursuant to paragraph (a)(2), and a concurrence of a majority of the members appointed by the governor pursuant to paragraph (a)(3) shall be necessary for any revision of this constitution or any part of it to be proposed by the commission.

(d) The commission shall examine the state budgetary process, the revenue needs and expenditure processes of the state, the appropriateness of the tax structure of the state, and governmental productivity and efficiency, review policy as it relates to the ability of state and local government to tax and adequately fund governmental operations and capital facilities required to meet the state's needs during the next biennial session period.

(e) The commission shall hold public hearing as it deems necessary to carry out its responsibilities under this section. The commission shall issue a report of the results of the review carried out, and propose to the legislature any recommended statutory changes related to the taxation or budgetary laws of the state.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the Great Seal of the State of Florida at Tallahassee, the Capital, the 5th day of August, A.D. 1998. (SEAL)

This is a writing advertisement. We want to make sure you are pleased with the results from your Seminole Herald classified ad. To make sure your ad works, we suggest you keep in mind the following:

- Include as many features of the item you are selling as you can think of. Remember, the more you tell the faster you sell.
- Include a price. By being a price, you will eliminate unwanted calls from people who aren't serious about buying your merchandise.
- When you list your phone number, list the time of day that is best to reach you. You don't want people calling you when you are at work or sleeping.

Your Birthday

Sunday, Sept. 20, 1998

In the year ahead, you are likely to do better than usual in situations that giving you a chance to take initiative. Don't be afraid to take a calculated risk if you have thought things through carefully.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If you haven't been substantially impressed by the way someone has handled a critical matter for you, it's time to step in and assume control yourself. Virgo, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $2 and SASE to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 1758, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Good things could develop today, but they may not be immediately evident. What's going on behind the scenes hasn't been presented to you yet.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Life looks good today, especially when dealing with large organizations or club affiliations. If there is something you want to promote, now is the day to do so.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) As of today, you could be in a constructive achievement cycle. It's important to establish goals and objectives for yourself, and to be sure each one is meaningful.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You're a quick study today, and what you learn can be used to your advantage. Try to acquire knowledge you realize you lack.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Either directly or indirectly, there's a possibility you'll be brought onto something commercially promising. If the purveyor of this project is dependable, examine it further.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) It could be more advantageous for you today to let an intermediary do the talking for you when negotiating matters. Choose an advocate who is thick skinned.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Today begins a cycle where some interesting developments both socially and commercially may occur for you in sequence. If

WIN AT BRIDGE

Novocain now or later?

When in dental school, how are budding practitioners advised to behave? One suggestion, which appeared in Newsweek in 1986, was, "Drill, fill and bill." How does that apply to this deal?

No one held back in the auction. East bid one club, yet it did direct a good lead, and it pays to open. West's three clubs was a limit raise, showing about 11 support points with, usually, at least five-card support. North's three diamonds was aggressive, and South's jump to four hearts equally so (though she had some hope that the diamond fit would prove useful).

West led the club 10. After winning with the king, East switched to the heart queen.

The declarer, a European and world champion, won with the heart ace, ruffed the club jack in the dummy, played a diamond to her ace, and led the heart 10. Defending accurately, West went in with his king and returned the diamond 10. Stuck in the dummy, declarer had to try a spade to her king, but West won with the ace and returned the suit. South lost two spades, one heart and one club. Where did she go wrong?

BRIDGE

As West didn't lead a diamond at trick one and East didn't switch to one at trick two, it was likely that diamonds were splitting 2-2, not 3-1. So, after ruffing her club loser, declarer should have cashed the diamond king before playing a diamond to her ace. Now, when West is in with the heart king, he cannot do better than to lead the spade ace.

Removing West's diamonds like that is called the Dentist's Coup.

THE LAST HARVEST

Inaugural exhibition of tribute to the life of farmworkers of Lake Apopka now at SCC

By Jeana Hughes
HERALD STAFF WRITER
SANFORD - Black and white images, with faces weathered by the elements and eyes older than their age, stand steadfastly in the past looking to an uncertain future.

The Last Harvest: A History and Tribute to the Life and Work of the Farmworkers on Lake Apopka, a photo-documentary exhibit, captures the faces and words of the people whose very existence has depended on the muck farms now reclaimed by the state of Florida. The exhibition, which had its inaugural opening at Seminole Community College on Sept. 8, is designed to travel to historical museums, libraries and community centers throughout the state.

The complicated environmental, political and social issues surrounding the muck farms have threatened to overshadow the human blood, sweat and tears that, for decades, have gone into them. The Last Harvest, preserves and honors the history of the farmworkers and their way of life.

"The exhibit is a good frame to preserve history, but also to talk about the lives and work of the farmworkers," comments Tirso Moreno, general coordinator for the Farmworker Association of Florida. Moreno came from Mexico 30 years ago and spent 12 years picking citrus fruit before working for the association. "A lot of people have misconceptions about farmworkers," continues Moreno. "They think we're all migrant workers or illegal aliens. We're not. Many of us are U.S. citizens. All of us are taxpayers, and many of us own homes and have a stake in the community."

Lake Apopka, the second largest lake in Florida, was once known as a fisherman's paradise, but run-off from the muck farms has polluted the lake with pesticides and fertilizers. The state buy-out of the farms left more than 2,000 farmworkers without work.

The exhibit is sponsored by the Farmworker Association of Florida, Crealde School of Art and Seminole Community College, and brings together professional photographers, historians, and anthropologists with the farmworkers to document the multicultural history of the farms that goes back generations.

The exhibit features photographs taken by teen-age and young adult children of the farmworkers as part of a basic photography class sponsored by Crealde. Crealde Executive Director Peter Schreyer and Outreach Instructor Faith Amon gave the students a crash course in technical and compositional basics, and discussed photography as a tool in historical documentation.

“The exhibit is a good frame to preserve history, but also to talk about the lives and work of the farmworkers.”

-Tirso Moreno, coordinator of the Farmworker Association of Florida

Photographs by Schreyer and Amon supplement the student's work. "We just complimented their work," said Schreyer. "It was an educational mentorship." Excerpts from the oral histories of the farmworkers complete the picture.

A panel discussion was held recently at SCC. Anthropologist Dr. Ron Habin discussed the history of the muck farms dating back to 1941. Moreno and Jeanie Economos, the farmworker association coordinator for the Lake Apopka Project, explained the problems faced by the displaced farmworkers.

Martha Zepeda, age 7, learning to read in two languages at Apopka Elementary School, photographed by Lidia Alameda, a member of the Crealde class.

Geraldine Matthew, a former farmworker, now works for the association assisting other farmworkers with transportation to and from job interviews, school and training.

The personal stories of life on the farms shared by Matthew and student photographer Mireya Valle touched the listeners and made real the struggles of people who have carved out a life through hard work and perseverance only to lose their livelihoods almost overnight.

Valle came to Florida from Mexico when she was 10 years old and went to work on the farms. She thought life would be better here. Valle told her father she did not want to do farm work, she wanted to go to school. He agreed, but only if she gave school her very best. "I was not the best student. I did not speak English, but I always tried my best in school," she remembers.

Who will care about these people? Who will speak for them in the places of power where life altering discussions are made? Tough questions asked, but not completely answered, by those attending the discussion.

Economos complimented Schreyer for his vision. "He was able to draw out the creativity and see the beauty in a community that even the community may not have seen in itself."

Sister Ann Kendrick (left), with the Office of Farmworker Ministry, and Tirso Moreno, general coordinator for the Farmworker Association of Florida, at the opening of the exhibition, The Last Harvest: A History and Tribute to the Life and Work of the Farmworkers on Lake Apopka.

The Last Harvest: A History and Tribute to the Life and Work of the Farmworkers on Lake Apopka will be on exhibit in the SCC Fine Arts Gallery through Oct. 8. Regular gallery hours are noon to 3 p.m. on Mondays and Wednesdays, and 3 until 6 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays. For additional hours for this exhibit call 328-2039.

Community handbell ensemble makes a joyful noise

By Jeana Hughes
HERALD STAFF WRITER

CASSELBERRY - The musicians are polishing their bells and rehearsing their repertoires, as members of The Magic of Bronze prepare to ring in their third season of bringing music to the Central Florida area.

The community handbell ensemble recently completed fall auditions and is preparing for another event-filled season that will begin with a performance, in October, at the St. Joseph's Fall Festival, and in November, at Winter Park Towers.

"The greatest demand is at Christmas time," said Music Director Ruth McDonnell. But McDonnell stresses that the music selections are not solely of a holiday or religious theme.

With pieces taken from a variety of genres, the group performs during intermission of the Southern Ballet Theater's production of The Nutcracker, at nursing homes and at various community functions throughout the year.

Musical selections are made from pieces written specifically for the bells or may be adapted from pieces written for the piano. The Magic of Bronze includes popular and oldies selections in its performances.

The group itself is a melodious blend of musical experiences and training. The advanced ringers that make up the ensemble do not make money from their performances. Any money raised by the group is used to maintain its music library.

The non-denominational choir holds rehearsals at Ascension Lutheran Church and the church allows them to use its five octaves of Malmark concert bells and two octaves of Malmark Chortchimes.

McDonnell is an accomplished flutist and solo-ringer. She has a bachelor's degree in music education from James Madison University in Harrisonburg, Va.

In addition to directing The Magic of Bronze, McDonnell is the director of Handbell Chords at Ascension Lutheran Church where she directs a five-octave adult handbell choir and a two-octave children's choir. She is an active member of the American Guild of English Handbell Ringers, and has taught at workshops and conducted mass ringing at festivals.

Nancy Ritter, Cheryl Eaton and Joyce Valiukonis are among the original members still with the ensemble. Their musical backgrounds are extensive. Ritter, a founding member, began ringing bells in her church choir when she was in third grade. She plays the flute and has directed handbell choirs for 14 years. Eaton, also a founding member, has been ringing bells for three years. She plays piano, violin and sings.

Valiukonis has been a professional musician since she was 15 years old. She attended the University of Maryland and the Peabody Conservatory. She served for 12 years as assistant director of Anundel Vocal Arts in Annapolis. Currently Valiukonis is director of music, office administrator and coordinator of social functions for an area church. She enjoys performing in ballroom dance exhibitions.

The newest addition to the choir is Julie Piper. Piper comes from a musical family and has played piano, flute and sang since junior high in Fairhope, Ala. She moved to the Central Florida area eight years ago. Piper performed handbells in college and is currently music director for a handbell choir at a local church.

Julie Piper, Music Director Ruth McDonnell, Nancy Ritter and Joyce Valiukonis.

The members of The Magic of Bronze work in harmony to promote the art of handbell ringing and hope to encourage public appreciation of and interest in handbell music. They also say bell ringing is fun!

Centers provide health literature free of charge

Special to the Herald

ORLANDO • Mayo Clinic is installing information centers in more than 600 Winn-Dixies, including 107 stores in Florida.

These centers will expand Mayo's ability to serve as a provider of reliable health information to the general public. The centers will provide free literature and health tips on more than 100 common illnesses, diseases, and health questions.

"Even when people don't need to go to the doctor, they need reliable answers about their health concerns," says Dr. Jerry Pietan, radiologist, Mayo Clinic Jacksonville. "Our new community service gives helpful, easy-to-read information on everyday health issues from athlete's foot to vitamin deficiency."

The centers include a publication rack where the free literature is displayed, organized alphabetically by topic. On the back of the information cards, Mayo Clinic offers advice about when to seek help from a healthcare provider. For instance, the card about sunburn advises "prompt medical care is needed if you develop a fever, intense itching or a rash."

Brief health tips also will be displayed along pharmacy aisles to help people understand everything from treating a cut to first aid for insect stings and sprained ankles. These tips focus on helping shoppers make informed decisions and offer self-care strategies for conditions such as minor burns, ringing in your ears, bunions, constipation, low-calorie diets and dry skin.

"Mayo Clinic has a commitment to serve as a health information resource for the public," says Dr. Pietan. "This is one of the many ways that Mayo is reaching out beyond our patients."

Winn-Dixie pharmacies also will carry Mayo Clinic books and CD-ROMs available for sale to people who need more comprehensive medical resources. Revenue that Mayo received from these products is used to support programs in medical education and research, such as Mayo's extensive research programs in Alzheimer's Disease, heart disease and cancer.

"We welcome the opportunity to help Mayo Clinic provide this community service," W. H. Sutton, Winn-Dixie. "Mayo has a vast knowledge in virtually every aspect of medicine. Winn-Dixie pharmacy customers now will have convenient access to important health information when they shop in our stores."

Mayo Clinic plans to have health information centers placed in 600 Winn-Dixie stores by the end of 1998. This information for a healthier life is produced by Mayo foundation for medical Education and Research.

Winn-Dixie Stores, Inc. is the nation's fifth largest supermarket retailer, with more than 1,180 supermarkets in 14 Sunbelt states and the Bahamas. Winn-Dixie Orlando operates 107 stores throughout 12 Florida counties. The company is dedicated to providing customers with low prices everyday.

To receive Mayo news release by E-mail, send a message to newsbureau@mayo.edu. Include your name, affiliation, and e-mail address. Mayo clinic news releases are available on the Mayo Home Page, <http://www.mayo.edu>. Mayo Clinic health information is available on Mayo Clinic Health Oasis at <http://www.mayohealth.org>.

Mayo is a private group practice of medicine dedicated providing end treatment of patient illnesses through a systematic focus on individual patient needs.

Mayo Clinic is installing information centers, with free brochures, in 107 Winn-Dixies in Florida.

Mayo provides comprehensive hospital and outpatient services at each of its major locations—Rochester, Minn.; Jacksonville, Fla.; and Scottsdale, Ariz. At each site, clinical practice is closely integrated with advanced education and research programs. Mayo also provides care through affiliated practices in Arizona, Florida, Georgia, Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin. Mayo is an affirmative action and equal opportunity educator and employer.

Simple In-home Exercise Can Make a World of Difference

There are many different home training routines, but the most effective work out is the simple Pull-Push method of training.
 This training method can be easily done three times a day, morning, noon, and evening. It is also referred to as meal time exercise.
 Simply put, you pull in the lean protein and carbohydrates and push away the heavy fats and sugars.
 Unfortunately this seems to be the most difficult. But on the other hand, in all the years of training people this is one training routine that has had a higher success rate than working out with weights and cardio exercises put together.

 Like any other training routine, start out slow by picking out one meal.
 For most effective results start out with your last meal of the day and work toward your first meal.
 The reason for this is you are less active at night than in the morning.

Meditation classes
WINTER PARK - The Center for Spiritual Awareness will offer meditation classes beginning Sept. 22 from 7 until 8 p.m. in the first floor community room at the Winter Park Public Library.
 The benefits of meditation, properly practiced, include facilitating inner awakening and authentic spiritual growth, stress reduction, strengthening of the body's immune system, slowing of biological aging processes, improved concentration, more rational thinking and enhanced appreciation for life and living. Helpful meditation techniques and procedure will be taught and practiced.
 The classes, with Instructor Susan Lowe, will run for four weeks. Cost is on a donation basis. The library is located at the corner of Fairbanks and East New England. For reservations call Susan Lowe at (904) 672-6981.

Hospice volunteers
MAIFLAND - VITAS, a hospice care program, is seeking volunteers willing to work with terminally ill patients and their families.
 Volunteers provide support to the terminally, their families and the friends who care for them. These services are provided in the individuals' homes or nursing homes. Volunteers are also needed to work with families and friends during the bereavement period, as well as non-patient contact activities. Other volunteer opportunities include office/clerical duties, pet therapy, T.A.P. Tuck in Program and Community Orientation/Speakers Bureau.

A century of living

Missionary to Haiti observes 100th birthday

Ten years ago, Polly Criswell Schoolcraft made her final trip to Haiti to visit her beloved friends there. Now that the dedicated missionary has reached the century mark, Polly doubts she will ever return.

Born Sept. 12, 1898 in Texas, Polly and her husband, Deward Schoolcraft, from Schoolcraft, Mich., named for his family, were married in 1917 and became missionaries to Haiti in the early 1950s. At that time, they built their home on Riverview Avenue in Sanford in order to have a place in the states where they could return. The couple spent many fulfilling years touring and giving lectures on the needs of impoverished Haiti.

According to her daughter, Helen Hall of Blountsville, Ala., Polly, a frail and fragile twin and one of 11 children, nearly died at birth. Her twin, Dewey, was a big, bouncing boy and as fraternal twins they did not look like sister and brother, "much less like twins," according to Helen. Two years later, Polly's mother gave birth to another set of twins, this time identical. Today, all of her siblings are gone leaving Polly as the sole survivor.

Polly and Deward are the parents of six children: Mildred Bea Ryle of Denver, Col.; Helen Hall, Blountsville, Ala.; Betty Young, Altamonte Springs, whose husband, Don, is from Sanford; Edward B. Schoolcraft, Waverly, Kan.; Deward Criswell Schoolcraft Jr., who met with an accidental death at age 16; and Carol Schoolcraft, also a missionary to Haiti who died of cancer at age 47. There are 9 grandchildren and 10 great grandchildren plus several adopted grandchildren.

While Deward was constructing a building for a school in Haiti, he fell and fractured his head resulting in his death. According to Helen, Polly and daughter Carol continued the work in Haiti until Carol's death in 1988.

On her 99th birthday last year, Polly received over 100 congratulatory cards. The family sent out more than 150 invitations to Polly's friends across the United States to attend her 100th birthday celebration at her Riverview Avenue home in Sanford.

Helen said that her mother's health is "excellent" and her heart is "absolutely great" for a woman her age. She added, "She is very alert and sound - occasionally a lapse of memory, but very spry and happy at Florida Living Center in Apopka."

Daughter Mildred Ryle said her mother's celebration, from 2-5 p.m., on Sept. 12 was "very, very successful." Polly herself said, "It was a wonderful day, wasn't it?"

Polly received her guests wearing a print dress complemented with a red rose corsage. There were a number of out-of-town guests and she received more than 75 cards, telephone calls and floral arrangements.

The beautifully embossed red and white birthday sheet cake, decorated in red roses, was inscribed with: "The seeds of today are the flowers of tomorrow - 100 years."

For those who may like to belatedly congratulate Polly, her address is: Florida Living Center, 3355 East Semoran Blvd., Apopka, FL 32703. Her telephone number is: 1-407-786-1074.

SHS 1958 CLASS MARKS 40TH REUNION

It was a hot time in the old home town when members of the 1958 class of Seminole High School returned to their Alma Mater to celebrate their 40th class reunion. From far and near they came and in some cases classmates had not seen each other in years.

Nobody seemed to mention an added wrinkle or two here nor an extra bulge or two there. They all had a wonderful time reminiscing about the good 'ol days and how life was back then.

On Friday night, the group gathered for a rally at the VFW in DeBary. Approximately 50 attended the fun-filled festivities.

Saturday was a busy day. About 45 had lunch together at

DAR remembers first 8 signers of U.S. Constitution

Special to the Herald

Sanford Mayor Larry Dale was guest of honor at the Sept. 11 luncheon meeting of Sallie Harrison Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution held at the Marina Conference Center in Sanford. He signed a proclamation of Constitution Week and presented the proclamation to the Constitution Week chairman Loune Messenger.

The presentation was followed by a program "remembering the first eight signers of the Constitution" presented by the executive board members. From 1998 to 2001 NSDAR members will study the signers of the Constitution.

These men who gathered in Philadelphia from May until September 1787 are remembered for their dedication in creating a Constitution which established the rights, privileges and responsibilities of American citizenship. George Washington was the president of the convention and the first of the 39 men to sign. The rest of the delegates signed in geographic order, starting with New Hampshire, the Northern most state and ending with Georgia, the Southern most state.

The first eight signers were: George Washington (1732-1799) Virginia; Nicholas Gilman (1755-1814) New Hampshire; John Langdon (1741-1819) New Hampshire; Nathaniel Gorham (1738-1796) Massachusetts; Rufus King (1755-1827) Massachusetts; William Samuel Johnson (1727-1819) Connecticut; Roger Sherman (1721-1793) Connecticut; Alexander Hamilton (1755-1804) New York.

Betty Bridgwater, regent, presided over the program followed by a brief business meeting. Guests in addition to Mayor Dale were introduced as follows: Dottie Decker, John Kerr, Paul Erisman, Daniel Orlitzki and Drew Durham representing Ft. Mellon Society C.A.R.

The Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag was led by Suzan Ruscella; followed by The American's Creed led by Mildred Lind. Virginia Milder read the President General's Message which thanked all members for their thoughts and prayers upon the death of her husband, Dale Love. Barbara Hall read the National Defense message.

GOSPEL OBSERVANCE

Gospel Christian-Aires will celebrate their fourth anniversary, Sunday at 3:00 p.m. at the African American Academy of Arts, 1017 W. 13th St.

Appearing are the following groups: Singing Kings of Joy, Charlie Harp and Central Finest, Harmonettes of Zellwood, The Temperance Wonders of Haines City, and Florida Nightengale.

EPA OPEN HOUSE

The Atlanta Region IV office of the United States Environmental Protection Agency will be coming to Sanford to conduct a remedial investigation/feasibility study and baseline risk assessment for the Sanford gasification plant site located on the north and south sides of West 6th Street between Holly Avenue and Cedar Avenue.

Sites include the old Sanford gasification plant, Cloud Branch Creek, part of Mill Creek and Lake Monroe's Cloud Branch outfall.

The office of the public utilities company owns the property. The existing facility is located at 830 and 901 West 6th Street. The office building and an asphalt paved parking area occupy the northern portion of the former SGP site north of West 6th Street.

The Environmental Protection Agency will be conducting personal interviews of persons in the community and residents of the areas affected. An open house will be held for the residents and persons who would like to work on the community advisory group which will include persons who represent various interests of the community and residents who live or own property near the site.

If you live or work near the Sanford gasification plant site located on West 6th Street, Holly Avenue, and Cedar Avenue, you are urged to attend this open house with EPA officials who will discuss contamination found at the above named site and what will be done to eliminate the problem.

The open house will be held Sept. 23, 7:00 p.m. at the West Sanford Boys and Girls Club. See Hawkins, Page 4C

Fifth-graders ride train on field trip

Before the advent of cars, trains were a heavily used mode of transportation. Fifth grade students at Lake Mary Elementary learned all about the Trans-Continental railroad and the role it played in expanding the nation. They learned about the hardships that the builders of the railroad suffered. Many people died connecting the east to the west. The students learned everything they could about the railroad. All that was left was to ride a train.

Each fifth grade class planned a train field trip. They took buses from Lake Mary Elementary to the Sanford Amtrak station. There, they caught the train to Winter Park. The nearest sight for most of the students was seeing their own school when the train went through Lake Mary. They also enjoyed walking down the aisles of the train while it was moving. And the seats on the train were "cool". Students enjoyed putting the foot rest up and leaning back for a relaxing ride.

Once the train arrived in Winter Park, the students had a picnic in the park and dessert at the Haagen-Daz ice cream shoppe. One of Mrs. Carr's students said that the ice cream was her favorite part of the train trip.

Troop 148. The fishing Saturday morning was slow, but it picked up in the afternoon. Several fish were caught including catfish, pinfish and one fish no one was able to identify. The girls were also thrilled to see a manatee come very close to the dock and several dolphins playing in the distance. A blue heron flew onto the dock very close to the girls as if to check them out.

The troops shared the cooking for the weekend. The Brownies cooked Saturday lunch for everyone, using a recipe from their Brownie book, the Seniors cooked Saturday dinner and the Juniors Sunday breakfast.

As part of their From Fashion to Fitness patch, the Seniors conducted a fashion show Saturday night. With help from the Juniors, they did the hair and the makeup for the Brownies and helped them pick out clothes to model.

BANANA RIVER CAMPING

In Girl Scout circles, there is one camp that is known as the Hilton of camping. It is Riverpoint on the Banana River. The camp was built in the 1920s as a fishing lodge for the wealthy. It was eventually donated to Citrus Council of Girl Scouts for use as a camp. And if you ask any Girl Scout who's been there to name her favorite camp, she'll say Riverpoint.

Riverpoint is a large two-story building on several acres of land. Downstairs is a kitchen, living room, a small dining room and a large, well-organized resource library. Upstairs are several dorm style rooms that sleep from 3 to 8. The two biggest outdoor attractions are the large oak tree and the dock. The oak tree holds a six person tree house and two swings. The dock goes out into the river and is the perfect place for fishing.

Three troops from Lake Mary spent last weekend camping at Riverpoint. Brownie Troop 458, Junior Troop 1592 and Senior

WEDDING

Margaret Staley, Alan Boschen exchange vows

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Boschen

Margaret A. Staley of Sanford, and Alan L. Boschen of DeBary, were married Aug. 28 at the Deltona home of Tracey Schneider, notary public, who performed the traditional ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mary M. Conley, Morristown, Tenn., and the late Joe H. Conley. The bridegroom's parents are Jessie Lala, Winter Garden, and the late Nelson Boschen.

The bride chose for her vows a pastel pink tea-length dress, fashioned along the slim silhouette, and accented with pearl buttons. She wore a pink half-halo headdress and carried a hand bouquet of pink sweetheart roses showered with baby's breath.

Kelli Hammonds attended her mother as matron of honor. She wore a tea-length black and white print dress and carried a bouquet of white, tipped with pink, sweetheart roses.

The newlyweds are making their home in DeBary. The bride is employed by the Seminole Herald and the bridegroom is employed by First Weigh Mfg.

Kids probably lied about stepmom to appease mom

DEAR ABBY: This summer my husband's four children by a previous marriage spent their vacation with us. They are 16, 15, 13 and 11. I have a 13-year-old daughter.

Abby, I spent months planning their holiday so that everything would go well. I did all the shopping, cooking, cleaning and laundry for them during their visit. I bought tickets for all of us to do interesting things while they were here. We had just put in a new pool, and they could swim every day if they wanted to. We hosted two picnics so they could see everyone in the family. There wasn't a day that they didn't have something to do, and they seemed to have a good time. There were a few arguments between the kids, but nothing major.

After they left, my husband called to make sure they had made it home OK. He was told his children had a terrible time; they had nothing positive to say about their vacation. They totally trashed me and my daughter. My husband knew they were lying, but he still took their side.

I am crushed. I worked hard to give his kids a great vacation. I'm so angry with my husband I'm seeing red. What should I do?

FURIOUS WIFE AND STEPMOTHER

ADVICE

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR FURIOUS: First, calm down; then forgive your husband. He's not the villain.

Accept the fact that the children told their mother what they thought she wanted to hear. They lied because they were afraid she'd feel hurt to hear they enjoyed themselves while they were with their father and you. Forgive them; they are caught in the middle and are attempting to protect their mother.

DEAR ABBY: So many people rely on what you write that I am writing to you to ask you to please print a correction in your inclusion of Georgia in the list of states allowing common-law marriage.

Common-law marriages created prior to Jan. 1, 1997, may be upheld, but those after that date will not. We do not want anyone to begin living with another under the assumption that their union will become legal.

KIPLING LOUISE MC VAY, JUDGE, CHEROKEE COUNTY PROBATE COURT, CANTON, GA.

DEAR JUDGE MC VAY: I was unaware that Georgia changed its requirements for common-law marriage last year — as were my library researchers. Thank you for pointing this out. In my own defense, let me say that I advised any couple considering common-law marriage to consult an attorney before assuming that their union is legal and binding.

HOMECOMING

It was Homecoming, Family and Friends day, Sunday, Sept. 13 at New Bethel Missionary Baptist Church where Rev. William Lewis is pastor. The 11:00 a.m. and 3:00 p.m. service made for a day of Christian celebration says chairperson, Helen Smith along with the co-chairpersons Jessie Davis and Gloria Long.

The theme was "A Friend In Need Is A Friend In Deed." Spiritual unity was exemplified throughout the celebration. Pastor Lewis reminded all attendees that our Lord and Savior is the only one that can give the power to walk together.

The message of the hour was delivered by Richard Peterson, a native of Sanford. He is a graduate of Seminole High and Wesleyan College in West Virginia. He is presently a member of Shiloh Baptist Church in Kissimmee and is an instructor at Osceola High School. Mr. Peterson is the son of Delois Worthen.

Speaker for the afternoon service was Pastor Willis Perkins and the congregation of Christian Fellowship Baptist Church.

30TH ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph (Bear) Tillman, celebrated their 30th anniversary Monday, Sept. 14. The Tillmans were married 1968 in Sanford. The Tillmans are the parents of two daughters, Reneice and Rena. Their granddaughter is Ray 'Nell'.

Many more happy years from Aunt Marva.
