The price for the merger was worked out in cash and stock options offered by Time Inc., according to Bob Niles, ATC spokesman. ATC stockholders were given the option of accepting cash for the merger or equivalent number of shares in Time, according to Niles. The total figure for cash and stock is about $130,000,000,

"Cable officials say the move will not change efforts to seek rate hikes in Seminole County. "On the local level, the impact will essentially be nil," said Kevin Rorke, Cablevision's general manager. "The management of ATC will remain intact. There will be no change in policy and procedures." The move will also have no bearing on a scheduled hearing on rate hikes for Seminole County customers outside incorporated areas, according to Rorke. The Seminole County Commission will review Cablevision's request for rate increases at a 7 p.m.

customers from the current $6.50 per month to $8 per month over the next two years. Rorke noted Cablevision will probably make the same request again to the Sanford City Commission in the near future. However, he admitted, a date for that third request has not been set.

"I think it is very clear we will have to petition the City of Sanford for a rate adjustment in the near future." said

"From the larger standpoint, in terms of capital and finances, the merger will have a great impact," said Rorke. "Our capability to secure financing was limited in comparison before this." Time has long been interested in cable television, according to Rorke, and was one of the original stockholders

'Festival' Greeting Set For Carter

certain about the outcome of President Carter's trip to the Middle East, but the Egyptians plan to greet him with a peace festival that will include a giant mechanical pigeon and live white doves. Carter had a full schedule of meetings and briefings with his advisers today, preparing for his high-risk, last-ditch attempt to persuade Egypt and Israel to accept peace treaty terms. Both Egypt and Israel mobilized tens of thousands of security guards, and planned public sessions of their parliaments for the American president, who leaves Andrews Air Force Base tonight at 6:30 p.m. and arrives in Cairo Thursday afternoon. Egyptian President Anwar Sadat was said to be reassessing his country's position in light of America's latest compromise proposals, conveyed Tuesday by Carter's national security adviser, Zbigniew Brzezinski.

Officials were tight-lipped on the American ideas but repeated Egypt's determination to realize a "just and durable peace," and welcomed Carter's initiative.

But the mood in Egypt was strictly up-beat. Carter will be welcomed not only by Sadat but by a giant dummy pigeon with an olive branch in its beak, mounted on a flower-bedecked wagon. The pigeon will ruffle mechanical wings to release dozens of white doves over the crowds.

Sadat called the trip "a very daring and courageous decision." In Moscow, the official Tass news agency called Carter's trip an attempt to prevent "utter failure" of the peace negotiations. "The main purpose of President Carter's Middle East trip will be to get more concessions from Sadat, who had taken the road of surrender to Tel Aviv's political and territorial claims," Tass said

Fuel Shortages Blamed For Airlines' Cancellations

By United Press International United, Easter and Delta airlines are canceling scores of passenger flights daily because of fuel shortages caused by the three-month cutoff of Iranian oil. Chicago-based United Airlines, the nation's largest air carrier, has canceled 429 departures, a little over 3 percent of its 12,000 departures a week, for the rest of March. On a much smaller scale Tuesday, Eastern Airlines in Miami suspended 31 of its 1,600 daily flight "legs" and Delta Air Lines in Atlanta canceled 18 flights out of Chicago's O'Hare Airport.

NEW ATHENS, Ohio (UPI) - This Harrison County village in the heart of Ohio's coal country has just about had it with federal agencies.

The village council Monday night, aware of the hasale over burning Ohio's high-sulfur coal, passed an ordinance "to prevent any state or federal agency such as the Environmental Protection Agency from meddling in the affairs of the village."

Passed as an emergency measure for the "safety of the citizens" of the village of 450, the ordinance requires such agencies to contact the mayor for a permit and to inform him why they are in the village.

WASHINGTON (UPI) - A new Census Bureau report shows substantially more blacks are staying in high school, and the new graduates are going on to college at about the same rate as white students.

Although blacks still drop out of high school more frequently than whites, the gap is closing and is likely to narrow further in the next 10 years, the bureau said. Perhaps the most promising change outlined in the report for the 1967-1977 decade was the reduction in high school dropout rates: Among black youths aged 18 to 24 is fell from 35 percent to 24 percent, while the rate for whites dropped from 18 percent to 15 percent.

More blacks also started college, increasing their proportion on campus from 7 percent or half a million students in 1970 to 11 percent or 1.1 million in 1977.

Carter Offers Hospital Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — By going public on the issue of controlling rising hospital costs, President Carter has placed the ball squarely in the congressional court where the wider battle over inflation will be won or lost. Carter made it clear Tuesday when he formally introduced his cost-cutting measure that the public will be watching this issue very closely. Those who talk of balanced budgets and souring inflation now have a chance "The Hospital Cost Containment Act of 1979 will be one

In Parts Of Illinois And Iowa 'Flood Of The Century' Being Forecast

MOLINE, Ill. (UPI) - Residents and businesses in the Rock River Basin are battening down the hatches, preparing for what experts say may be the flood of the century.

With forecasters fearing waters 8 to 10 feet above flood stage as the spring thaw approaches, both private firms and the government are finding it nearly impossible to keep up with orders for sandbags from the so-called Quad Cities—Moline, East Moline, Rock Island, Ill., and Davenport, Iowa.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers has ordered an additional 750,000 sandbags and requested bids for another 500,000 to be delivered later this month. A dispatcher for Moline Consumers Co., the Quad Cities' largest sand distributor, said "the telephone has been ringing off the hook" with new orders. James Wiggins, a forecaster for the National Weather Service,

Tuesday warned the Rock River Basin "could be in for some very

In 1973, heavy spring rains, combined with a spring blizzard, fed the rampaging Rock River from its headwaters in Wisconsin to its mouth just below Rock Island, causing millions of dollars of damage and forcing thousands of people from their homes.

If the snow melts at normal rates and the area receives average precipitation this spring, the Rock could hit 18 to 20 feet in Moline - 8 feet above flood stage - and between 20.5 and 22 feet at Joslin -10 feet over flood stage.

"There were record snowfalls in southern Wisconsin and northern Illinois and all that snow has got to come down," Wiggins said. "All people can do is prepare and hope." The threatened areas include a number of mobile home parks, residential areas, downtown Milan and a large shopping mall in on earthen dikes and levees that would protect those areas. "It's to the point where sandbagging alone very likely would not keep us dry," said Milan Village Administrator Steve Seiver. "To put it bluntly, downtown Milan could be under 3 to 6 feet of

Frank Mack, Corps emergency operations manager, said he expects approval from Washington this week to begin work on the dikes and levees. The threatened areas can be protected, he said, but only "if the work is done in time."

The Rock River is still choked with ice, but he fears a sharp warming trend over the next several days would accelerate melting to the point that flooding could begin at midmonth. "The Rock River has the worst flood potential of any place in the district," said George Johnson, a hydraulics engineer for the Hatchett Picked For Seat On U.S. Appeals Court?

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) - Florida Supreme Court Justice Joseph W. Hatchett has been tapped by the Justice Department to fill one of 11 vacancies on the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans, the Florida Times-Union reported in today's editions. The recommendation needs approval of President Carter and confirmation by U.S. Senate.

The Times-Union quoted "very reliable" sources that Hatchett, a former U.S. magistrate in Jacksonville who became the first black to sit on the Florida Supreme Court when Gov. Reubin Askew appointed him in 1975, has been picked for one of the appeals court spots.

Blasted Tanker Towed To Jax

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) - The 729-foot oil tanker St. Chris, towed by a Swedish salvage tugboat, has arrived in Jacksonville for repairs following an explosion in one of its holds that ripped at least two holes in its bow last week. The ship's owners, Olympic Marine, of Monte Carlo, said workmen would spend as long as two weeks cleaning the vessel and making sure there are no fumes in its tanks.

19 Held As Pot Smugglers

ST. Pitts credited an alert Marine Patrol officer with providing the tip that led to the seizure of 24 tons of pot worth an estimated $19 million.

The seizure occurred Monday night after the marine patrol, U.S. customs agents, and Wakulla County sheriff's deputies staked out a 67-foot shrimp boat docked at the Newport Marina on the St. Marks River.

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The same Senate committee that produced the singing Mafioso Joe Valachi a few years back is going to resurrect organized crime as a prime topic for inquiry, according to Sen. Sam Nunn, D-Ga. Nunn, chairman of the Permanent subcommittee on Investigations, will be following in the highly publicized footsteps of the late Sens. Estes Kefauver and John McClellan, who put the Mafia on television before Hollywood did.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., is the current committee Nunn talked about the promise and the difficulty of probing the underworld in an interview with UPI following published charges

Nunn's first exposure as a would-be racket-buster came during last summer's legislative doldrums with the appearance of Gary

Bowdach, said by one investigator to be a link between the Italian and Jewish syndicates, was an admitted "hit-man" who testified about crime in South Florida.

Even though the syndicate knew him and his mug shot was in the papers the next day, Nunn shielded Bowdach's identity by ordering television cameras be pointed to the floor as he arrived Sitting with his back to the audience and with two beefy marshals protecting him, Bowdach told about alleged deals between Scotto and Lansky - about loansharking, arson and murder. None of the gangsters was called to testify, however, even though Trafficante, reputed boss of South Florida. was at one time under subpoena. In an article in "Spotlight," a publication of the conservative Liberty Lobby, free-lance investigative reporter Martin Price charged that committee counsel Owen Malone tried "to dilute the hearings and protect the very crime figures that the subcommittee was trying to probe."

"Preposterous," says Malone. "A bunch of crap," says minority counsel Stuart Statler. "Outrageous," says Jackson. Nunn patiently explains that it is bad form, legally and ethically, to question witnesses about matters for which there is no evidence, and that the staff unanimously agreed not to call Trafficante or the other names in crime's Hall of Fame. "Nothing would have pleased me more than to have called Trafficante," he says. "But no way I'm going to call a top organized crime figure when we have no evidence. The only hope you have, if you do, is that he'll take the Fifth Amendment ...

because you don't have anything to ask him." Malone says "committees have been criticized for merely

If we can change one law that would give law enforcement agencies one chance to be more effective, that's more important than three weeks of special hearings, which has a place, too. Still, it's encouraging to note the administration. spurred by international setbacks and rising public criticism, appears to be developing a little spine. That the resulting contradiction and confusion in foreign policy should be welcome is in itself a commentary on the disarray in Washington.

Even so, it will take more than militant cabinet members to impress the Soviet Union and the endangered oil-producing Arab states after the weak, vacillating U.S. performance during the Iranian revolution — the dispatch and subsequent recall of a carrier task force, the sending of unarmed fighter planes to Saudi Arabia, and surrendering the U.S. Embassy to a Communist mob in Tehran.

- To have credence, the enunciation of this new will must be implemented.

Aside from providing sufficient military muscle to protect lives and property, beginning with the embassies, the United States should immediately enlist its NATO allies and Japan in any military transcements that might be worked out to strengthen the Persian Gulf nations against overt

These allies have an even greater stake in keeping Middle Eastern oil flowing than this country, and their participation would make the United States a less visible target of Moslem and Marxist radicals than was the case in the Iranian

Unfortunately, military strength, while helpful, cannot in itself assure preservation of friendly governments in the Middle East, as the West learned to its great sorrow in Iran.

Cubs: Sutter Untouchable

MESA, Ariz. (UPI) - Chicago Cubs Executiv Vice President Bob Kennedy declared relief ace Bruce Sutter an "untouchable" Tuesday and suggested other major league teams should not waste their time inquiring about his availability.

"There's no way we're going to let him go," said Kennedy of the 26-year-old right-hander, whose famed split-finger fastball has provided the Cubs with 21 victories and 68 saves during the last 21/2 seasons.

Horner Seeks Freedom

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI) - Marvin Miller. executive director of the Major Leagues Players Association, said Tuesday pending arbitration involving the Atlanta Braves and holdout third baseman Bob Horner has been given priority status. But even at that, Miller said, "it will probably be sometime in April before an arbitration date can be set." Horner and his agent, Bucky Woy, contend the Braves offered Horner a conditional contract last December. They will make a plea that he be declared a free agent at the pending arbitration hearing.

Cook Of The Week

Preparing For A Crowd Is All In A Day's Work

By ELDA NICHOLS Herald Correspondent Bea Holdridge of Winter Springs, really likes to cook and laughingly said, "I guess you could call that Cooking for a party (a group of 50) last December was all in a day's work, according to Bea. "Then on New Year's Eve, we entertained 10. We have a lot of company and I enjoy preparing the food. My husband, George, does the cooking on the grill and I'm the inside cook!"

High prices at grocery stores hasn't stopped her yet. "I'm not a casserole fiend. We eat a lot of chicken, and when we have other meat, I never throw out the leftovers. I just warm them up. That way, if you can get two or three meals out of it, it isn't too expensive," she explained.

Bea doesn't care for a microwave oven or a slow cooker. "I tried my slow cooker on bean soup and chicken, and didn't care for the taste of either. So I put t up on a shelf and forgot ' she said.

Bea was a bookkeeper Indiana before moving to Florida. She learned to cook from her mother, who lives with the Holdridges, and her grandmother. "They were both mar velous cooks," she said. Bea collects recipes from friends and relatives and has a good supply of cookfrom scratch. We all enjoy esting. In fact, my husband says he doesn't know what he would have done if he's married someone who cook!" couldn't

Orienta Gets First Dose Of Life-Saving White Amur

Thousands of white amur, the weed-gobbling fish native to Russia, were dumped into Lake Orienta in Altamonte Springs Wednesday, as a first step in saving that dying lake.

The state Department of Natural Resources (DNR), using $200,000 granted by the state for a research program involving three Orange County lakes and the Seminole County lake, placed 2,322 white amur, ranging in size from 11/2-to-21/2 pounds in the 129-acre Altamonte Springs lake.
