

Sanford Seminoles Slug Out 18 To 0 Win Over Nats.

Locals Crack Out 21 Hits In Wild, Error-Laden Contest

Lefty Frank Hudson Pitches 6-Hit Ball In His First Game Of Season; Joe Pinder Hurls Tonight

The Sanford Seminoles last night continued their slaughter of the Orlando Nationals, begun the night before, and completely routed the Nationals 18 to 0 after cracking out 21 singles before an opening night crowd of 623 paid customers.

The Campbell cutlasses made short shrift of the Nats while the Seminoles batsmen went wild at the plate and played like deer in the field, covering the outer gardens with all the grace and ease generally attributed to deer.

The Nats folded completely after the first couple of innings and committed a total of nine errors. The Seminoles meet DeLand here tonight. Joe Pinder will pitch.

"Lefty" Frank Hudson, Sanford ace southpaw, mowed down the Orlando batsmen with six hits, and begrudged them even that.

Three times the Sanford club batted around in a single inning, combining a bevy of one-base blows with errant fielding and plain and fancy errors to score at will during the run-fest.

In sharp contrast, Orlando, advanced but two runners as far as third base and left five of the nine players who reached first base safely stranded on the initial sack.

The first six batters to face Fred Byram, one of the three victims of Sunday's melee at Sanford, collected singles of varied merit to account for three runs.

Three of those six hits were off an infield variety but, when mixed with one error, they served Whitey Campbell's crew well.

Marking up but single runs in the second and third inning, with the aid of four Orlando miscues in the second, Sanford batted around for the second time in the fourth, shelling Byram from the fourth. A total of 12 hits and 11 runs were charged Byram for his three and one-third innings.

Red Dwyer replaced Byram with one out and runners on first and third, retiring the Seminoles after a wild pitch and Ralph Heyder's single to left had cleaned the bases.

Dwyer in the fifth and six innings at the Seminoles down in the seventh and eight rounds.

Four hits and a walk was good for two Sanford runs in the seventh, while the visitors batted around for the third time in the eighth with the aid of three Orlando miscues to mark up their final five runs on four hits.

Wilmer Skeen, one of the three speedsters patrolling the Sanford outfield, set the pace for Sanford again last night collecting four hits in his fifth official appearance at the plate.

The Sanford batters were charged with an aggregate total of 50 times-at-bat during the two hour and 25 minute affair.

The Orlando travel to Leesburg tonight to engage the Anglers for their third start of the season in the Lake County city's picturesque ball park.

Either Joe Beck, 18-year-old Seminole righthander, or Carl Weigle, depending upon the condition of his lame pitching arm, will face the Anglers.

NOTES

It begins to look as though the Seminoles are going to pull the same trick they did last year. But they've only played one team in the loop at this writing. They must play every team in the league before we give our opinion on how they look.

So far the boys look strong enough in every respect. Al Kimbrell is doing a bang-up job behind the plate, and that is the spot everybody thought would be difficult to replace with Red Lane gone. And then, there is Tony Kestel who can be relied on to do a swell job of relief and general utility.

One of the most loyal fans of the Seminoles has, informs us that Dale Alexander did not do so well in his first two games with Thomasville. Dale got five hits out of six times at bat for a total of seven bases and "not a single run" settled in. He scored only once.

The fan went on "Same old story: swell sportman, capable manager, and great hitter; but can not run and can not hit in the pinches."

Sonny Jones, sports editor of the Tallahassee Democrat, recently scribbled: "Waycross laid claim to a crowd of 5,000 spectators at its opener Wednesday and Albany crashed through yesterday to claim a crowd of 6,000 with Joe E. Brown, Billy Lee, Evelyn Keyes and Walter Brennan, noted motion picture stars among the throng."

"We didn't hear anything of crowds like that last year when Sanford beat the stuffing out of Albany."

Senate Begins Study Of Huge Appropriation

Economy Advocates Hope To Prevent Hike Of War Department Funds

Stark Again Asks For Larger Navy

House Now Votes On Bill Regulating Issuance Of Rules

WASHINGTON, Apr. 17. (AP)—The Senate today started consideration of the $223,362,517 appropriation for the non-military functions of the War Department, with economy advocates hoping to prevent a $65,000,000 increase for waterway projects.

The increase originally was approved by the appropriations subcommittee but the full committee rejected it. Meanwhile Admiral Harold Stark reiterated his request for authorization increasing the Navy's strength by 11 percent. He urged the Senate Naval Committee that if the authorization is approved, Congress will be committing itself to a construction program that couldn't be altered in the event of peace, and a subsequent disarmament conference.

The House worked toward a vote on the Logan-Walter Bill to set up a single pattern for the issuance of rules and regulations by the administrative agencies and to provide court review of such orders.

Free Barbecue To Be Given At Ball Park On April 26

A free barbecue will be given at the Sanford Municipal Ball Park April 26 at 8:00 o'clock. It was announced today by the Whitehall for Governor headquarters. The general public is cordially invited to attend and take part in the festivities, the announcement stated.

Maxwell Stewart has been named secretary of the club. It was also stated that Mr. Stewart is well and favorably known throughout the County. It was pointed out, and is an ardent supporter of Mr. Whitehall, believing that he is the outstanding candidate for governor and one who will assist Seminole County in every way possible, after he becomes governor.

Woodmen To Attend District Conclave

Plans were made at the regular meeting of the Woodmen's Lodge last night for the District No. 2 meeting to be held tomorrow night in Orlando at 8:00 o'clock in the Moose Hall.

B. F. Paty Will Address Sanford Voters Tonight

B. F. Paty of West Palm Beach, candidate for governor, will return to Sanford tonight for the second speech of the campaign. He will speak here at 8:00 o'clock after a day of hard campaigning which began this morning at Haines City and included St. Cloud, Kissimmee, Apopka and Mt. Dora.

A forceful speaker, presenting a strong program for Florida, Paty is said to have won wide support throughout the state and is rated as one of the three outstanding candidates.

The only candidate from the lower East Coast, he is expected tonight to receive a heavy vote in the numerous tourist sections of the state, which with strong support in West Florida and throughout the state, is expected to make his high mark on May 7th.

In his address here tonight, he will discuss his program which includes definite steps to be taken to bring about a more efficient state government, and to provide for the education of the people.

Fraser Would Reduce State Expenditures

Gubernatorial Candidate Says He Favors $3 Auto License

Declaring that he proposed to cut the State's governmental operating expenses by $10,000,000 annually through "common-sense" methods in administration, B. F. Fraser, gubernatorial candidate, today brought his candidacy for governor to Seminole County voters yesterday afternoon.

Speaking at the corner of Magnolia Avenue and First Street, Mr. Fraser spoke after a concert by the Golden West Cowboys. The general public is cordially invited to attend and take part in the festivities, the announcement stated.

"I propose to cut the state's operating cost by at least $10,000,000 annually through the injection of common-sense business methods into State administration. I propose to consolidate a lot of bureaus and boards and eliminate other needless ones and pool the money of 196 State funds, devised by 60 years of lawyer-governor regimes, into a single fund."

"I favor $3.00 auto tags and when anyone tells you this can't be done, just remember that other states have done it. When the price of tags is reduced to $3.00, it is reasonable to presume that at least $1,000,000 in new revenue will be derived from purchase of cheap Florida tags by out-of-state visitors," he said.

"During January through April, 80,000 Florida automobiles are in storage—after holiday expenditures," he said.

"Fifth Column" Activities Receive Setback As Nations Inaugurate Inquiry

In Yugoslavia, Rumania, Bulgaria, Greece and Turkey, police launched nationwide investigations of resident German groups and individuals.

In Hungary, Premier Teleky, prepared for an even stiffer battle with Nazi sympathizers within his own party.

Governmental action to stamp out "fifth column" activities (see page 1) was accompanied by intensified military preparations in Rumania and Yugoslavia.

Jacksonville Man Named As Rotary District Governor

HOLLYWOOD BEACH, Apr. 17. (AP)—J. Charles Buchanan, of Jacksonville, was elected district governor of Rotary International for Florida yesterday.

He will succeed James A. Franklin, Fort Myers, who brought the conference to Jacksonville today, during which the qualifications of candidates for the two districts were discussed.

Keynoter At GOP 3,000 Azaleas Conclave Will Be Harold Stassen

Minnesota Governor Seen As 1944 Presidential Timber

PHILADELPHIA, Apr. 17. (AP)—Gov. Harold E. Stassen, of Minnesota, was selected keynoter for the Republican national convention yesterday as Kenneth F. Simpson, national GOP chairman from New York, proposed a "hall of a fight" slogan.

Stassen, who is 33, is regarded as a possible Republican presidential candidate in 1944. He was chosen by the convention arrangements committee from a field of four candidates. The others nominated were Gov. Ralph Carr of Colorado, Gov. Harlan J. Bushfield of South Dakota, and Wendell Wilkie, public utility executive who later withdrew in favor of the Republican incumbent, Arthur H. Chase.

Stassen's nomination was announced by the convention chairman, J. C. Chase, who said that Stassen's nomination was a "great honor" and that he was "pleased to see" Stassen chosen.

Stassen is a nationally rated basketball official and has authority to officiate at any basketball games, either "boy" or "girl."

Capt. Rose Says More Fund Needed Than Set In Quota

The $200,000 quota set for the Salvation Army in its annual campaign may not be met, as it is no means all that the local people will need for the year's work, Capt. E. L. Rose said today, revealing that at this time approximately $1,500 has been subscribed.

Explaining that a budget of $7,500 was presented to the Advisory Board before the drive began, Capt. Rose said the budget was approved for this amount and that if the city and county would contribute $3,000 in the annual drive, he and his co-workers would endeavor to raise the difference, which would amount to $1,700, by other means.

Capt. Rose said that all money contributed in Sanford and Seminole County will be used by the corps in this locality for social service, religion, prison and character building work, designed to aid the community by its moral and character building.

Revealing that the Salvation Army had given assistance to more than 400 families during the past year, Capt. Rose said that 1,500 articles of clothing and more than a thousand pairs of shoes were given to needy persons, and in addition that scores of others were aided in numerous ways.

He further pointed out that 12 unfortunate expectant, unmarried mothers were provided for by the Salvation Army at their home and hospital in Tampa, which serves the entire state. "Doesn't this merit the support and cooperation of the people," he asked.

German Air Force Strikes Savagely At British Navy

 Allies first objectives would be Trondheim.
 London sources said forces landed in the north probably were moving south toward Trondheim. Pounded by British naval guns, German troops were reported clinging to Narvik, while 400 miles south the main body of invaders sought to consolidate their strength behind a newly-established defense line cutting Norway in two.
 By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
 Associated Press Writer
 Mounting hope that Hitler's invasion of Norway and Denmark would prove his Waterloo marked Tuesday's utterances of Premier Reynaud and Prime Minister Chamberlain.
 Neither revealed what military tactics the Allies intend to pursue in an effort to dislodge the Nazis, nor did they recount all the fast-paced developments of a week of fighting by land, sea and air in and about Norway. Reynaud, unquestionably now firmly planted politically as the French war hero, told a cheering senate that Germany had lost a third of her naval strength within a week. Chamberlain told a religious gathering that no people, however peaceful and harmless, "can be safe until this mad dog (Hitler) is destroyed."
 That British and possibly French troops have gained footholds in Norway at more than one point is apparent. Despite lack of any official British claim, a landing at Narvik, every circumstance indicates that Allied forces are ashore there, because the reach of a German counter attack by land, sea or air, are within striking distance of the German base. Reports from Narvik, as well as other points, indicate that British and French forces have succeeded in securing a beachhead on the coast, at least until the time of German neutrality.

Swedish reports tell of heavy gunfire in the Kattegat, indicating that British cruisers or even heavier ships have penetrated that far to back up British submarines and air bombers pressing the attack against Nazi sea communications with Norway.
 There is fresh evidence that Sweden is in hourly fear of German attack designed to force a way via roads and railways for the armies she must muster in Allied counter attack there. Berlin has reported that Swedish navigation lights and towns along the Kattegat have been blacked out. Speculation in Nazi official circles as to how that reflected Swedish neutrality was reported in Berlin dispatches.
 At need, Berlin could find in even so seemingly harmless an act as a partial Swedish blackout a pretext for invasion of Sweden. Unquestionably, Swedish navigation aids in the Kattegat, even the distant glow of lights in Swedish towns and villages, would be of invaluable assistance to skippers of Nazi vessels steaming out in the dark to reach Norway with reinforcements and munitions.
 The fact that word of the Swedish blackout came from Berlin, instead of London or Sweden, stirred conjectures as to whether a Berlin threat of retaliation was in the making if the Swedes did not promptly illustrate their neutrality by turning all lights on again. No British protests were noted. Presumably British naval ships were trying to block the Kattegat and force Germany's hand-revealed the blackouts as increasing the navigation difficulties of their foe more than they embarrassed their own patrol operations.
 Allied aircraft, as in the case of the Kattegat, were reported to be in the air, yet no official British air hammering at the Stavanger air field, directly across the fjord from entrance from which some few hours ago German planes were reported to have landed at Narvik, was noted.

by events not in Sweden's control. That was the real purport the Swedes must have read into Chamberlain's "mad dog" reference to Hitler.
 STOCKHOLM, Apr. 17.—(AP)—Executing another audacious coup, German invaders yesterday sped a Nazi-packed troop train through Norwegian-held territory, past the very muzzles of a Norwegian-manned fortress to push within three miles of cutting Norway in half at its girth.
 Advice reaching Stockholm said Norwegian railway employees, supplied with false information that the train bore their own forces, gave right-of-way to the Germans who reached Storlien heights, three miles from the Swedish frontier and 80 miles east of Trondheim, port on Norway's west coast.
 As the train progressed eastward along the Trondheim-Storlien railway, the Germans posted strong guard units at all bridges. Hegra fortress itself remained in Norwegian hands, a deep snow hampering the Germans there.
 Thus the Germans, speeding unimpeded past the fortress, all but fulfilled their plans to cut off Nazi-occupied southern Norway from the north, where British and Norwegian forces were reported in joint possession of the Arctic ore port of Narvik. From Narvik the Germans, eastward they have pushed eastward to the Swedish frontier.
 Still another German coup, it was reported, came in the form of a train on a Norwegian railway. German agents at Trondheim telephoned to the commander of the fortress, telling him in the name of a "Norwegian patriot" that the last cars were filled with German troops. A statement issued by the legal Norwegian government urged the utmost caution concerning the movement of any persons who are furthering German aims.

Narvik town has been announced by Norwegian military headquarters which said also that British soldiers and marines have landed at other points on the Norwegian west coast.
 Reports from Oslo said the German occupation in the south had been extended to the city of Notodden, about 60 miles southwest of the Norwegian capital in the Telemark district.
 Oslo, ruled by a new German-approved "government" commission, was nearer to normal than at any time since Adolf Hitler's invaders marched in a week ago. Schools and banks were reopened.
 The new "government" in Oslo, headed by Ingolf Elster Christensen, 68-year-old former Norwegian cabinet minister and a member of the Conservative party, issued a proclamation demanding that all citizens of Nazi-occupied territory show loyalty to it and to the German military authorities.
 All national organizations of commerce, trade, shipping, culture and trade unions in Oslo endorsed the "government's" order.
 The chief justice of the Norwegian supreme court also approved the new commission. The court's sanction provided the basis for the formation of the ruling body, since officials said the supreme court was the only legal authority left in Oslo after the departure of King Haakon and the regularly constituted government.
 It is known in Stockholm that King Haakon and the government of Premier Nyquist have fled across the Swedish frontier.
 From the Swedish side of the border, reports said, German troops during the day beyond the Norwegian frontier point on the sea wall line running from Stavanger eastward to Lahn, Norway, part of the Gulf of Bohuslan. The distance is about 200 miles from Narvik.

pace apparently satisfactory to the Nazi invaders.
 At the same time, the Nazi interest in northern Norway, particularly Narvik, ceased to exist as far as the general public was concerned and official interest centered upon consolidating German gains in towns considered strategically important—Oslo, the capital, and the western port cities of Bergen, Stavanger and Trondheim.
 Commenting on President Roosevelt's statement of last Tuesday implying condemnation of Germany's invasion of Norway, authorized Nazi sources said:
 "In urging that nobody mix in the affairs of another country, Roosevelt perhaps unwittingly admitted that the Nazis are not a civilized people, for it is they who keep saying Hitlerism must go.
 "That certainly is mixing in the affairs of another nation, but beyond that, Europe demands that European affairs be regulated in a European manner and not according to American principles of interpretation."
 In his statement the President said: "It is civilization to preserve the rights of smaller nations to independence, to their territorial integrity and to unimpeded opportunity for self-government."
 The high command announced that the cruise was ended by the British "Eagle" on the morning of April 17. The ship was reported to be in the Gulf of Bohuslan.

Miami Publisher Must Go To Jail, Remain 90 Days

TALLAHASSEE, Apr. 17.—(AP)—The Supreme Court yesterday refused to grant a habeas corpus writ to Ruben C. Cain, Miami weekly newspaper publisher sentenced to 90 days in jail for contempt of circuit court, and he must remain in jail.
 Justice acted shortly after Cain's counsel said pending arguments that he intended on criticisms of Judge Arthur Jones in an article headed "What Says Judge Jones?"
 There was no Supreme Court opinion, the decision being announced in short order.
 Jones sentenced the publisher, adding a $500 fine to the jail sentence and also fined the newspaper $500.
 Cain's article referred to an injunction suit before Judge Jones to prevent publishing operations at a Miami club.
 Cain did not identify "the mob" and William Fisher, Jr., assistant attorney general, told the Supreme Court he proposed questioning of the publisher of the product of the injunction of the man who wrote the article.
 Raleigh Patterson, counsel for Cain, said the publisher had no intention of publishing "What Says Judge Jones?"
 The article last in contempt of the judge, announced Jones ordered during the week.

$957,000,000 Requested For WPA Program

President Sticks To Budget Estimate In Requesting Appropriation For Relief

Says No New Taxes Planned

Authority Asked To Spend Sum In 8 Months If Needed

WASHINGTON, Apr. 18.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today asked for $957,000,000 to run the WPA next year and simultaneously abandoned hope of getting from Congress the $460,000,000 in new taxes requested in January.

In a letter to the speaker of the House, Roosevelt held to the original budget figure for the WPA with one major exception—he asked permission to spend the $957,000,000 in eight months if "necessary" to avoid suffering and hardship.

Last year's relief law required the appropriation be spread over the entire 18-month fiscal period. The President at a press conference said he did not believe any additional legislation would be recommended to Congress this session.

Roosevelt said that his budget estimates had been based on hopes of improved employment and business but that those hopes had not been entirely realized and that it was difficult to predict employment volume for the entire fiscal year.

Arthur Purcell, head of the Anglo-French purchasing mission, announced at the capital that the Allies already have purchased "huge quantities" of three of the most important commodities in the world. He did not identify the type of ship nor the number.

Prospects Seen For Successful Salvation Drive

Prospects for a successful conclusion to the annual Salvation Army drive were seen today in the announcement of Capt. R. E. Rose that the Army's workers had collected $2,100 thus far. The goal is $3,000.

To date approximately $2,100 has been donated to the Army. George Rollins, chairman of the campaign last year, said that through the years of the Salvation Army's activities in Sanford, it has performed its services with distinction and credit to itself and the community, and that the work it has done merits a continuation of "our interest, encouragement and ample funds to carry on in the future."

If you have not made your contribution in this drive, declared Mrs. Maxwell Stewart, campaign chairman, "will you bring your donation in to campaign headquarters, located at the corner of Magnolia Avenue and Second Street, or telephone 96, and a worker will be glad to call on you."
