Trains were forced to go as slowly as five miles an hour over the improvised trestle work that is replacing the trestles and bridges washed away. In some places water appeared above the telephone poles along the right-of-way, Mr. DuBose said. Floods were not the only factor that entered into the destruction of the trestle work. At one point the watchmen got cold and built a fire which destroyed a long stretch of trestlework.

Mr. DuBose did not say that he was relieved to be back in Sanford the tone of his voice as he recounted the trip, spoke as plainly as words to that effect; could have done.

But volunteer workers are pecking away from the other side and hope to reach him within a few hours with a chisel and acetylene torch. The torch will be used to heat the rock which holds his legs, if the legs are still fast.

Collins himself, was unable to say definitely whether his foot was free or not, having told cave men first that he could move both legs and later that he could move neither.

After heat had dried the rock, the smallest member of the party will chip away with his chisel until a hole is made large enough to permit Collins to withdraw his foot or others to withdraw it for him.

INAUGURATION OF COOLIDGE TO SET MANY RECORDS

When President Takes Oath of Office He Will Have Been Inaugurated in High Office on Nine Occasions

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—President Coolidge's inauguration March 4 will hang up to his credit a new record for ambitious posterity to shoot for.

When he takes the oath of office he will have been inaugurated into high office eight times in nine years—a record never before achieved by any man reaching the White House.

This concentrated record of rapid inaugurations is due to the one year term for governor and lieutenant governor in Massachusetts, up to four years ago and to the death of President Harding.

Coolidge's first inauguration was on Jan. 6, 1916, when he took the oath as lieutenant governor of Massachusetts. Subsequent inaugurations have been:

- Jan. 4, 1917, lieutenant governor.
- Jan. 3, 1918, lieutenant governor.
- Jan. 2, 1919, governor.
- Jan. 2, 1920, governor.
- March 4, vice president.
- Aug. 3, 1923, president.

From the record of these previous inaugurations, weather dopers for March 4, 1925, when he will take his eighth oath in nine years, are predicting clear and sunny skies.

For fair weather has marked every inaugural of Coolidge to date.

And since, as president, Coolidge is now boss of the weather bureau, it does look as though he ought to be able to arrange for a sunny day.

A few facts about lies have evolved by Congressman John N. Tillman of Fayetteville, Ark., former president of the University of Arkansas.

"A lie," says Tillman, "moves like a meteor. It can travel 40 miles while the truth is getting its boots on."

"A lie travels faster than the truth because it meets so many friends who give it a ride."

"Truth gets up in the cold, gray dawn and has to knock four times before he can get a door open."

"But a lie is greeted with the glad hand, is creamed and coffee, fed and petted, laughed at and slapped on the back and then sent hurrying on in the swiftest automobile on the place."

In an attempt to revive confidence in the oyster as a safe and healthful food, an oyster feast, to which were invited district and government officials, was held a few days ago at the Washington oyster wharf.

Conservative health officials, newspapermen and others, gorged gloriously, assured by the oyster folks, that "these are salt water oysters and typhoid germs can't live in salt water."

But when the feast was over one physician took the names and addresses of all who had eaten. Which to say the least, was a bit disconcerting.

England has too many doctors and the number of these entering the profession is mounting rapidly, according to Sir Humphrey Rolleston, president of the Royal College of Physicians.

Talking Hudson Is Coming To Sanford On Three Day Call

"It talks but it can't walk, in fact it's an automobile." To be more exact it is a Hudson automobile and to further elucidate it can sing and do other remarkable things. The services of this most remarkable machine have been secured by W. E. Walthall, Sanford Hudson-Exeter dealer and will be here for three days beginning Feb. 11. The machine will be on display at the show rooms, on Magnolia Avenue.

The operative qualities with which the car is endowed have in no way made it temperamental, the local dealer insists. It has the same capacity for rugged service that is inherent in all Hudson machines. This last fact, Mr. Walthall, declares, is known to the world and he is glad to announce that Hudson has added a vocabulary to its other equipment. He says that Hudson users need not be alarmed, though, because the car "knows when not to talk."

Friends, thinking he had been struck by a mallet in the play, conscious called to know if there was a physician among the spectators. Dr. Augustus J. Mitchell of Newark, N. Death was caused by heart failure, the physician said tonight and added that possibly a stroke of apoplexy came with it.

No immediate members of Mr. Fleischmann's family except a cousin were here with him, but friends and his private secretary made arrangements to have the body prepared for shipment north in Mr. Fleischmann's private car in which he came to Miami recently.

The body will be shipped Friday to Cincinnati, his old home, for burial, it was said late Thursday night by D. L. Philbrick, undertaker in charge. The body is to leave here at 7:10 A. M. Friday in a private car, it was said. Until that time it will lie in the undertaking establishment here.

While in Florida Mr. Fleischmann had been living on a private yacht, the "Pastime" which he had chartered pending completion of his luxurious home at the beach. He had as his guests Mr. and Mrs.

Mr. Fleischmann was born in Cincinnati in 1872, the elder son of Charles and Henrietta Fleischmann. He was mayor of Cincinnati for two terms, being elected first in 1898, the youngest man to hold that office. Following his second term he was active in Republican politics for a time but business interests gradually absorbed more and more of his time.

He removed to New York to take care of his affairs and during the last 10 years had not spent much of his time in Cincinnati.

Fleischmann was married on Apr. 12, 1893, to Miss Lily Ackerman of Cincinnati. There were three children by this marriage. On Jan. 21, 1920, Mrs. Fleischmann was given a decree of divorce on the ground of cruelty.

In the same year Fleischmann was married to Mrs. Laura Hemingway, of New York city. Within the last year he was divorced from his second wife. He was a brother of Col. Max Fleischmann, big game hunter and formerly interested in outdoor sports.

Lamps Show if Machinery Is Working

In a casting factory having seven food-picking machines the manager has installed a little device near his desk to indicate whether or not all seven are working properly. The device consists of a panel on which seven miniature lamps are mounted, each of which is connected to one of the machines, so that every time a can passes to the filling machine it causes a lamp to flash. As long as the lamps keep flashing, the manager knows that everything is going well, but if any lamp fails to flash it is a signal to him that he is perhaps needed in the factory to untangle some difficulty. A switch is, of course, provided so that the current can be turned on or off.

Silencing Automobile-Door Noises

Squeaking automobile doors can sometimes be silenced by cleaning the rubber bumpers and the parts they touch with gasoline, wiping dry and powdering liberally with talc dust. Oil should never be used as it ruins the rubber. If the door rattles, see if the rubbers are pressing against the door. If not, readjust them with the setscrew, or by forcing small pieces of inner tube under them with a screw-driver. New bumpers may be needed. A few minutes' attention now and then will eliminate the annoyance.

Newspaper Pages Flashed by Radio Is Prediction

Transatlantic transmission of photographs and newspaper pages by radio is a development likely to become a reality in the near future according to Maj. Gen. J. G. Harbord, president of the Radio Corporation of America. Two-way talk by radio-phones he also regards as an imminent possibility. A ticker that will actually print words on paper from a central broadcasting point, thus greatly amplifying present news-distributing agencies, is another of the objectives of radio-research engineers and control of airplanes, submarines and other ships from a remote land station is, he believes, a possibility certain to be realized in view of the astounding progress already made in radio accomplishments.

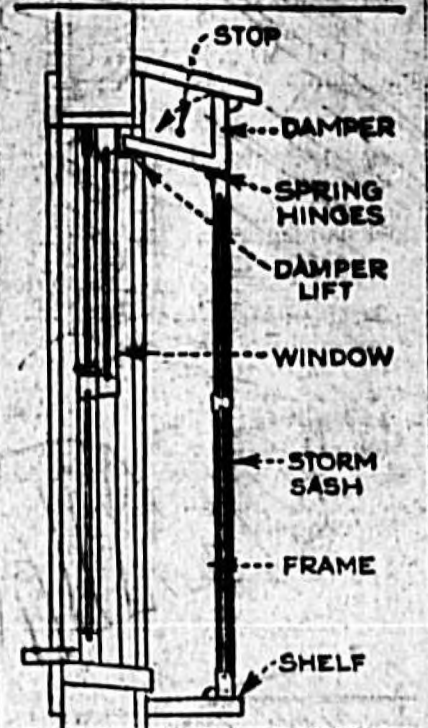

Preventing Snow from Sticking to Shovel

It is usually somewhat difficult to use a metal shovel for scooping snow as the snow has a tendency to stick to it. This trouble can easily be prevented by first cleaning the shovel so that it is absolutely free from dirt, heating the metal part, and then covering it well with melted paraffin or wax. When the paraffin is cold, the shovel can be used, and it will be found that the snow will not stick. Of course, this will last only as long as there is a film of wax on the shovel, but it is surprising how long it takes before this film is worn off. Wooden shovels may be treated with grease or rubbed with soap.

Ventilating the Kitchen

In the construction of many houses the kitchen is built without much thought or consideration for the cook. The storm windows do not usually permit much ventilation and no pipe is provided to carry away the smoke and fumes from the gas stove. A good method of providing proper ventilation is shown in the drawing. A wooden box incorporating the storm window is built around the window on the outside. This box is made about 5 in. longer than the storm window, which is allowed to rest on the lower edge of the box, thus leaving a 5-in. space at the top. A right-angled wooden damper is made to fill this space; it is hinged to the upper end of the storm sash, and long enough to rest on a length of angle iron screwed to the upper edge of the inside sash. Opening or closing the inside sash automatically opens or closes the damper. Whether the damper is open or closed the space between the two windows is practically tight all the time. The box itself can be used as an iceless refrigerator during the cold months, small shelves being built on the sides so as not to shut off any light, if the box is made wide enough for this purpose.

Campaign Is Begun To Stop Trapping Of Wild Animals

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—A three year campaign before state legislatures, with the backing of prominent humanitarians and humane workers, is about to be launched for the suppression of the steel trap and other non-killing devices for capture of fur-bearing animals.

The American Humane Association heads the list of organizations supporting the movement, and Mrs. Minnie Mattern Fluke heads the list of individual workers who will lend their support. Commander Edward Beck of the naval reserves, a historian and woodman, will direct the campaign, announcement of which recently was made before the Humane Education Society of Washington.

Outlining the work, Commander Beck told the society that while 100,000,000 fur-bearing animals were taken yearly in steel traps and suffered days and sometimes weeks of agony, not 10 per cent of those taken were required to furnish furs for the actual needs of human beings in cold weather.

The history of the fur trade in America, he said, testified that the craze for summer furs increased the killing fourfold. Public conscience, when aroused, the speaker declared, would demand the abolition of the non-killing trap.

Jurors Face Long Term Under Locks

The trial promises to last longer than a month during which time the jury will be kept locked up.

First—Stop Pain Don't suffer for an hour

When pain comes, stop it. Be ever ready to stop it quickly, night or day. Don't suffer any pain which a moment of rubbing can stop.

These include pains allied to rheumatism, to soreness, to lameness, to chest colds. They can be stopped at once. For 65 years they have been stopped by rubbing with St. Jacobs Oil.

As for curing the cause of the trouble. Nature usually does that. St. Jacobs Oil causes counter irritation. Then it draws blood to the surface to relieve congestion. In a minute or two you feel that the pain has ebbed. You rejoice in relief.

Perhaps there are other ways. But this is the one way that millions have used—have proved it for 65 years. You can rely on it. Your druggist guarantees it. Why take chances when you know that nothing can be better?

Don't wait for an emergency. It may mean a night of pain. Have St. Jacobs Oil ever ready. Apply it as soon as you feel a pain, or a chest cold. Be ready to soothe it, to check it at once. There will never be a better way. Go get it now to be prepared when pain comes. It may save to you and yours many unhappy hours.

Wall Street Craze For Gambling Is Cause Demand For Faster Tickers

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Plans of the New York Stock Exchange, announced for Feb. 7, to abbreviate symbols on 100 important stocks are expected to speed up the stock ticker almost 20 per cent.

The ticker would then print an average of 55 transactions every sixty seconds upon the ticker tape from the familiar clicking glass hive into the basket almost 100 per cent above that of two years ago. The change has been made necessary by the recent record-breaking bull market of 2,000,000 share days, during which the ticker at times has fallen as much as

The Western Union at present flashes stock quotations by automatic transmission as far west as Cleveland, supplying Boston, Philadelphia, Washington, Baltimore, Pittsburgh, Albany, Syracuse and Rochester on the way. The new symbols will cause little inconvenience to the trading public. Seldom does a broker's customer, it is said, have more than 15 separate stock issues in his strong box, and he can readily memorize their changed designations anew. The hardest hit will

THE WAY TO FREEDOM—Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free. John 8: 32.

A WORTHY HERITAGE

If I can help my boys to learn One fact my father taught to me Some day their gratitude I'll earn; I want their heritage to be, Above all else that fortune brings, An understanding of this law: That men may rise to greater things Some one must grapple with the law!

What do I mean? The answer's here: All comforts come from work alone; I want my boys with ready cheer To claim the right to win their own! They must not be content to take What I may hold of wealth or fame, But fortified with humble stake, Let them add honor to the name.

Of such a breed were those who carved This nation from the wilderness, Who fought and froze and bled and starved To prove their title to success; Of such a breed must be the men Who have each hazardous frontier.

Lord, stimulate boys' hearts again With eagerness to pioneer! O. Lawrence Hawthorne.

Down in Tampa they are selling real estate by the quart.

The best thing about Sanford real estate is that it is real.

Someday there will be a boulevard all the way around Lake Monroe. In three years when Sanford has some twenty-five thousand people living here, that will not seem such a stupendous undertaking.

Floyd Collins, whose foot is caught by a huge rock in Sand Cave, Kentucky, has been facing death in forty hideous forms.

The world will come to an end tonight according to some theorists. But it is a safe bet that there will be just as much work to do in Sanford tomorrow as there is today.

Quantities of red tape would make ideal decoration for an army or navy ball in Washington.

James J. Montague says dumbbells are always light-weights. But light-weights are not always dumbbells.

The death of Julius Fleischmann, the "yeast king" in Miami, recalls the fact that there was a man who, figuratively and literally, had risen from the ranks.

Judge Roscoe Luke, who is holding a series of evangelistic meetings in Jacksonville, says "quart of water will break up a religious meeting because folks won't frook up to come to church if it looks threatening."

Headline says "Berlinback Unable to Take on Flowers" which probably means that he is trying to keep from taking on flowers in the long run.

The Congregational Church at St. Petersburg has announced that it will sell five hundred seats at fifty dollars a season. Since the church has commercialized religion to that extent, why not inaugurate a "pay as you enter" system and make everyone have a part.

Sausage meat is the just end of all hogs, even road hogs.

This Muscle Shoals issue is like the rash, about the time you think it's all over, it breaks out again in some other place.

Judging by the number of hold-ups and robberies committed in Miami, recently, it is evident that chickens aren't the only things that are picked.

Fifty-three prisoners escaped from the state prison farm at Raiford during the past year, twenty of whom were recaptured. With more than a fifty-fifty chance of escaping, this going to prison business in Florida isn't so bad after all.

Every once in awhile someone reminds us of the good old days. Now comes the revelation that the last time the postoffice department operated at a profit was in 1918.

Six out of every one hundred Americans cannot sign their names and must use an "X" mark. And some of these cannot even use a typewriter.

Opportunity comes to him who waits, but there are a lot of folks who are not ready to take advantage of it when it does come.

Make It A Federation

Those twenty-eight Florida counties that have set about the elimination of signs from the rights-of-way of public roads would do well to form a federation, with a view of bringing into the praiseworthy work the rest of the counties of Florida.

The twenty-eight counties so federated could also devise ways for the elimination of signs from the property of careless citizens, where sign-board advertisers sometimes pay for space to mar the beauty of the scenery but more often pay for the privilege of shutting off unsightliness that only careless citizens make possible.

When sign-boards are more attractive than the natural outlook, something is decidedly wrong with the outlook. And this is the case in so many instances in Florida. One rather thoughtful believer in big and gaudy signboards contends it is not time yet for the state to undertake the wholesale elimination of such advertising mediums.

Some of the twenty-eight counties that have started their warfare against signboards have already aroused community movements for the beautifying of roadsides. Trees and shrubs and garden flowers are being planted systematically in some localities; and it is noticed that with the interest in roadside planting, popular disapproval against signboard advertising is growing; and ugly spots instead of getting a shield in the form of some big signboard are given trees and flowers.

It is believed, too, that the twenty-eight counties may lead the way to the establishing of artistic mile posts, plenty of mile-posts giving the directions clearly and accurately for motorists trying to find their way among Florida's decidedly confusing roads. In counties where there are many county roads, careful posting of road names along with the mileage information is being done. And if the movement extends as it should, it will not be many years before travelers in Florida will find on every highway evidence of the intelligence that is back of the movement for the beautifying and improving of the public roads.

Between Sanford and Orlando, between Sanford and DeLand, between Sanford and every neighboring town, border trees and flowers should be in evidence, and at every mile an artistic sign-post telling the distance to the towns the roads connect.

Perhaps the local Chamber of Commerce will secure a list of those twenty-eight counties pledged for riddance of sign-board advertising, and see what can be done in the way of a federation for mutual helpfulness.

This Business Of Living

A letter from a postal clerk to a New York newspaper, asking how three people are to live on $1,600 a year, brought forth a reply which was a most unusual illustration of humanity's ability to continue existence under adverse conditions. The reply is from a bedridden cripple, who not only has solved his own problem but has thought to devote to the solution of others'.

"We have a nice (seven by twelve) apartment with a frosted skylight and door", the letter declared. "This costs us $5 a week sometimes. My wife pays 25 cents for a pair of shoes Our food costs us about as follows: One herring, twelve cents; one loaf of bread, eight cents; two apples, six cents; twelve buns, ten cents; total, thirty-six cents a day. The money is made by the writer's wife, who, the letter naively declares, "earns as much as $12 some weeks".

They are living; but for what many people would fail miserably in trying to answer. That, perhaps, is their secret and probably never will be known by more favored mortals. While it is a tantalizing question it is by no means the biggest one. The real question that rises is why others cannot, in a measure, do likewise.

Satisfaction with one's condition is not by any means to be desired for it means stagnation which is deadly. The letter writer and his wife appear to be satisfied with their lot, which probably, is the satisfaction that comes with the realization that one has done one's best. They have attained satisfaction, peace, to say the least, but the means by which they attained and not the fact that they have it is the most obvious thing to be learned from the letter.

The average person, the one who makes a reasonable salary or receives a reasonable income but who, by haphazard methods, is eternally "strapped" financially can follow the cripple through a system of living to a much fuller enjoyment and to no small degree of satisfaction. It is the simple matter of recognizing the problem faced and evolving an intelligent plan of meeting it. It is a matter to be faced by every individual and, like death, cannot be attended to by a substitute. The hard part, the test of strength, is not to find the plan but to abide by it after it is found.

FLORIDA is wiser in her day and generation than the children of light elsewhere. She is one of the wise virgins who has filled her lamp with Rockefeller and all other kinds of capitalistic oil; she is converting herself into an Arcadian retreat where the poor and persecuted millionaire may find a sympathetic refuge. And with the assistance of Baltimore brains she is transforming her everglades into sylvan Edens, and her swamps into Paradises of fashion and luxury, into which the angels of society rush without hesitation, and in which there is no unjust prejudice against serpents.—Baltimore Sun.

THE SOUTH WE LOVE ASHEVILLE CITIZEN

In a recent magazine article Mr. B. C. Forbes, the distinguished publicist, has many flattering things to say of the South as she is today and as she was "before the fateful year, 1861." The South, he explains, "could justifiably boast of having many of the finest families before New York put on metropolitan airs. Intellectual and social graces, all the finer things of life, abounded in the South before 1861."

That is delightful and deserved praise. But the real spirit of the South has eluded Mr. Forbes if he does not know that the South which Southerners love and reverence most, the South that wrote down a new definition for chivalry and compelled the admiration of the world, is the South as she was after the fateful year, 1865. Those were the days of terrible torture when "the finest families" were at their finest. Those were the seasons of starvation when "the finer things of life" were given immortality by the Southerner because he knew that, to save himself, he had to save them. Those were the days when Southern men and women laughed to hide the sound of their sobs, and when, though in rags, a gentleman bent over My Lady's hand with a grace that no longer lives and a lady, with a wild rose in her hair as the only ornament of her loveliness, made of flirtation an art and of romance a religion. The South of that time had no friendly nation from which to bor-

Brave Republicans Remember Floyd Collins Each Lady, Three Husbands? Automobiles, Three Billions BY ARTHUR BRISBANE (Copyright 1924)

SENATOR La Follette, penalized by the noble Republican party, will come last in committees, ranking below Democrats, and rated as one of a minority party. That will not hurt La Follette, but it will hurt some Republicans, and such childish, petty revenge disgraces every Republican responsible for it. Theodore Roosevelt ran as an independent and defeated Taft, party did not ostracize him. It was afraid of him.

IT WILL have cause to regret its cowardly treatment of La Follette. Many voters that would not vote for La Follette and do not share his views prefer him to some regular Republicans. They know that La Follette is a courageous and honest man.

IN SAND CAVE, Kentucky, 300 feet from the entrance, Floyd Collins has lain since last Friday morning, pinned down by a huge rock that fell, crushed his leg, and held him fast. His brother has offered $500 to any doctor who will crawl into the cave, chloroform the suffering man, cut off his leg and release him.

IF YOU have small troubles troubling you, think of Floyd Collins, and cheer up. And remember that a few years ago, in the childhood of many men living, there was no chloroform or other anesthetic to help surgeons. Men were strapped down and legs or arms amputated while they yelled or endured in silence. Strangest of all is the fact that many clergymen denounced the discoverers of anesthetics. They said God wanted men to suffer and it was a sin to interfere with His desires. An all-merciful God enjoying the sight of agony is an interesting conception.

THE WRONG kind of religion, festering in feeble brains, often attacks, science. When quinine, only sure cure for malaria, was brought from South America, virtuous Scotch and other Protestants were said to be sinful for using it because a Roman Catholic had discovered it.

MRS. TENNALL, lady editor of the Sabetta Herald, in Kansas, tells Kansas editors at Topeka that every woman needs three husbands—one for society, one to make money, one to look after the housekeeping. "Present-day husbands are satisfactory, as far as they go," she says, but they do not go far enough.

THE LEARNED Mrs. Tennall knows that polyandry, meaning several husbands, was the rule among many nations. It still prevails among certain semi-barbarous people.

And the husbands manage to get along fairly well. The polyandrous husband at home or a weapon outside the polyconjugal door. Other husbands, returning, take the hint and tactfully retire. See Westermarck's great book on marriage for the details.

POLYANDRY, however will not solve the problem. The husband must multiply his accomplishments, while increasing his tendency to fidelity. The American husband makes money, but does not know how to pay compliments. Many European men pay marvelous compliments, but can't make money.

The combination, or "three-in-one," husband will appear in the course of evolution.

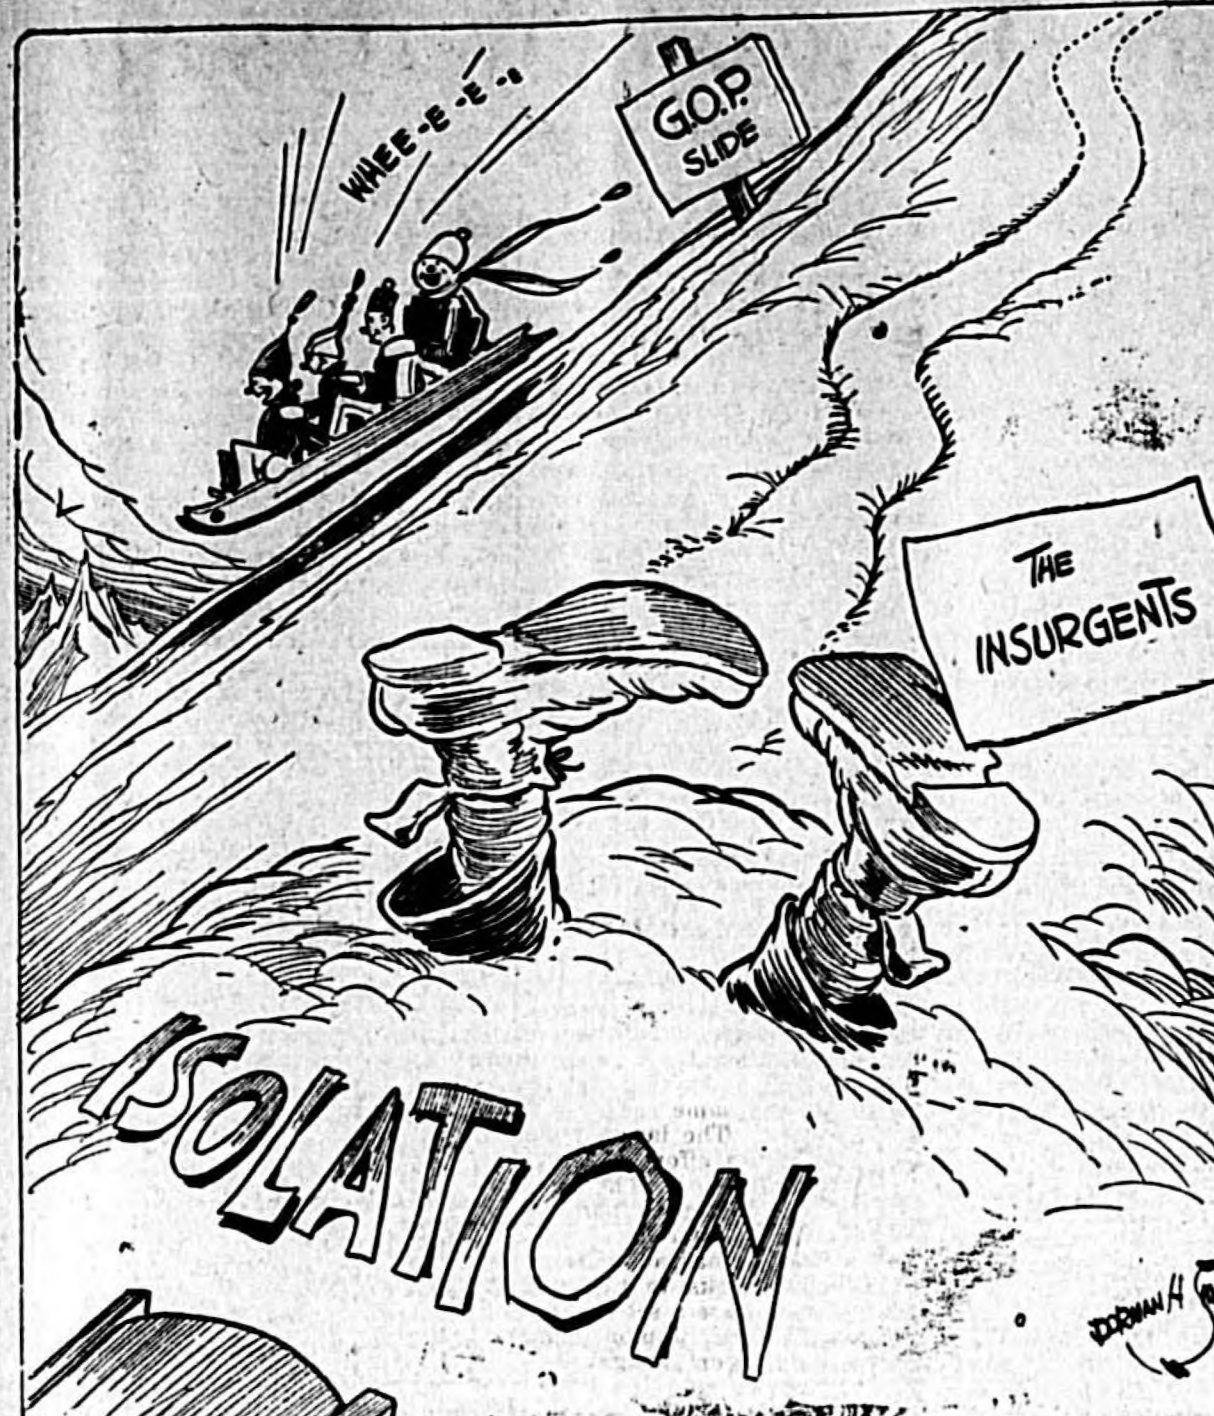

LAST YEAR this country paid out three billion dollars for automobiles. That's a large sum, but no money was better spent. To economize on automobiles would mean to economize on fresh air, health, happiness, and it would mean waste of time more than offsetting the saving in money.

EUROPE, poorer and less efficient than the United States, suffers for lack of cars. Some of the millions we spent for trucks, to be used in carrying freight, that was educational. Enough trucks competing with railroads and cutting railroad freight prices will make some of the old-fashioned railroad men think. Merely relying on the Interstate Commerce Commission to raise your rates, when you need more money, is not scientific railroading.

IT IS POSSIBLE to tax wealth and business too heavily, for the public good. Discouraging the man that understands business is like killing the golden goose. Vienna is dead commercially because government taxes have killed business enterprise, so the cables tell you. England plans income tax reduction "to stimulate trade." Churchill, British Chancellor of the Exchequer and grandson of old Jerome, a Wall Street stock broker, believes, as does Mr. Mellon, that lower taxes would produce a greater revenue. Even the Russian Government has decided that if you won't let a man make any money for himself he won't make any for the Government.

WHILE galloping dogs and Federal flying machines carry dinahs antioxin to Nome, in Alaska, Professor Blake, of the Yale Medical School, sends out this information: A serum from immunized horses can now cure all scarlet fever cases in twenty-four hours. Cases hitherto called "hopeless" are not hopeless or even dangerous any longer. Science and the genius of man can solve all problems and destroy all enemies, from the two-headed rhinoceros to the disease germ so small that the camera cannot reveal it.

THE DANGER OF GETTING OFF THE BEATEN PATH

GROWING PAINS IN CONGRESS

NEW YORK WORLD

When the House of Representatives votes to destroy the Tariff Commission by the simple device of not giving it any money to spend it does not mean that the House of Representatives has suddenly decided that the commission is no good. It means that the quarrel between legislator and executive in Washington, a quarrel which runs on endlessly but has its stage for the most part in out-of-the-way corners of government, has suddenly been brought into the middle of the street.

The House, to be sure, felt that it had some special provocation when it struck this time at the commission as savagely as it knows how to strike. For there are members of the House especially Democratic members, who believe that certain Commissioners are in the habit of acting upon tariff matters in which they themselves have a personal financial interest. It was proposed in the House, therefore, to chop off the salaries of Commissioners in such cases. Some one objected. Whereupon, amidst the objection, the House voted the whole commission into the discard. There the incident may end. Or the House, which still has two opportunities to change its mind in the normal course of parliamentary procedure may repent its haste and bring the commission back to life again. In either case, the incident is instructive.

It is instructive because it shows how angry the House can become with one of its own officers, and how easily it can decide to get along without an executive agency created for the purpose of being useful to Congress when it legislates. The Tariff Commission is not alone in its unpopularity. Congress within the last few years has quarreled bitterly with the Trade Commission, the Shipping Board, the War Finance Corporation, the Railway Labor Board and most of the departments. And one reason of course is that Congress considers it neither safe nor democratic to leave the details of administration to administrative agencies. Congress must put its own

FLORIDA HEALTH FOOD

ORLANDO REPORTER-STAR

The Florida Trucker says celery is a health food. Then the Trucker shows why this is especially true of Florida celery grown under the most sanitary conditions in the rich, loamy soil nature has prepared for it and watered from arched irrigation canals. The plants are sprayed with disinfectants so that no sort of germs may take lodgment. Recently a New York doctor, writing in a newspaper of that city, exposed the conditions under which celery and lettuce were being grown in oyster industry have been thrown and excrement were used for fertilizing the soil.

The Trucker calls attention to an important fact in our economic life. Florida is producing all of the fresh vegetables that are urged by good physicians who are interested in good health. These vegetables are grown out in the open country where soil is naturally adapted to the growing of vegetables. Only commercial fertilizers prepared especially for vegetables are used.

Not used in vegetables are the people of large cities like New York subjected to disease germs because of the manner and the conditions under which they are produced, but in sea foods, as we have seen by the recent discoveries concerning oysters produced in beds near the large cities where sewerage is thrown into the streams where the breeding bur sewerage and thus oysters feeding upon sewerage have been found to be affected by typhoid germs. So greatly has this reduced the consumption of

Ant Bear Crushes Hunter to Death In Argentine Jungle

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 6.—How a hunter fought a fierce body-to-body battle with a South American ant-bear, reputed to be an inoffensive animal, and was fatally injured, is told in a report from the village of Avia Terai in the Argentine Chaco.

The tragedy took place in a dense forest surrounding the village, the victim Candido Martinez, 50 years old, having encountered the bear while separated from his hunting companion. The latter heard his cries for help, the barking of his dogs and several shots, and making his way through the forest as fast as he could, found Martinez on the ground, his flesh terribly torn in several places and his ribs crushed. He had only time to tell that he had been attacked by an ant-bear before he died.

Instances of an ant-bear attacking a man are very rare. Ant-bears are known to kill the jaguar, when attacked by it, by crushing it between its powerful forelegs and chest, but its main interest in life is eating ants, destroying their hills with its long fox-like snout. For this reason its is regarded by settlers as a useful animal.

It is thought that in this instance the bear was attacked by the dogs and turned at bay, attacking the man when he tried to save the dogs. Because of the introduction of electric light the candle industry of Austria faces destruction, the output having dropped within a decade from 10,000 tons to less than 3,000 tons a year.

The tract is composed of 142 lots. Forty of these were sold before a formal announcement of the opening of the property having been placed on the market was made. A restriction of $3,500 is in force, insuring the quality of the buildings being erected in the sub-division.

SAYS METHODIST STUDENTS GET NO RELIGIOUS IDEAS

Secretary Declares That Only Scores of Instruction Is in Sunday Schools; Recommends Aid of Churches

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 6.—26,754 Methodist students in the schools of the South have no opportunity for religious instruction except when they get in Sunday School, declared the Rev. J. Marvin Culbreth, religious education secretary of the Board of Education of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in an address delivered before the Educational Association of the denomination here today. His address featured the second day's session of the annual meeting of the association.

Dr. Culbreth advocated strong departments of religious education in church and state schools, and recommended to the association that local churches in student centers be assisted by the church to provide better buildings and equipment, which in many cases are totally inadequate to handle the student crowds, he asserted. A larger number of trained religious workers should be provided by the church to deal with the multiplying thousands of students in the South, the speaker declared, and said that a steady advance should be made in the type of courses offered in the departments of religious education. In stressing the need of enlarging the work of religious education in state as well as church institutions of learning in the South, Dr. Culbreth pointed out that of 31,975 Methodist young people attending the various state and church schools, there are more than 26,000 of whom neither college nor church have made provision for religious instruction and that of this number the names of 20,000 do not appear on the rolls of any Sunday School.

Navin Receives Wealth And Baseball Glory As President Of Tiger Club

DETROIT, Feb. 6.—Unlucky in politics, lucky in baseball, is the way Frank J. Navin, president of the Detroit American League baseball club, probably would say it.

Mr. Navin, who has transformed Detroit from a rube baseball town to one of the capitals of fandom, confesses he was a false alarm as a politician, a sort of modern Don Quixote jousting with the windmill. He could not convince several hundred voters in a Detroit suburb that he should be their choice for justice of the peace, but in the years that have followed he has been elected to important places in the baseball world by his fellow managers. He rose recently to membership on the Advisory Council, highest tribunal of baseball, by replacing Ban Johnson as the American League's representative.

Mr. Navin set out to become a lawyer. Coming to Detroit from Adrian, Mich., where he was born in 1871, he worked his way through school and graduated in law, a profession he never followed, however. His initial flyer in politics proving a failure, he was mentioned for a city hall clerkship paying $2,500, and then he took up baseball. He became an employee of S. F. Angus, owner of Detroit's drowsy ball club. Angus wanted to get out of the game. Dan Johnson, president of the American League, came to Detroit in an effort to get rid of the white elephant.

Mr. Navin, whose friends call him a modern Midas and who, they say, never gambles with fate, made his greatest gamble then. Without sufficient money himself to swing the deal, he interested William Yawkey, wealthy sportsman. Yawkey put up the money and Navin became manager of the club.

The rest of the story of the Detroit baseball club and Frank J. Navin is the story of a man taking a losing proposition, driving through years of discouragement to bring his organization finally to the peak of financial and diamond success.

BUNKER NAMED ASSISTANT TO COACH SEBRING

Former Missouri Grid Star and Last Year Line Mentor at Auburn, Secured as First Aide to Sebring in Coaching "Gator" Term at Gainesville

UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA, Gainesville, Feb. 6.—Herbert Bunker, graduate of the University of Missouri, and last year football line coach and scout for Alabama Polytechnic Institute (Auburn), has been signed as an assistant coach in football by the University of Florida. Head Coach H. L. "Tom" Sebring, upon his return Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock, made the first announcement of Florida's having obtained Bunker, not only a celebrated four-letter athlete, but a Phi Beta Kappa honorary scholastic man.

In signing Bunker, Florida university officials took their second forward step in preparation for the 1925 football season, and in filling a long-felt need for greater assistance in the tutorial department. Bunker will report to the University of Florida at the opening of the grid campaign in September. He comes highly recommended and Floridians feel fortunate in having secured his services.

In four major sports, football, basketball, track and baseball, Bunker has registered enviable records. At the University of Missouri he played three years at center and tackle, capturing the eleven in 1922. He was selected two years in succession for "All-Missouri Valley conference tackle," and placed high on the all-American honor roll.

Was Star Athlete

Coach Sebring last night stated Bunker was a powerful man, 28 years of age, about six feet, two inches tall and weighing around 220 pounds.

Discussing his basketball prowess, Coach Sebring told of Bunker winning an all-Missouri Valley Conference berth, at guard, three consecutive years, a feat rarely attained in the conference. His career days at Missouri were spent at both center and guard, and he has been one of the outstanding men in basketball in the valley in recent years.

Featuring the shot and discussing in which events he excelled, Bunker was also a track sensation at Missouri, accompanying the team in 1921 when they invaded the Far West for a meet with California.

At basketball, Coach Sebring asserted Bunker was a catcher and outfielder of considerable prominence.

Bunker is basketball coach at Auburn this spring.

In 1923-1924, Bunker was head freshman coach of three sports at Missouri, placing successful football, baseball and basketball teams in the field. He graduated in 1914 from Nevada high school, at Nevada, Mo., saw service in the world war, entering the University of Missouri upon the termination of service days.

Coached by Masters

In basketball, Bunkers was coached by three famous masters of the game Meanwell, now head coach at Wisconsin, Rubyhead, coach at Illinois, and Bond, head coach at Missouri.

Athletic director White said Thursday night that of all the men Florida was in touch with and could have secured, Bunker is the most outstanding, and will be a great asset to Florida university. Coach Sebring is well pleased over signing Bunker and feels the staff has been greatly strengthened.

He will be assistant coach in football, and will aid in both basketball and track. No time limit or salary figure was given out by Coach Sebring in his announcement.

Jack Dempsey And His Future Bride Start New Rumors

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 6.—Reportorial agitation over the marriage plans to Jack Dempsey, bubbled up anew when Dempsey's motor car paused in front of Miss Estelle Taylor's home long enough late Thursday to permit the actress, her maid, and a heap of baggage to be transferred from sidewalk to tonneau.

After the car had vanished the excitement in screen and sporting circles grew by leaps and bounds until Jack Kearns and Teddy Hayes, manager and trainer of the champion, respectively, revealed that Dempsey was going to San Diego to second one of his pugilistic friends in a boxing bout. Hayes added that Dempsey's mother went along, too.

Will Attend Fight.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Feb. 6.—Jack Dempsey accompanied by his fiancée, Estelle Taylor, and her sister, Helen arrived here late last night, Dempsey said he was here chiefly for a fight program Friday night, that he wasn't married and declined to say when he would be.

Banished Giant To Renew His Fight To Clear Bribe Charge

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Cozy Dolan, blacklisted former coach of the New York Giants, announced Thursday upon a visit to the offices of the local National League club that he intended to renew his fight to clear his name from connection with the bribery attempt of Jimmy O'Connell.

Dolan, in a brief talk with Giant officials, insisted he is innocent of any connection with the deal as charged by O'Connell and declared that he intended to pursue his case with Commissioner Landis in an attempt to gain reinstatement. Asked about the suit he started against Landis some time ago and then dropped, Dolan said he would not restore to legal action but hoped to convince Landis of his innocence.

Although the report of the district attorney's investigation into the scandal, made public yesterday pointed out that the impression of Dolan's evasiveness in the case had not been removed Dolan insisted Thursday that this inquiry added further strength to the clear record he claim.

President Coolidge's salary, traveling expenses and the upkeep of the White House cost about $425,000 a year.

AMMONIA IN FERTILIZERS

Ammonia, or nitrogen, is the most important as well as the most expensive form of creates and stimulates growth in plant, tree and fruit.

Ammonia varies in quantity, price and effectiveness, according to availability, and elements with which it is compounded in the ammonia bearing material.

Ammonia bearing materials are, for our purposes, divided into two classes, inorganic and organic.

The inorganic ammoniates are soluble in water and are thus more quickly obtained by the plants. These materials have their place in nearly all well balanced mixtures, but their thorough dissemination in the mixture they should be "based" with other materials, as chemical action can take place in the pile instead of in the bag. After the mixture has been put in the bag, the ammonia is prevented. All this requires is a good factory equipment and space—and this was our guiding thought in planning the IDEAL FERTILIZER PLANT in the South.

The organic ammoniates include materials of animal and vegetable origin, such as cotton-seed, blood, castor pomace, etc. Each of these materials varies in price and value according to its purity, mechanical condition, availability and fineness of grind. To determine this, a rigid examination and analysis is required. To meet this essential the IDEAL FERTILIZER PLANT has one of the most modern and complete laboratories in the State, conducted by chemists familiar with the make up and production of these fertilizer materials and mixtures beginning to end.

These safeguards enter into the value and the result-producing qualities of IDEAL FERTILIZER.
