Landry Admits He Took Part In Killing; Convicts Are Seized

Connecticut Criminal Denies He Actually Fired Shots Which Felled 2 Policemen

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Jan. 20.—(AP)—Lee Landry, escaped convict from Connecticut, today signed a confession shortly after he had been taken into custody, stating that he was one of three bandits wanted in connection with the fatal shooting of Detective W. D. Smith and the serious wounding of Detective Willie Jones during a gun battle on the streets here last Friday night.

Landry, in an effort to escape, shot and killed Smith and wounded Jones. He also shot and wounded a police officer and a woman. Landry admitted that he fired the shot which felled the two policemen.

Landry said he remained in hiding until yesterday, while walking in the streets of Jacksonville.

Carlton Is Hopeful In Fruit Fly Fight

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Jan. 20.—(AP)—Gov. Doyle E. Carlton believes that the campaign to eradicate the Mediterranean fruit fly in Florida will be brought to a successful close through the activities of an organized program.

Carlton said he would be glad to take charge of the work.

CHURCHILL DIES

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Thousands who knew Churchill's, one of Broadway's most famous pre-prohibition restaurants, today mourned its proprietor, James Churchill, 64, who died yesterday of bronchial pneumonia.

STATE TO BEGIN PROBE IN KILLING OF 2 DRY AGENTS

Slayings Occurred In Palm Beach Home Of Alleged Bootlegger

JAN. 20.—(AP) State authorities made plans today to take a hand in the investigation of the slaying here Saturday night of two prohibition agents in the home of George W. Moore, alleged bootlegger.

No charges had been filed last night against Moore, who is in the county jail, but Robert E. Tuttle, Savannah, prohibition administrator for the ninth district, announced he would turn evidence over to state courts and ask that Moore be prosecuted for murder.

E. M. Raynes, attorney for Moore, charged last night that the agents attempted to enter Moore's home without legal warrant.

3 Escaped Gunmen Are Seized By Posse In Swamp Four Miles Outside Of Macon

MACON, Ga., Jan. 20.—(AP)—Three escaped convicts from West Virginia were captured early today in a swamp four miles northwest of Macon by a strong posse which at first thought the convicts were men escaped from the Weatherford, Conn. prison.

The convicts were identified as Adams, who was probably fatally wounded; and Dana Binn, slightly hurt; and three children, seriously wounded.

OVIEDO BANKER'S HOME SHAKEN BY DYNAMITE BLAST

Six Persons In Home At Time Of Explosion Are Uninjured

No arrests have been made in connection with the dynamiting of the home of H. G. Smith, president of the Bank of Oviedo, according to Sheriff J. P. McClelland, who in a statement made this afternoon, said that both his deputies and Oviedo county officials were working on clues arising from an auto said to have been seen speeding away from Mr. Smith's home after the explosion occurred and also from the tracks of a person landing away from the house.

16 Die In Plane Crash

Entire Personnel Of 8 Men And 8 Women Is Wiped Out When Giant Liner Falls

DELEGATES ARE CHEERED ON EVE OF NAVY PARLEY

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Sixteen charred and mangled bodies lay in the wreckage of the liner today, as gruesome reminders of the crash of a giant T. A. T. Medley liner while returning to Los Angeles with a cargo of week-end vacationers from Agua Caliente, Mexico.

The 16 met a horrible death late yesterday at Oceanic when the liner, after a long and stormy voyage, crashed into the sea.

The American secretary spoke at the conference, in one of the more recent history of such a conference, and said that the delegates of the United States should be prepared to meet the delegates of the other nations.

Tom Hartley Drops Dead After Attack Of Heart Failure

DeCotte Takes Non-Suit And Immediately Files New Suit Of $100,000 Damages

A motion for a non-suit in the $100,000 libel action against The Sanford Herald brought by George A. DeCotte was granted this afternoon by Judge J. B. Johnson presiding over the Twenty-third Judicial Circuit in the place of Wallace W. Wright who had previously disqualified himself, immediately following this ruling of Judge Johnson, Mr. DeCotte filed a new suit against The Sanford Herald, alleging damages in the amount of $100,000.

The motion for a non-suit was made following a previous ruling which dismissed the case against The Herald from the jurisdiction of the circuit court, the final decision of which was to be made at 2 o'clock this afternoon when the order for dismissal was to be presented. With the granting of the motion for a non-suit, Judge Johnson instructed that his ruling in regard to dismissal should be incorporated in the order for non-suit, and that "the burden of the suit be upon the plaintiff."

The motion asking for dismissal was made by Attorney George G. Herring, representing the defendant, and was based on the contention that the circuit court was without jurisdiction to try the case inasmuch as the plaintiff had waived all damages in excess of one cent.

Mr. Herring contended that "the plaintiff can't come in and file with this court and say that he didn't mean that he waived all damages in excess of one cent."

Four thousand persons attended the opening day of the strawberry festival at Bowling Green, the first to be held in this state. Who will Sanford have its cherry festival?

Wherein parts of Central Africa there are some people who have never been able to see a typical American politician, but for that matter we can't see anything.

According to the Plant City Courant, "The thirteenth month of the year for the strawberry grower is that month he is too busy marketing his berries to bother with getting nursery stock and putting it out, but do it anyway."

O. O. McIntire says his wife received a letter the other day from a friend who inquired, "Is your husband working some place or just writing?" What chance have the poor newspapermen got when people feel that way about it?

William Howard Taft has been forced by illness to abandon temporarily his duties as chief justice of the supreme court and go to Asheville, N. C., to recuperate. He should come on down to Florida where recuperation is the best thing we have and where a warm tropical climate will make him a young man again.

Sixty-four cadets were recently dropped at West Point for various scientific deficiencies. Young men desiring to assume positions in the army should remember that the main trouble is not in getting an appointment to West Point, but in passing entrance examinations and in making the grade after the appointment is secured.

The Sarasota Historical Society has asked the government for permission to remove the remains of Osceola, famous Seminole chief, from Sullivan Island, near Charlevoix, to Sarasota, where it will erect a monument to him. Osceola fought in the United States army when he was captured from having to leave Florida. He would probably live in captivity in Sarasota, whether a monument is erected or not.

This encouraging fact was brought out at a recent meeting of the Associated Retail Credit Bureau of three western states. Forty per cent of the people of the United States are classified as below pay, and ten percent are below credit, necessitating lending to pay at the time credit is obtained. So if you are a little behind on your bills, you have plenty of sympathy, but it should be the aim of every decent citizen to get in the other fifty per cent class as quickly as he can.

More Than A General

Yesterday was the birthday of Robert E. Lee, beloved leader of the Southland during the War between the States. Yesterday and today his birth is being commemorated throughout that entire area whose people grew to know him and to love him so well during that time when he had drawn his sword in defense of his native state and the principles which he believed to be right. Of all Southerners who helped to make history during those troublous times, none is more worthy, it seems to us, than this Virginian general.

"I place Lee as a general," writes Major General Sir Frederick Maurice, "above Wellington, 'Read and re-read,' said Napoleon, 'the eighty-eight campaigns of Alexander, Hannibal, Caesar, Gustavus, Turenne, Eugene, and Frederick. Take them as your models, for it is the only means of becoming a great leader, and of mastering the secrets of the art of war.' To that select band of great commanders the name of Robert E. Lee, must be added. His exact precedence amongst them I will not attempt to determine, but that they have received him as a soldier worthy of their fellowship, I do not doubt."

However high in the annals of war the name of Lee must be placed, we can never believe that his finest contribution to the world in which he lived was his military achievements. Though a soldier by profession, Lee did not want war, did all in his power to avert the dreadful conflagration which proved to be inevitable. Once in it, his chief desire was to bring the war to a conclusion as speedily as possible in a satisfactory manner as he could for the Confederacy.

It was Lee as the man, and Lee as the scholar, who in the light of succeeding years, proved to be a more outstanding personality than Lee as the soldier. A rancorous war had seen many a military genius, but such a picture as Lee at Appomattox, bidding goodbye to his troops, a defeated general but cheered by them, grided warriors with tears on their cheeks, or at Richmond where he immediately returned to receive the greatest welcome ever accorded a prisoner of war, had never been done before, nor has it since. It took more than a soldier to command such high esteem, love, and devotion.

During his years as president of Washington University, he again showed himself to be greater than a general. Napoleon at Elba plotted a return to former power; at St. Helena, he brooded over lost fortunes and decried a cruel world. At Lexington, Lee steadfastly refused to become embroiled in the controversies which naturally arose out of bitterness of the conflict. In his training of young men to take their proper places in the world, he devoted his greatest energies to the task of healing the wounds which the war had caused and to tying with the strongest bonds the South to the North.

Of all those who participated in that terrible struggle, none, either of the North or South, it seems to me, is more worthy of the admiration he receives than Robert E. Lee, the man, the scholar, the soldier.

An Optimistic Outlook

With the month of January barely passed the mid-way point, the average person has not yet decided whether this is to be heralded as one of those banner years, or whether it is to be regarded with eyes of gloom. Many of our closest financial observers, however, are entirely satisfied with the indications for a prosperous year. The fundamental soundness of business is the basis for the forecast of a great era of prosperity. To this same effect, John H. Petersburg, governor of Connecticut, now wintering in

"With the passing of Dec. 31, 1929, there has been brought to a close a year of prosperity and advancement for the American people such as has never before been equalled. The effect of the recent decline in the stock market has, I believe, proved beneficial to us all in that it has resulted as a signal to stop, look and listen."

"With business conditions of the country fundamentally sound, the recession caused by the stock market break affects industry, can only be temporary and not acute. The commendable effort on the part of President Hoover to stabilize prosperity has had a far-reaching effect and will aid very materially in a quick recovery to normal conditions."

"With these facts in mind, I view the present breathing spell as an opportunity for the country to prepare for even greater prosperity than it has enjoyed in the past and I look forward optimistically to the year 1930, believing that it will compare very satisfactorily with the year 1929."

"It is my belief the country is about to enter a period of prosperity that will far surpass that which it has enjoyed during the past five years. And, speaking for New England, I believe it is in a sound economic position and will enjoy its share of the progress and prosperity with the rest of the country."

"I look forward optimistically to the year of 1930."

"You predicted snow for both Dakota yesterday and it only snowed in the west," said Miss Gilks. "The winds for central New England were southeasterly when you had forecast they'd be from the east and the mercury didn't drop sharply on the Mississippi Valley like you predicted."

"I don't know what's the matter with me lately, Miss Gilks. I've been missing on those Dakota snowstorms all season and those New England winds have got me stomped. I must be slacking up."

"You're not getting the breaks that's all," replied Miss Gilks. "That's right," and the official forecaster "got you" and "I'll give you tomorrow's weather now. All right?"

"Well, for me in New England I've 'em warm and colder," said Miss Gilks. "I'll give you that, but give 'em probable rain the South Atlantic States can have fish shifting water, becoming

The World's Window

By Pierre Van Paasoen

Stalin's fiftieth birthday, just celebrated in Moscow, was more of an affair than it seems. It is the entire phalanx of the Soviet press given over to singing "this steel soldier" praises. There has been nothing like it since Lenin's death. The "Marxist Bolshevik" has become the touchstone of revolutionary orthodoxy, Lenin's spiritual successor and, like him, virtually infallible, says one report. To underline this spiritual unity, this political continuity, photographs after photograph are reproduced showing Lenin sitting in a private affectate conversation alone with Stalin, like a master with his favorite disciple. Others show Stalin, now leader, in equally close association with the lieutenant, Molotof, Column after column of biography shows this "man of steel" from his school days onward always a fighter, always taking a strong line against opportunists, dillettante politicians, time-servers of all sorts, in pre-revolutionary days taking anything and everything to keep the party line to the very end. His life story is an impressively long one. This Stalin's son, Joseph Jughosvili, trained for priesthood, but already in seminary joining the secret Red ring, then immediately entering the sixteen years' stretch of twelve underground organizations, which was the last possible preparation for his present masters of all the secret workings of the party machine. Under half a dozen aliases, David, Kolia, Nizovoy, Chupkov, Ivanovich, finally Stalin, he conspired and organized the building up of that secret machine. Seven times he was arrested and deported to Siberia. With the help of his organization he always promptly escaped and, although he sat many months in the prison on each and he had the look never to get on an end to penal servitude.

A curious story comes from Karabak in Central Anatolia. The village is situated in the neighborhood of Konik, the nearest town. The largest and finest house in it belonged to Mu, a merchant. He had the habit of being always promptly occupied, although he sat many months in the prison on each and he had the look never to get on an end to penal servitude.

The merchant's house was a fine one, and in a few hours the village seemed to be completely pulled down. No one of them was more eager in the work of destruction than was the merchant himself. The merchant, however, was not slow in taking action, and a lot of people were coming to the village. The merchant, however, was not slow in taking action, and a lot of people were coming to the village. The merchant, however, was not slow in taking action, and a lot of people were coming to the village.

"What do you want the rain to do?"

FARM OUTLOOK GOOD
SARASOTA HERALD

The possibilities of successful farming in Florida are generally recognized. We have here the three elements which are necessary to produce crops. These three elements are sunshine, soil and moisture. Florida is the only one of our states where these three elements are present in such abundance. It is this fact that has attracted the attention of the farmer from all over the world to this state. The sun shines here every day of the year, the soil is rich and the moisture is abundant. This is the reason why Florida is so fertile and why it is so attractive to the farmer.

THE DOVE AND HIS OLIVE BRANCH

DR. CADMAN ENDORSES THE MOVIES

Wholesale condemnation of anything that appears to be interesting or pleasing to the multitude is the story of the world. The American people. It has come to be the habit of some of the people to rise up and denounce whatever is popular, and moving pictures are among the latest to get their attention from the laboratory of the world. The movies are a part of the world's life, and they are a part of the world's life. They are a part of the world's life, and they are a part of the world's life. They are a part of the world's life, and they are a part of the world's life.

Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, who has characterized the movies as "educational, interesting and entertaining," says that he is also a member of the church members who declare that all such participation is to be condemned. It is rather well known that Dr. Cadman is the radio minister of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. That he is the pulpiter of the radio, and his influence through such a medium is remarkable. In an address made over the air, he said that the movies are a part of the world's life, and they are a part of the world's life. They are a part of the world's life, and they are a part of the world's life.

Dr. Cadman's endorsement of the movies is a part of the world's life, and they are a part of the world's life. They are a part of the world's life, and they are a part of the world's life. They are a part of the world's life, and they are a part of the world's life. They are a part of the world's life, and they are a part of the world's life.

Nature has been very lavish in its preparation of the soil in South Florida for agricultural purposes. There are millions of acres of some of the richest soil in the world available for cultivation. Underlying the soil is abundance of water for irrigation. The farmer in Florida has a very rich and fertile soil, and he has a very rich and fertile soil. He has a very rich and fertile soil, and he has a very rich and fertile soil.

The Farmer's Advice

By Alfalfa Smith

A friend of mine has a boy away at school and when he returned for the holidays he found the corn in the house. He thought to do the right thing by his relative, so he bought him a grain with real, though small outlets.

Christmas day came and they went to school.

Walking along in the snow they came upon a pheasant. They were so excited they could not shoot. The boys handled the pheasant and forth while the bird looked on amused and then flew away.

This reminds me of a much of various phases of life—when we find what we want we often do not know what to do with it.

Woman's Club Will Give Music Recital

The Music Department of the Sanford Woman's Club will have a "MacDowell" recital and a "Silver Tea" Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the club rooms on Oak Avenue, with Mrs. A. M.
Phillips, Mrs. A. K. Hester and Miss Madeline Mallon as hostesses. Immediately preceding the recital at 3 o'clock a short business session will take place.
The proceeds of the tea will be donated to the Peterborough Home founded by Edward Macdowell in January, 1907. It is located in the woods near Peterborough, N. H. where after years of searching Mr. Macdowell first found quiet and inspiration to do some of his greatest work.
Women's Clubs throughout the country are giving this month recitals of Macdowell and other American composers. Included in the program for Tuesday afternoon will be Miss Gertrude Bartrand and some of her pupils from Deland, who will present piano, singer and vocal numbers. Miss A. Takach will also render several solos.
Later in the afternoon Mrs.
J. C. Colclough and Mrs. Wynne Fox, the program chairman, will give several talks.

GENEVA NOTES

Mrs. Fields Hostess To Her Club Friday

At the home of her mother on East Tenth Street, Mrs. Park Fields was hostess to the members of the Lottaphan Club, who were gathered for a bridge party on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. At the conclusion of several progressions of bridge which were particularly enjoyed, a lovely supper was served by Mrs. M. Minarik.
At the tea hour a salad course and hot chocolate were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. J. E.
Coutler. Adorning the rooms where the tables were placed for playing were vases and bowls of gladioli and fern. Tallies and other bridge accessories bore a Chinese design.
Those present were: Mrs. Christina Matthews, Mrs. J. E. Courler, Mrs. J. E. Wathen, Mrs. E. B.
Stowe, Mrs. R. C. Moore, Mrs.

the various local auxiliaries.
Preceding the meeting a luncheon was held at the William Edward Hotel at 9:30 o'clock, with about 35 guests present. The luncheon table was decorated in a red, white and blue color scheme which was accentuated by silver, light of red carnations and white carnations and blue candles in silver holders placed in the center of the table. Similar basket and candle were used to adorn the white cloth of the table, which place cards which were of a refractive design further emphasized the color motif.

11-Year-Old Youth Wins Cage Game By Sinking 2 Baskets

SUPERIOR, Wis., Jan. 20.
(AP)—This sports-mad state regards an account of a little shaver's impossible dream of heroism and yet it is true.
An 11-year-old youngster, had in rugged overalls and galoshes and standing on a bench over three feet high, flung onto the floor in the last period of a rough men's basketball game and then proceeded to sink two free throws to win a slam-bang, 28-26 contest.
The game was played here between the Superior Eagles and the Duluth West End Merchants.
It was marked by two numerous personal fouls. Four men were ejected as the referee and controversy was carried on from the floor after a collision with an opponent. When this happened the Eagle squad called time out and went into the well-known huddle.

JOE JINKS

THE FACT THAT RICH DU WHINNY WANTS TO BUY BACK THE HORSE HE SOLD TO JOE, GIVES OUR HERO A LEAD IN THE RACE OF MERRIMENT!

CAN YOU BEAT THAT GUY? DU WHINNY THOUGHT HE STUCK ME. WHEN HE SOLD ME THAT MAG FOR $50,000 AN HOUR HE OFFERS ME A FEAT $100,000 FOR HIM!

HE DID, EH? SAY IF I WANT YOU TO TAKE HIM UP!

BUT WHY SHOULD I SELL? HE'S EARNED OVER THAT MUCH FOR ME AND HE'LL EARN MORE!

THAT'S ALL RIGHT. BUT THE HORSE IS TEN YEARS OLD. IF YOU WANT TO MAKE UP ON THE PAYING END OF A DEBT BUT ALL OF A sudden I'D SELL!

WHAT'S YOUR WHICH WAY HE'D ENTERED INTO MY CALCULATIONS?

HM-MMMM!

IF CRIME WILL NOT COME TO ME, I WILL SEEK IT IN ITS HAUNTS. WHERE IS A MORE LIKELY SPOT FOR SINISTER DEEDS THAN IN FRONT OF A GREAT CITY?

ALL HA! I HAD NOT LONG TO WAIT—A SLINGING FIGURE TOSSIN' A BUNDLE INTO THE MURKY WATERS

TOU? I HAVE YOU COVERED—WHAT DID YOU THROW INTO THE RIVER?

HUH? ER, NOTHING BUT A BUNDLE OF OLD RAZOR BLADES, SIR.
