What a shot! Photographers love to find a scene like this. Flowing water... a background of trees... a church spire in the distance... these always make an outstanding picture.

Wherever we travel we see Christian churches in harmonious settings, and there's a tendency to think of them as "part of the scenery."

But what an important part they are! Every one is a House of God, dedicated to His service. Every one is a community focal point, helping in a thousand ways to broaden and beautify the lives of its members. And every one is a vital link in the shining chain of Christian belief that stretches around the world.

Not far from where you live, there's a church that could give your life a new dimension. Whatever doubts and fears you may have, bring them to God in His House. You can rely on His promise that He will not leave you comfortless.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and read your Bible daily.

Sunday I Chronicles 14:28-36	Monday Psalms 112:1-10	Tuesday Psalms 118:1-19	Wednesday Micah 7:14-20	Thursday Mark 11:15-26	Friday Acts 2:37-47	Saturday Acts 9:23-31

A doll of the bowler hat to Pete Knowles and his efficient city work crews. In a span of a few short hours the men had the parking lot site at Park and First cleared of all the debris left from demolition of two buildings there. The mess reminded Cliff Te-Kibbin of "Coventry during World War II."

Buy gas for less—and save on clothing bills, too. All you need do, according to a report in the Sunny Sands Scoop, nudist resort newsletter. The letter says gas can be bought at cost plus one cent a gallon. But, alas, it's restricted to membership in the club located near Daytona Beach.

Glad when a good rain hits the area. You've probably noticed those blessed blind mosquitoes, we're sure. Buildings painted white are peppered with the sticky pests. They only live a few hours but there's so many of them...

French and First intersection got new paint markings on the pavement Friday and the work crews put up temporary barriers to protect the painters and paint. Looked, for a time, like a sports rack gymnasia scene.

Overheard: "My wife; she has the prettiest, most pearly white teeth. Both of them."

Las week the dancers on the Red Skelton television show were given a chance to introduce themselves and tell where they were from. One of them introduced himself and said he was from Sanford, Fla. However, we didn't catch his name and can't find anybody that did. Does anyone know who the dancer was?

Ever wonder why you see so many cars on the streets and highways these days painted off white? The answer is really simple, say some of the local auto dealers. It's the top color preference among auto buyers. Off white jumped into first place back in 1955 and continues to reign as the number one choice. Surprisingly, medium brown—which wasn't even listed in 1957, is new second choice.

Some of these South Seminole towns are growing—not only in population but also in many other aspects. For instance, Casselberry now has approximately 42 miles of roadways.

Herald Adds To Editorial Staff

Editor-Publisher Walter A. Gielow today announced the appointment of Harry I. Johnson as managing editor of The Sanford Herald effective at once.

Gilow also announced that Mrs. Dottie Austin has joined The Herald staff as city editor, the post previously held by Johnson.

Johnson joined the Herald four months ago after having been executive editor of the Winter Haven Daily News-Chief. He previously had been news editor of the Clearwater Sun.

A native of Elmira, N. Y., he began his career on the newspaper there. He and Mrs. Johnson came to Florida about 10 years ago.

His new duties will consist of complete charge of all editorial and photographic assignments for the news department.

Mrs. Austin, who has been public relations director for field district three of the Florida Heart Association, is a former feature editor and columnist of the Herald.

LAST IN LINE before the Sanford-Seminole Jaycees had to halt the Sabin Oral Sunday project when the supply ran out was Karen Daken of Winter Park. She visited the Jaycee Booth shortly after 5 p.m. to receive the Sabin vaccine. Administering the dose is Garnett White, local Jaycee member. Officials said 3,500 persons visited the five feeding stations Sunday.

Sabin Feeding Halts Due To Shortage

Turnaway crowds were noted at the five feeding stations Sunday as the Sanford-Seminole Jaycees concluded their Sabin Oral Sunday project. It was estimated that from 400 to 500 persons did not get the vaccine as the supply was exhausted. Plans to keep the Jaycee Information Booth open after 5 p. m. for late-comers

Opportunities In Seminole Stressed

An attractive investment future for Seminole County was outlined Friday night by two local civic and business leaders and 200 naval officers were urged to make this area their permanent home. George Touhy, executive vice president of First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Seminole County, told the officers that the over-expansion of past years should be entirely absorbed by the end of the year and real estate should again be a solid investment.

Executive Manager John Krider of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, followed Touhy on the program at the formal "Dining In" held by the officers of Heavy Attack Wing One at the Sanford Naval Air Station.

He pointed out that Seminole County is currently growing faster than any of the 10 most populous counties in Florida and described its emergence from a "retirement area" to a major commercial center.

He cited the part which the Navy has played in the expansion rate and said that "Navy families have broadened our scope" culturally in addition to providing an economic impetus to the community.

Touhy showed how the growth in Gross National Product and disposable income was reflected in Florida and Seminole County. He listed climate, population increase and industrial expansion as some of the major reasons for the area having a "good investment market."

The banking executive also pointed to a trend among migrants to the state to locate in "The places in which you would like to make a home," sound well-rounded communities, rather than the "more gaudy areas."

He concluded, "We invite you to stay as long as you can. If you have to leave, come back again—we hope, to stay."

Other special guests at the dinner were Andrew Carraway, widely-known Sanford insurance agent and community leader, and Capt. Harold F. Lang, former squadron commander at NAS Sanford who now commands the fleet oiler USS Kankakee.

The guests were introduced by Capt. James O. Mayo, commander Heavy Attack Wing One.

Five Killed MIAMI (UPI) — At least five persons died in weekend traffic accidents on Florida highways, the state patrol reported Monday.

Colorful Flag Ceremony Held By Elk Lodge

Elks Lodge members and guests rededicated themselves to the American Flag during the annual Flag Day ceremony at the club grounds Sunday afternoon.

The colorful rite was held on the front landing of the club building with spectators clustered in many groups, some in the sun, other moving back into the shady areas.

They heard Maj. B. T. Chen of the U. S. Marine Corps call for rededication to the Flag and heard the history of the American emblem as given by various officers of the club.

A color guard of Marine Corps and naval personnel moved a cluster of colors to the speakers stand. Boy Scouts from the Elks-sponsored Troop 244 monitored a variety of flags, ranging from a replica of the 13-star emblem to today's 50-star flag.

The ceremony opened with Mrs. Helen McCloskey singing the Star Spangled Banner.

Officers taking part included Wade Snyder, exalted ruler; D. H. Green, esteemed leader; Malcolm C. Lodge Jr., esteemed loyal knight; Milton Tolbert, esteemed lecturing knight; J. R. Henderson, esquire, and R. H. Williams, chaplain. Guy Allen, past exalted ruler, presented the history of the flag.

Scouts participating were Larry Warren, Johnny Foster, Dan Bernosky, George Ca'ton, Jennings Hurt, Paul 'on, Roger Warren and Houston. Scoutmaster James L. Duhon and his assistant, King Smith, were in charge of the group.

Continuing in operation since the floods developed last Tuesday is a six-county network of mass shelters, feeding stations, first aid and nursing facilities, Mrs. Kimmons said. They are operated by volunteers from local ARC chapters.

Hemping Sun and Missouri rivers and tributaries have taken heavy toll of life and property destruction.

Mrs. Kimmons pointed out that hundreds of the more than 3,000 families hit by flood waters may need help. The Red Cross will stay there as long as it is needed, she said.

Victory Spurs Saigon Forces SAIGON, Viet Nam (UPI)—South Vietnamese officials were jubilant today over a turnabout victory achieved by a government river patrol against a strong Communist ambush force.

Informed sources said a navy river patrol of four gunboats recovered from the ambush and killed at least 23 Viet Cong, the largest number of Communist guerrillas killed in a single engagement in more than a month.

Jaycees Seat Officers

Clyde Long was installed Saturday night as president of the Sanford-Seminole Junior Chamber of Commerce at a dinner. Frank Foster of West Palm Beach, new president of the Florida Jaycees was the main speaker.

Long succeeded Jim Smith as president. He was presented the keys to the JayCee center which is used by the president. Meanwhile, Long presented Smith with a brightly painted bicycle which he will use during his term as immediate past president.

Installed with Long were vice presidents Tommy Speer, Frank Finch and Cecil Tucker; secretary Phillip Skates, treasurer DeWitt Mathews, Historian Wayne Albert and Directors Larry Skates, Tip Gruley, Dr. Kenneth Wing, Wendall Springfield, J. L. Rowe, Jack Ludwig and Charles Fox.

The dinner, originally slated for the Civic Center, was held at the Police Benevolent Building. At 8 p.m. JayCees discovered that by mistake the banquet had been prepared by the caterer at the police building. Nearly 200 JayCees and guests vacated the Center and the change was accomplished without delay.

Smith presented the club's Spoke Award to Frank Finch; the Sparkplug, Key Man and Robert Spellman awards to Harold Chapman, and a special award was made to Don Royer for outstanding service to the club.

Honorary memberships were presented to Willie Hunt and Scott Burns. Associate memberships were given Chapman and City Commissioner Sonny Raborn. Appreciation awards were made to The Sanford Herald, Orlando Sentinel, WTRR and Marguerite Price, president of the JayCee Wives Club.

Both Houses Placed Under Apportioning

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court ruled today that members of both houses of a state legislature must represent districts substantially equal in population.

The ruling means the precedent-setting state reapportionment requirements established by the court earlier apply to state senate as well as the lower state houses.

The opinion declared: "By holding that as a federal constitutional requisite both houses of a state legislature must be apportioned on a population basis, we mean that the equal protection clause of the U. S. Constitution requires that a state make an honest and good faith effort to construct districts, in both houses of its legislature, as nearly of equal population as is practicable."

The court added, however: "We realize that it is a practical impossibility to arrange legislative districts so that each one has an identical number of residents or citizens or voters. Mathematical exactness or precision is hardly a workable constitutional requirement."

New Plant For County Under Construction

Construction is rapidly being completed on a 8,000 square-foot building located just off U. S. 17-92 on Shepherd Road, which will house Precisioneering, Inc., a firm which manufactures special purpose machines and equipment.

The company, which is currently located in Orlando, will move its operations into the new building about the last week in June, according to J. Earl Povencher, president and treasurer of the corporation.

Povencher said today that the company is now in the process of obtaining another building already constructed in the Sanford area for a proposed expansion of the firm's operations.

"We are delighted to be moving our operations into Seminole County," Povencher said today. "We have an attractive building and we're going to make every effort to make the industrial area in which we are located an asset to our friends and neighbors around us."

The firm's president is assisted by vice president and general manager, Jules Miller. Miller said the company has about 15 employees in Orlando and that all of them would continue with the firm in the new location. Povencher's brother, Robert J. Povencher, also a vice president of the company, is currently on active duty with the U. S. Navy overseas.

In addition to producing special purpose machines and automatic equipment, the company makes tools, dies, fixtures, templates, screw machine parts, test stands, aircraft armament and missile components. It also is engaged in manufacturing catapult arrest gear and a craft ground support equipment for the armed forces.

The new plant, Povencher explained, would double the size of the company's Orlando space.

William McKim, Former Sanford Resident, Dies

A former resident of Sanford and one of the foremost business leaders in Charleston, W. Va., William M. McKim, 61, collapsed on a flight to Virginia Beach, Va., last week and died in a Norfolk, Va., hospital. He was the president of one of Charleston's most prominent downtown department stores.

McKim was stricken as his plane landed at Norfolk airport and was dead on arrival at Norfolk General Hospital. He had been enroute to join his family for a weekend at the beach resort.

Born in Kansas City, Mo., and reared in Florida, McKim got his start in retailing in 1927. He was later vice president of a Newark, N. J. store and went to Charleston in 1956 to assume the position he held until the time of his death. During his years in Charleston he was active in the Chamber of Commerce and Downtown Merchants Association, a member of Christ Methodist Church and the Betty Hills Country Club.

Surviving are his widow, Carolyn, two daughters, Judith and Beverly; a son, William III; a brother, Robert J. and two sisters, Miss Alice McKim of Sanford, and Mrs. Mary Turner of Ocala. Funeral services were held last week in Charleston. Miss McKim went to Charleston to attend the services.

SRD Favoring Orlando, CC Director Says

A complaint against the failure to install signs on I-4 showing that Sanford can be reached on the new link between here and Daytona Beach was made today by John Krider, manager of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, to State Senator Mack N. Cleveland Jr.

Krider charged that it appeared the State Road Department was going to extremes to direct all traffic into Orlando.

"Following several phone calls from people who had used I-4 into Daytona, I made the trip to see for myself," said Krider. "Traveling west from Daytona there is one directional sign at the intersection of U.S. 92 and I-4, and it indicates that only Orlando can be reached via I-4."

"DeLand and Sanford are intermediate points before reaching Orlando, and both are the seats of their respective counties," Krider added.

Krider also noted that there has been no change in the directional sign entering I-4 from the Orange City-DeLand interchange. However, later this morning unofficial word was received from the State Road Department that the sign was ready but had not yet been installed.

The absence of an appropriate sign at this interchange was recently called to the attention of the SRD by the DeLand and Seminole chambers.

"This type of treatment is becoming rather discouraging," said Krider. "It appears that they are going to force us to place advertising signs at this particular intersection at $50 per month to let the public know that Sanford is on I-4."

Cleveland, a Sanford attorney, was in court today and not available for comment.

Report Untrue, Lodge Says

SAIGON, Viet Nam (UPI)—Henry Cabot Lodge, U. S. ambassador to South Vietnam today denied a press report that he has asked to be relieved of his duties here within 30 days.

Lodge described the report as "totally untrue."

The published report from Washington said Lodge had asked President Johnson to be relieved of his ambassadorial post for health reasons.

White House Press Secretary George E. Reedy said in Washington Sunday night he had no knowledge of a request from Lodge to resign.

Board Orders Immediate Planning Of New University

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — The Board of Control accepted Friday all but 120 acres of a 1,230 tract of land north-east of Orlando as the site for a new degree central university in East-Central Florida.

The board of which Dr. J. Broward Culpepper is director, directed its staff to start immediately with planning of the educational program and the physical plant for the new school which was authorized by the 1963 Legislature. Orange County attorney James Robinson said steps were being taken by the county to get clear title to the remainder of the tract. He predicted that deeds would be delivered to the board shortly. Robinson said zoning in both Orange and Seminole counties was "proceeding satisfactorily" and would meet requirements for the land as laid down recently by the State Board of Education. Final action on acceptance of the property was subject to approval by the state cabinet. Acquisition of clear title to 1,000 acres of Escambia land slated for another university has been proceeding at a slower pace. The board, however, authorized a start on educational planning for the proposed university near Pensacola.

The board staff, with the aid of consultants, will determine the educational nature of the two institutions so that architects can start construction planning. The 1965 Legislature will be asked to appropriate money to start construction.

Little Old Lady And Little Girl Tame A Tiger

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (UPI)—A 600-pound Bengal tiger walked out of its cage in the garage of an animal trainer Friday but an 11-year-old girl and a little old lady coaxed it back in again.

Its owner, Mrs. Evelyn Currie, said she'd been hospitalized recently and that the 18-month-old tiger, named "Tony," apparently "just got scared without me."

Mrs. Currie said her niece, Sally White, 11, and her mother, Mrs. Irene Clark, managed to lure Tony back into his cage in a garage-like building where the family keeps several lions and tigers.

"My mama, bless her sweet heart—she's a 67-year-old little lady—and Sally got him back in the cage, but it was really Sally. Tony listens to her," Mrs. Currie said.

"Soft words and a hunk of meat did the trick," she added.

Perseverance Paying Off

Step back a pace with us and look at Sanford's potential. Look at it with objectivity.

You'll see, we feel, that we are figuratively sitting on a powderkeg of expansion. Speculators apparently feel the same way. They're flocking into town from points as far away as Texas.

And the main reason for the vista is the steady, certain progress of the so-called Sanford-Titusville canal. That progress is STEADY. Engineers are at work on both ends of the canal site. They're driving stakes, sighting the line to be followed by the canal.

The first shovelful of dirt has yet to be dug for the big ditch but it will. And in five short years (and if you doubt they'll go fast, just look back at the last five) you'll see the Sanford area connected by water with the Atlantic Ocean.

Sanford's lakefront then, in effect, will be a "seaport" connected with ocean-going vessels capable of connections with all parts of the world.

The cross-state barge canal is another link being built right now and one which will open up the entire Mississippi Valley to this community. Yes, even more.

And en route here, the barges can pick up limestone from the rich Ocala area mines. Limestone which is used in quantities by the ton on ton in Central Florida.

The big ditch, the long cherished dream of one John Krider of the Seminole Chamber of Commerce, is near. When the first shovel of dirt is dug, we venture a guess Krider will be the happiest man in the State of Florida; yes, the United States.

For you see, perseverance will have paid off.

Time To Get In Step

One of the things that contributed to the decline of the Roman Empire was the turning of the Senate into an oratorical society and rubber stamp for the whims of the emperor.

There are some who believe that a millennium and a half later, another Senate (and House of Representatives) is falling another nation, but in a different way. Rather than being a rubber stamp for administration policies, the U.S. Congress, they charge, is a roadblock on the path of progress.

In fact, in the opinion of one member of the "senior" body, Sen. Joseph S. Clark, Democrat of Pennsylvania, all of our legislatures, whether local or state or national, "are presently the greatest menace in our country to the successful operation of the democratic process."

In a new book, "Congress: The Sapless Branch," Clark contends that the wishes of the people as a whole concerning certain legislation are often blocked by the congressional "establishment" of obstructive committee chairmen representing local as opposed to national interests.

Depending upon which side you are regarding a particular bill, you may applaud or deplore this power possessed by a few men to control the brakes on the congressional machinery.

But one example of delay is the two years it took to pass the tax cut bill. In the end it was just that, a reduction in taxes and not basic tax reform which had been proposed in the beginning.

Clark believes that a few changes in the self-strangling rules of the two houses could do much to improve the situation.

The most desirable one, in his opinion, would be to require a vote on bills within six months after they were introduced.

Another reform would go far beyond that, however, and would involve the Constitution itself—changing senators' and representatives' terms to four years (now six and two), with the elections to be held in presidential election years.

Thought For Today

A man who bears false witness against his neighbor is like a war club, or a sword, or a sharp arrow.

—Proverbs 26:18.

If you don't say anything, you won't be called on to repeat it.—Calvin Coolidge.

New Military Power

By U. S. Sen. Howard W. Cannon (D-Nev.)

In his state of the Union Message, January 9, 1964, President Lyndon B. Johnson expressed America's defense policy with these words: "We must be strong enough to win any war, and we must be wise enough to prevent one."

The people of the United States want neither "peace at any price" nor "nuclear obliteration at the slightest provocation" as advocated by extremist minorities.

Our national policy, a commitment to peace with freedom, is embraced by the vast majority of our citizens and elected members of Congress.

Our military must be powerful without arousing fear of the misuse of force, yet unambiguously adequate to deter attack against the United States as well as discourage aggression in any area of U.S. interest.

Should deterrent fail, our strength is sufficient to impose appropriate retaliation against the aggressor.

One of the most important achievements of the Kennedy-Johnson Administration is that our military power has been tailored to fit a variety of needs. No longer do we need to threaten all-out nuclear war at the slightest international incident. Today, our military is a flexible instrument of U.S. policy and the useful servant of our civilian leaders.

This has been possible because both the late President Kennedy and now President Johnson have called for balance and flexibility in our military posture. For example:

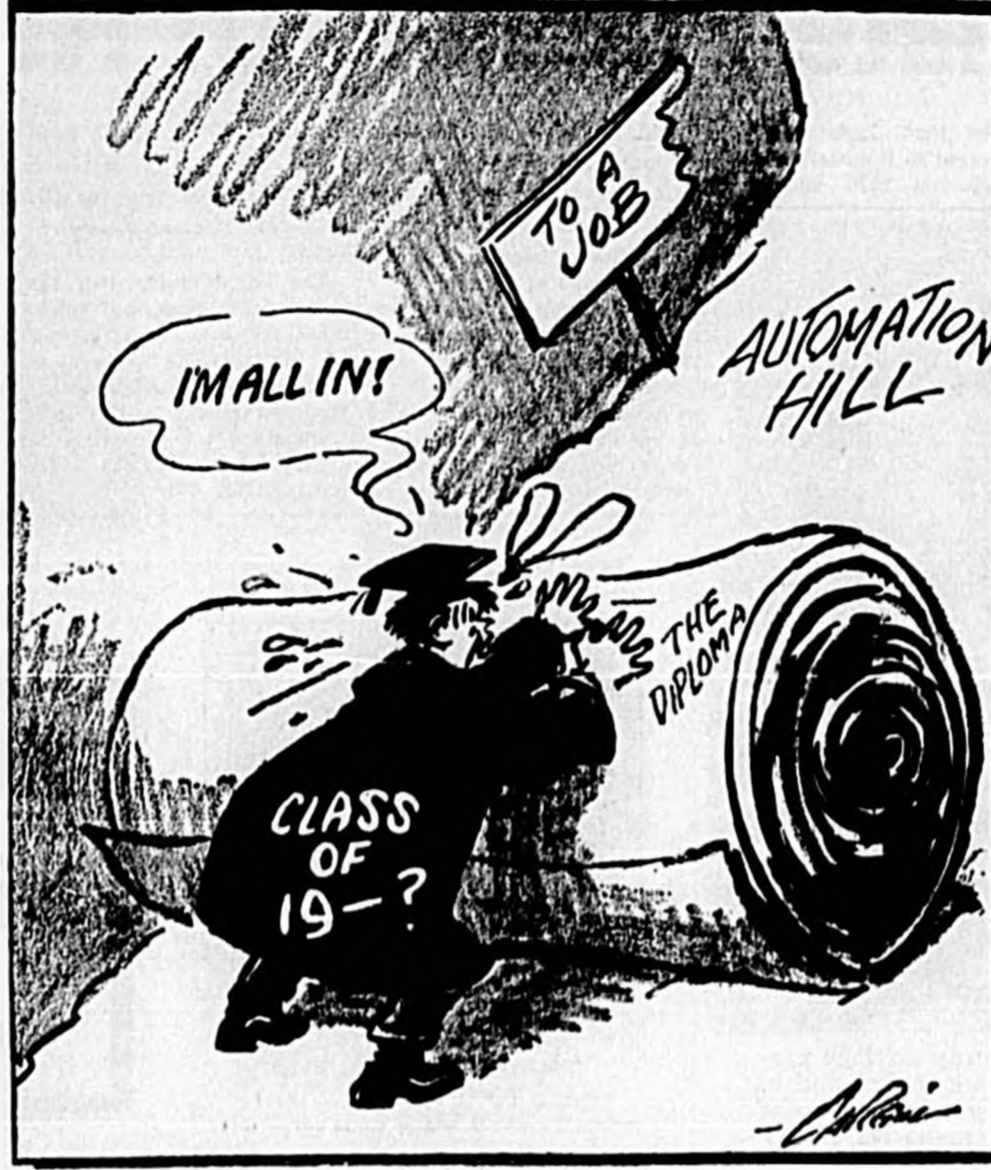

- The number of U.S. strategic bombers on 15-minute alert has been increased by 50 per cent.
- The Navy now has 192 Polaris missiles deployed in 18 submarines around the world.
- The Air Force has about 750 intercontinental ballistic missiles deployed on launchers.
- The combat ready Army Divisions have been increased from 11 to 16 divisions, and Marine Corps personnel strength has been increased by 15,000.
- Air Force tactical fighter wings have been increased from 16 to 21, and our capacity to airlift troops long distances has been increased by 75 percent.
- The number of Special Forces personnel trained to deal with guerrillas has been increased by nearly 600 per cent.

Perhaps most important, defense programs have been determined without arbitrary budget ceilings. Defense spending in the fiscal years 1962-1964 has been increased by an average of $6 billion annually with the authorization of Congress. False economy is not permitted to endanger national security.

At the same time, Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara initiated a five-year cost reduction program in 1962 that will save this nation $4 billion annually by 1967. These are savings in administration, planning, and purchasing policies and have not diminished the impressive military strength of this nation.

We live in a world where the need for military superiority is inescapable. But meeting that need is not always a matter of more money or bigger bombs. It takes skillful administration and, above all, the ability to see the demands of this nation in the years to come.

"JUST A ROLLING WRECK FROM GEORGIA TECH—!"

Dr. Crane's Worry Clinic

CASE 5-491: Gerald White, of Indianapolis, has the viewpoint of a true scientist.

"I have disagreed violently with Dr. Crane and some of his colleagues," he recently wrote to the Star.

"But Dr. Crane has enlarged my thinking ability and enriched my life."

His letter to the Star was prompted by some previous violent criticisms of ideas advanced in this column.

For I purposely prod readers into dissecting many parroted notions which many folks uncritically accept.

"Dr. Crane," my readers will smilingly admit when I meet them following public lectures in their cities, "I follow your column every day but I don't always agree with you!"

To which I invariably reply: "Splendid! That's why I write my column, for without differences of opinion, we'd never thresh out the true facts."

Then I cite the famous remark of William Wrigley Jr., who said: "When two men in a business always agree, one of them's unnecessary!"

Every successful teacher, advertiser, or speaker soon learns that there is tremendous "audience inertia."

If you thus wish to move the mass of mankind even to the halfway point, then you as the teacher, writer, actor or salesman, must overact. You must dramatize and occasionally inject emotional adjectives that prod the lethargic public into activity, even though you anger them!

It is a standard rule of the stage that an actor or actress must use excessive cosmetic aids in order to appear normally pink-checked even halfway back in the theater.

Similar overacting is necessary at the microphone or before the TV camera, too.

For an audience doesn't respond as fast or as far as the leader!

Many astute editors thus urge us columnists to spur readers into waking up and taking sides.

Then they print the resulting irate letters, which make superbly interesting reading.

Don Weaver, famous Bigelow-Howard editor at Columbus, Ohio, enjoys this by-play between the "pro" vs. the "con" letter writers.

Frank Gannett used to urge me to incite readers and so has John S. Knight.

Down in Bloomington and Bedford, Indiana, courageous Stuart Riley probably gets as much "mileage" out of the letters from readers as any publisher in America.

For he operates both newspapers and never lets irate threats intimidate him a total!

Obviously, I taunt many superior professors, so in the usual college towns, my critics are doubled.

For I take definite stands that are psychologically sound but not always financially prudent.

Thus, I indict the attempt to stampee our teen-agers via cigaret and liquor advertising.

And I laud "free enterprise" as well as sound budgeting, not only by housewives but by Uncle Sam, though professional welfareists then attack me violently!

Letters To The Editor

The Herald welcomes letters from its readers on public affairs. The writer may use a pen name provided the letter also carries the writer's true name and address. Letters of fewer than 200 words will be given preference. Letters addressed to others are acceptable provided they do not deal in personalities. Poetry is not published by The Herald.

Editor, Herald:

Again I must say "Hats Off" to all the staff and well run Seminole Hospital in Sanford. Also on the surgical floor the polite, helpful, cheerful manner prevails.

The cleaning crews are so thorough it's a God-send pleasure.

Every nurse and aide are so sincerely dutiful, you feel they know you personally and make you feel like you were among family and friends.

The clean, cheerful, warm and efficient manner of everyone and everything done shows that someone behind it is doing a thorough well-done job. This, of course, must be the hospital administrator.

I wish every hospital could take the example of the Seminole Memorial Hospital and people all over could at least be more relaxed when these conditions, whether they be sick physically or had an accident or under going surgery, etc.

I realize no one likes the idea of being hospitalized regardless of what reason but at least if you're made to feel at home and happy and comfortable and satisfied then your troubles are easily borne.

With free TV to occupy your mind and free newspapers twice daily and the free magazine service from the cheerful Pink Ladies and all the wonderful hospital doings, I'd say if I must go to the hospital the is the one I'd choose no matter how far I must travel. And please add I found wonderful doctors and surgeons in Sanford, a wonderful, wonderful city.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Government experts here have made a new evaluation of Soviet research in the science of controlling men and machines.

Their unpublished report, "The Meaning of Cybernetics in the U.S.S.R.," is now circulating for the private guidance of key U. S. policymakers. (Cybernetics is the study of human control systems vs. mechanized systems.)

It goes into Soviet plans for managing government, industry and agriculture through advanced electronic computers and electronic command and control networks.

The study is causing some worry here. Though it gives some reassurance as to Russia's current status in electronics, it warns the vast Soviet effort in cybernetics is creating a Soviet ability to make breakthroughs that could be of serious concern to the United States.

Says the report: "Over the next decade and a half the Russians are going to try to hook their industry into a nationwide computer network. It would be similar to the electronic command network the United States has set up for control of this worldwide military force."

"The (Russian) system calls for a large number of information-computation centers at the apex of which will be the main computing center of Gosplan U.S.S.R., which is planned to be in full operation in 1972."

"Implementation of the plan began in 1958 and the first phase was completed on schedule during 1963 with installation of prototype industrial, service and regional computer centers."

"Computing centers are being established to coordinate activities of factories, banks, transportation agencies and other enterprises."

"Architects and engineers now are drawing up technical plans for the center of the U.S.S.R.'s 'automated economic information system' to be located in Moscow on a site already selected."

"In Kiev the technical documents for a smaller, but nevertheless impressive, system are being prepared."

building to house the main computation center of the Ukrainian Gosplan have been turned over to the contractor.

"Technical plans for similar centers in other republics are being developed as part of the unified information net."

The report concludes that "long-range plans for transformation of the industrial base of the Soviet Union and for the unified information net are feasible."

"Increasingly more sophisticated automation technology will appear in the near future and more and larger industrial processes will come under computer control to ward the end of the decade."

"The traditional mathematical competence of the Soviets could aid them in advancing the state of the art in theoretical cybernetics very rapidly if and when their current deficiencies in computer hardware are overcome."

"The availability in the U.S.S.R. of engineers strong in mathematics and of mathematicians with engineering backgrounds is a positive contribution to Soviet capabilities in the basic engineering aspects of technical cybernetics. But shortcomings in Soviet capabilities for industrial fabrication of components and systems slow down technical realization of advanced engineering ideas."

"The (next) phase of the program, applied cybernetics, involves the introduction of control systems into society . . . They expect cybernetics to provide eventually full automation of the industrial base, a technology for the optimal control of the economy and a methodology for adapting men and social institutions to the revolutionary form of industry they anticipate for the 1970s."

Flood District To Seek Funds To Buy Land

WEST PALM BEACH (UPI)—The governing board of the Central and Southern Florida Flood Control District will go to the State Board of Conservation seeking help in getting funds for land acquisition in the upper St. Johns River Basin.

Board members voted last week to ask the conservation agency to borrow $10 million from the federal government to be used for land acquisition to hasten a start of construction on the long awaited water conservation and flood control project for the upper St. Johns.

The FCD board emphasized the importance of the upper St. Johns program to the booming Cape Kennedy area.

5 Counties Pay Half Of Taxes

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Five of the state's 67 counties contributed more than half of all state taxes collected during the 1962-63 fiscal year, the state comptroller's office says.

Comptroller Ray E. Green issued his annual report of county finances for the year, which included the state tax revenues collected in each county.

He listed major revenues for the period from such sources as sales and use taxes, gasoline taxes, motor vehicle licenses, racing taxes, cigarette taxes, documentary stamp taxes, hunting and fishing licenses, drivers licenses and fees, occupational licenses and intangible taxes.

The total revenue from these sources amounted to $497,094,858. The top five counties contributed $285,146,246 of that amount.

Dade led the list of contributors with $108,000,272. Broward was second with $42,736,286. Duval was third with $40,513,108. Hillsborough was fourth with $38,344,750. and Pinellas was fifth with $34,648,821.

Last Week Of Civil Rights Debate Begins

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate plunged today into the final week of its civil rights debate with passage of the bill assured and leaders waiting out rear guard skirmishing by southern opponents.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., top strategist for the southerners, said he thought final action would come this week, but he described forecasts of a final vote on Wednesday as "improbable."

Thirty-five roll call votes since Wednesday's decision to limit debate have shown that Senate leaders have the strength to defend their bipartisan substitute against major change. Substitution of the bipartisan package for the House-approved bill was to be a late order of business.

More oratory also was in prospect. The closure vote Wednesday limited each senator to one hour of talk on the bill and more than 550 amendments then pending.

Senators on both sides were hoarding part of their time allotment, however, for a final pre-passages oratorical flourish.

This was the 15th week of this historic civil rights debate, and there was general agreement that it would be the last one.

Thinking Out Loud

By Julian Stenstrom
Five minutes of your time and a five-cent postage stamp could mean some big prize dividends for the winning entrant of the University of Florida's homecoming slogan contest.

The contest, which opened last Monday and closes midnight, July 8, is open to everyone and all homecoming activities will be built around this particular slogan.

Entries must be original and no longer than seven words. The theme is "Operation Education." They should be mailed to Homecoming Slogan Contest, Florida Blue Key, University of Florida, Gainesville.

Regret to say that prizes for this year's contest have not been announced. However, some idea of how valuable they might be can be had from last year's top prizes—a Caribbean cruise for two and a stereo set.

Why not a winner from Seminole?

There was a lot of offensive language at Florida State's 11th annual coaching clinic this past weekend. The 800 plus high school and college coaches heard about the Navy, North Carolina, Baylor and Mississippi State gridiron tactics from Wayne Hardin, Jim Elcker, John Bridgers and Paul Davis who headlined the cast of lecturers.

The four represented the largest gathering of "bowlers" ever assembled in Tallahassee. Hardin's Navy team lost to Texas in the Cotton Bowl, Hickey's Tarheels whipped the Air Force in the Gator Bowl, Bridgers' Bears bounced LSU in the Bluebonnet Bowl and Davis' Bulldogs feasted on North Carolina State in the Liberty Bowl.

This will be a big afternoon for youngsters 8, 9 and 10 years of age in this area. The 1964 session of the Pee Wee League, sponsored by the City Recreation Department, opens play at Fort Mellon's Little League field and the Softball Field.

Each team will play a 10-game slate. The season ends July 22. Today the Tigers and the Rebels attack one another at the Little League layout while the Chiefs will attempt to hunt down the Cubs at the softball park. Tuesday afternoon the Yanks and the Panthers will attempt to register a victory.

Stetson University has announced that Georgetown College of Kentucky will highlight the field for the seventh annual Hatter Invitational Basketball Tournament scheduled for Dec. 16 and 17 of this year. Other participants will be Mercer University of Macon, Wilmington College of North Carolina, and Stetson.

The north squad for the Florida High School Activities Association's all-star basketball game has been announced. The squad will be coached by Marvin Beck of the state Class AA champions, Pensacola High and will represent eight high schools and some outstanding area talent.

Legion Nine Nips Casselberry; Splits With Ocala

Courier Tosses 2-Hitter; Pivec Registers Homer

Sanford's high-flying American Legion nine lost a bit of altitude this past weekend when they dropped the second half of a Saturday night twin-bill to Ocala after whipping the visitors in the opener and talking a 7 to 2 decision Friday night at Casselberry.

In the first game of the weekend Jim Courier tossed a two-hitter for the locals as he whiffed 14 in a contest played at Cooper Field in Casselberry's Recreation Park. Lawrence Pivec paced the Sanford nine with a home run in the first inning with a pair of mates aboard. Billy Higgins was the Sanford receiver.

Saturday night, Sanford took the curtain-raiser of the double header by downing Ocala 6 to 1. Dave Gollober went to the hill for Manager Frank Thomas' nine and scattered five hits while fanning six. Steve Harris was Gollober's battery-mate. Donnie Smith, one of Thomas' hurlers, played centerfield and came up with batting honors. His big blow was a bases-loaded single that pushed over two big Sanford runs.

The nightcap was a different story. Sanford jumped into a three-run lead in the very first frame. But Sanford starter, Rick Sires, came up with a lame arm and the locals' receiver, Rex Books, also developed arm difficulties. Thomas sent in Smith to pitch and Higgins to catch. It was an air-tight affair, knotted a three-all, going into the eighth.

Then the roof caved in. Ocala worked Smith for a base on balls, then came an error and a bunt loaded the sacks. Right after that the Ocala nine bunched five straight singles and that wrapped it up.

Thomas said this morning that he figured his boys were tired. He also mentioned that Courier was having some sort of back difficulty and that Courier would not see any action this week.

Thomas' nine will host Post 212 of Orlando Wednesday night at Memorial Stadium, Friday night they travel to Orlando to take on Post 19 and return home Saturday night to take on the visiting New Smyrna nine.

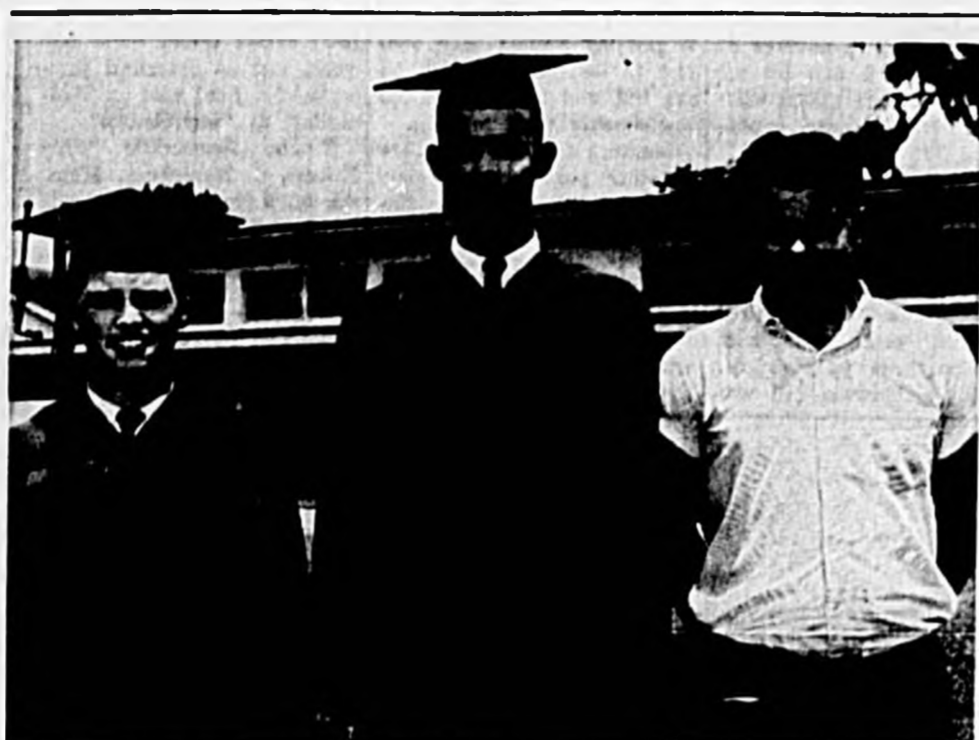

Following the weekend of play, Sanford now has a record of six wins and two losses.

Phillies Grow To Pennant Stature On Top Farm Crop

By Harry Grayson
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
PHILADELPHIA — (NEA)—Asked what had the most to do with the Phillies' rise from a habitual eighth in an eight-club National League to pennant contenders, Gene Mauch, the young manager, replied: "John Quinn's maneuvering." Quinn, who built the pennant-winning Milwaukee Braves of 1957-58, could well have another championship club in Philadelphia. It didn't take the soft-spoken general manager long to straighten out the mess in Quakertown.

Moving there with four Braves' scouts in the winter of 1959, Quinn rebuilt the David Harum-type trades and drafted and purchased wisely. "When I came here, I said that no major league club could be successful without a productive farm system," said Quinn, seated in his box back of third base in the Connie Mack Stadium mezzanine. "You have to find and raise your own. You can't buy good ballplayers."

"Scouts are the most important people connected with a big league club. For instance, John Ogden found Richie Allen in Wampum, Pa., and advised a substantial bonus. Richie does everything well, including hitting the ball over adjacent buildings. He'll be the National League Rookie-of-the-Year and our third baseman for a decade or longer. "The fact that 24 of the 40 players we are permitted to control came up through our six-club chain is evidence our scouts know a ballplayer from a paperhanger. Twelve are with the parent club."

Quinn's bartering matched his exemplary job of discovering and developing his own breed. He listed what he considers his seven most important swaps in the order in which they were made.

Dec. 8, 1959—Johnny Callison from the White Sox for Gene Freese. Callison is a complete ballplayer and distance hitter.

May 13, 1960—Tony Taylor from the Cubs in a transaction involving Don Cardwell and Ed Bouchee. Weight off, Taylor is one of the game's ranking second basemen.

June 15, 1960—Tony Gonzalez and Lee Walls from Cincinnati for Wally Post, Harry Anderson and a first baseman named Fred Hopke. Gonzalez filled the key post in center field.

May 4, 1961—Don Demeter, Baltimore 51 21 .618, Chicago 31 20 .608 1, New York 32 21 .604 1 1/2, Minn. 32 26 .552 3 1/2, Cleveland 27 27 .500 5 1/2, Boston 29 29 .500 5 1/2, Detroit 25 29 .463 6 1/2, Wash. 26 35 .428 11, Los Ang. 21 36 .400 12 1/2, Kan. City 20 36 .357 14 1/2

Chase Upsets Hunt's Comets And Engineers

This is the story of a "Little David" slaying two "giants." Over the weekend Chase took on the first and second place teams in the City Recreation Department's Little National League and clobbered both of them.

Friday Chase defeated Hunt's Lincoln Mercury Comets 6 to 3 and Saturday they beat the Locomotive Engineers 17 to 2.

In the first affair, Chase was down two runs after the first frame. But they got off the canvas and with a four-run outburst in the fifth frame they dumped the Automen. Richard Frank pitched a brilliant game for Chase, scattering six hits. Skipper Senkarik uncorked a 250-foot drive over the left field fence for his seventh homer of the season.

Saturday night the Engineers went into the fray with a big chance to pull within a half game of the leaders—Hunts. But they couldn't get past Chase. The Chase boys never gave the Engineers a chance. They put on a display of slugger not usually seen in this loop. Russell Gordie homered for Chase and Stan Winfree whiffed 10 men. It was Chase's second consecutive win over both of these clubs.

Chase has been the most improved club in the Little Major circuits. On May 13 they had won only four games and lost seven. However, since that time they have grabbed eight victories against only one setback.

Over in the Little American, Florida State Bank defeated its location competitor, Sanford Atlantic, 16 to 3. Joe Pauline struck out 11 in the five innings he worked. Andy Steele was the platter king, getting a single, a pair of doubles and a solo triple in five attempts. The victory put Florida State into a know with George's for second place.

The Shrine pulled closer to capturing the second half crown in the Junior Boys League and the right to meet the Elks in the league playoffs by defeating Lake Mary Friday afternoon 8 to 4. It was the eighth victory in a row for the league leaders and the sixth win without a setback for the loop's top hurler, Steve Leach.

Kingswood extended its winning streak to 10 straight by walloping USO 17 to 2 Friday night. Frank Stafford went three for three, including a homer, for the Builders, Ron Russel also had a four-bagger from the front runners. Bud Moberief registered his ninth victory against a lone loss. The overall record for Kingswood this season is now 18 wins and one defeat.

McRaney stayed one game off the pace in the second half race by handing Wilson Moler a 28 to 5 drubbing. The Painters had two hit 10-run innings—the first and the last. L. C. Smith connected for a pair of homers and Larry Watson and Faulkner both chipped in round-trippers. It was McRaney's fourth win in a row and they now have won eight of their last nine encounters.

One of the well known names in stock car racing in the Southeast is that of Sunny Hays, the new owner and general manager of Ron-Sun Motors in Sanford.

Hays, who took over the local Chrysler-Plymouth Valiant dealership June 1, has been in the automobile business for quite sometime, but in the sales and service end of the business since 1957.

The former South Carolina highway patrolman and member of the Charleston's police department, has been general manager for a Chrysler-Plymouth dealer in Lakeland for the past two years.

After his service as a law officer, Hays entered stock car racing and competed with the best of the nation's drivers in all of the major racing events in the Southeast such as the Daytona "500" plus other races at Charlotte, Martinsville, Atlanta and Darlington.

Charm And Exercise Class To Begin At Civic Center

A seven week series of combined classes in charm and exercise for teens and ladies will begin June 15, 1964. Lessons will be offered Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 9:30 A.M. to 11:00 A.M. in the Civic Center Building, with Mrs. Sue Torres and Mrs. Helen Kelly as instructors.

In past years these classes have been run by the Recreation Department, separately, but this summer they will be combined into one class. They will cover correct posture, body building exercises, reducing and special individual figure problems, makeup, hair styling, correct attire and many other phases of interest to women and teenage girls.

Any Junior or Senior High student having a recreation card, and any woman interested in this class may call the recreation office for further information. You may register Monday morning at 9:30 A.M. at the Civic Center.

In the last series of exercise class, two gracious ladies, one 74 and one 79 years young, drove in from Geneva to participate. Believe it or not the 79 year old lost a total of 20 pounds! To quote them "Not only do these exercises improve your appearance they also help your 'frame' of mind."

The instructors will be on hand each day to help every girl or lady attending to get the most out of the class. Mrs. Kelly, said "Not only do we intend to help each person with her individual problem, but we plan to have a great deal of fun while doing so. Remember this is a class for all ages from Junior High to Senior Citizen."

By Frances Wester
Col. and Mrs. Harry E. Sandusky of Lake Mary are busy entertaining a houseful of guests now, and will be for the rest of the month. They are very happy because their company is their own children and grandchildren.

Their son, John, and his wife, Eva, and their two children, Michael and Michelle, from Gulfport, Miss., are here for a visit.

The group has been on several pleasure trips to New Smyrna Beach. Over the weekend they went up the St. Johns River with Capt. Einar Turning, of Lake Mary, in his yacht. They also visited in Titusville with Bill Sandusky, another son of Mr. and Mrs. Sandusky.

Bill and John Sandusky and their families are planning to go on a camping trip in the National Forest this month while they can be together.
Another daughter, Mary Louise, who is Mrs. Charles Morin, and her husband and three children, Charles Jr., Candy and Mark, who live in Columbus, Ohio, are coming down on June 15 to spend several weeks with their parents, too. Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am 12 years old and I live in Lead, South Dakota. I think our State is very unfairly treated. It is never advertised like New York or California or Texas. I love my State and we have just as many exciting things as other States. And Lead is a nice city, too, but you never hear anything about it. Can you put this in your column and give us a boost?

LESLIE DORNBUCH,
Lead, S. D.

DEAR LESLIE: The pioneers fought the Indians, grasshoppers and dust to make South Dakota one of the richest farming States in the nation. And there's gold in their tin hills, too! Furthermore, your Rushmore Memorial Park is one of the best known State parks in the country. Your pheasant hunting is second to none. South Dakota is growing in resources and culture. So ask your governor if he has Lead in his plans.

DEAR ABBY: I once read somewhere that it is quite proper to say, "I don't give a damn," because a dam is a coin used in India. Is there any truth in this?

J. S.

DEAR J. S.: A "dam" was indeed a former copper coin used in India. But it has been so many years since anyone has had a dam to give that the expression today is more profane than proper.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is an adorable boy. Oh, he's not that cute, but heck, neither am I. He's 19 and I am 13. The only ones who know how I feel about him are my two best girl friends. They say I should give up and forget him because he is too old for me, but I have tried and I can't. I have felt this way about him since I was nine and a half. I can't see where six years is such a big difference. My mother is 33 and my father is 39. Do you think there is any hope?

GREENVILLE:
Not at 13! Stay out of sight. And when you are 19 and he is 23, try again.

CONFIDENTIAL TO S. M. F.: If he is truly your friend, tell him candidly that he needs a psychiatrist with five couches. One for each member of his family.

Jacoby On Bridge By Oswald Jacoby

One of the most difficult problems a bridge player faces is that of knowing when to break a rule.

The book lead from the West hand is the deuce of hearts, but West decided to lead the jack. He wanted to be able to continue hearts in the event that dummy showed up with the guarded king.

Against the deuce of hearts lead, South would have had no trouble making five odd. Against the jack of hearts lead and a heart continuation, he could have made four odd by double dummy play. He actually went down one.

Hearts were continued and he ruffed the second heart. Then he led two rounds of trumps only to get the bad news about the bad break.

Undaunted, he shifted to a diamond. West played the nine and East ducked. A second diamond went to East's ace and now East continued the brilliant defense by leading a third heart.

South ruffed and led a third diamond. West ruffed that and led a fourth round of hearts. This gave South a Hobson's choice. He could ruff in dummy and have no way to get back to his hand to pull West's last trump, or he could ruff in his own hand and establish West's ten spot.

How could South have made the hand double dummy? He could have led only one round of trumps before going after diamonds.

As Dylan Or Dillon, The Secret's In The Walk

NEW YORK (NEA)—Alec Guinness, aside from the fact that he is one of the great actors of the day, is a most unusual man.

One of his hallmarks is his politeness. He was due at Sardi's for a pre-matinee meeting and he telephoned in advance to say he might be 10 minutes late. He was three minutes late.

He doesn't choose to be interviewed, and will turn them down if asked by the press agent for "Dylan," the Broadway show which won him a Tony award as the season's best dramatic actor. But sometimes people who aren't clued in on the rules ask him directly. Then he generally grants a brief interview. So he winds up talking to reporters for lots of high school papers and students doing theses on Dylan Thomas, whom he portrays in the show.

After he agreed to appear on The Ed Sullivan show, doing a scene from "Dylan," he explained why he was making his second television appearance ("not counting a one-minute advertising spot I did in England when BBC would commercial").

"It seemed rather foolish to refuse an appearance which offered such a large viewing audience. Although I don't like giving up my Sunday."

Mr. Alec, whose only other television appearance was in 1959 in The Wicked Scheme of Jebel Deeka, is a shy, quiet man who gives off an aura of loneliness. He talks about himself reluctantly and unpretentiously. All actors, he believes are—at least in their own minds—rogues and vagabonds.

Say to him that actors have to put up with a lot of indignities and he will answer, with a wistful smile, "It's an undignified profession. Basically, if you look back 300 or 400 years, all actors were rogues and vagabonds. It's a pity we're not still—although deep inside we are. I'm all for being denigrated and made a third-class citizen. If we had no social rights, then we wouldn't have to pay an income tax."

What has acting brought him? Mr. Alec answered, "What I have wanted to do from a very early age. I wouldn't say it has brought satisfaction because that sounds like self-satisfaction and at times acting can be miserable. It is what I have wanted consciously since I was 15, but looking back to when I was 7 and unaware acting was a means of earning a living, I know I wanted it subconsciously even then."

Someone said to him that most of his movie roles have cast him as a quiet rebel against the world. He smiled. "I am the quiet rebel against the world."

As Dylan Thomas, the rollicking, rebellious Welsh poet, Guinness uses a red wig, upturned nose and talent to create an unforgettable character. But it is not an imitation.

"I wanted to come to Broadway and do a show again. 'The Cocktail Party' was 14 years ago. Peter Glenville, who produced and directed 'Dylan' persuaded me to do the role. I thought it was mad casting and I still do, being so unlike Dylan Thomas."

"At the beginning I made an effort at impersonation, but not fully. But it got in the way of the flow of the play. I still do certain things that suggest him, but I'm not really aware of them any more. The whole practice of cutting a performance to the 9:30-10 P.M. CBS. The Andy Griffith Show. (rerun) Sheriff Andy and Deputy Barney (Andy Griffith and Don Knotts) set out to prove a fast-talking medicine man is a fake. Aunt Bee (Frances Bavier), however, is convinced his ailment is a cure-all and rallies her friends. Amusing as the glib "colonel" is John Dehner.

9:30-10 P.M. Hollywood and the Stars. "On location: The Night of the Iguana." (rerun) Exactly what you think it is, an unabashed plug for a soon-to-be-released feature film. We The Women: By Ruth Millett

Don't worry—it's just life. If you have a teenage daughter, your friends are going to have a hard time reaching you on the phone.

If you attract birds with a bird bath and well-stocked feeder you are also going to attract all the cats in the neighborhood.

If you are lucky enough to have a houseful of labor-saving gadgets you are going to be unlucky enough to have at least one out of order most of the time.

If you neglect the house for a few days you are sure to have unexpected company.

If you come home from a trip pleased as punch over the dress you found in a discount city, you're sure to discover that a friend bought one just like it right in town.

If you invite more guests to a barbecue than you can get under cover, you can expect rain.

If you have to telephone 12 women, 10 of them won't be at home on the first call.

If you are taking a shower or washing your hair, the phone or doorbell is sure to ring.

If you do a small job well for a woman's organization, you're sure to be asked to do more and bigger jobs.

If your husband and children like roughing it on a vacation, you'll be the one who has it rough. You will be the happiest to return to all those modern conveniences you left behind you.

And no matter where you go on a fishing trip or what date you choose, the fish were biting fine—last week.

Horoscope Forecast

TUESDAY, JUNE 15, 1964
GENERAL TENDENCIES:
 Take no chances where officials or executives are concerned and make a point now to show you are able to avoid the illogical and to do the little affairs of everyday existence that require a plodding and very down-to-earth attitude. You win by a very consistent attitude towards whatever interests you.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19): Surroundings can be improved best by own personal effort, if you stop dashing about in various directions. Later, confer with hard-headed business person. Then you make big gains.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20): Fine day to go after most cherished personal aims, but be at your magnetic best. Forget business for awhile and grow through social contact. Fascinating things are going on.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): You are not thinking very clearly now, so be sure to follow the advice of good advisors. Later, be sure to assist those in trouble. Give helping hand to some enterprising friend, too.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 31): Teaming up with a pal who has your interests at heart will help you to reach goals more quickly. Stop worrying. Get out in society tonight and make headway while having fun.

LEO (July 22 to August 21): Being busy in career or civic circles brings excellent results and enhances your reputation now. Get credit affairs handled with perfect independence. Make a good impression.

VIRGO (August 22 to September 22): Get away from dull routines and delve into the new outlets that are so fascinating, lucrative. Study information well. Then you know how successful you can be in the near future.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22): Those confusing matters with allies can be clarified very quickly. See that your bills are paid, too. Prepare for the busy, profitable days ahead. Be kind to mate in p. m.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21): It will be quite easy for you to get associates to go along with your principles, so be sure to cooperate with them today. Don't be a lone wolf. Safeguard valuable partnerships.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21): With all that work facing you, avoid arguments with anyone. Safeguard your nerves, health. You can be very efficient if you will just get right down to business.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20): Going off for recreation you like is fine, provided you first get important work done. Be truly interested in creative interests. Don't be dull. Be happy, enthused.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19): While recreation beckons, take the time first to do whatever is necessary to insure security and happiness of closest ties. This is a ticklish time. Be sensible.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20): Your partners are very helpful where getting results from business appointments are concerned. Don't sit back. Finest benefits come from getting into the swing of things with vim.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY, he or she will soon have to learn not to go from one thing to another, like a leaf in the wind, but to concentrate upon one goal at a time to its ultimate conclusion or to a steady source of income. While aesthetic, philosophical studies are indulged in, the greatest success comes from the material, property holdings in particular.

Eight GOP Senators Sign For 'Open' Convention

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Eight top senators have pledged to work for an open Republican convention and attacked "extreme proposals" as outside the party's philosophy.

The eight senators, in a statement issued Sunday, set forth "essential Republican philosophy" that they said was inspired by Abraham Lincoln, strengthened by Theodore Roosevelt and developed by Dwight D. Eisenhower.

They attacked extremism as "not within the scope of these principles," adding that such proposals could not meet the issues of the times, were not capable of surviving "the sweep of history" and were "not in the interest of our nation or our party."

The declaration mentioned no candidates by name, but three of its signers — Sens. Hugh Scott, Pa., Thomas H. Kuchel, Calif., and Jacob K. Javits, N.Y.—have actively sought to keep the nomination from Sen. Barry Goldwater.

Other senators supporting the statement were Kenneth B. Keating, N.Y., J. Glenn Beall, Md., Leverett Saltonstall, Mass., John Sherman Cooper, Ky., and Clifford P. Case, N.J.

The senators called for a "pre-eminently strong United States." But, they said, this country also must take the lead in "the cause of peace with freedom and justice for all peoples."

Among institutions the lawmakers supported were the United Nations, Social Security, collective bargaining "without compulsory open shop laws," and regional security pacts.

The statement stressed the responsibility of the federal government to assure "by effective laws equal opportunity and justice to all citizens to the full extent provided by the Constitution."

Nikita On Visit To Scandinavia

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev traveled by train today to the Baltic Seaport of Kaliningrad, the jumping off point for a two-week tour of Scandinavia—his fourth trip abroad this year.

Khrushchev, his wife and the couple's three daughters left Moscow Sunday night and were scheduled to arrive in Kaliningrad this afternoon to board a ship bound for Copenhagen, Denmark.

Traveling with him was Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and other Soviet officials.

The Soviet party will spend four days in Denmark, arriving there Tuesday, before cruising on to Sweden and Norway.

Denmark will be the 21st nation that Khrushchev has visited since he became the leader of Soviet Russia 10 years ago.

Since Jan. 1, he has traveled to Hungary, Poland and the United Arab Republic.

The trip to the Scandinavian nations was viewed here as largely a goodwill gesture.

$3.5 Billion For Foreign Travel

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U. S. residents are expected to spend upwards of $3.5 billion this year on trips abroad, according to the Commerce Department.

The department reported Sunday night that Americans spent $3.2 billion on foreign travel last year. Of this, about $2.7 billion went to foreign countries and about $500 million to U. S. airlines and shipping lines.

Observers say that no bird or animal is willing to eat a zebra butterfly because of its unpleasant odor.

Surgeons decided against an operation to correct the youngster's crippled heart. The 10-month-old baby has had heart trouble. It's not only located on the wrong side, it has several defective parts, so doctors tell his parents. He was taken to Gainesville last week but the medical experts at the University of Florida's medical center said surgery was not the answer. The solution lies in the hands of "A Bigger Surgeon."

If you think there weren't some anxious Jaycees Saturday night you simply weren't among the nearly 200 persons on hand at the Civic Center for the Junior trade body's annual installation banquet. At the appointed hour of 8 p. m. there were no banquet tables, no dishes, no silverware, no food, not even a caterer. Huddled phone calls established the fact that everyone was ready — but at the Police Benevolent Building on the lakefront.

One thing is certain. The Jaycees are going to miss Harold Chapman. Harold won three awards for his efficient participation in so many Jaycee activities. But he's graduated now into an associate membership — he's an excited rooster as the Jaycees put it.

By the way, the Jaycees sent up an SOS last weekend when they ran out of vaccine for the Sabin Oral Sunday. But the SOS did no good. There was no vaccine to be had. They're trying to get an additional 1,000 doses to serve persons who were turned away at last Sunday's series. The Herald will keep you posted.

In these days and times, says a Sanford old timer, you can lose your health getting wealthy and lose your wealth getting healthy.

Every month Florida gets enough new citizens to populate a city of 17,650 persons. And it's been going on since 1960. At that time the population was 4,951,500. As of July 1, 1963, the Florida State Board of health estimated the state's population as 5,639,000. By the way, from 1962 to 1963 infant births and deaths continued to decrease while deaths, marriages and divorces increased over the previous year.

Richard Bennett of Sanford was among those named to the Dean's list at Clarke College in Newton, Mass., for the spring semester.

New Seminole Bank Granted State Charter

Articles of incorporation for the new United States Bank of Seminole have been received by the institution's proposed chairman of the board of directors, T. E. Tucker.

All shares of stock in the new bank have been sold, having been over-subscribed more than doubly. The 20,000 shares of stock, which were listed by the office of Secretary of State Tom Adams at $10 per share were allocated in order to accommodate all subscribers.

However, Tucker said that names of interested persons are still being added to the waiting list. The new bank will be located within the area of the shopping center presently under construction just outside the city limits on Highway 17-92, on property owned by the bank. The site of the bank is shown as Highway 17-92 and State St. and the new structure will face west on a 75 by 300 foot lot.

Tentative plans call for construction to begin within 60 days and architectural plans are now being drawn by John Hurton IV.

"Although the United States Bank of Seminole will be affiliated with the other members of the McNully group of banks, the new bank will be operated on a competitive basis with other banks in the area," Tucker said.

Members of the board of directors of the approximately 300 stockholders of the bank include Loring Burgess, J. D. Wright Jr., Mack Cleveland Jr., Harold Kastner, Charles Robinson, Thomas McDonald and Robert Jackson.

Burgess was listed as president with John Mercer of Haines City as vice president and Mary Douglas as assistant vice president and cashier.

Burgess is presently executive vice president of Florida State Bank of Sanford and Mrs. Douglas is assistant vice president.

Oviedo Sets Dog Inoculations

Oviedo City Clerk Mrs. John Courter announced today that Dr. George Long, veterinarian, will conduct a clinic for the inoculation of dogs on Thursday, June 18, back of City Hall starting at 1 p. m. City ordinances require all dogs whose owners reside within the municipal limits of Oviedo to be inoculated.

Honshu Island Shattered By Massive Quake

NIIGATA, Japan (UPI)—A massive earthquake struck a 300-mile stretch of the west coast of the main island of Honshu today, shattering buildings, smashing bridges and setting off raging fires that burned into the night.

It was the worst tremor to hit this earthquake-prone country since 1923, when 143,000 persons were killed in the Tokyo-Yokohama area.

The official Japan Broadcasting Corporation, (NHK) reported 22 persons dead, one missing and 194 injured.

More than 3,000 buildings and houses were destroyed or damaged by the quake, which hit at 1:02 p. m. (12:02 a. m. EST).

Seven petroleum tanks still were blazing furiously in Niigata at 11 p. m. and city officials asked for outside help to fight the flames. The officials were reported to have asked the Japanese Air Self-Defense Force to drop chemical fire-fighting bombs over the tanks.

A massive relief and rescue operation was being mounted from many points in Japan to help the affected area, with U. S. Air Force planes, men and equipment on standby alert to help out when needed.

Winter Park Drive Paving Under Way

Paving of Winter Park Drive, a two-mile stretch of road from Red Bug Lake Road north to Seminola Boulevard was started Monday by County Road Department crews. The announcement was made today by County Engineer Bill Bush.

Bush said that county equipment and personnel began preliminary grading on the "south" mile. "We're going to make every effort," Bush stated, "to complete this section of the road which will run from Red Bug Lake Road north to the entrances of South Seminole Junior High and South Seminole Elementary schools by the time the two schools open in late August."

After completion of this mile, Bush declared that work would begin immediately on the "north" mile.

Although this stretch of Winter Park Drive is within the limits of Casselberry, the project is being financed jointly by Casselberry and the county. Traffic checks indicated that of 2,100 persons using Winter Park Drive daily approximately 1,700 of them were not residents of Casselberry.

Cost of the project has been estimated at $17,000. Casselberry is contributing some $20,000.

Bush also revealed today that the State Road Department has completed a median crossover on 436 where the English Estates School road enters the highway.

Bear Lake Road is nearing completion, Bush also said today. "Our crews are dressing out the shoulders, cleaning up and we're planning traffic signs and paint striping in the very near future."

Bush added, "We've started work on the extension of 25th Street from the present dead end at the old Lake Mary Road westward to the entrance of Loch Arbor."

Owners of dogs who live in the city have another chance Thursday to get their pets inoculated against rabies and buy their city licenses.

City Manager W. E. Knowles warned today that city dog catcher, Jerry Thomason will go on full time Friday, with instructions to pick up all dogs which do not have their tags.

Dog Inoculation Offered Again

Owners of dogs who live in the city have another chance Thursday to get their pets inoculated against rabies and buy their city licenses.

City Manager W. E. Knowles warned today that city dog catcher, Jerry Thomason will go on full time Friday, with instructions to pick up all dogs which do not have their tags.

Dr. Raymond Bass, veterinarian, and his assistant will be on hand Thursday behind City Hall from 1:30 to 4 p. m. to give the inoculations and provide the license tags. Cost of the inoculations is $3 with the tag costing $1.

All dogs within the city limits must be tagged and inoculated. Dogs found after Thursday untagged will be picked up and impounded. They will be kept 10 days in the pound and then destroyed if not claimed.

"Inoculation against rabies is protection for the dog for the pet owner, his neighbors, friends and children," Knowles advised. "Many wild animals are carriers and transmitters of rabies and anyone who is bitten by a dog or any other animal should see a doctor at once and the animal should be penned up for observation."

"If the animal should prove to be rabid, a series of painful and expensive anti-rabies shots will be necessary, for rabies can be fatal," Knowles said.

British Get Own Medicine

LONDON (UPI)—The sale of British buses to Cuba came back to haunt the London press today as a result of reports an American-owned firm in Britain has contracted to sell Indonesia 1,000 trucks and bus chassis.

It was announced Monday that Vauxhall Motors, an American-owned firm, will sell $30.12 million worth of truck and bus parts to Indonesia, whose President Sukarno has vowed to "crush Malaysia," a new member of the British Commonwealth. Britain did not stop the sale or buses to Cuba despite American objections to the deal.

Health Board Grants Sarepta Temporary OK

Mrs. Tamsar Braden, assistant administrator of the Sarepta Rest Home said today that the Florida State Board of Health has issued a temporary license to operate the controversial home for the aged.

Last December the Board denied the license to operate and ordered the home closed, despite many improvements paid for by donations of public-spirited citizens and organizations in an attempt to keep the home open.

Gen. J. C. Hutchison, then chairman of the board of county commissioners, told The Herald by telephone today that following the State Board of Health's order to close, county commissioners wrote and telephoned State Health Officer Wilson Sowler urging him to reconsider the decision, in the light of the county's problem of what to do with the patients of the home.

The question of providing beds and care for the county's aged and indigent has plagued county commissioners for nearly two years as stringent new state regulations governing such institutions began forcing both county-owned and privately-owned rest homes and nursing homes to come up to specifications or close their doors.

The state board had based its refusal of a license on the fact that it had "no authority" to waive rigid specifications nor could it "overlook" some of the requirements.

Presumably, after a prolonged study of the local situation, the board changed its previous stand to allow the home to function with a proper license.

However, this license is valid only until December 31, 1964, when inspection will again be made by State Board of Health officials.

"This problem is still far from solved," Mrs. Braden said today.

"We are still not allowed to keep patients who need nursing care and do not have funds to incorporate all the remodeling and reconstruction set forth in state regulations to meet the requirements. Seminole County still needs a new, modern, qualified nursing home that can care for those who need nursing as well as caring for the aged," she said.

The Sarepta Rest Home is operated on a non-profit basis and was originally founded as a religious home for the homeless by the Rev. K. V. Mykkanen, Mrs. Braden's father. It is situated on a large tract of land on Silver Lake, southeast of Sanford.

Although the license to operate was dated May 12, Mrs. Braden has just returned from a month long tour of Finland, where she visited similar institutions the length and breadth of that country.

Leaders Say Florida's Apportionment Doomed

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—Top state officials say the U. S. Supreme Court will toss out Florida's legislative apportionment soon, but agree that a hurried special session of the legislature is not the answer to the problem. The high court decision may come this week in the wake of a historic order Monday which said that both houses of state legislatures should be apportioned equally according to population. The decision was historic and it directly effected six states—one of them Alabama. Like Alabama, Florida's senate is apportioned mainly by geographical area.

Gov. Farris Bryant and other state officials agreed that Florida's 43-senator, 112-representative apportionment—now being challenged before the high court—will be overturned soon since the apportionment is not in line with yesterday's decision.

Under the state's present apportionment, about 15.3 per cent of the population elect a majority of the Senate and 23.6 per cent of the population elect a majority of the house.

"I would hesitate to call a special session now," said Bryant. He added the only thing that would cause him to call the legislators back this summer would be if a decision in the Florida case indicated that the legislature would be illegally constituted.

But there is a loophole at present favoring Bryant. The high court ruling indicated that lower courts may have some say as to whether such decisions will effect this year's November elections or give the states more time to work out the matter.

House Speaker Mallory Horne, a Tallahassee lawyer and a lame duck, said the high court will "unquestionably" reject Florida's senate formula and Senate President Wilson Carraway of Tallahassee agreed.

But Carraway, a leader in the small-county bloc, voiced his opposition to the decision. "I deplore the ruling, he said. "If both houses are to be apportioned on population, the small and medium sized counties will have very little voice in the state legislature." (See companion story Page 3)

ATLANTA (UPI)—Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon said Monday the next two weeks "will tell the story" of Pennsylvania Gov. William Scranton's bid for the GOP presidential nomination.

Nixon called New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's withdrawal from the race in favor of Scranton "a real boost for Scranton."

He said Sen. Barry Goldwater was "well ahead" and a strong favorite for the nomination, but that Scranton's entry has slowed down the rush of uncommitted delegates to Goldwater.
