State Senate Okays Bill On Co-Education

House Refuses To Approve Amendments Made By Senate On School Measure

TALLAHASSEE, May 7.—The House today passed the bill granting additional authority and police immunity to State Highway Patrolmen. The measure now goes back to the Senate for concurrence in several changes.

TALLAHASSEE, May 7.—The Florida Senate today passed the bill establishing co-education at the University of Florida and the Florida State College for Women. The measure passed by the House late yesterday afternoon. It now goes to Governor Caldwell for his signature.

The Senate vote on the co-education measure was unanimous. The Senate-approved school reorganization and financing bill ran into trouble in the Florida House. The House declined to concur in several Senate amendments to the bill, which had been approved earlier in the House, and sent the measure back to the upper chamber.

Representatives refused to approve two of the Senate amendments because of typographical and clerical errors. A Senate amendment to figure the amount of State assistance to be received by county schools on the basis of all life teaching certificates was turned down.

The chairman of the House Education Committee, Rep. Mc-

He succeeds Bob Bishop of Orlando as State President of the Jaycees.

Ratigan Explains Jaycee Request For County Funds

Achievements Of Past Year Are Outlined By Jaycee Leader

Declaring that the assistance sought from the County Commission by the Jaycees is in addition to funds now made available to the senior Chamber of Commerce, Jack Ratigan, president of the Jaycees, said today that their work is not a duplication of the other organization's work, but is in addition to it.

"Our work is an amplification of their work," the Jaycee president declared, "and is a field for co-operative effort and a training ground against that time when Jaycees will graduate to the senior chamber."

The request for funds, he added, (Continued on Page Two)

NFTW Agrees To Bargain On Local Basis

District Of Columbia Workers Settle For Increase, But Operators Unaffected

WASHINGTON, May 7.—The National Federation of Telephone Workers today tossed in the towel so far as bargaining on a nationwide scale is concerned. The unions have decided to switch to local bargaining with the Bell System and both the union and the company are halting the step as bringing the end of the 31-day-old strike closer.

The Bell System and its parent, A T and T, have refused all along to yield to union demands for nationwide bargaining. They contended that negotiations should be on a local basis because of different factors involved in different areas.

Shortly after the union made its dramatic decision, the Federation of Telephone Workers in the District of Columbia, an affiliate of the NFTW, settled its strike with the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company. This union includes about 4,000 commercial and plant employees but no operators. The contract agreed upon provides weekly wage boosts of $2 to $4. But union leaders say Federation members will not cross the picket lines of the traffic union which has not yet ended its walkout.

The American Union of Telephone Workers, which is seeking a contract from the company's long lines division, is still (Continued on Page Two)

Legislator In Oklahoma Is Shot In Back

Senate Not Holding Session At Time; Representative Is Accused Of Deed

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 7.—State Senator Tom Anglin of Holdenville was shot on the floor of the Oklahoma Senate today. The 63-year-old veteran legislator stayed on his feet after the shooting and said:

"I'm shot in the back." The extent of his injuries was not determined immediately. A physician rushed to his aid immediately and an ambulance was called.

The Senate was not in session at the time of the shooting, but a number of senators, employees and visitors were on the floor.

After the shooting, Senator Tom Finney said that Rep. Jimmie Scott of Holdenville was the assailant. Scott said that he would not discuss the matter until he had seen a lawyer.

New Section Of Navy To Develop Atomic Powered Warships

WASHINGTON, May 7.—The Navy announced today that it is setting up a special section to try to develop atomic-powered warships. The section will be part of the Navy's bureau of ships and is part of a developing program which is expected to alter the whole concept of naval warfare.

Two more new departments are being added. This is a radiological department which will be assigned the task of developing means of protecting crews from atomic explosions and their ships from contamination. The second will be the department of atomic warfare, which will investigate the protection of ships from atomic weapons and conduct studies of the Bikini tests held last year.

The announcement of the new department follows disclosure by Assistant Navy Secretary W. John Kenney that naval fleets of the future may go into action so fast that they will be in a position that not a man will be in sight. At the same time, there are suggestions that the Navy of the future will take the form of a force for attacking cities and land bases rather than opposing fleets.

Gerald Smith Will Replay To Wallace

NEW YORK, May 7.—The leader of the Christian Nationalist Movement, Gerald L. K. Smith, announced today that he intended to follow Henry Wallace around the country to answer the charges vice-president in the cities where he speaks. Wallace has started a nationwide speaking tour to advocate his foreign policy principles which are sharply opposed to those of the administration.

Smith said Wallace is what he calls "a fine example" of what the Christian movement opposes and he declared Wallace an "evil" influence in the United States.

Draft Dodger Begins Two Year Sentence

LEWISBURG, Pa., May 7.—A 35-year-old millionaire international financier, Serge Rubinstein, is in the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg today, starting a two and one-half-year term for draft dodging. Rubinstein was convicted in New York City last month after a 36-day trial on five counts involving draft evasion.

United States District Judge J. F. T. O'Connor sentenced Rubinstein to two and one-half years on each count, the terms to be served concurrently. Rubinstein also was fined $50,000. It is estimated he will be eligible for release from the penitentiary in ten months.

Negro Given Sentence For Soliciting Labor

MIAMI, May 7.—After pleading guilty to a charge of soliciting labor in the Everglades without a permit, Tom Fagan, negro labor recruiter, was given a four-month jail sentence or a $2,000 fine. County Agent M. U. Mounts told the court that he permits to transport workers in the area had been issued since the harvest season in the glades is still in progress. Fagan had eight negroes in his truck at the time of his arrest, according to Deputy Sheriff Fran O'Connell's testimony.

They stated that delegates from all over the United States and Canada attended, and thanked the club for the fine time they had spent.

Armored Car Fired On In Jerusalem

JERUSALEM, May 7.—An armored car was fired on in the outskirts of the city of Natanya during the night in the latest incident of violence in Palestine. The car was fired on by a mob of about 200 men, and the car was set on fire from the rear.

Authorities denied that homes in Natanya had been searched. The official statement said the car was shot at by a mob of about 200 men, and the car was set on fire from the rear.

Official sources said that 195 of the 216 convicts who escaped from Acre Prison are still at large. The fugitives include 100 Arabs and 20 Jews. Four Jewish prisoners and one Arab were killed during the mass prison break and 10 Arabs have been recaptured.

26 Injured In Two Miami Bus Accidents

MIAMI, May 7.—A bus driver remains in a critical condition today and 25 other persons are recovering from injuries received in two Miami Transit Company bus accidents. The accidents occurred within half an hour of each other.

T. E. Wetherington, driver of a bus which police reported careened into a Dade county waste service truck, is in the hospital where his condition is listed as "critical." Seventeen passengers of the bus were treated at the hospital and released.

In the second accident, a bus driven by Richard E. Wood, Jr., plowed into an upfilled draw at a bridge over the Miami River, injuring Wood and seven passengers. Police reported that the state bridge-tender threw the control switch to raise the draw without sounding the warning buzzer or lowering the traffic gates.

Herndon Opposes Bill To Abolish Seminole Court

U. R. Pope, chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, announced this afternoon that he had received a wire from Senator Lloyd F. Hootle in Tallahassee assuring him that the County Court will not be abolished.

A warning against abolition of the County Court of Seminole County as proposed by House Bill 482 recently introduced in the House of Representatives, was today sounded by O. P. Herndon, Clerk of the Court, who pointed out certain adverse consequences that might attend such action.

This statement made today by Mr. Herndon followed recent resolutions of the Seminole Bar Association and Board of County Commissioners opposing the proposed change or any similar bill that would abolish the Seminole County Court as created in 1923, and have the court revert to a County Judges' Court such as existed prior to 1923.

"The County Court at present," said Mr. Herndon, "has jurisdiction of all misdemeanors and suits where the amount involved does not exceed $500. It abolished the County Judge will be clothed with exclusive jurisdiction over the trials of cases such as illegal operation of slot machines and similar offenses.

"With the elections coming up in about a year, the County Judge would be elected at that time," he declared, "There is grave danger (Continued on Page Two)

Military Training Bill Is Approved By Legion Post

Approval of the American Legion's bill on universal military training now before Congress, formation of committees to promote a Legion Junior Baseball League and appointment of an Honor Guard of Legions to function on special occasions was the main business at the supper meeting Monday evening of Campbell-Lossing Post 53 at the Legion Hut. Attendance was more than 100, according to Ed Field, post adjutant.

Adjutant Field was instructed to telegraph Senators Pepper and Huddell and Congressman Hendricks and request vigorous action on H.R. 61 and H.R. 1288 relating to the military training bill.

Post members discussed the bill for more than an hour, and it was pointed out that under no circumstances (Continued on Page Two)

Italy Is Faced With 'Pre-Crisis' Problem

ROME, May 7.—A new word to describe the political situation in Italy, pre-crisis, was invented by Italian political circles to explain the problems confronting Premier Alcide De Gasperi, who is attempting to deal with the explosive economic situation. This problem is so grave that it has led De Gasperi's Christian Democratic Party to authorize the premier to seek the aid and support of all vital forces in the country. This means that the Christian Democrats have decided they do not dare cut loose from Communist support.

Actually, it is believed that De Gasperi is undecided as to what action to take, whether to make changes in his cabinet or not. He is expected to wait until the constituent assembly has debated his program for balancing the budget, checking inflation and setting the country back on its feet.

Spanish War Vets Make Request To VA

TAMPA, May 7.—The Florida Department of United Spanish War Veterans voted yesterday to ask the Veterans Administration to waive the requirement that disabilities of Spanish war veterans be service-connected before they can be admitted to veterans hospitals.

At the closing session of their annual convention in Tampa yesterday, the Spanish war veterans elected Herbert W. Hardman of Leesburg as commander to succeed Jerry T. Moriarty of St. Cloud.

Aleman To Get Honorary Degree On Last U.S. Stop

KANSAS CITY, May 7.—Our distinguished visitor from South of the border, Mexican President Miguel Aleman will receive an honorary degree today from the University of Kansas City.

That will be the highest of Aleman's last stop in the United States on his air trip home from his official visit.

In honor of the occasion, Kansas City was all decked out in flags for his arrival by plane from Chattanooga, Tenn.

President Aleman will be accorded full military honors at Fairfar Army Air Field before boarding his plane for Mexico.

During the day's ceremonies, President Aleman will be greeted by two governors, Governor Phil Donnelly of Missouri and Governor Frank Carlson of Kansas. Before he leaves for home, the Mexican president has arranged a nice gesture, he is sending 100 red carnations to Mrs. Martha Truman, the 34-year-old mother of his Washington host.

The hero's welcome arranged for President Aleman today indicates his goodwill tour of the United States has raised him high in diplomatic status in Mexico.

The arrangements for a big American loan, the Truman-Aleman agreement on peso dollar stabilization, and the warm reception he won in the United States have apparently convinced the Mexican people they have a real president in the national palace.

They feel that Aleman is not only a politician but a good businessman and now Mexican leaders are suggesting that Aleman is the logical man to visit all Latin America, to join all the Americas in peacetime collaboration.

Meanwhile, the International Bank has granted France a $250,000,000 loan. French Finance Minister Robert Schuman was said to have told a National Assembly finance commission that the agreement was being signed in Washington. Also that France will receive immediately the first portion of the loan originally promised to her in an agreement between Leon Blum and former secretary of state Jimmy Byrnes last year.

Navy Experimenting With New Rocket

WASHINGTON, May 7.—The Navy is working on a rocket that can reach twice the altitude attained by the German V-2. The rocket is described by the Navy as 45 feet long. It can be fired from a shipboard and can carry a 100-pound load. The Navy says it can reach a 225-mile altitude carrying the 100-pound load, or 84 miles if it carries a ton.

No figures were given, however, as to how far it could travel horizontally if used as a rocket weapon.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 7, 1947

BIBLE VERBS FOR TODAY

CHRIST WAS CONSCIOUS OF HIS ETERNAL EXISTENCE... PRE-DATING THE WORLD'S CREATION...

Funny thing is, there seems to have been more peace in Europe during the war than there is now.

The Senate has passed the controversial highway patrol bill, another good measure, which now goes to the House.

A Georgia Tech student, who "just happened" to take a picture at the Wineoff Hotel fire last December, won the Pulitzer prize for "an outstanding example of news photography."

Congratulations to the Seminole County Civic Music Association which has made a grand start this year in giving Sanford each winter regular concerts of the highest type.

Marjorie Kinman Rawlings, who created a nationwide sensation with her "The Yearling" has just finished another story. It is "Mountain Prelude," a story of a boy and a dog, appearing weekly in the Saturday Evening Post.

With reference to the recently enacted public school bill, the Tampa Tribune says of the Florida Legislature, "If the 1947 Legislature does nothing else, it has amply justified its existence in this one act." Amen.

James Casey of the CIO says the unions aren't getting fair treatment from the radio broadcasters, charging them with discrimination. Maybe the radio stations aren't getting fair treatment from the unions either, particularly by Patullo's.

Premier Ramadier of France has finally discovered that you can't do business with the Communists. He has finally kicked them all out of government. There is no such thing as compromising with Communism. You either run things without them, or let them run it."

It is rumored by Dan McCarty of Fort Pierce that he may be a candidate for governor next year. If there proves to be any truth to this rumor, it will be one of the best things that ever happened to the state of Florida for Mr. McCarty has the stuff of which great governors are made. He served very capably as Speaker of the House before the war, had an excellent war record in the Air Corps, and is one of Florida's most up-and-coming young men. There is nothing we would like better than to see his hat definitely in the ring.

It takes someone like Hal Flick, a native born Turk, of Orlando, occasionally to make some of us appreciate the value of being an American. It is no accident that the poorest and humblest man in the United States, and that no where else in the world is this possible; it is so, simply because we have constitutional government under a democratic system which guarantees equal opportunities to all. Let us adopt some other system which places "security" ahead of freedom, and there will no longer be liberty, equality or justice.

Protecting Society

One of the important jobs facing the American people and, indeed, all peoples, is a complete revision of old ideas of penology. Criminals, in the old theory, were to be "punished" by terms of predetermined length in prison. This never did make sense. Too often they come out worse, and thoroughly embittered, more dangerous than before.

The idea of punishment must give way to the idea of protection of society. The dangerous criminal must be locked away to protect other people, until he dies or is cured. He should be kept in decency, with every effort made to improve both mind and body.

If they decide, after careful examination of the prisoner and his record, that he is no longer a danger to society, no longer a liability but a possible asset, then he should be allowed to go. But he should be on probation, always subject to recall if he falls into anti-social ways.

This theory offers hope both for society and for the individual.

The World Moves

"Patience, lovely virtue!" was the almost forgotten remedy of a philosopher named Charlie Chin, created by Earl Derr Biggers a generation ago. It is needed now, perhaps, more than ever before, in meeting the pressures of this present age and reconciling stubborn men and nations that do not want to be reconciled.

There is no other remedy. Without patient collaboration, men can never be brought to understand each other and yield to the honest differences of opinion which make civilization possible. Right now, on this present "bank and shoal of time," it is more necessary than ever before for "all good men to get together."

General Marshall himself takes this attitude, insisting that the big international conference is "not so bad," and that what is needed is simply patience all around, in this greatest of conciliatory undertakings.

Willa Cather

The recent death at 70 of Willa Cather brings to mind Sarah Orne Jewett, dead nearly 40 years, now almost forgotten, but during her lifetime a foremost American novelist.

Miss Cather by her own admission was greatly influenced by Sarah Jewett who, under the pen name of Alice Eliot, wrote about the dwindling activity in once busy seaport towns of her native Maine. Her fidelity to local color impressed Miss Cather who was equally realistic in depicting scenes in pioneer Nebraska where she grew up, and in the southwest, Miss Cather combined this factual flavor with what has been called a "Virgilian prose." Her early studies in Latin are said to be responsible for this distinguished style of writing.

Willa Cather at the moment ranks high in the nation's list of writers, just as did Sarah Jewett at her death. One wonders whether literary fashions of 40 years hence will dull the Cather reputation, or enhance it?

SANFORD FORUM

Sanford Herald.

Dear Mr. Editor:

I would appreciate the use of your Forum as a means of congratulating Alex Johnson and Forest Gatchel for the fine job they have done in providing Sanford and this section of the state with an up-to-date locker plant which, I am told is unequalled anywhere in the Southeast.

I visited this plant last Friday and was gratefully surprised at the many more services for the locker patron than I ever dreamed of. Before my visit I assumed that only sportmen and raisers of livestock or produce would be benefited by renting a locker. But actually, the housewife who hasn't a locker does not know what she is missing.

I discovered that I can secure various meats, poultry and frozen foods in quantity at wholesale prices for storage in my rented locker. I discovered a new convenience, frozen pie ready for the oven and frozen cherries, raspberries, peaches and other fruits from all over the country, all ready for my locker and my selection.

I watched the bright modern equipment being used for cutting large wholesale cuts of meat into steaks and roasts to go into the individual private lockers. I saw about 1000 pounds of hams and bacon just coming from the steam heated smoke house where they were just tenderized. They certainly smelled delicious.

Mr. Johnson and Mr. Gatchel, you have added to the advantages of living in Sanford. Central Florida owes you its thanks.

Sincerely, Frances J. Magnusson

Through the complete text of the Stalin-Stassen interview, which Mr. Stassen has now made public, there runs a striking atmosphere of sweet reasonableness and calm. The interview took place on the evening of April 6. A few blocks away from the Kremlin, at that time, the Council of Foreign Ministers was settling into the hopeless deadlock in which its deliberations finally ended. At Lake Success, Mr. Gromyko had just been leaving for Greece, Turkish aid proposals (in ribbons and raising the disarmament issue in a way which seemed to leave little hope for any agreement on the control of the atomic bomb). Soviet press attacks upon the Imperial and Imperialistic West were rising to a climax of ferocity which they have since attained. The generalissimo of all the Russias, smilingly discoursed upon the easy desirability of "co-operation" between the Soviet and American systems; upon the good chances for ultimate establishment of an international control of atomic energy; and upon the undesirability of "calling each other names."

Indeed, it was this last remark of the generalissimo's, together with his hope that with "co-operation" there would come a free exchange of goods, of people and of ideas, which led to the previously unpublished discussion of the censorship. The impression is that of a rather benevolently shrewd older statesman who either doesn't know what is actually taking place in the relations between the two great world power systems or else doesn't care. There will be a tendency in this country to take the interview as hypocrisy; and some have already intimated that fewer fair words from Stalin and more concrete good deeds by the Soviet government would be helpful.

Yet it is to be suspected that the true explanation is more complex. While Stalin has intently seemed to be shifting the details of diplomacy and administration more and more to subordinate shoulders, there is no reason to doubt either his knowledge of events or the sincerity of his desire for "co-operation." But the depressing conclusion is that he is still confidently expecting that, given time, the West will do all the "co-operating." The failure of conferences, the stalemate over atomic control, the polemics in the press, the rude intrusiveness of his own diplomatic officers—

THE SACRED COW

Russia and "Co-operation"

NEW YORK HERALD TRIBUNE

These things are of no consequence. He is still expecting a capitalist economic crisis in the United States which will paralyze American action in Europe; he believes his own military preparations will take care of any resultant war threat. Soviet "democracy" will make good its world position, and a new constellation of historic forces will ultimately bring the West to do all the "co-operating" which may be desirable.

More Spending, More Taxes

TAMPA TRIBUNE

Appropriations by the current Legislature will reach the unprecedented total of $145,000,000, to be spent during the next two years. This total means that the state government will have a deficit of at least $10,000,000. Two items of expenditure account for approximately $137,000,000 of the $145,000,000—$30,000,000 next year and $39,000,000 the following year for schools, $82,000,000 in general appropriations. The remaining $8,000,000 has been already appropriated for various purposes. The plain fact is that the state will have to spend $145,000,000 or more in the next two years—and that it has, by the most liberal estimates, not more than $136,000,000 in sight to pay the bill.

Group Inaugurates Luxury Air Travel

SYDNEY, Australia—Three Sydney men formed a syndicate called Intercontinental Air Tours to operate charter flights to England and other parts of the world. "We will have no priorities, no dawn starts, and no bad weather fly-outs," the planes will fly mainly between 9 A. M. and 4 P. M. daily, with a two hour stop at midday. Passengers would be able to stay overnight at a hotel or club and see the sights along the route. Present flight schedule allows 14 days for the trip to London. Fare has been set at $1,135. On the current air services to England, single fare is $1,055 by flying boat on an eight-day flight. The trip from Sydney to London takes five to six weeks by steamship, costs around $625 for first class accommodation in a two-berth cabin. Galuhur was used for fumigation as early as 1,000 B.C.

Boy May Come to U.S. To Recover Speech

BLOEMFONTEIN, South Africa—A Bloemfontein boy, Douglas Sutherland, 11, who has lost his power of speech, will be taken to America for special treatment if his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Sutherland, can raise the necessary funds. At the age of three, Douglas suffered a serious shock just before undergoing a minor operation in Port Elizabeth, where his parents then lived. Two days after operation, he developed St. Vitus dance, and later developed into hysteria, with gradual loss of speech. The child is still dumb, though perfectly fit physically except for his nervous system. Columbia is the only South American country which has both Atlantic and Pacific coasts. Annual U. YOU'RE TELLING ME!

By WILLIAM RITT, Central Press Writer. A FRENCH ACTRESS challenged a critic to a duel because he wrote she looked like a she-ston. It was his forget to insert the word "attractive." The critic turned down the duel with thanks. Said he wouldn't fight a woman. Besides, the gal was rumored to be an excellent shot. Parisians were disappointed. The guy, however, did see a lot of romantic possibilities if dueling became co-educational. After a duel in France, if both duellists are still standing, it is the custom to kiss and make up. How much more appealing this ceremony would be if one of the ex-antagonists were Spatnick! A male versus female duel could be rough on the man, especially if the gal had the right to select weapons. She might choose finger nails at hair-pulling range. And, while the fair ones may lack muscle, no man would be a match for them in a rolling pin duel. Meanwhile, it's a pretty good bet the French critic from now on will be careful what he writes about an actress. At least, until he has made certain that she does not possess a duel personality.

FASHION NOTES

Associated Press Fashion Editor... The famous transparent Swiss organdie is available in blouses either tailored or frilly, but always crisp and fresh as a frosting for spring and summer suits.

There are fine organdies both embellished against in, batistes, embroidered sheers and novelty weaves.

The new shadow-printed organdies come in all-over lace effects or floral designs, and are so decorative in their own right that they usually are made with only self-ruffles or bows as trimming.

Fine Swiss batistes, the long-time standby for hand-embroidered blouses trimmed in real lace, are on hand again this spring, in dainty versions.

Piece goods counters throughout the country are fairly well supplied with the transparent, permanent finish organdies in white and pastel shades. The dainty soft organdies and batistes are less plentiful, but can be found in a few shops. Thus far, Swiss embroidered organdies are appearing only in high-style ready-made garments.

Helvetian voiles, with some soft transparent finish and in novelty self-patterned weaves, are due to reappear on the American market some months from now.

MOTHPROOFING

Mothproofing treatments are of greatest use to fabrics during storage, according to entomologists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Goods in storage need protection because they suffer more damage than those in frequent use, and under storage conditions mothproofing chemicals are not weakened by sunlight, heat, wear, washing, or dry cleaning.

Solutions that give the best protection are factory applied in the hot dye bath. In tests these lasted long and well and withstood washing and dry cleaning. Now used widely on blankets and upholstery fabrics, they might also be used on wool clothing if there was consumer demand for them. Flourine compounds applied at the factory also give satisfactory protection for any fabric which is not washed. Flourine is soluble in water, and fabrics treated with this substance usually are guaranteed mothproof if dry cleaned, but not laundered.

Home Treatments Flourine solutions also are sold for home use. If properly made and applied according to directions, these will give good protection for a limited period. If sprayed on, all parts of the fabric must be moistened. Particular attention should be given to spraying folds, seams, pockets, under lapels, and other places where moths hide easily. Home-applied flourine treatments will stand several dry cleanings but eventually must be repeated.

Warning

Read the list of ingredients of any solution. If arsenic is listed, do not use the solution on clothing, blankets, upholstery fabrics, or even rugs that may come in contact with the skin.

Types of Sprays Mothproofing sprays differ from ordinary moth sprays. Ordinary moth sprays immediately kill any insects they hit but give no lasting protection. Mothproofing sprays, on the other hand, protect fabrics against moth damage by killing moths that try to feed on the fabric. Most of them have a water base and do not kill moth larvae or eggs when sprayed on them.

DDT Mothproofing

The new DDT mothproofing solutions now appearing on markets for the first time are different. These not only kill the insects by contact, but also leave an effective residue on fabrics—and also on closet walls and floors—that give future protection. Evidence so far indicates that these are the best all-around sprays yet developed.

Pirates Push Feds Into Seventh Place In F.S.L. Standings

Sanford Loses Costly Tilt 8 To 7 In 11 Innings; Islets Here Tomorrow Night

Manager Buddy Lake announced this morning that Gene Garrett would lose tonight's tilt in Daytona Beach. Carl (Goose) Kettler is slated to hurl tomorrow night. "Ladies Night" at the Municipal Park.

By ARTHUR HECKWITH, JR., Herald Sports Editor. The Sanford Celery Feds are two steps closer to the cellar of the Florida State League today by virtue of their 8 to 7 defeat handed them in last night's eleven inning fray at the Municipal Ball Park by the Leesburg Pirates. The Feds are resting in seventh place in the league standings.

Palatka trounced the cellar dwelling Daytona Beach Islanders last night in a 10 to 4 slugfest to force one-half game ahead of the locals. Sanford is slated to journey to the resort city to begin an all important two game series with the Islanders tonight.

Jack Baumgartner nipped and battered the Pirates to victory over the locals in last night's tilt. Baumgartner poked a two run blow in the top of the eleventh to drive Jay Stebbins across the plate from second base with the winning margin.

Hal Stewart opened on the hill for the locals and was relieved by the workhorse of the Sanford mound corps, Bill Stanton. Manager Buddy Lake took over during the fourth frame after Stanton was removed for a pinch hitter.

Sanford had several chances to place the contest in the cooler, but lacked the power to punch across runs that were resting on the sacks.

In the first frame the Feds had three men on the bags with no one out, and failed to tally. The Pirates forced one man at home and came back to pull a quick double killing to end the Fed threat.

In the fourth frame the locals had runners on second and third with one away, but the hitting power was lacking.

Sanford was enjoying a three run lead as the Pirates came in hot in the sixth canto. The water boiled over and before the steam had cleared the Pirates had chalked up five scores. The visitors added another run in the seventh, then the Feds scored four runs to forge ahead in the contest once again.

In the seventh canto Lake completed a triple steal by making a clean theft of home. On the play Jerry Silverman advanced to third and Spencer Edwards moved to second.

The visitors knotted the count in the ninth and finished off the killing in the top of the eleventh. Sanford invaded Daytona Beach tonight and returns to the local park tomorrow for a return engagement with the Islets. Tomorrow night has been designated as "Ladies Day" at the Municipal Park by the Sanford Baseball Association. It was announced last night.

MEMPHIS BILL NIXES BASEBALL JOB FOR SON

AP Newfeatures. Memphis, Tenn. — William H. (Bill) Terry, who piled up a fortune in baseball as star first baseman for the New York Giants, says he doesn't want his son to follow the same career.

"Anything but baseball," the former National League star king declares in discussing the future of his son, Terry, 16, who has been described as a "fine looking diamond prospect."

Ken pitches and plays first base for Christian Brothers College, a prep school here. Six feet tall and fast, he specializes in baseball and basketball.

"But he doesn't show promise of becoming a great player, so I don't want him to even think about it," says Bill. "If he showed outstanding ability, it would be different. I would encourage him, but in this business if you don't get to be a top-flighter it's rough—you starve to death in the minors."

Terry led the Giants to three National League pennants before he stepped into the front office as head of the farm clubs in 1941. He quit baseball in 1942 to enter the cotton business in Memphis.

Dyer Says Cardinals Need Better Hurling

ST. LOUIS, May 7.—Manager Eddie Dyer of the World Champion St. Louis Cardinals says he is satisfied with his team's hitting. "Now," says Dyer, the club needs better pitching.

Explaining that he is not trying to all, Dyer comments: "If our pitching had been a little milder perhaps we wouldn't be in last place."

LATINS TO PLAY HERE. HAVANA, May 7.—Formation of the North American Zone of the Pan American Soccer football federation is expected to boost soccer in the United States. Latin American teams soon will tour the U. S. under the auspices of the new group, which was formed by Argentina, Canada, Mexico and Cuba, in Havana recently.

COMMENTS from the SIDELINES

ATTENDANCE TROPHY. It was announced recently that the Leesburg Pirate entry in the Florida State League received the opening day attendance trophy.

Leesburg, the smallest city in the Class D circuit, had 1,019 fans on hand for the opening tilt. The attendance was approximately 20 percent of the population of the city.

The smallest crowd on the rainy night was here in Sanford. The Feds drew 633 fans.

President Al Combs reports, however, that the league attendance is increasing and has shown an average increase from five to fourteen percent over last year.

BOB KOSS. It was announced last week that Bob Koss has been awarded a four year athletic scholarship to the Citadel at Charleston, S. C., as a result of a recent competitive tryout.

Koss will be remembered in Sanford as a big Eustis boy who played end on the Eustis Panther football aggregation last fall.

Bob has been in Eustis three years and has been well liked since his arrival, having been elected president of his class all three years and had maintained a straight "A" average in his studies.

BOB FELLER Story. The book "Strikeout Story" which was published yesterday is advertised as the autobiography of Bobby Feller. The book written by baseball's strike-out king does set forth the life of the Cleveland Indians' great pitcher. The book could be titled more appropriately: "Bill Feller and Son," according to the Associated Press report.

The lean, sun-baked farmer from Van Meter, Iowa, is the real hero of the story of the strike-out king's life. Feller discloses that time and again during major crises of his spectacular baseball career, his father appeared and calmed Bobby's fears and raised his hopes with a few words of home-grown philosophy.

Bobby was ready to throw in the towel when he thought he had lost his father. "After a coach game at Boston in 1938, Bill Feller rallied his son's spirits by telling him:

"Look here, son, it's like driving a fast racing car, after you ride in it for awhile it doesn't seem to be going as fast as it was in the first place."

Feller's autobiography is dedicated to his father, and the strike-out king told Associated Press sportswriter Larry McCarthy: "Probably the most important reason for writing the book was to prove to the fathers and sons in America that there is only one way to combat juvenile delinquency. That is for fathers to take the same deep interest in their own ambitions that my father took in mine."

Lake Monroe Team Trips Grammar Boys

The boys softball team of the Lake Monroe School defeated the room six boys of the Sanford Grammar School in a 12 to 2 lopsided victory.

Terry Cordell and Spencer Hardy were batteries for the Grammar School and Hans and Whicker worked for Lake Monroe. Bass tossed an excellent contest for the Monroe School and was room six are the room champions of the Grammar School, given good support.

TO SPEED UP GAMES. LOUISVILLE, May 7.—President Frank Lane of the American Association made an interesting move today in attempt to speed up league games. Lane ruled that a manager who stops play a second time to consult a pitcher must remove the hurler from the box. In other words, a manager can walk onto the field for a conference with a pitcher only once. If he tries to engage in another conference, he must remove the hurler. He can, of course, hold one such conference with each pitcher he sends to the box.

SPORTS LAUGH

Signs in baseball are given in many different ways and often the signal for something like a bunt or a hit and run is some very natural action like putting a handkerchief to your face.

During Lou Boudreau's first year as manager of the Cleveland Indians, there came a day during the summer when Lou had a cold. In an early inning Cleveland had runners on first and second base. Suddenly the man on second broke for third and the player on first headed for second. The catcher whipped the ball to the third baseman who put the ball on the runner for an out. It broke up what seemed like a promising rally.

Boudreau was hopping mad. He demanded to know who had called for a double steal. One of the runners looked at him and said: "You did, boss. You took out your handkerchief and put it to your face, isn't that the signal for a steal?" Boudreau admitted that the player was right. There are veins of coal under about two-thirds of Illinois.

Lyons Says College Try Responsible For White Sox's Showing

CHICAGO, May 7.—Manager Ted Lyons says the old college try is responsible for the showing of the Chicago White Sox this season. Says Lyons: "It's hustle. That's the only way to win ball games, and we're doing it."

Lyons believes that one reason for the fast get-away of the White Sox in the American League pennant race is the fact that there is no grouching on the bench. Says Lyons: "You can usually find nine players at a time, but there is no sense in letting the rest of your squad gather rust. Everybody should get a chance once in awhile to keep up his confidence."

The Clubhouse

By FRANK ECK. AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor. WEST POINT, N. Y.—Glenn Davis, Army's All-America football player and captain of the Cadet baseball team, finally missed getting into a ball game.

When the Brooklyn Dodgers came here to play the West Pointers an exhibition game, Davis sat on the bench with a groin injury. It was the first time in four years of either football or baseball that Davis failed to see action.

"Playing against Villanova, Glenn made a quick move while the pitcher was in the windup," says Maj. Paul Amen, Army's baseball coach.

"I used him in centerfield three days later against Princeton and although he made two hits to help win the game for our ninth straight, Davis aggravated the injury.

"Davis wanted to play against Brooklyn but we have other games. Now if it were the Navy game he'd play because that's the big one for us—even in baseball. I planned to use him as a pinch hitter against the Dodgers with instructions to run on only a base hit. But it was needless to use him that lay as Brooklyn beat us, 16-5."

Amen leaves Davis as one of the greatest all-around athletes of all time. So does Branch Rickey, president of the Dodgers, who puts him right up there with such football and baseball stars as Jim Thorne and Ernie Nevers. Davis also starred in basketball and took for Army. Davis, who has batted well over 500 in four years of baseball here, was hitting .468, the result of 16 hits in 32 trips to the plate, when sidelined with the only injury of his West Point career. He had stolen 11 bases in eight games.

While Davis declines to comment that he has received any direct offers to turn his attention to professional baseball, it has been known for some time that the Dodgers and some four or five other major league teams would be willing to bid high for his services as an outfielder.

Rickey once said, "Davis can hit, run and throw. What more is expected of a hallplayer?" But Davis will be graduated in June and already has picked the infantry as his branch of service and will be stationed at Fort Riley.

Kas. He and Doc Blanchard, his All-America running mate who together went through three unbeaten seasons on the gridiron, will play their last football game as teammates on Sept. 3 when the College All-Stars face the New York Giants.

Chef Reveals Secret In Soup Making

By JANE EADS
WASHINGTON — The salt is not added until the last. That is the secret of the success of the bean soup in the Senate restaurant.

Paul C. Johnson, head waiter since 1900, is proud of that soup. It has won an international reputation.

During the war he passed around a printed recipe for the soup. It read like this:

"Help your Uncle Sammie to defend America by making that good Old Fashioned Bean soup for a squad of eight hungry persons, and here's how:

"Take three pounds of small navy pea beans that have been soaked overnight. Mash and run through hot water until the beans are white again.

"Put on the fire with four quarts of hot water; then take one and one-half pounds of smoked ham hocks, boil for two and one-half hours. Braise one onion, chopped in a little butter. When light brown, put in the bean soup.

"DO NOT ADD SALT UNTIL READY TO SERVE."

Paul, a thin Negro, a bit stooped-shouldered at 65, was brought to Washington Dec. 24, 1900, by Senator John Warwick Daniel of Virginia. His starting salary was $3 a week.

"I got in on the ground floor and been there ever since," says Paul. Sure enough, the Senate restaurant is now the best of the Capitol.

In peak times Paul is responsible for the serving of meals to some 900 people a day, including most of the senators.

"You have to be a diplomat and know how to handle folks," he says.

A cup of that "good old-fashioned navy bean soup" costs 15 cents; a plateful is 20 cents.

"Now, if you want the superior variety," says Paul, "you dice up a little ham—Smithfield ham, that is (if you can get it). You put this at the bottom of the dish, pour the soup over it and the essence will strike through." Paul says he doesn't carry the "superior" kind on the regular daily menu.

Paul is of the opinion that the new senators don't go in much for eating big meals.

Senator Taft of Ohio, often gets along with a piece of pie and a glass of milk for lunch. Sometimes he eats a steak. Paul says he "wouldn't say Senator Taft's a fussy man—just very conservative."

It's the night sessions that get Paul worried.

"When they call 'em unbeknowning to me, I sometimes have a hard time. The help's usually gone home and I have to get on the phone and call 'em back. Of course, we always have a good supply of food on hand."

One of the senators' favorite menus, fixed up for special lunch-

At first glance the design above may appear to you to be just a nest of 12 squares. Actually, it contains 20 squares. For in addition to the obvious 12, there are larger squares such as ACIK, BDJL, EGMQ, EHQT, JLRT, etc.

These 20 squares are formed with just nine straight lines.

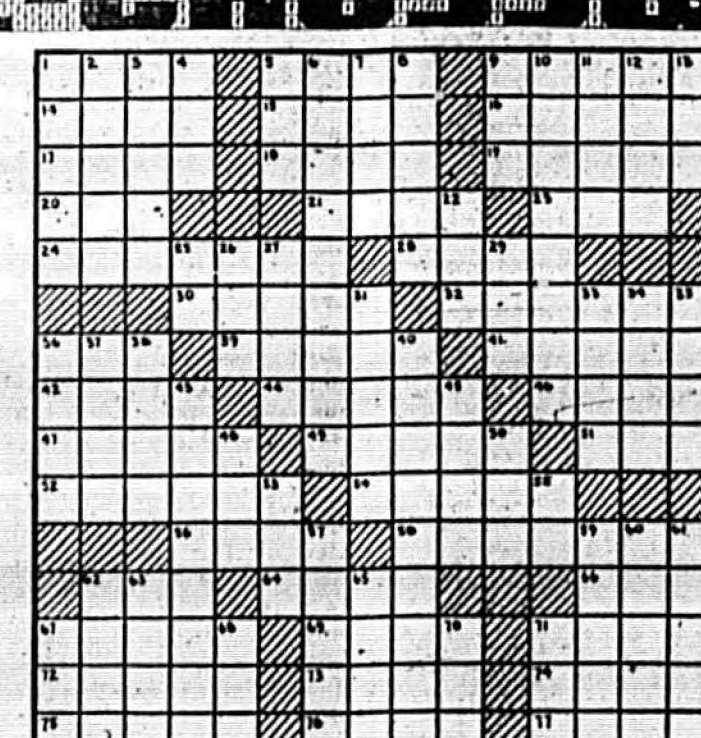

How many more straight lines would be needed to form a nest five times greater than this one, that is, a rectangular nest of 100 squares?

Parents Should Let Teen-agers Think

By MRS. MARION L. FAEGRE (Written for AP Newsfeatures)

WASHINGTON — Does 15-year-old Bill give you a lot of lip? It's hard to take, I'll grant. We grown-ups are decidedly disgruntled at the idea of taking a back seat, of not always being the ones who are right.

For 15 years you've had the upper hand. If Bill didn't do what you said, you could lay down the law and hard. It's a little embarrassing to have him coming up now with ideas of his own. And plenty good ones, sometimes, you'll have to admit.

Even when you have a sneaking notion that maybe he's right, and that it is the carburetor instead of the points that is causing the trouble, you're tempted to raise your voice, and try to yell him into agreement with you.

"We're all in the same boat when our children reach middle adolescence. We've been so long in the habit of assuming our own superiority that it's mighty hard to admit anything different.

It's easy to forget that by 15 or 16 most boys and girls are as intelligent as they ever will be. They're usually our equals mentally — or maybe our superiors.

Don't let them have to fight every step of their way into manhood and womanhood—There's a natural clash in the 'teens, and a healthy one, between parents and their offspring.

Of course we feel their self-interest is a threat to our prestige. We glimpse a not too attractive future when we'll have to bow off the stage in their favor.

But let's try not to widen the inevitable gap between the generations by small-minded sneers and disparagement.

Generosity always pays off. Maybe the color Betty wants for the new living room curtains is better than our choice. Perhaps John's stubborn insistence on going into aviation instead of law isn't stubbornness at all, but self-knowledge.

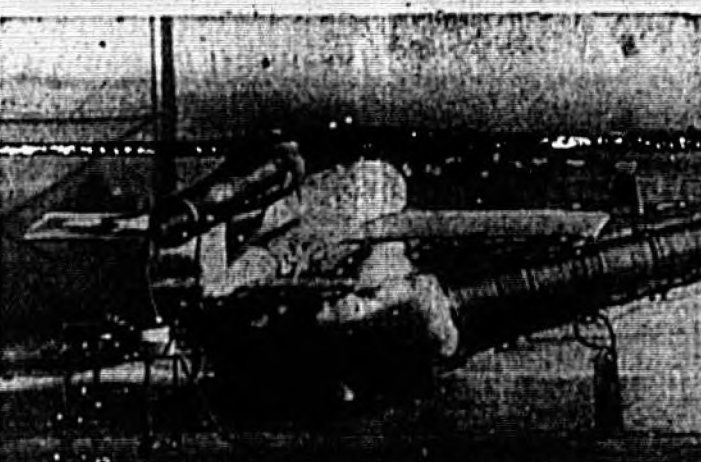

To have children who didn't stand up to us, and assert their own points of view, would make us suspicious in the long run of suspicious of their not having the guts to stand up to life.

Study has shown that "successful" high school boys and girls, who have leadership qualities, come from homes that are not restrictive in the degree of control they exercise.

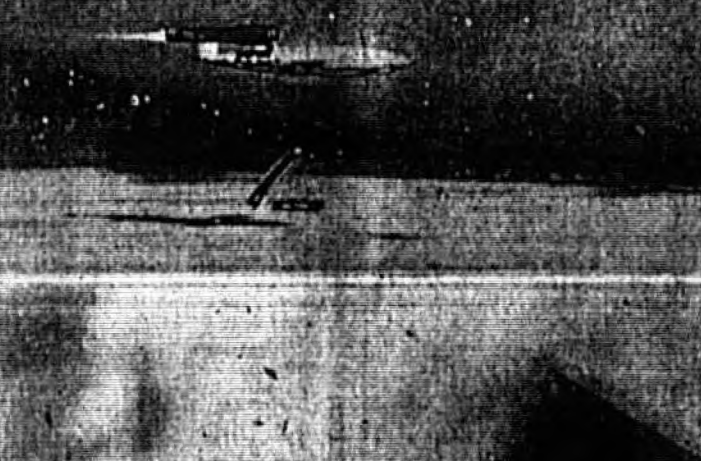

The parents of these children do not prevent them from developing the degree of independence so necessary to mental health and the "know-how" of getting along in social groups.

Do's And Don'ts For Women In Business

By BETTY CLARKE

AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor
The girl who dashes off to work in the morning half-dressed is a sorry sight, indeed, especially to the boss.

Usually she arrives at the office out of breath and late, with her stockings seams twisted, unpolished shoes, a button missing here and there, and messy hair.

As long as she was late in the first place, she should have taken an additional 15 minutes or half hour to put herself in working order. With a planned routine in the morning she shouldn't take long to brush hair to a luster, sew seams and buttons if necessary and make-up skillfully enough to look unmade-up.

Every working girl should keep a compact kit full of beauty essentials in her office desk and another at home. You can find one of these pick-me-up career kits containing essential cream, soothing freshener, cream rouge, face powder, lipstick, eyeshadow, cotton, tissue and a good size mirror. These makeup aids kept in one spot will save precious time in the morning.

At your office desk, you might have an additional box containing a clean pair of hose, needles, thread, pins and shoe polish.

Additional ways to irritate the boss are:

1. Wearing chipped nail polish
2. Bad breath
3. Run-down heels
4. Chewing gum
5. Dousing yourself with perfume
6. Wearing gaudy clothes
7. Girdle snapping
8. Slip showing
9. Barelegs and upback dresses
10. A high-pitched voice.

Of course, men being men, there are hundreds of things that may annoy them about women, but if these few annoying details listed are avoided, you can make fair progress in being a desirable employe.

Mrs. Davis Exponent Of Southern Charm

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON—Get Mrs. James O. Davis, wife of the Democratic congressman from Georgia, on the subject of Georgia and you'll find yourself ending up with a warm invitation to go down for a visit on their De Kalb county estate.

Mrs. Davis is an outstanding exponent of southern hospitality. She's even writing a book, called "Light and Come In," which is what every good housewife calls for from the doorway when folks drive up in front.

Congressman Davis was a judge of the superior court for 14 years before he came to Washington with his wife and 11-year-old daughter, Mary Martin, last January.

Back home, the Davises live on a 140-acre farm, near Stone Mountain, 12 miles out of Atlanta. Davis' hobby is farming. He has a herd of registered Aberdeen Angus cows and has been interested for many years in raising the state-goats in the livestock industry.

Mrs. Davis grows prize gardenia, collects data on medicinal herbs, goes in for quilting. Mrs. Davis majored in biology

Compromises Demanded By Union In South

Settlement In Long Lines Dispute Believed Sign Of End To Local Strikes

WASHINGTON—The Senate voted today in favor of a ban on union-controlled health and welfare funds and the involuntary check-off of union dues. Adoption of the bill came as an amendment to general labor legislation, and is regarded as a victory for Republican Senator Robert Taft. The vote was 48 to 19.

ATLANTA, May 8—Southern telephone union negotiations were resumed this morning, but observers said there was little likelihood that a settlement would be reached before the end of the week.

The talks centered on the wage question and union security.

Southern Bell Telephone officials and leaders of the Southern Federation of Telephone Workers indicated that some compromises would be necessary for a final agreement.

Meanwhile, the company reported that wires were cut early this morning on five long distance lines, but had since been repaired.

Meanwhile, government conciliators expressed confidence that the telephone strike will be completely at an end soon. The conciliators believe the settlement in the long lines dispute means that the remaining local strikes will be settled in short order.

An agreement was reached today to end the 31-day old strike of striking long distance telephone workers.

At 1:35 A. M. today, the labor department announced an agreement to settle the strike with an average wage boost of $4.40 a month.

TALLAHASSEE, May 8—The Florida State Senate today voted 30 to 4 to kill a white primary bill. Celery Yields Are Much Less Than For 1946

Celery yields at present are considerably below last year with prospects that they will become lighter, according to local growers. Large size golden is especially scarce. It is predicted among Sanford shippers that the more Sanford will not run much above 500 cars a week for the next two weeks, or about the same as last year.

Quality of celery from the Old do good lands is reported to be fine. Cutting will probably finish there during the last of the month, as will most districts east north Florida.

The sweet corn plantings, or rather replantings after frost and storms, will start to yield in about two weeks, and it is predicted will run from the middle of June to the end of August.

Most of this corn is Golden Bantam varieties, some is white corn. Locally grown cabbage is reported to be of fine quality, but lot loads are leaving daily and will possibly continue another three weeks. Peppers are late, probably will yield about the 20th. Yield is only about 50 percent of normal. Shipment of tender green beans of good quality will continue for two weeks or more in light supply.

Supplies are light in yellow, also cocostella squash. There will be a few cucumbers by mid-month. Potatoes, however, were passed up this year in this section, and the few grown are poor in yield.
