Mid-East Tensions Ease As Egypt Offers 'Full Cooperation' To UNEF

Warner Unhurt As Plane Cracks Up Near Columbia, S. C.

City Commissioner Merle Warner emerged from his demolished plane unhurt this morning shortly after 9:30.

Warner, who operates a Gulf Filling Station on First St., was on his way to attend the funeral services for his mother, who was about two miles out of Columbia, S. C. when he ran into a storm.

He started to turn back into Columbia when, as he reported from Columbia, said "I have no idea what happened."

Warner said the plane began to settle and there was nothing he could do. When the plane crashed the tail portion was torn off and it turned upside down.

The plane was the property of the "Flying Squadron", about 10 aviation enthusiasts. Dr. Henry McLaulin, who was in touch with Warner this morning, said the plane was a total loss.

Warner was admitted to a Columbia hospital but was discharged with only minor cuts and bruises.

Top News In Brief

NEW YORK — A House Un-American Activities subcommittee questions officials and writers of several foreign language newspapers and periodicals today in its quest for legal ways to curb Communist propaganda in the United States.

WASHINGTON — House Democratic leaders today took up President Eisenhower's challenge to seek out ways in which to reduce his $1.8 billion dollar budget. They promised to wield the economy as themselves after Mr. Eisenhower said they were welcome to try to scale down federal spending.

President Sets Out To Sea Today For Bermuda Trip

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower, hitherto a dry land and blue skies president, sets out to sea today in hopes balmy southern breezes will wait away his winter cold.

Mr. Eisenhower, in his first voyage aboard a warship since becoming president, was scheduled to sail southward tonight from Norfolk, Va., aboard the guided missile cruiser USS Canberra. His eventual destination, after a leisurely, six-day cruise, is Bermuda where he will arrive on the afternoon of March 20 for a four-day meeting with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

The President thought first of Arizona, then southern Florida, as possible rest spots before going to Bermuda conference. But early this week he decided an ocean voyage would offer a better opportunity for rest and relaxation.

Pioneer Geneva Resident Dies

Mrs. Mary H. Flynt, 90, widow of the late J. W. Flynt, died suddenly at her home in Geneva at 15 a. m. yesterday.

Born July 28, 1866, in High Falls, Ga., she was a pioneer resident of Geneva having lived there for 61 years. She attended the Methodist Church in Geneva.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. J. W. Kibbe, Geneva; one son, Jack Flynt, Homestead; two granddaughters, the Misses Barbara Jean and Mary Jane Flynt of Sanford; and one niece, Mrs. Gordon Baker, Columbia, Va.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. Saturday at Brison Funeral Home with the Rev. George H. Carlton officiating. Burial will be in Geneva Cemetery.

pallbearers are Edward Yarborough, Gordon Flynt, E. H. Grant, H. D. Dague, J. L. Brown and L. G. Hunter.

2 Men Hurt, $1,000 Damage Is Seen In Wreck Yesterday

Two Navy men were injured and property damage was estimated at $1,000 as a result of an early morning accident yesterday on State Road 427 near the Green Valley Dairy.

A 1953 Ford convertible, borrowed from A. J. Hoffman, and driven by James F. Huriaff, 20, apparently went out of control as it rounded a curve at an alleged high rate of speed. The car went off the road for 80 yards, rolled four or five times for a distance of 23 yards smashing two trees in its path and tearing up palmetto scrub, before coming to a stop.

Huriaff emerged with lacerated hands and arms. A passenger, Raymond K. Goode, 20, received a broken right jaw.

The injured men were taken to the hospital by Chester F. Macek who heard noise from the crash at his nearby home.

Florida Highway Patrolman Gene Coffman investigated, assisted by Deputy Sheriff Arthur Williams.

Charges of "failure to have vehicle under control" are placed against the driver, said Coffman. The car was described as a "total loss."

Newest contributions have been received from The Foodmart, Senator Douglas Stenstrom, and S. McDonough.

Total of contributions and pledges recorded so far in the office of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce is $13,415.

Chamber of Commerce Manager John Kridler pointed out that all expenditures are made only with the approval of the Armed Forces Committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

Fund Increasing Slowly; Total Is Now $13,415

The fund to sustain "the effort to retain the Naval Air Station in Seminole County" is growing slowly with additional contributions being received almost daily to bolster the total.

An announcement said the vice president's brief visit to Tobruk would be cancelled and that Nixon would fly direct to Tripoli after engine repairs are made or a new one is flown in for him.

It was the second time Nixon's plane had developed engine trouble on his tour of Africa. A new engine was flown in to Monrovia, Liberia, from Prestwick, Scotland, when trouble developed.

Senator To Introduce Three Local Bills

Senator Douglas Stenstrom said this morning that he has three local bills which he plans to drop into the hopper at the coming session of the Legislature.

Two new bills, local in nature, said Senator Stenstrom, will be offered. The first, he said, is a bill to authorize the Board of County Commissioners to place street lights in unincorporated areas of the county where public safety requires it.

The second of the two new bills of local nature will authorize the County Health Unit locally to issue death certificates and other vital statistics and records and placing the fees collected locally in the County Health Unit Fund.

Both of these "I understand" said Senator Stenstrom, have been approved by the Board of County Commissioners.

"I also have a third bill to propose," said the Senator. It would be to authorize the Board of Seminole County Commissioners to set up a County Manager type of government if they so desire it.

County's Population Increases 43 Pct.

Growth Since 1950

Seminole County has increased 43 per cent since the Federal Census of 1950, according to a population estimate released today by the Board of Census Commission appointed last year.

The population today is estimated at 38,482 in comparison with the 26,883 in the 1950 census. The increase of 11,600 has occurred in the seven-year period since the 1950 count.

The increased population will probably result in the appointment of an additional Circuit Judge for Seminole County.

Rapid growth of the eight counties of the Ninth Judicial Circuit will probably result in the appointment of four new judges, according to the population estimates released today. This will give the Brevard-Seminole Division an additional judge, Judge Vassar Carlton who serves this division resides in Brevard County.

Under the State Constitution a circuit gets a judge for each 50,000 population. Because of the great caseload in our courts a bill was passed in the 1955 session of the State Legislature authorizing the census by a board appointed by the Governor.

The three commissioners were Walter Hayes of Orlando, G. W. Laycock of Rockledge, and D. K. Richardson of Vero Beach.

In the circuit, Brevard County leads with the greatest increase in population estimated at nearly 200 per cent. Brevard County increased from 23,453 as shown in the 1950 census to 65,502 estimated by the commission. Orange County's increase was estimated at approximately 90 per cent from the 114,950 in the 1950 census to the commission's estimate of 215,411.

The Commission obtained the services of the University of Florida Economic experts who used an accepted formula of research analysis for the estimated population. This involved consideration of telephone user increases, electricity consumers, gas sales, sales tax reports, and so forth.

Public hearings will be held in Fort Pierce and Orlando on March 28, for consideration of any additional factors which any citizen would like to present. The commission's report is then presented to the 1957 Legislature and if approved the Governor will be authorized to appoint four new judges, one of which is likely to be a Seminole County lawyer.

Clothes Affect Emotions Says Kiwanis Speaker

Speaking to "Men Only" yesterday at the luncheon meeting of the Sanford Kiwanis Club, Miss Iris Davenport, introduced as the South's most invited woman speaker, said "When we don't wear the right kind of clothes we have a warped personality."

"A person warped from a personality standpoint just doesn't attract anyone—you just don't want to be with him," she said.

Miss Davenport surprised her Kiwanis Club audience when she said "We don't wear clothes for protection from the weather and the police—we wear clothes because it is the customary thing to do."

And then describing the feeling of a person, she said, "When we are self-conscious of ourselves because we are not wearing the right thing at the right time, we cannot do our best."

"Clothes affect our emotions and the emotions of those who look at us," Miss Davenport said. "It is unselfish to take care of our clothes—to be careful in selecting them, for we look at ourselves only 30 minutes of each day—all other times others are looking at us," she said.

"We want to be easy on the eye and attractive," Miss Davenport commented as she nodded her head. Miss Davenport wore a "brilliant" hat which she calls "Iris Davenport original" for, she makes them herself.

"It is quite modern to dress well," said the magazine editor, "but you must have the desire to wear the right thing."

"I could be well dressed if I had a lot of money," is a fallacy, said Miss Davenport who advised her audience to "select your own clothes, your ties, your shirts. Don't take someone with you to choose what you want to wear," she warned.

"We need to wear clothes to express our personality—get something that's your own—for there's something about men's apparel that it's got to be right or it's wrong," said Miss Davenport.

"My suggestion is set a standard for dress and live up to it. And she commented, "The man who looks all dressed up is just about as bad as the man who is untidy."

Miss Davenport, Woman's Editor for the Farm and Ranch magazine, was introduced by Dick Forbes.

Plane Carrying Nixon To Tobruk Develops Trouble

TRIPOLI, Libya — A plane carrying Vice President Richard M. Nixon from Khartoum to Tobruk was forced to return to Khartoum today when trouble developed in one of the engines.

A radio message said the plane returned 90 minutes after "take-off because of partial failure" of the No. 2 engine.

An announcement said the vice president's brief visit to Tobruk would be cancelled and that Nixon would fly direct to Tripoli after engine repairs are made or a new one is flown in for him.

It was the second time Nixon's plane had developed engine trouble on his tour of Africa. A new engine was flown in to Monrovia, Liberia, from Prestwick, Scotland, when trouble developed.

U. N. Officials Ready For Egypt's Return To Gaza

CAIRO — United Nations officials flew today to the Gaza Strip to prepare for Egypt's return to the controversial area now administered by the U.N. Emergency Force.

Dr. Ralph Bunche, U.N. assistant secretary-general, and Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, the UNEF commander, ended a series of conferences with Egyptian officials and left for Gaza on an inspection tour.

Salah Gohar, chief of Egypt's Palestine Affairs Department, said after talks with Bunche and Burns the newly appointed Egyptian governor-general would take over the administration of Gaza soon.

There was a possibility the governor-general would go there today.

Gohar said the 1949 armistice agreement provided for an Egyptian administration and that he heard no U.N. objections. He also pointed out the agreement permitted Egypt to maintain one brigade there about 3,000 troops. But whether this would be done was up to the Egyptian military authorities.

Adm. Byrd Buried In Arlington

WASHINGTON — Rear Adm. Richard Evelyn Byrd, his great explorations ended forever, was brought home to his native Virginia today for burial among the nation's heroes.

The last resting place for the renowned conqueror of the poles and spanner of the oceans was a quiet plot on the eastern slope of Arlington National Cemetery.

Byrd, the first man to fly over both the North and South Poles, was called "one of the truly great explorers of all time" by President Eisenhower. Byrd died in his sleep Monday night at the age of 68, the victim of a heart ailment brought on by years of work and adventure in the far away frozen lands that he made familiar to every man.

In Boston Wednesday night, Byrd's remains were placed aboard a train to Washington. He will be buried with full military honors in Arlington, just across the Potomac River.

Danish Physicist 'Atoms For Peace Award' Winner

NEW YORK — Prof. Niels Bohr, 71, a Danish physicist, is the first winner of the $75,000 "Atoms for Peace Award."

Bohr, a pioneer in the field of modern atomic physics, was honored for his work as chairman of the Danish Atomic Energy Commission and for his appeals for the development of atomic energy for peaceful uses.

The award was announced by James R. Killian Jr., president of Massachusetts Institute of Technology and chairman of the board of trustees of the Atoms for Peace Awards, Inc.

Dutch, Italian Ships Collide In Mid-Atlantic

LANDS END, England — The 9,177-ton Dutch ship Waterman, carrying 800 emigrants including 312 Hungarian refugees to Canada, collided with the Italian ship SS Merit in mid-Atlantic today.

There was no immediate report of casualties.

The Waterman radioed it was in no immediate danger and said the 7,174-ton Merit also was okay.

The collision happened 506 miles west of the Bishop's Rock lighthouse in the Scilly Islands, off the southern tip of England.

The Air Ministry said a Royal Air Force plane was standing by at an airbase near Plymouth but had not taken off since neither ship appeared to be in immediate danger.

The Waterman, which belongs to the Dutch government, was under charter to the Holland-American Line and left Rotterdam last Monday.

Several ships were reported heading for the collision scene. The sea was mild and the wind about 20 knots.

Funeral Tomorrow For J. P. Thurmond

Funeral services for John Paul Thurmond, 68, will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at Brison Funeral Home with the Rev. Milton Wyatt officiating.

Burial will be in Oakland Memorial Park.

Pallbearers are J. C. David, M. R. Strickland, D. K. McNah, C. E. McKee, R. W. Herron and J. M. Leonard.

Permanent County Fund Raising Organization Set Up Last Night

A permanent fund raising organization was set up last night at a meeting held in the City Commissioners room of the Sanford City Hall but no officers were elected pending a meeting of the Board of Directors who were named in an election.

A Board of Directors was named from a slate of 20 recommendations by a nominating committee named at a previous meeting.

The permanent name of the organization will also be chosen at a Board of Directors meeting.

Those chosen to serve on the Board of Directors, and named in the election which was held by ballot, are: Earl Toney, R. L. Perkins Jr., Gen. J. C. Hutchinson, Randall Chase, Willis Peacock, Harold Kastner, Bill Gramkow, Mrs. G. Troy Ray, A. B. Peterson Jr., Raymond Lundquist, Dr. W. P. Brooks Jr., Clifford McKibbin, M. L. Raborn Sr., Frank Evans, Roy Mann, Roy Holler, George Touby, Robert Cobb, Ralph A. Smith, Whitley McMullen, and J. Marion Harman Sr.

From the 21 members of the Board of Directors, 11 will be selected to serve for one year, five for 2 years and five for three years.

Prior to the election of the Board of Directors, a constitution and by-laws were adopted to set the operating procedure of the organization.

The 13-page document, however, did not include the name of the organization or the name of the fund to which the permanent organization will affiliate. At a previous meeting of the group it

No Trace Found Of 3 Escaped Mental Patients

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Authorities today reported no trace has been found of three dangerous mental patients still missing after a mass breakout at the criminal division of Tennessee Central State Hospital.

Officers said Henry Lodge, 37, John A. Sanders, 28, and James Ray McQueen, 32, remained at large today more than 30 hours after they joined eight others in fashioning a rope or bedsheets, sawing a hole in their barred windows and sliding three stories to freedom.

The hunt for two of the escapees centered in the Una area through the night while police with bloodhounds probed another suburban Nashville community for the third.

All eleven of the white patients were considered dangerous by hospital authorities. They were confined in a closely guarded building where only criminally insane planners are housed.

The many friends in Sanford and vicinity of Donald D. Fellow, traveling representative of the Watchtower Bible & Tract Society of Brooklyn, New York and Circuit Servant of this district, will be happy to know that Fellow will be with the Sanford congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses Mar. 19-20. A public lecture has been arranged for Sunday at 9 p.m. Mar. 19 to be held in the Kingdom Hall of the local congregation at 1621 West First St. Fellow will speak on the subject "Are We Masters of Our Future" and the public is cordially invited to attend. No collection will be taken.

Blind Housewife Identifies Intruder

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A totally-blind housewife identified a housebreaker Wednesday with whom her husband had battled in the dark.

Mrs. Josephine McMasters, 22, her husband and her seeing-eye dog, "Spats" were awakened before dawn by someone breaking into their eighth-floor apartment from a balcony.

McMasters a manufacturer's representative, grappled with the intruder in the dark, but he escaped.

Mrs. McMasters, who has been blind for three years, told police she believed the voice of the housebreaker was that of one of two men she heard speak previously.

She gave police the names of two men. The first suspect was eliminated.

Officers then went to the home of James Love, 27, a cab driver and engineering student at the University of Pittsburgh. Love had a bruised eye and was wearing a torn shirt. He was hauled into morals court for a hearing.

Mrs. McMasters listened carefully as Love spoke and said: "That is the man. I recognize his voice."

Love confessed.

THIS IS THE FIRST PHOTO from the Belgian Congo showing Bill Negley, of Texas, standing over one of two elephants he killed using a special 102-pound bow and arrow of his own design. Negley won a $10,000 bet for the White Museum in San Antonio, Tex., from sportsman Bill Carpenter of Wilmington, Del. With the photo came the message: "Secured elephant permit February 21st and killed this February 22nd. Killed other one next day—both according to wagner terms. No ends the elephant hunt." Millionaire Kills Two Elephants With Bow, Arrow

William Negley, a 42-year-old Texas oil millionaire, wagered $10,000 against $10,000 put up by William K. Carpenter of Wilmington, Del., that he could kill an elephant with a bow and arrow. In the following dispatch Negley tells how it was done.

By WILLIAM NEGLEY
As Told to United Press
NAIROBI, Kenya. — Well, I'm back from safari (selling happy, hit and mighty proud of myself).

It's not every man who can chalk up an elephant shot with a bow and arrow, and I managed two.

I'm going home with 20-pound tusks from the first bull and 35-pound tusks from the second.

Careful planning of the safari and the help of that great hunter Eric Rundgren made the success possible.

The safari took seven days en route to the Congo and we made our first major camp by the shores of Lake Albert.

Our group included Rundgren, freelance photographer Alan Helling, myself and eleven bearers.

We got hunting permits and set off on the first day's hunt. We were immediately successful and spotted herds of hundreds of elephants.

We picked out one bull.
We began stalking him.
The wind was very brisk. It made stalking difficult. It took an hour before the shot could be made.

I had steel-tipped arrows 29 inches long.

Rundgren stood by with a rifle in case I missed.

HEW HIS CHANCE
SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — An overzealous safecracker blasted himself out of business Wednesday when he tackled a bakery safe. Police said the burglar apparently used too much dynamite because the explosion blasted the safe through a wall, shattered windows and shredded currency in the safe. The culprit fled without collecting what little money was not destroyed.

Many Find Way To Add Extra Day To Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — Many Americans are finding a way to add an extra day to their week through their choice of a home.

In recent years, many couples have found that the bugaboo of suburban living is commuting. By eliminating much of the time consumed in shutting to and from work they have added eight or more hours to their leisure week.

Their solution is to purchase an old dwelling in the city and remodel it under the favorable programs set up by the federal government and local authorities for urban renewal.

Over the next few years, the government expects to spend 250 million dollars on polishing up cities. Local interests will provide an additional $1,300,000,000.

Money Available
Mortgage money, difficult to obtain in many suburban developments, is relatively easy to get for the purchaser of a second, older home. In addition, an attractive, government-guaranteed home improvement loan is readily available up to $3,500.

Another alternative for the remodeler is to absorb the cost of rumpousing the house for modern living in the original purchase mortgage.

The idea of downtown living is particularly attractive to newly-weds, working couples or older persons whose children have grown up. A house in town cleverly remodeled also is usually a good rental investment in case the family outgrows it or tires of city life.

Housing experts concede the element of risk in buying and remodeling a town house. But they also point out that advice — and more advice — can virtually eliminate the aspect of chance.

Advice Available
If the prospective remodeler consults his banker, contractor, architect and realtor every step of the way, his path is smooth. He also must decide for himself, based on careful evaluation of all the factors, whether he will really prefer city living to the suburbs.

The soundness of the house as a remodeling proposition is a question for the experts. Many banks provide an evaluation service for the buyer before they make the loan. A talk with a contractor or architect can often translate the formless plans of the buyer into dollars and cents.

In many towns there is a tremendous reawakening of interest in fringe downtown areas that

When it comes to baking a cherry pie, this young lady has all the answers. She is 17-year-old Mary Ann Bartholomay, of Heddets, N. Y. who won the 25th annual cherry pie baking contest sponsored by the National Red Cherry Institute. Using a General Electric Keyboard range, Mary Ann competed against girls from every state of the union as well as Alaska, Canada and Hawaii. The contest was held at the Sheraton Hotel, Chicago, where the grand ballroom was transformed into a giant electric kitchen. For her pie baking skill, Mary Ann won the Keyboard range in which she baked her winning pie, a college scholarship, and a trip to Washington, D. C.

Champion Cherry Pie Recipe

Filling
2 (No. 303) cans frozen cherries, thawed and drained (3 cups)
1/4 cup cherry juice
2 1/2 tablespoons cornstarch

1/2 cup sugar
1 tablespoon butter
Pinch of salt
4 drops almond extract
Few drops red food coloring

Measure cornstarch into saucepan; stir in cherry juice slowly. Cook over high heat, stirring constantly until thick and smooth. Remove from heat, add sugar, butter, salt, extract and red coloring. Cool sauce while making crust. Fold sauce into cherries. Pour into 9-inch pie plate. Arrange pastry strips, lattice fashion, over filling. Bake at 400° F. for 15 minutes, reduce temperature of oven to 375° F. and continue baking about 40 minutes.

*If canned cherries are used, increase sugar to 1 1/2 cups.

Crust
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup vegetable shortening

1/2 cup lard
5 to 7 tablespoons ice water

Add salt to sifted flour and sift into bowl. Cut in shortening with pastry blender until mixture looks like meal. Add the ice water, mixing lightly with a fork until all the flour is moistened and the dough follows the fork around the bowl. Place dough on wax paper and form into a ball by pressing together. Roll 1/2 of dough onto a slightly floured pastry cloth. Fit into a glass pie plate. Trim edge. Roll remaining dough and cut strips one-half inch wide for lattice.

have been bypassed in the rush to suburbs. The purchase of a house in an area earmarked for redevelopment—or at least on the fringe of such an area—should be considered.

Check City Officials
It also is wise to check municipal authorities on zoning regulations in the area of the prospective purchase. That vacant lot next door might be zoned for anything from a bowling alley to a boiler factory.

After the house has been carefully chosen housing experts advise the prospective owner to take these steps:
Draw up your plans with the help of an architect or contractor if possible.
Get an estimate of what you want done from at least two builders.

Take your plans to the proper local authorities for a building permit.
Submit your proposition, plans and all to your banker for a loan consultation.
Double check the plans for any modification in the light of cost estimates, building code or loan requirements.

NOTICE
I will not be responsible for any debts incurred by any one except myself.

Lowry To Seek Lifting Of Milk Price Controls

JACKSONVILLE (AP) — Chairman Dexter Lowry of the State Milk Commission is expected to get price controls on milk at the retail level.

But Lowry said after Tuesday vote against such a move he would not try to get the 1957 Legislature to eliminate price controls unless he is joined by a majority of the commission.

The vote came after a long session of milk distributors, and producers asked that price controls at all levels be maintained.

Lowry would not disclose whether the seven members voted, but said the motion for lifting retail controls was made by Howard Walton of Miami and seconded by E. G. Cochran Jr. of Lake City. He said the motion fell short of the necessary four votes.

Since Lowry himself has vigorously supported lifting of price controls, the four remaining members must have voted against the proposal to defeat it, 4-3.

They are Fred B. Raglan, Jacksonville; Alex Shaw, Gainesville; Wilbur J. Casey, Largo; and Henry J. Schneider, Orlando.

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Louis S. Kurze complained to the telephone company about the constant ringing of an unseen phone outside his window. A lineman climbed a pole outside Kurze's window and found a woodpecker inside a transformer box busily tapping on the metal.

Mitchell, Shivas to Meet | Observers Think AFL-CIO Labor-Administration Breach May Expel Teamsters Union

Special to Central Press Association
WASHINGTON—Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell is working hard to try to heal the breach between leaders of the AFL-CIO and the Eisenhower administration.

Aide from acting as spokesman for labor in the administration. Mitchell has mixed no bets in trying to eradicate the contention in high labor ranks that the Eisenhower administration is basically pro-business and anti-labor.

An example of this missionary work was a recent conference between the President and a group of 13 AFL-CIO leaders on proposals for broadening the coverage of the dollar-an-hour minimum wage.

The President is for broadening the coverage, and the AFL-CIO has made this a top priority item in its legislative program—so this was a good point for a meeting ground between the President and federation leaders.

Arthur Goldberg, AFL-CIO special counsel, approached Mitchell on the matter and the Labor secretary immediately arranged the conference with the President. Moreover, he contacted Vice President Richard M. Nixon and made arrangements for a luncheon conference of the federation Secretary Mitchell leaders with Nixon.

Whether the two conferences changed the attitude of the labor leaders toward the administration may be questioned, but it didn't hurt.

● MORE ABOUT LABOR—On the subject of labor, the spectacular Senate investigation into tie-ups of some unions with racketeers may touch off demands for legislation curbing labor organizations. Washington observers say that the AFL-CIO may even expel its largest member—the Teamsters union—unless officials of that union at least partially purge their organization of gangster elements.

Nevertheless, the AFL-CIO fears that the exposure—which most of the trade union movement feels is long overdue—may result in outlawing of the "union shop."

The union shop, permitted under the Taft-Hartley law, requires that persons who join a union must retain their membership. Such clauses, it is admitted, permit unscrupulous labor leaders to use power far beyond that of legitimate management-labor negotiations and contract enforcement.

Tie-ups with vice, gambling, politics and even legitimate business operations outside the unions may bring on a strong congressional reaction—backed by much of the American public.

● PENNIES AND WASTEPAPER—Senator Norris Cotton (R), New Hampshire, has flushed out some of the trivial but arresting pieces of the Washington picture. He points out, for instance, that the mint will produce 500 million pennies this year at a cost of 84 pennies per 1,000 pennies.

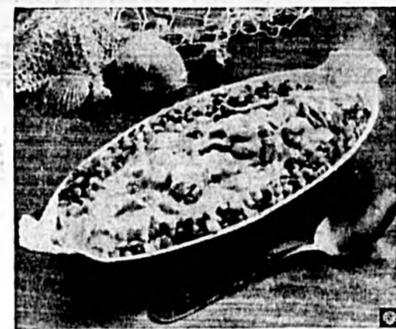

The senator also notes that the Budget bureau expects an increase in the number of counterfeiters arrested in 1957, but a drop in the number of moonshiners nabbed.

For the economy-minded, the senator reports that about $10 million will be netted by the government for sale of wastepaper and scrap.

Cotton also adds that the Department of Agriculture will hire three more mycologists but will keep the same number of zymologists and cytopathologists. What's more, says he:

"I am not sure what these are but here's something I know about—the same department plans to spend $123,000 to increase the production of castor oil in this country."

Cream Sauce—Good Start For Lenten Meals

Cream sauce made with evaporated milk is a fine starting point for a variety of light Lenten luncheons or dinners. The evaporated milk keeps calories down and texture up, costs little and yields twice the nourishment of whole milk per ounce. The cream sauce, with variations in seasoning, readily adapts itself to the requirements of sea food, eggs, spaghetti or vegetables.

Curry sauce and Newberg sauce are two obvious courses cream sauce can take to dress sea food in an attractive way. But there are many others: for boiled fish, try adding lemon juice and capers to your cream sauce. Or make a fish casserole with cream sauce enlivened by the addition of chopped hard-boiled eggs and anchovies.

Basic Cream Sauce
2 tablespoons butter 1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon Tabasco 1 cup evaporated milk
2 tablespoons flour 1 cup water

Melt butter in saucepan; stir in Tabasco. Add flour and salt; stir to a smooth paste. Add evaporated milk and water and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and comes to a boil. YIELD: 2 cups.

Stir in: 1. 2 cups diced cooked meat, poultry or sea food.
2. Thyme, poultry seasoning, curry powder, nutmeg or other favorite spice, or herb.
3. 1 tablespoon finely chopped parsley, or 2 tablespoons diced pimiento.

To serve: Heat to serving temperature and serve over hot choked rice. Or turn into 1 1/2-quart casserole, top with buttered bread crumbs and bake in moderate oven (375° F.) 20 to 25 minutes until lightly browned. YIELD: 4 servings.

Teaching, One Of Most Important Professions, Among Lowest Paying

Presumably—some will think that we received our information in today's column through the Florida Education Association meeting in Tampa.

Such is not the case, even though some wonderful information will probably come from the annual session which will climax Saturday.

Anyway—there is inescapable irony in the story of the janitor in a west coast school who is going to become a teacher next fall—at less pay than he is now receiving as a janitor.

Keeping school buildings clean is important, and those who do so should receive an adequate wage for their work. Yet hardly anyone would contradict the argument that teaching, helping to mold young minds and prepare them for life, is even more important, and that those who do this work deserve more pay than those who keep the school clean.

Generally speaking, our society rewards individuals in accordance with the value it places on their services. By this standard—and taking due note of exceptions—almost any skilled manual worker is valued more highly than are those who instruct our children.

Teachers receive other reward in the form of prestige and the satisfaction of knowing that they are helping to build a better society. But rewards of this kind pay no bills. The fact remains that those to whom we principally entrust the mental development of young people are among our lowest paid workers.

That is something to think about when complaints are made about the kind of job the public schools are doing.

Important County Project

Florida has many attractions—and they're publicized from coast to coast, in every section of the nation. All well and good for as the many promotions and much publicity reach those in the wintry sections, we profit in Sanford and Seminole County to a degree.

But there's another attraction in the making that's going to surpass them all—the proposed Docks and Terminals project.

The test has been made in several ways to determine the feasibility and the likeability of the project.

First—there was a survey by a prominent and well-versed engineer. His report, cited as a conservative one in every respect, was generous in the recommendations that it was the one resource on which Sanford and Seminole County could depend to increase its economy and industry commercialwise.

Second—a test on the drawing board to lay out formal plans to determine just what the docks and terminals would provide. Those plans, developed by Sanford architect John Burton IV, are like an artist's original—a life like replica of what we will have to serve, not only Sanford and Seminole County, but all of Central Florida.

Third—the public reaction, both here in Sanford and in the far reaches of the county. "It is what the area has needed for years," and "It's what we have been trying to get." Everything has been a picture of only the best for our community.

Fourth—the test on what we will receive in return for an investment in the Docks and Terminals project. There is where we find the brightest and most promising picture. Millions of tons of freight moving through Sanford—by water, by rail, and by truck—for it will be a terminal where the three necessary means of freight movement will meet. In addition, there will be industry—warehouses, supply centers, finishing plants, and many other types of industrial buildings to use the bulk products shipped into the "wholesale distributing center of Central Florida."

Sanford merchants will be able to compete with their neighbors in other trading centers for there will be a source for bonded warehouse storage. Many businessmen will draw from large stocks stored here for delivery on call.

Wholesale merchants will be able to meet the competitive prices in a number of fields—steel—cement—aluminum and many other bulk products can be shipped in for storage.

To be sure—the Docks and Terminals project will be an attraction which will draw visitors from far and near to our community—may draw some from communities round about us.

Sanford and Seminole County are on the verge of one of its biggest and most extensive expansion programs ever felt in this area.

Many are waiting now for the proposed project to begin to rise up along the shores of Lake Monroe as an omen of success and growth.

Space Travel

Science is forever catching up with science fiction.

For several decades, the science fiction writers have had an edge in one field, that of space travel. Preoccupied with mighty weapons and other astonishments, scientists have not quite managed to shake loose from their home planet.

Yet we now have reached the stage of actual research, by private industry as well as by government, in the problems of space travel. One expert recently said: "We could reach the moon with existing hardware."

This in itself is amazing enough for the average earthbound mortal. The long-range possibilities are even more exciting. Physicists now tell us that certain radioactive particles "age" much more slowly while in rapid motion than while at rest. This suggests that at some dim future time when human beings travel in space at tremendous speeds they may grow old less rapidly than people left behind on earth.

Although this may not be the best reason for developing space travel, it might be exciting to whiz to a distant star and return, say, a decade younger than others of one's generation.

Gosh! We can hardly wait!

Admiral Byrd Loved Unknown

By DOC QUIGG

United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (AP)—Richard E. Byrd was a man in love with the unknown. He loved it because it kept him at his fondest occupation—discovery. To an explorer, the "unknown" is any portion of the earth's surface upon which no man has set sight.

Admiral Byrd kept backing away at the last big swath of unknown we have, the ice-potted underbelly of the world, called Antarctica. And he came to love that desolate continent for its very loneliness. "It's an ice age," he was fond of saying.

And in truth it is. A vast sheet of glacier covers the whole 5 million square miles of land and is constantly moving outward. Bangs over the land edges and caves off into Manhattan-size tabular bergs that roam crackling through the thinner ice pack at the whim of deep ocean currents.

"I feel better down here," Byrd would say, filling his lungs with the icy air of Little America. "It's so peaceful." Then, breathing deeply again of the wonderfully germless stuff: "I really do feel better." And he'd laugh a

Virginia laugh. "Hyah, hyah, hyah."

The admiral was deeply affectionate toward his "old veterans," the men like Bud Walte and Buck Boyd who had made multiple trips with him. Once, during the 1946-47 expedition which I accompanied as a United Press reporter, the admiral and I were standing together when we saw a man approaching far away over the white expanse.

"That's ol' Dusty," the admiral said. "I can tell by his walk." Sure enough it was.

He liked to tell the story of the two birds, male and female terns, that got together at the equator and then went separate ways. Some time later the male got a rable from the female: "Am with Byrd at the South Pole."

He was able to laugh at his own misfortune. In the late 1920s, when several aviators were vying to see who would be first to fly the Atlantic, Byrd seemed ahead in preparations.

But in a practice hope his plane crashed. He was injured and Floyd Bennett was nearly killed. Finally he did make the flight.

When I asked him about the race, he chuckled and said: "I cracked up, and Lindy beat me across."

He had been through plenty. Once I came upon him on deck in the tropics, putting heavy oil on his nose. "It's been frozen more than 200 times," he explained. "The docs don't want it exposed to the sun."

When the icebreaker came to take us home from Little America, the admiral left the flag up there. The sun was not setting at night, and he wanted the flag flying. He left a note in his hut: "This has been a peaceful place. . . Now he's dead, s.t. @, and exploring another unknown."

AN OLD OBSERVATION
ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—An Albany newspaper of 100 years ago printed the following: "The French woman talks a great deal more than she thinks. The English woman thinks more than she talks. But the American woman does more thinking and more talking than the other two combined."

WIN PENDLETON

Maybe A. Coincidence?—Congressman Bob Sikes, as the "Dean" of the Florida Congressional Delegation, often voices the unofficial opinion of our representation here. This week he issued a statement calling for Democratic re-organization "not only on a state level, but (it) must reach down to each precinct in the State, with particular emphasis on the activities of the young voters."

At the same time he said there was no connection between his statement and the rumors that Jimmie Milligan, Orlando, Chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee, was on his way out. That rumor was given strength here last week when Milligan's name created a violent reaction at a meeting of some of the Congressional wives.

Under discussion was a plan to hold a Democratic luncheon here; sponsors by the ladies. The luncheon was to be a typical Democratic pep rally and get-together. The suggestion was made that Jimmie Milligan might be invited to come up from Florida and be the principal speaker.

That's when the storm broke. Rumors! If and when the ladies hold their luncheon, somebody other than Jimmie will be the speaker. Although he said there was no direct connection between his statement and the rumors about Milligan, Sikes did call for a "complete re-building of the party" within Florida.

He urged Democrats in the State to combat and offset the increased activity by the Republicans during the last two elections. "And the Republicans haven't stopped their efforts to make inroads in our State," Sikes said. "Recent press statements show a step-up in preparations for future elections."

Sikes said he thinks some of the Republican activity is only "the-ism" which will die now that the President is limited to two terms. "Regardless of this, there is much work to be done towards reorganization with in Democratic ranks," he said. "The party organization needs strengthening and the so-called 'Democrats for Eisenhower' should be encouraged to re-align themselves with the Democratic Party."

Florida Princess?—Friday the 15th has been set for the election of the Florida Cherry Blossom Princess. Voting will be the highlight of the annual Florida State Society Ball to be held at Belling Air Force Officers Club, 8:30 p. m. until 1:30 a. m.; dress informal; price $1.50 per person. All Floridians and friends are invited. Winner will compete for the title "Washington Cherry Blossom Queen." Candidates for Princess this year are: Betty Wilmon, Quincy; Barbara Moon, Clearwater; Andrea Anderson, Ocala; Ester Torres, Miami; Ann Davis, Palatka. She will be crowned at the Florida Ball by Elizabeth Hall, Plant City, the present reigning Princess.

Great Expectations—Congressman and Mrs. Charlie Bennett have checked their calendar for the middle of May for the arrival of a new member to their household. Both are secretly hoping it will be a girl. True to human nature, the Congressman hasn't had as much to say about this expected event as he did about the ar-

Scientists Develop 'Talking' Bomb

CHICAGO (AP)—A "talking" bomb that houses a 500-watt battery and amplifier instead of a warhead has been developed by the Cook Research Laboratories for communication to inaccessible areas.

Officials at the laboratory said the missile houses out a "voice from the sky." They said it transmits a five-minute spoken message as it plunges earthward from altitudes up to 20,000 feet.

Scientists said the 550-pound missile was developed for the Air Force primarily to transmit messages from air-to-ground to troops or civilians not reachable by regular radio transmitters. They said it could also be used to spread propaganda or panic civilian and military populations.

Officials said the recorded message can be heard clearly within a circle half a mile in diameter. A "brake" parachute rear and decreases the falling speed of the missile.

FIXING A TICKET

BILLINGS, Mont. (AP)—Fire Chief Sidney F. Morse had to go to the rescue when a policeman put an overtime parking ticket on the auto of Susan Klindt. He explained to police that the young woman was up in the air at the time—along down a fire department evacuator chute from atop city hall as part of a "Fire Prevention Week" stunt.

HUDSON, Mass. (AP)—Rev. Louis West says his church here is the smallest in the world. Reverend West, living in semi retirement as a Baptist minister, built the church which is five feet long. Four persons can be seated.

rival of Charlie Jr. who will be two years old on the 28th of June. (For a time, it looked as though Junior would outstrip his father in the amount of newspaper publicity he was getting.)
More About Screw Worms—Senator Holland's war on the costly Screw Worm is gaining ground. Six officials from the Department of Agriculture— from biologists to budgeteers—met in his office last week to figure some way to get the program going within the next 60 days.

Around World Look At Top News

By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent
United Press correspondents around the world look ahead at the news that will make the headlines.

Hot Spot
Western diplomats in Hungary are urging their governments that there may be a bloody outbreak in Budapest Friday. That's the anniversary of the 1948 revolution against Emperor Ferdinand I. Pamphlets calling for an uprising are being distributed secretly throughout the city. Premier Janos Kadar and his secret police are running scared. Kadar has revoked his decision to observe the day as a national holiday. If workers start to assemble in the streets Friday, instead of going to their jobs—watch out for trouble.

Stall
Now that Israel has pulled out of the Gaza Strip and the Gulf of Aqaba coast, the Eisenhower administration fears it will have a potful of trouble from Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser. Nasser is stilling on requests that he negotiate a 1 A temporary arrangement for movement on Suez Canal traffic and 2 A long-range settlement that would open the canal to all nations. The State Department is ready to go to the United Nations and the International Court of Justice, if necessary, to get what it wants.

Angle
One tricky angle in the Middle Eastern situation is the question of supplying arms to countries covered by the Eisenhower Doctrine. James P. Richards, the President's special ambassador, has the job of "selling" the doctrine to Arab countries. If they accept it, they will want arms. If they get arms, Israel will want them.

Official
Don't be surprised if President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, at their meeting in Bermuda, make it official that Queen Elizabeth II will visit the United States. Probably this fall, and certainly with her husband Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh. The announcement may be made at the end of the four-day Bermuda meeting which starts Mar. 21.

Cease Fire
You can expect quite a recess in Soviet nuclear weapons tests. Washington disclosed that Russia exploded a nuclear weapon last Friday. But the United Nations Disarmament subcommittee meets in London Mar. 18. The Russians are certain to make another big pitch for outlawing of nuclear warfare—now that they've made their latest test.

Cricket Becoming Household Pet

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The next time you encounter an Acheta Aspidylla, don't yield to your natural impulse to step on it because it may be worth more than you.

It's going price at the moment is as high as $5 in some cases, whereas the worth of the human body, in actual chemical value, is probably not much more than $1—even in these inflationary times. Acheta Aspidylla is the formal name, but to most of us it is the black field cricket—an unimposing little hexaped destined for respectability and prominence among humans if Desmond Slattery has anything to say about it.

Slattery, who likes to think of himself as a sort of public relations man for bugs, has plunged headlong into the highly non-competitive business of breeding the chirping insects and selling them for pets to Americans who may not have hearts. He claims his business is already booming and that he can't meet all of his orders.

To his way of thinking, pet crickets can become as much of a fad in the United States as goldfish or parakeets. He pointed out that crickets have been good luck pets in Japan for hundreds of years.

Cricket Ranch
"When I started this business about six months ago, the wholesale pet dealer I contacted with my idea was not particularly impressed," Slattery said. "He just looked at me and said, 'who the devil wants a cricket?'" But when I sold and sent out 2,000 of them at Christmas, he immediately joined with me."

Slattery, who has a cricket ranch in the Hollywood hills, says he's behind some 800 orders.

"I've got this cricket market covered," he boasted. Crickets generally cost from 35 to 75 cents and their tiny cages, built delicately with toothpicks, range from $1.50 to $3. But Slattery said some people are so impatient to get hold of the insects that they have offered him as much as $5 apiece.

"I sent out a lot of cricket cages when I was flooded with orders and a lot of people who got cages haven't got crickets yet," he commented. "A cricket cage isn't particularly useful without a cricket to go with it, but I didn't anticipate such a boom. At any rate, I've got a new crop coming up."

Slattery pointed out that the advantage crickets have over ordinary pets is that they are about as economical as you can get.

MRS. IRIS DAVENPORT

★ ★ ★ Mrs. Iris Davenport Speaks At Woman's Club Wednesday

The Sanford Woman's Club met yesterday in the club house and were entertained with a fashion show given by the members of the home demonstration club, sponsored by Miss Myrtle Wilson. The ladies modeled clothing they had made under the direction of Mrs. W. W. Clabough. Mrs. Clabough also narrated the show. After the show Mrs. J. C. Mitchell, principal of the South Side School, enthusiastically introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Davenport, editor of the Ranch and Farm Magazine and one of the six most outstanding women of the nation. Her subject was on "You Are Important." The members of the club were held spellbound as Mrs. Davenport spoke. She stated that "Individuals often lose sight of their own importance because of the multitudes of people, however, everyone is necessary for a statistic." Mrs. Davenport also quoted from Will Rogers, "A man who won't bet on himself ain't worth a darn!" "Be sure the things you do are productive so you can leave an example for some else to follow with pride." She also brought out the fact that people don't express their appreciation enough for the simple things in life. "A pat on the back can sometimes work miracles." "We all have power to bring out the best in others by giving them the recognition they need and deserve.

In conclusion she left this thought, "Don't mourn over the past; live today and live it well!" After a profusion of applause, the club presented Mrs. Davenport with a very beautifully corsaged and a link brush.

Miss Wilson expressed her appreciation to Mrs. Davenport and to the club members.

An announcement was made concerning the Civic Department's next meeting to be held Wednesday at 12 noon with Mrs. Sidney Fowler as guest speaker.

Karen Trama Honored On 9th Birthday Mar. 9

Karen Lynn Trama was honored on her ninth birthday with a party given by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Trama, at their home, 2903 S. Park Ave., last Saturday.

The "little honoree" received many lovely gifts. During the afternoon games were played and prizes won by Joann Kuhn, Peggy Doucette, Janice O'Connor, Leonard Trama and Linda Lembeck.

Refreshments of cake, ice cream and punch were served the young guests. Assisting Mrs. Trama in serving was her sister, Mrs. Daniel Jones of Orlando.

Those helping Karen celebrate her birthday were Janice O'Connor, Peggy Doucette, Joann Kuhn, Heather Tully, Nancy Emanski, Linda and Maureen Leahy, Donna Stanley, Deborah and Gregory Jones, Kathy Baur, Linda and Pat Lembeck, Valeria Atkinson, Connie Leonard and David Trama.

Miss B. Chapman Feted With Kitchen Shower Tuesday

Popular bride-elect, Miss Chapman was honored with a kitchen shower March 12 in Ormond Beach at the home of Mrs. Fran McElride.

The dining table held a very attractive arrangement of open faced sandwiches, nuts, mints, and cakes decorated with small candy wedding bells, surrounding a centerpiece of pink gladioli and white lilies springing from a gold colored umbrella.

The hostesses, Mrs. Lena Parrish, Mrs. Virginia Cross, Mrs. Esther Case, Mrs. R. O. Foster, Mrs. Dot Lamberson, Mrs. Ruth Shuck, and Mrs. Fran McBride presented Miss Chapman with measuring cups and three pieces of cooking-ware.

Guests attending the shower: Mrs. J. G. Moore, Mrs. W. K. Ballough, Mrs. Robert Merrill, Mrs. John Merrill, Mrs. D. T. Bowen, Mrs. Doris Ballard, Mrs. C. H. Money Penny, Mrs. Rollo Every, Mrs. James Wilson, Mrs. Fred Jaeger, Mrs. S. O. Cooper, Mrs. Marian Willson, Mrs. J. A. Kilpatrick, Miss Linda Kilpatrick, and Mrs. B. E. Chapman.

Phebean Meeting Held Monday Eve.

The monthly meeting of the Phebean Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church was held Monday night with the president, Mrs. B. M. Roy, as hostess, in the lovely new home of her mother, Mrs. R. L. Harvey.

The meeting opened with devotionals led by Mrs. J. W. Carter for the annual banquet were discussed.

After the meeting was adjourned games were played with prizes being won by Mrs. A. W. Woodall and Mrs. Paul W. Nebel.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess and her mother to the teacher, Mrs. J. D. Cardell, and the following members, Mrs. Ernest Peters, Mrs. R. C. Winfree, Mrs. R. L. Tenet, Mrs. H. D. Patton, Mrs. L. D. Little, Mrs. N. A. Bellefleur, Mrs. H. A. Stanley, Mrs. A. C. Doudney, Mrs. Carter, Mrs. Nebel and Mrs. Woodall.

Missionary Guild To Meet Monday

Slavia—The monthly meeting of St. Luke's Missionary Guild will be held in the school auditorium Monday at 8 p.m. The educational topic for Mrs. Ann Book on one of the series of Women of the Bible.

Miss Chapman Announces Final Wedding Plans

Miss Barbara Chapman announced final plans today for her wedding March 16 to James G. Moore Jr., at the First Methodist Church. The wedding will take place at 4 p.m. with the Rev. Milton Wyatt officiating. Soloist, Roger Harris will be accompanied by Mrs. A. Hickson at the organ.

Mrs. Alvin Kilpatrick of Maudsira Beach, sister of the bride-elect, will serve as matron of honor. Best man will be Mr. Edward Moore, brother of the bridegroom-elect. Ushers are J. Alvin Kilpatrick, George Yeager and Lt. J. Edward Urquhart.

A reception is scheduled to take place immediately after the ceremony at the Sanford Women's Club.

All friends of the couple are invited to attend.

Remember, tomorrow night is the St. Patrick's Day Dance at the E.M. Club. The "Starlighters" will be playing, and there will be free "snacks" to go with the drinks. If you haven't been out to the club for a while, remember it's been completely renovated, and there is a separate room for "couples only", with tables, and comfortable lounge chairs. The dance floor is in this room also, and the other parts are also partitioned off, so there is room for each facility. Do try and get to the dance, for it is our club, and it needs the support of everyone.

Well, here's the bad news all you dependents have been waiting for. The hours for the base pool have been released by Capt. Jackson and are as follows: Week-days, Monday through Friday, the pool will be open to dependents from 10:00 A.M. until 3:00 P.M. It will now close at 6:00 P.M., and these hours, from 3:00 until 6:00, are for the men only. No dependents will be allowed to use the pool during these hours. This, unfortunately, will also hold true over the weekend. No dependents will be allowed to use the pool on Saturdays, Sundays. No one could be sorer than I am that this is the way it will be, but, to quote another old cliché, "You can't fight City Hall!" However, the Lake Golden Recreation Area will be available to all dependents during the hours when the pool is not, and for those who might prefer a lake, or don't mind swimming in one, the area has been freed up for this purpose.

Mr. and Mrs. James Greenwood are back from their honeymoon, and are now residing on E. 18th Street. Jim is another "Savage Son" of V.A.H. 5, and my husband's third-crewman. His brand new wife is the former Miss Joan Briggs, of London, England. We had them over for the evening, last Tuesday, and I think Jim is a very fortunate fellow. Joan is a very pretty and sweet girl, though still a little strange to this country, and, of course, to Sanford. I hope she'll learn to like Sanford, and feel as much at home here as I do.

Have wanted to mention the coming Navy Appreciation Day that the Jaycees are putting on the end of this month. Just can't help thinking what a wonderful way for a town to show that they do want to keep the Navy here. I've read lots of articles about how towns have fought having government bases near them and about how really "rough" the civilians can make it for service people in such towns, and I can't help thinking how very fortunate we of the Navy are, to be stationed in a town like Sanford, where the absolute opposite is the "rule", and not the exception.

Remember, my phone number 1760-B, in case anyone would like to call me with news.

Open Letter From Sanford Boat, Ski Club

The Sanford Boat and Ski Club wish to extend our most sincere appreciation to all the organizations and individuals who contributed financially, material, and personal assistance to the success of our first Outboard Regatta. We wish to thank the State, County, and City safety departments for the excellent handling of traffic at the racing site. And our thanks go to the Sanford National Guard; a wonderful demonstration in training was given by the courteous young men in the handling of communications with the Handy Talky.

The race drivers and their crew certainly deserve credit for the performance given under such adverse conditions. We hope they will come back again next year.

And to add to the success of the entire venture was the wonderful publicity given by the newspapers, radio, and TV programs. As a result, the largest crowd to see an outboard race was on hand at the Sanford Outboard Regatta.

With more time and experience, we hope to have a much better race next year. In the meantime, we are studying the feasibility of more water shows for Sanford and Lake Moava.

Seminoles Make Good Showing In Practice Game Tuesday Against Winter Park Team

In the last practice game before the regular season opener next Tuesday night in Memorial Stadium against Winter Park, the Sanford Seminoles proved to be coming around rapidly as the Whites and Reds went six innings and came up with a 2-2 deadlock. The enthusiasm seemed high and the boys are looking forward to the game.

In a vote among the candidates yesterday afternoon the team elected Brantley Schirard as team captain. Schirard plays right field and is considered one of the potential sluggers for the team. After the game baseball mentor Dave Laude posted the potential starting lineup after a last chance to cast a discerning eye over the crowd of 30 eager candidates. Rookie Russi landed the berth at short stop; Johnny Yeakle, at present the top slugger for the Seminoles, got the nod for center field. Freshman David Bramlett showed he had the desire to play winning ball and got the nod for third base. Schirard settled down at right field, while Johnny Barley took over the left field position. Doyle Corley, strong arm thrower with fast reflexes and a good placement hitter, was elected to the second base position. Al Stanley hauled in first base, and sophomore Cecil Dandridge works behind the plate.

their captain, and first baseman Stanley are both seniors with a good attitude and some experience. Russi, Yeakle, Barley, and Corley are juniors eager to learn, and Dandridge is a fast-rising sophomore. Protege of the team is freshman Bramlett. In today's game Ken McMurray proved to be steady and capable while Eddie Barbour showed his fire and strength on the mound. Both hurlers will share pitching assignments and will probably alternate starts when the season progresses.

The wise move for the season opener next Tuesday night seems to point to Barbour as the starter. Barbour has strength, power, and speed; but he lacks consistency due to his nervousness on the mound. Behind him will be the cool calmness of McMurray, who is a whiz in the pinch. Starting Barbour will give the team insurance and at the same time give him the much needed experience to give him a solid footing of confidence such as that possessed by McMurray. With a few games' experience behind them, the pitching staff should be well rounded in everything but number. In this afternoon's practices there were several members of the team that showed a lot of improvement. The game of baseball, as such, prohibits one coach mentoring two teams, but each Laude is going to try his hand at it in some instances with a few scheduled B games. "A lot of the boys that came out and didn't place first in the race for the starting lineup are actually being discriminated against. Some of them have the actual innate ability to be top-notch ball players but just don't have enough experience to give them some game ball sense. We need a B team badly to give the boys some game experience and develop them. I can't possibly run two teams, but I am going to schedule two or three B games. We have already made arrangements with Oviedo for one B game and we may play them twice. If I can find some of the smaller schools that will be good competition for the boys, but not completely over their heads, I may try to schedule two or three more," Laude said.

Before issuing game uniforms yesterday afternoon, Laude aimed remarks to the boys who didn't make the team. "I hope every one of you will stay out this season," he said. "A lot of you could have made the team if you had had a little more experience. If you will work hard, show your desire and improvement, and display it on the practice fields, you will take over some of the other boy's uniforms if you show that you want to play more than the man on the team."

Tar Heels Boast 28 Wins In Row

By OSCAR FARLEY
NEW YORK UP—North Carolina's Yankee Tar Heels boasted an unblemished 28 wins in a row today, but for a time as they came "home" to Madison Square Garden they wished they were playing an "away" game in Dixie.

Way down south in the land of cotton, the "Tar Heels"—four from New York and one from New Jersey—breasted to 27 in a row and the Atlantic Coast Conference championship this season.

But as the North Carolina five played before their mothers, fathers, sisters and brothers in the NCAA regional against Yale Tuesday night, they had a hard time getting started.

They Were Tight
In the parlance of North Carolina Coach Frank McGuire — another New Yorker — they were "tight before the home folks."

There was more to it than that, if the truth be known. The customers couldn't be blamed if they thought Yale was North Carolina and vice versa. Dixiecrats in the gallery had a tough time deciding on their loyalties.

a blonde Floridian named Tom Sargent. And to make it worse, he was aided by a riotous red-head named John Lee, who just might have been kin to Old Mars-se Robert.

Lee A Headache
Sargent was the Yale playmaker and Lee was pumping them in from the outside with the unflinching accuracy of a blue-plick bound on the trail of a Carolina con. Lee was such a headache that, when he finally fouled out, all the Yankee Tar Heels rushed over to pump his hand in congratulatory relief.

But the Carolina carpetbaggers had too much for the champions, of the Ivy League. Col. Lennie Rosenbluth, pride and joy of North Carolina by way of the Bronx, upheld his All-America rating by scoring a leading 27 points in Carolina's 90-74 triumph.

Colonels Pete Brennan and Joe Quigg, a pair of Carolinians from the Bronx — the south of the Bronx, that is — suh — helped wear down the Ivy League opposition. Col. Bob Cunningham, a grits and gravel guard from Manhattan, could be toasted in the best corn available for his part.

And Col. Tommy Kearns, out of Bergenfield, N. J., was a starwart in the true traditions of an ern starter on the floor. He was

Conring The News

BY VIRGINIA CONN

All the news tonight isn't fit to print, and I'm beginning to think it's presumptuous of me to call this a navy column when I have so little to report. I spent all of this morning in Orlando at a meeting of the public relations board of the Citrus Council of Girl Scouts. A tremendous amount of work goes into this program, so this organization which celebrated its forty-fifth birthday on Tuesday, can offer the girls of this nation the opportunity to grow into well-balanced and accomplished young women. In many ways it is refreshing to meet a group of women who weigh fifteen cents many times before spending it, especially after one has served on committees when dollars are the only tender ever mentioned.

Circle Nine Meet Held In Morgan Home, Monday

Mrs. John Morgan was hostess to Circle nine of the First Methodist Church, Monday afternoon at her home on Grandview Ave. The session was presided over by Mrs. R. T. Warren, chairman.

Mrs. Morgan gave the devotional and the 23rd Psalm as her theme. She read the very interesting Indian version of this Psalm and emphasized the fact we should not worry about tomorrow. A prescription given by a doctor for nerves and unhappiness was to read this Psalm five times a day. The Lord's Prayer was given in unison by the group.

Miss Ella Bolton read the minutes and took the roll call. Mrs. M. L. Wright, treasurer collected dues and made her report. Mrs. J. M. McClelland gave the sunshine report and the amount in the birthday apron. Mrs. McClelland and Mrs. Tench both told members of the lovely time they all had at the birthday party they gave for the shut-in, Mrs. Farrell. Mrs. Tench brought a cake and Mrs. Hudson the fruit juice and sang "Happy Birthday" to Mrs. Farrell.

Mrs. Warren announced a district meeting of the WSCS in Titusville, March 22. Also, a rummage sale to be held on Sanford Ave., March 23. All those having articles for this sale are to leave them in the room on the right at the Fifth St. entrance. All members are urged to contribute.

Mrs. Carl Williams gave the fifth chapter from the study book on the problems of the church. It was interesting to note how the problems of the church 2000 years ago are similar to problems today. Mrs. Warren welcomed Mrs. Keller as a visitor and she gave some interesting highlights of her circle in Penn.

Those attending were: Mrs. R. T. Warren, Mrs. Russell Tench, Mrs. Ruth Lundquist, Mrs. Henry Lamb, Mrs. Peter Moore, Mrs. J. E. McClelland, Mrs. J. M. McClelland, Mrs. John Morgan, Mrs. Lida Stall, Mrs. Raymond Shultz, Mrs. O. S. Tolaz, Mrs. M. L. Wight, Mrs. Carl Williams, Miss Ella Bolton and Mrs. Keller.

Children Love Color
To a child, colorful food is party food. A couple of chocolate cookies, a glass of pretty strawberry drink (made of whole milk and milkshake mix), a dish of shimmering green and red cubes, made easily with lime and cherry-flavored gelatin . . . any of these makes a child's eyes turn bright with pleasure and anticipation.

Tasty Rice Dish
If the rest of your meal tends to be bland or all light in color, this golden rice will lift it from everyday to perfection. Brown a half cup of raw rice with a can of mushrooms (drained) in two tablespoons of butter or margarine. Add a can of condensed onion soup, a half cup of water, cover and cook on top of your gas range for 20 to 25 minutes.

Garden Gate

By MADIE B. GUT

The Spring Flower Show is to be held at the Mayfair Inn on April 13 and 14 so let's be putting our flowers and plants in condition for this event.

Since roses take about six weeks to produce flowers from the new growth, we hope you have already pruned your bushes. Use a high potash fertilizer to strengthen stems, and spray plants ten days to two weeks ahead of show. Obvious signs of neglect lose many points for the exhibit, so strive for clean, healthy specimens. When buds show, remove all but the strongest so the strength of the plant will go into this one flower. This does not apply to spray type roses of course, whose main beauty is in its clusters of bloom. The rose, and all other flowers should be just reaching their peak which is usually just before the pollen sheds. A half open bud nor a very full blown rose will not receive a blue ribbon.

Cut flowers in early morning or late afternoon and immediately place upright in room temperature water, after removing any excess foliage. Specimens cut from plants with milky sap will hold up better if plunged into very hot water immediately after cutting.

Condition flowers and foliage as follows: Roses—one teaspoon of alum to bucket of water; Snapdragons—one teaspoon of sugar to gallon of water; Nasturtiums—sugar and water to harden; Calli-lily foliage—one half cup of vinegar to gallon of water.

House plants should be free of dust and dirt. The foliage may be wiped off with clear water but not with oil or glycerine.

Flower arrangements—A good arrangement must have these dimensions: height, width and depth. In judging table arrangements the judges look for "texture"; flowers, cloth, dishes, etc. must blend or harmonize.

In judging modern arrangement is noted for stylization and simplicity.

When an accessory is used it should be about one-third the height of the arrangement, or may be in height instead. If a background is used in niche, have it the heaviest or darkest color that appears in the arrangement. Be sure your arrangement does not touch sides or back of niche, or protrude out front. It should be several inches below top of niche.

Schedule of show will appear in paper at a later date. Study it and note, in case of annuals and perennials etc., whether it calls for one stem, three stems, a stalk or a spray as the case may be. Also try to have the botanical name of each specimen, when possible.

Enjoy your show.

Number Of U. S. Job-Holders Rises

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government has reported that the number of American job-holders rose by 612,000 last month to a total of 63,190,000.

This was a record for February and recouped part of the big decline in January. The commerce and labor departments said the February rise was larger than usual for this time of year. The unemployed total was 3,121,000, a decline of 123,000 from January.

The employment total was about 900,000 higher than in February 1936. In January, the employment total had declined by 1.7 million persons to about the same level as in January 1936.

The departments said the increase between January and February was due largely to job pickups in agriculture and among the self-employed.

It was explained that the February rise in employment was much larger than the decline in unemployment because most of the people who got jobs last month had not been looking for work in January and thus were not counted as part of the labor force in January.

Farm employment rose by 260,000 persons to total 5,193,000 due to the big improvement in weather conditions.

Non-farm jobs rose by 353,000 to total 57,997,000, a record level for February and about one million ahead of February, 1936. Most of this rise for the month was among self-employed and domestic service workers, and the departments said.

Factory jobs dipped slightly to 17 million, however, instead of increasing a little as usual.

A REAL JOLT
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Sadou Sakaguchi, 23, recently arrived from Japan, and his friend Hob-lida Kyoko, 27, were recovering today from the effects of the American "cocktail." Miss Kyoko told doctors she was under the impression that laundry bleach they had drunk was "an acceptable American cocktail."

the Snapshot Guild

If you study the picture in your viewfinder as closely as this attractive West Point visitor does, you'll improve your snapshotting greatly.

A few minutes ago we heard a group of youngsters outside our window chanting "Finders—keepers." Now, we thought, there's a good phrase for all picture takers to remember. For only if you really use your viewfinder—and use it properly—will you get pictures that you'll be proud of and want to keep.

With your eye centered on the viewfinder—and a second look before you click—you'll learn to see as your camera "sees." Make sure you've caught the scene you want in the viewfinder—then check to see that the picture elements are arranged to show up clearly.

For example, if you're shooting a dark-colored subject, try to get it against a fairly light-colored background. Without such contrast, your camera won't be able to "see" enough to give you a really good picture. If you're taking close-ups, you'll want to avoid "scalping" your subject. The best plan is to aim your camera so that the viewfinder shows an inch or two of air space over the subject's head. And in every case, be sure the action to be pictured is not lost against a distracting, cluttered background.

We think it's worthwhile to practice playing "finders—keepers." Just remember your camera can't give you a better picture than the one you see in the viewfinder. That's why a look before you click will pay off in all your picture taking.

Milk Drink Gains Iron with Molasses Addition

With modern America's year-long supply of fruits and vegetables and vitamin D enriched milk, a bitter potion of sulphur and molasses no longer need alert the body after a winter shortage of vitamins and minerals. However, unadorned molasses, an outstanding source of iron, is still a good addition to the daily menu. A tablespoon of this sweet, aromatic molasses stirred into a glass of milk supplies iron and gives the milk a taffy flavor. Accompanying cookies are exciting enough to cause a cart wheel of joy. Giants in size, they are crisp and delicate of molasses and spice.

Molasses Cart Wheels

3/4 cups sifted all-purpose flour	1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon salt	1 cup shortening
1/4 teaspoon soda	1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon ginger	1 egg
1/2 cup unadorned molasses

Sift together flour, salt, soda and spices. Cream shortening and sugar until light and fluffy. Blend in egg and unadorned molasses. Gradually add dry ingredients; mix well. Chill in refrigerator 1 hour. Roll out 1/4 inch thick on lightly floured board or pastry cloth, keeping remaining dough chilled. Cut with 3-inch cookie cutter. Bake on ungreased cookie sheets in a moderate oven, (375° F.) 10 minutes. YIELD: 3 dozen cookies.

Sergeant Looking For Rose Murphy

NEW YORK (AP)—T. Sgt. Allen G. Mainard of the United States Marine Corps is looking for a lady named Rose Murphy. He's never seen her and doesn't know what she looks like and doesn't have any special message for her. But Al says: "I just want to say hello and thank her for everything." Al and I met in Korea in 1950 just after the Inchon landing, when he was a combat correspondent with the Marines. He's now a staff writer in Washington for Leatherneck, the Marine Corps magazine. He came through New York on an assignment and started looking for Mrs. Murphy. Here's why: "At the Inchon landing, Sept. 15, 1950, I was in the fifth wave, Blue Peach Two, George Company, Third Batt, First Marines, General Puller commanding. We got mortar fire, took several casualties, but this Ralph Murphy, from Brooklyn, was the only man killed on our beach, far as I know. Just a kid, 17 or 18. "Did you see him killed?" Letter from Sweetheart "No," said Al, "and when only a few guys get shot it doesn't make much of an impression on you. Well, after Seoul had been captured and we were moving out for a new landing, I was on the dock getting ready to get on the boat and I got a letter from this boy's girl friend. She was writing for his mother, who had got a report he died on Sept. 15. "But the mother had got a letter from him postmarked Sept. 22, a week later, and she didn't believe he was dead. The girl friend said they got my name from seeing some of my stories in the paper and would I please find out if he was really dead. Well, I had two hours before the boat left so I went to the Marine cemetery at Inchon. "On a white cross I found his dogtag with his name and serial number. Then I hitch-hiked out into the harbor to his company on an I-5T and talked to the guys who saw him killed. Then I wrote her. "Before we got to the Chosin reservoir, I got a thank-you letter from his mother, Rose Murphy, 118 Washington Walk, Brooklyn, N. Y. I remember it well. After that reserve deal, I forgot all about mail and everything—I wasn't writing to anybody. Then I got another letter—just that she was praying for me. It was at a time I needed it. Gifts from Mother "I answered. And she began sending me chatty letters, a nice kind of mail to get, and I wasn't getting much from anybody else. I always wrote her at that same address. Then she began sending me presents, homemade cakes, cookies, candy. I sort of felt she was adopting me. "Her letters meant a lot for me. But I just gradually slipped away from her. I don't know why... it sort of died out. I came back home in 1951. Al couldn't find any Rose Murphy in the Brooklyn telephone book. And this is an odd one—the only addresses on Washington Walk are 135 and 140. A United Press call to the New York Housing Authority brought word that no record of a Rose Murphy ever living there could be found. Al is stumped. He figures he'll go back to Washington and write one more letter to 145 Washington Walk. Will anything happen?

THE BLONDE DIED DANCING
by KELLEY ROOS

CHAPTER 21
THE NEXT morning Steve and I left our apartment together. He was on his way to the office for two reasons. A: the relatively important one of giving his boss the impression that he was still working for his newspaper; B: to dig into the back number files to see if he could learn anything about the apparently accidental death of a man named Walter in the month of August.

I was on my way to the Crescent School of Dancing for a number of reasons. Perhaps Leone Webb, having lived with Anita, might know of a man called Stubby. And there were some questions which Steve had thought up for me to ask Jack Walton and Eddie Harris.

I reached the fourteenth floor and saw that Leone was busy at her reception desk with some people, but she had time to spot me. She gave me a message. Mr. Bell was perplexed. "No... no, I use an electric razor."

I got up and leaned across the desk toward him. "Oh, sorry," I said. "It's nothing, just some lipstick."

"Lipstick?" Mr. Bell was mortified. "No, it must be blood. I mean..."

"No, it's lipstick, all right. Don't worry."

He strode across the room, examined himself in a wall mirror... and my brain buzzed. While his back was still to me, I opened my purse. My yesterday's gloves were still in it. The orange stain from the mouth of my assailant outside Anita's apartment splashed up at me. It was similar enough to the stain on Mr. Bell's collar to almost convince me they were identical. Unless Mr. Bell was unfaithful in his devotion to Leone Webb, I knew who my assailant was. But I wanted to make sure.

I closed in on my man. "Mr. Bell," I said.

He turned back to me, his face flushed like a trapped schoolboy. "Heater," he said. "Heater, I can't imagine how..."

"Mr. Bell, don't be embarrassed. I understand completely."

"You... understand?"

"I know it the moment I saw you together. You were being so distant to each other, so business-like. But I could see it."

"Between you... you and Leone Webb. Congratulations, Mr. Bell."

"Good Lord... you're sharp!"

"About love... yes. When will you be married? Soon, I hope, for both your sakes."

"Look here, Heater..."

"Yes!"

"Before I change my shirt I'm going to confide in you. I feel I must explain."

"Is it necessary to explain, Mr. Bell? I'm not investigating you, sir."

"No, no... you see, I've made"

The Top-Notch Bridge Player

A United Press Extra WASHINGTON (U)—The four men sat around a small table in the second floor study of the White House, their democracy solemn, their concentration absolute.

"Finally one broke the silence. 'Pass,' said the President of the United States.

Then the slightest of grins passed over the face of Mr. Eisenhower, for he had succeeded again in the favorite tactic of getting his bridge opponents out on a limb. The hand was played in one or two minutes and the President's opponents went down six tricks—which is about as bad a shelling as you can take in a bridge hand.

It happened not many nights ago at one of the frequent bridge sessions that the President enjoys with his close friends.

Mr. Eisenhower is so well known as a golfer that it is seldom realized he is not only a far better bridge player than a golfer but that he comes close to the championship class in the card game.

A Top-Notch Player A friend and fellow player of the President was asked by the United Press what kind of game Mr. Eisenhower plays. He told about the no trump hand as an illustration and then went on: "The President plays one of the best games I've ever seen. He has the three qualities essential for bridge—a mathematical mind, an excellent memory and a complete gift of concentration. I would say he and General Gruenther who is one of the nation's top players are of about the same caliber."

Is he an aggressive or defensive bridge player? "Well, like everybody, he delights in getting a bid hand and going to game or slam. But he is the kind of player who gets even a bigger kick out of making the most of poor cards and setting his opponents."

"Some of the people he plays with have the common failing of overconfidence and reading more value into hands than they have—and he is quick to take advantage of it."

Follows Goren Is he a Goren or a Cubertson man? "Oh, he knows all the widely played systems. But he usually plays Goren because that is what most of us play. He is certainly not a reckless bidder and seldom a psychic bidder."

The President's most frequent bridge cronies are Gruenther; George Allen; William H. Robinson, president of Coca Cola; Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey and Clifford Roberts, New York investment banker. They interchange as partners.

They play for small point stakes and occasionally make side bets when a rubber gets close. A great deal of good-natured banter is exchanged between hands but the playing is serious.

91 Florida Youths Illegally Employed On Northern Farms JACKSONVILLE — Ninety-one Florida children were found illegally employed on farms in northern states during the Government's fiscal year 1956, according to Francis M. Quigley, investigation supervisor of the U. S. Labor Department's Wage-Hour Division field office here.

The children, all of them under 16, were members of Florida families which annually move in crews through various northern states to take part in the vegetable and fruit harvest.

The state in which the greatest number of Florida boys and girls were found working was New Jersey, where 47 were employed at times when they should have been in school; there were 20 in Virginia, eight in Maryland, and seven in other northern states.

"Federal law makes the same rules apply to farm employment in other states as in Florida," Quigley said, "and it is important that crew leaders and labor contractors learn something about them in order to avoid penalties which can be up to $10,000 fine for willful violations."

Migrant children should attend school in the district where they are living. "One of the first activities on reaching a new area where work is to be done," he said, "should be to enroll children in the local school."

If it is intended that children under 16 work after school or on days where there is no school, migrant parents should take their children's birth certificates or other proof of age for the protection of the employer or crew leader. Wage-Hour investigators will be making child labor investigations on farms in all states this year, Quigley pointed out, and added that crew leaders planning to go north soon should get a copy of the Labor Department's folder on "Child Labor in Agriculture", available without charge from his office located at 338 U. S. Post Office and Court House, in Jacksonville.

NO SPLITTING HAIRS HARRISBURG—Partners John Hibner and Clyde Patton have their own ideas about naming their barber shop and geography doesn't influence their choice one bit.

WASHINGTON (U)—Meads Alcorn, new chairman of the Republican National Committee, keeps telling his party it can win back control of Congress in the 1958 elections.

To some of his listeners, the job seems very tough, if not impossible. Alcorn thinks victory can be won by doing three things: strengthening the party organization, nominating vote-attracting candidates and presenting a good program.

As for the program, he says President Eisenhower's is all that is needed. Executive Committee Meets GOP managers at the national level have been talking about how to regain control of Congress ever since they failed to do so last year while Mr. Eisenhower was winning reelection by a landslide.

This how-to-do-it question was the chief topic on the agenda for today's session of the Executive Committee of the Republican National Committee. From the GOP viewpoint, winning House and Senate majorities in the 1958 elections looks like a strenuous assignment. WILHELM SOEMER, 28, horrifies a crowd gathered in a Vienna, Austria, street as he stands slitting a self-made cross while preparing to leap from a ledge of the Albrechtstrasse Monument. Several hundred persons saw him slash his chest and arms with broken glass as police closed in to rescue him. A few minutes later, he plunged (right) but the Viennese policemen were waiting for him with a fire net. Soemer, who had previously been committed to mental institutions, was subdued and taken to a psychiatric ward.

Snapshots like this—tucked between the pages of a letter or placed in a special folder—will be welcomed by family and friends.

Snapshots Make Your Letters Welcome

How many times has something like this happened at your house? You get a batch of wonderful snapshots back from the photographer, and immediately decide you must enclose a picture or two in your next letter to Aunt Mamie or Cousin Fred. But somehow weeks slide by and the letter just doesn't get written—or if it does, it's posted without a picture because the prints have already been put away.

All you have to do is slip your snapshot, tuck the folds into its envelope, address it and send it on its friendly way to someone you're thinking about. Some folders are available with Happy Birthday greetings printed on them; others, without any printed message, may be used for any occasion or as party invitations and special announcements.

Orange Crop May Be Bigger Than Expected

LAKELAND (U)—Florida Citrus Mutual General Manager Robert W. Rutledge hinted that if the federal estimate of the Florida citrus crop is correct, the state may produce even more oranges than expected this season.

The Agriculture Department Monday estimated the Florida orange crop at 94 million boxes. The estimate was the same last month.

"Since the total estimate this month was not changed, it is significant to note that the total volume of oranges yet to be harvested in the United States is about 1.5 million boxes less than last year at this time," Rutledge said.

He explained that in spite of this estimate, "Florida has 1.5 million boxes more Valencia's indicated to be harvested compared with last year's" at the same time.

The Agriculture Department put the total 1956-57 orange and tangerine crop at 128,415,000 boxes.

President Roosevelt in 1928. That one backed off.

GOP Senators seeking reelection next year will include Sens Joseph R. McCarthy Wis., William E. Jenner Ind. and George W. Malone, Nev., who do not claim the "Modern Republicanism" label.

On the basis of his attitude so far, Alcorn is not expected to try to read such men out of the party.

one per cent more than last year and 17 per cent above average. The estimate for Florida was 94 million boxes compared to 88.5 million for California. All of the estimated 4.8 million boxes of Tangerines are produced in Florida.

The grapefruit crop for the state was estimated at 35 million boxes and the Florida lime crop at 4,000 boxes.

$516,993,000 Taken Off President's Request For Operating Funds

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee today slashed $516,993,000 off President Eisenhower's requests for funds to operate 18 government agencies, including civil defense and the Veterans Administration.

It ordered a general belt-tightening by public servants, calling for fewer new cars, less travel, stabilized payrolls, reduced office space and fewer falls on new public buildings.

The 8.7 per cent bite out of the $5,822,185,000 requested to run the independent offices was in line with the announced determination of the committee and of the House to trim a substantial amount off Mr. Eisenhower's record 71.8 billion dollar budget.

The action followed a budget-cutting move by the administration itself. Federal Housing Chief Albert M. Cole recommended a 200 million dollar cut in fund for government housing programs.

The house committee made its biggest reduction in funds for the Federal Civil Defense Administration. It allowed only 39.3 million of the 130 million requested, a cut of 90.7 million.

The committee cited the President's own remarks at a press conference on Feb. 7. Mr. Eisenhower said then that the likelihood of any nation's using atomic weapons in an attack "grows less, I think, every year."

Veterans compensation and pensions lost 149.3 million off a request of $2,840,500,000. Overall, the committee chopped VA's budget from $4,890,363,000 to $4,632,705,300. Funds for hospital and medical care were not touched.

VIENNA, Austria (AP)— Communist fears of a new freedom revolution turned Budapest into a smogged camp today. The Red army which crushed the October uprising stationed tanks and troops at key points throughout the city. The puppet Hungarian government called for daylong Communist meetings around the country.

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)— The government was alerted today for new attempts by revolutionary "suicide squads" to assassinate President Fulgencio Batista or other high officials of his regime. Military sources said the anti-Batista student movement still is very much alive despite the deaths of two of its principal leaders in Wednesday's abortive attack on the presidential palace.

NEW YORK (AP)— President Eisenhower is seriously considering a constitutional amendment that would authorize the vice president to exercise temporarily the powers and duties of a president during any disabling illness of the nation's chief executive, the New York Times reported today.

Boat, Ski Club Names New Officers

A slate of 17 officers was elected last night at a meeting of the Sanford Boat and Ski Club.

The new officers will serve until March of 1958.

Elected to head the organization was Dr. A. W. "Bud" Woodall who was named Commodore.

Vice Commodore is Jeff Davis.

The new secretary-treasurer named at last night's meeting was J. Leon Taylor.

Other officers are: Joe Nicholas, Don Smith, Dr. A. W. Epps, and John E. Padgett who were selected for the Board of Directors; Ronald Taylor, Don Smith, and Rhondel McMillan were named to the publicity and membership committee; Frank Woodruff, Dr. Jack Morrison, and Mrs. John Padgett were elected to the program and attendance committee; Fred Smith, Sonny Hawkins, and Ed Pell were elected to the auditing committee; and Robert Gougeon was elected cruise master.

Legion To Observe 38th Anniversary, Initiation Monday

A joint initiation and birthday celebration will be observed Monday night at the meeting of the Campbell-Looming Post 53, American Legion.

According to today's issue of "Post (53) Scripta", the local legion membership bulletin, a birthday party will be held Monday night at which the Legion Auxiliary will furnish the supper. The Post will be 38 years old, said the bulletin.

In addition to the anniversary celebration, 13 new members will be initiated. Those who will become members of the local American Legion Post are: Gilbert J. Blocker, Edwin D. Hunt, Curtis H. Dunaway, Berl D. Henson, George H. Bergstrom Jr., Joseph A. Ervin, Russell L. Young, Harold Glatrap, Joe T. Magerly, Rivers Jones, Robert D. Batten, Wilbur K. "Webb" Jones, Mora W. Rouse, Donald T. Reagan, Wilfred J. Holland, and Ralph D. Hackett.

Officials of the post say that no reservations are necessary to attend the supper and celebration Monday night.

The birthday of the local American Legion Post falls on Mar. 15 17 but will be celebrated Monday night, the closest meeting date to the formal organization date of the group.

Present membership of the post is now 349.

Machine Will Be Shown At Ladies' Night Monday

The Sanford Lions Club will stage a Ladies' Night program at its regular meeting Monday night at the Yacht Club.

Wives of Lions Club members are invited to attend, according to an announcement made today by W. Hugh Duncan, secretary of the club.

The program Monday night will consist of a demonstration of an eye-testing machine which the club is contemplating purchasing for presentation to the Seminole School System for use in testing the eyes of school children.

Don Conry of Jacksonville, representing the Keystone View Company will be the guest speaker and demonstrate the machine.

The club has invited as its guests for the Monday night meeting, Superintendent of Schools R. T. Millwee, Administrative Assistant Stewart Gatchel, Dr. Terry Bird, Seminole County Health Officer, and the Seminole County Nurses.

The Sanford Lions Club, at their last meeting, unanimously adopted a resolution to be drawn up by Volie A. Williams Jr., to support the "efforts to retain the Sanford Naval Air Station" in Seminole County.

Prison Head Will Ask Legislature To Stiffen Laws

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—State Prison Director Richard Culver today prepared to ask the Legislature to stiffen criminal laws by setting a 10-year penalty for mutiny or rioting in a prison.

Culver proposed legislation to provide penalties in connection with convict riots and the holding of hostages by inmates to the Governor's Advisory Committee on Criminal Justice Thursday.

But State Atty. W. A. Hallows III, Jacksonville, said that although there was approval of the proposal, they did not fall into the field for which the committee was created. He suggested Culver submit the idea to the Legislature independently.

Professor Crooms Dies Yesterday

Professor J. N. Crooms, 74, retired principal of Crooms Academy, died yesterday at Seminole Memorial Hospital following a short illness.

Professor Crooms was born in Monticello June 17, 1881.

He attended Live Oak High School and Florida A & M College from which he received his Masters degree in 1919.

Professor Crooms started his teaching career in Suwannee County in 1903 and came to Orange County, before Seminole County was founded, in 1904 and started teaching here where he has remained until his retirement in 1943.

He was the first and only principal of Crooms Academy until his retirement. When Crooms Academy was built, an honor was conferred upon him when the school was named for him.

Professor Crooms was a member of St. Paul's Baptist Church and other fraternal and civic organizations.

Funeral arrangements are to be announced later. Burton Funeral Home is in charge.

Dial System Goes Into Effect Sunday

DAMAGE TO THIS AUTOMOBILE was estimated at $300 last night following an accident at the intersection of South Sanford Ave. and the old Orlando Highway. The Packard automobile, shown above, skidded over 300 feet before coming to a stop. The car slammed into a parked automobile, a building, and then around the block structure on the old Orlando Highway. James Edward Coburn was the driver. (Staff Photo)

Change Starts 2 a. m.

Sanford will wake up Sunday morning to experience a dream that it has been looking forward to for many months—dial telephone service.

During the wee hours of the morning, at approximately 2 a. m., the "heat coils" in the manually operated telephone exchange, amid a possible few tears, will be pulled with a similar operation taking place at the new dial exchange on Laurel Ave. at 9th St., to signal the start of dial phone service.

Thousands upon thousands of hours on the part of hundreds of technicians have been consumed in making ready the newest dial telephone exchange equipment for Sanford and surrounding area customers.

Underground cables have been laid, overhead cables have been strung, cable splices in a myriad of locations have been completed to join customers of Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Co. with the outside world in every direction.

A building into which every piece of equipment had been literally "staked" to take care of the growing demand for phone service in the Sanford area will be evacuated. Operators who, up to now, have answered "number please", will now become Long Distance Dial Operators, who with the flip of their fingers and a literal "flash" can connect telephone callers with distant and remote areas. (Continued on Page 3)

Docks, Terminals To Be Subject Of Rotary Talk

Members of the Sanford Rotary Club will receive some important information at their regular weekly meeting Monday noon at the Yacht Club pertaining to the feasibility and practicability of building the docks and terminals about which there has been much discussion, recently.

W. M. Hostwick, Daytona Beach engineer, who has made a survey for the Florida Power and Light Co., will tell the local Rotarians the facts about the matter and, if John Kluder, manager of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce and member of the Board of County Commissioners, will try to answer any questions offered from the floor of the meeting. It was announced by Gordon Bradley, program chairman for the day.

According to Dr. Charles L. Persons, club president, the meeting should prove of interest to all business and professional men here.

Tax Deadline Still Apr. 15

WASHINGTON (AP)—Today is the 15th of March—the day Julius Caesar was assassinated and Americans used to pay their income tax.

March 15 was the deadline for paying personal income taxes for years. But now it's just another day.

The 1951 Internal Revenue Act gave the taxpayers another month to work on their tax forms. Since 1955 the deadline has been April 15.

Authorities Confiscate 'Shine; Arrest 2 Men

Two men were brought before Judge Ernest Housholder this morning charged with possession of moonshine whiskey.

Both men, one white and the other Negro were held under bonds of $2,500, set by Judge Housholder.

W. M. "Billy" Jacobs, of Chulucita, said to be 76-years-old was taken into custody about one mile from his home just off a dirt road as one five-gallon jug of moonshine whiskey was placed on a truck. Another five-gallon jug was already on the truck when Sheriff Luther Holby and Deputy Sheriff Morgan McClelland jumped from their hiding place to arrest them.

Man Unhurt As Car Hits Parked Auto, Slams Into Building

The back end of a 1952 Packard automobile was smashed in, a 1955 Mercury was damaged, and a plate glass window at Bob's Oyster Bar was shattered, when the Packard, driven by James Edward Coburn, 26-year-old Navy boy, skidded more than 107 yards turning and twisting as it traveled.

Shortly after 10 o'clock last night, Coburn was traveling south on Sanford Ave. apparently at a high rate of speed when he came to the intersection, Sanford Ave. and the Old Orlando Highway.

Trooper T. Mark Mack of the Florida Highway Patrol said the automobile skidded 75 yards before smashing into the Mercury automobile parked in front of the Oyster Bar, another four yards when it hit the Mercury and slammed 28 yards before it came to a stop behind the building on the Old Orlando Highway.

Coburn was unhurt but apparently shook up from the effects of the smashup.

Schools Are Closed Today So Teachers Can Attend Confab

Seminole County Schools were closed today to allow teachers to attend the Florida Education Association's convention being held this weekend in Tampa.

Committees of the association had a proposal ready today which would oppose any means to end a free public school system, regardless of any racial integration measures which might be adopted.

"We believe that a strong public school system is fundamental to the well being of the state and to the people," the resolution said. "No issue, however critical, should prevent our wholehearted support and maintenance of the public school system."

The recommendation will be presented to the 6,000 delegates of the FEA's 72nd annual convention on Saturday. Also to be presented at that time will be a resolution supporting expansion of the educational television outlets in Florida.

The FEA resolutions committee said it endorsed the stand reaffirming support of the free public school system in view of proposals in some other Southern states to set up private school systems rather than given in to demands for an end to segregation.

Delegates gave unanimous approval to the association's legislative program calling for higher pay and more building funds. The teachers asked for pay raises which would cost the state an additional 40 million dollars a year.

The educators said they would seek a $4,200 base salary for four-year college graduates with guaranteed maximum salaries above $7,000 a year for veteran teachers. This would mean a pay hike as much as $1,000 in some of the state's 67 counties.

Lts. Ryman, Ortman Now Pilots

Comdr. Joseph M. Tully Jr., Heavy Attack Squadron Five commanding officer, today announced the names of the two junior officers selected to become designated squadron A3D aircraft commanders.

The two, who have recently completed their jet transitional training are Lieut. (j.g.) Gerald M. Ryman and Lieut. (j.g.) Dean A. Ortman. Both will be the youngest plane commanders of the twin jet "Skywarrior" bomber in the Heavy Attack Program.

Comdr. Tully announced the selection with the following statement, "It gives me great pleasure to make this announcement of the selection of Lieuts. Ryman and Ortman as aircraft commanders of tactical crews in VAM-3."

"This new duty represents a tremendous advancement for these men. They were originally assigned to the squadron as bombardier-navigators for their first tour of duty after being commissioned and earning their wings.

Charity Baseball Game Set Apr. 6

Plans have been completed for the Sanford Shrine Club Charity Baseball Game, according to Col. S. G. Harriman, who made the announcement today.

The game will be played at the Sanford Memorial Baseball stadium on Apr. 6 between the Minneapolis Millers and the Dallas team.

380-Acre Tract Of Land Sold For $84,000

A 380-acre tract of land south of Oviedo in Seminole County has been sold for $84,000, according to Florida Ranchlands, Inc., an Orlando real estate firm which handled the transaction.

The property was purchased by Carroll L. Ward. The 380 acres was in two pieces which adjoined. One tract was purchased from W. J. Krohne, 220 acres, for an announced price of $54,000 and the second tract of property consisted of 160 acres and was purchased from Bladas Samoski for an announced price of $30,000.

The two tracts were purchased for dairy purposes, according to an official of the real estate firm.

Ward, the real estate man announced, recently sold a piece of property near Winter Park for an announced price of $500,000, a transaction which was also handled by Florida Ranchlands, Inc.

Attorney representing the purchaser was John McCormick with the firm of Anderson and Rush of Orlando.

Attorneys representing the sellers were: George A. Soper Jr. of Sanford representing Krohne and Frank Whitaker of Orlando representing Samoski.
