Calls It 'Insensitive' On Teacher Pay

SEA Blasts County School Administration

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

A Seminole Education Association (SEA) representative Wednesday night charged the county school administration with "incredible insensitivity" toward teachers and their financial needs.

He specifically pointed to the administration's failure to immediately pay the county's 2,000 teachers retroactive salary increases granted in a contract ratified on Oct. 7 and its failure to notify teachers that deposit of credit-union deductions from salaries was going to be held up eight days.

Ron Boethe, executive director of the teachers' union, told the School Board that although contract negotiations concluded Sept. 8 and a contract was ratified Oct. 7, the pay raises retroactive to Aug. 24 will not be paid in a lump sum until Nov. 20.

He also complained that money from Sept. 30 deductions for the credit union was not available to teachers for eight days. He said the administration knew about the delay and failed to notify the teachers.

"We had teachers who needed the money and it was not available," Boethe said, adding he was petitioning for relief for the 1,400 teachers who are union members.

Roger Harris, assistant superintendent for finance in the school administration, said today the teachers' retroactive pay raises for the period Aug. 24 to Oct. 15 totals about $255,000.

Ann Neiswender, assistant personnel director, said teachers' paychecks on Oct. 30 will be based on their new salary rates. She added the total retroactive money for the seven-week period prior to Oct. 15 is being delayed until research is completed on the exact number of days teachers worked, to be sure the checks are accurate.

Owen McCarron, personnel director, said the delay in credit-union deposits was caused by a computer-programming problem.

Boethe said the employees would like to receive the compensation they are entitled to in a timely fashion.

McCarron said it usually takes a three-day period after payroll deductions before the money is deposited with the credit union and two days after that before the money is available to the teachers.

Rick Harris, a teacher at Oviedo High School, said he had to pay his home mortgage payment late because of the delay in deposit by the administration. He suggested that if the administration is having a computer problem with the retroactive pay raises, the checks be hand-written.

Boethe said 225 county teachers since Jan. 1 have declined to return to the classrooms because of inadequate salaries. "We're talking about people who have to pay their bills," he said.

Some $60,000 to $70,000 in retroactive pay raises for clerical workers was held up from August until Oct. 15, when they received their correct salaries, Harris said.

Parks Dept.'s Motto: 'Service'

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

The words "parks and recreation" may spark fond memories of childhood play in the minds of most Sanford residents, but to those people who work in the city's Parks and Recreation Department, the words mean "service."

"It is our job to perform a service with a smile for the residents of Sanford," James Jernigan, parks and recreation director, says. "We operate under the philosophy that the people come first and the city is second. We aren't confused about that, like the chicken-and-egg question. We know who comes first."

The Parks and Recreation Department, with a fiscal budget of $466,693, is composed of 20 staff members, including the director, two superintendents (one in parks and one in recreation), 11 parks workers and eight recreation workers (including two clerical and two maintenance personnel). The department also employs a person part-time to serve as curator for the city's museum-library.

Jernigan, who has worked for the city 20 years, receives a salary of about $27,000 annually. He says a new man coming into his position could expect to make about $19,000 a year, but because of his 20 years of service his salary has gone up with longevity increases.

"We have some excellent people working for us right now," Jernigan comments. "Sure, from time to time we have had problems, but whenever you get a number of people together there can be problems."

Of the 20 people employed in the department, 13 are black and seven are white; there are 17 men in the department, with three women who serve as clerical personnel and one as the recreation supervisor; and the curator of the city museum-library is a woman, Jernigan notes.

"We've had black, white, Chinese and Korean workers in the department," Jernigan says. "It makes no difference to me as long as you have qualified people for qualified jobs. You can't legislate social comfort. People used to working together are going to work together."

But what, exactly, do all these people do?

"We are charged with maintaining the city's 27 parks; providing recreational programs for the community, administration of the municipal cemetery, the Sanford Civic Center and museum-library," Jernigan says. "Each one has its own problems to be solved."

"One of our current goals for the department and the city is to acquire large sections of land for natural parks," he notes. "Some of our parks are developed with equipment, athletic fields and tennis courts, and we have two recreation centers. We want to develop some natural parks with more open space. I think people enjoy getting away from telephones, mechanical equipment, and even other people, and that's the goal of these parks. The major obstacle to acquiring the land is the extremely high cost of property."

Jernigan says the goal of the recreation section of the department is to be an "innovative force in the community by getting citizen groups more involved in planning and financing programs."

"We hope to evolve to the philosophy of 'Those who play must pay,'" he says. "With the rising costs, we just can't continue to ask every taxpayer to foot the bill for something they may never use."

"We're going to have to withdraw from patting Johnny on the head, which we'll miss very much, but we'll serve as organizers, allowing the community to get more involved," he adds.

The department currently is attempting to obtain a $16,000 to $20,000 grant from the federal government to develop the Marshall Avenue Park, Jernigan says.

"Since 1977, about $200,000 in grant money has been brought into the city for park development," he notes. "I'm afraid this trend won't continue, because we are looking for a real shutdown in grants because of President Reagan's cutbacks in aid."

"If we get the grant for Marshall Avenue Park—and I think our chances are good—it would be real fancy. It will be a functional park with tennis courts, handball, a picnic table or two, jogging trails and parking," he adds. "There just won't be enough money to do anything more."

Jernigan says the grant period for this grant ends Oct. 31 and it will be a couple of months before the city is notified as to whether or not it will be awarded the grant.

The Parks and Recreation Department, in addition to developing and maintaining the city's parks and providing recreational programs, also makes reservations for the Civic Center, the Youth and Westside Recreation Centers, and weddings in the parks, especially in the gazebo at Centennial Park, located at Fifth Street and Park Avenue.

"We've had 35 weddings in the gazebo this year," Jernigan notes. "Although I'm happy for people to use it, it is a time-consuming duty."

"As I said before, we are public servants, and the people of this community are our Number One priority," he adds. "If they have a problem we can handle, we are more than happy to talk to them. I have an open-door policy in this office. No one screens my calls. If someone wants to talk to me, I'm here."

Jernigan: No Desire To Retire

He's 50 years old, and since May 3, 1961, he's given almost 20 and a half years to the city of Sanford, but James Jernigan "feels like a young man, and I want to keep working as long as I can."

Jernigan is the director of the Parks and Recreation Department, located in Room 252, City Hall, and has a 20-member staff.

The veteran director came to the city in 1961 as the department director from Rock Hill, S.C., where he served as that city's assistant parks and recreation director.

"I've enjoyed my years with the city. This is home," he says. "City Manager Pete Knowles has a few years on me—he's been here 27 years—but I've enjoyed working with him and the people here in Sanford. I'm happy to stay right where I am for as long as they want me and as long as I can do my job."

Jernigan is married and has three children and two grandchildren. The youngest grandchild is just 10 months old.

"I like my work, and although sometimes I get bogged down in my administrative duties, I do try to get out in the field for a couple of hours a day—at least one hour a day," he says.

As director of the department, Jernigan is charged with overseeing the development and maintenance of the city's 27 parks, administration and

For Deaf Children

Board Eyeing Bus Solution

School Superintendent Bob Hughes will recommend "the best solution possible" to the Seminole County School Board on Nov. 4 on busing eight deaf students to an Orlando high school in the most speedy fashion.

During the intervening two weeks, Hughes said today, school administration personnel will be looking at alternatives, including the possibility of using two minibuses to pick up the students from various spots around the county.

The buses, after picking up the students, might meet at a central location where students would board one bus for the trip to Oakridge High School in Orlando. The academic program for deaf-student education is provided there, while Mid-Florida Technical School, also in Orlando, provides vocational training.

Also during the two-week period, parents will bus three of the eight students who now are riding the school bus from three to four hours daily to and from school.

Dorothy Crumpton of Winter Springs, mother of one of the students and the parent who spearheaded a protest before the School Board Wednesday night, said she will transport her son and another student to school for the two weeks. A second mother will transport her daughter while the administration is seeking a solution.

Seven parents and two grandmothers of the eight deaf students met with school personnel in Hughes' office Wednesday night to discuss possible solutions. Mrs. Crumpton told the board prior to the meeting with school personnel that her son must get up at 4:30 a.m. to get ready to attend classes at 7:30 p.m. at Oakridge. "I don't think getting up at 4:30 a.m. is a normal life," she said.

Board member Allan Keeth asked whether the parents could transport their children to a central location for bus pickup, but the parents present said they all work and it would be an impossible task.

Hughes said his staff will be looking at alternatives during the next two weeks. "We'll be calling Orange County to see where the special unit for teaching the deaf children will be located next year. We'll be looking at the possibilities of rerouting the children and whether a second minibus, perhaps one used to transport other special education children, can be used."

He said the existing route will be ridden by personnel to see if there is any way to shorten it. "By Nov. 4 we will have explored all the alternatives," he added.

Hughes said that according to statistics it will be at least five years before the Seminole school system can have educational programs within the county for deaf children. — DONNA ESTES

Court: Arbitrator Can't Overrule School Board

The Seminole County School Board "alone has the power to hire and fire its employees," the Fifth District Court of Appeal at Daytona Beach ruled Wednesday in a case concerning Lynnette Cornelison who had been a librarian at Jackson Heights Middle School in Oviedo.

Reversing a decision of Judge Robert McGregor of the 18th Judicial Circuit—Seminole-Brevard Counties—the court said an arbitrator could not order the School Board to reinstate Ms. Cornelison with $9,000 in back pay.

An arbitrator had found the School Board had not given Ms. Cornelison the evaluations required by a collective-bargaining agreement that would have warned her of any deficiencies.

Ms. Cornelison was told in April 1976 that she would not be rehired for the next school year. She took her case to arbitration the following year.

School Board Attorney Ned Julian Jr. told the School Board Wednesday night the decision will have a bearing on a case currently in the circuit court at Sanford where an arbitrator made a similar finding after a counselor at the South Seminole Middle School was fired. He said he expects Judge Kenneth Leffler, based on this decision, will rule against the counselor. Raymond Masters.

Honored 12 New Seminole Memorial Doctors Feted At Breakfast

The Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce honored 12 new members of the Seminole Memorial Hospital staff this morning during the annual Personality Breakfast.

James D. Tesar, hospital administrator, told the gathering of approximately 70 area business representatives, hospital staff members and Chamber members the community is fortunate to be attracting quality physicians like the doctors who were recognized today.

Several of the doctors honored during the hour-long breakfast were from foreign countries as far away as India, Vietnam and Jordan.

Tesar also announced the building on the new Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford is on schedule and he anticipates the hospital staff and equipment will move into the new facility as soon as the first week of September of next year.

Even though it was a morning to recognize the new members of the medical staff, Jack Horner, executive manager of the Chamber, also called on the audience to commend the doctors who have already been in the Sanford area and serving the public here for several years.

The 12 new physicians honored at the breakfast are: Glen Davis, internal medicine; Humberto Dominguez, family practitioner, from Spain; Orlando Garcia-Piedra, anesthesiologist, from Cuba; Lenkala R. Mallalah, gastroenterologist, from India; David C. Mowers, obstetrics and gynecology; Lac Hong Pham, pediatrician, from South Vietnam; Juan L. Ravelo, obstetrics and gynecology, from Cuba; Peter G. Selassie, hematologist, from Jordan; Mark E. Webster, family practice; Joseph Azelvandre, family practice; and Brett Bolhofer, general practice.

Haitians Keep Coming

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — Federal officials insist that President Reagan's program to turn back illegal aliens on the high seas is not a failure, despite the arrival of a boatload of Haitians before dawn Wednesday on the shores of Miami Beach.

Eighty-six Haitians beached their wooden sailboat behind a high-rise hotel, making it the third time refugees have landed in south Florida in a month since President Reagan ordered the Coast Guard to send refugees heading for the U.S. back to their homelands.

HOMESTEAD AIR FORCE BASE (UPI) — Seventy-eight airmen suspected of using drugs here could face charges when a four-month-old investigation into their activities is completed, officials said Wednesday.

Garage Man Arrested For Holding Auto

The 41-year-old owner of a Sanford auto-repair shop has been arrested and charged with violating a court order directing him to release the impounded car of a dissatisfied customer.

Thurman Thompson, operator of Thompson's Automotive Service, 3797 Orlando Dr., was arrested Tuesday afternoon by Doug Huth, consumer-fraud investigator for the state attorney's office. Thompson later was released on $100 bond.

If convicted, Thompson could be sentenced up to 60 days in the county jail and/or a maximum fine of $500.

According to court records, Thompson's arrest stemmed from a disagreement he had with Robert J. Pennell of Orlando concerning the cost of repairing Pennell's classic 1957 Ford Skyliner.

Initially, Thompson quoted a price of $400 for the job, which included rebuilding the car's engine, according to a statement Pennell gave Huth.

The price later was doubled, and Pennell said he paid half of the bill, only to find when he went to pick up his car that the job had not been done properly. He said he told Thompson he would pay the remainder of the bill when the work was corrected.

Two weeks later, according to court records, Thompson threatened to sell Pennell's car at auction if he did not pay the bill—which then totaled $910.26—plus a $7.50-per-day storage charge.

On Monday, the $910.26 was placed in a court escrow account and an order issued by County Judge Wallace Hall directing Thompson to release the car. Hall gave Thompson 60 days to contest the order.

Huth said Thompson refused to relinquish the vehicle and was placed under arrest.

Seminole County sheriff's deputies report Merriman was seen standing by a car which was parked illegally near Jackson and North streets in Altamonte Springs about 1:45 p.m. Tuesday.

Deputies said they observed Merriman throw three brown packets of marijuana into a white bucket. On the floor of the car deputies report they found a plastic bag containing more than 50 grams of marijuana.

A 36-year-old Altamonte Springs woman was assaulted in her apartment early today.

"He grabbed me and pushed me and I started screaming," she said. "Then he said to be quiet or he would cut me."

"I guess I kept on screaming so he ran out," she said. "I don't know if there was more than one person."

Ms. Montgomery said she didn't see a knife, nor could she see her assailant because it was dark in the apartment.

Police said the man entered the apartment through a dining room window.

The new total reported by volunteers during the third report luncheon, held Wednesday at the Holiday Inn, I-4 and State Road 46, was up $53,843 from the previous week.

The luncheon was hosted by the Sanford Optimist Club Bill Livingston, who will be the auctioneer at the United Way auction at Lake Mary High School auditorium on Sunday, gave the Optimists a demonstration of his expertise by auctioning off three pairs of tickets for the Disney World Pro-Am Golf Tournament.

Salvation Army: Aiding Kids, Needy

The Salvation Army of Seminole County is slated to receive $43,000 as a United Way of Seminole County agency in the coming year.

The Salvation Army community center at 700 W. 24th St., Sanford, is the hub of activities for all ages throughout the year, as well as being the source of emergency help for transients and local residents.

In addition to sponsoring recreational and character-building activities for youth in programs such as the Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts, Girl Scouts and Sunbeams, plus junior singing and band groups, the Salvation Army opens its facilities for use by other organizations such as the Girl Scouts, the Sanford Gymnastic Association, local basketball teams and Weight Watchers. There is also a summer camping program.

There is a men's club and women's club sponsored by the Salvation Army, and a thrift shop is open Monday, Thursday and Friday. The welfare office is open five days a week.

Through the annual Christmas fund drive at area shopping centers, food baskets and toys are distributed. Last year 630 families received baskets and gifts from the Salvation Army at Christmas.

The Salvation Army, headed here by Capt. Carl Phillips, extends its aid to the entire county. It provides emergency food, clothing, furniture, meals, and (if funds are available) utilities. There are no sleeping facilities at the local headquarters, but for those in need of a place to spend the night, an effort is made to get them in the Orlando facilities and they are given the bus fare to get there.

The Salvation Army also has a job-referral program and a missing-persons bureau. The organization stands ready to serve in the event of a disaster, and its facilities are available for emergency shelter. Partly funded by United Way, the Salvation Army received permission to conduct a capital-funds drive this past summer in an effort to pay off some of the mortgage, make badly needed repairs at the quarters used by the corps commander and his wife, and complete the interior of the gymnasium.

Thanks to an anonymous foundation gift of $50,000, a total of $78,000 in pledges and cash gifts was received during the drive. In making the gift, the foundation stipulated that $10,000 of the sum be used to fix up the quarters. The roof was replaced, the jalousies replaced with energy-saving windows, and a heating and air-conditioning system installed.

The remaining $48,000 of the grant was applied to the principal on the mortgage on the building, leaving a balance of $34,000. The remainder of the pledges will be used to make monthly mortgage payments until the next Friends of the Army banquet, scheduled for next April.

Jernigan says he swore that would be the first and last wedding he would ever perform. But that vow was short-lived.

"One day this kid popped his head into my office and said he had heard I do weddings," he says. "I explained I only did the wedding as a favor to my son and that I don't perform the ceremonies any more. Well, he pleaded with me, saying he was a sailor and his ship was leaving in a few days and he had all the necessary papers and blood tests and would I please do it for him."

That afternoon a young sailor and his lady were married by Jernigan before the parents and a few friends in the gazebo in Centennial Park at Fifth Street and Park Avenue.

"I've enjoyed the city and I have no complaints," Jernigan says. "Every week they've given me my paycheck for the job I've done, and who could ask for better. The city's been good to me and my family."

Elvis Received Drugs Stronger Than Heroin

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — Some of the drugs Elvis Presley's physician prescribed to him regularly for 13 months are so powerful and so addictive that they "are rarely used, but when they are — only for three or four days," a drug abuse expert testified.

The prosecution said it would present more drug experts today in the trial of Dr. George C. Nichopoulos, 53, is charged with overprescribing thousands of stimulants, depressants and painkillers to Presley, entertainer Jerry Lee Lewis, himself and eight others.

Dr. William David Lerner, a drug abuse specialist at the Medical College of Virginia in Richmond, refused on cross-examination Wednesday to agree with the defense contention that a "maintenance" approach is a proper way to treat some addicts.

Prosecutor Jewett Miller asked Lerner when he would prescribe Quaaludes, one of the depressants Nichopoulos allegedly prescribed for Presley over a 13-month period.

Lerner said he would use the drug only in "acute, untoward times (when) it is absolutely essential that someone sleep" for instance before major surgery.

"They (Quaaludes) are highly addictive," Lerner said. "They are rarely used, but when they are — only for three or four days."

Lerner said Dilaudid, also prescribed for Presley, is twice as powerful as heroin. He said would prescribe Dilaudid "only for the most extreme of pains" — for "someone who has been hit by a truck" or who had severe burns over 80 percent of his body.

Prosecutors decided against calling Linda Thompson Jenner, a former Presley livin' girlfriend, to the witness stand, which brought a protest from defense attorney James Neal. Mrs. Jenner is now the wife of former Olympic decathlon champion Bruce Jenner.

Neal tried unsuccessfully to convince the judge to order the prosecution to call Mrs. Jenner as a witness because he wanted to question her under cross examination. Attorneys have more leeway in what they can ask under cross examination than in direct examination.

Criminal Court Judge Bernie Weinman said the court could not force the prosecution to call her, but the defense may do so on its own.

Wilson told the judge the prosecution originally intended to call Mrs. Jenner to the stand to offer proof of Presley's drug addiction, but the superstar's drug problems were already brought out by other testimony.

"I think I understand why (the prosecution changed its mind) since I've seen her statement," Neal said.

Reading from a sworn statement, Neal quoted Mrs. Jenner. "He (Nichopoulos) tried to control his (Presley's) ingestion of drugs, because that's all he could do."

Neal said Mrs. Jenner stated Presley could get drugs "anywhere he wanted."

The 42-year-old superstar was found dead Aug. 16, 1977, in a bathroom of Graceland, his Memphis mansion. The cause of death was ruled heart disease, but testimony has revealed Presley was addicted to narcotics and depressants, and had 14 different drugs in his body when he died.

One More Running In Casselberry

Another name has been added in Casselberry's Dec. 1 election race for mayor and two council seats.

Council Chairman Tom Embrose qualified Tuesday with City Clerk Mary Hawthorne to seek reelection to his council seat.

The only other person who has qualified to run is incumbent Councilman John Leighty. Leighty, who qualified Monday, is also seeking reelection to his current council post.

Qualifying for the three council positions ends at 5 p.m., Oct. 30.

NATION IN BRIEF

Was Politics At Root Of $1.6 Million Heist?

NEW YORK (UPI) — FBI agents and police today investigated the possibility that a $1.6 million armored-car holdup, resulting in the capture of Weather Underground fugitive Kathy Boudin, was carried out to finance radical political activities.

Ms. Boudin, 38, and three others were charged Wednesday with the terrorist-style holdup and the slayings of two police officers and a Brinks security guard during a shoot-out Tuesday in suburban Rockland County.

The arrests led police to an East Orange, N.J., apartment, where they found a bomb manual, weapons and diagrams of six New York City police stations. No explosives were discovered, however.

Byrd Opposes AWACS Sale

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Breaking a long silence, Senate Democratic leader Robert Byrd announced his opposition to the administration's proposed sale of AWACS radar planes to Saudi Arabia, and thereby made President Reagan's selling job tougher.

With Byrd, United Press International now counts 54 senators against or leaning against the Saudi arms package. The same count has 40 senators for the sale and six undecided.

Cops Close In On Rapist

NEW YORK (UPI) — Police said today fingerprints discovered in an East Harlem convent may help identify the man who raped a nun and scratched 27 crosses on her body nearly two weeks ago—the first attack in a crime wave against the city's clergy.

Police have promised to increase security around churches and synagogues, but another robbery took place Wednesday. A $30,000 tapestry depicting the Resurrection was stolen from the Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church in Manhattan.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Reagan Promises Help For World's Poor Nations

CANCUN, Mexico (UPI) — President Reagan rejected a "Global Marshall Plan" for poor nations but promised flexibility before the opening today of a 22-nation summit on ways to help the world's hungry.

On the eve of the "North-South" conference in the hot and humid Mexican island resort of Cancun, Secretary of State Alexander Haig said Wednesday that Reagan was willing to consider several proposals to narrow the gap between rich and poor nations.

NATO Wants U.S. Missiles

LONDON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger won the backing of NATO nations for the deployment of new U.S. nuclear missiles in western Europe, but faced expected anti-nuclear demonstrations at his speech today to a London think tank.

A six-page communique issued by the 13 North Atlantic Treaty Organization defense ministers at the end of the two-day meeting Wednesday in Gleneagles, Scotland, renewed their commitment to modernize European defenses with U.S. nuclear missiles aimed at the Soviet Union.

Economy: Gaining Speed In Reverse?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Even with a second consecutive quarterly drop in the gross national product, private analysts are still not sure the United States is in a recession.

Whatever the situation, Republican and Democratic leaders are blaming each other for it.

The third quarter decline in the GNP was 0.8 percent, not half as steep as the second quarter drop of 1.6 percent, the Commerce Department reported Wednesday.

Economists generally agreed the economy was worsening, if only because the end of the quarter — September — was accompanied by a combination of bad economic omens. Spending decreased sharply, factory production cuts were widespread and housing construction was at its third lowest level on record for the month.

Virtually every administration spokesman with a forum Wednesday had the word "recession" written into briefing papers, testimony and news conferences, echoing President Reagan's weekend declaration that a "light recession" was under way.

Commerce Secretary Malcolm Baldrige responded with a "yes" to a reporter's question about whether he agreed with the president. Baldrige added he thought a recession had been in progress "for some time" — a result of the previous Democratic administration's excesses.

Baldrige's long-range forecast grew slightly more pessimistic, seeing an economic upturn within the first half of next year, rather than the first quarter and an 8 percent unemployment rate by year's end.

On Capitol Hill, economist Lawrence Chimerine, head of Chase Econometrics of Bala Cynwyd, Pa., told the Joint Economic Committee that whatever was happening was nothing new. "If this is a recession, it really is a recession that began in 1978 to 1979."

Two leading economists, George Perry of the Brookings Institution and John Rutledge, head of the Claremont Economic Institute that developed much of the administration's early economic planning, endorsed the use of the term, finding complete agreement from the committee's chairman, Rep. Henry Reuss, D-Wis.

Another leading private economic forecaster, Otto Eckstein of Data Resources, Inc. of Lexington, Mass., said of the president's remark, "I think he was wise to de-fang the issue instead of letting a long controversy develop."

QUIET WALK THROUGH NATURE

Renovation of the Central Florida Zoo's elevated nature trail has been completed and is now open to the public. The top photo depicts the rugged swamp-like terrain the span crosses. The original nature trail, shown below during refurbishment, survived five years of weather and 400,000 pairs of shoes striding across it.

Reagan Brings His Own

CANCUN, Mexico (UPI) — President Reagan brought along jelly beans and his own jugs of water to the north-south economic summit, presumably to avoid "Montezuma's Revenge."

"I'll drink to that," Reagan said Wednesday as he toasted Chinese Premier Zhao Ziyang on their first meeting.

With that, an iced glass of water went down. Reagan's private water supply revived memories of the "Montezuma's Revenge" comment made by then-President Jimmy Carter during his 1979 visit to Mexico — a comment that ired Mexican President Jose Lopez Portillo.

In a long, rambling speech in the presence of Lopez Portillo, Carter said on previous visits to Mexico he had contracted "Montezuma's Revenge," a reference to an intestinal disorder often caused by drinking water containing unfamiliar enzymes.

At an August meeting of foreign ministers in Cancun to plan for today's summit, the physician for the U.S. delegation advised the water in Cancun was not drinkable.

Civil Defense: A Nuclear Deterrent

The Soviet Union spends an estimated $2 billion per year on a civil defense program that employs 100,000 military and civilian workers. The United States spends barely a tenth of that sum, has no full-time civil defense work force, and lacks even rudimentary plans to protect civilians in the event of a nuclear attack.

Question: What does Moscow know that Washington doesn't? Put another way, if civil defense is as useless as many Americans seem to believe, why are the Russians spending billions on it every year?

University of Miami Prof. Leon Goure, an acknowledged expert on the subject, argues that the Soviet civil defense program is extensive enough to protect up to 90 percent of the civilian population and nearly all military and political leaders during a nuclear exchange.

Prof. Goure and other civil defense advocates note pointedly that the United States has no comparable defenses and is thus that much more vulnerable to Soviet nuclear blackmail.

Admittedly, the figures cited by Prof. Goure presuppose that most Soviet cities would be at least partially evacuated and that the Soviets would strike first against American missiles. Still, given the odds against the United States ever launching an unprovoked nuclear attack on the Soviet Union, Prof. Goure's assumptions don't seem entirely unreasonable.

Most Pentagon analysts caution against overestimating the effectiveness of Soviet civil defenses. But most now also agree that the gross disparity between Soviet and U.S. programs does create certain dangers, not the least of which is the perception that Americans would suffer far greater losses in any plausible nuclear exchange.

That is precisely the kind of perception that might someday tempt the Kremlin to gamble on a cosmic throw of the nuclear dice. Seen in this light, civil defense should properly be considered a significant component of the U.S. nuclear deterrent.

The Reagan administration seems to agree, although the extent of its commitment to a revitalized civil defense program isn't yet apparent. The five-point strategic weapons buildup unveiled by President Reagan and Defense Secretary Weinberger two weeks ago included a pledge to develop "an expanded, cost effective, civil defense program."

No dollar figures for the program have been announced, nor has the administration provided any details on what sort of civil defense effort it has in mind.

Presumably, the program will include little more than the modest funding needed to improve civil defense planning and to develop the urban evacuation procedures that could save millions of lives.

Although an extensive system of shelters offering protection against blast and fallout could cut casualties in any nuclear attack by at least 50 percent, the estimated $70 billion price tag for an effective shelter network is probably prohibitive.

A workable evacuation plan would be infinitely cheaper and, with luck, might be almost as effective. The key, of course, would be sufficient warning of an impending attack and a timely decision to order evacuation of likely target areas.

Most important, perhaps, than the specifics of the administration's proposals is the fact that civil defense is at least being discussed seriously. Nuclear war isn't made any less likely by refusing to consider prudent precautions. And allowing the Soviets an unchallenged civil defense monopoly is a luxury Americans can ill afford.

BERRY'S WORLD

"I've ALWAYS loved the free enterprise system. But I find it harder and harder to tolerate competition any more."

By JANE CASSELBERRY

Capt. Carl Phillips, local corps commander, is justifiably proud of the Boy Scout Troop 508 and Cub Scout Pack 508 sponsored by the Salvation Army in Sanford. The scouts brought home just about every award in sight this week from the Seminole District Fall Camporee at Camp Lanoche. Troop 508 was awarded the banner for best troop, having accumulated the most overall points for competitive events in water sports, physical fitness and camp judging. They also took first place for the patrol flag contest for "The Adventurers" Patrol flag. They received 16 award ribbons in addition to the banner and earned a perfect score in the camp judging.

The Webelos Den of the Cub Pack placed second in overall points. There were 19 Boy Scouts and 23 Webelos from Troop and Pack 508. More than 400 boys from all over the county attended the Camporee.

Ben Hendricks is scoutmaster of the troop and Mrs. Barbara Hendricks is the cubmaster.

Speaking of Scouts . . .

All area Girl Scouts — past and present — are invited to help celebrate the 45th anniversary of the original vespers held back in 1936 and honor "Dickie" Colado and "Nita" Mutispaugh, founders of the Girl Scout Vespers held each year at Knowles Memorial Chapel on the Rollins College campus in Winter Park. The celebration will be held Sunday, Nov. 1, at 4:15 p.m., and area troops are working hard to plan the program. After the vespers the Girl Scouts and leaders will form a circle and sing taps on the front lawn, followed by a reception in the chapel lounge.

The vespers always gave the scouts of all the troops the opportunity to get together and celebrate their founder's Juliette Low's birthday, which falls on Halloween. The magnificent Knowles Memorial Chapel is such an impressive place to hold this service, put on by the girls themselves, that it is something you never forget. I should know because as a Girl Scout I attended the vespers there. Nita Mutispaugh was my scout leader in Winter Park and Dickie Colado, director of the Citrus Council, for whom I baby sat. Donna Lou Pratt, who was in Dickie's troop in her Girl Scout days, has been involved in getting the anniversary celebration organized and was excited about seeing a lot of her old Girl Scout "buddies" there. She dropped in the newsroom Tuesday.

Why Was Shooting So Easy?

WASHINGTON (NEA) — U.S. Intelligence officials say that many questions remain to be answered as to how the assassins of Egyptian President Anwar Sadat were able to accomplish their mission so easily.

The official Egyptian version of the assassination is that an army second lieutenant named Khaled Attallah, who has been described as a Moslem extremist, led three civilians in the attack. "It is an individual group and they are not even related to any group or country," said Gen. Abdel Abu Ghazala, the Egyptian defense minister who has become the government's spokesman on the matter.

But high-ranking U.S. officials in Cairo pose a number of questions that tend to contradict the explanation of the shooting given by the Egyptian government.

For instance, the official version holds that only four men were involved in the assassination. Egyptian authorities have unofficially told foreign intelligence services that Attallah granted leave to three of his men and replaced them with civilians, all of whom were Moslem extremists who had served in the military.

But some witnesses say that at least eight and possibly nine soldiers were on the assassins' truck; many witnesses report having seen at least a half-dozen soldiers firing into the reviewing stand.

Then there are the questions of how the assassins were able to get live ammunition into the parade and to position their truck on the inside row. The placement of the truck was critical to the success of the mission.

The security surrounding Sadat was considered to be among the best provided by any country for its chief executive. The Egyptian security forces have received extensive training in this country, and the United States has provided them with technical advisers.

The U.S. officials say that the Egyptian security forces checked every soldier and every vehicle in the parade in an effort to prevent exactly what happened from happening. It is hard to believe that a small group acting alone could have come through the inspection with that quantity of ammunition and explosives.

The parade was meticulously planned almost down to the second. Intelligence officers do not think it was mere coincidence that the attackers' truck reached the reviewing stand at exactly the moment that the air force was flying by overhead. Rather, they believe that the truck was deliberately placed in the most opportune position in the parade. This also raises doubts about the size of the assassination squad.

Then there is the question of what happened to Sadat's bodyguards. Moments before the attack the area in front of the raised reviewing stand was crowded with security personnel and cameramen. Witnesses say that all of the security forces seemed to disappear suddenly when the shooting started. Some of the pictures of the assassination show that at least two of the attackers were able to advance to the front of the reviewing stand and to shoot point-blank at the Egyptian president.

BUSINESS WORLD

Tax Plan Eyed Favorably

By JAMES J. DOYLE
LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The administration's recently passed tax plan will materially improve the economy, according to a large percentage of major industries across the country who were polled on the question.

The survey, by J.E. Fowler & Associates management consultants, was the first such poll taken after the plan had moved through Congress.

An earlier poll, by the U.S. Commerce Dept., of similar industries gave figures indicating just the opposite, but it was taken before the tax plan was approved.

Joe Fowler, head of the Burbank, Calif., headquartered business which bears his name, said the two polls show an interesting difference in philosophies.

Fowler's poll, which questioned decision makers among the top industries in the Fortune 500, indicated that 93.8 percent thought new tax legislation would materially aid or improve the economy.

A total of 60 percent said the new legislation would help control inflation. Only 17.7 percent thought it would not help.

"We don't know what questions the Commerce Department asked," Fowler said. "It said it sent the questions to major corporations, but we don't know who in the corporations. We sent our questionnaire to decision making executives."

Fowler's poll, widely publicized after a significant portion of responses were gathered and tabulated, brought a response from President Reagan.

In a letter to Fowler, the president said, "I was grateful to learn the results of the survey that you conducted among your clients."

"This expression of confidence in our program for economic recovery reflects the spirit needed among our people to assure our success."

The president also said his administration has "made substantial inroads at controlling federal spending, reducing tax rates and curbing excessive regulations."

He noted, however, that his administration "has not reached" its goals and there is plenty of work ahead.

The fact is that many major corporations, particularly those in the high technology fields, see the president's tax program and focus on defense as a major stimulant not only to the economy but to their own industries.

"Here's a point," Fowler said. "There have been other recent surveys that indicated an optimistic outlook because of new tax legislation. One of them said clients took a wait and see attitude and I interpret that as telling us the Fortune 500 are reactionary corporations."

"I don't accept that," he said. "Wall Street is reactionary; the president sneezes and stocks go down."

"The media are reactionary, but you can't tell me a major corporation is reactionary. They have master plans and one-year and five-year forecasts, and they are probably on the optimistic side."

The president's advocacy of the MX and B-1 programs sent a wave of optimism through the giant defense industries.

"Sure, there's a more optimistic economy ahead," Fowler said. "Rockwell (International Corp.) will hire 15,000 more people. Of that number maybe 6,000 have worked on these projects before, so they will put on an additional 9,000 people, but before it's all over it will mean about 14,000 to 16,000 new jobs."

Parent Care Is Important

Five years ago Bernice Weissbourd, a Chicago specialist in early childhood work, decided "parent care" was just as important as "child care."

That's how Family Focus Inc. was born. Family Focus is the model for about 400 similar "parent care" centers around the nation and Canada. They're linked in the Family Resource Coalition, founded at a Chicago conference last May with the help of money from the Federal Administration of Children, Youth and Families.

The point of Family Focus, says Mrs. Weissbourd, is to "give support and informal counseling" to parents of very young children — and expectant parents — at three drop-in centers in Chicago and suburban Evanston.

"We started in a very small way," she says, "expecting about 50 families." She was "absolutely astounded" when 300 families appeared within two months.

Today the Evanston center serves 1,200 families, the Chicago center almost 1,000 and the Evanston center for teen-age parents, about 600. They're open an average of 35 hours a week at the most convenient times for their clients.

Why is this kind of institution needed? "Basically," says Mrs. Weissbourd, "a lot of parents are pretty isolated in our society. They're lonely."

That's especially true of mothers-to-be and new mothers.

"To be a good parent, and everyone wants to be that, you have to feel good about yourself," Mrs. Weissbourd says. "If you're depressed, negative, you communicate that to your child" — no matter how young the child is.

The single mother, who has no family support or anyone else, can feel very low, she says. "The professional woman with a new child wrestles with the question of whether or not to return to her career."

And the problems of "parenting" are not confined to mothers.

Mrs. Weissbourd cites a couple of examples:

— How do divorced fathers of young children stay in touch with the children?

— How do interracial families handle their inevitable problems?

The three Family Focus centers, run in fiscal 1980 for less than $650,000, enable people to "sit around, drink coffee, exchange experiences and help each other." The parents who drop in create their own baby-sitting co-ops, food co-ops and clothing exchanges, and find sensitive professionals who give them informal advice or can refer the parent to more formal aid.

Supporting funds come from corporations, foundations, service groups and a mixture of city, state and federal grants. Chicago-area high schools and churches are among the biggest boosters of Family Focus.

The center for teen-age parents is a national model, too, backed by a $98,000 grant from the Federal Office of Adolescent Pregnancy Programs. Its clientele, Mrs. Weissbourd says, includes "many fathers." A particular concern at this center: avoiding second pregnancies.

Soviets Can Take Iran In 30 Days: Report

WASHINGTON — The Soviets have the brute military power to smash through Iran to the Persian Gulf and menace the flow of Arab oil to the West. This is a nightmare that has Pentagon strategists tossing in their sleep.

A top-secret assessment warns that the Soviets could "initiate and sustain a full-scale invasion" of Iran in 30 days. But "four to seven selected Soviet divisions could commence a limited attack into Iran's northwestern and northeastern border areas after a preparation period of about 10 days."

Our surveillance satellites and monitoring equipment have picked up "no indication that an invasion is imminent." But certainly the Kremlin must be salivating over Iran, which Ayatollah Khomeini has left so temptingly vulnerable.

"The U.S. could expect to detect preparations necessary for a full-scale invasion of Iran within one or two weeks after commencement," according to the top-secret report. "However, preparations for a limited Soviet attack to seize Aserbaizan and possibly border areas east of the Caspian Sea might not be discernible before less than a week."

The Kremlin now has 26 divisions near enough to Iran that they could be quickly mobilized into an invasion force, my associate Dale Van Atta has learned. These combat divisions are now deployed against Afghanistan, Iran and eastern Turkey.

A Soviet strike into Iran not only would endanger the western world's oil supply, but upset the military balance in the Middle East. This could create a debacle so inextricable, a prospect so gloom-laden as to spoil the 1-told-you-so's that have been emanating from this column for the past two years.

To stop a Soviet thrust to the Persian Gulf would take nuclear weapons and risk a holocaust. Indeed, contingency plans call for a nuclear response to a Soviet attempt to occupy Iran. Hopefully, the more cautious elements on both sides will be able to control the military hotbeds so that we may somehow muddle through without Armageddon.

Footnote: The two superpowers came close to a military confrontation over Iran in August 1980. But that's a separate story, which I will report in a future column.

LIVES IN THE BALANCE: On the battlefield, generals must often make decisions that send their men to certain death. Now a civilian is being asked by the Reagan administration to make such a decision involving the lives of thousands of Americans.

He is Ray Peck, national highway traffic safety administrator. At issue is a federal regulation that would require either automatic safety belts or air bags in all new cars, starting with the 1983 models.

Peck's own statisticians and technical experts have told him the safety requirement could prevent anywhere from 2,980 to 6,750 highway fatalities a year, plus tens of thousands of disabling injuries.

Some safety experts say the safety devices would cost $60 to $100 per car. The automakers claim they would cost more, and they have successfully stalled implementation of the regulation for years. Now they look to the Reagan administration to kill the requirement once and for all.

"I'm on the hot seat," Peck told my associate Les Whitten. "They've left it up to me."

In private talks with his top aides, Peck was told, with varying degrees of emphasis, that the standard should not be rescinded. Some even begged him to delay the effective date to the 1984 models in hopes of keeping the regulation alive.

Peck was told that, without automatic seat belts or air bags, from 770 to 4,340 persons will die over the next 10 years in the 1983 models alone. As older cars are junked, the safety devices could save almost 9,000 lives each year. In addition, some $3 billion in insurance and $1.5 billion in health insurance costs would be saved every year, Peck was told.

Peck will decide later this month whether to stick to the regulatory timetable or scrap the safety requirement altogether. He has suggested that the states would be encouraged to enact stricter safety requirements if the federal law is withdrawn. But outside experts say this would never happen.

High-Powered Hot Dogs An Omen For Panthers?

True, Lake Mary nipped Crooms, 7-6, in freshman football Tuesday night.

But, was it forewarned? Three plays after Crooms had scored its touchdown in the second quarter, the scoreboard clock disappeared, lights and all, with 9:58 left to play. About five minutes later, as the clock was revived, the field was left in total darkness.

Why? According to James Porzig, who was standing near the Lake Mary concession stand at the time of the incident, it was the fault of the hot dog machine.

"Somebody told me that the hot dog machine shorted the field lights out because it took a lot of the power that was used for them," Porzig said.

The lights stayed out a good 10-15 minutes, then slowly warmed up and the game continued. But not after the crowd fully enjoyed the moment, with much cheering and air-horn blowing.

Was this an omen for the doomed Panthers?

Tribe JVs Host DeLand Tonight

Seminole's junior varsity football team, winners of two of its last three games, entertains the DeLand JV tonight at 6 at Seminole High School.

The Tribe JV is led by Tim "Lightning" Lawrence, Sanford's most explosive running back and leading ground gainer. He is joined by fullback William Wynn and quarterback Mike Futrell to form the Seminole backfield.

Defensively, Wynn is a standout linebacker. Safeties Steve Alexander and Brian Cash along with monster back Stevin Dennis anchor the defense. Richard Whitaker is the main man in the defensive front.

The JV is 2-3 and a victory will better last year's win mark.

Oviedo Takes On Rockledge

Oviedo Coach Joe Montgomery takes his Lions on the road tonight to Rockledge in one of those meaningless middle-of-the-season games he now wishes he hadn't scheduled.

The Lions are tied with St. Cloud, Osceola-Kissimmee and Eustis for the top of the District 3A-6 ladder. All have 2-1 records.

Rockledge is a non-district opponent with a 2-3 record. The ledger, nevertheless, is deceiving. Losses have come to 10th-ranked twins Titusville Astronaut and Titusville. The other setback is to respected Satellite.

Shepherd Drops All Souls, 2-0

Good Shepherd pushed across two goals in the second half Wednesday night to knock off All Souls, 2-0, in soccer action in Orlando.

Next Wednesday, All Souls plays St. Mary Magdalene at St. Vianney's Field in Orlando.

Football Tickets At Local Spots

Tickets for Friday's football game between Seminole High and Lakeland Kathleen High are available at Seminole High School, Sanford and Lakeview Middle Schools, Crooms High School, Sweeney's Office Supply and the downtown Flagship Bank.

The cost is $2.25.

Golden Gloves Set For Sanford

Chuluota boxing promoter Kent Foyer has called a press conference for today at 4 p.m. to announce that the Sanford-Central Florida District Golden Gloves Championships will be held at Sanford's Civic Center.

The conference will be held at the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce Building at 400 E. First St. Foyer, a veteran boxing promoter in the area, and former Sanford fighter Vic "Taco" Perez, were instrumental in bringing the Jan. 22-23 tournament to Sanford.

Interested parties are invited to attend.

You Ain't Seen Nu... Nuthin' Yet

If you thought last year's three-way playoff for the Five Star Conference and District 4A-9 championships was something—you ain't seen nu... nuthin' yet.

Coach Terry Manfred's Spruce Creek Hawks had a two-game lead with two games to play last year, but choked away the twin titles. Lake Howell and Apopka both came in the backdoor and the Silver Hawks escaped with the crown the week after the regular season ended with a special tiebreaker meeting among the three schools at Apopka.

This year the same thing could happen. And, get this, it could include as many as five teams. The talent, or mediocrity, of the conference is such that everyone seems capable of beating everyone else, but not by too many points.

Sanford, 3-0, beat doormat DeLand, 0-4, just, 7-0. The Tribe is one-half game ahead of Manfred's 2-0 Spruce Creek. The Creek whipped Lake Brantley, 14-7, last Friday. The Patriots are knocking on the door at the two-yard line with 2:24 to play. Not much difference in those two teams. The Pats are still very much alive at 2-1.

Daytona Beach Mainland, 3-1, eased past another conference cellar dweller Lake Howell, 0-3, by a slim 15-10 margin. The Silver Hawks are still winless, so you can see there's not a whole lot of difference there.

Bill Scott's Lyman squad didn't look very good in an early season 19-0 setback to Mainland. The 'Hounds, however, have been pretty tough since then. They clobbered DeLand and whipped Apopka on an electrifying run by Vince Presley that set up a TD last Friday. Lyman is 2-1 and alive, too.

Which leaves us Apopka, Lake Howell and DeLand. The bull dogs' offense is best left unsaid. The defense is pretty good. You can write them off at 0-4. They could be the spoiler, though.

Write off the Silver Hawks, too. This isn't close to being the team it was last year. Only one offensive starter returned. Give departing Sam Weir credit, he knows when to go.

The Blue Darters of Chip Gierke are done too. Apopka is 1-3. No way. Here's a look at how they stand

	W	L
Seminole	3	0
Sp. Creek	2	0
Mainland	3	1
Lk Brantley	2	1
Lyman	2	1

The Fighting Seminoles are the hottest team. They have won four in a row after losing to 3A power Titusville Astronaut. Seminole has beaten Lake Howell (9-6), Apopka (26-13) and DeLand (7-0).

Oct. 24	Lakeland Kathleen
Oct. 30	Lake Brantley
Nov. 6	Lyman
Nov. 13	At Mainland
Nov. 20	Spruce Creek

The schedule favors Sanford, somewhat. Three of the remaining four district games are at home. The Kathleen game, of course, is meaningless, but Seminole wants a victory to sustain its winning streak. However, the Tribe is past the soft part of the schedule. And it was soft. The following week should be a war—defensively. Both the Patriots and Sanford have excellent defenses led by big-play performers. Antonio Davis is averaging 14 tackles a game the past two weeks. Bill Painter is fast-moving at defensive tackle and reliable Vince Edwards is at safety. Patriots, Otis Clatt, Fred Baber and Kyle Davis are all superb.

If Brantley loses to Seminole, it might be out of it. It's a must win for Dave Tullis' boys, while Sanford can still lose one game and not seriously hurt itself because the Tribe plays the remaining contenders—Lyman, Mainland and Spruce Creek—in succession. The finale with the Hawks could be for all the jewels.

Nobody seems to know much about Spruce Creek. Kenny Flowers, the Hawks talented halfback, broke two good runs against Brantley, but was controlled the rest of the time. His longest run was 14 yards. Here's a look at the Hawks' slate:

Oct. 23	Lake Howell
Oct. 30	Mainland
Nov. 6	At Apopka
Nov. 13	At Lyman
Nov. 20	At Sanford

The stage is set for another Spruce Creek orange-swallowing act. The Hawks have a somewhat easy schedule for the next three dates with Howell, Mainland and Apopka.

For the final two, though, it gets tough. And both games—Lyman and Seminole—are on the visitors' turf. Sophomore quarterback Mike Elmore is good, but his age may show down the stretch. Also, the Patriots are no San Diego Chargers on offense, so the Hawks' defense is suspect.

Mainland is 3-1, somehow. It faces a murderous schedule, though.

Oct. 23	At Lake Brantley
Oct. 30	At Spruce Creek
Nov. 6	Titusville
Nov. 13	Sanford
Nov. 20	Seabreeze

The guy that made out Florida State's schedule must have spent the night before in Daytona Beach. The chances are good Mainland will lose its next two games and be out of it.

If it splits or sweeps, then Titusville manhandles the Buccaneers in a game that means nothing before Mainland hosts Sanford.

The patsy game, Seabreeze, is scheduled last, where the Titusville game should be to get them ready for post-season play. About Nov. 6, Coach Bob Wallace will be looking for a breather, but he'll get powerful Titusville.

Lyman isn't sitting too bad. The Greyhounds are idle this week, which is important this time of the year to heal. Junior lineman Gene Allen, however, found time for a new break Wednesday in practice.

"Yeah, Gene broke his nose," informed Scott Wednesday night. "He'll be all right, though. It's the third time he broke it. He's getting used to it."

Lyman, like Seminole, has three of its last four at home.

Oct. 30	Lake Howell
Nov. 6	At Sanford
Nov. 13	Spruce Creek
Nov. 20	Lake Brantley

Should the 'Hounds dispose of Howell, the Sanford game becomes very pivotal. A loss really hurts, but a victory would put them in the driver's seat.

Lyman, like many of its conference opponents, sports a solid defense led by Lonta Collier and Carl Quesinberry (five interceptions).

The offense has all the makings of greatness—Vince Presley and Theo Jones running, Jerry Axley's passing and several fine receivers—but the offensive line is young which holds back the 'Hounds on occasion. Still, a dangerous, young, improving team.

Seminole and Lyman are very similar. Having taken care of the easy part of the Five Star schedule without too much damage, they anxiously look ahead.

It is what lies in the forefront for the Seminoles and Greyhounds, however, which will determine if they are of championship caliber.

Lucarelli Scored TD

The winning touchdown in Lake Mary's victory over Crooms Tuesday night was scored by freshman Charlie Lucarelli, not Jim Morrison. The Lake Mary program incorrectly identifies Morrison as number 31, which is Lucarelli's number. The Evening Herald regrets the error.

Kindall, who played with the Chicago Cubs and Minnesota Twins, along with ex-Twin manager Frank Quilici and Florida Baseball School operator Wes Rinker are putting together a package of 10 instructional baseball films which they hope to market to coaches and players throughout the United States.

Sanford's Jon Williams scored three goals and goalie Joshua Ferguson threw up an invisible wall around the net as Sanford 800 blanked College Park 801, 3-0, Saturday to remain undefeated in Sanford Soccer Club action.

The victory improved the age eight and under group of Coach Gene Williams to 3-0 for the season. Saturday, 800 travels to Aloma Elementary to play Maitland 803 in search of victory number four.

"It was a hard-fought game," said Williams about the match. "Both teams gave a great effort."

Jon, son of Williams the coach, tallied the first part of his hat trick in the first half to give Sanford a 1-0 edge. He added two more goals in the second half to cement the win.

Although Joshua Latchworth didn't score, Williams cited him for five shots on goal and keeping the ball alive for the other 800s.

Teddy Holloway, Jason Walraven, Paul Guarino, James Stewart and Kris Esterson were all acclaimed by Williams for their defensive efforts.

"Holloway hustled really well and Guarino was super defensively," observed Williams.

SANFORD 201-7, Mainland 102-1

Chan Tyre banged home two first-half goals and assisted on one in the second half as Sanford Celeste Industries 201 won its fourth straight without a loss.

In the second half "Quick Chris" Ray took a feed from Nicky Pastis and scored for Sanford's 3-1 lead. Chuck Roll handled a pass from Tyre to boost the margin to 4-1.

Cory Stickney had a hand in the next two goals as he scored on a pass from Mike Altizer and then assisted Pastis for a 6-1 bulge. Rusty Smith, on a nice feed from Mitch Albert, booted home the final Celeste goal.

Coach Wayne Albert's team outshot Maitland, 25-5, for the game. The lone Maitland goal was scored on a deflection off a Sanford player.

"Chris Ray shut out the Maitland team as goalie in the second half," pointed out Albert. "We had outstanding jobs from Steve Edwards, Danny Bachrach, Brent Posey and David Farr on defense."

Sanford 600-10, South Orange-3

Sanford Celery City Printing Co. 600 continued to crush the opposition as its dynamic duo of scorers Durrand Richards and feeder Shea Whigham manhandled South Orange.

Richards turned in the hat trick, scoring two goals in the first half as Sanford built a 6-0 margin, and one in the second half.

Whigham assisted on four goals for the day, including two for the foot of Richards. In all, the twosome combined for four goals and five assists.

Tim Roberts picked up the second Celery goal of the game on an assist from

Sanford Soccer

Steve Sapp, Ricky Shea picked up a 4-0 score on a feed from Whigham.

Whigham helped out Matt Albert on the first of his two goals and then Whigham banged one home for himself for the 6-0 halftime bulge.

In the second half, Sapp and Albert both added unassisted goals before Sapp notched his second on a feed from Richards and Richards ended the rout with his last goal on a pass from Whigham.

"Sheldon Richards turned in a super performance on defense and Hal Poy did a good job in the goal," said coach Susy Reno who saw her age 14 "A" team improve to 3-1 for the year.

Downtown Orlando-3, Sanford 200-1

Despite an unassisted goal from Jason Helmdollar, Sanford Bostworks 200 dropped its first game of the season to Downtown Orlando after two wins.

Orlando held a narrow 1-0 edge at halftime, but scored two goals to offset Helmdollar's solo in the final half. The age 13 and under team plays F. C. United at Red Bug Park Saturday.

Downtown Orlando 600-3, Sanford 600-0

Downtown Orlando collected its second victory of the day over a Sanford team when it scored a goal in each half to whip 600. It was the second setback of the year for the Raiders to go with two victories.

"Sanford played well," said coach Tom Brewer. "Orlando scored on a penalty kick and then a regular kick."

Goalie Matt Williams stopped 10 shots on the goal in a losing effort.

Winter Park 400-4, Sanford 400-1

Sanford Kiwanis 400 received a goal from Tim Deppen on an assist from Danny Kearns, but couldn't stay with powerful Winter Park.

Despite the Parkers offensive onslaught, Sherry Rumber did a good job in the goal according to coach Susy Reno. In a battle between Sanford 14 year-olds, Sanford 400 clashes with Sanford 400 Saturday at the Sanford Airport.

In other 10 year-old and under action, the Sanford New Skyway Speedway 800 battle with Maitland 801 will be rescheduled at another time.

Gossage Nails Down 3-0 Win, Yanks Up 2

John's Sinker Deepens Dodgers' Despair

NEW YORK (UPI) — Tommy John, using his sinker to perfection, drove his ex-teammates' championship hopes deeper into the ground Wednesday night with seven innings of three-hit pitching in helping the New York Yankees defeat the Los Angeles Dodgers 3-0 and take a commanding two-game lead in the World Series.

Larry Milbourne's two-out, run-scoring double in the fifth inning, which came after an error by second baseman Dave Lopes, provided the only run John and reliever Rich Gossage needed to defeat Burt Hooton and complete a home sweep for the Yankees in the first two games of the Series. The Yankees added a pair of eighth-inning insurance runs on an RBI single by Bob Watson and a sacrifice fly by Willie Randolph.

After a travel day Thursday, the best-of-seven Series resumes at Los Angeles Friday night, beginning at 8:30 p.m. EDT, with rookie left-hander Dave Righetti pitching for New York and rookie left-hander Fernando Valenzuela going for the Dodgers. It will mark the first time since 1950 that two rookie starters will oppose each other in the Series.

John, 38, who pitched for the Dodgers against the Yankees in the 1977 and 1978 seasons, struck out four and allowed only three outfield outs before leaving the game for a pinch hitter in the seventh.

World Series

Gossage allowed one hit over the final two innings to pick up his second save of the Series.

As has been the case in the previous meetings between these clubs since 1977, it was a defensive play the Yankees made and one the Dodgers didn't that proved to be the difference.

"We don't want to let Los Angeles win one and get off the ground," said Larry Milbourne, whose fifth-inning double drove home Willie Randolph for a 1-0 lead. "We want to end it as fast as possible."

The Yankees own a powerful advantage. Only seven teams have rebounded to win a World Series after losing the first two games. Instead of appearing in a position to become the eighth, the Dodgers look like a candidate to become the 14th team to lose in four straight.

"We're two down," said Dodgers Manager Tom Lasorda. "It was a tough loss because we were looking to win tonight. Now we must go back and play some kind of baseball. Any time you are down 0-2, it is tough to come back. But I believe we can do it again."

In the National League West playoff series, the Dodgers became the first team to win a best-of-five series after losing the first two games. In the NL championship playoff, they trailed Montreal 2-1 and came back to capture the series on the road.

Steve Garvey, one of the few Dodgers to look sharp thus far, admitted that playing two consecutive tension-packed series may have taken a toll.

"All I can say is the day off will do us good," said Garvey. "It's not like we are getting overwhelmed, we're just not executing properly. It's a simple matter of their pitching overpowering our hitting right now."

The Yankee formula involves solid starting pitching, a nearly invincible bullpen, timely hitting and virtually flawless defense.

In this case, the starting pitcher was former Dodger Tommy John, who went seven innings and allowed just three singles. He gave way at the start of the eighth to Rich Gossage, who registered his usual near-impeccable job of stopping the opponent.

The Dodgers blew any chance they had of reaching Gossage by allowing two runs in the eighth. Pinch hitter Lou Piniella, Graig Nettles and Bob Watson singled for one run. Nettles and Watson advanced on a wild pitchoff throw by reliever Dave Stewart and after Rick Cerone received an intentional walk, Willie Randolph lofted a sacrifice fly.

Trying to score one run off Gossage is tough enough. Needing three is virtually impossible. But down 3-0, the Dodgers might just as well have tried to scale the Empire State Building.

"We've seen some outstanding pitching in these two games," admitted Lasorda. "(Ron) Guidry was outstanding last night. John was his usual type of pitcher, getting the hitters on the ground. Then you have that flame thrower (Gossage)."

Just as they did in the Montreal series, the Dodgers squandered scoring opportunities. They had a chance to make a run for hard-luck loser Burt Hooton in the fifth but Ken Landreaux failed to deliver a run from third with one out and John then helped himself with an outstanding defensive play to end the inning.

Garvey led off with a single, moved to second on an infield out and beat shortstop Milbourne's throw to third on Pedro Guerrero's grounder, setting up an opportunity. But Landreaux struck out.

With two out, Steve Yeager rifled a shot through the box. John knocked it down with his glove, picked it up and threw to first just in time to nail Yeager with first baseman Watson coming off the bag to make a fine catch and tag despite being rammed by the baserunner.

The Dodgers, who will send rookie southpaw sensation Fernando

Valenzuela against Yankee rookie left-hander Dave Righetti Friday night, may offer another lineup change. Dodger outfielder Reggie Smith has said he will ask Lasorda to play Game 3.

Smith has been reduced to pinch-hitting duties after undergoing surgery for his right shoulder.

For the Yankees, Reggie Jackson, hampered by a left calf injury for the first two games, may play Friday.

Whether either of the Reggies will make a difference, no one knows. One thing appears sure. Unless the Dodgers do something in a hurry, Steinbrenner could wind up being as silent as the Los Angeles bats.

Rookies

Confident Yanks Send Righetti Vs. Valenzuela

VALENZUELA
... Dodgers' Saviour?

DAVE RIGHETTI
... hard-throwing rookie

NEW YORK (UPI) — There is an abundance of confidence filtering through the New York Yankees.

Oh, they'll all issue the standard lines about the Los Angeles Dodgers being a fine, competitive team that can come back from the dead. To a man, they all have the compliments ready and will quickly express undying respect and fear for their west coast rivals.

The Series now heads back to Los Angeles where the Dodgers will pin their hopes on rookie sensation Fernando Valenzuela in Game 3 Friday night. Valenzuela flew back to Los Angeles

Wednesday afternoon to rest. The Yankees will counter with their own rookie sensation, Dave Righetti.

But Tommy John and Rich Gossage had a blast Wednesday night, combining on an easy four-hitter to give the Yanks a 3-0 victory and a 2-0 lead in the World Series. So easy, in fact, that it was almost frightening.

John, who spent much of his fine career with the Dodgers, baffled his ex-mates with a vicious sinker that had Los Angeles hitters pounding ground balls all over the infield. He knew the hitters intimately and even though he later denied it, his time spent in Dodger blue had to help.

"Sometimes knowledge can be a dangerous thing," said John. "If you know too much about a team, you tend to forget about your own game. I concentrated on pitching my game as if they were the Cincinnati Reds or the Detroit Tigers or the Milwaukee Brewers."

And when the seventh inning had come and gone, John had thrown a mere 77 pitches, 51 for strikes, and Gossage came in to tidy up.

Turner Wants Torre To Whistle Dixie

NEW YORK (UPI) — If Ted Turner, the maverick owner of the Atlanta Braves, has his way, Joe Torre will be whistling Dixie by the weekend.

Torre, dismissed as manager of the New York Mets Oct. 4, is Turner's personal choice to take over the Braves' helm and Torre practically upstaged Game 2 of the World Series between the New York Yankees and Los Angeles Dodgers Wednesday night by making an appearance on the field before the contest.

Surrounded by members of the media, Torre emphasized he has not agreed to any terms with the Braves, pointing out he hasn't even spoken with Turner yet.

Turner said he wanted to name his manager on Friday because that's the only day this week he'll be in Atlanta. He dispatched Atlanta General Manager John Mullen and Executive Vice President Al Thornwell to New York in hopes of signing Torre, but a snag has developed about the length of the contract.

The Braves have been offering either a one- or two-year contract, but Torre is holding out for three years. When he signed his last contract with the Mets, Torre insisted on a two-year deal.

Wild Rumors Fly Around Series, Lemon To Houston For Virdon?

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — You hear all kinds of crazy rumors already about what will happen after the World Series. Things like Bob Lemon being let go by the Yankees so he can join his old buddy, Al Rosen, at Houston, where Bill Virdon supposedly is on the outs and headed for Atlanta.

That's what these rumors are, crazy. For starters, Virdon has another year to go on his two-year contract with the Astros and Rosen guarantees he'll be back with them next season.

For another thing, Lemon is being allowed the luxury of calling his own shot whether he'll manage the Yankees again next season. And if you want to know who says so, his boss, George Steinbrenner, does—as late as Wednesday night just after the Yankees had blanked the Dodgers 3-0 at Yankee Stadium to go two games up on them in the World Series.

Pointedly asked whether he has any plans for making a managerial change after the Series, Steinbrenner was very firm in his immediate answer.

"No plans whatsoever," he insisted. "Lemon is part of the family. He's going to make the decision, not me, and I hope it's affirmative. He doesn't come in and ask, 'How much are you going to pay me?' or 'What's the length of my contract?' All he says is 'Just tell me where you want me, boss, and I'll be there.' Well, we want him back

Milton Richman

managing."

That's fine because it ties in perfectly with Lemon's plans. He wants to manage the Yankees again next year, and if you're curious as to who says that, he does.

He was sitting alone at the desk in his office after Wednesday night's win over the Dodgers, with most of the media congregated outside in the clubhouse around fellows like Tommy John, Goose Gossage, Larry Milbourne and Bobby Watson, when I asked him whether he really wanted to come back and manage the club next year.

"George and I have to talk when this thing is all over," he replied, his voice hoarse and a couple of octaves lower than usual due to a cold he has had the past few days. "Whatever happens, happens. I think I'd like to be back."

That's Bob Lemon for you. He never pushes, never tries to muscle his way and takes whatever comes although it's clear enough that after having been out of harness the past two years, not managing that is, and getting another taste of it now, he'd like to give it another try next year.

The way George Steinbrenner talks, I'm inclined to believe Lemon will at least start next season as the Yankees' manager. And if some other club doesn't hire Dick Williams as its manager in the meantime, he'll probably wind up with a job in the Yankees' front office. And that way, he'd be readily available to manage the club any time Steinbrenner felt a change was needed or Lemon thought he had enough.

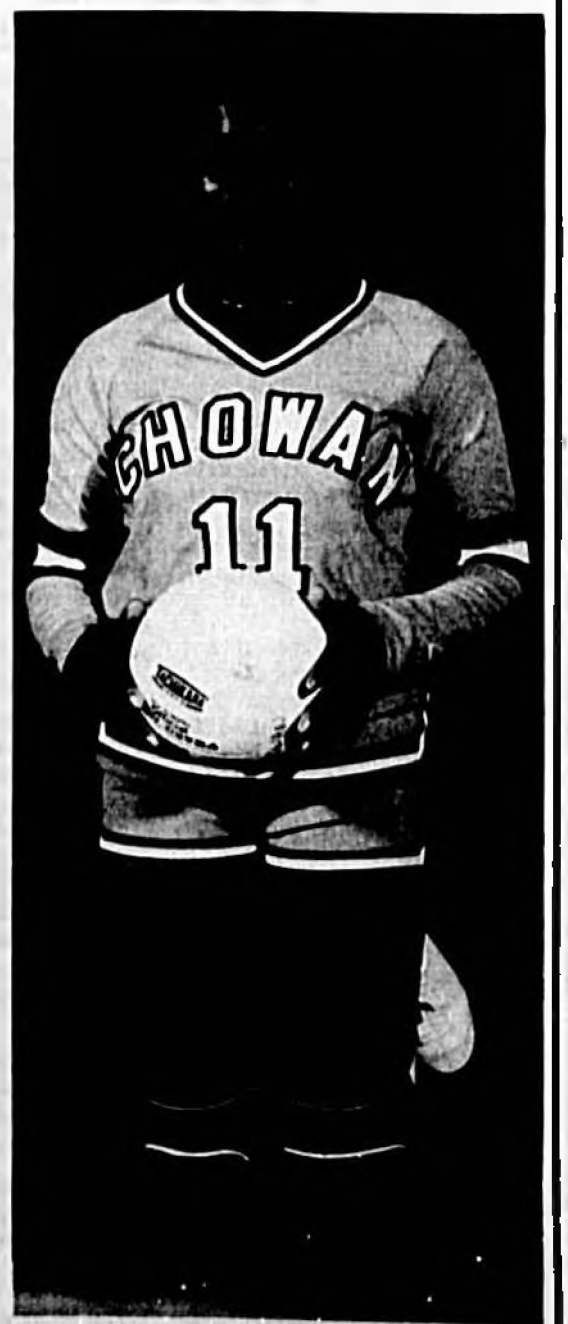

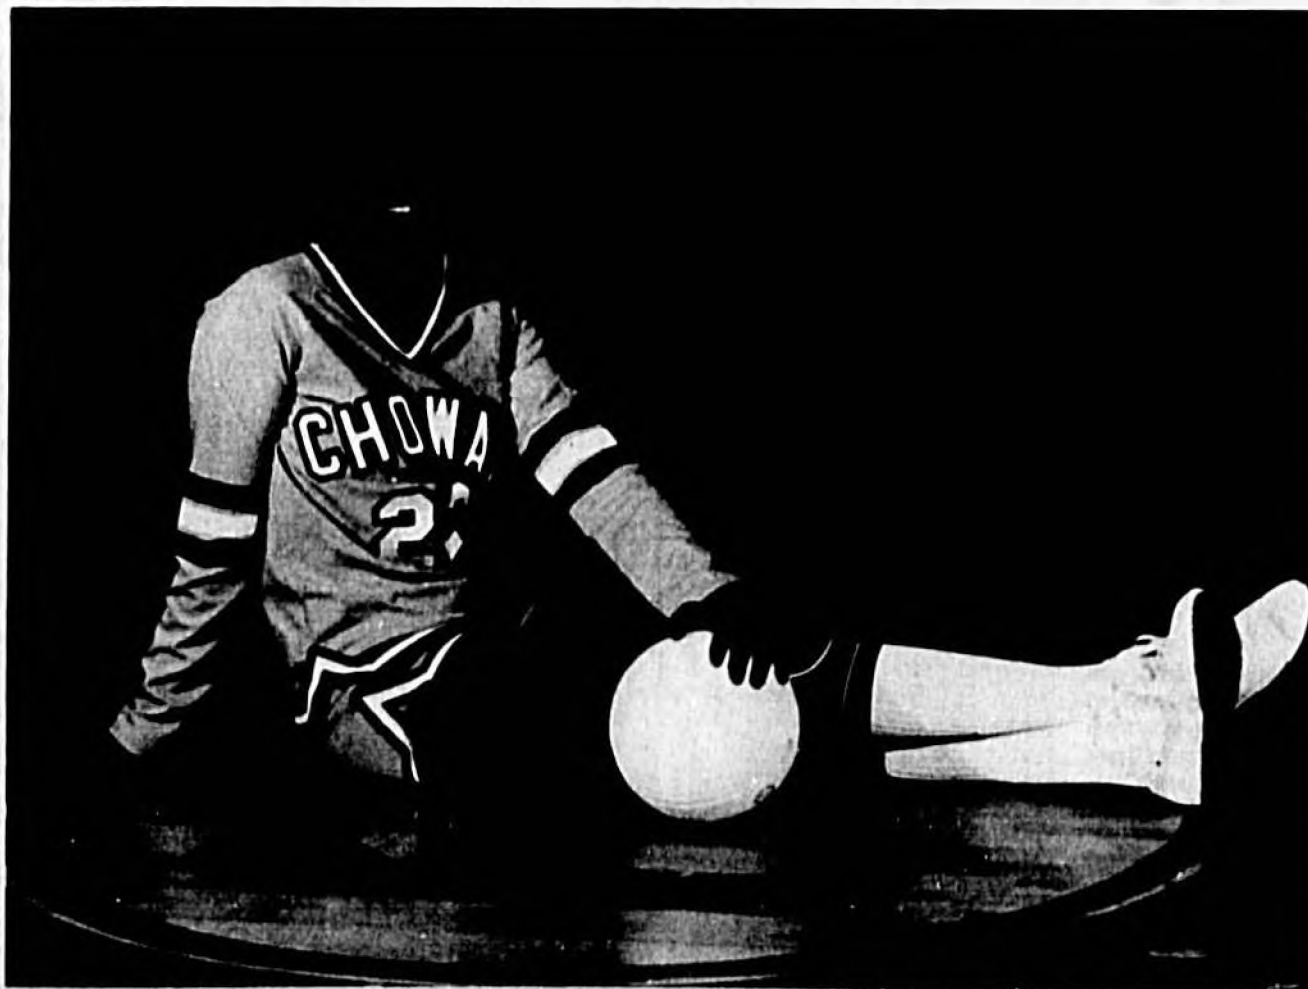

But the Yankees had made up their minds to release Yogi Berra as their manager and wanted to bring in Keane. In the end, Berra was fired and replaced as Yankee manager by Keane, after Keane resigned with the Cardinals and was in turn replaced by Red Schoendienst.

Sounds crazy, doesn't it? But even weirder things are happening now.

Would you believe that one of the clubs which made a managerial change recently had Walt Alton on its list of candidates? It's true. Next thing you know, old Charlie Grimm will be getting another call.

Bob Lemon isn't going anywhere, though. He's staying on as the Yankees' manager and if you'd like to check it out, all you have to do is ask George Steinbrenner.

Chowan Standouts

These three talented ex-Oviedo Lions have been part of the reason for Chowan College's volleyball success this year. The Murfreesboro, (N.C.) school had an impressive 14-6 record at mid-season. Coach Janet Collins' squad has been ranked as high as 14th in the nation by the National Junior College Association.

Hanson Bolsters LaGrange Attack

LAGRANGE, Ga. — LaGrange College's Panthers will go into the 1981-82 season with eight returning players and nine outstanding newcomers, according to LC's new basketball coach, Hugh C. Corless.

In beginning a new era in Panther basketball history Corless said, "We will be rebuilding this year with a solid nucleus of veterans and a host of new players challenging for a position. All positions are open and the competition should bring out the best in everyone."

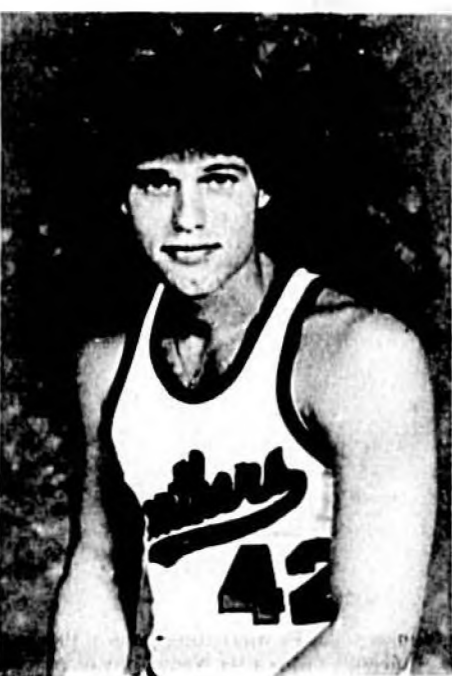

"The Panthers will try a new style of play with a quick tempo set by a pressing full-court defense and a quick-shooting fast break offense. Transfers should hold the key to any chances of a winning season."

The 1981-82 season will begin on Saturday, Nov. 7, at 3 p.m. when the Panthers play Piedmont College, a GIAC opponent, in the LC gymnasium as a part of the annual Homecoming festivities.

The eight returning lettermen are Mitch Hanson, six feet, seven inches, junior forward from Lyman; Wayne Johnson, six feet, one inch, junior guard, LaGrange; Doug Mason, six feet, one inch, sophomore guard, Tampa; Greg Noble, six feet, seven inches, senior forward, Tallahassee; Bill Sexton, five foot, nine inches, senior point guard, Selma, Ala.; Carl Sills, six feet, four inches, junior guard-forward, Cuthbert; Ken Smith, six feet, four inches, senior guard-forward, Tallapoosa; and Richard Svacha, six feet, nine inches, senior center, Auburn, Ala.

Five new transfers include Ken Alexander, five feet, eleven inches, junior guard, Phoenix City, Ala.; Jeff Colton, six feet, six inches, and Sam Cotton, six feet, five inches, both junior forwards and brothers from LaGrange; Frank Hall, six feet, three inches, junior guard-forward, West Point; and Jerome Woodyard six feet, one inch, junior guard, LaGrange.

There are four freshmen — Paul Minter, six feet, three inches, guard-forward, Atlanta; Brian Sani, six feet, six inches, forward, Waycross, Ga.; David Shealy, five feet, eleven inches, guard, Fayetteville, Ga.; and Rick Mitch Hanson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Blowers of Longwood, Fla., and a graduate of Lyman High School. He is a junior on the LaGrange College basketball team.

Smith, six feet, one inch, guard, LaGrange.

"Any time you have a new coach and a lot of new players it is going to take time to put something together," Corless said. "I'm excited about the possibilities, but I also realize that we have a big challenge to do the job that needs to be done."

"My first priority is to blend the old with the new. The returning players have an excellent enthusiasm about our new style of play. The faster tempo will mean more players will have an opportunity to participate."

"The new players will give the team a new look and added depth at each position. My hope is that our fans and supporters will see above all else a real 'team spirit' and team unity."

Halloween Carnival Bigger And Better Than Ever

Get ready Geneva. The carnival is coming!

The Geneva Community Hall will be buzzing the night of October 31st commencing at 5:30 p.m. when the annual Halloween Carnival officially begins.

What a lineup of fun-filled events the Geneva Historical and Genealogical Society members have planned. The list is almost endless - bingo, country store (a boutique of crafts and used household items), the haunted house, a costume parade with prizes to be awarded, an old fashioned hayride, men's leg contest and dozens of children's games.

Here are the particulars. Bingo will start at 5:30 p.m. inside the hall and continue all night. The prizes for bingo winners are passes to the movies furnished by the Santoro Plaza Rocking Chair Theatre.

The costume parade will start promptly at 6:30 p.m. and the winners will receive certificates for free pizzas from Mr. Ed's in Sanford. And, the winners of the Men's Leg Contest will receive complimentary dinners from Western Sizzlin' Steak in Sanford.

Don't miss the Men's Leg Contest — it is the laugh of the year. The contestants stand behind a curtain that allows only their legs to be viewed! Prizes will be awarded for boniest legs, best dressed legs, hairiest legs and most athletic-looking legs.

If you have a hunger pang hit you while you are enjoying the evening you may partake of a good hot dog or hamburger sandwich or platter that will include sandwich, beans, slaw and pickle. And, it won't cost you an arm and a leg, either.

Dogs will be 50 cents and burgers 60 cents; platters, $1.15 and $1.25. Cokes, coffee and donuts will be sold, also.

Also in the food department will be a Cake Walk and Bake Sale.

The tickets for the children's games—the duck pond, balloon darts, ring toss, apple bob, weight guessing, softball toss, basketball throw, and others — will range in price from 15 cents to 50 cents.

"Funny money" will be given to the winners of each game, and may be exchanged at the end of the evening at the redemption center for some mighty fine prizes.

All barriers are down at carnival time. The youngsters attending will range in age from 8 days to 80 years young. There will be newcomers and oldtimers — a chance for country neighbors to get to meet the new faces and greet the familiar ones.

The first time you attend the Geneva Halloween Carnival you will swear there couldn't be "that many people in Seminole County", let alone in Geneva.

That's what Susan Chase thought last year when she and her husband Steve attended for the first time with their two children, Tracy, 5, and Matthew, now 19 months. This year, Susan found herself more than just attending — she is chairman of the games. "It has taken a lot of hard work to get organized," Susan said. "I called over 80 people seeking workers to help with the game booths, and now have 21 commitments." She added, "The reason I wanted to get involved is for the children of the community. I remember how much fun I had as a child at our school carnival, and I think this is a nice tradition." For more information, you may call her at 349-5232.

Have you driven down Old Geneva Road this week? If you have, you know it has been paved.

This "main artery" which connects "downtown" Geneva to Osceola Road has been a washboard-type dirt road for many years. Now that it is more heavily traveled, especially by the huge garbage trucks going to the county land fill, more commonly called the dump, it was probably a necessity to have it paved.

Whatever the motive, we, the citizens of Geneva, will reap the benefit of the blacktop.

Pilot Club International Wins Top Safety Award

Pilot Club International, one of five worldwide classified civic-service clubs for executive and professional women, received the highest award given to an organization by National Safety Council. The Award of Honor was presented on Oct. 17, to Helen Quinn, Ottawa, Ontario, Canada, president of Pilot International.

Also present was Maudie Stackhouse, a member of the Pilot Club of Mason City, Iowa, current International Safety Leader for the organization. The presentation was made at the fall meeting of the Women's Department of the National Safety Council held in Chicago, Ill. in conjunction with the 1981 National Safety Congress.

In accepting the award, Ms. Quinn revealed that the organization has been promoting safety activities since 1961 and that the past year was its most productive in accomplishments.

She expressed pleasure at having a past Pilot International president serving as the Awards Chairman, Mrs. Margaret Cronan of Kannapolis, N.C., then quickly added, she refused to judge any of our Pilot Clubs throughout the United States during the organization's 1980-81 fiscal year. Pilot International is composed of over 600 Pilot Clubs and 20,000 members, many of which are involved in their communities promoting safety on the highways, in the home, on the streets, in the water and at work. The entry contained many safety programs for handicapped people, the elderly and youth.

The winning scrapbook was compiled by Mrs. Stackhouse for Pilot International and contained local newspaper stories, photos and other supporting evidence of safety activities carried out by Pilot Clubs throughout the United States during the organization's 1980-81 fiscal year. Pilot International is composed of over 600 Pilot Clubs and 20,000 members, many of which are involved in their communities promoting safety on the highways, in the home, on the streets, in the water and at work. The entry contained many safety programs for handicapped people, the elderly and youth.

Mrs. Stackhouse is well qualified to present a winning presentation on safety. Her work in that area spans many years. Prior to her arrival in Chicago, she attended the combined annual meeting of National Association of Women Highway Safety Leaders and National Association of Governor's Highway Representatives in Hershey, Pa.

The Women's Conference of the National Safety Council, through its annual Citation Awards Program, publicly recognizes significant safety activities by individual women and by women's and parents organizations. Pilot International has worked closely with the National Safety Council for over twenty years in developing and implementing all phases of safety.

In addition to the highest Award of Honor for an organization, the awards program recognizes individuals for their outstanding contributions. Mrs. Jean B. Hartley of the Pilot Club of Elberton, Ga. received the highest individual award, the Citation for Distinguished Service. Of 21 awards presented, seven went to Pilot International and its clubs and members.

Pilot Club of Sanford members are serving as mediators on citizens dispute council, and they work on cases of family disagreement misdemeanor charges and first offenses, according to Virginia Wood, president.

GAG Talent Show

The search is on for area talent to participate in the Jubilee Variety Show in conjunction with the Golden Age Games on Nov. 10 at the Sanford Civic Center.

According to Martha Yancey, coordinator of the talent show, anyone over 55 can compete for the gold, silver and bronze medals. Mrs. Yancey said other talent, not in competition, is also welcome.

Those desiring to participate are asked to fill out an entry form at the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce.

In previous years, the talent show has attracted a variety of acts from a variety of ages. Last year's show caught several prominent seniors in tutus performing a hilarious ballet comedy of errors.

Suicide, Funeral Concern Woman

DEAR ABBY: I have a question, as you will see, I can't very well ask anyone else. I am nearly 80, quite alone in the world, and have a progressive disease that will eventually make me helpless. Before that time comes, I plan to end my own life, a choice I believe each one of us has the right to make for himself.

I am Jewish, but not Orthodox. I want a Jewish funeral, but I need to know if a rabbi would consent to perform a funeral for a person known to have committed suicide.

Could I be buried in a Jewish cemetery? Please do not identify me or my town.

ANONYMOUS
DEAR ANONYMOUS: According to Jewish law, our bodies belong to God, and only he can take a life. However, out of consideration for the grieving family, suicides are entitled to have a religious funeral and they may be buried in a Jewish cemetery.

DEAR ABBY: Your column telling girls that they don't have to "go all the way" to prove their love has made me sit down and write this.

Why is all the blame piled on the boys? Listen to this: I'm a high school senior. I dated a girl last year (I'll call her Angie) and she told me if I didn't go to bed with her I meant I didn't "love" her. Well, I kept my self-respect and my virginity, even though Angie leaked a few rumors around school.

A friend of mine (I'll call him Tim) was advised by his father to get some "experience" in his teens so that when he gets married he will be able to guide his bride through the honeymoon. Tim followed his father's advice and as a result he contracted syphilis! I know all this because I was the friend who took Tim to the clinic for treatments.

I just want to say that it's not only the girl who pays the price for hasty sex. (Consider the boy who has fathered a child out of wedlock.)

Please print this to let other boys know that virginity is nothing to be ashamed of. I'm not a religious fanatic, I'm just waiting for "the right time."

IN NO HURRY
DEAR IN: I commend you for your wholesome outlook and manly self-control. It's too bad Tim's father didn't tell his son how to prevent the twin tragedies of irresponsible sex: venereal disease and unwanted pregnancies.

DEAR ABBY: A recent discussion with my girlfriend has led me to write to you with this question. For the last three months we have been together daily with very few exceptions. We have dinner together almost every night and have slept in the same bed (at my place) about five nights out of the week.

She maintains an apartment nearby where she keeps her clothes and belongings and goes there just to change clothes, do her laundry, pay her bills, get her mail, etc. I say that we are living together. She says we are not. What do you say?

US IN SAN FRANCISCO
DEAR US: I say as long as she maintains an independent residence, you are not living together.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MUSICIAN'S WIFE: Don't judge all women by the ones who chase your husband. Musicians are constantly being pursued by women, but those who don't want to be bothered know how to ignore the overtures when they get the pitch.

Getting married? Whether you want a formal church wedding or a simple, "do-your-own-thing" ceremony, get Abby's new booklet. Send $1 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped (35 cents) envelope to: Abby's Wedding Booklet, 12060 Hawthorne Blvd., Suite 5000, Hawthorne, Calif. 90250.

Replacing Hormones After Hysterectomy

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB — Three months ago I had a hysterectomy. A week later I was put on Premarin. Since I had hot flashes and headaches the amount was increased. Now I feel fine but I'm worried about blood clots.

Will I age quicker, wrinkle and dry up if I do not take enough hormones? I'm 36 now. Do the hormones affect your sexual desire? Are there some check points to know if you are taking enough or too much? Do the hormones affect mood? Does the body develop a tolerance so you have to gradually increase the amount? What happens if you miss one or two a month? This surgery is irrevocable so one has to make the best of it.

DEAR READER — You should think of the hormones you are taking as replacement therapy, meaning they replace the hormones that would normally be formed by your own ovaries if you had not had an operation. Since it is a replacement of a natural substance you will not develop a tolerance and need to increase your dosage for that reason.

You must have had more than just a hysterectomy. The uterus does not form female hormones. The ovaries do. When a young woman has her ovaries removed along with a hysterectomy, she usually needs and should have hormone replacement. If not you will be thrown into the menopause early with some of the problems you mention.

Yes, the hormones do affect your sexual desire, just the same as the normal hormones you form from your ovaries at the onset of puberty influence you. One big difference in individual responses is how much female hormone is produced by the adrenal gland.

To help you sort all this out, I am sending you The Health Letter number 14-12, Hysterectomy, Cystocele and Rectocele. These are common operations in women.

Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

You will need to rely on your doctor to know if you are taking the right amount of hormone or not. If you don't take enough you may have hot flashes and other changes that he can see when he examines you. The risk of blood clots and other complications from hormones is not really great in your case, probably less than the risk of a normal pregnancy.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am trying to serve foods to my family that are good for them, but I find sodium nitrate in all packages of cold meats, hot dogs, pepperoni, all their favorites. How unsafe is it to consume foods containing this? Am I over-reacting?

DEAR READER — The main reason for concern about nitrates and nitrites is the possibility that they may be converted in the body to nitrosamines, which may cause cancer. To put the issue in perspective, there are bacteria in the intestine that produce many times the amount of these substances than exists in cured meats. They are absorbed into the blood stream and are in your saliva. Hence there is more nitrate and nitrite in your saliva than you can expect to get from your food. So I guess people concerned about this should stop swallowing saliva — and that will indeed be interesting to watch.

Now, I don't happen to approve of the foods you mention. But my reason is that these are exceptionally high fat foods. Their high fat content, and often high saturated fat content, means they should be avoided by those desiring a low-fat diet to avoid heart attacks and strokes.

HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Friday, October 23, 1981

YOUR BIRTHDAY
October 23, 1981

This coming year you are likely to be luckier with projects on which you've already spent time than you will with new ones. Be patient, keep the faith and finish what you've begun.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) You could become involved in something very opportune today and yet there's a chance you won't recognize it for what it is. Count your blessings instead of questioning them. Romance, travel, luck, resources, possible pitfalls and career for the coming months are all discussed in your Astro-Graph which begins with your birthday. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 488, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) There is a possibility that you will treat friends far more generously today than they'll treat you. Be kind, but also protect your interests.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) In situations where you are strongly motivated, success is likely today. However, your attention span may be rather brief and you won't do all you can.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Doing the difficult is within your capabilities today. What you accomplish should earn you admiration, provided it's done with style and taste.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Friends could be more of a hindrance than a help today in managing serious matters for you. Keep them out of the picture, even though their intentions are good.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Keep to the cold, hard facts when making important decisions today. If you let emotions enter the picture they could cloud your judgment.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You're good at conceiving concepts and ideas today, but you could lack skill in implementing them. Keep your work on a par with your bright thoughts.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Be complimentary today if kudos are warranted, but don't lay it on too thick if they are not. Such flattery would work against you, rather than for you.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You're very reliable and responsible today in dealings with outsiders, but you might fail to do something you promised your mate you'd do.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Leave the tough artistic jobs around the house today to professionals. You could botch the job, and have to call in someone later.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You're good at making sales pitches today, but you may lack the skill to close the deal. Know when to stop selling.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Gauge your audience carefully today. Don't talk about what you have or own to "have-nots." Rather than being impressed, they'll resent your making them feel inferior.

WIN AT BRIDGE

With 25 high-card points and balanced distribution, South has a very standard three-notrump opening.

He is lucky enough to get a heart lead and sees that he has a lot of tricks if he can get dummy's diamonds, but he assumes that the defender with the ace of diamonds will be able to hold off twice and that two diamond tricks will be the best he can take.

Can he get to nine with just two diamond tricks? Yes, if he can establish a second club. He can do this against a 3-3 club break. How about a 4-2 club break? He can handle some 4-2 club breaks by leading a low club immediately and will still have time to try diamonds so at trick two he leads a low club. West wins with the nine or East with the 10 and a heart or spade is led. It makes no difference.

South wins, cashes his ace of clubs and leads his king of diamonds. West ducks and the jack of diamonds is led next. West must duck again. South overtakes with dummy's queen and leads dummy's last club to establish his jack of clubs for trick nine.

All of Jannet's hands don't show overbidding or bad breaks that must be overcome.

'Clean' Bond Ordered

KEY WEST, Fla. (UPI) — In the first ruling of its kind in Florida, a Monroe County magistrate has ordered that those posting bond for a suspected drug smuggler must swear under oath that the money was legally obtained.

"Bond is just another cost of doing drug business these days," Monroe County Judge Richard Payne told the Miami Herald. "Maybe this will make it a little harder to use illegal monies to post bond."

Donald Taylor, of Key West, was arrested last week and charged with possession and trafficking of cocaine, possession of more than 20 grams of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia.

Payne has ruled that Taylor will not be released on $109,000 bond unless those posting his bail sign an affidavit stating where the money originated and swear it is not "drug money."

Several law enforcement officials around the state said Payne's order is the first of its kind in Florida and could be a landmark decision.

Payne said his ruling might make those posting bond think twice before swearing under oath that the money was legally obtained.

"An affidavit is only as good as the people who sign it," Payne said. "But if someone lies, they could face perjury charges. A guy might get off on the drug charges, but be convicted of perjury."

Origins of the bond money would be investigated by the state attorney's office or the Internal Revenue Service, Payne said.

Grass Use Drops Again

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The number of high school seniors who smoke marijuana dropped for the third consecutive year, a leading drug abuse official reports.

The report was coupled with a warning by a psychiatrist that pilots suffer enough "severe deterioration" with one marijuana cigarette to crash their planes.

Additionally, the psychiatrist said there was evidence that marijuana leads to car accidents, causes people with impaired heart functions to suffer chest pain more quickly and hinders a user from making a rapid choice between two alternatives.

Dr. William Pollin, director of the National Institute of Drug Abuse, headed a list of professional witnesses testifying Wednesday at the Senate Labor and Human Resources' Alcoholism and Drug Abuse subcommittee hearing on the effects of marijuana on youth. Pollin said the percentage of high school seniors using marijuana daily dropped from 10.7 percent in 1978 to 10.3 percent in 1979 and to 9.1 percent in 1980, and that preliminary 1981 figures continue to show this downward trend.

Pollin said nearly 65 percent of high school seniors have used an illicit drug, 60 percent have used marijuana and 9 percent use marijuana daily. A total of 31 percent of the seniors had their first experience with marijuana before high school.

Of the seniors who use marijuana regularly, Pollin reported, 42 percent said they have less energy, 34 percent said their relationship with their parents has been hurt, 28 percent said they are less interested in other activities, 28 percent said they think less clearly and 11 percent said they are less stable emotionally.

Pollin also testified the "stepping stone" hypothesis — that a person using marijuana is more likely to use drugs such as cocaine and heroin — "was rejected prematurely and now needs serious re-evaluation."

He cited a study that reported while less than 1 percent of the young men who had never used marijuana went on to use cocaine and heroin, 73 percent of those who had used marijuana 1,000 times or more went on to use cocaine and 33 percent went on to use heroin.

Pharmacologist Carol Grace Smith of the Uniformed Services University of the Health Sciences said studies have shown that marijuana can produce infertility in both male and female animals, although the effect appears to be reversible in sexually mature animals.

She said marijuana can cause abnormal menstrual cycles, can lower the birth weights of infants, and lower the number of normal sperm.

Radiation Helps Arthritis Victims

BOSTON (UPI) — A woman afflicted with rheumatoid arthritis climbed steps to her house for the first time in 12 years thanks to X-ray treatment used for Hodgkins disease but showing promise for hundreds of thousands of rheumatoid sufferers, researchers reported today.

Other sufferers were able to cook or take tub baths again — previously impossible because of the destructive joint disease, which afflicts some 6.5 million Americans, reports in the New England Journal of Medicine said.

The treatment, used to treat Hodgkins Diseases for 20 years, was given to two small groups of patients in two separate studies by researchers from Stanford University and Harvard Medical School. They outlined the treatment in separate reports in the journal.

An editorial written by Dr. Daniel McCarty of the Medical College of Wisconsin in Milwaukee called the reports "encouraging" but warned they can only be taken as grounds for further study before the treatment becomes available to the public.

"We're talking about another couple of years at least of studies at research centers to prove that it is better than some of the existing therapies available," said Dr. Samuel Strober, Stanford's chief of immunology.

Dr. David Trentham, who headed the Harvard study, said "it's a relatively safe technique, considering the other options."

Trentham said 30 to 40 percent of rheumatoid patients are presently untreatable because of side effects from drugs or because conventional therapies have no effect.

In the Stanford study, 11 patients were exposed to radiation for eight weeks. Nine showed improvement a month after treatment. The best response was seen six to seven months after therapy and continued up to 18 months.

At Harvard, joint swelling in five of 10 patients disappeared in the first eight weeks of the 16-week course of radiation therapy. Eight patients showed marked improvement, but the disease began to return in six patients eight to 10 months after radiation.

The disease — causing severe inflammation, pain, stiffness and deformity of joints — is believed to be caused by the body's own immune system, which somehow labels the joints as foreign and attacks them.

The latest two studies support the theory the culprits could be a group of white blood cells called T-cells.

Halloween's Ancient Past

Those Haunting Reminders

By DIANE JEFFERSON
Herald Staff Writer

Look again at that carved pumpkin sitting on your window sill. Irish legend has it that a member of the squash family with the toothy grin is a gift of the Devil himself.

Despite Pope Gregory III's designation of October 31 as All Hallows Eve, moving the festival of All Hallows or All Saints Day to November 1 in the eighth century did not remove pagan trappings associated with the ancient Druidic celebration of New Year's Day on November 1.

Celtic tribes of the British Isles gathered on hilltops to light a sacred fire to rejuvenate their weakening sun god, always fearing the sun might die during winter as their crops did if the magical rites were not performed to perfection.

The Druidic Lord of the Dead Samhain meted out judgements on this day to souls who had died during the previous year. The Celts believed souls had to wait inside the bodies of animals until Samhain came to earth during the New Year's holiday to determine if they would be freed to ascend to heaven or be doomed to continue their existence in animal form. Sacrifices were made to pay for the sins of the dead, hoping to gain them favor with Samhain—and a place in heaven. Robert J. Myers states in his book Celebrations—The Complete Book of American Holidays that horses were still being sacrificed to the sun god during the feast of Samhain in 400 A.D.

Ghosts wandered among the homes of the living while awaiting judgement, so the ancient Celts laid out a place for them at the family table and prepared a feast. Afterwards, family members donned costumes representing the souls of the departed and led them away from the village in a procession to the outskirts of the town.

Today's custom of wearing costumes while asking neighbors for food can be traced back to this pagan New Year feast.

Halloween was not widely celebrated in America until after the potato famine in Ireland in the 1840's, Myers tells us. Descendants of the Celts settled in Ireland, the Irish brought their celebration with them across the Atlantic. They introduced a rich lore of ghosts, fairies, and legends, such as that of Irish Jack.

A miserly drunkard, Irish Jack nevertheless was cunning enough to trap the Devil by inviting him to pick a ripe apple from a tree. Quickly cutting a cross into the bark beneath the demon, Jack prevented his descent.

Jack allowed the Devil to climb down on one condition: he must swear to never lay claim to Jack's soul. The Devil agreed.

When Jack died, heaven turned him away, saying he was too tightfisted and lacked compassion. So Jack went to hell. But the Devil told him he could not stay there, either, since he had made the Devil swear an oath relinquishing all claim to his soul. The Devil told Jack to go back where he came from.

Dejectedly, Jack trudged through the darkness back up from hell. Jack sat down to eat a turnip, when the Devil threw him a coal from the fires of hell to help light his way. Legend says Jack put the smoldering coal inside the turnip, and he has been wandering the earth with his jack-o'-lantern since. Children in Ireland hollowed out potatoes, rutabagas, and turnips in his honor before the custom of carving pumpkins became part of the lore.

The Altamonte South Seminole Jaycees will kick off their "Nine Nights of Halloween" haunted house project with these leering reminders of poor Irish Jack's dilemma. The haunting will take place at the Longwood Village Inn, Highway 427 at Highway 434 October 23 through October 31, 7 p.m. through the bewitching hour.

Among the ghosts and skeletons and eerie events that will be occurring there, Irish Jack would have felt right at home.

This feline is fortunate she wasn't born in the Middle Ages and a few shades darker. Back then, black cats were burned in wicker baskets on Halloween because they were believed to be the animal form of demons or the Devil himself.

Broadway's 'Replacement'

Stepping Into Television

Ann Reinking has a half-dozen Broadway shows under her belt, two movies and she turned down parts in both "Charlie's Angels" and "Three's Company." And she doesn't even have a press agent. In fact, she always had the fear she might not make it — a fear that should be quelled by now.

Miss Reinking does a Bob Fosse number in the Emmy award-winning "Julie Andrews' Invitation to the Dance with Rudolf Nureyev," to be rebroadcast Sunday on "The CBS Festival of Lively Arts for Young People" series.

The dancing that Miss Reinking does, both on stage and in front of the camera, is grueling. "Anyone who does star dancing or solo work," she says, "gets pulled muscles and so forth. You're really out there eight performances a week, trying to make it work and be the best. You have to give them more than step-step, kick-kick. It's like being a star football player. You get a few more injuries than the guy sitting on the bench."

Miss Reinking has spent very little time on the bench.

ANN REINKING

She arrived in New York from her native Seattle, Wash., at 18, exactly seven years after she announced to her parents over dinner that she wanted to be a dancer. ("They all but choked," she recalls.) Her first job was in the corps de ballet at Radio City Music Hall.

"It was a good place to learn the ropes, to learn professionalism" — something she needed. "I'd go on stage with a squirt gun or blacken my teeth," she says. "On Broadway, I would have been fired. You don't have girls walking around with squirt guns."

Her first job after Radio City was in the chorus of a touring "Fiddler on the Roof," and she now says, "I'll never go on the road agin."

She didn't have to. Bob Fosse cast her in "Pippin," in which he used dancers individually, rather than as anonymous chorus members. Then it was on to the starring role of Joan of Arc in the flop musical "Good-bye, Charley." "But who wouldn't want to play a saint?" she asks.

Then came "Coco," the Katharine Hepburn musical. Miss Reinking had a small part. "Katharine Hepburn said to me, 'You can act.' Wasn't that nice?"

After that she went through what she calls her replacement period, taking over for Donna McKechnie in "A Chorus Line" and Gwen Verdon in "Chicago." Says Miss Reinking, "Someone said I was the replacement queen of Broadway."

Miss Reinking's last show was "Dancin'," and then the film "All That Jazz." The next stop is playing Grace Farrell, Daddy Warbucks' secretary, in the movie version of "Annie."

"Acting is something I can do," she says. "And I'd like to be able to make a living for myself past the age of 45 or 50. I don't want to kill myself every night if I don't have to. You try doing this at 50. It'll hurt. It hurts now."

These poems are by Seminole County students kindergarten through 12th grade. They resulted from the Florida Poetry in the Schools program taught by poet Bob Wishoff of Oviedo and Evelyln Mantz of DeLand. Pupils are provided with a general theme, but are not told what they should write.

When I walk on the sands of time
I go to old age and back.
And on the sands of time
I gain the smarts I lack.
I see I told a lie.
I see my parents die.
I back off fast.
It's no fun to walk on the sands of time.

An Off-Broadway For TV?

By GERSON NASON
Television, always searching for new material, has teamed up with the National Playwrights Conference at the Eugene O'Neill Theater Center in Waterford, Conn. This season ABC will air "My Body, My Child," a new play first produced at the O'Neill Center and adapted for the ABC Theater series.

are accepted by the program spend a month of their summer at the O'Neill Center in Waterford, where the play is produced and acted by a group of renowned dramaturges and actors. In this way, inexperienced playwrights, who may not be able to have their plays produced through regular channels, have a chance for recognition.

During the last 15 summers the program has operated, numerous productions have gone on to regional theater, off-Broadway, Broadway and television.

Reflecting on the current state of theater in America, Richards adds: "Finally we are providing an off-Broadway for television."

"My Body, My Child," by Louisa Burns-Bisogno, in its original form was one of over 1,200 entries to the O'Neill conference, of which only 14 were chosen. In the summer of 1981, the play was produced and worked on at the O'Neill Center by a group of talented directors and actors, before ABC selected it for television adaption.

"My Body" is the story of a Catholic woman, played by Vanessa Redgrave, who must decide whether or not to abort the child she knows will be born deformed. Jack Albertson plays her father and Joe Campanella is her husband.

The O'Neill Center program encourages the development of original works by talented young playwrights. Lloyd Richards, artistic director of the program, says the O'Neill Center is looking for new playwriting talent, not just plays. "It's not that we just choose the play," he says, "but that the writer has value."

DRAMATIC THRILLER

A Buffalo, N.Y., stonemason (played by James Caan) and his second wife (Jill Eikenberry) reflect on the disappearance of his two children by his previous wife, who have been abducted by the U.S. Department of Justice in "Hide in Plain Sight." The dramatic thriller will premier on network television Wednesday on CBS.

Swoosie Stars In Sitcom

Swoosie Kurtz, winner of this year's Tony, Drama Desk and Outer Critics Circle awards for her performance in Broadway's "Fifth of July," turns her talents to television this season.

She plays the female lead in the new NBC comedy series "Love, Sidney," starring Tony Randall. The premiere segment of the series is Wednesday.

Kurtz will play Laurie Morgan, a struggling actress who returns to New York from California with her 6½-year-old daughter (played by Kaleena Kiff). Miss Morgan and her daughter move into the large Upper West Side apartment of middle-aged bachelor Sidney Shorr (Randall), who has been like a parent to the child.

In addition to the above trio of awards, Kurtz won the Drama Desk Award for her performance in the play "A History of the American Film," a Tony nomination as best featured actress for "Tartuffe" and Obie and Drama Desk nominations for "Uncommon Women and Others."

Kurtz is the only child of career U.S. Air Force Colonel Frank Kurtz, a decorated American fighter pilot of World War II. She was born in Omaha, Neb., and attended 17 schools before settling down at Hollywood (Calif.) High School.

She studied drama at the University of Southern California and London's Academy of Music and Dramatic Art.

In the years 1966-70, she acted in regional theaters: Cincinnati's Playhouse-in-the-Park, Winnipeg's Manitoba Theater, the Charles Playhouse in Boston and the Hartford (Conn.) Stage Company.

Her New York breakthrough came in "The Effect of Gamma Rays on Man-in-the-Moon Marigolds," in which, over a two-year period, she played three roles. She also appeared with Mike Nichols and Elaine May in Edward Albee's "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" at New Haven's Wharf Theater.

Kurtz stars with Robin Williams in the upcoming movie adaptation of John Irving's best-seller, "The World According to Garp." She was also in the film "Slap Shot," with Paul Newman.

On television, she appeared in the movie "The Mating Season" (with Lucie Arnaz and Laurence Luckinbill).

MEIR MOVIE PLANNED

Actress Ingrid Bergman is coming out of retirement to portray former Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir, in "A Woman Called Golda," a four-hour TV movie planned for syndication in the spring of 1982. This picture of Miss Bergman was taken during a screen test she insisted on taking before accepting the role. The actress has been reading books on Golda Meir and studying voice tapes.

John Travolta: Bigger, Better

DEAR DICK: What ever happened to John Travolta of "Welcome Back, Kotter?" You never see him on TV any more. ALISON BURKE, Zilwaukee, Mich.

Maybe the news hasn't reached Zilwaukee yet, but John has become a movie star. You mean you haven't heard of "Saturday Night Fever" or "Blow Out" or all of his movies? That's why he isn't on TV any more — he's gone on to bigger and better things.

DEAR DICK: My grandfather and I were watching a commercial about selling Kate Smith's records and he said she died and I said she is alive. We made a bet. Who wins? JERRY ESPEY, Spring Church, Pa.

You win. Kate is still with us.

DEAR DICK: Is the guy who played Danny in "Caddyshack" the same guy who played Ben in "The Great Santini"? B.H. Torrington, Wyo.

Yes. His name is Michael O'Keefe.

DEAR DICK: I would like to know what the name of the ranch was on the old "Big Valley" series. TONY STONER, Warsaw, Ind.

It was the Barkley ranch.

DEAR DICK: I have watched Wink Martindale for three years on "Tic-Tac-Dough," and before that I heard him on radio. I have often wondered where he got such an odd nickname. Can you tell me? JAMES A. BROWN, Ventura, Calif.

He started out in life as Winston Martindale, in Jackson, Tenn. But according to the family legend, the kid across the street couldn't manage Winston and said Winky instead. Growing up he was Winky Martindale, and he just chopped off the last syllable of the nickname when he became an adult.

Ask Dick Kleiner

By DICK KLEINER

DEAR DICK: In the early '50s and NBC, after the "Tonight" show, Nancy Berg did a "Good Night" show. She had a black poodle with her. Can you tell me the name of the poodle? I would appreciate getting this nonsense off my mind, and I sure hope you have the information. DOROTHY ZAPACK, Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Sorry, I can tell you a lot about Nancy — I interviewed her back in '55 — but not the name of her dog. Her show was called "Count Sheep" and she was a beautiful, Audrey Hepburn-like model who did five minutes of pantomime — and then went to bed. I don't remember the dog and can find no reference to it in any book or article. Anybody out there know the answer?

Cosby Teaches

Bill Cosby's talents as a stand-up comedian, television and nightclub entertainer serve him well when he pursues his other interest — education.

"A teacher has to be some kind of actor," Cosby says, "because kids are the toughest audience of all."

Cosby spends a lot of time proving that an actor can be a teacher as well. Cosby's philosophy of "learning with laughter" has brought education and comedy together in the form of the Cosby Kids, a group that includes Fat Albert, Weird Harold, Dumb Donald and Mushmouth.

"The Fat Albert Halloween Special," a half-hour animated holiday special to be rebroadcast Tuesday, on CBS, is just one example of how Cosby uses his talents in association with artists and writers to create an entertainment special that also educates.
