Conservation officers arrest Sanford man twice for BUI

The Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission's (FWC) Northeast Region had an active, but relatively safe Memorial Day Weekend on the local waterways. Good weather produced heavy boating activity throughout the region, as FWC officers patrolled the waterways — even arresting the same Sanford man twice.

FWC officers spent 2,154 hours patrolling the waters of the 12-county region and wrote 771 citations, which included 24 arrests for boating under the influence (BUI). The remaining tickets were for other boating safety violations (577), resource violations (128), and other violations (42) which can be anything from drug-related arrests to littering. In addition, FWC officers issued 1,420 written warnings during the holiday weekend.

Seminole and Orange counties topped the region in numbers of BUI arrests this weekend, with the majority of the arrests on the St. John's River.

"Our goal this Memorial Day weekend was to keep the boating public safe," said FWC supervisor Lt. Jeff Hudson, whose officers made the high number of arrests. "We targeted BUI enforcement on the waterways of Orange and Seminole counties and made 10 boating under the influence arrests. That accounts for more than 40 percent of the BUI arrests that were made in this region over the weekend."

One Sanford man didn't learn his lesson the first time he was arrested for BUI.

Michael A. Green, 44, of Palmetto Avenue, was arrested on Saturday night, bonded out and was arrested again for boating under the influence on Sunday night.

River Rats to begin play Monday, 7 p.m.

By Dean Smith
Sports Editor

SANFORD — When the lights flicker to life at Historic Sanford Memorial Stadium Monday evening, it will also bring back to life what the facility was built for...big time baseball.

Like a distant memory returning, the happy sounds of baseball will once again grace the Eastside of Sanford when the Sanford River Rats of the Florida Collegiate Summer League take to Rinker-Stenstrom Field for the first time, hosting the Daytona Beach Barracudas starting at 7 p.m.

Not since the 1980s when Seminole High School and Sanford American Legion Post 53 called the stadium home has a team been based at the facility that local fans can call their own.

It will be good to see baseball played here again as Sanford has been a baseball town for over 80 years.

The Florida State League had teams here in the 1920s and Spring Training was held here from 1940-1960 with the Boston Braves training here in the early '40s and the New York Giants training here from the late 40s until 1960 when the franchise moved to San Francisco.

Sanford's own Buddy Lake

was a star for the Sanford team and the likes of Hall-of-Famers

Willie Mays and Willie McCovey played here and Babe Ruth himself made an appearance and spoke here. This is also the first place that Jackie Robinson played as a member of the Brooklyn Dodgers organization, getting in a couple of innings in an exhibition game before it was terminated, and the first place that then Giants manager Leo Durocher got an opportunity to see a phenom named Willie Mays play.

And that's only scratching the surface of the history of the stadium.

After the Giants left, the Stadium hosted a few Seminole Junior College games when the program got started in the mid-60s, but the facility was used primarily as a football field for Seminole and Crooms high schools and Sanford Junior High.

Wes Rinker came to town in the early 70s and restored the stadium to baseball conditions and the facility hosted a lot of high school, college and American Legion games as well as a few Minor League games. UCF, without a field of its own on campus, called the stadium home.

Rinker also brought the Canadian Olympic Team here to

Lake Mary, county dedicate Rinehart trail improvements

By Christopher Patton
Managing Editor

LAKE MARY — It took nearly four years for it to finally come together, but officials say a Friday dedication of improvements to the Rinehart Road trail is just the beginning.

"This is a tremendous start, but this is not the end of the dream," said Lake Mary Deputy Mayor Mike McLean.

"This definitely is an exciting day," he added. "As a result of all this hard work in the community we have transformed this trail."

With support from Seminole County, Lake Mary, five area homeowners associations and countless businesses, the once bleak 2.3-mile stretch of trail along Rinehart Road received a $200,000 facelift. The changes included four bricked rest stations complete with shade trees, eight exercise stations, 38 new trees, 2,800 shrubs and 6,300 square feet of sod.

The initial project was completed primarily from the support of the group known as Be A Trailblazer Inc. The not-for-profit organization was founded several years ago when the neighborhoods of Timacuan, Manderley, Woodbridge and The Hills of Lake Mary approached the city to dress up the bleak, black-topped trail on the east side of Rinehart Road. With the addition of a fifth partner, The Forest, the consortium of neighborhoods was inspired by the prospective chance of changing the landscape of the city's only trail that connects the county's Seminole Wekiva Trail and Cross Seminole Trail.

The group has raised about $240,000 through a combination of efforts. They found private donations from businesses such as Heritage United Bank and Progress Energy, and secured $30,000 from Lake Mary and $100,000 from Seminole County. The group also received additional $15,000 from Sanford Airport Authority Larry Dale during the trail dedication.

However Trailblazer co-chair Allan Plank says, "a lot of it was made up of small donations" from concerned citizens that also desired a change from the "black-topped wasteland." Several other fundraisers organized by Pat Blake of Timacuan included the selling of the "A Taste of Lake Mary" recipe book for $5 and a personalized

Murder suspect dies in custody

From Staff Reports

The Seminole County Sheriff's Office is investigating the death of a prisoner who was housed at the John E. Polk Correctional facility (Seminole County jail). The prisoner was pronounced dead at Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford at approximately 3:15 a.m. Thursday.

The prisoner is identified as Randolph Mora, 26, of Orlando. He was being held in the jail awaiting trial on a murder charge.

Mora

According to a report filed by a Seminole County Deputy, a cellmate of the prisoner called for corrections officer assistance at approximately 1:45 Thursday morning. The corrections officers summoned the medical staff.

After securing the other inmate, the personnel entered the cell and observed the prisoner in medical distress. Jail medical personnel assisted the situation and tried to render care. Shortly after 2 a.m., the fire department was called and the prisoner was transported to the hospital, where he later died.

Currently, investigators with the Major Crimes Unit are looking into the circumstances surrounding the death, but it is being investigated as a suspected suicide.

There was a message written on Mora's body with some type of writing instrument. It is believed it was written by Mora himself. It listed information on who to contact. The last line of the written information stated, in essence, "There are two things that are mine by right. They're freedom and death. If I can't have the first, I'll gladly have the other."

On Oct. 12 of this past year, 37-year old Scott Quinn was found at his residence, at 314 Placid Lake Drive in Sanford. A knife was protruding from his neck. When police investigated, they found hundreds of guns and military ordnance in Quinn's home. Quinn was a former Seminole County bail bondsman and a licensed gun dealer.

Following an intensive investigation, Mora was determined to be the suspect, and he was apprehended by Orlando police.

Rather than the case connected with guns, it was believed Mora had killed Quinn because of Quinn's relationships with

Lake County fire nearly jumps into Seminole

By Christopher Patton
Managing Editor

SEMINOLE STATE FOREST — Smoke from a Lake County brush fire drifted into downtown Sanford Wednesday, but luckily for Seminole County firefighters the blaze didn't jump over the Wekiva River into Seminole.

Staging at Wekiva Road off State Road 46, Seminole County firefighters waited for what many viewed as the inevitable with dry conditions and a rapidly expanding fire. The brush fire, which officials believe was started by lightning Tuesday night, burned about 100 acres of the Seminole State Forest, said

Dave Fogler, Lake County area supervisor for the state Division of Forestry, but didn't reach Seminole County as an afternoon storm helped bring it under control.

Lake County firefighters also responded to the area with three brush trucks, two engines and one tanker, said Jim Dickerson, Lake County Fire Department operations chief and former Seminole County chief at the Markham Woods Road station. Paul Hartsfield, Seminole County area supervisor for the state Division of Forestry, and a helicopter equipped with a 150-gallon water bucket also assisted.

SEMINOLE SUMMARY

A GLANCE AROUND OUR COUNTY

Big spenders: With the RiverWalk complete, at least for pedestrians, the city of Sanford is planning a big blow out for the Fourth of July. How big? Just a cool $100,000 according to plans City Manager Al Grieshaber unveiled at the Downtown Community Redevelopment Agency (CRA) meeting. Not bad for a city that's broke.

Around the Clock

by Dan Ping

Don't get me wrong, I love fireworks, and I think the city of Sanford needs to build on the momentum it created with the opening of the RiverWalk. But someone at City Hall needs to get their story straight. At times, Grieshaber claims the city is as poor as a pauper, like when he eliminated about a dozens positions (the second round of layoffs in six months) or when he and the CRA were wrangling over $25,000 for 1st Street improvements (Grieshaber said he searched high and low but could not find city funds for the project).

At other times, Grieshaber acts like the city's got more money than Citibank. There was the RiverWalk celebration (about $55,000), the unbudgeted contract with Adeo Media Group ($60,000 annually), the also unbudgeted but still pending contract with a real estate consultant (about $40,000), and now the $100,000 for a July 4th celebration. And remember those layoffs? Two of the positions eliminated were support staff in the city manager's office. At Wednesday's CRA meeting, Grieshaber introduced Debbie Simmons, the new office manager in Grieshaber's office.

It's time for city officials to stop talking out of both sides of their mouths. Either zip the lip and stop blaming financial woes when it's time to make tough decisions or start exercising more control over the pocketbook.

Where's Whitey Eckstein when you need him?

Movin' on up: Speaking of Whitey, the former city commissioner and world champion penny-pincher has moved outside the city limits.

Word Around The Clock is Whitey and his family recently purchased a house in the Sylvan Lake area. What's next, Whitey, a tricked out Escalade with a bumping bass stereo?

Like Mike: Lake Mary Commissioner, er, Deputy Mayor Mike McLean takes the cake when it comes to self-promotion. One of his fellow commissioners called McLean "intolerable" when he gets before a microphone.

But even McLean couldn't have matched the audacity of Frank Denis. After the dedication of the new Veteran's Memorial Bridge over the St. Johns River — in which Congressman John Mica noted it was a time for memorials not politics — Denis began passing out cheese, campaign materials and roses. Even McLean was a bit embarrassed.

County vs. City: Expect the city of Lake Mary to make another attempt to annex Colonial TownPark and office buildings adjacent to the new town center.

The city made noise about annexing the property about a year ago, but county officials raised holy heck, primarily because the county had provided incentive money to convince some of Colonial's tenants to relocate to Seminole County. Word is the county has recouped its investment and now Lake Mary is licking its chops at the thought additional tax revenues if it acquires the newly developed retail area. Should be interesting to watch.

Cruisin' the 'Walk: Seminole Boulevard may not be open for traffic yet, but there was a major traffic jam down on the RiverWalk Saturday night.

The Celery City Cruisers returned to downtown Sanford with a massive car show. In fact, organizers ran out of space and had to park some of the classic vehicles in the courthouse parking lot. The car club plans to host monthly shows at the RiverWalk, so if you missed Saturday's event, you'll have plenty of opportunities in the future.

Correction

In an article about Seminole County FCAT scores in the June 2 issue of The Herald, two people were misidentified. The outgoing principal of Woodland Elementary School is Susie Crook, not Susie Cooke. The director of curriculum services for the county schools is Hugh Harris, not Hugh Harrison.

Global trashing

Forget global warming, the real threat comes from global trashing. This scene of the demise of the world as we know it was photographed on East Second Street in Sanford. A closer look reveals the reason for the trashing — a major crack at the bottom of the world.

Drug related

Antonio Chandler, 24, and Travis Chandler, both of Lake Jennie Drive, Sanford, were arrested on May 14, at his residence. Members of the Sanford Police Department Special Tactical Unit and the Drug Enforcement unit conducted a search warrant and reportedly uncovered cocaine in a bag in the closet containing an approximate value of $1,500. Antonio was charged with possession of cocaine and possession of narcotics equipment. Travis was charged with possession of narcotics equipment.

Burglary

A man arrested as John Doe was taken into custody Tuesday in reference to the burglary of a vehicle. He was located in a pickup truck in the 2500 block of Sanford Avenue. The truck window had been broken, in what Sanford officers believe was an attempt at burglary. The man refused to give officers his true identity. He was arrested on charges of burglary to a conveyance, possession of burglary tools, property damage over $200 and resisting an officer without violence.

Ebony Jones, 21, and Keisha Dickerson, 19, both of Orange Avenue, Sanford, were arrested by Sanford police Monday in Tinley Terrace. Officers said the two had burglarized a vehicle and taken several items. Each was charged with burglary of a conveyance, property damage over $200, larceny of over $300, and possession of burglary tools.

Theft

Joshua Sapp, 27, of Ocoee, a vendor at a store on Towne Center Boulevard, was arrested by Sanford police Friday. A security tape reportedly showed he had taken a vehicle scanner from a shelf of the store on May 24. He was located and placed under arrest for theft.

Battery

Ollie Hall, 50, of West First Street, was arrested by Sanford police Tuesday at his residence in connection with the reported abuse of one of his two children. He was charged with battery — causing bodily harm, and cruelty toward children.

Police Blotter

Richard Bernard Taylor, 33, of Rosecliff Circle, Sanford, was arrested by Sanford police Monday at his residence where he reportedly was involved in an altercation with a female, using a knife. He was charged with aggravated battery using a deadly weapon.

Johnny Lee Rollins, 56, of West 13th Place, was arrested by Sanford police Sunday. Officers said he had assaulted a man with a gun in the 900 block of Pecan Avenue. Rollins was located at his residence and charged with aggravated assault with a deadly weapon.

Michael Allen Whitmer, 39, of Laurel Drive, Sanford, was arrested by Sanford police Saturday at a residence in the 3000 block of Magnolia Avenue, following a dispute with a female. He was charged with battery — touch or strike (domestic).

Thallas Inman, 31, of Cowan Moughton Terrace, was arrested by Sanford police Saturday following a dispute with a female near his residence. He was charged with battery — causing bodily harm (domestic violence).

Thaddeus Bernard Hatcher, 38, of Ridgewood Lane, Sanford, was arrested by Sanford police Saturday at his residence as the result of a confrontation with several females. He was charged with assault (domestic) and resisting an officer without violence.

Sylvia Diane Simon, 39, of Northlake Drive, Sanford, was arrested by Sanford police at her residence Saturday. She reportedly had been in a conflict with a man. She was charged with battery — touch or strike (domestic violence).

A man arrested as John Doe, was located by Sanford police Monday at a store on Towne Center Circle where he reportedly had been involved in a dispute with his girlfriend, an employee at the business. He was charged with simple assault with intent to do violence (domestic violence).

Olivia Marie Boetti, 32 of North Second Street, Lake Mary, was arrested by Sanford police Saturday in the 900 block of Santa Barbara Drive in Sanford following a dispute with another female. She was charged with battery — touch or strike (domestic).

Traffic stops

Anthony Lee Collins, 28, of Elm Avenue, Sanford, was stopped by Sanford police Monday at Second Street and Elliott Avenue. He was charged with driving under the influence (DUI) of alcohol or drugs, violation of drivers license restrictions, no lights, and driving in the wrong lane.

Other arrests

Brendalis Miley Santiago, 24, of Orlando, was arrested by Sanford police on May 25. She reportedly offered sex to an undercover police officer at 25th Street and Hartwell Avenue. She was arrested and charged with procurement for prostitution.

Gregory Andrew Abache, 20, of Deltona, was arrested by Sanford police Saturday in the 2900 block of Orlando Drive. He reportedly had used a fake driver's license at a store. He was arrested on a charge of possession of counterfeit drivers license.

George Dowey Wilkins, 44, of Orlando, was arrested by Sanford police Monday. He was reportedly at a store in the 1600 block of Rinehart Road, and had refused to leave when asked to do so by the manager. He was charged with trespassing on property after warning.

Thomas Edwin Burmeister, 22, of Mims, was arrested by Sanford police on May 28. He was located in the 300 block of West Fifth Street. He was charged with carrying a concealed weapon and resisting an officer without violence.

Sanford zoo sponsors summer adventures for ages 9-12

Children between the ages of nine and 12 now have the opportunity to participate in the Central Florida Zoo's newest adventure, the Zoofari Travel Camp.

For the first time in the history of Zoo Camp, the program will take campers to visit the Jacksonville Zoo, the Brevard Zoo, Lowry Park Zoo, and Disney's Animal Kingdom. The campers will get to explore all of the fun and exciting happenings offered at each of the parcs, from kayaking around Africa at the Brevard Zoo, to the Kilimanjaro Safari at Disney's Animal Kingdom. Campers will see and learn firsthand why zoos have different animals and how each park chose its theme.

On the final day of Zoofari Travel Camp, campers will be immersed in special behind-the-scenes adventures at the Central Florida Zoo, including activities that will be exclusive for Zoofari Campers.

"This day will be filled with surprises both very, very large and small," said Terri Beigel, education manager at the zoo.

"There will be lots of photo opportunities to catch surprised faces and big smiles. The zoo teachers will make sure they are all on film if a camera is sent," Beigel said.

The two scheduled Zoofari Travel Camp sessions run for one week each from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday, and are slated for June 28 through July 2 and July 26 through July 30. Campers are to be picked up and dropped off at the Central Florida Zoo. The cost of the camp is $300, or $275 for zoo members. Camp prices include admission to all of the parks but exclude the cost of lunch, which must be purchased daily.

Each Zoofari Travel Camp session is limited to 10 campers, and two zoo teachers will accompany the campers at all times.

engraved brick for $50. "When you can pull businesses, the community and government together toward a common goal we can accomplish a lot," said County Commission Chairman Daryl McLain. "This is going to be an example for other communities of how we can pull together." The Rinehart Trailhead Park was dedicated in 1998 by former Lake Mary Mayor and current State Rep. David Meador (R-Lake Mary). "When we stop and think we are on Lake Mary Boulevard, but there is a sense of calm here," he said. Similar to the trail improvements are coming to the park. The city has recently contracted a company to set-up shop in the empty concession stand in Trailhead Park. The business will provide light refreshments and rent out bikes and surreys. In addition to Friday's ribbon cutting, Seminole County, Lake Mary, and the Trailblazers invite area citizens to celebrate the trail at Trail Fun Day. People are welcome to explore the newly landscaped trail while discovering food, information and fun along the way. Trail Fun Day begins at 9 a.m. Saturday, June 5 and runs through 1 p.m. Event goers may park in any of the designated parking areas to enjoy a fund day out with their family. Just follow the signs along the way. For more information on the trail grand opening, log on to www.beatrailblazer.com.

train and the stadium was the site for the Class 4A State Final Four in 1977 in which Tim Raines and Seminole High was a part. But the building of Alumni Field at Seminole High, changes in NCAA rules limiting the amount of games teams could play, the Minnesota Twins moving their Spring Training home to Ft. Myers and Rinker's own failing health saw the stadium once again fade from our consciousness. It was not until the 1990s that citizens of Sanford, led by then Sanford City Commissioner Whitley Eckstein and several Seminole County war veterans who the stadium had been dedicated to, decided it was time to put the old girl back into shape and try to bring activities back to Sanford. With the FCSL coming to life this Monday, Sanford fans will once again have a group of young men to cheer for. And it looks like it could be quite a group indeed. While the roster had not been completely finalized at the time this story was written, the majority of the early commitments were members of the 2003 Seminole Community College team that gave the school its first-ever State Championship. Leading the squad, which will be coached by SCC assistant Ricky Plante, will be first baseman Donnie Burkhalter, the former record-setting home run hitter at SCC who was named the Most Valuable Player at the NAIA World Series (See story in Sports, Page 10A) on Thursday, leading Cumberland University to the National Championship. Another top player will be righthanded pitcher Drew Shetrone of Apopka, who just completed his freshman season at SCC. Fans may need to get a look at these two quickly as both are considered possible high picks in the 2004 Draft, which will take place on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. Burkhalter played last summer for the Valley League's Luray Wranglers in Luray, Virginia and holds several All-Time records there for hitting and gaining notice of the scouts because he showed he could hit with a wooden bat and Shetrone was selected by the Atlanta Braves in the 29th round in the 2003 draft and good pitchers are at a premium. Three other highly recognizable names to local fans are pitcher Zac McCamie, third baseman John Michael Howell and outfielder Sean Greear. McCamie was the ace of the SCC staff in 2003 and has emerged as the No. 3 starter at the University of South Carolina, which is one of the favorites to win the NCAA Division I World Series this year. McCamie was also the winning pitcher when the Gamecocks won the Southeastern Conference Tournament last weekend. Howell, who played at Winter Springs High before becoming an All-American at SCC, redshirted this season at the University of Florida, but figures to be a hitting star for the Gators next season. Greear had a super season at Embry-Riddle Aeronautical University in Daytona Beach, helping the Eagles to a No. 2 national ranking and a third place finish at this week's NAIA World Series in Idaho. Another big bopper for the team figures to be Jon Lozada, who broke several of Burkhalter's home run records at SCC as only a freshman. Other former and present SCC members of the team are second baseman Daniel Quartararo, who played this year at NAIA power University of South Carolina at Aiken; freshman pitcher-rightfielder Kyle Patrick (6-foot-4, 215-pounds) from Apopka; center-fielder Courtney Propst, who redshirted at UCF this season; left-fielder Ben Sprague, who played at SEC power Auburn this year; and pitcher Kyle DeYoung. Also on the team will be catcher Brent Sellers from Lakeland, who played at Evangel University this season; shortstop Ryan McKenzie from Edgewater High School in Orlando who played at Blue Ridge Community College; pitchers Peter Taraskevich from Sunrise and Paul Bulrow from Treasure Island, who both played junior college ball at St. Petersburg

College this year. At least four more players are expected to be added to the roster before the opening game. In addition to great baseball, fans will discover that the new league and its games will have a family atmosphere as games will feature kids being allowed on the field to run around the bases and lots of prize drawings will be held. Sanford's Opening Night will have Sanford Mayor Brady Lessard throwing out the first pitch and special guests will be players from Sanford's Babe Ruth Baseball Cal Ripken Major Division (11-12 year old) All-Star Team. In coming home games, the Sanford Babe Ruth League Cal Ripken Minors (9-10), Prep-13's and Babe Ruth (14-15) All-Star teams will be special guests. Gift certificates from Sports Authority, Olive Garden and Steak 'N Shake will be among the prizes to be distributed on Opening Night. Robert Segal, a Sanford resident who announces Rollins College basketball game, will be the Public Address Announcer at all Sanford home games. There will be concessions available at all games. T-shirts for River Rats and for the other three teams in the League will all be on sale. Following the games, players will be available to sign autographs. The team will also be at home on Tuesday, hosting the Orlando Shockers at 7 p.m., and will then go on the road for a week before returning on Tuesday, June 15th to host Orlando. Sanford has also been selected to host the league's first All-Star Game, which will take place on the 4th of July (Sunday) at 1 p.m. and a host of activities are planned. Tickets are just $8 for the whole family or $4 for individuals and a $1 for students. Kids under six are free. For more information, log on to the Web site at www.floridaleague.com.

ed with the brush fire. Fogler said fire-fighting units and plows began working the small two-acre blaze early Wednesday morning. With rising temperatures during the day and brisk winds, the fire continued to grow before a storm quelled its strength at about 4 p.m. "With all these shifting winds we were concerned about it turning around and heading toward the highway (State Road 46)," Fogler said. "If it wasn't for the rain we would be still having problems with this one," he added. With dry conditions, Central Florida remains susceptible to lightning-induced brush fires. With spotty storms increasing during the area's rainy season, sometimes lightning strikes on the outside of the edge of the storm where it doesn't rain can cause fires, Fogler said. "The first few storms of the rainy season start a lot of fires," he said. The section of the state forest that burned Wednesday was scheduled for a prescribed burn this year. In the past couple years, more than 3,000 acres of the state forest have been torched by state foresters during prescribed burns to prevent out-of-control brush fires during dry seasons.

Hurricane season is here

If you have relatives living elsewhere in the nation, you've probably heard someone say, "Florida? I wouldn't live there - you have those hurricanes."

But look at what we have in other parts of the hemisphere. Heavy rains fell in Nebraska, Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma recently, flooding large areas and causing a great deal of destruction. Recent rains in the Dominican Republic killed over a thousand people from flooding. Parts of Michigan, Ohio, northern New York State and elsewhere in the northeast, were devastated by blizzards this past winter. Those tornadoes that ravaged Tennessee, Ohio, Nebraska, Missouri and other areas were real killers as this week started, and as Dorothy and her dog Toto know full well, tornadoes are frequent in Kansas.

I don't know what state is the safest when it comes to weather phenomena, but I'll stay right here in Central Florida. Sure, we have our hurricanes, heavy rainfall, and blistering heat, but tornadoes, blizzards and flooding can stay away.

To get to the point, we are now officially in our Atlantic Hurricane Season. It starts June 1 and ends Nov. 30 each year. We hardly ever have any hurricane during the first few months of the season, but come September, October and November, there will undoubtedly be some activity out in the Atlantic, the Caribbean or the Gulf of Mexico.

William Gray, of Colorado State University, is probably the most famous hurricane predictor. For the 2003 hurricane season, he predicted 12 named storms. There were 14. He predicted three major storms, he was correct. This season, he has predicted 14 named storms, eight reaching hurricane strength, (75 mph and over), and three of them considered intense.

Hurricanes are named alphabetically. Once a name has been used as a major storm, it is not repeated. The letters Q, U, Y, and Z have no names. The remaining names, as they appear, are Alex, Bonnie, Charley, Danielle, Earl, Frances, Gaston, Hermine, Ivan, Jeanne, Karl, Lisa, Matthew, Nicole, Otto, Paula, Richard, Shary, Thomas, Virginia and Walter.

For those who may not know - hurricanes used to have only feminine names, but in the past decade, they were changed to include male names for every-other one. Something about equal rights I think.

At this time of the season, practically every media will be offering "free hurricane information pamphlets". In addition, a number of companies, including insurance companies and public safety organizations, will be giving suggestions on how to safe-guard your property.

For those who recently arrived in Florida, and are not familiar with hurricane preparedness, I suggest you obtain one of these pamphlets and study it carefully. Don't take it on a "if" basis - but accept it as things that must be done for hurricane preparation.

For those who have been in Florida a short while, during which time we have not suffered from a hurricane, don't become complacent. From year to year, we never know what may happen, and there is very little warning. Once a hurricane is predicted - just try to purchase plywood with which to board up the windows of your home or business. It is simply sold out. And should you purchase plywood now, a reminder - the prices have really gone up in the past year.

For those who have gone through several hurricanes - use your knowledge of what to do to help others - your friends - your neighbors. Try to convince them that holding a hurricane party when one is about to strike, isn't the smartest thing to do.

And remember to take the usual precautions yourself. Stock up on non-perishable food, drinking water, candles, and other items you should already know about.

Come the end of November, I want to write about a safe season with no hurricanes hitting this year. But if I do, I don't want to list you as being a fatality because you didn't take adequate protection and plan for a possible disaster.

Artist donates oil painting to city in appreciation

To the editor:

To Al Grieshaber, Sanford City Manager:
Your kindness in greeting all of the artists during the Saturday RiverWalk celebration has really touched us and demonstrated your deep interest in the future of the arts in Sanford.

It was clear to all of us through the exceptional attention and care provided by the Adeo Media Group that we were welcomed and encouraged to direct our attention to work on location (i.e. Sanford).

I would like to donate my oil pastel which appeared on the RiverWalk poster to the city of Sanford. If this is acceptable to you, perhaps you can let me know when I might drop it off.

Again, congratulations to the Mayor, the commissioners and yourself for the spectacular event which has obviously opened a new phase in the future history of Sanford.

Robertson thanks Herald editor for baseball coverage

To the editor:

I just wanted to let you know how much I appreciate your coverage of Orangewood (Christian School) baseball. You have done a more thorough job of covering local sports than the Orlando Sentinel.

The Orangewood families look forward to your column and because of it you have gotten several subscriptions to the Sanford paper. Thank you for coming to some of the games.

I look forward to Fall when we will have our first football team.

Thanks again, Dean (Smith,

Thank you for a wonderful evening Friday. The city did a great job. I would like to give special thanks to Carl Woods. He had the street sweeper and vacuum truck come through out parking lot which helped get rid of the midge smell as well as making the parking lot look better. Keep up the great work Al. It's nice to see some enthusiasm in City Hall.

Lisa Jones also deserves extra credit for her help. Thanks again.

Sanford educator passes

By Marva Hawkins
Herald Correspondent

Harold

Juanita Graham Harold, Seminole County educator, touched the lives of thousands of students during her career in the field of teaching. She died Wednesday, June 2, 2004.

Harold would always say that a gentle breeze blew her into a window at Fernald Laughton Memorial Hospital, into the arms of her loving parents, Frank and Josephine, on a sunny morning, Feb. 17, 1928, in Sanford, and she was affectionately named Juanita. Having been raised in a strict educational environment as her mother was a teacher in the Seminole County schools, she began attending school at the early age of three.

Entering the Hopper Academy (known as the Colored School No. 2, by the time she entered sixth grade) she was excellent in mathematics, and then she decided she would become a teacher in math, after attending Crooms Academy where she graduated with top honors in the class of 1944.

Her first year in college was at South Carolina State where she pledged Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority. Having won a Lewis Scholarship she paid her tuition and expenses for three years. She then transferred to Florida A&M College, where ultimately she graduated in 1948 with a bachelor's degree in math.

Some years later, having won a Mathematics Teacher Fellowship, she said she utilized it at the University of Michigan (although she preferred to attend the University of Florida at that time (1957), but blacks weren't allowed to attend. By 1967, Harold received her master's degree in math from Rollins College, one of the first blacks to do so.

She devoted 41 years of her life to the two things she loved most — mathematics, and teaching it to children and even college students who needed help. Having started her teaching career in Jasper (Hamilton County), she later returned to Crooms High, then she taught at Oviedo High and then Seminole High, where she retired in 1989 after a rewarding four plus decades where she often remarked to many of her family and friends how she found

Historical society learns about Sanford's first church

By Grace M. Stinecpher
Herald Correspondent

At the Sanford Historical Society's recent meeting, Society member Bette Skates presented a program entitled "Gertrude Sanford's Dear Little Church."

This, of course, referred to Holy Cross Episcopal Church which Mrs. Sanford took great interest in. When he was laying out this town, General Sanford gave one lot to each church, but the Episcopalians were the first to build a church building.

Mrs. Sanford solicited funds from her wealthy northern friends. With this and other donations, the church was completed in 1873. It was in the style of Carpenter Gothic and it faced Magnolia Avenue as it was believed that this would be the main street. The first rector was the Rev. F.R. Holeman.

In 1875, Rev. Lyman Phelps, General Sanford's agent, became rector. He also held services in other area communities.

Holy Cross's first building was destroyed by a hurricane in 1880. Another church building was completed in 1882 facing Park Avenue.

The church also built other buildings, one of which became a community center, which housed a bowling alley, billiards table and a moving picture machine.

Sadly, on Nov. 27, 1923, a fire destroyed the entire complex of buildings.

The new and present building was designed by architect Elton Moughton. It is pre-depression Spanish architecture. The church and the parish hall were completed in 1924. The present bell tower was not completed until 1957.

There is an oil painting in the church which was given by the Sanford family in the 1870s. It was rescued and survived the destruction of the two previous churches.

The program was greatly enhanced by several pictures of each church, both exterior and interior.

At the beginning of the meeting, president Patty Swann presented Irma Copper with a gift certificate from the Society in appreciation for all she has done for them. She is retiring June 30 after 10 years as a museum assistant.

During the business meeting, it was announced that the executive board had authorized funds for the restoration of Carola Dow's gravestone in Derby, Conn. She is the person responsible for the city of Sanford having Henry Sanford's artifacts for placement in the museum. The curator of the Derby Museum will oversee the project and plans a ceremony when it is completed. She will send the Society a video tape.

Another project of the Society is the purchase of an ad in a school planner which will help enable students of Idyllwild and Bentley elementary schools to have a free planner. The ad will encourage students to visit the museum and also make use of its reference materials.

Hugh Fisher is continuing to photograph headstones in Lakeview Cemetery and Millard Hunt has volunteered to help him record the data this summer.

New Society member Mark Lighterman is researching gambling establishments in Florida. He is seeking information on those that have been in the Sanford area.

Alicia Clarke, museum curator, stated that the museum is looking for pictures of any house in Sanford taken before 1984. She encouraged members to look through old photograph albums.

It was also announced that the RiverWalk opening on May 8 brought 458 visitors to the museum, a record one-day attendance.

The next Society meeting will be July 29 at which time Jim Sawgrass of the Florida Miscogee Creek Tribe will present the program. He will focus on Fort Mellon and also Coacoochee, son of King Philip. The other county historical societies and the public will be invited.

Refreshments provided by Serena Fisher and Patty Swann were enjoyed by approximately 35 members and guests.

Local nurses add unique service to Sanford church

By Christopher Patton
Managing Editor

SANFORD — The First Presbyterian Church of Sanford can not only treat parishioners holistically, but recently added a new program to help them physically.

Sanford resident Peggy Stickney is leading the initiative known as parish nursing.

"Our goal is to empower people to take better care of themselves," she said.

Stickney and fellow nurses that attend the church do not perform any invasive surgeries, but rather give out health information, check parishioners' blood pressures and register them to receive flu vaccines through the county health department.

A former Seminole Community College professor for 19 years, Stickney began teaching nursing at the University of Central Florida last August. She said she first heard about parish nursing from another Seminole County church in Winter Springs.

The volunteer program primarily reaches out to the older population of the church teaching them about the dangers of high cholesterol, skin cancer and other health concerns. They also are planning future visits to parishioners in assisted living facilities.

While the parish nurses do not make medical diagnoses, they offer supportive information to answer parishioners' concerns.

"They probably have talked to their physicians about these things, but sometimes it's good to get another viewpoint," Stickney said. "We are available to listen and offer resources that might be available."

The parish-nursing program includes Stickney, registered nurse Linda Schaeffer, her daughter Elizabeth Schaeffer, a critical care nurse at Central Florida Regional Hospital, and Sarah Scott, a UCF nursing student.

Dick Ryther of Sanford gets his blood pressure checked by parish nurse Peggy Stickney of the First Presbyterian Church in Sanford.

Interim pastor of the church, Bill Chegwin, said parish nursing is needed in every church.

"Most churches are really trying to help the health of the community," he said. "Most times we just look at churches as religious groups — we are — but I think churches are looking to provide more."

Sorority marks two decades of Sanford chapter

An eloquent evening to celebrate, is the 20th anniversary of the founding of the Sanford Alumnae Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc.

Saturday evening, May 15, the gala was held at the Orlando Marriott, Lake Mary, where more than 300 Delta's guests and friends joined the 13 charter members who were honored for their vision, contributions and achievements to the local Sanford Alumnae Chapter. This year's theme was "Celebrate Twenty Years of Sisterhood, Scholarship and Service."

Charter members receiving plaques documenting their 20

..... years of service to the Sanford Alumnae Chapter since May 4, 1984 were Shirley Wynn Allen, Ella Bobb Gilmore, Deborah Haynes Dickerson (deceased), Fannie

Marva Hawkins

Miller, Ella Wiggins Robinson, Bonita Sherman, Sylvia Hammond Stallworth, Albertha Taylor, Ruth Hardy Walker, Patricia Merritt Whately, Linda Hatch Williams (deceased), Ruby Doe Williams and Shirley Barrington Williams Hunt. These Delta women became a new link in the Southern Region Delta's National Organization. Janice Hanley, local president and Dr. Barbara Kirby-Bentley, vice president, recognized the Charter members. These Delta women still see the need for public service within the Sanford community. Proceeds from the gala will support the Delta Scholarship Fund. The five points program thrusts, which embodies economic development, educational development, political awareness, mental health and international awareness and involvement, expands to include a food drive for disadvantaged and personal needs.

Financial incentives encourage and exhibit talent through Delta's Youth for Christ project, support sponsor cultural advancement through Seminole Community College and voter registration volunteers, SAT Training Centers, support projects, "S.U.C.C.E.S.S." and "Literacy" WADE (Working Against Drug Explosion) Ronald McDonald House, Good Samaritan Home and Seniors Luncheons.

Deltas and their guests enjoyed the soulful sounds of the Then 2 Now band. DJ Mike Robinson played the latest hits during breaks.

Other members of the Sanford Alumnae Chapter are: Marian Anderson-Cummings, Shirley Baker, Blanche Bolden, Kecia Crooms, Janie Gibson, Valene Hartsfield, Ednora Holt, Dr. Jean Jones, Cheryl Knight, Lenora Mobley, Armita Washington, Renete Williams and Yolanda Williams.

Thanks to the Gala Committee co-chaired by Arvis D. Bomar and Laurie N. Dunston. Other committee members were Ella

The Way We Were: Education news from 1952 paper

Today's column contains school news found in the Sunday, April 20, 1952 edition of the Sanford Builder.

Sanford Grammar School in the news

The Grammar School at this time housed fifth and sixth grades and a reported from several of the rooms had written about happenings in his class. I have edited these extensively to give you the important information.

Graco Marie Stinecpher

Room 1 (fifth grade)

Harrison Smith and Michael Moses

The previous Thursday the room mothers had given the class an Easter party. They served Easter eggs, jelly beans and cokes. Winning the contests for prettiest and most unusually decorated eggs were Betty Spears and Phillip Meeks. They each received a chocolate egg.

There was a new pupil in this room, Eugene Humphries from Atlanta.

The class had changed their room around and moved the museum cases. Everyone liked it better that way. Several pupils were out with the chicken pox and measles.

Room 6 (sixth grade)

Lola Yates

Dottie Williams had gone to the Festival of States Parade in St. Petersburg on April 4. She told the class about her trip and showed pictures from the newspaper.

The following boys from Room 6 would be in the Marble Tournament; Keith Abney, Alan Buie, Robert Yates, Jimmy Moye, Jimmy Cordell, Billy Tyre, Billy Robinson, Chester Cherry, Dale Goins, Pat McClellan, David Carlton, L.C. Smith and Jan Miller.

May Day attendants from this room would be Peggy Lundquist and Jimmy Moye. Jimmy was king and Peggy would walk with Roger Dunn.

Thanks to Mrs. Buie, the class had an Easter Party. Alan Buie played his trumpet and Carol McNeill played her accordion. Mrs. C.C. Welsh told an Easter story.

Room 8 (Miss Campbell's sixth grade)

Joyce Green and Nelda Taylor

This room was proud of Berry St. John, Grammar school's champion speller. In the county contest he had missed only two words out of 75 in the written test and was the last sixth grader to sit down in the spelling bee.

They missed Dickie Roundtree who was out with a throat infection and Beverly Evans who was out with an abscessed tooth. Phyllis Wood had been very ill and the Las Amigas Club was planning to

Celery City Cruisers return to Sanford streets

The Celery City Cruisers presented their "Super Saturday Night" car show at RiverWalk last weekend. The event is held the last Saturday of every month, from 6 to 9 p.m.

There were many vintage vehicles in the lot including a 1957 Chevy (top) and Don Bailey's (above) 1940 Ford Deluxe Coupe with Chevrolet Corvette V8 power.

The club was founded by members of a Seminole County antique car club because some people wanted street rods to be included. The Celery City Cruisers formed and now showcase classic, collectible and street rod cars at their "Super Saturday Night" cruises.

The big beetle bug that got away — in the house

Geneva, as is true with all places, has its positive points and its negative as well. One of the few negatives to living in a rural way is that the insect population is easily in a position to take over at any point they choose to do so. People in the suburbs think they have bugs, but they know not of what they speak. We have bugs.

We thought this would be an advantage, however, as our high school daughter embarked on an extra credit expedition into the world of entomology. The assignment: collect, classify and display at least 50 such pests by the end of the school year. The reality: bugs don't want to be caught; bugs fall apart when you catch them; bugs escape.

The adventure began a few weeks ago with the appearance of glass canning jars in several rooms of the house — each containing some sort of catch. After a bit of prodding, I convinced my daughter that the jars needed to be kept in her room and not on my kitchen counter. You see, her efforts to catch and preserve her prey were dominated by the capture and suffocate method, so that the poor trapped creatures were left to die slowly and sometimes loudly. (One tiny beetle type thingee actually let out such a pathetic cry we almost let him go free. Had he been obtained earlier in the project he might have enjoyed such an outcome, but alas he was number 48 or so and at that point the project deadline was coming up on us like a giant insect net.) One day, while cleaning in my daughter's room, I spotted an ant crawling near a jar already containing a beetle, which was long since dead. I decided to pop the lid on the beetle and handily scoop the ant up and place him into the same quarters. Sort of a "killing two bugs with one jar" approach. Unfortunately, when said lid was removed from said jar, a stink bigger than ANY stink I have ever encountered emanated from said jar to the point of almost creating a semi-digested food collection to match the bug collection on the floor of her room. I got the ant though, good mother that I am, and immediately sprayed the entire house (as now the entire house did indeed stink of that stink) with the 5-for-$5 citrus spray my husband brought home from the bulk warehouse store, which I swore I would never use, but which was the only thing that would eradicate the overpowering stink.

Now, at this point I must mention that my husband had also created a display case for these doomed dragonflies, dung beetles and diddlywhoppers that would rival any case displayed in a castle of royal heritage. It had an intricate frame, foam backing, and Plexiglas frontage and took several days to make — creating a garage full of sawdust in the process. It was stained, mitered, and leveled. It was a daddy-daughter effort that daddy completely obsessed over and eventually took over, which was probably for the best. Daughter was okay with that. She was busy hunting the elusive walking stick, which usually hangs around our front porch, but for some unknown reason disappeared as soon as his friends began to disappear into jars.

I also must mention at this point, that I had asked my daughter to consider switching from jars to Ziploc bags for containment, as the latter was much less space consuming, and seemed as though it would accomplish the same end result — a dead bug contained. She obliged, and Baggies now adorned her room along with the Kerr glassware.

One day soon after, the girls (high-school daughter had at this point buddied up to much less squeamish middle-school daughter to enlist her aid in meeting our buggage goal) found a whopper of a bug in our much pile. A pride and joy kind of bug. A beetle whose size and beauty compared to none. At least three-and-one-half inches long, with a classically ribbed hard (shell) body, he was not unattractive as some creepy beetle types are. They immediately proclaimed him "Hercules."

About this same time the project moved from her room to the dining table where the process of placing the bugs into the mighty case added to the mix a level of frustration not encountered by our girl in her 10 years of school assignment-dom. Asphyxiating a six-legged beast was nothing, she found, in comparison to trying to pin him to a foam board without those legs falling off, or his wings disintegrating, or his antennae crumbling. Our solution to this was to begin spraying each donor with hair spray prior to beginning the impaling process. (Oh, the sacrifices a mother makes!) Now, this may not be the most scientific method available, but it worked for us. Not however, before several specimen had already been lost to the crumble factor.

The race for the 50 by deadline was on. One night, as we looked over the pile of bugs, bags, jars, paper, glue, books, pins, and empty can of bug spray that were

"our" effort, we paused in awe at the wonder of "Hercules," who though confined to a sealed plastic bag was continuously walking as though he might eventually get somewhere other than the prized display board. "He's so cool," remarked a middle-school daughter. "I'm going to put him at the top and center of the rest of the crowd," boasted a high-school girl. "He's the best ever!"

And he was. Until the next day when we went to check on him and found only a baggie filled with "Hercules" excrement and no "Hercules." Gone he was.

"How can that be?" cried "high-school" in agony. "He was perfect!"

Half joking, (thinking that surely he was in a different bag, as young people often look and don't see what they are looking for — right?) I offered that perhaps he had chewed a hole in the bag and escaped in the night to roam our house at his will and pleasure. And at that very moment the prophecy was made sure with the discovery that there was indeed a hole in the corner of the bag that once contained the most spectacular bug in the world.

So now, the project has since been turned in (sans "Hercules") and the bugs, bags, jars, paper, glue, books, pins and empty cans of bug spray have been removed from our dining table, but "Hercules" does indeed roam at his will and pleasure yet to be found by the bug hounds. Their incentive is not so great at this point in time, I guess. Our only hope is that he/she is not able to breed alone, as some creatures (guppies, we have found — want one? Or two? Or three?) are able to do.

The other morning, as we were having breakfast I recalled a dream from the night before and shared it with the girls. "You know," I yawned, "last night I kept dreaming that I had bugs crawling on me."

"Me too!" they shouted in unison. Hmmm...

We need you to tell us what you know that is good about Genral! Please share your information, ideas and comments by calling 407-349-2140, via e-mail at darlas@mpinet.net, (please put "Stetson's Corner" in the subject line), or with a fax to 407-349-1311. Thanks!

During art class, they had decorated Easter eggs. Prizes were won by Jeanette Pearson and Dana Rankin.

The following mothers had been at the PTA meeting: Mrs. Roundtree, Mrs. St. John, Mrs. Benton, Mrs. Loecheit, Mrs. Dees and Mrs. Stewart.

Louise Giles and Dottie Hardy had brought plants from their garden.

Eva Spears class takes a trip

On April 9, this class had a very nice outing. Five of the mothers, Mrs. Richards, Mrs. Emerson, Mrs. Barbour, Mrs. Benham and Mrs. Kirchoff had taken the class out to the Kirchoff farm. Valerie Kirchoff's aunts had also helped.

On April 14, Mrs. Horner made a surprise visit to the class. She was a former fifth grade teacher and those who had been in her class were especially glad to see her.

Room Niners were proud of their Easter exhibit. Colored moss was used for their "Easter People", which were made out of hollowed out egg shells. Inez Prescott had made models of Roger Dunn and Nancy Richards, their May Day attendants.

Steward Gatchel speaks at Oviedo PTA meeting

The Oviedo School PTA had met recently at the school with Prof. Paul Mikler presiding over the meeting. Mrs. E.T. Standifer gave the devotional.

Mr. Mikler announced that the PTA would soon have a permanent home built on Orange Avenue.

Those elected to serve on the nominating committee for new officers were Mrs. T.L. Lingo, Mrs. W.R. Meek and Mrs. James Partin.

Mrs. Teague, school principal, announced that May Day would be held Friday, May 2, with the usual festivities. The dinner would be under the direction of Mrs. James Partin, hospitality chairman.

Mr. Mickler then introduced Stewart Gatchel, a member of the Seminole High School faculty and a graduate of West Point. He gave a very interesting talk on the life of a cadet. He then stressed how the training at West Point made good citizens out of its students because of its very high standards.

Harold

it most rewarding in a formal sense in the classroom, to work with individual students, groups and families. Harold said the interaction with people gave her a feeling of accomplishment.

After her retirement, Harold continued to live her life as the joyous, loving and caring being she was created to be.

She became an advocate for the Georgetown Community, her uppermost concern was the Hopper Academy Restoration Committee. After much work was completed, she presented the committee photos of the various black principals and teachers who, throughout the years, were a part of the success of the students who passed through the halls of Hopper Academy. At the open house dedication of the Crooms Academy of Technology, Harold also presented photos to be hung in the front office of all lady principals of Crooms. Always having others in her heart and mind, she was a tax consultant and preparer, Notary Public, auditor of Trinity United Methodist Church, a member of the Georgetown Community Improvement Association, Evergreen Temple No. 321 Order of Elks, Seminole County Zoning Board, the NAACP, Golden Soro of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, and a charter member of the Kappa Sigma Omega Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc. and an ardent member of St. Paul Baptist Church.

Harold always said that life with all of its trials and tribulations was a great challenge that made her strong in spite of the racially involved incidents. The adversity gave her strength and made her a proud black woman. Always feeling that in some way, she made a great contribution to the equalization in both societies.

Harold will truly be missed by members of the community, said Sanford Police Chief Brian Tooley. He says she was a member of the police community Partnership Committee, where she always had a good, constructive influence on building positive relationship between the police department and the community.

Dr. Oswald Bronson, president of Bethune Cookman College and classmate of Harold said he remembers when she was crowned Miss Crooms Academy in high school. She leaves a legacy for those who come after her, a good willed person with a good mind.

Edward Blacksheare was a co-worker, classmate and devoted friend for many years, working in the educational system. He says her life's work spans more than 40 years, always involving her educational skills to help all students of Seminole County.

Her dedication knows no bounds in providing the math instruction said Blacksheare, former Crooms principal.

Survivors include son and daughter, Dr. Lou Charles Harold, M.D. and Mrs. Joscelyn Harold Green, five grandchildren, four great-grandchildren, other loving family, co-workers and friends.

Services for Juanita G. Harold will be Saturday, June 5, at 1 p.m. at St. Paul Missionary Baptist Church, 813 Pine Ave. Wilson-Eichelberger Mortuary, Inc., is in charge.

Record-setting night for Vlad, Eckstein

Special to the Herald

Vladimir Guerrero got it done, David Eckstein got it done, and for the second night in a row, the Angels got it done.

Guerrero hit two home runs and drove in a career-high nine runs, setting a new Angels record, and Eckstein rapped out a career-high five hits, leading the Angels to a 10-7 come-from-behind victory Wednesday night over the Boston Red Sox before a sellout crowd of 43,205 in Angel Stadium.

Guerrero hit a two-run homer off Boston starter Pedro Martinez in the first inning, drove in two with a double in the third and punched another across with a sacrifice fly in the fourth before his most dramatic moment in the sixth.

With the Angels trailing, 7-5,

Guerrero drives in nine, Seminole grad has first career five-hit game

Guerrero came up to the plate with runners on first and second and was greeted by Red Sox reliever Mike Timlin.

Guerrero greeted Timlin with a low laser to the gap in left-center field that kept carrying until it disappeared over the wall for his second homer of the game, his career-high eighth RBI in a game, and his 14th long ball of the season, giving the Angels an 8-7 lead they wouldn't relinquish.

After the fireworks went off in the rockpile beyond center field and the fans lingered in a standing ovation, Guerrero popped out of the dugout and tipped his helmet to his fans. It was his first curtain call as an Angel.

He then added an RBI single in the seventh and gave another toast to the crowd when he went out to right field in the eighth.

The Major League record for most RBIs in a nine-inning game is 12, shared by a pair of Cardinals — Jim Bottomley (Sept. 16, 1924 vs. the Brooklyn Robins) and Mark Whiten (Sept. 7, 1993 vs. the Cincinnati Reds). The American League record is 11, set by the Yankees' Tony Lazzeri on May 24, 1936 vs. the Philadelphia Athletics. Meanwhile, Eckstein was feeling the good vibes, too.

The diminutive leadoff man entered Wednesday's game with a respectable .279 batting average and a career-high 16-game hitting streak, which he added to immediately, singling off Martinez to left field in the first inning.

He added singles in the third, fourth and sixth innings before doubling to the gap in right-center in the seventh to complete the first five-hit game of his career and turn that .279 into a .298 pretty quickly.

Eckstein went 3-for-5 in Tuesday night's 7-6 come-from-behind victory, finishing with a single and a double, which means he's on a seven-straight-hit streak and has eight hits in his last

Burkhalter named MVP

Ex-Raider leads team to victory in NAIA

Special to the Herald

Cumberland University junior first baseman Donnie Burkhalter was a triple crown winner Thursday at the 48th annual Avista NAIA World Series at Lewis-Clark State College's Harris Field in Lewiston, Idaho.

Shortly after helping the Bulldogs win their first NAIA national championship baseball trophy with a 10-3 win over Oklahoma City, Burkhalter, who played at West Orange High before becoming a record-setting home run hitter at Seminole Community College, was named the winner of three individual Series awards.

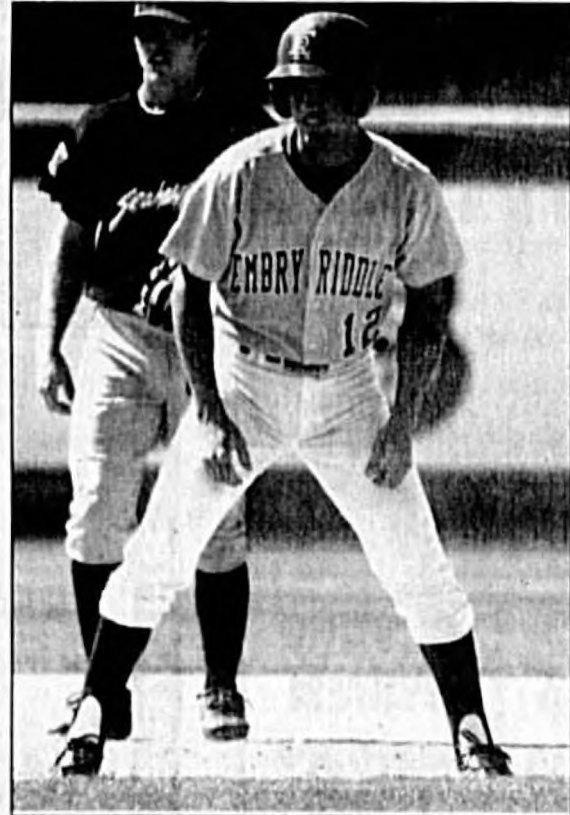

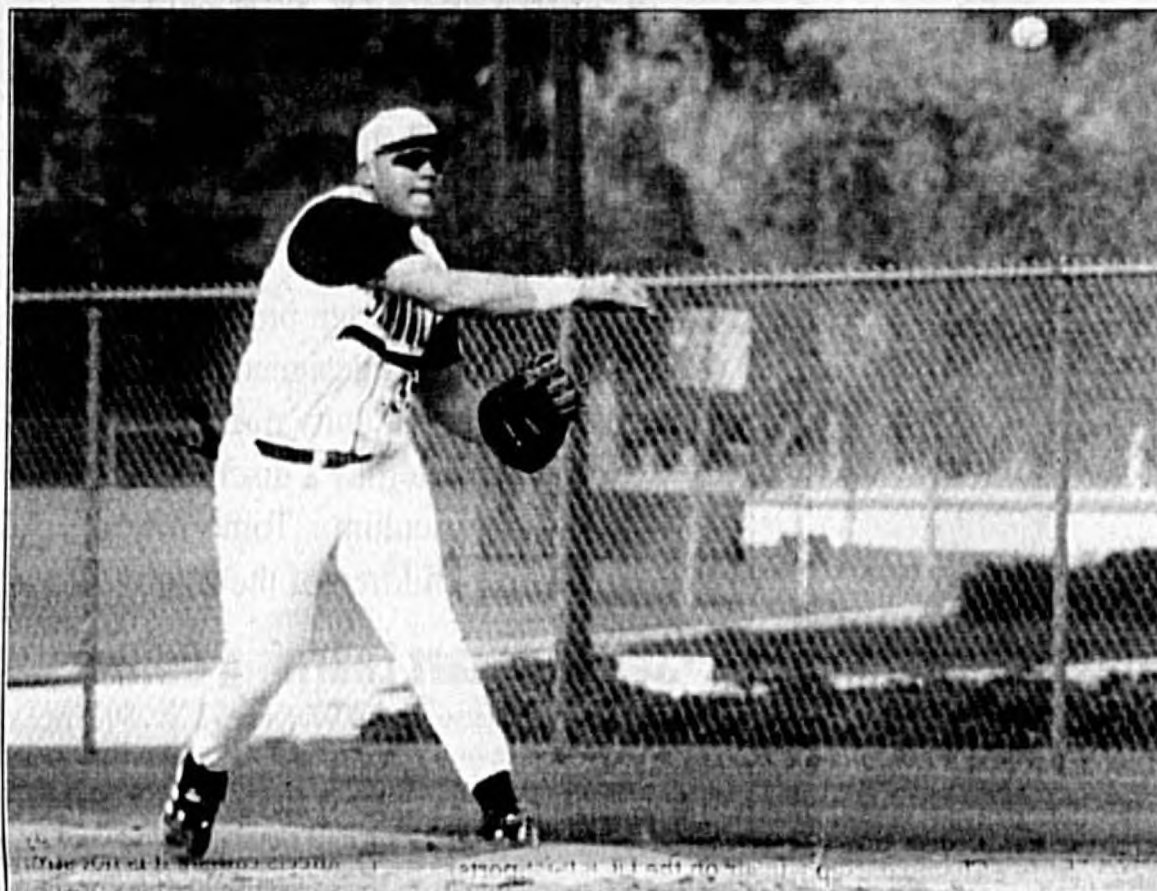

Burkhalter, who hit .350 in five Series games, was a unanimous selected to the all-tournament team at first base and also earned the MVP award for finishing with a team-high eight RBI on a Cumberland team that scored 58 runs in the tournament, 15 more than other team.

Burkhalter also was named the winner of the Charles Berry Hustle Award for his hustle throughout the tournament. The 6-foot-4, 250-pounder finished with seven hits, including two doubles, a triple and a home run.

During the regular season, he hit .366 (71-for-197), with seven doubles and 23 home runs, had a slugging percentage of .758, scored 54 runs and drove in 66.

Burkhalter also had a

Former Seminole Community College star Donnie Burkhalter (shown at SCC top) was named the Most Valuable Player of the NAIA World Series after leading Cumberland University to the National Championship on Thursday. Meanwhile, another former SCC star, Sean Greear (lower, left) and Winter Springs' Andrew Huff (lower, right) had a big hand in helping Embry-Riddle finish third in the NAIA World Series, being eliminated on Wednesday by Burkhalter and Cumberland.

Pats find 'break bank' empty

By Dean Smith
Sports Editor

TAMPA — The first pitch turned out to be a bad omen for Lake Brantley. Usually when a team hits the ball hard early in the game it is an indication of good things to come.

But not this time.

When Cypress Bay first baseman Mitch Houck snagged a liner off the bat of Jemile Weeks on the first pitch that was destined to be at the very least a double, it marked the beginning of a frustrating day for the Patriots in the semifinals of the FHSAA Class 6A Baseball Finals at Legends Field in Tampa.

Lake Brantley had several chances to break through against standout righthander Eric English, but this time the locals could not catch a break as they fell to the Lightning, 3-0.

"We had our chances, we just couldn't score," said Lake Brantley head coach Mike Smith. "English is by far the best pitcher we've faced all year. It was real hot and I thought we had him on the ropes a couple of times. (Ricky) Davis' great play saved the day for them."

The play Smith referred to was a running, diving, backhanded catch of Noah Smith's two out, full count, bases loaded dunker down the leftfield line by Davis, a senior shortstop, two end the fifth inning.

"I got a good jump, but I still wasn't sure I could get it until I caught it," said Davis.

"As far as I'm concerned, he's the best defensive player in Florida," said Cypress Bay coach Pete Colabella of Davis. "He has been a four-year starter on the varsity and he's as good as I have ever had. This team worked as hard as any I've ever had and I think that was because we all felt we had something special here and they put in the time and effort to make it special. We won by playing great defense, getting great pitching and just enough timely hitting."

"I want to give Lake Brantley a lot of credit," continued Colabella. "They had a us scared to death. Their pitcher threw well and we knew they had the ability to come back at any time. We fell privileged to have gotten to play such an outstanding program."

Even the final results of the tournament could be taken in two ways, "they we lost to the state champions" or "oh shucks, we could have won the whole thing," as Cypress Bay, in just its second year in existence, won its first state championship as Houck hurled a no-hitter and the Lightning won 2-1 on a walk-off sacrifice fly in the bottom of the seventh inning over Miami Killian.

The plays by Houck and Davis were just the first of many super defensive plays for the Lightning that kept the Patriots at bay.

In the fourth inning lefthanded hitting Matt Dobbins lofted a pop fly into short center that Davis raced to and made a nice catch of and Ray Allen followed with a double into the left-field corner. Lake Brantley's first hit of the game.

FWC hunt forms due by June 11

Special to the Herald

Time is running short for sportsmen who plan to take part in the Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission's (FWC's) quota hunts this fall. Applications have to arrive at the FWC's quota hunt office, by mail, no later than June 11.

The good news is the quota of hunters for the Tate's Hell Wildlife Management Area (WMA) still hunt area will be 150 rather than 100, since the state purchased the 13,000-acre Crooked River Tract and added it to the WMA.

The Tate's Hell spring turkey hunter quota also increased from 25 to 35. Spring turkey quota applications will be available Oct. 25.

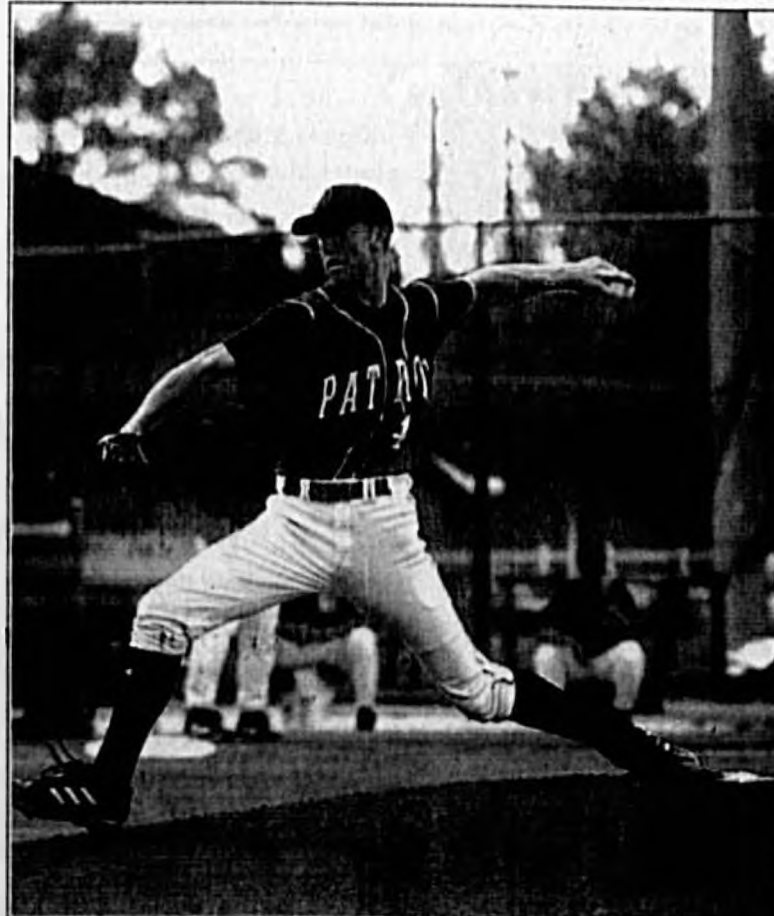

WILDLIFE OFFICERS AND MARINE PATROL ARE HISTORY

Wildlife officers and Marine Patrol officers no longer exist in Florida. There is no such thing as a game warden (actually, there never was such a thing in Florida). Henceforth, the Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission (FWC) will refer to its officers as "FWC officers" in all news releases, publications and other materials.

Since the former Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission merged with the former Marine Patrol in July 1999, the FWC and the public have struggled to find an appropriate title for its officers.

Suggestions such as "conservation officers" and "law enforcement officers of the Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission" simply didn't work. However, the public eventually settled Herald photo by Jim Wentz. Lake Brantley senior Matt Dobbins allowed three runs, one earned, on six hits while striking out five and walking only one, but it still wasn't enough as the Patriots lost to eventual State Champion Cypress Bay, 3-0.

With one out in the fifth, Jason Bush singled to right and Jeff Dietz followed with a fly to deep right that was dropped, but the Cypress Bay outfielder recovered and made a strong throw to force Bush at second. Ryan Kelley then singled and Weeks was hit by a pitch before Davis robbed Noah Smith. Without those plays, Lake Brantley surely would have taken the lead.

The Patriots also had a fly to right that almost fell for a hit and then left runners on first and second in the sixth inning and had two on with only one out in the seventh before the game ended on a foul pop to the catcher, who grabbed the ball just before he smacked into the backstop, and a grounder to second.

English, a 5-foot-11 righthander, had a no-hitter for 3-2/3 innings and finished with a four-hitter and improved to 11-0 on the season 18th in row over two years. He opened the season with 49 straight scoreless innings, including back-to-back no-hitters, and carried an 0.32 ERA (three earned runs) into the game with 11 strike outs in 64 innings.

The Patriots' Matt Dobbins (10-2) nearly matched English pitch-for-pitch, allowing only six hits and one earned run.

After working out of a bases-loaded, one out jam in the first and then hurling a perfect second inning, the senior southpaw got himself in trouble in the third.

Dobbins hit the first two batters he faced and then made a throwing error on a chopper to the right of the mound to load the bases with no one out. Houck then hit a two strike, no ball change-up into left-center for a double and two runs.

Without the error, Dobbins might have gotten out of the inning unscathed as Houck probably would have been intentionally walked, and the next two batters followed with routine grounders back to the mound and to third base.

"I didn't have my best stuff," said Dobbins. "But I hoped I had enough. I put the pitch that Houck hit exactly where he wanted it, low and away, but he reached out and got enough of it."

"It was a very good 0-2 pitch," said Houck. "I barely got to it and got it into left-center. With the bases loaded and no one out all I was trying to do was pull the ball or hit a sacrifice fly."

The final run came in the fifth when Dobbins had another lapse in control, issuing a one-out walk before hitting another batter, uncorking a wild pitch and then slipping on the rubber just as he went into his motion, causing a balk and forcing in the run. The next two batters then struck out to end the inning.

Anthony Francis led the way for the Lightning (30-2 after the championship game), going 2-for-4 with a double and a run scored, while reaching base all four trips to the plate. Houck had a double and two RBI in two official trips to the plate.

For Lake Brantley, Ray Allen had a double, while Dobbins, Jason Bush and Ryan Kelley had one single each. Jenille Weeks, who had won the previous two games for the Patriots with final-inning hits, barely got to swing the bat after his first inning laser, getting hit by pitches his final two at bats.

hand in ending Embry-Riddle's season as following a huge emotional victory against two-time defending national champion and host Lewis-Clark State on Tuesday, the Embry-Riddle baseball team saw its hopes of a national title come to an end on Wednesday as the Cumberland baseball team scored nine runs in the fifth inning to capture a 14-10 win against the Eagles. The Eagles ended their season with a third place finish at the national championship, a 53-10 overall record and the best winning percentage in program history (.841).

Cumberland, the only undefeated team in the tournament, took control of the game early with a pair of runs in the first and three in the second for a 5-0 lead. The Eagles got on the board in the top of the third courtesy of Bart Hunton's solo home run in the fourth and took a 6-5 lead in the fifth. Another former SCC star, Sean Greear, was hit by Bulldog starter Carlos Miranda to lead off the inning and reached third on Woody Lewis' bunt single, which he pushed between Miranda and Burkhalter. Mike Liberatore singled up the middle to score Greear. Richie Cormier walked to load the bases and Cheyne Hurst grounded out to second to drive in the Eagles second run. After Hunton singled up the middle Kevin Haney doubled to score both runners and give the Eagles a one-run lead.

But the Bulldogs erased the five-spot with a nine-run fifth inning. Cumberland started its rally after a two-out error put catcher Chris Torres on first. The next nine batters reached base capitalizing on five hits, two walks (one intentional), two wild pitches and the Eagles' second error of the inning to take a 14-6 lead. Relievers J.C. Blass and Uriah Kimmig, from Oviedo and Seminole, respectively, held the Bulldogs scoreless through the last three frames, but despite a four-run eighth, the Embry-Riddle offense was unable to overcome the deficit, giving Cumberland the win and a spot in Thursday's championship game.

Chris Langlois (8-3) absorbed the loss for the Eagles, striking out four and allowing 10 hits and 10 runs, only four of which were earned. Bulldog reliever Ricky Steakin (3-2) picked up the win, holding the Blue and Gold hitless in 2.2 innings of work.

Greear finished the game 1-for-3 with a double, an RBI and two runs scored, while Winter Springs' Andrew Huff scored a run as a pinch-runner.

On Tuesday, junior Kenny Holmberg capped off a perfect 4-for-4 day at the plate with a game-winning RBI-single to lead the Embry-Riddle baseball team to a 6-5 victory over Lewis-Clark State. The Eagles avoided elimination with the win, while the Warriors ended their season at 52-10 and exited the 10-team tournament prior to the championship game for first time in five years. The loss was also the Warriors sixth in NAIA World Series tournament history and marks the first time that LCSC will not be in a NAIA championship game at Harris Field.

With the score tied at 3-3, Winter Springs' Brad Stephenson entered the game in relief in the top of the fifth and held LCSC scoreless over the next three stanzas. But the Eagle hitters did not capitalize on Stephenson's performance on the mound, leaving four runners stranded in scoring position over the three-inning stretch.

Stephenson would get touched for a pair of runs in the eighth, but came back with a scoreless ninth to get the pitching win. Greear doubled in the tying run in the fourth, his only hit of the game.

UCF HOOPS PROMOTES SCHUBERTH TO ASSOCIATE HEAD COACH

UCF basketball coach Kirk Speraw announced Wednesday the promotion of Tom Schubert to associate head coach. Schubert has been an assistant and Speraw's top recruiter at UCF the past two years.

"Tom has done an excellent job at UCF and deserves this promotion because of all time and effort he has invested in this program," Speraw said. "He came to us with a great deal of experience and it's paying off based on the results we have had the past two years."

The Golden Knights have a combined 46-17 record the past two seasons, including a 25-6 mark this past year that included an Atlantic Sun Conference Tournament title and a trip to the NCAA Tournament.

"I'm thankful to coach Speraw for this recognition and the added responsibilities that come along with it," Schubert said. "I've enjoyed my time at UCF and I'm looking forward to working with coach Speraw, as well as assistant coaches Craig Brown and Dwight Evans, to continue the recent success we've experienced."

Schubert, who has more than 20 years of experience as an assistant coach, came to UCF prior to the 2002-03 season from UAB. His previous experience includes stints at Memphis, Southeast Missouri, Louisiana-Monroe, and North Alabama. He played collegiately at Mississippi State.

UCF BASEBALL HEADS TO FSU FOR NCAA REGIONAL ACTION

The 20th-ranked UCF Golden Knights enter the 2004 NCAA Championship as the third seed in the Tallahassee Regional, hosted by Florida State University at Dick Howser Stadium. The Golden Knights faced No. 24 Oklahoma State, the regional's No. 2 seed, on Friday.

The winner of the UCF-Oklahoma State game will face the winner of the Florida State-Bethune-Cookman winner today (Saturday). The host Seminoles are the No. 1 seed in the regional while Bethune-Cookman is the regional's fourth seed.

UCF is the only school to receive an at-large bid to the Tallahassee regional. Florida State, Oklahoma State and Bethune-Cookman each won their respective conference tournament title. UCF won the A-Sun Regular Season Championship by three games over second-place Stetson.

All of UCF's games in the NCAA Championship will air on the UCF ISP Sports Network (740-AM The Team). Listen to all of the action with the voice of the Golden Knights, Marc Daniels.

UCF has several players with Seminole County ties including Head Coach Jay Bergman, who began the baseball program at then Seminole Junior College, the Lake Mary sophomore trio of twins Kyle and Ryan Bono (Lake Mary High) and Drew Butera (Bishop Moore), the Oviedo freshmen trio of Barry Baxter, Bridger Hunt and Brian Brooks and Orangewood Christian freshman Taylor Meier.

But their are several other players with local ties playing in regionals this weekend.

Bethune-Cookman is led by Head Coach Mervyl Melendez who played at Lake Howell and he has Oviedo's Colin Irvine and Deltona's Bryan Maples on his roster. Maples is the son of Sanford businessman and former Seminole High star pitcher Mike Maples.

The University has two players, Lake Mary's Adam Sanabria and Winter Springs and SCC's John Michael Howell.

The University of Georgia had three players, Oviedo's Justin Holmes and Paul Lubrano and SCC's David Timm.

The University of South Carolina has two, Lake Brantley's Kevin Melillo and SCC's Zac McCamee.

Birmingham Southern has Oviedo's Jered Goodwin; Charleston Southern has Lake Brantley's Ian Holmen; and Tulane has Longwood's (Bishop Moore) Greg Dini.

The winners of this weekend's 16 regionals will advance to next weekend's Super Regionals with the eight winners then advancing to the College World Series in Omaha.

the matter. People simply started referring to them as FWC officers, and the agency's stakeholders say they like it - and so do the officers.

The title fits in well with the FWC's new, lean, high-tech, high-efficiency character and image. The agency's new Web site - MyFWC.com - is another component of the plan to make the FWC and its officers as identifiable as the FBI and its agents.

If the governor approves an FWC reorganization bill, the FWC will reorganize July 1 under a modernized structure, replacing the current structure that dates back to 1943.

Executive director Ken Haddad said the new structure will enable the agency's staff to be more effective, efficient and more open to input from people who are affected by the FWC's programs.

The Florida Legislature approved the FWC reorganization during the 2004 session.

The FWC has undertaken efforts to boost public awareness of the agency and what it does.

OCALA MEN ARRESTED FOR

"MONKEY FISHING" IN PUTNAM

Two Ocala brothers were arrested by FWC officers Thursday for "monkey fishing" in Bear Creek off of the Ocklawaha River in Putnam County.

Leo Gerald Bright, 60, (DOB 7/24/45), and his brother, Luther George Bright, 50, (DOB 4/14/54), both of 6491 NW 65th Place, Ocala, were each charged with taking freshwater fish by an illegal method - electric shocking device; and possession of illegal gear on freshwaters of the state. Both charges are 2nd degree misdemeanors which each carry a maximum penalty of a $500 fine and 60 days in jail.

Monkey fishing is an illegal method of fishing that was popular years ago in which the fishermen use a homemade device to send an electrical charge into the water which causes the fish to swim to the surface to escape the charge. The fishermen then use long-handled dip nets to scoop the slightly stunned fish out of the water.

"The charge produced by this device only affects catfish; it is not strong enough to affect scaled fish like bass or sunfish," said Lt. Bob Lee, the Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission's law enforcement supervisor in Putnam County.

Lee knows about monkey fishing since it was quite popular when he started his career in wildlife law enforcement. In fact, 25 years ago he arrested the same two brothers for the same violations in the same area of the Ocklawaha River.

"Two men who know what their doing can catch 400 to 600 pounds of catfish in four hours of monkey fishing," said Lee, who noted that the unusual name for this type of fishing probably originated because the first monkey machines were operated by turning a hand crank, similar to the organ grinder on the street corner with his monkey.

In Thursday's case, the men had only caught about 40 pounds of catfish and were just beginning their fishing expedition when they were surprised by FWC Officer Chad Albritton and FWC Investigator Ben Allen posing as fishermen.

Allen began investigating the situation on Monday after the FWC received a tip about the men monkey fishing. By Wednesday he and Albritton had found the suspects but weren't able to catch them in the act or with the illegal equipment.

That changed on Thursday when they followed them by boat from the Johnson's Field boat ramp off of Highway 19 to Bear Creek. As the undercover FWC officers rounded a curve in the creek they came upon the two men with the monkey machine in their boat, long-handled dip nets, and the 24 catfish they had just shocked up.

"It is extremely difficult to catch monkey fishermen because they do not bring their equipment back to the ramp. They usually hide it in a swamp behind a large tree or at the junction of several creeks. This makes it imperative that the officers who desire to make this case go after them by boat," said Lee.

"If it is a marked boat, the bad guys will very often see the officers coming and toss the device overboard. That's why Ben and Chad's strategy of approaching them as fishermen in an unmarked boat was so effective," he added.

After finding the Bright brothers, the officers asked them to follow them back to the boat ramp, equipment and fish intact, which they did without incident. In days past though, things may have gone a bit differently.

"When I first started my career on the St. Johns River we had at least one monkey fishing complaint a day during the warmer months," said Lee. "When a monkey fisherman was 'jumped,' there was usually a boat chase and all parties involved thought it was very sporting. That of course was until 1988, when it became a felony to flee on the water."

Although some people do continue to monkey fish, it's not as popular as it once was. Allen said he's only made one other case and that was three years ago in the same general area.

The Bright brothers' court date is scheduled for June 12 in the Putnam County Courthouse.

Officers donated the catfish to the Rodeheaver Boys Ranch in Palatka.

10 at-bats.

He also scored two runs and drove in two, his first multi-RBI game of the season, once again showing the Red Sox that they made a big mistake when they placed him on waivers in August 2000.

"It's one game," Eckstein said when informed of the obvious revenge-on-Boston angle Tuesday night. "The main thing is right now, my body feels a lot better. Hopefully you wake up tomorrow and it does the same thing."

Eckstein also gave credit to hitting coach Mickey Hatcher, who three weeks ago pointed out a flaw that Eckstein has corrected.

"My swing shows up differ-ently every single day and he gets it back to where it needs to be," Eckstein said.

Still, Eckstein preferred to talk about Guerrero.

"It was Vladdy's night," Eckstein said. "He was just awesome. He goes up there and makes it look easy. It's fun to come to the ballpark."

The Angels swept the two-game series from the Sox, improved to 32-20 on the season and kept their 2 1/2-game lead over the Texas Rangers atop the American League West.

Thursday night, Eckstein was removed from the game against the Cleveland Indians in the fourth inning because of a strained right hamstring suffered while scoring on a Chone Figgins single in the third.

Eckstein was examined by team doctor Lewis Yocum in the Angels' clubhouse and was listed as day-to-day. Alfredo Amezaga replaced him at shortstop.

Eckstein bounced back to Indians pitcher Cliff Lee in his first at-bat and doubled in his second at-bat, stretching his career-high hitting streak to 18 games.

Figgins slapped a single to left field and Eckstein scored from second but tweaked the hamstring on the way to home plate.

At the time of the injury, Eckstein had raised his average to the .300 mark. Entering Wednesday's game, it was at .279.

Longwood mom indicted for slaying 3 kids

The Seminole County Grand Jury issued a three-count first-degree premeditated murder indictment Tuesday against Andrea Noel Williams, 32, for the deaths of her three children in early May.

The indictment charges that Williams planned to kill Ilona, age 9; Ian, age 6; and Ivey, age 5, and carried out her plan between May 7 and May 10 at the family's home at 890 Georgia Ave., in Longwood. The exact cause of the death remains open pending final autopsy results.

Investigators suspect Williams fed the children stolen prescription pills sometime Mother's Day and watched them die about two hours later.

After the children died she moved them into one bedroom and placed them under a trundle bed. No trauma was found on their bodies.

Assistant State Attorney Pat Whitaker presented testimony to the Grand Jury from a Longwood Police Department detective and a medical examiner. Ms.

Williams remains in the Seminole County Jail where she is being held without bond.

Post office closed Friday

To honor the memory of former President Ronald Reagan, the U.S. Postal Service will observe the National Day of Mourning on Friday, June 11, 2004.

There will be no regular mail delivery or retail window service that day. Express Mail will be delivered.

In addition, flags at U.S. Post Offices will fly at half staff for 30 days. They will return to full staff Monday, July 5.

Townhouses slated for downtown

By Dan Ping

A Volusia County man plans to build residential units on Palmetto Avenue

SANFORD — A Volusia County developer will publicly unveil plans Thursday night to build eight townhouses on one of the more blighted blocks in downtown Sanford.

John Giuliani of DeBary proposes to demolish the existing tire and mechanic shop on the west side of Palmetto Avenue between 2nd and 3rd streets and build a mixed use residential/retail development if the city approves his plans. The Historic Preservation Board

(HPB) will consider the project Thursday night and determine whether to issue a certificate of appropriateness. If HPB approves the project, Giuliani will need to obtain a conditional use permit and submit site plans to the Planning and Zoning Commission.

The property on Palmetto Avenue between 2nd and 3rd streets is actually divided into eight separate lots. Giuliani plans to building eight separate buildings that about each other.

"There will be an inch between the buildings, but you won't be able to see it," Giuliani said.

The two-story buildings will see for $375,000 to $400,000 each, Giuliani said.

Council seeks greater police borders

By Christopher Patton

SANFORD — A speeding motorist is pulled over by a Lake Mary police officer on County Road 46A. How much does the citation cost?

Depending on what side of the street and where the infraction took place the driver could slide away with absolutely nothing. It's a loophole in a state law that the Council of Local Governments of Seminole County (CALNO) is looking to close with any luck of gaining support from the legislature and law enforcement associations.

CALNO, which has a representative from all seven cities, the county, school board and Seminole Community College, unanimously approved a resolution last week that would encourage the state to amend the statute to slightly increase law enforcement jurisdictional boundaries.

Currently, municipal police officers are only allowed to provide mutual aid outside its boundaries for a felony or misdemeanor involving the breach of peace. A civil traffic infraction is another issue.

According to Lake Mary Commissioner Gary Brender, several cases have been recently dismissed in Seminole County because the officer writing the ticket was outside its municipal boundaries — by only one lane of traffic. Around many of the cities in Seminole County the yellow line painted on the roadway is all that separates two municipal jurisdictions.

"If an officer is driving

Farmers' market reopens

Community Redevelopment Agency, the city of Sanford and the Florida Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services. After it's rapid decline from an average of about 20 vendors on every Friday in its early months of operation to a measly three in February, some local officials and citizens began to criticize the public project.

"We realize it's a new facility and it's going to take time," said Zechariah Henderson, Sanford market manager. "I'm hoping Saturdays will do a lot better than Fridays."

Re-opened this past Saturday, from 7 a.m. to 1 p.m., Henderson said about a dozen vendors showed up to sell goods and he is optimistic the customer traffic will pick up this next week.

Venus transit is a passing lesson

By Christopher Patton
Managing Editor

SANFORD — To conduct a science lesson sometimes a teacher doesn't need a classroom — or students for that matter.

Lawton Chiles Middle School teacher Joe Laughlin set up a video camera Tuesday morning on the banks of Lake Monroe to catch the spectacle of "Venus Transit 2004."

Unlike other astronomers in the eastern hemisphere, the planet crossing the sun was only visible in Florida for less than an hour, and for those Seminole County observers even less as clouds shaded the view for sometime.

With a convex-lens equipped telescope projecting the image of the passing Venus into a homemade shadow box, Laughlin spoke to a recording video camera as if he were teaching class. Looking directly into the focused sunlight of the Venus transit can burn the retina of the eye, he said.

"Since it's occurs only every 120 years, I decided I'd put some package together," he said. "We just have to get a cooperative sun here."

About 15 minutes after sunrise, a large cumulus cloud lifted to the east, and the show began. It would be Laughlin's next to last chance to catch the celestial wonder. Venus Transit will occur again in 2012 but then won't return for another 120 years.

Laughlin started the astronomy lesson with a history about Capt. James Cook.

Sponsored by England's Royal Academy in 1768, Cook's mission was to cross the Atlantic to reach the island of Tahiti before June 1769 to observe the transit of Venus. Using trigonometry, Cook and 76 observers around the globe were to use the passing of Venus to calculate the size of the solar system.

"Can you imagine if it was cloudy that day after all that," Laughlin quipped.

According to historical records, Tahiti's weather wasn't the problem for Cook, but rather his inability to determine when the transit exactly started or ended.

"Imagine running a race without a definite start or finish," Laughlin said.

In one of his "in-box updates" where Laughlin crawled into the shadow box in the back of his Plymouth Voyager, he pointed out how the planet becomes fuzzy when it reaches the end
