Adventists Observe Saturday Sabbath

FOREST CITY (Special)—Seventh-day Adventists observe Saturday as the Sabbath because "it memorializes creation, is one of the Ten Commandments and was observed by Jesus Christ," delegates to the denomination's statewide camp meeting were told here Monday night.

In the second of two sermons on "Why I Am a Seventh-day Adventist," Francis D. Nichol, Washington, D. C. editor of the Adventists' weekly REVIEW and HERALD, explained: "I keep the Sabbath because the Bible is my only guide, and it lists only one morally binding weekly day of rest—the seventh day. The Bible makes clear that the seventh-day Sabbath was instituted on the seventh day of creation, the beginning of a weekly cycle which has not changed to this day."

"By holding to the Sabbath and observing it," Mr. Nichol said, "I keep creation ever clearly in mind and all that creation signifies—a personal God who created, who has promised to recreate me a new man in Christ Jesus and ultimately to give me a home in a new earth that He will create for those that love Him."

"Then too," the speaker continued, "the seventh day is enshrined in the Ten Commandments. That is why all the prophets, all the apostles and Christ himself always observed the seventh day and kept it holy Sunday was a man-made substitution which came into the church shortly after New Testament times."

The Adventist editor and theologian restricted his two-sermon series to the two main doctrines of the church: belief in the second coming of Christ and the Seventh-day Sabbath.

In an earlier service Monday, Pastor Taylor G. Branch of St. Luke Church in Washington, D. C., continued his sermon series on "The Message of Destiny." He declared that "a lukewarm Christian is worse in God's sight than a raw heathen. The Christian who drags his feet knows better, but the heathen doesn't."

Other speakers Monday included Chaplain William H. Berghorn of the U. S. Army Reserve; Eric Ristau, secretary of the Adventist publishing department for eight Southeastern states; and Mrs. Taylor G. Branch, speaking on the "woman's place in the Christian home."

Tuesday the delegates will hear Pastor Bunch again at 11 A. M. and Evangelist Roland K. Comer at 7 P. M.

Push, Treat Plan To Combat Decline Resumes This Week

The State Plant Board's push-and-treat program to combat spreading decline resumed this week after being sidetracked last January by a State Supreme Court ruling.

Seminole County is one of the 16 counties in which spreading decline has been found in citrus groves.

Plant Commissioner Ed L. Ayers yesterday gave the signal for bulldozers to move into a decline-infested citrus grove in the Ridge section of Polk County. Actually, this is a continuation of work interrupted by the court order, with the contractor completing the pushing of approximately 20 acres of citrus.

The high court, in reversing the decision of a circuit judge in Polk County, declared the push-and-treat program illegal unless coupled with a system of compensation for trees destroyed. This ruling effectively blocked the program, since no provision had been made for paying owners of bulldozed trees.

The legislature last week overrode the governor's veto and voted sufficient funds to continue the control program and to provide for reimbursing those growers who might protest the loss of a new fiscal year.

In recent weeks requests have been dispatched to decline headquarters at Lake Alfred by growers anxious to have diseased groves pushed and treated. These growers are willing to forfeit all claims for compensation in exchange for prompt action. The property of these volunteers now is going through the preliminary steps of mapping and delimiting.

Ayers said he expected a great many growers to join the voluntary move now that completion of the program had been assured. It was under a voluntary plan that more than 3,000 acres of infested citrus land were pushed and treated since start of the program in 1955. When the list of volunteers dwindled away, an attempt was made for compulsory participation and the result was the court case that eventually healthy, seem active, not are often so proud of their beautiful structures and good works that they are blinded to their spiritual wretchedness.

The nine-day session, being held on the campus of Forest Lake Academy, will end Saturday night.

"But Christ the Great Physician heals sick souls and sick churches just as he healed the sick of body when here," Pastor Bunch concluded. He addressed the camp meeting's main daytime service at 11 a. m.

In other services today J. J. Upchurch, dean of men at Southern Missionary College near Chattanooga, Tenn., was scheduled to speak on "Christian Education" at 3:35 p. m.

Tonight at 7:30 Evangelist Roland K. Comer, Winter Park, clergyman who returned this week from the Billy Graham meetings in New York City, will address the adult congregation in the main auditorium. A youth service will be conducted at the same time by Lawrence M. Nelson, Atlanta, Ga., regional youth director for the church.

The nine-day session ends Saturday when several young ministers will be ordained and changes in district leadership will be announced.

At the moment, more than 4,000 acres of decline-infested citrus remain in Florida.

Ayers said he believed that most citrus growers in the state would join the movement to control the burrowing nematode held responsible for spreading decline. He pointed out that growers who were quick to submit requests for aid would be given first consideration.

One of the first objectives of the new program would be to complete treatment in those areas where all but one or two diseased groves had been removed previously.

"People who joined the program voluntarily have been subjected to misgivings when neighbors failed to have their own infested trees pushed," Ayers declared. "In many cases these volunteers felt that they would never be able to replant until the diseased trees of a neighbor had been removed. We hope to correct that situation as soon as possible under this new program."

Other counties in which the spreading decline has been found in citrus groves are—Brevard, Charlotte, DeSoto, Hardee, Highlands, Hillsborough, Indian River, Lake, Lee, Orange, Osceola, Polk, Pinellas, Polk, and Volusia. Infested properties have been treated in nine of these counties.

place the child.

At no time did Miss McCoy state or imply that her child was to be placed in an institution.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis and their counsel gave this impression to the press.

The couple violated the law by purchasing a baby. Thompson claims this was verified by a sworn statement by a Dr. Sands that he "sold" the baby to Mr. and Mrs. Ellis.

The doctor broke the law by offering to dispose of the baby and further violated the law by selling the child.

Two authorized attorneys, hired by the Ellises as counsel, withdrew when the couple refused to follow their advice.

Mrs. Ellis is a guilty party in a divorce decree awarded to her first wife and is currently under order of court to pay alimony to his first wife.

Mrs. Ellis is also divorced. The couple have not provided good, continuing, stable supervision direction and standard home atmosphere for Hilly, as evidenced by the widespread publicity of the multiplicity of their homes in which they have lived to escape due orders of the Massachusetts Supreme Court.

There is no religious issue before the courts, nor has there been any religious issue considered by the courts in the several previous and pleas in the case. The issue has been one of custody of the child with the natural mother and the denial of the petition of the couple to adopt the child whose custody was awarded to the natural mother.

Under basic principles and standards subscribed to by all reputable and public and private agencies authorized to place children for adoption, Hopkins is personally and officially confident that no agency public or private would select the couple as suitable adoptive parents and would not place any children in this home for adoption purposes.

was mistaken for a "revelation" and had a difficult time talking himself out of that experience, he said.

The speaker recounted many items in the lives of his 133 farm families; their worshiping in the log mission church and holding their "singing dances" in the same building, the only one in which they could meet. Curtaining off the altar and moving the rough wooden benches to the sides, the folks engaged in a dance similar to present square dances, the first one lasting over an hour without a break.

According to Gordon L. Bradley who introduced the speaker, the sixty odd Rotarians and guests enjoyed the remarks of Father Thomas. Dr. Charles L. Persons presided. Bradley offered the invocation while the club singing was led by Charlie Morrison with Harry Kudsk at the piano.

tract opposite the Municipal Baseball Stadium.

The proposal and its amendment met with unanimous approval of the Board of Commissioners.

The possibility that the 44-acre site between Mellonville and Locust Aves. was being proposed as a school site met varied reaction from members of the Board of Sanford City Commissioners. The area has been considered as a home building site by one or more developers. The entire tract is platted for streets and alleys and is in the center of a fast developing residential section of Sanford.

Mayor Gatchel had prepared, for the commissioners' perusal, a list of property taken off of the tax rolls for school use. The list contained 14 parcels along with its usage, assessed value and taxes that would be levied if taxable.

Property owned by the school board in the City of Sanford is shown as being valued at $171,700 with taxes, if levied, at $2,318.78.

Jordan-Egypt Relations Near Breaking Point

Radio Attack Heard

By United Press
Diplomatic relations between Jordan and Egypt neared the breaking point today. Cairo radio savagely attacked Jordanian leaders as traitors who should go to the gallows and blamed them for the loss of Palestine in 1948 when Israel defeated the Arab world.

It was the most bitter attack ever made by Cairo's "Voice of the Arabs" on another Arab state. It emphasized that Syria and Egypt had been left alone in the bloc of "positive neutrals."

Libya also was angry at the Egyptian government. Foreign Minister Wahbi Buri summoned Egyptian Ambassador Ahmed Hassan Fathi to his office in Tripoli and protested against Egyptian press attacks on Libya's rulers.

Registration To Start Tomorrow For Summer Recreation Program

Registration for the summer recreation program will be tomorrow and Friday mornings at 8:30 a.m. Children who live north of 26th St. will register at the Elk's playground in Fort Mellon Park on the lakefront; and those who live south of 26th St. will register at Pinecrest School.

John Angel, recreation director for the citywide program, said that all children who attended school this year, up to 12 years of age, may register. Parents are asked "not to register their pre-school children."

It was pointed out that all children must provide their own transportation to and from the playgrounds. Each morning will consist of three periods, a supervised play period, arts and crafts, and a swim period.

The daily program will begin at 8:30 a.m. and end promptly at 11:30 and parents are urged to "pick up your youngster at that time."

Afternoons and evenings will be devoted entirely to the teenage youngsters.

Another important phase of the recreation program will be the driver training program conducted by Bill Fleming, instructor at Continued On Page Two

Former Navy Man Returns To Sanford To Practice Law

A former Navy man, attached to the Sanford Naval Air Station, and now discharged from the service has returned to Sanford to set up his law practice.

Carroll A. Burke, a 29-year-old Kentucky man, married the former Miss Jessica Andrews of Sanford.

Burke is now in Sanford associated with Mack N. Cleveland Jr. in his law practice in the Sanford Atlantic National Bank Bldg.

The Burkes have two children, Kenneth Allen, four, and Glen Steven, two-and-a-half.

The young attorney attended elementary and high school in Kentucky and graduated in 1946. He then attended Western State College in Bowling Green, Ky. for two years in 1947 and 1948. He also had one year at Stetson University in Liberal Arts.

Burke attended Stetson Law School in Deland for one year and two years in St. Petersburg where he graduated in May of 1956.

He was admitted to the Florida Bar on Oct. 15, 1956.

The affable young man was in the U. S. Navy from Oct. 1948 to Oct. 1952. During that time he saw duty at the Great Lakes Training Center, NAS, Quonset Point, R. I. and NAAS, Sanford.

His duty with fighter squadrons took him on cruises aboard the U.S.S. Kestrel, U.S.S. Lathrop. He has visited Cuba, Japan, Panama, Korea, Sasebo, Yokosuka with Mediterranean cruises taking him into the ports of Lisbon, Portugal, Casco, France, London, Italy and Rome, Italy as well as Athens, Greece and Izmir, Turkey.

Burke was an aviation Machinist Mate with a rating of AD2. "I like Sanford," said Burke, "and that's the reason for my return here to begin my practice of law."

Mack N. Cleveland Jr. said "I am delighted to have Carroll Burke associated with me in my practice of law."

VAH-7 Taking Part In Naval Review At Norfolk, Va.

NORFOLK, Va. — A mighty 18-million feet moved smoothly into position late yesterday for the greatest international naval review in history.

Aboard the American carrier Randolph are over 100 officers and men of the Sanford Naval Air Station's VAH-7, Detachment 3A, together with five A-1J airplanes ready to participate in the gigantic sea show.

The ships began before dawn yesterday to form a 14-mile long line of naval might stretching from Hampton Roads to the Virginia Capes.

A United Press correspondent watched the sea giants from aboard a helicopter.

No doubt, the VAH-7 officers and men will bring back with them, following a cruise in the Mediterranean, some of the thrilling stories of the many-nation rendezvous as they jeckered into position in readiness for the review.

The perilous undertaking called for moving 85 American warships and 38 warships of 17 visiting nations—the largest number of ships ever moved in one day in Hampton Roads.

It was a precision maneuver. (Continued on Page Two)

Over $5 Billion OK'd To Run 17 Agencies

WASHINGTON 12 — The Senate today approved 72 to 0, a bill carrying $3,378,594,800 to run 17 independent government agencies for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

The total was $548,870,200 below the amount requested by the administration. But $18,750,000 of the reduction was in the appropriation for veterans' compensation and pensions and represented no savings. These payments are fixed by law and Congress must restore the money during the next year if it should be needed.

The bill was passed just as it came from the Senate Appropriations Committee except for the addition of $370,000 for the General Services Administration.

Of the total in the bill, most would go to the Veterans' Administration, for which $1,686,594,900 was earmarked.

This was the third of four money bills on the Senate program this week. It now goes to a House-Senate conference committee for adjustment of differing versions passed by the two chambers. The Senate total was $6,600,900 below the House version.

C. Morrison Will Present Jaycee Program Tomorrow is there slant in the Bible? What does the status of the Jimmie Swan hold in his right hand? What American princess married an Englishman? What two coins total 15 cents and one is not a dime? What was the name of the president of the U. S. in 1916? Who is the most important person in a story? Who made the first solo flight around the world? In what theatre was Lincoln shot? Who ran and ran and ran and never became president?

These questions and over 100 others will be asked at the weekly meeting of the Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce tomorrow noon by Charles Morrison, for several years a member of the advertising staff of the Sanford Herald, and at present, director of public relations and good will "ambassador" for Joller Motor Sales. Morrison, well-known throughout Central Florida as a quizmaster, will present silver dollars to the Jaycees who qualify by answering a few questions in various categories. Members of Rotary and Kiwanis here who are also members of the Junior Chamber will find many chances in the program which has already been staged before their respective clubs.

Jaycee president, M. L. "Sonny" Raborn Jr. in asking Morrison to handle tomorrow's program, stated that he had tried, without success, to get a good program to start his term of office. "Since many of the high class programs we usually have are not, at this time available, we will settle for genial, corpulent Charlie," he said.

Girls To Attend YWA Session At Ridgecrest

Two 16-year-old Sanford girls leave this afternoon for Ridgecrest, N. C. where they will represent the First Baptist Church in a week-long session during "YWA Week" at the popular conference camp.

Miss Marchetta Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Campbell and Miss Marcelle Elford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Elford were chosen by the Young Women's Mission Association of the Baptist Church for the six-day event.

"Good attendance" and "interest shown" in YWA meetings and to come to the aid of their party work were responsible for the representatives being chosen for the trip and conference.

The YWA is a branch of the Women's Missionary Union of the church, a spokesman said today. The W.M.U. is sponsoring the trip for the two girls.

Resucitator Will Be Purchased For Altamonte

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS—Altamonte Springs Town Council voted at its Monday night meeting to purchase a resucitator for the use of the community at an approximate cost of $250. The Altamonte Springs Civic Club will be asked to turn over to the town the $25 which the club's service committee has raised for the purchase of the equipment.

If the agreement is made with the Civic Club, the town will be full custodian of the life-saving apparatus and it will be known as town property.

The club's service chairman, Mrs. T. F. Wood, had previously asked the town for financial assistance in making the purchase of the resucitator.

Minutes from an unannounced special meeting of the town council, held on June 1, revealed that appointment of a Town Marshall had been made by Mayor Lawrence Swofford and had been approved by the council. Grady Hall, a former resident of Altamonte Springs, was officially sworn in as town marshal, taking the oath of office from Mayor Swofford on June 2, at which time he assumed the duties assigned to him.

Other action taken at the special meeting authorized the Mayor to construct an addition to the fire building to be used for the town's administrative office. The job to be done at cost of materials, plus 10 per.

Motion was passed at this week's meeting to throw out bids on gas, oil, and lubricant. The town equipment, as submitted by B. D. McIntosh Jr. of the Altamonte Garage and J. Cornell of the Town Garage and request new bids, due to a misunderstanding in bid specifications.

A street light was authorized at Forest and Altamonte Aves., also one on Ballard St.

Mayor Swofford instructed Henry Hansen, town clerk, to post "No Parking" signs at cross-over in front of the Post Office.

(Continued From Page One) but it proceeded with out difficulty. The Navy expected all ships to be in position by tonight for the review Wednesday afternoon by Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson.

Among the first ships to move from their piers in the hot summer sunshine was the 99,000-ton U.S. supercarrier Saratoga, the 40,000-ton British carrier Ark Royal, and the American battle-ship Iowa and Wisconsin.

The four mighty ships rocked gently at anchor in a muddy green sea. Far ahead, shrouded in the heat haze, lay the French carrier Bois Belleau and the new U. S. destroyer leader Norfolk.

The American carriers Randolph and Valley Forge were weighing anchor off Cape Henry where the Englishmen who settled Jamestown 350 years ago first landed. Children played in the surf rolling slowly ashore.

Rear Adm. Claude V. Micketts directed the operation from a tug. Later he planned to direct it from a Navy blimp.

Noise From Jet Planes Is Sound Of Readiness For Our Protection

The most comforting sound in the world today is that of a jet plane overhead.

For it is with this sound that we can be assured of the protection from the invasion of our country by enemy craft.

Congressman A. S. Herlong Jr. received a letter from a resident of the Sanford area complaining of the noise (if the sound of a plane can be justly called noise) annoying himself and his neighbors.

It has been said, time and time again, that Florida is one of the most vulnerable spots in the United States for enemy aircraft designed to destroy our country and our way of life.

Each time a plane takes off from the Sanford Naval Air Station, or from any other air base in Florida, its sound is a reassurance that men who have dedicated their lives to our country are receiving additional training to combat any aggressor.

Each of us, when we are afforded the privilege of hearing the sound of a plane flying high or low, piloted by a Navy aviator, Air Force, Marine Corps, or any other branch of our military, should offer a prayer of thanks that we are living in a country enveloped in freedoms that are not enjoyed in other nations.

Certainly our TVs might flicker a bit, we may have to cease conversation for a brief moment, our attention might be diverted—but aren't those mere inconveniences much better than the blast of an H-bomb, the splatter of a machine gun, and the roar of enemy planes, yes thousands of them, who will submerge us beneath the debris and rubble of a world turned wrong side out?

Before complaining about a bit of noise we should think of the benefits that are being received, of the protection afforded us, and of what would happen should those noises cease.

The service dedicated man behind the throttle of a jet plane flying over-head would not flinch one second when he guides his airborne machine toward an enemy. He, and thousands more like him, would sacrifice his life for our protection and the protection of his country from the ruthless invaders who might at any time attempt to devastate us.

Neither should we flinch as those men gain more knowledge of their craft, as they train themselves to better defend their country.

Noise? We beg to differ with the gentleman who complained to Congressman Herlong. There are no noises from the jet planes heard above us from time to time. What we hear are the pleasant sounds of readiness—the signature of well trained, fully prepared, and capable pilots and crewmen watching over us every day and night.

We would like to ask, sir—which would you rather have, the sound of our own planes protecting us or the noise of the enemy whose intent is to destroy us?

Medicine, Politics Don't Mix

"We have had amply demonstrated to us that medicine and politics do not mix." That quote is from a magazine which can speak with authority—the British Medical Journal. Britain has had socialized medicine for many years, and her National Health Service employs something like 99 per cent of all British doctors.

The Service's current troubles have been much in the news lately. The most publicized issue has been doctor's pay—by any reasonable standard it is low and the government so far has refused to make adequate adjustments. But there is more to the matter than this economic factor. As the British Medical Journal puts it, "The employees have lost all trust and confidence in their monopoly employer." As evidence, it cites the fact that in recent months there has been a striking increase in the number of doctors investigating the possibility of leaving England for one of the Dominions.

What are the troubles, other than the salary problem, that socialized medicine has brought to Britain's doctors? The Journal has this to say: "The pettifogging arguments about whether a food is a drug, the form-filling, the regulations, earnest discussions on whether a week's leave not taken one year can be carried on to the next, the ever-increasing intrusion of the administrator both centrally and locally—all this and much more is turning medicine into an administrator's maze."

Then the Journal makes the most ominous statement of all—"The unfortunate doctor soon loses his sense of direction and will end up by losing his sense of profession."

Measures are periodically proposed in this country which would give the government sweeping and varied controls over the doctors and medical practice, and thus set the stage for ultimate socialized medicine. We can profit by Britain's costly example—and avoid such schemes like the plague.

Since 1950, according to J. Edgar Hoover of the FBI, the crime rate has increased four times as fast as the population. He finds the increase in juvenile crime especially alarming.

TODAY'S THOUGHT
Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends. John 15:13. Jesus answered and spoke to them in parables. Matt. 23:1.

Foreign News Commentary

United Press Staff Correspondent: Lebanon has inflicted the latest of a series of defeats on pro-Russian, anti-Western President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt.

The pro-Western, anti-Communist government of Lebanon has won 19 out of 22 seats contested in a national parliamentary election.

This follows the successful victory of King Hussein of Jordan against the leftist elements who, with Nasser's backing, plotted to overthrow him.

It follows also the meeting in Karachi, Pakistan, which greatly strengthened the anti-Communist Middle Eastern Treaty Organization—the so-called Baghdad Alliance—that Nasser bitterly opposes.

At present, Egypt and its fellow-traveler Syria are very nearly isolated in the Arab world.

Refugee to Follow: Lebanon, Iraq, Jordan and Saudi will have refused to follow Nasser. The remaining countries of the nine-nation Arab League, Yemen, the Sudan and Libya, are giving Nasser no support.

Further, the pro-Russian government of Syria is meeting increasingly strong resistance by anti-Communists in parliament.

It has long been apparent that Nasser's hope of making himself the leader of the Arab countries has been shattered.

King Saud of Saudi Arabia had a great deal to do with that. Saud's influence in the Arab world certainly is equal to Nasser's. Saud's visits to President Eisenhower last January and February marked an important turn of Arab countries toward the West.

Nasser's setbacks, of course, mean a setback also for Soviet Russia in its persistent attempt to penetrate the Middle East.

Correspondingly, they constitute a victory for the United States and especially for the Eisenhower Doctrine against Communist infiltration in the Arab countries.

Pro-Nasser Platform: The opponents of pro-Western Premier Sami el Solh in the Lebanese election campaigned frankly on a pro-Nasser platform.

In the voting which took place Sunday, the pro-Nasser candidates won just two of the 22 seats at issue. The government would have won 20 instead of 19 seats had not an independent candidate taken sufficient votes in one district to defeat Solh's man.

The remaining 44 of the 46 seats in Lebanon's single-chamber parliament are to be contested in a succession of elections in other parts of the country on the next three Sundays. There is no reason to believe that the leftists can do any better than they did in the first one.

Look Ahead At Top World News

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent
Around the world look ahead at the news that will make the headlines.

Peace Prize For the Insiders
Insiders in Norway give President Eisenhower a good chance to win this year's Nobel Peace prize.

Finn Moe, chairman of the foreign committee of the Norwegian Parliament, disclosed last week that Eisenhower has been nominated as a candidate. In doing so Moe eulogized Eisenhowers "indefatigable" work for peace. A committee named by Parliament will choose the winner. If Eisenhower won, he would be expected to go to Norway in December to receive it. Diplomatic sources suggest that might be a good time to hold a Big Four "summit" conference in some European capital.

Red TV
Don't be surprised if British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan appears on a Soviet TV program as a follow-up to the TV appearance of Soviet Communist Leader Nikita S. Khrushchev. The Khrushchev program was televised in Britain after its presentation in the United States. It has been suggested that Macmillan make a similar appearance on a Russian program. He is reported to be warm to the idea. But the initiative would have to come from Moscow.

Chisel Airing
Alleged chiseling in veterans charities will be aired soon by a House committee in Washington. A committee investigator is at work now sifting complaints. One complaint is that promoters are using veterans groups as fronts to raise funds. They keep most of the funds.

Diplomatic Note
You can expect a friendly diplomatic fashion war between the new Austrian and American ambassadors to Norway. Both are women. En route to Oslo on the liner Bergensfjord is American Ambassador Frances M. E. Willis. Already there is Austrian Ambassador Dr. Johanna Monschein. Dr. Monschein is one of Europe's best dressed women. Diplomats are sure Miss Willis will want to hold up America's end.

Airway Argument
Watch for the Curtis Air safety report to increase instead of lessen the flight in Washington over ways to make the skyways safe. The Curtis Commission, among other things, called for a commission agency.

Some congressmen, while approving the commission's recommendations in general, say they are designed almost entirely for the indefinite future, while the most critical period will come in the next three years because of crowded air lanes.

JOSEPH MEVOY, bodyguard for Dave Beck, Jr., invokes the Fifth Amendment 90 times in Washington as he refuses to answer questions of the Senate committee on industry and labor racketeering. Mevoy was topped by his boss, son of the president of the Teamsters Union, who even refused to tell probars whether he knew his father.

Semi-Pros Suffering Big Setback In Poor Attendance At Games

Stan Musial Has Played In 822 Consecutive Games

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Stan The Man Musial tied the National League record of playing in 822 consecutive games when he took the field against the Philadelphia Phillies here last night.

But becoming Stan The Iron Man Musial wasn't very exciting for him. Nor was he much impressed about breaking the record when he plays against the Phils Wednesday night—barring accident. He's more interested in getting his 3,000th hit.

"That's my chief target in the record books now," he said. "Probably some of the cause for the apparent lack of enthusiasm over the iron man feat was the fact that Stan has been looking forward to erasing marks from the record book for a long time. He has been overlooking no chances since he first hit the big leagues.

"After a certain number of years, a player gets to the point where he has a chance at these figures," Musial explained. "One thing is—you've got to do what you can while you're young. That's why I think I am reaching these figures in about 15 years that many players didn't reach until 30."

The new consecutive games mark he'll put in the National League handbook Wednesday night is the only one of the feats he has accomplished already or is nearing which makes him a cinch for a ton Hall of Fame berth at some future date.

The mark he's now looking forward to the 3,000th hit could come by next May. He now has 2,850 17th on the all-time list and if he matches last season's total of 184, he will wind up with 2,965 come September.

TRAFFIC SAFETY HINTS
TOKYO (AP)—The police department hinted that the way to avoid traffic accidents in Tokyo is to stay out of taxicabs and cars driven by bachelors under 30. A weekend police white paper reported taxicabs caused one-fourth of all accidents recorded here between Jan. 1 and May 15. Unmarried men in their twenties caused 60 per cent.

Shoemaker, Nerud Will Seek Belmont Win For 1st Time

NEW YORK (AP)—Jockey Willie Shoemaker and trainer Johnny Nerud face a formidable barrier of Belmont Stakes success Saturday when they match wits with Eddie Arcaro and Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons.

Shoemaker, who will ride Ralph Lowe's Gallant Man, and Nerud, the colt's trainer, will be trying to win the $100,000 classic for the first time.

Arcaro will be shooting for his seventh Belmont triumph when he sends Wheatley Stable's Bold Ruler out of the starting gate. And if Bold Ruler wins the mile-and-a-half race, he'll also give Fitzsimmons, the 82-year-old dean of American trainers, his seventh Belmont victory.

Arcaro, the master stake rider, probably will help make Bold Ruler the favorite at post time. But Gallant Man and Shoemaker are certain to be strong second choices and many expert horsemen undoubtedly will put their money on this pair.

Bold Ruler defeated Gallant Man by inches in the mile-and-a-half Wood Memorial in April. But many observers believe Gallant Man, a compact, English-bred colt, will handle the grueling Belmont distance better than Bold Ruler.

Gallant Man, with Shoemaker misjudging the finish line, lost the Kentucky Derby to Calumet's Iron Liege by a nose while Bold Ruler was a well-beaten fourth. Bold Ruler then won the Preakness but Gallant Man did not run in that race.

Second only to Pinecrest in the League, Sanford is determined to finish the rocky season despite empty stadiums at all games. W. C. "Red" Hires, who has gone all out for baseball in Sanford said that the team would finish the rest of the season on the Number One playing field of the New York Giants Farm System Training Base.

The field is to be fenced in the near future and will give Sanford virtually two stadiums.

Boasting the most beautiful and modern stadium in this section of Florida, Sanford has so far been the poorest in supporting a home town club, even with the best in semi-pro ball.

Hires said that the attendance for the games are gradually growing but very slowly. "It looks like just a few more people come to the games every week, and once they come they seem to enjoy it and keep coming," Hires said that he would be able to make ends meet if the people would just give the team one Sunday afternoon of solid support. "We are determined to keep baseball here if it is humanly possible," Hires said.

The reflection of the man on the street has been that Sanford needs to keep baseball as good means of diversion, but the attendance at the gate has not backed up the words.

Junior League Has Rough Week

American Legion Junior Baseball, opening the season Monday, has had a rough weather week and a half behind them that has limited the team to only two days workouts.

With limited time before the season swings into action the local team is having to brace themselves for a shaky early start.

This year districts 4, 5, and 6 have combined to give the teams of all three districts a 10 game schedule.

In the area playoffs the two teams from each district will collide in a best-two-out-of-three series to determine who will represent that district.

Orlando and Sanford represent the local district.

FSU Coach Of Year Grid Clinic Opens

TALLAHASSEE, Fla.—Coaches and players from throughout the county begin pouring into Tallahassee today for Florida State University's "Coach of the Year" football clinic.

Before the day is through, FSU Football Director Tom Nugent, who originated the clinic, expects some 600 to have registered for the three days of lectures and panel discussions.

Featured lecturers are Bud Wilkinson, coach of Oklahoma's national champions, Bowden Wyatt of Tennessee, Bobby Dodd of Georgia Tech and Blanton Collier of Kentucky.

Nick Kotys, coach of Coral Gables high school's unbeaten football team, was named Florida's high school coach of the year and will serve on the clinic faculty.

Because three of the four featured coaches are from the Southeastern Conference—Dodd, Wyatt and Collier—Nugent said he expected almost every SEC school to be represented at the clinic.

He said several SEC entries had already been received.

Entries have also been received from as far away as Canada, Cuba and Hawaii. One football enthusiast from Hawaii who attended last year, is returning again.

The Florida Sports Writer's Assn. is holding a quarterly business meeting here in conjunction with the clinic, making it an even larger affair.

Circle 9 Meets With Mrs. G. B. Hudson

Circle number nine of the First Methodist Church met at the home of Mrs. G. B. Hudson on Holly Ave. Monday afternoon. Mrs. W. A. Hunter, chairman of the circle, presided over the meeting. Mrs. R. D. Priest, devotional chairman, opened the meeting with prayer, followed by reading several verses of scripture from the Bible.
"Fear" was the topic of a talk given by Mrs. A. E. Shinholser, she discussed what it can do to us physically, spiritually and emotionally.
Mrs. J. C. Davis presented a brief and inspiring "Pledge Service" after which each member signed her pledge card. Mrs. Hunter announced our circle would serve Vacation Bible School, cookies, and a drink, June 28.
Mrs. J. N. Azzarello, and Mrs. J. C. Davis, were appointed to prepare communion for July. The circle voted to have a "Birthday Apoon" and also a "Blessing Box." Mrs. Hunter welcomed all members, and urged each one to cooperate with our new president.

Challenge For Dr. Mays

A new novel by ELIZABETH SEIFERT.

CHATTERTON
IN THE merciless spotlight of the afternoon sun faced on the table in the Staff room, Dr. Wilkins-Smith turned several colors in rapid succession. Watching him, his lawyers expressed growing dismay at the turn events were taking.

A splutter of talk had gone around the table. Chad Mays waited for it to subside, smiling softly with his eyes.
When he again had everyone's attention he began to speak. Quietly, using much the same narrative tone Stella had used.
"As some of you may have guessed by the stenciling on my shirt," he informed his listeners. "I've just spent a couple of days at the County Hospital. I went in there—got myself admitted—patient. To double-check on the methods which had been used with Mrs. McCrilly. I happen to have a back injury from the war. Except for a tricky reflex, it gives me very little trouble. And is very difficult to diagnose. It can seem like nothing, it can seem very ominous. That reflex is always starting. Perhaps as I grow older, the thing will bother me. It doesn't, now. So—and I agree that I had my own purposes—I got into the hospital as an emergency case, and under an assumed name. I was thereupon—examined, and my condition diagnosed."

He paused, and cast a curious eye at Wilkins-Smith. "Yep," he affirmed, "I kept my eyes and ears wide open, Doctor. I found many evidences of rotten practice, many defenses against all rules of hospital ethics, the whole performance scarcely what might be called acceptable."

"If you are ready to claim you knew me all the time, I'll call you a liar. You had no idea who I was. You may have seen me before, but you did not recognize me as Chadburn Mays. You had no idea that I was checking on you."

"I said you had a serious back condition." The words spat like fire across the table. "You do."

Chad went on as if he had not heard the splutter of syllables. "I was pretty confident of my condition when I decided to enter the County Hospital," he said quietly. "I went through the clinic here; three months earlier I had had a thorough check-up at Mayo's. And I report once a year to the Army Hospital." He paused impressively. "But only naired lawyer asked Gaskins for the floor. Given it, he spoke briefly. "I just want to say that my colleague, Mr. Newman here, and I wish to withdraw from any legal association with a doctor who operates in the fashion—er—indicated."

"This is not a trial, sir," said the Chairman unhappily.
"The devil it isn't!" cried Wilkins-Smith hotly. He stumbled to his feet. All elegant affections of speech had been cast aside.

"The whole meeting was framed against me! I was given no chance—I can justify everything I've done! My record is excellent! How was I to know I'd be rigged? First by that woman, whom I had every intention of testing further—then by a doctor so unethical as to sneak into a hospital under an assumed name..."

"Your diagnosis was of a spine condition on a patient you had every chance to examine properly," said Gaskins, coldly. "Every doctor claims that the identity of the patient makes no difference."

"Well, I don't claim it!" snapped Wilkins-Smith. "And the worst I can wish for you other doctors is to continue your association with this man. Any doctor whose methods stink so high..."

"Sure they stink," said Chad happily. "They just about match yours. But look, gentlemen. On his feet again, he assumed the air of a briskly competent professional man. "I came here to organize the Burbank Receiving Clinic, to build it into a smoothly running operation. It looked like an easy job—four big suburbs co-operating, the whole County seeming to approve and indicate a spread of its activities—city hospitals and county doctors all behind it in an active way."

"Except for one hospital. It refused to accept our reports, or to co-operate in any way. In fact, I immediately found that we were being discredited inside that hospital, within its sphere of operation, and outside, too. In that respect I quickly narrowed the opposition to one man; he had decided so long as to use his personal patients and the organizations to which they belonged in an active campaign to smear our purpose and our accomplishments."

Conning The News

By VIRGINIA CONN

VAHS is having a farewell party Friday night for Ruth and Bill Barron, Helen and Bob Punched, and Fran and Dick Murray. The Barrons and the Puncheds are going to Clarksville, Tenn., and the Murrays are going to Monterey, California. The party will be held at Chuck and Betty McBrant's Grove Manor home—in their new patio. By the way, that attractive fence around the patio and also in the circle, for the new circle year.

The following were appointed as circle officers to assist: Mrs. Hunter, Mr. J. C. Davis, co-chairman; Mrs. J. H. Azzarello, secretary; Mrs. C. E. McKee, treasurer; Mrs. R. D. Priest, devotional; Mrs. A. E. Shinholser, study chairman; Mrs. C. B. Hoover, sunshine; Mrs. G. B. Hudson, local church activities.

The meeting was closed by the group holding hands singing "Blest Be The Tie That Binds." Those attending the meeting were: Mrs. W. A. Hunter, Mrs. J. N. Azzarello, Mrs. C. E. McKee, Mrs. Effie Mikes, Mrs. J. R. Hook, Mrs. A. E. Shinholser, Mrs. Ruth Lundquist, Mrs. J. C. Davis, Mrs. I. G. Boyette, Mrs. W. E. Raines, Mrs. R. D. Priest, and Mrs. Olive Wells.

that sort of rot. I am fast acquiring neighbors, and during the day the buzz of saws and the drone of bulldozers reminds me that soon I will be unable to scream at the children comparatively unheard. At the moment I can gaze at four men perched atop the house—next door, all pounding nails. It was fine when the houses were on the other end of the street. And while I am sure we will enjoy our new neighbors, it is a shock to suddenly find oneself surrounded. Kind of like fainting in a public place and waking up to the thronging crowd. Cliff and Rosemary Duncan, who are leaving next week themselves, are having a party to-night for the Stones and the Metzgers. All are members of the Class of '48, '47 group.
Bonnie Grandy's twin sister, her husband, and children are visiting the Grandys in their Loch Arbor home. Bonnie's sister looks so much like her that even close friends have rushed up and burst into conversation before realizing the difference. Not only this, but the cousins are almost identical too.
Bill Barron's mother and brother and his wife are visiting from Texas.
Jo and Roy Symes are leaving next Sunday for Spartenburg, S. C. for the summer.
Bob Conn is on leave. My dog has fleas, and I guess that is as much as I can get out of the whole mess today.

Over $61 Million Cut Off Public Works Plan

Economist Here Making Study, Survey On Canal

Funds For Fiscal Year

Navy Review Fleet Breaks Formation; Start On Cruises

Top News In Brief

PARIS — Radical Socialist Maurice Bourges-Maunoury won the rapid approval of an enthusiastic National Assembly today to head the 23rd government of France since World War II.

Another phase of the engineer's feasibility report on the Sanford-Titusville Canal got underway this week with Sanford as the headquarters of an economist making the study and survey.

Dr. R. W. Bradbury, Transportation Economist, Corps of Engineers, U. S. Army arrived here Monday for a two week's study of the newest and probably most important phase of the feasibility study.

Dr. Bradbury is a Professor of Economy in the College of Business Administration at the University of Florida.

Dr. Bradbury will survey the entire area affecting the pleasure boat industry on the St. Johns River. Already, Dr. Bradbury has conferred with boating officials in Jacksonville and will later study the areas along the St. Johns between Sanford and Jacksonville.

In Sanford, the transportation economist will talk with boating officials, manufacturers, and suppliers as well as getting a first hand survey of the area from a boat.

A. W. Lee, chairman of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce' Waterways Committee has met with the economist in several conferences relative to the enormous upsurge in boating interest.

Dr. Bradbury will confer with officials in Orlando, Leesburg, Mount Dora, Eustis, Tavares, De Land and areas throughout surrounding counties in order to secure a complete picture of the pleasure boat's picture here and the part it will play in the Sanford-Titusville Canal feasibility report.

Proponents of the proposed canal are optimistic over the part that the pleasure boat industry will play in the final approval of the plan to carry the St. Johns directly into the Port Canaveral area.

A report on the proposed Sanford-Titusville Canal is expected to be completed by late summer by the District Office in Jacksonville of the Corps of Engineers, U. S. Army.

The survey and study now being conducted to determine the economic bearing of the pleasure boat industry on the proposed Sanford-Titusville Canal is a result of the hearing held earlier this year by the Corps of Engineers at Sanford's Mayfair Inn.

WASHINGTON — The House Appropriations Committee slashed $61,639,917 from President Eisenhower's public works program today to hew closely to its 7 per cent economy line.

If the $214,813,023 bill is approved without change, the House will have cut $4,042,853,929 from total appropriations of nearly $4 billion dollars it has acted on so far this year.

The funds are for the next fiscal year starting July 1. They were reduced more than 32 million dollars below spending for the present fiscal year.

The public works measure provided new funds for construction, planning and maintenance work by the Army Corps of Engineers, the Interior Department's Bureau of Reclamation and the Bonneville, Southeastern, and Southwestern power administration.

Also covered were Quartermaster Corps cemetery expenses. The bill contained $607,196,800 for the Army Engineers, a reduction of requests by $31,708,200.

Eisenhower had reduced the requests by more than 13 million dollars before the committee began work on the proposal.

The Bureau of Reclamation got $174,606,223, a reduction of $24,623,777.

Bonneville Power Administration was allotted $28,599,000, a cut of $3,263,000, but some 2 million dollars more than was appropriated for the current year.

The Southwestern and South-eastern power administrations were voted $4,410,000, or $15,000 less than requested.

The committee refused to allot funds for 11 engineer projects, most of them in the category of new starts or advance planning, among them the intercoastal waterway in Florida and Willeboro reservoir, N. C.

NORFOLK, Va. — The great international review fleet today broke its formation off the Virginia shore and began dispersing for the oceans of the world.

The Navy ordered 35 ships of the 18-nation fleet including the American heavy cruiser Des Moines to return to port before dawn.

At the same time, a powerful task group led by the command cruiser Northampton prepared to sail for Rio De Janeiro during the day. The rest of the 111-ship fleet began the difficult precision operation of returning to their Norfolk piers by sunset.

All 33 foreign ships were scheduled to return to port with the remaining American ships. The fleet will remain open to the public until Monday.

The Navy estimated that nearly 300,000 people saw the great fleet—mightiest peacetime collection of ships in history—as Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson reviewed it Wednesday from the missile cruiser Canberra.

Crowds jammed the grassy dunes and beaches from Norfolk to Cape Henry for good vantage points to watch the international naval celebration of the 350th anniversary of the founding of Jamestown.

FP&L Is Seeking To Construct Line Across St. Johns

An application has been made to the Department of the Army by Florida Power and Light Company for modification of a permit issued June 1, 1956 to construct an aerial electric transmission line across the St. Johns River just south of the bridge on State Road 46, Sanford to Titusville, near Sanford.

It is proposed that an additional wire be placed on the existing poles which would be above the present wires.

The minimum vertical clearance under the lowest wire would be 34 feet above mean low water.

No public hearings are proposed to be held on the application.

Protests based on effects on public navigation should be addressed to the District Engineer, Corps of Engineers, Jacksonville, in time to have received on or before June 21, 1957.

Camp Ithiel Will Be Site Of Water Safety Instruction

An announcement of a forthcoming safety course was made this morning by the local American Red Cross Chapter.

Addressed to all first aid and Red Cross water safety instructors, it was announced that the weekend of June 21-23 at Camp Ithiel, a course will be given on the latest water safety and first aid techniques.

Some of the south's outstanding personalities in water safety, first aid, boating and water sports will appear on the program, local spokesman said.

Registration is Friday evening at 4 p. m.

A full schedule has been prepared for Saturday and Sunday. Included will be instruction in safety surrounding outdoor boating, water skiing, paddleboard, water ballet and scuba diving.

Registration is due at the American Red Cross office in Orlando, Orange County Chapter, Box 3507, not later than June 15.

Further information may be secured at the local American Red Cross Chapter office.

Those planning to participate in the course are asked to bring their own linens and blankets. The registration is $5 per person including meals.

Camp Ithiel is 12 miles west of Orlando on the old Winter Garden Road.

Jealous Suitor Kills Girl Friend; Takes Own Life

FLINT, Mich. — An extremely jealous youth killed his girl friend early today because she had broken off their engagement and took his own life.

Police said John Cooper, 22, walked to Kearsley Park with Barbara Moss, 19, beat her severely and then tossed her body into a creek.

Cooper took a cab to his home, told his mother "I've just killed my girl friend," and left the house after grabbing a .38 caliber revolver.

He apparently walked four miles back to the park and shot himself in the right temple less than 200 yards from the spot where Barbara's body was found.

Barbara's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ollis Moss, described Cooper as an "extremely jealous" youth who had been dating their daughter for nearly two years.

They said Barbara gave Cooper back his ring last Friday but agreed to continue dating him on Tuesdays and Saturdays.

She had an extra date with Cooper Wednesday to go swimming and then accepted the invitation of a girl friend to attend a weekly dance at the YWCA.

The friend, Mary Fruit, 19, said she, Barbara and some other girls left the dance about midnight to get something to eat and found Cooper waiting outside.

She said Cooper took Miss Moss by the arm and said angrily, "You're going with me."

Providing Convention Facilities Problem

FOREST CITY—Providing convention facilities to meet the needs of 7,000 persons is a problem anywhere, but it can become a real headache when that convention is an old-time camp meeting.

Ask the clergyman of the Florida Conference of Seventh-day Adventists who spent six weeks getting the facilities ready for their church's annual camp meeting, now in session on the campus of Forest Lake Academy here.

One churchman, Pastor Adolph Skender, of Tampa, was "boss" of the crew who pitched camp, set up seats, built exhibits and did a hundred other things to have everything in order for the first meeting last Friday.

"We have about 400 families living in military-style tents," Pastor Skender says. "Hundreds of others are occupying dormitory rooms of the school. This saves us a lot of tents. And surprisingly enough, many families pull their trailers here—sometimes these are rented camping trailers—and we have set aside a couple of acres just for this."

The "boss" pastor admits that there are a good many folk who, for one reason or another, prefer to stay in nearby motels and hotels. "We just don't have room for everybody who wants to camp," he says. "Then there are the older folk, and the young couples with babies—these often need to stay in better facilities." He added that many homes in the area rent out spare rooms to delegates.

Most of the tents have in them the bare necessities—cots for each sleeper, clothes racks in the center, camp chairs, one or two card tables, and other items brought by each family. Of course, Bibles and religious books and periodicals are plentiful. Most families bring portable ice boxes and other containers in which to store food.

A camp store supplies foodstuff, writing pads, flashlight batteries, insect repellent, etc. Two or three short-order tent-liners are usually going at mealtime. Many campers eat in the school cafeteria, or drive to a nearby restaurant. Plates are available in smoking tents for short snags.

Dwelling tents for $15, whether occupied by one or an entire family, are pitched and water is supplied without extra charge. Permanent bath houses are located at strategic spots throughout the camp. Forest Lake Academy facilities for both bathing and laundry add to the luxuries.

Evangelist Graham To End New York Crusade July 21

NEW YORK — Evangelist Billy Graham announced Wednesday night that his spectacular crusade to save New York "will definitely end July 21."

Thus Graham closed the door on what had been a possible extension of the crusade even beyond July 21, a date which itself represented a three-week extension beyond the original June 30 closing aerion.

He told reporters his announcement did not mean the crusade "team" was "finished in this area." He said he was unable to reveal at this time plans being formulated for further evangelistic work in the New York area.

Graham expressed "immense satisfaction" with the crusade, which has been packing Madison Square Garden since it opened May 15. It will be capped off the final night with a huge revival in the 67,000-seat Yankee Stadium.

A second phase of the current crusade is a program of "evangelistic visitations" in which nearly 2,000 churches will take part. Visits to the churches by Graham and members of his crusade team will run through Oct. 27.

Graham explained that his staff had taken a "sampling of feeling" among members of the 1,800-voice choir, 6,000 counselors who give guidance to converts, and other voluntary workers and it appears a great number of them would be unable to contribute their services all through the summer.

Entomologist Tells Of New Repellent

A former resident of Sanford brought the Sanford Kiwanis Club up to date on the progress being made to control insects through the use of insecticides at the noon luncheon meeting of the group yesterday.

James B. Gahan, Entomologist, with the Entomology Research Branch of the Agricultural Research Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, addressed the Kiwanis Club group and spoke on the long history of research into the proper insecticides necessary to control common pests.

"There have been significant developments in recent years," said Gahan as he traced the history of malaria back to the pre-Christian era.

In the last war, explained Gahan there were 700,000 casualties from malaria and on Guadalcanal there were more malaria casualties than those from bullets.

Explaining the development of DDT, the Entomologist said that the spray is effective for as long as a year and as an example he described a 1944 project where all buildings in a town were sprayed which reduced the mosquito population 98 per cent.

"The method is now being used by the World Health Organization which is conducting treatment af-

In the development of repellents, the one time Sanford resident explained that some 9,000 chemicals were tested from which only a few could be used.

"A new one developed which we believe will be outstanding," he said, "has material effect a-
