Court Martial Judge Warns Counsel About Improper Questioning

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Warning was given today by Maj. Gen. Robert L. Howze, president of the Mitchell court martial, that counsel for prosecution and defense hereafter must protect all witnesses from "irrelevant, insulting and improper questions and from 'harsh or insulting treatment.'"

In opening the court, Gen. Howze read from the manual of the court martial giving the regulations of the treatment of witnesses and sternly ordered all of those present to "take notice."

He did not make specific mention of any of the wrangles through which court and counsel have passed since the early days of the trial, which culminated yesterday in an unsuccessful effort by defense counsel to disqualify Maj. Gen. William S. Graves as a member of the court on the ground that he interfered with the cross examination of a witness.

EMBARGO CAUSES GENERAL SLUMP IN CONSTRUCTION

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 2.—(AP)—Building operations in the southern and central portions of the state, as a whole, were badly affected during November by the general embargo on Florida freight embargoes.

Embargo Has Not Delayed Building

While the slump in building in many cities is attributed to the freight embargo, local builders and contractors pointed out that Sanford's location in respect to water and rail facilities has not seriously affected the various building activities in a list showing the permits of November in 1924 and 1925 up to Dec. 1. SITUATION IN PHILIPPINES IS TERMED GOOD

Insular Bureau Chief Says Condition Of Island Show Great Advance In 1925

Report Is Submitted By General McIntyre

Santo Domingo And Porto Rico Also Show Advancement

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—(AP)—The annual report of the chief of the Bureau of Insular Affairs, made public yesterday, cited detailed figures in support of its statement that in the Philippines, Porto Rico and Santo Domingo, the year ending June 30, 1925, was one of prosperity and general advancement.

Major General Frank McIntyre, who signed the report, said the external trade of the Philippines was in quantity "greater than in any previous year in the history of the islands. Measured in value, however, the total was less than in 1920, due to the higher prices of that year. The total of imports and exports amounted to $243,000,000, which, as stated, was only exceeded in 1920, when the total was $300,000,000. Of the imports approximately 60 percent came from the United States and of the exports approximately 70 percent came to the United States. This varies but slightly from the normal.

"The most striking feature," the report continued, "is the great development in the production of centrifugal sugar, due to the comparatively recent construction of a number of modern sugar mills in the islands. The estimated production of centrifugal sugar for the sugar year 1924-25 was 483,483,400 metric tons. It is interesting to note that this production this year, the centrals financed and practically owned by the Philippine National Bank produced 174,000 tons; American-owned centrals, 156,000; Spanish, 102,000; and Filipino, 51,000.

"From one point of view the bank centrals and the Filipino owned centrals should be combined, as the control of these centrals is in Filipino hands. The segregation is made because of the fact that the centrals financed by the bank may be regarded as having been financed from the proceeds of Philippine government bonds sold in the United States."

Of Porto Rico, General McIntyre said: "There was a continuation of material progress in every field of governmental and private activity. The most noticeable governmental progress was in the erection of necessary public buildings and the extension of the splendid highway system of the island.

"The serious problem is the excess population. To a slight extent this is being met by the gradual development of small industries in the island. There is, however, no noticeable increase in the departure of emigrants from the island."

Administration of the customs receivership in the Dominican Republic, said General McIntyre, is "strong in the good will of the Dominican government and the people, and is performing efficiently the duties imposed upon it."

"There is, perhaps, no example in history of a work of this kind being carried on with so little friction. The credit for the success is due almost entirely to the personnel employed and to the direction given in its organization. The avoidance of friction and efficient operation of the service, which have been the outstanding marks of the receivership, could be entirely destroyed by a few careless selections to fill the very few positions held by Americans.

FLORIDA STATE COLLEGE GIRLS HEAVY EATERS

Miss Anna Tracy, Dietician, Tells Of Large Amount Of Food Necessary For Health Of Her 1,318 Daily Diners

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Dec. 2.—(AP)—Food and its preparation are of chief importance at Florida State College for Women, as it is elsewhere. To serve 1,318 people three times each day requires skill and capability.

Miss Anna M. Tracy, dietician, who has been at the institution for four years, has, in the opinion of students of the college, capably organized the dining room of the college. She is a graduate of Battle Creek Sanitarium School of Hygiene Economics.

Miss Tracy has two assistants, Miss Dorothy Fisher, a graduate of Pratt Institute, and Miss Margaret Chryst, a graduate of Battle Creek Sanitarium School of Home Economics.

The amount of food served may be ascertained by the fact that in one day 200 loaves of bread, 21-22 pounds each, are served, with 100 dozen biscuits each meal, 25 dozen cookies, 105 pies, 25 cakes, size 22x14 inches; 25 dozen rolls, 22 pans of corn bread, 28x18; three sacks of flour are consumed, 100 pounds of butter and 70 pounds of sugar daily.

Each breakfast requires 15 pounds of coffee, 10 pounds of bacon, 100 dozen eggs, 200 pounds of milk, 40 gallons of milk, 10 boxes of grapefruit, 45 gallons vegetables for one meal, 50 pounds of fruits, three sacks of potatoes, 400 pounds of ham, 600 pounds of chicken, 50 pounds of rice and 45 gallons of ice cream.

When fruit salad is made it takes 5 gallons of salad oil for mayonnaise, 2 crates of lettuce, 3 crates of celery, 12 gallons of pineapple, three bunches of bananas and 6 gallons cherries.

There are two dining rooms. One, the large dining room, built many years ago, with the new wing added in 1922, opened for use Thanksgiving Day, 1922. It seats 950 persons. The other opened this year, seats 350. The serving in the dining room is done by 67 college students. There are 455 employees in the kitchen, pantry, baking a storeroom.

The aim of the department, Miss Tracy said, is to serve wholesome meals best suited to the needs of the college woman. Only the highest class food is bought.

The kitchen is one of the best equipped of any college in the South. It is well lighted and ventilated. Every precaution possible is taken to insure the highest degree of sanitation throughout the entire department.

To Miss Tracy, college officials says, belongs the credit for the well-organized, capably managed dining room. She also teaches a class in the School of Home Economics. The students in the class are allowed to observe actual dietitian work in the dining room and kitchen.

Department Ends Protection National Forests

"are not enough to correct the errors of inexperience, lack of vision, or mistaken policy. It has, however, been long enough to dispel the secrecy which has so long veiled the operations of federal reclamation. We are now entering a new era in the history of reclamation. It lies within the power of the Congress to determine an equitable and economically sound policy which will remedy existing evils and make impossible the recurrence of conditions which have demoralized the Federal Reclamation Service."

The Secretary said that the department had been cautious in the beginning application of the $1,500,000 for projects and extensions appropriated by the last Congress because of experiences with old projects, and held up entirely the $3,600,000 Baker project in Oregon. In this, he said, he had the approval of the Attorney General, and the project will be held up until Congress has had time to revise the department's former action.

In the interest of proper reclamation development, the Secretary said, the government should have the active cooperation of the states to the extent that the states should take over the project on their completion and assume responsibility for their settlement. This, the Secretary added, the states have declined to do, and under the proposed revised policy, such a refusal by a state would be taken as evidence against the feasibility of a proposed project.

Alaska was described as a territory which is rapidly becoming a "lost province" and where opportunity for expansion had been curtailed by bureau officials "made hesitant by limited authority."

The maximum population of 75,000 whites had shrunk to 20,000 (estimated) and production from its natural resources wavered and receded.

The situation, Secretary Work declared, called for a prompt and sympathetic study by Congress of Alaska's natural resources and their possibilities; of its methods of government and their effect, and the question whether governmental control should be constructive in type or continue to cultivate dependency, or be removed entirely. The suggestion that all the government's activities in Alaska be merged into one department was committed to the immediate attention of Congress.

To abandon the Alaskan railway as has been suggested, the Secretary said, would be a reversion of the American policy of progress despite that the road's progress is expensive and out of proportion to its earnings. Suggestions that the bed of the railroad be converted into a truck highway were characterized as impracticable because of Alaskan weather conditions.

The natural shrinkage of the public domain, the Secretary reported, had made possible the closing of 42 of the department's 84 land offices, and the savings effected in administration amounted to more than half a million dollars.

The Secretary recommended a change in federal policy to secure permanent preservation of grazing lands on the public domain. The gratuitous use of the public domain as an unrestricted range for livestock, he said, had resulted in overgrazing and large areas were almost denuded of native grass. Legislation authorizing establishment of grazing districts by presidential proclamation was recommended so that grazing can be controlled by a system of permits.

Attention was also called to the present homestead laws limiting stock raising on tracts of 640 acres. This was said to be impracticable and the Secretary urged repeal of the homestead stock-raising act.

'Bohemian Girl' To Be Seen At Milane On Next Tuesday

With the coming of the Opera, "The Bohemian Girl" to this city on Dec. 8, at the Milano Theatre, a golden opportunity is being offered to local musicians by Miss Valentine, producer and conductor of the opera, according to Miss Elizabeth Nielson, advance publicity agent for the company.

Miss Nielson, in an interview with a representative of The Herald, this morning said:

"The Bohemian Girl," will reveal a cast and chorus of American artists fresh in voice and striking in personality. There is, however, always need for more talent and Miss Valentine is ever on the alert for material to be used in her various productions. An artist of the highest type, she is always anxious to aid the ambitious student and talented musician."

"At 5:30 o'clock at the Milano Theatre, Miss Valentine, impresario, will meet in person any singer who would like to sing for her and solicit her opinion and advice. This invitation is open to everyone who may be interested and particularly to the ambitious who are operatically inclined."

"While opera in foreign languages continues to flourish in America as no other art, for which the public pays dearly, there is a growing demand on the part of thinking people for opera in our own tongue and by our America as a borrowed art, for talent in American singers is becoming more gratifying every year. All members of Miss Valentine's cast are American educated people."

Cooperation of the states with the government in administering the affairs of the Indians was urged, especially with regard to education and health work. Complete transfer to state jurisdiction of Indian educational facilities is, in the Secretary's belief, essential to the Indian's welfare and progress.

Transfer of jurisdiction over smaller national parks and monuments to the states in which they are located, and leaving to the federal government those parks and monuments of interest to people of every state, also was urged.

Women's Colleges

"We need new women's colleges", laments the New York World in an editorial which bemoans the fact that many women colleges have to exclude annually almost as many girls as they admit.

Far be it from The Herald to try in any way to hamper higher education among women. Let us have women's college and many of them. Let us have more. Let all women go to college and learn as much as they can.

But first of all, before we inaugurate a campaign to increase the number of colleges for women, let us revolutionize those we already have. Let us put courses in women's colleges, and then make the girls take those courses, which will be of some practical advantage to them.

We find in most schools, girls taking the same subjects as do men in the same grade. We find girls taking courses which would prepare them for some profession or which would be good training for a banker, broker, contractor or engineer.

And how often do we see a fine female college graduate bring her diploma home and marry some unfortunate who must be the sampler of her biscuits and meat loafs and put up with her disarrangement of household furnishings for years and years while she is learning those things which she should have learned in college.

We would recommend first that all existing women's colleges teach their students physiology, home economics, dietetics, nursing and interior decoration. Then it will be time enough to think about a plan for increasing the number of these colleges.

A Gold and Silver Dollar

For a long time the government has been puzzling over the expense of furnishing the country with new currency. It has hardly been possible for the Bureau of Printing and Engraving to keep up with the demand for fresh dollar bills to take the place of those which wear out through heavy use.

The cost of replacement runs several cents each and this becomes a large item with several billion bills in circulation. In the interest of economy, officials have been endeavoring to solve the problem but when the public absolutely refuses to do anything with the unlucky two-dollar bill, and when the business world obstinately kept its hands off the silver "cart-wheels" it seemed almost a hopeless situation.

Last week there came from Washington the report of a new attempt which may be made to handle the matter and to save much expense. It was stated that treasury officials had "virtually decided" to mint a new coin, a gold and silver dollar. The plan is to make the new piece of money slightly larger than a quarter, of distinctive design, possibly with a gold center and a silver rim.

Banks and merchants have indicated that such a coin would be acceptable and if the plan is carried out, economy will have again gained a point and much government time and money will be saved.

A Good Year For Methodism

Tomorrow the annual conference of the Methodist church will open at Orlando and leaders in this denomination will be there to report for the year that is just ending and to make plans for the activities of the body during the coming twelve months.

The Methodists of Sanford have real reason for rejoicing over the record they have made during the year. Many worth while things were achieved by the workers of that church. Its increase of over two hundred in membership during the period is evidence of the work done by the pastor and his co-workers.

As Sanford grows and prospers its churches also grow and prosper. No community would be complete without wide-awake, progressive and up-to-the-minute religious institutions. Especially is this true in a rapidly growing city where care must be taken to see that the growth is not a one-sided affair.

Our city is blessed with exceptionally well organized and managed religious institutions which are largely responsible for the high moral and religious condition existing in this community.

The Sanford Methodist church should be among the leaders when reports are made tomorrow.

MY FAVORITE STORIES

By IRVIN S. COBB

Being seized with the fever for modern improvement, the Legislature of a certain state in the Southwest some years ago voted for the installation of the electric chair to supplant the old-fashioned gallows under the left ear of our forefathers.

The first candidate for the let-there-be-ministry-of-justice in a remote county chanced to be a large, brawny negro. In passing sentence upon him the judge followed, in the main, the old and time-honored formula, merely altering it somewhat to conform to the new conditions. After reviewing the crime and the trial, his Honor spoke substantially as follows: "It is the duty, therefore, of this court to charge that the warden of the state penitentiary shall closely hold you in confinement until the twenty-first day of August, next, when, between the hours of sunrise and sunset he shall put you to death by the electric chair—and may God have mercy on your soul. Mr. Sheriff, remove the prisoner. The sheriff took the condemned man away. Overnight, pending his removal to the place of execution, he was lodged in the county jail. He sent a messenger to the commonwealth's attorney who had prosecuted him, asking that he might see that official immediately. The commonwealth's attorney was a friend of mine. He told me he went to the jail. The doomed dandy was sitting on his cot with his face in his hands rocking himself back and forth while the tears trickled through his fingers. "Mr. Corbett," he said, "I craves to ax a dyin' favor of you please sah."

Mystic K. G. Exporting Power Falling Airships Some News BY ARTHUR BRISBANE (Copyright 1925)

AUSTEN CHAMBERLAIN now has "K. G." after his name, something possessed by few Englishmen outside of Royalty.

The magic letters "K. G." mean "Knight of the Garter." Once a lady dropped her garter on the ball room floor. The British king picked it up, and remarked "Honi soit qui mal y pense!" That means, "shame to him who evil thinks."

Much delighted with his thought the king established the order of the garter, make it like a garter with those six French words on it.

TO KNOW how the world has changed, ask yourself what the United States would think if a lady dropped one of her silk underthings at an inauguration ball, and a president picked it up, returned it to her, and permitted members of the cabinet to wear an imitation of it, as a great honor?

SCANDINAVIAN COUNTRIES are "exporting power." A good export that takes nothing from the soil. You simply sell to another county the power of the sun, lifting water from the ocean to drop it in rain, to cause waterfalls and create power.

The Scandinavians run a cable under the water, ship and sell power to Denmark.

The lady-governor has something to learn about American methods. In this country five thousand dollars means protection, five thousand dollars means immunity.

PROHIBITION DEFENDED

SIoux CITY JOURNAL

The Moderation League of New York City, engaged in attempting to substitute the European policy of licensing the sale of wine and beer for the American policy of prohibition, has issued a report alleging that arrests for drunkenness in 350 cities of the United States have nearly reached in number the arrests for drunkenness before prohibition.

Is this a paean of triumph? The Moderation League does not claim that prohibition did not decrease drunkenness, their graph showing a precipitate decline in such arrests just after prohibition. It is now indicated that the propaganda against the law, the sneers heard from the theatrical stage, read in the comic strips and obtruded upon the public from the pews and corners of fiction, the editorials attacking the law as an abridgment of liberty and intimating that violation of it is service to God and man, have had their effect, the good of prohibition in curbing drunkenness by these strenuous efforts being nearly overcome.

The misleading character of the report is indicated clearly by the fact that increase in population has not been taken into consideration in any case. Let the Moderation League consider its own state of New York. Reporting various cities for the year 1914, it is claimed there were 66,477 arrests and in 1924 there were 46,205, but when population is taken into consideration we find there were 81 arrests per ten thousand in 1914 and only 56 in 1924. This is for the cities and towns of over 8,000 population as census figures are not available for all of the cities considered. In Massachusetts there were 97,165 arrests for drunkenness in 1914, according to the Moderation League, and 74,382 in 1924, but taking population into consideration again, these were 386 per ten thousand in 1914, and only 259 in 1924.

There is another significant point to be considered. In New York State the arrests sank from 81 per ten thousand (1914) to only 29 per ten thousand in 1920, the first prohibition year. The number per ten thousand increased from 29 in the first prohibition year, 1920, to 57 in 1923, but the figure in 1924 was only 56. In Massachusetts the number was 386 in 1924; 137 in the first prohibition year; 264 in the fourth prohibition year, but 256 last year. The increments to violation of the prohibition law seem to have reached their peak in 1923 and now, once again the prohibition policy is besting its enemies and pressing down the indicator.

The Moderation League, itself names of 66 Directors and Advisory Board members. We have been able to ascertain the residences of 49 of these people. Of the forty-nine, 37 are New Yorkers, Connecticut has 3; New Jersey 1; Massachusetts 2; while there is a lone member from Baltimore, another from Philadelphia and another from San Francisco. What does this mean? Does it mean that "the New York Idea" is hostility to any law enacted by the "provinces", even though it has the support of a strong minority of New Yorkers and residents of metropolitan cities of the east? Does it mean that the remainder of the country, which wants to enjoy the full benefits of prohibition, must be subjected to propaganda, the only possible result of which is an increase in the total of arrests? This does not apply to the report of the Moderation League, however. Even to one who loves New York as O. Henry loved it, and who takes a pride as an American in the industrial and financial power of the metropolitan cities, must be disturbed by the way in which the wet political and economic interests are jockeying the metropolitan districts into a position indicating a lack of sympathy with the ideals of the remainder of the country.

Everything possible should be done to prevent a line of cleavage, the existence of which will rankle in the hearts of all people who believe that a Democratic decision should be accepted by every section, every group and every individual. The fact that the Moderation League is so smitten with the European policy as opposed to the American policy of dealing with the drink traffic may be understood when we observe that they fail utterly to comprehend either the thinking or the purpose of the American people. Prohibition is not primarily for the purpose of reducing drunkenness. It is founded upon the conviction that the licensing of a common nuisance such as the liquor traffic is not ethical and contravenes the spirit of the preamble to the Constitution.

The government no longer permits and protects a trade which is inimical to the lives, happiness and the prosperity of the people. The Moderation League seems to be entirely ignorant of the fact that the liquor traffic was a gigantic waste and a moral wrong, that our present prosperity and the happiness of the common man could not possibly be maintained if five billion dollars a year were diverted from the channels of legitimate trade to be lost in the till of the saloon. But for prohibition this country would today be in the miserable financial and industrial position which still believe that the Moderation League is right in its contention that the makers of beer and wine should have a monopoly of the trade in intoxicating liquors.

HIS GOOD "HEAD WORK"

TAMPA TELEGRAPH

A driver was going his way, moderately in a small city the other day when suddenly he was confronted with one of the great moments of life. He had to choose between running over a man and woman, who had suddenly stepped into his way, and running headon into a tree. And his speed was enough so that choosing the tree very likely meant choosing death. But he took the tree, and happily was not gravely injured. How many years of thinking must have gone behind that choice made in an instant! How many generations perhaps had gone into molding the standard that between one's own life and another's there was only one choice. For there is no time in such a moment to think the problem through, to weigh and determine which has the better "right" to live. It has to be part of a man's very fiber that, without knowing whose life is endangered or what it may be worth to the world, he prefers to his own. We think the days of peril just in this western world. Long ago ceased the danger of the native savage who might lurk in the woods, pioneers no longer travel into new country risking flood and thirst and starvation. Few homes are so isolated that help cannot be summoned in a matter of moments. And yet danger waits in the cities as never before; a life crisis may come between the moment of leaving one's home and reaching his office in the morning. Civilization's safeguards and comforts multiply, but there is a diminishing of the occasions that test manhood. In a moment the trial may come and according to what is stored in a man's soul

Christmas Bazar At Clubhouse Tuesday Is Declared Success

The Woman's Club presented a most festive appearance on Tuesday afternoon and evening when members of the service unit and St. Agnes Guild of the Holy Cross Church, gave their annual Christmas Bazar and chicken supper.

Around the spacious auditorium were cleverly arranged booths, hung with vivid hues, where candies, fancy work, as well as gifts appropriate for this season, were on sale.

"Old Santie" charmingly portrayed by Master Harry Joe Minarik, was there with his "Grab Bag" in the form of a huge brilliantly lighted Christmas tree. Here attractive gifts for the little folks were sold.

Beginning at 5 o'clock a delicious chicken supper was served to a large crowd. The long tables were centered with crystal baskets of fragrant Narcissus and rose buds.

The entire affair was a success financially as well as socially.

Many Frat Members In Opera Troupe To Play Here Tuesday

May Valentine, who is bringing the opera, "Bohemian Girl," to the Milane Theater, Dec. 8, points with pride to the number of college fraternities and sororities represented among her co-workers.

In many towns visited by this unusual organization, these young men and women are accorded many invitations to social and fraternal functions, many of them hundreds of miles from home and naturally these little diversions find a cordial welcome. The following societies are represented:

Edward Richardson, "Phi Kappa Alpha," "Phi Mu Alpha"; Herbert Brandvig, "Phi Mu Alpha"; James Taylor, "Phi Kappa Alpha"; Harriet Rine Taylor, "Kappa Alpha Theta"; Helen Irene Cowan, "Phi Omega Pi"; Betty Coleman, "Sigma Kappa"; "Delta Omicron"; Albert Sutphen, "Sigma Phi Epsilon"; Russell Hill, "Sigma Phi Epsilon"; Gretchen Richards, "Zeta Alpha"; Wilma Shafer, "Alpha Gamma Theta"; Madeline Whitehead, "Sigma Kappa"; Dorothy Reisch, "Omega Sigma Tau."

Mia Valentine sends word that the above mentioned members are anxious to get in communication with any local members of their societies.

Henry Wyatt and E. S. Northcutt of Atlanta, Ga., were among the business visitors arriving in "The City Substantial" on Tuesday. They are stopping at the Hotel Valdez.

Mrs. Robert J. Holly and Mrs. R. A. Newman have returned home from Tallahassee where they visited their daughters, Misses Mae and Mildred Holly and Olive Newman. While in Tallahassee, Mrs. Holly and Mrs. Newman entertained a number of Sanford girls at dinner at the Dutch Kitchen Tea Room.

Mrs. Forrest Lake returned home Sunday from Jacksonville where she was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Julian Carpenter, stopping over for Thanksgiving at Tallahassee with her daughter, Miss Maud Lake, who is a student of Florida State College for Women.

Miss Mae Holly, who has been quite ill at Gainesville where she spent the week end as the guest of Miss Elizabeth Cochrell, has recovered sufficiently to return to Tallahassee today.

There Is More Fur Trimming Than Frocks and Coats.

Some of the frocks and coats are so lavishly trimmed with fur that there seems to be more trimming than foundation material. There is sometimes an edging a half yard wide about the lower part of flaring frock or coat, so that it really consists of a luxurious fur flounce. Other frocks or frocks show inset godets made of some one or other of the more workable furs. Fur cuffs are sometimes so wide that they form more than half of the sleeve, and collars are wider and fuller by far than they were last winter. Sometimes—as in the coat shown in today's sketch—the fur collar extends to the hem of the coat growing wider as it continues.

Furriers may have felt some disappointment in the fact that women did not take up eagerly with the idea of reviving muffs, and there certainly has not been such a renewal of interest in separate fur collars and scarfs as they seemed to have reason to hope. But it must be rather gratifying to these furriers to see the lavishness with which the dressmakers use fur in the making of frocks and coats.

The only sorrow that they might feel in this is that many women are content to wear rather inferior fur when it simply forms trimming for a new frock or wrap—fur of a grade with which they would not be satisfied were they considering a fur coat or separate fur scarf. However, we are becoming gradually more discriminating even in this matter. The time has almost gone when a woman of fashion will accept an expensive frock or wrap from a renowned dressmaker without making a protest that the peltry with which it is trimmed is common rabbit, or perhaps backyard cat. And speaking of furs, you may be interested to know that in every woman dreams of owning and which those who can afford it do possess is of natural-color zibek. France at present the fur coat that

THOUGHTS--WISE AND OTHERWISE

The idea of keeping a fast before every feast was really a good one. Dinner on Christmas eve used in the days, long ago to be as meagre as Christmas dinner was festive. That was an arrangement that must always have been acceptable to the cooks and other kitchen workers.

In our own house we always have very simple meals the day before Thanksgiving with the main dish at dinner consisting of an omelet or some other egg concoction that can be prepared easily, that will not leave any left-overs and that will leave us with a good healthy appetite for Thanksgiving dinner. Sometimes in printed menus you see listed for breakfast on Thanksgiving or Christmas day something especially elaborate because of the day—pancakes and sausages, for instance. Really Thanksgiving breakfast should be very, very simple, especially if you are following the old-fashioned custom of having your dinner in the early afternoon.

There should be some attractive centerpiece for Thanksgiving day, but chrysanthemums are very dear. Why not decorate with fruit or vegetables—that you are going to eat later anyway? A pyramid of colorful, clean vegetables might be used—including squash, yellow and red, beets, celery, oyster plant with apples, grapefruit, bananas, hard grapes, pears, etc., for a fruit collection. A pyramid of yellow corn husks looks attractive. This you ought to be able to get from any farmer.

So many people we know make a practice of eating Thanksgiving dinner away from home. They have their family reunion with grandfather, grandmother, grandchildren and great grandchildren, uncles, aunts and cousins, but they all come by motor, making a rendezvous for dinner at some wayside hotel or inn with a reputation for the business. The idea is rather shocking to some old-fashioned housewives, but it has its good points, too.

Faithfully,
MARTHA.

Baseball Leaders To Honor Memory Of Game's Builders

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Many matters of highest importance to baseball will come before the meetings of the major leagues here next week, but none of more significance than that of honoring the memory of the builders of the game who have died in the past year.

The national league has set aside Wednesday as Memorial Day. Commissioner Landis will tell of the career of Christy Mathewson, Giant pitcher of the early part of the century, who brought a college education, and a powerful personality into the national game at a critical period.

Barney Dreyfus, Pittsburgh owner, will speak on Charles H. Ebbets, of Brooklyn and William F. Baker, president of the Phillies, on Edward J. McKeever, also of the Brooklyn club. Ebbets and McKeever died within a short time of each other.

Other speakers and their subjects are:

August Hermann of Cincinnati on Junius Fischechmann; John B. Foster on John B. Day; Bozeman Bulger on Sam Crane; William A. Phelan on Joe Flanner, Branch Rickey on Mavin M. Goodwin and John A. Heydler on Frank E. Gore.

Three Dartmouth Men Are Honored By Famous Mentor

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Further recognition of the stars of Dartmouth's brilliant football team this year is contained in the selection of an all-Eastern team by G. Herbert McCracken, head coach at Lafayette for the Associated Press. Three warriors of the Green are included in this all-star lineup, which follows:

Ends—Tulley, Dartmouth and Ford, Lafayette.

Tackles—Chase, Pittsburgh and Parker, Dartmouth.

Guards—Mann, West Virginia and Cothaw, Lafayette.

Center—McMillan, Princeton.

Quarter back—Graham, Fordham.

Halfbacks—Tryon, Colgate, and Oberlander Dartmouth.

Fullbacks—Amos, Washington and Jefferson.

Brooksville—Brooksville Telephone Exchange plant being reconstructed, at cost of $20,000.

Paris Latin Quarter Maintains Old Time Glitter And Gaiety

PARIS, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Stars may come and go and obscurity in so far as tourists are concerned may continue, but the gay Latin Quarter cabarets remain the same as of old.

All the glitter and splendor of the Folies Bergere and other great music halls, which are filled with Americans anxious to see Paris at its full height of naughtiness, are missing in the Latin Quarter Shows.

But what they lack in the way of slightly clad dancers, the cabarets make up in the suggestiveness of lines in many of the songs and monologues. The humor, however, is lost on listeners without a thorough knowledge of French and it is for this reason that tourists seldom find their way here.

Resembling somewhat the Flying Bat, in Moscow, which produced Baillieff and the Chauve Souris, later famous in New York and London, the Latin Quarter cabarets exhibit many pictures of former artists that have graduated to the great theaters.

The really famous stars in these cabarets, however, have a large following and do not care to give up careers which are much to their liking to try new audiences.

Many of the droll entertainers are singing to the grandchildren of their first admirers.

Cop Is Subjected To Mutilating Operation

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Paul A. McDuffie, 32, a member of the White House police detachment, was subjected to a mutilating operation last night or early today at the hands of unidentified persons and is in a critical condition in a local hospital.

McDuffie, who wandered into the hospital in a dazed condition several hours later, was unable to give the police any information as to who subjected him to the operation. He recalled, they said only that he had gone to a house while off duty in company with four enlisted men.

Some time after the police said, he left the house in mutilated condition and wandered around the streets in a daze before going to the hospital. Detectives are trying to trace his assailants.

NEW BILL WILL HELP TO CLEAR REALTY TITLES

Supporters Of The Davis Bill Passed At Last Session Of The Legislature Claim That Measure Will Be of Value

TALLAHASSEE, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Title to thousands of acres of lands in Florida on which there are now "clouds" will, under the provisions of the Davis bill passed at the recent extra-ordinary session of the Florida legislature, be cleared and title quieted. This was the statement made by proponents of the bill in both houses and the opinion of a number of attorneys in the state.

The Act contains a clause explaining that none of the existing statutes are repealed, but that new law is in addition to those existing and for the purpose of simplifying the court procedure.

It is not necessary, under the provisions of this act for the title to be contested for a holder whose title is imperfect for any one of a number of reasons to seek recourse to the courts to clear the title.

The bill provides that publication in the county newspaper once each week for four successive weeks "having general circulation in the county where the suit is brought" and further provides for posting of the notice addressed, "To all persons having or claiming any interest in the following described lands here describing the lands" and if the parties interested in the suit are not known, the complainant "shall allege in his sworn bill that he does not know and has not been able by diligent search and inquiry whether any defendant be dead or alive, the above notice may also be addressed to such person "if alive, and if dead to his unknown heirs, devisees, legatees, or grantees."

The act provides that such suits shall proceed as any other suit in chancery, "a guardian ad litem shall not be appointed, unless it shall affirmatively appear that the interests of minors, persons of unsound mind or convicts are involved." It provides for a final decree without further notice or without reference to a Master, except in cases of defended suits.

Suits in which defendants appear to contest them may be tried only in regular term, unless the parties agree to trial in vacation. Evidence to be introduced by either party need not be reduced to writing unless demanded by a party of the suit.

Persons appearing after final decree in such suits may within a specified length of time and who may claim interest in the land involved may "appear in said cause and apply for opening of such decree and thereupon the court shall upon a prompt and proper showing of injury to such person applying in and by such decree upon such decree and allow such appli-

STEWART'S WASHINGTON LETTER

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—The Smithsonian Institution's report for the last fiscal year, just out, is a weighty volume—mentally weighty, that is to say: its avoid-dupolis isn't so very considerable.

For instance, "The Electrical Structure of Matter," by Professor Ernest Rutherford, M. A., D. Sc., LL. D., Ph. D., F. R. S., F. A. A. S., M. S., N. S. (and then some), isn't exactly what one would pick as a bedtime story for children—though it might put 'em to sleep, at that.

A vacuum containing hard upon two billions of gas molecules to the cubic inch doesn't seem like a very thin vacuum, but Dr. W. V. Whitney says its thinnest anybody ever has been able to produce. No wonder "The Vacuum—There's Something in It" was the title Dr. Whitney chose for his article. According to R. L. Jones of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company's research laboratories, "Simple computations show that if we could have a million persons talking steadily and convert the energy of the voice into heat, they would have to talk an hour and a half to make a cup of tea."

That just goes to show that even scientists make mistakes. Who hasn't seen a mere minute and a half's talk between only two persons, over one of Jones' phones, generate heat enough to burn out the connection? But in the main the Smithsonian's book is perfectly accurate, with lots of nice pictures taken at the Rock Creek zoo, and plenty of good reading matter, if you're erudite enough to know what it's about.

German Women Do Not "Color" Much

BERLIN, Dec. 2.—(AP)—German women and girls still are far behind those of the United States in the art of applying cosmetics. The conclusion reached by a well-known socialist member of the reichstag, who has returned to Germany from America, where he was a delegate to the congress of the Interparliamentary union at Washington.

Admitting that the Parisiennes lead the maids of Berlin in this respect, he is inclined to award the palm for "rapid painting" to American femininity, whose dexterity at wielding the powder puff and lipstick stunned him. American women still are influenced by the recollection of the customs of the American Indians, who were adepts at applying paint.

Southern Colleges Spend Much Money For Improvements

ATLANTA, Ga. Dec. 1.—(AP)—Southern colleges are making big investments in their buildings and other equipment, it was stated here today by educational leaders. Heavy expenditures are made for facilities in sports alone. Among the new buildings completed at Riverside Military Academy at preparatory school gymnasium in the South. This building cost over $75,000 and has unobstructed floor space 120 by 65 feet—large enough to play five regulation basketball games at one time.

There are 74 acres in the Riverside Academy campus and immediately adjoining the college is the large plant of the Chattanooga Golf Course of more than 100 acres, which is open to Riverside faculty and cadets. Colonel Sandy Beaver, president of Riverside Academy, promoted the development of this club several years ago. Riverside's school property is valued at considerably more than a half million dollars and the institution is one of the few private schools in America that owes no bonds or mortgages. The Gainesville academy, which is an "Honor School" of the War Department for the third consecutive year, has more than 400 cadets from thirty different states and four foreign countries. Of the eleven men, who comprise the football team this fall, six are from different states, from Texas, to Michigan and from Ohio to Florida.

Kentucky Has Two For mOf Execution

FRANKFORT, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Kentucky is unique in having two forms of death punishment, hanging and electrocution. Hanging for crimes against women; electrocution for murder. The 1920 legislature passed the hanging law. A Lexington hanging recently was the first one under the act which brought back the discarded gallows, which Clerk Goodman of the Kentucky Court of Appeals, said has deterred unlawful commissions pronouncedly.

K. C. Pratt, of the Ohio State University, says the ants are as sensitive to changes in temperature as the mercury in the thermometer.

They will be connected by the Drive of the Campanelli—a great 100-foot boulevard, skirting the shores of Biscayne Bay, and taking its name from the bell towers to be located in the center of each island.

YANKEES ABROAD MISS AMERICAN COOKED DISHES

Tourists Yearn For Cornbread And Vermont Syrup And Shun Best Concoctions Prepared By French Cooks

PARIS, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Although Europe may boast the best cooks in all the world, hundreds of Americans here are starving for American dishes.

Even the American women who diets has her troubles. For European chefs have not learned how to make that extremely thin and brittle toast which enables one to give a pretense of eating.

In France, sauces and butter and flour used as ingredients in the cuisine, are terrible enemies to the waistline. In England, boiled unseasoned vegetables offer little temptation to the palate. No medals can be awarded in Italy and Germany for no woman who wants to wear fashionable gowns dares to eat much macaroni, spaghetti or ravioli. Wine and beer do not go with the slender boy-like figure.

Follow a party of American tourists, or go to a luncheon of American business men; or to a gathering of American women, and hear these pleas and complaints:

"My kingdom for some cornbread."

"If I could only get some nice brown waffles with Vermont maple syrup."

"Oh, for some real buckwheat cakes."

"When a Frenchman can cook chicken in nine hundred and ninety different ways, why can't he try it like we do at home?"

VENUS IS BEST LOOKING DURING WINTER MONTHS

Other Stars Will Also Show Up Well In Cold Period From December To March Astronomer Maintains

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Winter is the best time for stargazing, says the American Nature Association describing the beauties of the heavens during December.

Five stars of the first magnitude will be visible in the eastern sky during the last month of the year, and Venus will appear at her best.

"We will find in the east Taurus, the Bull," says the Association, "with its well-known groups of the Pleiades and Hyades and the ruddy Aldebaran, that represents the Eye of the Bull, and there is the magnificent Orion with its many stars of first and second magnitude."

"To the north of Orion will be the brilliant Capella, the Goat, with her small kids or Hoedi close by forming a small triangular group that makes it easy for us to identify this brilliant star. Castor and Pollux the Twins, in Gemini, will be well in view in the northeast.

"Venus will be a magnificent object in the southwest for about three hours after sunset. All during December Venus will parade a brilliance that reaches a maximum Jan. 2.

"Mercury passes from east to west of the sun on Dec. 11 and after that will be in the morning sky and may possibly be seen in the southwest before sunrise the last few days of the month when it will be at its greatest distance west of the sun. Saturn and Mars will be in conjunction on Dec. 15. In the north, Cassiopeia is passing to the west of the meridian and the Big Dipper is swinging over to the east of the meridian though it is still close to the northern horizon to be seen to advantage. The Great Square in Pegasus covers a large space in the western sky and will be found about halfway between the horizon and the zenith."

Both - mildness and fullness!

Real delicacy of aroma but without loss of natural tobacco taste and character

"They satisfy and yet they're mild"—this is no mere catch-phrase; it's a taste-description of Chesterfield.

MILDNESS and fullness, the North and South poles of cigarette taste—can they be brought together in one cigarette? Seemingly no; practically yes, and with no compromise or loss of either.

It calls for the best in tobaccos; tobaccos of rare delicacy—the tender silky leaf of the costliest Turkish type; tobaccos of rich mellowness and "body"—the choicest of fine old Burley and other Domestic varieties.

But fine tobaccos alone are not enough. To achieve mildness with fullness, to preserve natural tobacco taste and character without a trace of heaviness, to produce a cigarette that satisfies and that, at the same time, is mild—here is a job that calls not only for the choicest tobaccos, but for the highest degree of skill in blending them.

And in the Chesterfield blend you have it—the exact balancing of one tobacco against another, the accurate toning and shading of each type of leaf, the rich mildness, the satisfying fullness, the rounded-out completeness which belong to Chesterfield and—because the blend can't be copied—to Chesterfield alone!

Unification Question Will Be Discussed at Methodist Episcopal Church Meeting

ORLANDO, Dec. 2.—(AP)—The eighty-second annual meeting of the Florida conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church South which convenes here tomorrow and continues through Tuesday next will be the last conference of the denomination within the United States to vote upon the proposed plan of unification of the northern and southern conferences. It will also mark the close of thirty-eighth annual conference of the denomination as a whole within the United States.

The vote on the proposed plan of unification was ordered in July, 1924, when the special conference convened in Chattanooga and approved the plan and sent the various conferences for ratification or rejection. This session here during this week may be the last Florida conference to be held in January in the month of December as has been the custom. A plan is now under way to change the conference month to June and a vote will be taken on this question at this conference.

Bishop W. N. Ainsworth, of Macon, Ga., head of the South Georgia and Florida conference, will preside at the daily sessions and will announce the new appointments of pastors some time during the conference.

According to advices from Methodist headquarters in Nashville the vote on unification now stands 4,809 votes for and 3,975 votes against, making the affirmative vote 1,904 votes short of the required three-fourths majority for any ratification of the proposed plan of unification. Under these conditions the results of the Florida conference vote will have little or no effect upon the proposed plan of unification.

Florida Methodist leaders, who have fostered the plan of unification have already conceded its defeat.

The voting strength of the Florida conference is about 227 clerical and 79 lay-members and a full attendance is expected as this year marks the end of the quadrennium and delegates must be elected to the general conference which meets in May, 1926. The Florida conference is entitled to five clerical and five lay delegates to the general conference.

Much interest is centered in the appointments for the ensuing year that will be announced during the conference. The ministers are assigned to their respective fields for one year periods but may be appointed to the same work year after year at the discretion of the bishop and the presiding elder.

Only two of the ten presiding elders of the Florida conference have served the time limit of four years, and according to the Church law will be removed. The four-year period limit was applicable to pastors until 1922 when the plan was changed allowing pastors to serve as long in one field as the bishop deemed fit.

Rev. C. F. Blackburn, of the Miami district, and Rev. J. F. Ball of the Palatka district, are the two elders who have served the four-year period.

Ministers who have served the same pastorate four years are: O. A. Throver, First Methodist Church Fort Myers; J. M. Gross, First Methodist Church Lakeland; G. Rosenberg, Dixieland, Lakeland; T. H. Adams, Alachua; E. O. Calhoun, Lake City; M. W. Smith, St. Johns (five years); M. L. Ley, Ley Memorial, Yulee (nine years); A. H. Cole, Miami Beach; J. H. Daniel, Leesburg; R. H. Barnett, Tarpon Springs; L. B. Overstreet, Auburndale; O. M. Rice, De-

Land; S. M. Burns, Hinson, (five years); J. Austin, Manatee; J. C. West, Miakka; H. J. Haefinger, Plant City; M. M. Smith, Sarasota; R. L. Allen, Seminole Heights, Tampa.

Connectional men and other appointees of the conference are: Dr. Ludlow Spivey, president of Southern College, Lakeland; Geo. F. Scott and Olin Boggess, professors, Southern College, Lakeland; J. Edgar Wilson, editor Florida Christian Advocate, Lakeland; A. F. Turner, conference secretary of education; B. F. Rogers, student pastor, University of Florida; Ira S. Patterson, conference missionary secretary; C. Crook, superintendent conference anti-saloon league and Smith Hardin, superintendent conference orphanage.

Dr. Russell, of the board of missions, will explain the million dollar fund for missionary maintenance movement that is under way in the churches of the denomination. The share in this drive that Florida is expected to share is $20,000. Under the plans of the movement, $750,000 is to be raised through the churches of the South and $250,000 through assigned missionary specials.

Reports of the various boards and committees of the Florida conference will also be made during the sessions.

On Sunday during the conference the local pulpits will be filled by the visiting pastors.

Presentation of connectional interest will also be made at the conference by officers from denominational headquarters in Nashville and St. Louisville.

German Climate and Surroundings Called Big Suicide Factor

BERLIN, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Climatic conditions and natural surroundings are predisposing factors in suicides, the Berlin Tageblatt has found.

In order to establish authentic suicide statistics in Germany, the newspaper analyzed the compilations of a number of government bureaus, resulting in several peculiar disclosures.

Regions with a pronounced change of seasons recorded the greatest number of suicides and this was given as one of the reasons why self destruction was more popular in Central Europe than in the extreme northern countries or in the tropics.

Altitude also appeared to play a significant role, the analysis showed, suicides in the lowlands far more frequent than in the mountains.

In Germany, Monday and Tuesday were suicide days, though women frequently showed a predilection for Sunday. Most suicides occurred at night and indoors was the favorite scene for the acts.

A startling percentage of suicides was recorded among divorced persons. Generally speaking, countries with a high birth rate recorded much fewer suicides than others.

Mental derangement, and not disappointment in love, was the principal cause of self-destruction.

RAILROAD OPENS DESERT SECTION OF CALIFORNIA

American Engineers Conquer Territory That Cortez Was Unable To Cope With In His March Into Mexico

MEXICALA, Lower Cal., Dec. 2.—(AP)—Four hundred years after the desert south of here and surrounding the head of the Gulf of California had defeated the undaunted Fernando Cortez, an American railroad is being built across those sands that promise to wrest unestimated wealth from the waste which balked the Spaniard.

The line, 170 miles long, which will connect this town on the California-Mexico border with San Felipe, the nearest point on the Gulf of California where a deep water harbor is available, must be completed, according to contract, in 1927.

Residents of the desert domain look to the railroad to spin the wheel of progress with three great changes:

Connect the lower Colorado river basin with tidewater. Provide a new system of defense, through levees on which the road will travel, against the floods of the Colorado.

Open the way for reclamation of 250,000 acres of fertile delta land.

Cortez, the daring Spaniard who brought Mexico under the heel of Aragon and Castile, sent expedition after expedition into this waste between the year 1527 and 1541. He wished to discover a northern route around what he called the "island of California," and he desired above all else to locate and loot the fabled rich "Seven Cities of Cibola."

He failed in both his quests, but where the Spanish adventurer with his sword went down to defeat, the American engineer with his theodolite is registering victory.

The railroad originally was started by the Mexican government in 1923, but after ten miles of roadbed had been graded the De la Huerta revolution broke out and construction stopped.
