RAILWAY SHOP CRAFTS POLICY COMMITTEE MEETS IN CHICAGO MONDAY

DO NOT GO SLOW IN TALKING ABOUT THEIR GOVERNMENT IN THE STRIKE

OFFICIALS DUCKED

Cannot Be Found by Servers of the Last Injunction

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—Formal announcement by Attorney General Daugherty that the government would consider in due time what proceedings shall be taken against the few misguided labor leaders who have made incendiary speeches in connection with the industrial situation, and persistent reports that secret conferences are in progress looking to some sort of separate settlement with individual roads stood out in yesterday's development in the strike of the railway shopcrafts.

Incidentally, Mr. Daugherty said in a separate part of the government's case that it had been "somewhat hampered" by the difficulty process servers were experiencing in locating "leading officials" of the shopcraft organizations.

W. H. Johnston, president of the machinists and B. M. Jewell, head of the seven organizations on strike, have recently dropped out of public view, although labor spokesmen have invariably denied the two leaders were avoiding the service of copies of the restraining order issued at Chicago last Friday and asserted they would be available if wanted for that purpose.

Mr. Daugherty in his statement emphasized his belief that the rank and file of labor organizations were content to leave the issue to orderly processes of the law, but said the few leaders "who have shown a contempt for the courts need not complain that they are denied the full privileges of free speech." Instructions have been sent to United States attorneys at Chicago, the attorney general said, to notify counsel for the unions that leading officials of the shopcraft organizations together with their complete records, would be required before the court where the case is again called.

Both in government and labor circles yesterday complete ignorance was ascribed of any actual or impending negotiations looking to the settlement of the strike. Some officials had been formed, it was said, that the "outlook for a settlement" had been brightened by recent developments but with these details were lacking. It was a matter of common knowledge, however, that several railroads still held the views in favor of separate settlements, which their representatives had expressed at the recent conference of railway executives in New York.

The government's temporary restraining order came in for its first public attack in the senate yesterday when Senator Robinson, Democrat of Arkansas, assailed the writ on the ground that it constituted a "plain violation of the constitution." Senator Watson, Republican, Indiana, defended the government's course, asserting that it was the only action possible in an emergency which the country needed.

The suggestion that settlement negotiations might have been instituted through third parties, was seen in the statement of machinists' officials that their officials had not been invited to the meeting.

So far as could be learned, no effort was instituted to serve labor leaders who might have been in Washington. United States Marshal E. C. Snyder said he had received no instructions from the Department of Justice and that he had not been given copies of the Chicago order in which would be necessary before he could undertake the task.

Attorney General Daugherty said "assumed" that the strike leaders would welcome the opportunity to appear before the court.

Sanford boys and girls are thinking of starting to college this week, since the greater number of them start Monday. We are looking for some fine records at the various colleges from the Sanford boys and girls.

TESTIMONY BEFORE GRAND JURY VARIES AS TO HERRIN WAR

(By The Associated Press) MARION, Ill., Sept. 7.—Conflicting testimony before the grand jury investigating the Herring mine war of June 22 last, in which twenty-two men were said to have been killed was made yesterday by the undertakers who buried some of the dead and Coroner William McCrown. The coroner's records, which he turned over to the grand jury, showed that twenty non-union men were killed, while the records of the undertakers, who appeared before the grand jury yesterday, showed only nineteen dead. The descriptions of the men kept by the undertakers and the coroner do not tally. Coroner McCrown has been recalled to appear again today.

The questioning of witnesses continued today and just before adjourning yesterday the attorneys were requested to withdraw and the grand jury held an executive session, but no indictments were returned.

Attorney A. C. Lewis of Harrisburg has been engaged to act as additional counsel for the United Mine Workers and in a paid advertisement to his clients published in the Harrisburg Register he calls "this investigation and trial an effort by organized wealth in the hope that they can in some measure discredit organized labor."

FLYING PARSON KILLED AT RUTLAND, VERMONT, FLYING AT COUNTY FAIR

Was Well Known in Sanford Where He Has Relatives

(By The Associated Press) RUTLAND, Vt., Sept. 7.—Lieutenant Belvin W. Maynard, known as the flying parson, was killed while flying at Rutland county fair today. Maynard was a native of North Carolina and was a Divinity student at Wakeforest College when the United States entered the world war. He was one of the most noted flying instructors in the American air forces. He gained national prominence three years ago by winning a round trip airplane flight from New York to San Francisco and return.

Lieut. Belvin Maynard, known as the "Flying Parson" was well known in Sanford where he visited several years ago while on a trans-continental flight and his plane was on the Sanford field for several days. He is a relative of N. H. Garder of this city and visited him while here and made many friends among the Sanford people who will regret to learn of his death.

COTTON PRICE MAKES 44 TO 55 POINT DROP

Continued Hedge Selling, Together With Crop Report, Causes Decline

(By The Associated Press) NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—Continued hedge selling coupled with an idea that the market will not be able to absorb early new crop receipts at prevailing prices, were considered responsible for a further sharp decline in the cotton market yesterday. After selling off to 21.10 at the start, December rallied to 21.40 but broke to 20.75 in the late trading or 55 points net lower and 230 points below the high price of last Friday morning. That delivery closed barely steady at a decline of 40 to 55 points.

The market opened barely steady at a decline of 11 to 20 points in response to relatively easy cables and overnight selling orders, which were supposed to include further hedge selling from south Georgia and Texas points. There was a good deal of covering around the initial prices which became a little more active after the publication of a bullish weekly weather report, and the market worked about 4 to 12 points net higher late in the morning, with October selling up to 21.14 and January to 21.27.

Some trade buying was also reported on this advance but the volume of business tapered off above yesterday's closing quotations, and the market broke again during the middle of the afternoon on renewed southern selling.

October broke to 20.53; June 20.60 making net declines of about 59 to 57 points on the general list and reactions of about 230 to 240 points from recent high prices. Private cables attributed the declines in Liverpool to the weakness of American markets. The continued dry weather reported in the south was accompanied by reports of further deterioration in the southwest but was regarded very favorable for picking.

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—Attorney General Daugherty today sent for Senator Borah, chairman of the Senate Labor committee and after a conference regarding the Chicago injunction it was indicated the government would not insist in next Monday's hearing on a permanent injunction on provisions alleged to curb freedom of speech.

TARIFF DEADLOCK MAY BE SETTLED WITHIN FEW DAYS

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—Republican conferees on the administration tariff bill have come to the high spots of controversy with some indications of deadlocks. It was said today that it might be necessary for them to go back to the house or senate, or both, for instructions, but Chairman McCumber, of the senate managers, and Chairman Fordney, of the house managers, desire to avoid this if possible. The chairmen still are hopeful that the conferees can wind up their work this week and have their reports ready early next week. Representative Campbell, of Kansas, acting republican leader, has telegraphed absent members of the house with a view of obtaining a working quorum by Monday so that action can be taken either on the conference report or on any requests for instructions.

Matters in dispute among the conferees include the duties on wool, sugar and other agricultural products and American valuation. The senate substitute for the house valuation plan—the so-called flexible provisions proposing broad authority for the president to increase or decrease tariffs—were under discussion today.

Leaders of the republican agricultural bloc in both the senate and house have been somewhat apprehensive as to the fate of the senate agricultural rates, particularly those affecting wool and sugar, and have formed a sort of coalition in support of them. After a conference of leaders of the two blocs, house members today began circulating among their colleagues petitions urging the house managers to accept the higher senate rates.

WHICH LOOKS LIKE STRIKE MIGHT BE SETTLED AT AN EARLY DATE

RAY OF HOPE

Is Founded Principally on the Call and Separate Agreements With the Railroads

(By The Associated Press) CHICAGO, Sept. 7.—With railway shop crafts policy committee of ninety summoned to meet in Chicago on Monday, hope of an early or partial settlement of the rail strike was renewed today for the first time since the railroad executives and union chiefs broke off peace negotiations in New York. Hopes are founded principally on the call for the unions policy committee meeting and statements by strike leaders of separate agreements with fifty-two class one roads representing approximately eighty-five thousand miles. Railroad executives generally either denied that peace overtures are considered in conference with union leaders or declined to comment upon the rumors of an impending settlement.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—There are no conferences now in progress between leaders of railroad strike and railroad presidents and none held since formal gathering in New York last month it was asserted by J. P. Noonan, chief of the brotherhood electrical workers, one of seven rail unions on national strike. Meeting of strikers policy committee next week in Chicago is to consider general strike policy and also to consider what shall be done in view of the injunction application of the attorney general.

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—Only one of 26 representative cities in the U. S. reported an increase in the level of retail food prices for the month from July 15 to August 15, and that was less than five-tenths of one per cent, according to figures made public yesterday, by the bureau of labor statistics of the department of labor.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—Despite the rail strike and other industrial disorders, the cost of food is coming down, the labor department announced yesterday.

For the period of July 15 to August 15 the decline ranged from five per cent in Milwaukee and Springfield, Ill., to one per cent in Richmond, Portland, Maine; Los Angeles and Dallas. Norfolk reported an increase of less than five-tenths of one per cent.

Indigestion Forced Mr. Sol K. Simon to a Strict Diet

Severe Headaches and Dizziness Also Troubled Leading Albany Citizen. Within Two Days After Taking Ferraline Could Eat Anything.

Mr. Sol K. Simon, Albany, Georgia, the largest Mail Order "Pecan Man" in the world, has made the following startling statement: "I suffered with what the doctor called auto-intoxication, or indigestion of the lower bowels. If I ate anything other than that prescribed in a strict diet, I suffered with severe headaches and dizziness. Instead of taking an expensive trip to a health resort my brother persuaded me to visit him, and after each meal he gave me a dose of Ferraline. In two days I was eating anything without feeling the slightest discomfort. I ordered one dozen bottles sent to my home. I feel one hundred per cent better and have saved about $200, by not taking a trip to a health resort as recommended by my physician—thanks to my brother and Ferraline."

This letter is but one selected at random from the hundreds of testimonials in our files. Each letter tells the same story—the wonderful tale of returned health.—Adv.

METHODIST CHURCH NOTES.

Last Sunday night Dr. Walker preached a very forceful sermon on the subject "Labor and Capital." He was asked by the Federal Council of Churches to preach on this theme Sunday before Labor Day. Of course, there were many interested in this subject, especially at this time, and the church was crowded with eager listeners. His sermon was pronounced by many the most powerful they had ever heard on the subject. He dealt unsparringly both with labor and capital, telling both where they had made mistakes, and pointing out the pitfalls of the future. He also presented the side of the great American public; the hundred million patient sufferers who demand that labor and capital get together. He said that some temporary remedy might be brought forward that would relieve the stress for the present, but he had no hope for a permanent understanding until both labor and capital would accept the teachings of Jesus as laid down in His sermon on the Mount, for if it were not for Him and His teachings the laboring man would still be a slave; that where His teachings have been accepted labor has been lifted, dignified and glorified.

SOCIETY FOR THE WEEK

ENTERTAINS BRIDAL PARTY

Last evening Miss Marion Phillips was the gracious hostess when she entertained the members of the Phillips-Dumas bridal party most pleasantly, following the rehearsal at her home on Park avenue.

The various rooms of this spacious home were opened en suite and artistically decorated with quantities of pink crepe myrtle, coral vines, roses and ferns. Under a large white wedding bell, seats of honor of white decorated with feathery ferns, were placed for the bride and groom-elect.

Among the interesting features of the evening was the love story contest, Mrs. Phillips reading the story, accompanied by Miss Ada Wagner on the piano. The prize for this, a basket of roses, was won by Paul Lake, who presented the same to the bride-elect.

The bride presented her attendants with dainty gold brooches, and Mr. Phillips gave his attendants gold stick pins. The little flower girl was given a gold necklace.

After the various contests, the hostesses, assisted by her mother, Mrs. L. R. Phillips, served chicken salad, sandwiches, cheese balls, followed by ice cream, cake and mints in cunning cups in bride and groom design.

Miss Dumas, the charming honoree, was lovely on this occasion in white crepe de chine combined with gold lace.

This was indeed a delightful occasion and one of a series with which Miss Dumas has been honored.

DINNER PARTY

The members of the Phi Alpha Fraternity of Rollins College were hosts last evening at a dinner party at the Valdez, honoring the members of the Phillips-Dumas bridal party. Mr. Phillips being a member of this fraternity.

The dinner table was placed in the Palm Room, and was centered with a crystal basket filled with pink rose buds combined with ferns. Pink lighted unshaded tapers were also effectively placed.

Hall Hill greeted the guests upon their arrival, and with a few appropriate words introduced the toast master of the evening, Warren Ingraham. During the evening many witty and clever toasts were made by the guests to which Miss Dumas and Mr. Phillips responded.

Following the dinner, the party returned to the Episcopal church, where the rehearsal of the wedding took place.

MRS. JAS. N. ROBSON ENTERTAIN

One of the most charming courtesies shown Miss Agnes Dumas, a bride of September, the fifth, was the "Rainbow-Shower" given by Mrs. J. N. Robson at her home on Park avenue. The entire lower floor of this lovely home was thrown "en suite." The decorations being carried out in the colors of the rainbow, whose brilliant hues were most gorgeous in the soft light of the shaded electroliers. Palms, ferns and cut flowers were also used in profusion. A huge rainbow appeared in the drawing room and at one end sat the proverbial pot of gold. The dining room was very attractive, having suggestions of autumn in the way of Golden Rod, yellow daisies and various brilliant hued autumn flowers. The table with its cluny cover had as a centerpiece, a bride and groom, in conventional bridal attire. After the guests had all assembled, the guest of honor, being the last to arrive, was received by a dear little gauzy-winged Cupid (Master Harry Robson) who presented her with a letter, which advised her that through life she'd need an umbrella, and hoping 'twould always be upheld by her own handsome fellow, etc., was directed by Cupid to a seat beneath a large white umbrella which was suspended from the arch between the living and dining room. This umbrella proved to be full of surprises in the form of a "Mock shower." At a suggestion from Cupid the bride-elect pulled a string which released numerous small packages, which fell, all around her, and upon being opened, proved to be all kinds of miniature domestic articles. Rolling pin, potato grater, scissors, etc., were all accompanied by appropriate verses, most of them humorous and all composed by a Sanford lady. Much merriment was produced by the reading of these verses by the bride-elect. Mrs. Takach, at this time gave a vocal number "Smiling Through" and was at her best. This was followed by a reading by Miss Ruth Kanner, "The Bride's First Visit to Market," which was thoroughly enjoyed. Misses Pearl Robson and Alice Elder, distributed cards following this reading, upon which were to be written suggestions for the bride. These cards were hand-painted brides, each wearing a real bride's veil of tulle. When all had written their advice to the bride the cards were collected, and the bride-elect, guided by Cupid, ascended a short flight of white-carpeted stairs at the top of which, beneath a large white wedding bell, was erected a miniature white throne. After being seated beneath the wedding bell, the guest of honor read the suggestions given by her friends aloud. This was a delightful feature of the entertainment. The guests at this time enjoyed a reading, "Life's Tempest," by Misses Margaret Cowan, this being a dialogue between bride and groom and most appropriate. Mrs. Takach delighted everyone with her vocal solo, "Dun Cupid," responding with another lovely suggestive song. Cupid appearing on the scene, led the bride-elect to the pot of gold at the foot of the rainbow, the contents being a shower of gifts of love for the bride.

Linen in every form, dainty articles of almost every kind, each silently speaking of the giver's affection for the bride. These gifts were unwrapped by the bride-elect and exhibited to each guest. The hostess, assisted by Miss Dorothy Rumph served delicious home made cake, brick ice cream in pink and green and colored heart shaped mints in pink and green baskets, representing a rose. This was one of the loveliest parties given this charming young lady, proving Mrs. Robson to be a most gracious hostess.

NEW AIR RECORDS ARE EXPECTED IN PULITZER RACE

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 4.—A speed of 200 miles an hour, the highest ever attained by man, will be recorded here during the Pulitzer air races, October 14, according to predictions made by the army and navy officers who have made arrangements for the event.

This speed, according to the authorities from Washington is 300 feet a second, or one-fourth the muzzle velocity of a .45 calibre bullet, one of the swiftest of projectiles. They added another comparison by saying the planes in this contest will fly abreast at a speed four times as great as the fastest average speed of any express train on the continent.

HERNDON OPENS NEW SUBDIVISION ON UNION AVENUE

THAT HAS EXCELLENT LOCATION AND WILL PROVE VERY POPULAR.

Among the fine sub-divisions recently opened in Sanford is Normany Heights, recently put on the market by B. W. Herndon. This land is on Second street—or as it is better known, Union Avenue—and is only about five blocks from the business heart of Sanford. The sub-division is not large and will be sold out before many weeks, offering as it does a most excellent site at very reasonable prices. There are seven lots facing Lake Monroe on Second street and twenty-nine lots that face the other streets and avenues, all of the lots being of good size and having all the conveniences of the city, such as gas, water and lights and they will have sewerage soon.

Mr. Herndon has just finished the blue prints of the new sub-division and the plat has been approved by the city commissioners at meeting all the requirements and already many of the lots have been sold by the owner. T. L. King, the first purchaser, is already building a nice home, and others will follow.

The Lake Front of Sanford will eventually come into its own and many people will want homes nearer the heart of the city and especially on the streets where they can see the beautiful lake and get the cooling breezes that come from Sanford's fine body of water. All of Union avenue will be a cluster of beautiful homes in the next few years.

IMPEACHMENT PROCEEDINGS FOR ATTORNEY DAUGHERTY AND JUDGE WILKINSON

Strike Injunction is In Violation of the Constitution of the United States

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Initiation of proceedings for impeachment of Attorney General Daugherty and Federal Judge Wilkinson, of Chicago on the grounds that the strike injunction granted by the latter at the former's request in violation of constitution was urged on Senator Borah in a telegram today by John J. Dowd, chairman of the general strike committee of the Eastern railroad lines.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—The injunction obtained by the government against the striking railway shopmen was declared today in the senate by Robinson, Democrat, of Arkansas, to be violative of both the constitution and the Clayton anti-trust act. Robinson declared injunction abridged freedom of speech and of press and right of people peaceably to assemble. Argued also it violated section of Clayton act which he said implied that laborers may organize and act in concert for purpose of mutual help without risk of prosecution under the anti-trust laws.

The engine, and mail car passed safely over, following half dozen cars were derailed. No one was injured.

Charged With Murder Prohi. Officer Jailed in Orlando Yesterday

Lloyd Gay Charged With Killing of Harry Givens

Charged, by a coroner's jury, with murder in the second degree, in connection with the killing of Harry Givens, 30, in this city Monday night, Lloyd J. Gay, twenty-two-year-old federal prohibition enforcement officer, was placed in a cell at the Orange county jail yesterday beside the men whom he arrested Monday on charges of violating the prohibition laws. J. E. Bledsoe, 22, who accompanied Gay in the raid which ended in the death of Givens was held as necessary before the fact. T. J. Ryals, the third member of the trio of young men who came here from Tampa to accomplish a clean-up was released. Gay and Bledsoe are expected to obtain their release in bonds today.

The jury completed its investigation of the case late yesterday afternoon, debating as to what specific charge should be made against the two men for more than an hour. While newspapermen were in the room with the jury several of its members suggested that manslaughter would probably be the proper charge, but others declared that the offense, in their opinion, justified a verdict specifying a higher crime. Only one member of the jury favored, at the outset of the deliberation leading up to the verdict the dismissal of the youthful officer.

"Defeated by Suburban Vote," says Tampa Times speaking of the election down there Tuesday. Sort of Suburban Handicap, we would say.

Again we wish to call your attention to the dearth of homes in this city and again we say that it is high time some one was coming forward with an idea of this building. It will take money. Who has it!

Borah wants to know if the public will stand behind him if he starts im-peaching Daugherty. Speaking for ourselves we would say "Nix on Borah for anything, whatsoever, for all time." As far as impeaching Daugherty is concerned we would say it is idle talk.

It seems strange that people cannot get it into their head that law is law and regardless of whether it suits you or not you must obey the law or go to jail. We are all free Americans and we have certain rights—at least we think we have them—but we have only CERTAIN RIGHTS and beyond that we cannot go. If you don't think this is law try to break it.

The Chicago police have orders to run down all the anarchists and put them where the dogs won't bite them.
And this should go in every city of the United States. It is high time that real American citizens asserted themselves and stamped out anarchy forever. Let all those people who are not satisfied with his government go to Russia.

Lieut. Doolittle hopped off at Pablo Beach last night and this morning has reached Kelly Field in Texas, his first and only stop. It looks like he will make the flight all right and reach the Pacific ocean in his endeavor to make the ocean to ocean flight with one stop. This is the flight that Lieut. Coney tried to make on return and had to alight in Louisiana in a swamp his drop injuring him so severely that he died two days later. It would seem that Doolittle had escaped the perils of the Louisiana swamps at any rate and now has the Rocky Mountains to combat. His many friends in Florida and elsewhere are praying for his success. These intrepid army flyers are due much praise for their efforts in conquering the air even if these efforts come to naught.
It is the peril of the pioneers.

WHEN THE DAY IS YOUNG.

Getting up early these mornings is something worth while. It wouldn't be fair to say that the summer had gone or to talk seriously about a suggestion of autumn in the air—altho the calendars indicate the approach of fall and in some sections of the country the nip of frost may soon be expected. But way down in Florida—Florida anywhere—the early mornings are delightful at this time, and pleasant as it is to take another nap, say when the first whistles blow around six o'clock, to rise and get about some odd job left for a spare hour is interesting. With the sun just making its appearance and the long shadows on the grass fenniful and changing, the winds blow soft and the birds have a great time whether singing or merely chattering.

Down in the city it isn't so very interesting, perhaps, but the idea of an early start was considering that almost everybody lives a bit away from the center of activities, and particularly in the South the homes are spread over a lot of ground, with yards and gardens and flowers and trees, and the early morning is a time to enjoy nature—if away from the solidly paved streets and high buildings. A great deal is read about sunsets, and Florida can produce the most magnificent sky paintings ever gazed upon—but Florida also offers some sunrise scenes that are almost as elaborate and fully worth waking up to see.

After a comfortable night's sleep, and this is something that is possible for the dwellers in the suburbs regardless of the weather, the early morning appeals wonderfully to talent and ambition an energy and impulse, after becoming fully awake. It takes a bit of self-control to rise when the cool winds are flapping the curtains and the first blush of the cloud pageant makes the air tremulous with renewed vitality. To turn over and spend an hour or two more in dreams is easy; but there is something behind the dreams—the thought that has already entered of the work day beginning, and often there is little gained by resisting the call of the morning.

One of the greatest joys of the early riser is to feel that he has a little more claim upon the world than those who are still slumbering. No matter how many people there are in the world or the town, those out soon after the sun comes have so much more room to themselves. Heart and voice and arms can expand without interfering with anybody. It's great to be up early—after you get up and get yourself thoroughly awake.—

IDLE MONEY NEVER GROWS

Science has shown that living creatures can enter a state of latent life and arise as though from the dead years later. Meantime there has been no growth and little deterioration, since the organs of the body have suspended functioning. Money is like that. If you place a quarter in a safe place it may be found thousands of years from now and possibly it will be regarded as a curiosity, but it will be almost of the same shape and of the same weight as it was when laid aside.

Money, like organisms, also can grow. In healthful, normal surroundings the baby becomes a man, a leader of nations. A quarter put to work becomes a fortune. There is the parable of the rich man, who, upon deciding to go on a journey, divided his property among his servants. To one he gave five talents, to another two and to a third one. The first two invested what had been given them, putting it out at interest, and doubled their money. The third, fearful lest he should lose the talent, which, by the way, was worth between $1,200 and $2,000 buried it. When the master returned for an accounting, he scolded the servant who had allowed his property to remain idle, and taking the one talent from him, gave it to the servants who had shown more wisdom.

Money which has been idle for centuries is being exhibited in New York at the meeting of the Numismatic Society. There are coins there which were used in the days of rich Croesus king of Lydia. The coins on exhibition have been buried since 500 B. C.
Had these bits of silver been invested at the savings bank rate of 4 per cent the interest today might pay the European debt, finance a dozen governments and purchase a controlling interest in many industries.

There is still idle money hidden between mattresses, in old shoes and buried, but not so much as formerly.
There is other money in the shops, factories and on farms, representing its purchasing power in wheat, machinery and gold and working hard for its owner, and for all of us.—Tampa Tribune.

WHEREIN LIES THE FAULT?

During recent weeks fruit growers in the great state of Arkansas have been complaining about the breakdown in the system of marketing whereby tons of delicious peaches and pears and apples and large quantities of vegetables and berries have been allowed to rot on the trees or on the ground simply because there was no way to get the produce to market even at bare cost of production. This same thing happens in Florida almost every year nor do Florida and Arkansas claim any monopoly for such an experience. Practically every state in the Union has had crops of fruits and vegetables go to waste for the reason that the grower could not realize transportation charges in sending the food to the would-be consumers. It is not the fault of the Lakeland merchants that apples are almost a luxury and certainly not within the reach of people of average means as a common article of food. The California grapes are about the cheapest fruit in the market now unless it be the old reliable banana.

To say that conditions enumerated above are new would be misleading.
The problem has occupied the attention of the brainiest men in the marketing business and so far without any definite progress toward solution.
Probably the best suggestion yet made is that huge cold storage plants ought to be erected at certain points where wide distribution would be possible and that smaller cold storage facilities could be provided to further carry out the plan of reaching the consumer in all parts of the country.
Cold storage has already gone a long way toward equalizing supply regardless of season and it might be possible to co-ordinate the process of transportation with those of storage to the end that fruits and vegetables, principally fruits, would be available at all times of the year. Until something of this kind is done, tons upon tons of fruit of one kind and another will fall from the trees to another earth and not reach the tables of hungry humanity.—Lakeland Star-Telegram.

You know where the fault is, brother, and so does every other man in Florida who has been watching the events. Two thirds of the price is given to the railroads for freight and express and the other third of the big price is for handling the fruits and vegetables that go through several hands before getting to the consumer—and every hand takes its share.
There is no mystery, no allight-of-hand, nothing hidden about this great question that you are attempting to solve. The railroads were responsible for the cabbage rotting in the fields of Florida last year; they were responsible for the small profits received by the farmers for all crops; they were responsible for the slow movements of freights that spoiled many car loads of vegetables. Put it where it belongs.

ENOUGH OF "MUDDLING THROUGH."

The menace of a fuel and car shortage is the price the American people are paying for their trust in the policy of "somehow muddling through" their industrial disputes. It is time this costly and futile policy was abandoned; the time that a new and definite attitude was adopted for the protection of the public interest in the disputes between capital and labor.

Nation-wide strikes that disturb whole industries, that cause widespread losses and suffering, that result in murder and arson and a disregard of law should be recognized as exactly what they are—a form of civil war. And in this form of war, just as much as the kind that is openly called war, the noncombatants are the ones who must pay and who generally suffer the most. It is they, the hundred million who had no part in the rail and coal strikes, who must pay for the damage wrought—pay in increased costs for the necessities of life, in shipments delayed, lost or wasted, and in chill and sickness.

The whole spirit of democracy is supposedly based upon a decent regard for the rights of others. "We recently fought a war to sustain these rights on the seas and in Europe. But we have allowed them to be flaunted here at home.

The responsibility for these conditions rests with the government and those who constitute it. And it is a responsibility that cannot be shifted or denied. The only reason for government is to protect the individual, to insure him "protection" against those stronger than himself, to enable him to go peacefully and serenely about his lawful business. Yet in the case of our great strikes the individual has no security. The individual in the city does not know if he will have work or food. The individual on the farms does not know if he will be able to sell his produce or supply himself with coal or other necessities.

Something must be done to compel those who engage in the nation's big industries, either as managers or employees, to respect the rights and interests of the general public. We listen to long tirades about the rights of capital and labor, but how about our rights? Must we all submit tamely to being starved and frozen while little groups carry on their little wars, or shall we exercise our rights of majority rule and compel the government to act promptly and firmly on behalf of all the people? And no silly futility like the Railroad Labor Board, powerless to carry out its decisions, should again be tolerated as a palliative for a national disorder.— Country Gentleman.

CURB LAND PEDDLERS

MIAMI, Sept. 6.—Officers of the Miami realty board urged the Miami city commission at its meeting yesterday to pass immediately an ordinance to prevent the handling of tickets or the distribution of literature by real estate agents on the streets of the city. The realtors declared the practice annoyed visitors and home folks, and if continued this winter would give the city a "black eye." They said that several members of the board had been expelled because they persisted in the handling of tickets and literature to pedestrians. The commission said an ordinance would be framed at once.

PHILIPS-DUMAS NUPTIALS. Holy Cross Episcopal Church was the scene last evening of one of the most beautiful and brilliant weddings ever held in Sanford, when Miss Agnes Deas Dumas and Mr. Raymond Clarke Phillips were joined in the holy bonds of wedlock, in the presence of relatives and many interested friends.

Rev. A. S. Peck, officiating, using the impressive ring ceremony. The church, which lends itself so beautifully to the decorator's hand, was never prettier than on this occasion. Tall palms and bamboo entirely encircling the edifice. Garlands of feathery asparagus, entwined with coral vines were most effectively used.

The altar was draped with white, and held crystal vases filled with lovely pink rose buds and ferns, while brass candelabras and crystal candle sticks held burning white tapers. The chancel rail was covered with white and entwined with fern, graceful potted ferns on pedestals and floor wicker baskets filled with roses and fern, formed an artistic background for the bridal party. Bouquets of asparagus ferns and coral vines were fastened to each pew, those reserved for the relatives being marked with fluffy bows of pink satin ribbon.

While the guests were assembling, a lovely program of nuptial music was rendered under the direction of Mrs. Fannie Stenbridge Munson, organist, assisted by Mrs. Lucile Aspinwall Takach, soprano. Mrs. Takach's numbers being, "Because" and "O Promise Me." "The Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin was used as processional, while Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" was used as recessional.

To the strains of the wedding march the bridal party entered the church, first being Miss Marion Phillips and Fred Hagga. Miss Phillips made a very charming picture, wearing green and silver changeable taffeta, with trimmings of silver lace, her slippers were also of silver. She carried an arm bouquet of pink rose buds. Next to enter were Miss Florence Henry and Raymond Green. Miss Henry's becoming costume being of yellow and silver taffeta, with iridescent trimmings, her costume was completed with a silver bandeau, and slippers of silver. Miss Marie Teague and Benjamin Whitner came next, taking their places at either side on the chancel. Miss Teague's lovely frock was of blue taffeta, made basque fashion, with bouffant skirt and trimmings of silver bows, her flowers were pink roses. Miss Dorothy Rumph and Paul Dooley followed, Miss Rumph was a girlish figure, in green taffeta and silver, her flowers being pink roses. Gold taffeta fashioned the becoming frock of Miss Ethel Henry, who entered next with Arthur Hazard. They were followed by Miss Sarita Lake and Paul Lake. Miss Lake making a very striking picture wearing turquoise blue satin, draped effect, worn with slippers and accessories in silver, her bouquet being pink roses.

Gold taffeta fashioned the becoming frock of Miss Ethel Henry, who entered next with Arthur Hazard. They were followed by Miss Sarita Lake and Paul Lake. Miss Lake making a very striking picture wearing turquoise blue satin, draped effect, worn with slippers and accessories in silver, her bouquet being pink roses.

Mr. Arthur Hazard, of Augusta, Ga., sister of the bride, was matron of honor, attired in a smart costume of peri-winkle blue silk lace combined with silver. Her flowers being a shower bouquet of pink roses. Miss Dorothy Waring, of Charleston, maid of honor, wore a lovely creation of pink and silver taffeta, with silver slippers, an arm bouquet of pink roses completing the picture. Little Miss Marion Estridge, the winsome little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. E. Estridge, preceded the bride, dressed as a miniature bride. Her dainty costume being of ruffled white taffeta, worn with tulle veil, her flowers were a shower bouquet of white roses.

The bride entered with her father, T. L. Dumas, who gave her in marriage. They were met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Robert Hines.

The bride, who is a petite blonde, never looked lovelier, wearing her bridal robe of exquisite white silk lace over satin with girldle and touches of silver. Her soft tulle veil arranged coronet fashion was held in place with a silver bandeau. She carried a shower bouquet of white rose buds and valley lillies.

Immediately after the ceremony, an informal reception was held at the home of the bride's parents on Park avenue. The rooms were decorated with quantities of ferns, vines and vases of pink roses. In the dining room, where the gifts were displayed, the bride's table was placed. It was covered with a handsome lace cloth, and centered with the bride's cake. White tulle streamers were fastened from the chandelier to the corners of the table where they were caught with sprays of valley lillies. Silver candelabras holding lighted tapers and silver dishes holding rainbow tinted mints were also effectively placed. Pink and white brick ice cream and cake were served by Mrs. C. J. Rumph, Miss Hume, Mrs. J. N. Robson and Mrs. I. E. Estridge.

Mrs. Dumas, mother of the bride, received her guests wearing black georgette over white satin, with corsage bouquet of white rose buds. Mrs. Philips, mother of the groom, wore a chic costume of grey crepe de chine, with corsage of pink roses.

Mrs. Waring, aunt of the bride, was charming in black satin, her flowers were pink roses. Miss Leize Thompson, aunt of the bride, wore black crepe de chine with corsage of pink and white roses.

As the bride ascended the stairs to change to her traveling costume, she threw her bouquet, which was caught by Miss Marie Teague.

Late in the evening the happy young couple left for the mountains of North Carolina where they will spend several weeks, upon their return, they will keep house in their new bungalow on Elm avenue. Mrs. Philips is traveling in a smart coat suit of tan tricotine, worn with georgette blouse of tan and brown, her chic hat and other accessories being also of tan and brown.

Mrs. Philips is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Dumas, who has made scores of friends since coming here with her parents five years ago from Charleston, S. C., by her lovable disposition and charming personality. She graduated from Sanford High School two years ago.

Mr. Philips is the only son of Dr. and Mrs. L. R. Philips and is a young man of sterling qualities, and is a very popular member of the young social set. He holds a responsible position with the Seminole County Bank.

Among the numerous gifts of silver, China, linen, cut glass and furniture, one of exceptional interest was the set of tea and table spoons which had been in the family of the bride for over two hundred years.

The many friends of this happy young couple join in wishing them every future happiness.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. T. R. Waring, of Summerville, S. C.; Miss Leize Thompson, of Summerville, S. C.; Miss Elizabeth Waring, of Summerville, S. THIRD ASSEMBLY OF LEAGUE NATIONS OPENED YESTERDAY, CHILEAN ELECTED PRESIDENT

Big Number of Delegates But Little of Real Interest Transpired

GENEVA, Sept. 5.—The third assembly of the league of nations, which was formally opened at eleven o'clock yesterday morning outdid its predecessors both in the number of delegates and spectators present, even though the session gave little promise of producing dramatic interest.

These things are interpreted by the leaders of the league as most favorable to the success of the session, indicating that interest in the league is growing notwithstanding the fact that the work of both the assembly and the council is inevitably becoming more and more of a routine nature, devoid of picturesque features and sensational debate.

There was for a time, promise of a mild sensation in connection with yesterday's opening, thanks to a movement on the part of Peru, which gave birth to a short-lived boom for Dr. Edward Benes, premier of Czechoslovakia, for the presidency of the assembly.

The South American delegations, however, gave this movement a death blow at a meeting during the recess, at which they approved unanimously the candidacy of Augustin Edwards, of Chile.

Thus the election of Senior Edwards became virtually a foregone conclusion, and in the balloting yesterday afternoon, he received 42 votes out of the 44 states which had presented credentials to the assembly. Two other votes were cast, one for former President Mottam of Switzerland and the other for Dr. Juan Carlos Blanco, Uruguayan minister to France.

In planning the work of the session, the assembly decided to distribute the labor among six committees, as it did last year. These committees are:

- Constitutional and judicial questions.
- Technical organization.
- Finances.
- Social and general questions.
- Political questions.

A special committee of five members was appointed to consider whether supplemental questions could be put on the agenda. These questions include Lithuania's protest against the Vilna Pdebscite. The Polish delegates object to this question being considered.

Former Premier Paderowski, of Poland, who was one of the most active figures at the first assembly of the league, followed yesterday's proceedings, with Mrs. Paderowski from the public gallery.

The report of the credential committee showed that the following nations were not represented at the opening: Argentina, Bolivia, Honduras, Nicaragua, Salvador, Peru and Luxembourg.

DISTINGUISHED VISITOR AT ROTARY CLUB TODAY; WAS INTERNATIONAL PRES.

benefits of Rotary and all the word "service" means, told of the great benefit that Rotary had conferred on foreign countries especially in England and Scotland in breaking down the barriers of reserve that have kept the people of those countries from enjoying social intercourse especially among the business men. He said that "hearts are still trumps" not spades that dig up riches for the benefit of a few, not diamonds that bedeck the clothes of the rich and opulent and not clubs that would take by force all that men in the shape of "civilized beasts might want" in this world. That hearts were trumps and in the real actions of men in their heart of hearts that would spend their money trying to benefit mankind. He told of his home Rotary Club in Toledo taking up the crippled and poor children of the city and spending thousands of dollars in making over the little deformed bodies of children that were now able to use their bodies and their minds for others of their kind and of a special instance wherein a lad almost totally deformed who had been virtually made over and was now able to drive a truck in Toledo for a home for crippled children.

He told of the real principles of Rotary and explained them in a manner that went straight to the hearts of his listeners and gave them some of his experiences in foreign countries concluding by saying that the spirit of Rotary in getting the people of all countries closer together in a great bond of friendship would eventually do what all the world had failed to do in the centuries—to stop all wars and bring the people together in the great brotherhood of man.

Messrs. Isted and Lum also spoke of the idea of organizing a Rotary Club in Eustis and the benefits of a closer union with all the cities of Florida.

The only regret of the meeting was that at least one hundred people of this city could not have been present to have listened to these men who brought such a fine message of brotherhood and service to the people of Sanford, for the upbuilding and for the development of the greatest state in the union.

Fraternal Societies Aid in Child Conservation in U. S.

MONTREAL, P. G., Spt. 4.—Fraternal and secret societies of North America constitute the "one potential force that can solve the problem of conserving child life," H. C. Evans of Des Moines, Iowa, editor of the Brotherhood of American Yeomen, said today in addressing the National Fraternal Congress.

"These organizations, numbering approximately one-fourth of the people of North America in their memberships, can, by deciding on a definite, national program, eradicate many of the neglected or orphaned and homeless children," he declared, "and thus greatly decrease the number of persons in jails, prisons and other public institutions whose presence there can be directly traced to neglect in childhood."

The Children's Bureau of the Labor Department was established by the act of April 9, 1912, with powers to "investigate and report," Mr. Evans pointed out, yet in May, 1884, congress created the Bureau of Animal Industry and later gave it powers to suppress contagious diseases in live stock.

"My contention is that as the Bureau of Animal Industry was given authority to save the lives of hogs and cattle, and money was appropriated outright for that purpose, the Children's Bureau should be given authority to save the lives of children," he continued.

"I believe with Herbert Hoover that the proper care of children for one generation would solve most of our perplexing problems."

State and national institutions, reformatories, and poor farms will not solve the problem, Mr. Evans declared. He added that institutional-made children are apt to be like the products of a factory; no individuality. Every child is bent to fit the mould.

There should be cottages, not built along streets, like a country village, but nestled among trees on hillsides, with paths and roads connecting them, Mr. Evans said. Each cottage should contain from eight to ten children of all ages and a foster mother. Between groups of cottages there should be school houses, playgrounds and shops. The children should have their own pigs, chickens and gardens.

PROHIBITION OFFICER KILLS HARRY GIVENS IN ORLANDO YESTERDAY

While Attempting His Arrest for Alleged Liquor Selling

Harry Givens, 30, was shot and mortally wounded shortly after 9 o'clock last night by Lloyd J. Gay, a federal prohibition enforcement officer, who was attempting to arrest him on a charge of selling liquor. The shooting occurred near the west end of Eola Park.

Givens died within 20 minutes after being shot, breathing his last just after he was placed in an ambulance. A coroner's jury, summoned immediately to investigate the killing, adjourned until 9:30 o'clock this morning after ordering the three agents held as material witnesses.

Gay, who came here from Tampa early yesterday with T. J. Ryals and J. E. Bledsoe, to conduct a series of raids in Orlando and Orange county, in a shaking voice, gave his version of the affair to the Sentinel a few moments after Givens died. The young agent—none of them appear to be more than 27 years of age—said that he met Givens in front of a restaurant on South Orange avenue early last evening and that the latter inquired if he wanted to buy some liquor. Gay said that he did and he was told to wait until Givens returned and motioned for him to follow.

In a few minutes Givens returned to the restaurant in a Ford automobile with two other men. He motioned for Gay and his two companions to follow in their car. When Givens

RAILROADS TO GIVE FOODS PREFERENCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Railroads west of the Mississippi river were authorized today by the Interstate Commerce Commission to give preference and priority to the movement of foodstuffs, livestock, perishable products and fuel whenever their operating conditions become such as to cause freight congestion or blockades. The order declared an emergency and laid down rules for the conduct of the western lines identical with those which have been in effect on roads east of the Mississippi for several weeks.

Roads unable to transport all freight offered, the order said, may suspend ordinary practices in providing cars for shippers and routing. The order will go into effect September 1 and will remain in effect until further order of the commission.

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 4.—Governor John J. Blain today telegraphed President Harding that a tragedy faces Wisconsin unless the state receives coal immediately, adding that the duty and responsibility of supplying coal to the state now rests upon the president.

Discrimination Against Florida Favors California

S. J. Sligh Gives Some Interesting Information on Freight Rates of Citrus Fruits.

Florida is discriminating against in the matter of freight rates on citrus fruits, and appeals to the commerce commission, railroads and other sources which are calculated to render aid in remedying this serious handicap have failed in their missions, according to S. J. Sligh, of Orlando, one of the largest independent buyers and shippers in the state, who is in Tampa today looking after property interests.

California has a rate much lower to points where Florida fruits have a good market, in fact the cost of transporting the products to some places is so high as to be almost prohibitive, says Mr. Sligh.

In discussing the matter, Mr. Sligh said: "During the war period the blanket rate from California to New York and all eastern points and to Canadian points also was $1.92 per 100 pounds. The rate now has been reduced to $1.50 a reduction of about 30 per cent. California oranges are billed at 78 pounds per crate, and grapefruit, I think, at 72 pounds, which makes the rate on grapefruit about $1.

"Our rate from Tampa, for instance to Denver, is about $1.65 on grapefruit, and to Pacific slope points, such as Seattle, where we have a fine market for grapefruit, the rate is about $2.85 per box, which is practically prohibitive.

"The haul is shorter than from California to the eastern points. I have cited, and if we have the same rate that the California growers have we could market a very large portion of our crop in that territory.

"Appeal has been made to the interstate commerce commission, to the officials of the Atlantic Coast Line, the Southern and the Seaboard by the Central Florida Traffic League, of which I am president, but so far with practically no results. The matter has also been taken up with the Florida delegation in congress, but they have not as yet been able to secure any relief for us.

"The rate from Florida shipping territory to the eastern points I have mentioned, on the same basis of weight, is about $1.20, while the distance from our territory to the eastern points is 1400 to 1,600 miles and the distance from California orange districts is 3,500 to 4,000 miles.

"I was told at the recent convention of apple growers in Seattle that the trouble is with the southern railroads—that they do not appear to concern themselves as the western roads do in promoting the interests of their fruit and agricultural interests.

"Ten years ago Florida had a very large grapefruit trade in San Francisco and even in Los Angeles and others of that state succeeded in having other California points, and the growing a law passed barring our fruit on the ground that it might introduce disease. Of course this was subterfuge—the purpose was to shut out our fruit, which is universally acknowledged as superior to the California product. I was told recently that if our state plant board would make the proper effort this quarantine can be lifted. Before this law was passed I shipped an average of 42 carloads to San Francisco and 4 or 5 to Los Angeles, and I think this market would take 600 to 700 cars.

"The California law is based only on petty jealousy. Their shipping season is from May to November, while our season would be from November to April. And as far as citrus diseases and insect pests are concerned, they have all that we have and more, too—I know, because I have just returned from a very thorough inspection of their citrus territory."—Tampa Times.

RAILROADS REFUSE REASONABLE RATES REUNION ABANDONED

SAVANNAH, Ga., Sept. 4.—An official announcement has been received here by Confederate Veterans from A. J. Twigg, commanding the Georgia division, United Confederate Veterans cancelling the proposed Confederate Reunion for Georgia scheduled for Rome September 20-21. The reunion will not be held according to General Twigg because of a refusal of the railroads to grant a reasonable rate to the reunion.

Pushed ahead of locomotive and operating much like a snow plow, a new machine for the railroads cuts ditches and does grading at speeds of from six to eight miles an hour.

CASE OF MRS. CORA LOU VINSON

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 4.—The case of Mrs. Cora Lou Vinson, sentenced to be hanged for the fatal shooting of her husband, W. D. Vinson, in his office, March 30, 1922, which was appealed to higher tribunals, is expected to be decided sometime this fall. Vinson, an Atlanta physician, received one shot in his body as he sat at his office desk, and, after he had fallen to the floor with his face toward, his wife shot him three more times. He died immediately.

"He told me I was worn out and that he wanted a young and pretty woman," Mrs. Vinson testified at her trial. She did not intend to kill him, she said. "I went to his office to talk over some matters with him, but he made me so mad I couldn't keep from shooting him."

The fatal shots were fired from a revolver which Mrs. Vinson said was given her by Louis Vinson, a son of Dr. Vinson by a former marriage, for her protection.

Mrs. Vinson, a frail woman of 43 at the time of the shooting, had been separated from Dr. Vinson, her second husband, for sometime. "He spurned my love," she said, charging him with unfaithfulness.

Following the shooting, counsel for the defense filed a special plea of insanity in Mrs. Vinson's behalf, alleging that a disordered mental condition was responsible for the killing. After a hearing by a jury in Ordinary's Court, however, she was pronounced sane and placed on trial for her life. She was convicted on June 3 and sentenced to be hanged on July 28, the jury returning the verdict without recommendation for mercy after deliberating one hour and forty-five minutes.

Appeals to higher tribunals held up final disposition of the case.

Mrs. Vinson heard the verdict read and the sentence passed without any show of emotion. "I don't believe they will hang me she said the day afterward. "for what any woman would have done under the circumstances."

Mrs. Vinson, according to the records of the state historian, is the fourth white woman to be given the death sentence in Georgia. Two of the others were hanged and the third pardoned after serving ten years.

Polly Barclay was hanged in 1806 in Wilkes county on conviction of paying her half brother $200 to murder her husband so she could marry another man.

Susan Eberhardt was hanged at Preston in 1873 after conviction, together with Enoch F. Spann, of the murder of Spann's wife in Webster county.

After serving ten years of a life sentence for stabbing Narcissus Cowart, a girlhood friend, to death for dancing with her husband of a few weeks, Kate Hamerick was pardoned by Governor Stephens in 1883. Government to life imprisonment upon error Colquit had commuted a death learning that the young woman was to become a mother.

LARGE PROFITS MADE FROM SLOT MACHINES

JAUREZ, Mex., Sept. 4.—Although most kinds of gambling are prohibited in Mexico, a large number of slot machines are operated here, a part of a concession owned by Gen. J. J. Mendez, commander of the Jaurez military garrison. Operators declare large profits are derived from the machines some of whom have announced they would give twenty-five nickles in change for one dollar, provided the customer plays them in the machine. One operator's profit of three machines here showed an average of $117 a week, which is forty per cent on the net earnings of the three devices. The owner received an average of $170 a week on the three, or sixty per cent of the profits. The keeper received forty per cent. All machines, however, do not return as much profit. General Mendez's concession contract, which expires December 31, calls for $2,700 a month and approximately $500 for repair men and other helpers.

MIAMI COPS ARE MOVIE ACTORS.

MIAMI, Sept. 4.—An epidemic of "movie actoritis" is sweeping thru the Miami police force and at least 12 coppers have been affected so far. The coppers are spending much of their time in acting parts in moving picture production, at such times asking to be let off during working hours so as to complete a set in which they have started. According to the police rolls, some of the officers have represented sea captains and millionaire fishermen.

BABSON OPTIMISTIC—NOT DISTURBED BY RADICAL TALK

Wellesley Hills, Mass., Sept. 2.—With so much talk about Bolshoy'sm and radicalism one is led to believe that the world is rapidly becoming socialistic. Certainly such thoughts are evident when one reads about Russia, Mexico and certain other countries. Roger W. Babson, however, claims that this is not true. His exact statement in an exclusive interview this week upon this subject is as follows: "Socialism, as a party movement, is almost dead, so far as the States are concerned. It has never been at home here. It is exotic. It does not fit United States conditions and it has no great hold upon the workers of this country. The Socialist leaders know this better than we do. They are ready now to combine. Previously, they have been unwilling to hob nob with anybody except those who were willing to take the party name and pledges. Moreover, there is a distinct tendency on the part of organized labor to rid itself of the incubus of Socialism. The battle has been fought out as far as the American Federation of Labor is concerned. It has been fought out in the women's garment industry. It will be fought out wherever it is necessary and the conservatives will win.

"There remains the farmer group—the farm bloc, as it is called. This Fall will probably show more of the results of the revolt of the farmer states against the conservatism of the present Administration. This revolt was inevitable. Our last election was a post war reaction and the tremendous Republican majorities had to come. The net results of the farmer revolt, however, probably will not justify the enthusiasm which it has called forth. After senators and congressmen have been elected to represent the farmers, most of them will continue to act about as senators and congressmen always act, after they get to be senators and congressmen. The farmers will be disappointed. They will turn away from their radicalism to other quarters.

"We have reached the extreme both of radicalism and conservatism. We are headed for a middle-of-the-road course. The days of the 'extremist in any direction are about over. Now we get busy and saw wood. The man who is busy laying brick is not going to listen to the call of the man who wants to interest him in 'isms' of any kind. The man on the wall is going to say to the agitator: 'I am doing real work and I cannot come down to you.'

"Nevertheless, we are probably going to have more of some things that a good many of us do not like. We are probably going to have more railroads, instead of less; and more of government interference in the mines, instead of less. The drift seems to be in that direction. But we are not drifting that way on account of the theories of agitators.

We are drifting that way because of the necessities of the present conditions. President Harding will see to it that the railroads run and that coal is mined, not because he is socialistic, but because the country must have trains and coal. That is all there is to it.

"That is to say, I believe that the lease of life of the soap box orator and all the rest of the frenzied exhorters of our day, may be, for the present cut short. What we do in the next few years, we are going to do because we want to. We are going to be governed by conditions and are not by theories. The main tendency is toward a middle-of-the-road course. Our progress will be along that line. We are going to be confronted with the stern necessity of producing the necessities of life at costs which will attract the purchaser. That task will keep us all pretty busy.

"If my diagnosis is correct," concluded Mr. Babson, "this means well for investors and others interested in constructive enterprise. The captain of industry is coming back. The engineer will take the place of the agitator. Money will again be invested in railroads; public utilities will be rehabilitated and for many years to come the United States people will fertilize their fields and prepare for that next period of prosperity."

The Babsonchart index of business this week stands at 8 per cent below normal, the same as a week ago. Business usually marks time until after Labor Day. During the next few weeks trade should begin to brighten up.

MANY APPLY AS MISSIONARIES

CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—Privations suffered by missionaries to Afghanistan and the Amazon jungles apparently hold no terror for applicants, ac-ording to Paul Rader, evangelist and president of the Christian Missionary Alliance.

"Both fields are perilous spots," declares Mr. Rader. "Savages forbid Christians to enter for evangelistic work, the salary is very small with no expenses, firearms or wives permitted, yet we have had twenty applicants for every post. Young men alone can qualify as our missionaries."
