It's interesting to be on the sidelines and watch the maneuvering leading up to the choosing of a mayor of North Orlando by the council members on April 6. Art Ferrin and Irene Van Eepoel both want the job.

Councilwoman - elect Mona Grinstead today issued this statement: "Irene Van Eepoel and I are supposed to be having a feud, according to R. E. Porter in 'Around the Clock.' I have not seen Mrs. Van Ecpoel since the election. She has not asked me to vote for her for mayor April 6, though I know she wants my vote. I sincerely wish the people had this opportunity to elect their own mayor. This would eliminate any future rumors or disagreements about the mayor's election among the council. When I do vote, I will vote for the one I feel the majority would choose."

Clerk Art Beckwith today reminded political candidates it is against the law to place any advertising within the rights-of-way of any state road system, state park road system, county road system and any city connecting link with any of those roads. Further, he said, candidates desiring to place advertising on private property must obtain the written consent and a permit from the State Road Department. The penalty on con-viction of a misdemeanor in Change this matter is a $300 fine per violation per month. This eliminates East First Street, where a gubernatorial candidate has hung a huge banner across the right-of-way. City officials disclaim responsibility for that sign. Springtime

Dinner Parties With Elegance

If you're yearning for the lignified beauty of a formal Springtime dinner party, but wish to avoid serving a multi-course sit-down dinnes here's an answer.

A buffet dinner where the service may be informal, but the setting is not. The Society of American Florists says it is easy to combine informality with elegance when entertaining at dinner parties. Beauty and dignity, it adds, may be achleved by the use of crisp immaculate linens, gleaming silverware and accessories, lust-rous china, and a centerpiece

ers. A Springtime table setting can have the look of elegance, yet provide a practicality of buffet service. As an example, the screnity of a gray table cloth, deep blue or black serving dishes and black-legged silver chafing dish can be

Now that Sanford Naval Air Station is on a permanent basis, according to Washington, and with the Florida solons there mustering strength to push through a $6.5 million expansion program for the base. it appears that now is the time to commence looking for that new home.

There are many fine homes in the Sanford area but we particularly recommend those constructed by Kingswood Builders and Shoemaker Construction Company. These are of top quality, modern in architecture and with the finest of appointments. Two beautiful new homes by Kingswood in Grove Manor on Mellonville Avenue are nearing completion. It is suggested that the prospective buyer now inspect these residences ... there is time to choose your own interior colors.

Kingswood Builders has sold all its homes on Summerlin Avenue.

Out in Greenbriar of Loch Arbor, Kingswood has three homes completed and ready for occupancy. There are two more under construction, both four-bedroom with two baths. Visit and get an idea how you would like them finished.

Shoemaker Construction, according to its representatives, Herb Stenstrom Realty, has five homes avail-

Proceed With Caution

When a school bus stops at a crossover on a divided highway. should traffic flowing in the opposite direction stop?

"No," says the Florida Highway Patrol.

This question has arisen in the minds of many motorists who have hestitated. Some have stopped, some have continued, not knowing exactly whether they should have stopped or if they had violated a law. Add to this the danger of one motorist in one lane not knowing the law and stopping abruptly on a busy highway, such as U.S. 17-92, and another motorist in another lane proceeding in the same direction also stopping and you have trouble.

This happens every now and then and traffic approaching the stopped vehicles generally has to take to the dividing strip or to the outside shoulders of the highway. To clarify this point, The Herald asked the Florida Highway Patrol for its interpretation.

The law says that traffic flowing in the opposite direction from that of a stopped school bus need not stop if the highways are divided by an "intervening, unpaved space of five feet or by a physical barrier."

The crossover, a paved area permitting motorists to turn, is an unprotected area. The interpretation of the Highway Patrol is:

Even though the buses stop at the crossover, the divided highway is still considered as divided. Signs instructing motorists to stop when buses are "in this roadway" mean that, even at crossovers.

Some thought was given to having school buses stop away from the crossover, the FHP says, but this was discounted as some children would have had to cross both roadways. By stopping at the crossover, the bus would halt motorists appearing at a right angle to the direction of the bus.

So, if you travel north on a divided highway and a bus stops in the southbound lane you can continue, using caution, of course, the FHP 58V5.

Keeping Faith

The great voluntary overseas relief organizations of our religious faiths - Protestant, Catholic and Jewish - are currently engaged in their annual appeals for funds with which to carry on their overseas ministries among those stricken by disasters, by malnutrition, by political displacement and impoverishment, by flood, famine, disease, poverty and ignorance.

Millions of Americans will respond to these appeals on Sunday, Protestants through "One Great Hour of Sharing" observances in Protestant churches and Catholics through "The Bishops' Relief Fund" appeal in Catholic churches, while our national Jewish community will be emphasizing the United Jewish Appeal for funds to aid refugees and others in need abroad. Through these efforts, the traditional compassion of Americans for those less fortunate than themselves, will live in needs throughout the year.

Cigarette sales, which dropped as much as 30 per cent after the surgeon general's committee drew a link between cigarettes and cancer last Jan. 11, are starting to come back. United Press International checked state tax officials and major tobacco wholesalers and retailers throughout the nation to determine what happened to cigarettes in the two and a half months since the government report threw a scare into the country's smokers.

Sales are still down in many a reas. But authoritative sources in at least 12 states reported that elgarettes were starting to come back in March.

In some big cities, retailers said cigarcite sales were just like old times. And there were indications in other states that the drop in sales had reached the bottom and an upswing was in the making.

All dressed up for GASTER

We know a dour old philosopher who always has something nasty to say about what makes others happy. His latest diatribe is against folks "parading to Church in all their Easter finery."

But he won't get far with his complaints. For, strange as this might sound, the modern Easter "outfit" has its root in the very meaning of the day.

Easter has always stood for newness of life, It marks Christ's victory over death. It promises an eternal destiny to those who embrace the Faith.

Easter puts old things away and brings out the new - as the Earth sends forth its verdure - as God reveals our Hope.

And if there is a glow of happiness in wearing that new dress or hat or suit . . . well, it's only a hint of the joy that comes with finding that New Life.

"The Clock" passed along a tip to political candidates last Friday . . . thinking to help them.

VOL. 56

Spring

United Press Leased Wire

The tip was not meant as criticism. But now the Clockwinders are being criticized by the politicians. . . .

The tip was that several motorists telephoned The Herald and complained about those candidates parking their cars, with campaign signs on them, in the downtown section and taking up parking spaces. Many of the cars were there for the most part of the day.

Those who called The Herald seemed to be quite offended by the candidates. We published the tip in an effort to call this to the candidates' attention. If we offended the candidates we apologize. Really, we were trying to be helpful. Like the man said . . "There's nothing stranger than politics." . . .

DOCTORS' DAY was being observed in the Sanford area today as special tribute to members of the medical profession. The special day was proclaimed Friday by Mayor A. L. Wilson. Shown with him as they check the proclamation are Mrs. R. M. Rosemond, left, and Mrs. E. L. Lindsey. Area doctors wore red flowers while other floral displays were placed on hospital trays, in the hospital lobby, drug stores and churches. In charge of the local observance were members of the Women's Medical Auxiliary, of which Mrs. Lindsey is chairman.
