Another side of holidays: Helping the needy

By MARIA OREM Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - For most people the holiday season means grand meals and gifts. Those less fortunate rely on the kindness of others to see them through.

Volunteers at the Rescue Outreach Mission served about 175 Thanksgiving meals this past week. More than 300 food baskets packed with meat, vegetables, fruit and bread were distributed to grateful families, according to Mother Blanche Bell Weaver, founder of Sanford's first mission.

There was everything from turkey, ham and roast beef, to macaront and cheese, deserts and drinks. By about 3 p.m. Thanksgiving Day, it was all caten. Weaver credited All Souls Catholic Church for its support during the

"All the food was gone," said Mother Weaver, the mission's dining areas is quality food she would eat herself.

Weaver, 74, has been cooking and serving meals at the Outreach Mission for more than 11 years. She has seen the number of needy people increase through the years, but now hers is not the only agency helping out. Because of this, Weaver said, she is seeing more different faces and not the same ones coming in for a warm place to sleep and a hot meal. The need is there.

When we first started we were overloaded but now there are others to help." Weaver said.

When you see how many hungry people come in then you would understand. Some of those men can eat two plates and we have to tell them to stop because the others have to SANFORD - For almost 20 years the large Mediterranean style house on Park Avenue has been the family home of Paul and Jone Porter. The Porters moved to Florida from lowa when Paul came to work at Conklin, Porter and Holmes Engineers, Inc.

More than 50 years before, the house had been the family home of John Meisch Sr. and his wife, Elizabeth, Meisch was a local celery farmer. He served as chairman of the Seminole County Commission from 1925 to 1935. The house, built circu 1923, was designed by architect Elton J. Moughton, Moughton's work can also be seen in several other historic Sanford buildings. He designed the Cultural Arts Building, Holy Cross Episcopal Church, and the New Tribes Mission which was originally the Mayfair Hotel.

Paul and Jone Porter walcome tour-goers to their Park Avenue home.

Descendants of the Meisch family owned the house until it was purchased by the Porters in 1978. The unique Mediterranean exterior is eye-catching. The interior is just as uniquely impressive. The Porters have maintained the many intricacles that were characteristic of the original house. Visitors are charmed by the elaborate hardwood parquet floors found throughout the house. Built in cabinets, window seats, and plaster molding dental work are examples of the detail that went into the construction of

This house has some unusual features that should not be overlooked. Unlike most Florida homes, this one has a basement. The basement comes in handy for storing Jone's Grandmother's Christ-

The way we were: Remembering Sanford's Naval Air Station

I found that Liz and Sonny Horton had donated several other copies of the SNAS Sanfly to the Sanford Museum and the November 3, 1944 issue is a very informative one. It was published as a second anniverany issue of the commissioning of the Naval Air Station in Sanford.

A history of the Banford Navy base up to that paint was given on the front page. According to the article, the inception of NAS Sanfard could be traced directly back to the encels attack by the Japanese. Immediately after Pearl Harbor, the Secretary of the Navy decided that our aviation training facilities were inadequate. In order to take the load off of existing air stations and also to train pilots for all types of Naval aircraft, he directed the establishment of the Naval Air Operational Training Command. Its staff headquarters were at NAS Jacksonville.

The site at Sanford was proposed May 1942; its purpose was to base and train two bombins training units. Lt. Commander George T. Swiggum was appointed Resident Officer in charge of construction and, through his efforts, the base was nearly completed by September 1942.

They come here crying not knowing what to do and we take them in," she said. We try to relocate them and help them find jobs."

To accommodate mothers and their children, in January Weaver opened a second facility, the Rescue Open Door Mission. Between the two missions, Weaver and her staff serve about 300 meals every day.

"People are lined up outside the door every day," she said.

Weaver, a resident of Sanford for more than 30 years, said she has been helping people all her life. She said she has been blessed. In all the years she has been cooking for the needy. never once was she robbed or attacked for her groceries, not even in the roughest neighbor-hoods, she said.

For 27 years, she took care of children at her home for a state agency. She stopped doing that several years ago so she could focus more on the mission. But the children, now grown, still keep in touch and call her mom. "I love kids."

Weaver said she likes what she does because It makes people happy. For Christmas the mission on West 13th Street will serve a spe-cial meal and provide food baskets to the needy. Weaver will distribute toys that have been donated to the mission to the children during Christmas week.

Sometimes, although not very often, Brown said, people try to take advantage of the generosity of others by asking for food when they aren't really that needy. Because resources are

What a time to call time-out

The Sanford City Commissioners who requested a $53,000 study of the Sanford Police Department and named 15 members to a Law Enforcement Options Committee now want a time-out.

Whoa, not so fast, they're saying. No need at present to change the City Charter as was determined to be a top priority by the consultant who did the study and was unanimously recommended by the options committee.

We Five, the commissioners decided Monday, will call the shots awhile longer. Instead of having the police and fire chiefs report to the city manager as they do in every other municipality with a similar form of charter government. Sanford will do it differently. The referendum will wait until January 1999.

Do the commissioners think the police situation that has progressively worsened the last two decades will suddenly right itself with the very people who were part of the problem? Commissioners over the past two decades have allowed the problems to continue.

"They've closed their eyes," says Bobby Von Herbulis, a Sanford business leader who was on the options committee. "It's a mistake a big mistake to wait a year."

We agree.

The wait is far too long. The sooner the police and fire chiefs are held responsible for their actions on a daily basis by the city manager the better off for everyone. Reporting to five people who meet at best a few hours a week could mean more of the confusion which already exists.

If Sanford is expected to be the great city of the 21st Century, it needs to solve its police dilemma. Needs to solve it in 1998. It's time for the charade to end. Let the citizens vote at the start of 1998 not 1999. Everyone agrees the charter needs to be changed. What's the point in delaying the process?

County should dump speed humps

Apparently the Seminole County Commission is going to review Speed Bumps, Speed Humps. Or as I prefer to call them "Axle Breakers". The question is going to be whether or not to continue to install these "Axle Breakers" and should the ones now in place be removed?

There should be little time spent on this issue. They should all be removed and further installation of these things should never come before this, or any future, County Commission. I am sure that the original intent was honorable but let's face it. It is not a good idea and the vast majority of citizens do not want them, even in the areas that once were in favor.

I have written several times about this issue and have first hand experience by way of "Heart Line" of which I am proud to be of service. When the "Axle Breakers" were first installed. I asked the question, "How would the response time for ambulance, police, fire etc. affected." I was told that these bumps would not reduce the response time...not true! I didn't believe it then and I don't believe it now. In fact, these services have stated other-an easy decision for the commission. This is a law suit waiting to happen.

Years ago we made a major blunder when the speed bumps were first installed. Do we want to continue with this mistake and add more and more of these bumps throughout the county, or are we going to do the right thing and not only stop installing these axie break-ers, but also remove those now in existence. This reminds me of our first blunder many years ago when we first stated walking in sub-divisions. Now we are known as the Walled County'. Although this wasn't a good idea elther it is not as dangerous. Just an ugly site soon to be a part of our county when there be an ongoing problem.

Traffic should be controlled by the Sheriffs department, not speed bumps. There is also the issue of damage to vehicles that must constantly travel over these humps and bumps. The complaints are coming from within the communities where the bumps were placed. Soon we'll be facing the very people who live in these communities asking for repair bills for their vehicles.

Let's save money on these things, eliminate Let's save money on these things, cummate possible future legal problems, get out of the "Axle Breaker" construction business and spend the money repairing roads instead.

You heard it here first

Well, guess what? The idea presented in this newspaper regarding the use of the E-pass and the reduction of costs to those who frequently use the toll reads is now being considered. The problem is that they, these authorities, take a well presented and thought out concept and try to improve upon it without talking to the creator...that's me.

Their improvements usually make little sense and are, in essence, a blueprint for failure. It's almost like saying, "here's a great

Some truths we need to face witnessed several homeowners from white neighborhood (voters and taxpayers) at City Hall on a recent Monday night, trying to block a proposal by a developer from building luxury apartments near and around their neighboring homes.

Well, I truly sympathize with them, but the people in charge don't care any more about you than about me. We need to stop living in a paradise of ignorance and face the truth. Unless your money goes far and God is with you, you will never stop issues that come before city or county commissioners. Ninety percent of the time these issues are already preapproved.

We have some other truths we need to face and that is our young black and white males that are constantly being hi-jacked by the system. See, this county can't survive without drugs. As a matter of fact, it seems like the country can't survive without drugs.

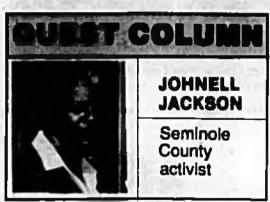

Let me share this with you. More than millions of dollars in jobs have been created for high level employees from the presence of the drug world. This county alone has over 20 resource programs in all areas and levels of drug treatment. Some are even duplicated, most of them are just vehicles to profit by recycling minorities and low class whites.

Programs are in classes such as boys/girls houses, ranches, centers, rehabs, and prevention. Most are of no value to minority commu-

I didn't see one program that encourages education or vocational studies for our youthful black males and underprivileged whites. I saw programs that give a little relief and then they are back on the streets.

Thanks to Rabbi Merrill Shapiro and the Jewish community for the offering of their building facilities in hopes for future voca-tional training in skill level areas so that we can help recycle some of our youth. I am willing to bet the governing body is going to find something wrong and a way to block this mis-

If it doesn't have something to do with get-ting arrested and making a state deal, then they (the government) are not interested. Racism, hatred and you being a Republican or a Democrat, may never change in this country, but we need to move up a step from ignorance and see that we're all in this mess together. We need to change our tactics. We need to say no to drugs and stop saying yes.

No don't...doesn't work. It had its opportunity for well over 30 years and there have been no changes. We need to switch over and legalize drugs. Crime will drop 80 percent and the use of drugs will decline by 90 percent. Nobody will see the dollar increasing and nobody will want it.

There would be no reason to hang on the streets all day, no trash filled barrels burning late at night to keep dealers warm. There would be less dropouts from school because of the money temptation. Fewer sheriffs arrests and state attorney's deals would force early retirements. Education would increase and there would be many more resourceful reasons rather than resource centers.

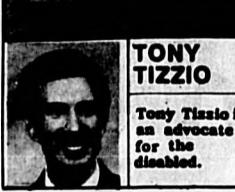

Finally, there is no police puzzle in the City of Sanford. They (governing body) don't want Chief Dillard, but are just being careful on how they dismiss him.

Like I said. Most things are already preapproved like Vian, just waiting for the oppor-tune time. The sheriffs plan will win in the end. Mr. Dillard needs to start packing a few items each day so when the time comes it won't take him long to leave.

I am a black man, not a fool. Until we blacks and whites agree on some issues against this evil spirited government, God have mercy on

I didn't hear about all these things when Dillard was deputy chief. Now he is chief with not even a full year of service and he's about to be policed out of his position.

Disabled and the law

For the next two columns we'll be examining some of the history, effects and laws re-lating to the disabled. Millions of people around the world have some kind of physical, mental, or emotional disability that se-cal, mental, or emotional disability that severely limits their abilities to manage their daily activities. In the past the most commonly used term to refer to the mentally and physically impaired, was handlessed, though some actually prefer the phrase, physically shallouged, rappetally among disabled persons themselves. The change reflects new attitudes that, along with medical and technotitudes that, along with medical and technological advances, have enabled many persons with disabilities to lead more normal

Some persons are born with such disabilities as CEREBRAL PALSY, SPINA BIFIDA. DOWN'S SYNDROME, BLINDNESS, DEAF-NESS, and EPILEPSY. However, accidents, disease, and war account for about threefourths of today's disabled Americans. Another aignificant group are elderly persons THRITIS and DIABETES.

Many diseases can cause a disability. A person who has had a stroke, for examp may lose the use of a limb, speech, or comprehension. Chronic diseases such as heart disorders, can limit a person to walking short distances. Arthritis is a common cause of disability. Though it is often considered a disease of older people, rheumatoid arthritis, can affect young people and even infants.

Persons with physical, sensory, or mental impairments that can make performing an everyday task more difficult, though this is a broad definition, it was estimated in the early 1990s that 19.4 percent of the United States population was disabled.

A change in the 1970's and 1980's centered on the rights of disabled people to the same protection under the law enjoyed by the rest of the population. In fact, laws and court decisions embodying civil rights of people with disabilities have affected several areas of

In education, federal law now guarantees a free appropriate public education to all disabled children, regardless of the severity of their condition. The federal Rehabilitation Act (1973) requires businesses that handle federal contracts to practice affirmative action in employing people and to make "reasonable accommodations" to their needs.

In 1990 came what I like to call "the disabled person's Declaration of Independence," the Americans with Disabilities Act, a U.S. civil-rights law that forbids discrimination against otherwise qualified individuals on the basis of a physical or mental handicap. The act is also designed to legally end most physical barriers to disabled persons in employment and in the use of accommodations, transportation, and telecommunic a-in advocating for their rights, disabled people have worked to establish several im-portant principles. One is that they be considered on the basis of individual merit, not on stereotyped assumptions about disabilities. Another is that society must make cer-tain changes to enable them to participate more easily in business and social activities.

An example is wheelchair access to public transportation, building entrances, and theaters. A third principle is that, to the extent appropriate for each individual, disabled people should be integrated with people who are not disabled. are not disabled.

Oviedo meeting was a debacle of democracy in action

If over there was an Ovisio meeting which should have been televised, it was the River Oaks Ovisio Council meeting of November 17. River Oaks, also known as the Flying Seminole Ranch, consists of 727 acres which Richland Properties wants to develop with 1032 homes on 478 of the buildable acres of land. Homes are to be built on 80, 70, and 85 foot wide lots in land just East of the Econlockhaichee lover, North of CR 418, and South of Willingham Road. That might a crowd of many than layer, North of CR 419, and South of Willing-layer Road. That night a crowd of more than 120 people witnessed "democracy in action" as the City Council voted 4-1 to approve the approve the approve the approve the land use change for River Calsa. It is too bad that this was not televised so that the citizens of Oviedo, Seminole County and the greater Or-lando area could see what happened at this

At the November 17 meeting, the 17 people to spoke against River Oaks raised many sestions which were, for the most part, left masswered. What about already crowded thools and roads? What are the impacts on vironmentally sensitive lands? What will appen to all of the gopher tortoises, species I special concern, who reside on this land?

Susan Eberie Susan Ebelle le a registered nurse who lives in Oviedo. She opposes government action that encourages explosive growth.

Guest Column

What about the sand hill cranes, a threatened species? How will this effect the Econlockhatchee River, an Outstanding Florida Water? What about flooding? Most of the present FEMA (Federal Emergency Management Agencyl maps are based on information which in 10-40 years old. Will there be a water shortage in the next few years? What about the Riveraide residents, across the road, who cannot sell their homes because of an abundance of similar homes for sale? What about the incompatibility of this development with the surrounding area? What about the quality of life and the property rights of existing property

At the meeting, River Oak's lawyer, Hal Kantor, and Councilman Hampton referred to studies which were done by the city and for the developer. In reference to com citizens, Mr. Hampton declared that, "we have to hear from your experts or we can't use it." Serious doubts must be raised about the accuracy of these experts and of studies done for the developer. Especially since I have been told by someone who does such studies that he was informed, before he did a study, of what the results would hel

Councilmen Beneon mentioned that he was aware that the developers or their representatives had, "gone fishing for votes." Mr. Kantor admitted to having phone conversations with some of the councilmen. Not only is this wrong; but was the Sunshine Law violated?

Councilman Hampton inferred that River Oaks would not be slashed and burned like Rnight's Krossing, UCF student housing. But if it is, the trees would be harvested or sold. Members of the audience were shocked as they do not want the trees cut in the first place. On November 20 I appeared at the Oviedo City Hall with blank tapes in hand to obtain a copies of the audio tape of the November 17 meeting. I was told by city staff that due to a malfunction the tapes were no good, and that they only had the small 2" tapes which were "of poor quality."

Democracy is not "alive and well" in Oviedo! By approving the River Oaks land use change Oviedo has failed to "listen to the people." Citisens who are unhappy with this decision need to call and write the councilmen. They also need to voice their disapproval on election day by voting against Councilmen Hampton, Viele, Hagood, and Dallari as they voted for the land use change. Mr. Benson, who voted against the land use change is the only one who deserves a return trip to office! It is also important to attend the December 1 City Council meeting on the River Oaka development agreement and conceptual plan. Also, donations are needed for mailings. Any amount is greatly appreciated and checks can be made out to C-RED (Coalition For Responsible Development) and mailed to C-RED, P.O. Box 621047, Ovtedo, Fl.

Sanford must not become adult entertainment dumping ground

According to our Mayor, Larry Dale, "Sanford doesn't want to become Seminole County's dumping graund for adult entertainment, but dustry to develop here." I am very disapnted in him, so well as the other City and country Commissioners who are accepting of the type of industry. I am especially disap-mented in Commissioner Daryl McLain, who reposed three sites to industrial areas next Sanford city limits," according to newspaper ecounts. All three of these sites are unaceptable! Why should Sanford allow one adult intertainment business to develop? It is comin knowledge that adult entertainment rings with it more crime, lower property valnegative impact on the citizens as a whole and on our children in particular. Why then do we have to allow something to develop that would negatively impact our city? Has Sanford not had enough bad publicity in the past?

I have been a resident of Sanford for 19 years and a teacher in Seminole County for 13 years. Several of those years were spent at Lakeview Middle School. Our School Board, administrators, and teachers have worked very hard to change the image of the Sanford schools, as well as the community, and we are headed upward. Are we now going to allow adult entertainment and the steam it attracts to guin all this hard work? We are pouring millioris of dollars trito the unique magnet pro-grams that are about to begin at Saniord Middie and Labeview middle schools. We now have an excellent program already in place at Semilan't is amazing how this concept has been written about so many times in the Sonford Herold, given to both Orange and Seminole County Commissioners, the various authorities, then campaigned by Commissioner Adams. More on that later.

Given to a few of our State Representatives and promoted for years only to be presented as the brainchild of these so called "experts" on the various roadway authorities who will find a way to improve it so it won't work!! This is what I have been referring to. We have people in these positions that couldn't come up with an original idea if God said to them. "Okay we're going to start all over. There are no ideas, see if you can come up with one". They wouldn't be able to do it.

This is what vision is all about and this is what is lacking among so many people in positions where it is really essential. There is nothing more important that vision. To be able to see how decisions made today can help us

Tiny Seminole County comes up big again in Fall prep sports

SANFORD _ On a map of Florida, Seminole County doesn't look like much more than a blip, but try telling that to athletic coaches from across the state.

Once again, county athletes and teams captured state-wide attention and nearly every team in the county competed in statewide competition with a championship at stake.

We all know about football, where Oviedo lost Friday night, but how about Seminole and their run to the state playoffs, almost capturing the district title after years of losing seasons.

It was a down year overall in the county for football and for the first time in awhile. no Seminole County school was represented in the Rotary Bowl, but every starting quarterback in the county is back next season. including Oviedo's Josh Cullen, Lake Mary's Cory Cooper and Lake Brantley's Brian Criswell, all of whom made a major impact

And despite the down year as far as wonloss records, for years people will talk about some of the games that made the season so compelling such as the Lake Mary-Seminole overtime thriller to close out the season and the Oviedo-Lake Howell game that started it. Lyman improved everywhere but on the scoreboard and the county said hello to three new coaches - George Clayton at Lake Brantley, Greg Register at Oviedo and Jim Worthington at Seminole - all of whom put their personal stamp on their programs.

Finally, let's remember the big moment early in the season when Brandon Blake hit Brett Weber for a long touchdown as Winter Springs accred its first ever football points in junior varsity action.

In swimming, it was business as usual at Lake Brantley. Once again, the Patriots dominated everyone else and sent a strong contingent off to states. Leading the boys squad were Jose Hernando and Phillip Norris while a strong group of mostly under-classmen - Casey Seland, Kim Scarborough, Carrie Nelson, Shannon Stewart and Brittany Penland - led the way to a district title.

The Patriots weren't the only stars on the water. Lake Mary's Jim Kostowicz won a dis-trict title and Winter Springs, in its first year, had several swimmers including David Stone, Jason Lemke, Sean Snyder, Ned Golden, Will Low, Justin Stephens and Tiffany Levine to qualify for states.

Seminole's swim team also made its biggest impact in years as Uros Kalinic, Jennifer Armstrong and Lori Thomas came through

Although cross country runners generally labor in obscurity. Mia McCormick had a big year for Lake Howell and Lake Brantley competed for the state finals before losing. Stephanie Cornell was the leader for the Pa-

Winter Springs once again made an impact, finishing 14th in states.

Yet again, Seminole County was home to the VolleyFest winner which crowns the unofficial state champion. For once, instead of Lake Mary, it was Oviedo that took the grown, taking it on Lake Mary's home court. For the girls, no one made it to Lakeland but Winter Springs made an immediate impact and Lake Mary was highly ranked before an upset loss at Tarpon Springs in the states last month. Regardless of the early finish, Jeannie Manz, Angi Woodall, Stephanie Dale and the rest of the Lady Rams proved that when it comes to volleyball, it doesn't get much tougher than winning the Seminole Athletic Conference title.

Don't forget about bowling. The Lake Mary boys and the Lyman girls took home conference championships, but anyone driving around Lake Mary recently would have known since the team members soaped their own message on their cars with reminders of the title.

That's just fall sports. This winter, look for a run at a state title from the Lake Mary girls and several county teams will vie for state recognition in boys basketball. In wres-iling, Oviedo and Lake Mary figure to battle it out for the top and the Lyman boys and Lake Brantley girls both have state title hopes in soccer.

Priday night.
Scoring on six consecutive offensive series, the Lake City-Columbia Tigers ruthlessly mauled the visiting Lions, 50-20, in their Class 6A North Regional semifinal football game Priday.

The Tigers, ranked No. 6 in the final Florida Sports Writers' Association's Class 6A state poll, will heat Bradenton-Southeast in the host Bradenton-Southeast in the North Regional championship game next Friday night.

Oviedo finishes 8-4.

"Our seniors did a great job," said first-year Oviedo head coach Oreg Register. "We want to build a championship calibre program and this was the first step. I'm very proud of our kids.

"Columbia is a phenomenal team. They did a great job. We couldn't stop their sweep all night long. And when you can't stop the sweep, you're in for a very long night."

After the first 12 minutes, it appeared that the Lions may be up to peared that the Lions may be up to the challenge presented by the un-beaten Tigers (12-0).

Columbia took the opening kick-off 65 yards for a touchdown and Oviedo answered with a 90-yard scoring drive of its own. Quinton Callum scored for the Tigers on a 4-yard run while senior quarter-back Josh Cullen pushed in from the 1-yard line to equalize for the

But things got ugly in the second quarter for the Lions and the more than 500 (estimated) Oviedo fans who made the journey.

For starters, Columbia limited Oriedo to just eight offensive plays which netted one negative yard. Meanwhile, the Tigers accred three times, constructing drives of 80 and 71 yards for a pair of touch-downs and returning an Oviedo fumble 14 yards for a third.

From the moment that Wayne Jernigan crossed the goal line after collecting the Lion fumble and scoring Columbia's fourth touchdown, it was, to quote the ver-nacular, all over but the shouting.

There was one last glimmer of hope for the Lions, who took the second half opening kickoff and marched 82 yards for a touchdown. Cullen and wide receiver Chad Garrett hooking up on a 6-yard scoring

That glimmer of hope quickly extinguished by Callum, who sprinted 80 yards around right end for a touchdown on Columbia's next offensive play from acrimmage. After the Tigers forced Ovicdo to punt on its next series. Chris Butler followed the path blazed by Callum, scoring on a 47-yard dash.

Callum scored his third touch-down -- and Columbia's final one of the evening -- with 57 seconds left in the third quarter, this one

LAKE MARY _ They don't look like silent assassins

If you had to pick the two best point guards in Central Florida out of a group of students, chances are Oviedo's Mary Lou Johnston and Lake Mary's Ashlee Ballance wouldn't be recognized.

Both are unassuming, somewhat shy underclass-men, but when they take the court, they change into deadly team leaders how can light up the scoreboard or dominate a game without scoring a point. The two have been playing against each other for as long as they can remember, at least since Johnston gave up ballet for basketball.

"In fifth grade my parents signed me up for bas-ketball," Johnston, now a sophomore, said as Ballance giggled. "I wanted to be a ballerina so I was kind of upset but when I started to play AAU ball in sixth grade, I had to drop something so I kept bas-ketball. I don't think I ever realized I was good enough to be a basketball player because, once you think you're goo, somebody turns out better."

Ballance said her situation was similar in that she was signed up to play by her parents and things grew from there, all the way to a berth in the state finals last season.

Johnston is the one making all the headlines lately. She has already had outputs of 41 and 37 points this early in the season and Ballance is capable of the same except that she is on a team loaded with scorers.

"I'm not trying to score points," Ballance said.

That's not what I'm looking for. I have to run the offense because it's a total team effort." Ballance and Johnston have both been variety said. We can only try to slow her down because the entire Lake Mary offense goes through Ashlee."

The coaches also recognize how important the underclassmen are to their teams.

"Neither of these teams would be a success without the other," Bleri said. "They are both flercely competitive and they both are such good people.

One thing they have in common are their games. Ballance and Johnston are both quick, slashing ballhandlers who can either run a fast break or slow down offense. They each have great jump shots and don't have a problem driving to the hoop if that's what it takes. Johnston scores more inside points and tied the state record for three-pointers last week with eight in a rout of St. Cloud. Johnston has to be the scorer this season with a depleted team that is off to a rocky start, already suffering losses in conference to Lyman and Semi-

Ballance has a better situation, having a plethora of scorers to dish off to, but she can hit the three as well as anyone in the county. If the players traded teams and Johnston had the Lake Mary offense and Ballance ran Oviedo's, the scoring averages could easily be reversed with Ballance piling up the points and Johnston racking up tons of assists.

Another trait they have in common is their ability to run their high-powered offenses as underclassmen. Barking out orders to a senior isn't always taken well by the upperclassmen but Ballance and Johnston understand the need to be a team leader no matter what the date is on their birth certificate.

Every time I go on the court, coach tells me I have to take charge," Johnston said. The final thing they share is a mutual respect for each other. Their paths may only cross twice each season but they are aware of what's going on at the opposite ends of the county. 'It's not a matter of stopping Mary Lou." lance said. We just try to contain her. I cover

Bulldogs, Cowboys, Falcons and 49ers claim Flag titles

From Staff Reports

SANFORD _ The Buildogs pitched a shutout to win the Minor Division crown, while The Fine-ons and Cowboys rolled to victories to split the Major Division title and joined Senior Division winner 49ers as champions of the Sanford Rec-reation Department Youth Flag Football League.

Barry Stevenson ran for touchdowns in each half and the Buildogs defense kept Kashiff Val-lot and the Golden Knights' potent ground game bottled up all day as they rolled to a 16-0 playoff victory in the Minors.

In the Majors, the Cowboys and Jaguars got hooked up in a give and take game, but in the end the Cowboys proved to be best as they preaffed 28-18 to secure co-champion status.

They were joined on the podium by the Faicons, who outscored the Bears 16-0 in the second half to win 24-6.

A week earlier, the 49ers had won the Senior Division as Curk Scott caught an 18-yard touchdown pass from Lazarus Mitchell with six seconds left in an 18-minute overtime period to edge the Bears 20-14.

Look before you shoot and hunt safely in Florida

SANFORD _ The Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission (GFC) entimates 130,000 licensed Florida hunters will take to the woods this season to hunt for everything from antiered white-tailed deer to bobwhite quail. With so many people tramping through the woods with guns, the GPO's Law Enforcement Division would like to remind hunters to remember aslety first. One hunting accident is one too many.

"Hunting is one of the safest sports a person can participate in," said Capt. Ed Tyer, the GPC's hunter education supervisor. Part of the hunter's pledge to to hunt safely. One way to learn about safety is through the hunter education course. The course has helped reduce hunting accidents. There were fewer accidents last year than the year before."

Hunter education requirements currently allow children under the age of 16 to hunt under the supervision of an adult without having completed the hunter education course. Persons born on or after June 1, 1975, cannot purchase a hunting license without proof of successful completion of a hunter education course.

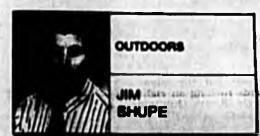

Tyer said there are several safety measures that are the responsibility of every hunter. He said focusing on your target, knowing where your hunting partners are, and properly securing a tree stand are all extremely important. Focusing on a target enables the hunter to make sure his target is legal game and not another hunter or nongame animal. "Hunters should try not to get too excited," Tyer said. "Over-excitement can ruin a hunter's concentration and lead to an accident. For example, people running dogs may get caught up in the thrill of the chase and lose focus on their target."

When hunters go out in a party, each member needs to be aware of where the others are hunting. That is important for accident prevention and also for search parties in case a hunter gets lost. Hunters going out alone should tell someone of their location and how long they will be and should always let someone know when they change hunting locations.

"Another safety measure hunters may forget about is properly securing a tree stand and wearing a climbing belt. Last year a hunter fill out of a tree stand and broke his back," Tyer said. "Too many falls are caused by hunters falling asleep, slipping off the stand or failing to secure the stand."

STATISTICS REVEAL THAT THE MAJORITY OF FATAL HUNTING AC-CIDENTS OCCUR AT UNDER FIFTY YARDS BY HUNTERS SHOOTING INTO BUSHES AT UNIDENTIFIED TARGETS.

FISHING FORECAST

Expect good base action in the river from Puzzle Lake south to Lake Winder. My top tactic would be slow trolling live shiners around weed beds with an electric trolling motor. Speckled perch are becoming more active in Lake Monroe. Simply head for the largest group of boats to find the fish.

Sebastian inlet has big winter flounder hitting finger mullet bounced along the bottom. Flatfish to 13 pounds are caught each winter. Snook action is still fair, with linesides running from 8-20 pounds. Live shrimp worked slowly around rocky structures on a bare leadhead jig is a deadly tactic for Sebastian snook. Also expect a few redfish, bluefish and trout.

Captain Jack at Port Canaveral reports that offshore reports have been few because of high seas. Calmer seas should find king mackerel on Pelican Flats and dolphin and wahoo in 180-240 feet of water. Inside the Port. sheepshead and flounder continue to bite. Trout and redfish are rated as fair on the flats of the Banana and Indian

Big sheepshead are stealing the show at Ponce Inlet. The hole at the tip of the north jetties is the real hot spot. Live shrimp or fiddler crabs are top baits. Small bluefish, redfish, drum and jack crevalle round out the action. Trout and redfish are rated as good on the flats of Mosquito Lastoon.

GFC Auxillary Check Stations OCALA _ in an effort to more conveniently serve hunters using the Ocala arill talle Goorge whom management areas (WMA's), the Florida

Came and Fresh Water Fish Commis-ates (GPC) will provide 12 auxiliary deer check stations in addition to the k stations known as North and Bouth Hunt.

All deer taken from Ocala or Lake George WMA shall be checked and tagged at a check station prior to being diamembered or transported out of the hunt area. By checking their deer through one of the stations, hunters greatly assist biologists by providing information that helps them manage deer populations.

100 Over-50 Club members celebrate silver anniversary

For more than 25 years, the Sanford Over-50 Club has been performing a unique service to the Sanford area. Since its inception 50 years ago, the club has grown to 150 members who meet every other week for socializing and having fun.

The club began in 1972 at all Souls Catholic Church in Sanford. President Phil Gunster said. When John Kane became president in 1979, he opened it up to the community.

In addition to playing a vital role in the annual Golden Age Games, the JOver-50 Club has, for years, sponsored the Wednesday afternoon dances at the Sanford Civic Center, Phil said the attendance is down this year from an average 200 to about 150 who wouldn't miss the weekly festivity for the world. The crowd dances to the music of the Deltonians, a 12-piece band, and have a barrel of Am.

Also, the club sponsors trips to exciting places and particianniversary, about 100 mem-bers attended a cookout at the Sanford Senior Center. Phil Gunster recognized the eight st presidents including the first president, Frances Filiger.

During the silver anniversary celebration, the following officers were elected: Phil Gunster, president; Colin Sayer, vice president; Ethel Fried, secretary; and Flo Wilson, treasurer.

And now, as the year comes to a close, the Over-50 members will don their Sunday to kick up their heels at the an-nual Christmas party at the Sanford Civic Center on Dec. 9. BOOK REPORTS

WINTER SPRINGS _ Crosbet han been a part of Liz Malo's life for over 50 years. A sibling taught her this hobby and she now edges in projects by the television at night or any other spare second she has.

"I learned crarket when I was 10 years old," she said. "My older stater taught me. After that I went to books and patterns and learned to read the patterns on my own."

Although Main said she 'let the crochet lag' a bit while her children were growing she has kept an ongoing love for the craft. In fact, all of her children enjoy beautifully crafted Al-"Most of my work goes to family and friends," she said. "I'm real proud of some crochet rugs I made. They were made of rage. You use large utilches and a big needle with rage from 2 % to 4 Inches wide. The rugs were heart shaped. I made them a couple of years ago."

Malo added that when working on a project for a friend or family member she tries to keep in mind what the color scheme of their home might be. She makes every effort to color coordinate and in dividualize each one.

in the early years Malo cited that many of her endeavors were items such as boby hoo tien, baby blankets, sweaters and various Aighans or dollies. She was especially excited about a Harley David son alghan she once made for her son who is a motorcycle enthusiast.

According to Malo, most of the Alglains she creates are

Clubwomen learn about faux finishes

Have you seen those wonderful walls that look like marble? Or new finishes that look old? Many of those finishes are done by professionals. But anyone can learn to paint faux finishes. Bob Aydt of Village Paints in Lake Mary was the guest speaker for the November meeting of the Lake Mary Woman's Club. To show every one just how easy some of the finishes are to do, Bob had volunteers from the audience try some of the finishes.

First, Bob used an assistant to show the audience how easy and ordinary finish is. Bob took a wooden shelf that had been sanded. His volunteer dipped a rag in stain and then wiped it over the wood surface. The wood took on a light oak color. The shelf had been sanded with a fine grain of sandpaper. If you prefer a darker color, sand with a rougher grain of sandpaper. A rougher grain opens the wood pores more allowing them to take in more stains.

Aging a finish, essentially making something look like an antique, is also very popular. There are many methods to achieve this. With one method, you also get a 3-dimensional look. The finish involves using a base coat and allowing it to dry. The top coat is a glazing paint (glazing paint allows un-dercoat to show through). While the top coat is still wet. you can use a feather duster, sponge or cioth to take off the excess paint. Whatever you use to take off the excess paint will determine the texture of the finish.

Even metal can be aged. Bob and a volunteer used a new brase pitcher to demonstrate.

First the surface was primed. All metal surfaces [and any other non-porous surface) must be specially primed so that the finish will bond with the mirface. After priming the brass pitcher, a patina finish was added, giving the pitcher a verdigris look. It really looked like an antique.

Despite how much money some people in Florida spend fighting rust, others like the look. Village Paint sells quite a bit of instant rust for those wanting the look.

BREAKFAST WITH SANTA AND SHOW

St. Peter's Preschool will hold its annual Breakfast with Santa from 7:30 to 10:30 a.m. on Saturday, Dec. 6. There will be tons of real anow, hayrides and face painting. There will also be a silent auction, bake sale and Santa's Marketplace. Breakfast will be eggs, bacon, sausage, pancakes, trutt and a drink. Santa will be available for pictures for just 82. Advanced tickets cost $4.50 for adults, $2.50 for children 3 and up and $15 for a family ticket that admits up to 6 people. Tickets purchased at the door are $5.50, $3.50 and $17 respectively. DEAR ABBY: In reference to the letter from the 71-year-old woman who suffered from chronic pain after a car accident: Your advice to see a pain specialist about alternative methods of dealing with pain needs to be heard by all.

At 40 years of age, I was rear-ended. A year later I was in another car accident. I was diagnosed with three neck and back injuries and had surgery on both my hands for carpal tunnel syndrome. I was ted with pain medication, high blood pressure medicine, antidepressants and muscle relaxants. I was in diapers for two years for incontinence. (Only later did I realize this was a side effect of the drugs!) The only constant in my life was pain and depression. I was under the care of doctors, but finally came to realize that I had to take charge of my life. I had to either change it or end it!

To make a long story short, I heard about hypnosis and biofeed-back. I went, and after four sessions, I was pain-free! My blood pressure is now normal, I've lost 40 pounds, and I'm no longer depressed. I love being around peo-

I lost seven years of my life to pain. Abby, please advise your readers to never settle for living in pain. Miracles do happen, thanks to the Lord and my doctor. You may use my name.

L BARRAS, ST. MARTINVILLE, LA.

DEAR L. BARRAS: I'm pleased to learn that your recovery was so successful, and I'm printing your testimonial. No one shenid have to live in constant pain. Read on for

DEAR ABBY: One of your readers recently expressed concern about becoming addicted to pain medication. I agree with your recenmendation to see a pain specialist for non-pharmaceutical treatment. Unfortunately, these methods are not always effective. Many patients continue to require strong pain medication for relief.

The vast majority of people who take narcotics for pain do not become addicts. Although tolerance (the requirement for bigger doses) and dependence (the development of withdrawal symptoms after audden discontinuation) are associated with addiction, they do not represent true addiction by themselves.

Addiction is a condition in which people make obtaining and using the drug the centerpiece of their existence. The use of the drug is an end point in Itself. Drug addicts withdraw and become less functional when they take drugs. In contrast, chronic-pain patients be more functional when they use their drugs, and are able to join in basic social activities frequently denied lished that chronic-pain sufferers develop tolerance and dependence while on narcotics, but these are expected side effects - not signs of addiction - and are not considered indications for discontinuing the drug. Tragically, tolerance and dependence are often mistaken for a tion, and the drugs are abruptly stopped. It is well known that pain patients sometimes take their own ives when their medications are discontinued. I have come to call this "algocide" — suicide driven by pain.

Better understanding of true addiction, as opposed to the commenplace occurrence of tolerance and dependence, would help alleviate the daily suffering of millions of people and prevent many deaths per year due to algoride.
MICHAEL S. GORBACK, M.D.,

THE CENTER FOR PAIN RELIEF. HOUSTON

DEAR DR. GORBACK: Your DEAR DR. GORBACK: Your philosphy may be viewed by some as audacious, but it's legical and sensible. I was fascinated to learn that in the late '80s, Texas was the first state to pass intractable-pain statutes that grant physicians great latitude in prescribing medication to those who suffer from chronic pain — and since then, more than half of the other states have enacted similar guidelines. It is also illuminating that the incidence of drug or alcohol incidence of drug or alcohol abuse in chronic-pain patients is no higher than in the general population.

Perhaps this will put to rest the concerns of chronic-pain patients whose quality of life suffers because they fear chemi-cal dependence.

Brantley takes over Altamonte Springs

American Government class takes over City Hall

By JEFF BERLINGER Herald Staff Writer

For one day, the entire city of Altamonte Springs was at the merey of Lake Brantley

High School students.
The students were part of a Teen Town experience, re-sulting from a partnership between the school and the city of Altamonte Springs. R allows American Government students to learn more about the dynamics of ;local gov-ernment through a series of hands-on activities to experience city government firsthand.

The whole thing started when teacher Judy Carrico participated in a course in local government by the Florida League of Cities over the

"I thought it would be great we could build a partnership with them," Carrico said.

"We applied for a grant to start out and chose Altamonte Springs."

In early September, four

Then came election day. Students were given ballots to fill out to apply for the positions of City Manager; City Attorney, Police Chief, City Clerk, City Finance Director, and other positions such as photographers and news reporters on that exceptions porters so that everything that goes into running a city commission could be experienced by at least one Lake Brantley student.

To apply for a spot on the ballot, signatures were needed by three teachers, 10 students, and a questionnaire had to be completed.

After that was all done, students in the class voted and positions were assigned.

and the Lake Brantley stu-dents attended and participated, most for the first time. Tve never been to a commission meeting so it was pretty interesting," Richard Koraneky seid. It didn't always go off

pital, and he had to ad lib. He got his input from the audience and pulled it off fine.

The students weren't playing around. News photogra-pher Rumi Siddiqui anid, Everyone really got into their

Lake Brantley got its voice heard when the students made their own proposals on issues such as sensitivity training for police officers and the traffic coming into

They also learned that a lot of city government is simply listening to citizens vent their gripes.

"There were a lot of com-plaints," Shellhammer said. The code enforcement guy was awesome but he just listened to everybody complain. I wouldn't want to meas with See Brantley, Page 48

Seminole County residents showcased

BY DAVID PRASIER Herald Staff Writer

MAITLAND - Local residents will display their filmmaking talents this weekend in the Seventh Annual Brouhaha Film & Video Showcase at the Englan Theater in Meitland.

The showcase celebrates Florida's independent film and video makers. Brouhaha shows budding Florida filmmakers, to discover new films, to offer a cultural event in Central Florida film community an enhanced sense of iden

This year, a selection of 52 narrative, documentary, experimental, and computer antmated films and videos will play throughout the two-day relebration.

Serena (formerly Ric Perez) began making stop motion films at age of 11 with his Super 8 stop motion name at age of 11 with mes super of camera and G.f. Joe toys. He began to take the hobby more seriously during a video production course at Seminole High School under Charite Schomer. After graduating from Seminole in 1992, Serena attended the school of Moving Image Arts at the College of Santa Fe in New Mexico, where he was awarded Dean's List for both semesters as well as Most Outstanding Freshman. He is currently a free-lance producer/editor while working full time as Senior Editor at K & K productions in Or-

Book two in the recommended Card Play Made Easy series by Australian Ron Klinger and Englishman Andrew Kambites is called "Know Your Suit Combinations" (Gollancz). Much information and many quizzes are packed into 96 small, widely spaced

You learn not only how to play numerous suit combinations, but also how the bidding or full-deal considera-tions may modify your approach — as

West opens with a weak no-trump showing 12-14 high-card points. North's two-club overcall is the Landy convention, promising length in both majors. Against four hearts, West starts the defense with the diamond ace, the diamond king and a third diamond to his partner's queen, which

Normally, you would plan to finesse the heart queen, which is the percent-ge play for no loser in the suit.

However, here you know East cannot have king-doubleton because that would give West (the no-trump open-er) a singleton. And if West has the heart king, you have three red-suit losers. To make the contract, you must find the spade queen. Yet, on the point-count, either opponent could have this key card. To avoid guessing, you should endplay West. Play a club to dummy's ace, return

Play a club to dummy's ace, return to the heart ace (happy that East follows suit), cash the club king, discarding a spade from the dummy, and ruff your last club in the dummy. Finally, exit with a trump. West must return either a spade, finding the queen, or a minor, conceding a ruff-and-discard.
