Mayfair Opens '56-57 Season Saturday Night

Fans Urged To Keep Keen Eye On War Eagles In Bowl Tilt

It will be in order to keep a keen eye on the War Eagles of Sanford Grammar School during the Peanut Bowl game which is Friday night at Sanford Memorial Stadium.

Coached throughout the season by homeroom teacher Richard Jones, the War Eagles have been one of the stronger teams this year.

Only until the last game of the season did they lose out on the championship game. All in all, they are strong on defense, but their offensive game is weak.

They needed someone who could throw the long passes for them, along with a player that could kick the ball well out of danger for them.

Colors worn by the Eagles during the Peanut Bowl game will be billy green with white numerals.

Players to watch are:
No. 16 — Eugene Taylor: one of the bigger boys of the forward wall. He has kept the opposing team on guard all season. Other teams usually have to double-guard him if they wanted to really keep him out of their backfield.

No. 19 — Tommy Hinson: an offensive end and backfield man. Is talented as an end on the down an out pass.

No. 3 — Joe Lee Thompson: one of the smallest men on the War Eagles team. He can run, pass, or kick. Especially dangerous as a downfield runner.

No. 4 — Willie Waden: a defensive line backer. Has intercepted several passes this year and is very good on play diagnosis.

No. 8 — Billy Stevens: The big question mark in the backfield for the War Eagles. When Billy was on, the War Eagles rolled on to victory. He was out part of the season due to illness.

Festivities Will Begin At 7 p. m.

The Mayfair Inn will officially open its 1956-57 season Saturday night when a record crowd will join with hotel officials for the colorful event that annually begins the tourist season here.

Manager Frank Mebane said this morning that reservations are "fast coming to a close as local citizens make arrangements for their parties which will help celebrate this year's event."

Invitations were mailed several weeks ago announcing the fourth-coming Saturday night gala affair.

Festivities will begin at 7 o'clock Saturday night when cocktails will be served. Dinner is announced for 8 o'clock and dancing is slated to begin at 9:30.

A New York orchestra will arrive in Sanford in time for the Saturday night gala opening and will remain here at the Mayfair Inn for the entire season. The three-piece orchestra ensemble will play for Mayfair Inn events throughout the entire winter season here.

"Those who have made reservations for the Mayfair Inn Opening Saturday night are slow in picking up their tickets," officials of the Mayfair Inn pointed out today.

"It doesn't look like it now, but we will be completely ready by Saturday night to welcome all of our Sanford and Central Florida friends at the formal opening of this season of the Mayfair Inn," said Manager Frank Mebane Jr.

The opening will coincide with the beginning date of the Mayfair Inn's $15,000 PGA Open which will start next Tuesday.

"Many of our guests will begin arriving this weekend," said Frank Mebane Jr., "to get in a few practice rounds at the popular Mayfair Inn Country Club."

List Of Noted Golfers For PGA Open Growing

The list of prominent golfing names is growing longer each day as the Mayfair Inn's $15,000 PGA Open reaches its final planning stage.

Mayfair Inn Manager Frank Mebane Jr. said today that Frank Stranahan, rated as 5th best amateur of all time by U. S. golf writers, has indicated he will be in Sanford for next week's event.

Many top golf honors from around the world have been won by Stranahan. He is four times winner of the World Amateur Championship, four times winner of the Western Amateur Championship, a former National Amateur Champion, and former British Amateur Champion.

Stranahan turned pro last year and immediately won the Eastern Open at Baltimore, tied for second place this year at the Texas Open and tied for fifth place at the tough Greensboro Open.

In a telephone conversation with Manager Frank Mebane Jr. yesterday, Stranahan said "I'm skipping the West Palm Beach and Havana tournaments and practicing for this one in Sanford—I want to win it."

Other top golfers who have indicated they will take part in the Mayfair Inn Open are: Gardner Dickinson Jr., Doug Ford, Bob Toki, Dow Finsterwald, Porky Oliver and Jay Hebert.

Porky Oliver will be winter pro at the local Mayfair Inn Country Club this season and Jay Hebert has represented the Mayfair Inn around the golf circuit as playing pro.

3 Charter Members Recognized

Kiwanians Observe 35th Anniversary

The Sanford Kiwanis Club celebrated its 35th anniversary last night with a ladies night and inter-club meeting.

Organized on Dec. 5, 1921, three of the charter members are still affiliated with the club, one of them, Ed Lane, an active member who last night served as Master of Ceremonies for the entertainment portion of the program.

Cutting the eight-tier blue and white iced anniversary cake, were Mrs. Ed Lane, wife of the charter member, and Mrs. A. L. Wilson, wife of the club's president.

More than 100 members and wives attended the banquet given as an annual Ladies Night pre-Christmas party.

A group of Kiwanis members and their wives from the Tavares Club attended the local celebration and inter-club meeting.

Fred Wilson, past lieutenant-governor of Florida Kiwanis read the list of 30 charter members who originated the Sanford Kiwanis Club. The three original members who still retain their connection with the local organization are: T. W. Lawton, J. C. Hutchison, and Ed Lane.

Ten past presidents of the club were recognized and president A. L. Wilson who presided at the meeting, Wilson read a greeting from Reid C. Culp, president of Kiwanis International. He also read a tribute to Ralph Smith, Sanford Kiwanis Club secretary, sent in a greeting from Kiwanis International's secretary.

Jerry Shellenraeger announced the Sanford Kiwanis Club participation in providing marshals for the Mayfair Inn's Golf tournament. He called for volunteers to serve during next week's event.

Frank Mebane Jr., a member of the club and Manager of the Mayfair Inn told Kiwanis Club members "We received so many compliments on how the marshals conducted the tournament last year I hope we can continue that record."

Miss Bonnie Fleischman, young accordionist, entertained with musical numbers and led club singing.

Allyson Lee received a standing ovation when she concluded the playing of three selections: Impromptu; her own arrangement of Autumn Leaves and Trees; and Concluding the entertainment were the popular: Paul Caskey, Pete Buker, and Jack Rosman, with original arrangements and impressions.

Jaycees Will Hear FSU Football Story Tomorrow At Meet

The Seminola County Junior Chamber of Commerce members will hear the complete story of Florida State University football this year for the future, at their noon luncheon meeting tomorrow at the Yacht Club.

Assistant Coach Paul Odom, who was Captain of Stetson's 1955 football team, will be the guest speaker at the Jaycee weekly luncheon and meeting.

Odom graduated from Orlando schools, attended Rollins College and later attended Stetson where he graduated.

There is a possibility that Odom will have additional news and comment on "Buck" Metts and "Bubba" Hisee, both of Sanford, and both prominent players in the FSU football lineup.

A La Carte Portions Served

SHS School Girls Can Count Calories For Trim Figures

"Diet conscious Seminole High School girls and hearty-eating boys have helped us maintain one of the finest lunchrooms in the state," Andrew J. Bracken, principal of the school, revealed recently.

As a matter of fact, he said, many folks who visit us here will go out of their way just to eat one of our meals.

"Dave Fuller, for instance," said Bracken, "told me on the telephone recently that if we were serving those good lunches here he would come down to visit us." (Dave Fuller is the baseball coach and football backfield coach at the University of Florida.)

Prof. R. J. Longstreet, at Stetson University remarked "I'll go out of my way to stop by to eat." Mrs. Louise Hasty, lunchroom manager at Seminole High School remarked in an interview "You'd be surprised how many girls eat just a salad, but the boys are always asking for larger helpings."

"We can serve lunches so reasonable because of the help we get from the federal government's surplus commodity program," said Mrs. Hasty. "Already this year we have received around $2,000 in surplus commodities. And we get a cash reimbursement of 3-cents a pint on milk," she said.

Food is served in several different ways Mrs. Hasty explained as she looked over the lunchroom, crowded of course, but clean and literally filled with the aroma of food cooking and being prepared for the noon lunch periods.

She explained that there are two lines which the students are served—one line is for the plate lunches where each student has a choice of vegetables and salad—then there is the la carte line where students can choose from various salads, pies, cakes or individual helpings of food.

In addition, Seminole High School students have a sandwich bar where they may choose from six different sandwiches—egg salad, lettuce and tomato, ham salad, chicken salad, pimento cheese, bologna, and spiced ham—sandwiches, other than ham and chicken salad, are 10c. The two salad sandwiches are 15c each.

Another service available in the lunch room at Seminole High School, explained Mrs. Hasty, is the hamburger table. These sandwiches are 15c with toppings of cheese, pickles, relish, mustard or catsup served at an extra charge.

As for drinks, milk is tops on the list of high school boys and girls. "We have more than doubled the use of milk this year over last year," Mrs. Hasty said, "with pints costing 7c and half-pints only 4c."

Boys getting two hamburgers for lunch usually get a quart of milk with them, she explained.

This is Mrs. Hasty's seventh year managing the Seminole High School lunchroom. And the care she takes in "seeing to it" that each boy and girl is served properly and receives the food he or she should get, reflects the thoughtful analysis she applies to lunch preparation.

"If I find a boy or girl coming through the line selecting a poor lunch—I try to find out why," she said, "and usually the thinner they are the lighter they eat."

Commenting on the difference in diets Mrs. Hasty remarked "Boys just eat better than girls—and not because they are diet conscious either."

Now, take the usual lunches that are served here—the boys choose a meat, mashed potatoes (and they eat plenty of them, too), one or two vegetables, desert and milk. Mrs. Hasty said. As a result, she said, the average cost of a boys lunch is 40c while the girls' lunch averages about 25c.

"We serve a variety of foods," the lunchroom supervisor said. There are jelled salads, cottage cheese and fruit, egg salad, cole slaw, cottage cheese salad and potato salad, "not all at one time, of course, but varying from day to day."

And for 25c Principal Bracken explained during the interview, a student can get a meat, choice of vegetable and salad, or two vegetables and roll.

"We do our own baking too, every bit of it, with the exception of the hamburger buns," said Mrs. Hasty. "We bake pies, cakes, rolls, cornbread, and

Dec. 1 Bad Luck Day For Two

BY MARIAN JONES
OVIDO—Friday 13th may be bad luck day to some people. As far as our part is concerned ours fell on Saturday, December 1st. If anything more could happen to two people on Friday 13th, I would not want to be there.

To begin with Hettie Ragsdale and I started out for Orlando after work. Each year at Christmas time we take one Saturday afternoon and go to Morrisons and then shopping.

I would up my tiny gold watch and set it so I would be certain of our meeting time. Having overcast, as usual, we decided the walking would take some of the calories off.

I went into one of the stores to try on a robe. Removing my heavy coat, I threw it across a rack. Upon leaving the store I consulted my watch to ascertain the time—but I had no watch. I was positively sick. I made the rounds where I had been—still no watch. The watch cost what the average watch does, but it was the sentimental value moved the keys and opened the door. I knew a prominent Orlando man had locked his keys up while in Oviedo sometime worry so, as bad luck happens to everyone at some time or another. We both thought that nothing is so bad but what it could be worse.

Picking up my purchases I made my way, tired, weary, sick and disgusted, to the parking lot. Depositing my bundles, I slammed the car door to hurry to Sears. Just as the door closed my eye detected the car keys hanging inside. Horrors! What would I do! The man at Sears told me of a key man about a block away. Almost running, I made it before 5:30—to find him closed.

Tired and dejected, I made my way back to the parking lot. Hettie met me, but she had no extra set of keys and did not know where they were at home even.

I took a chance and phoned J. B. Caught him as he was leaving the office. He came to us, after searching Hettie's house for the keys. Twenty minutes after he had arrived, he had worked the small window open and removed the keys and opened the door. I knew a prominent Orlando man had locked his keys up while in Oviedo sometime back and J. B. had gone to his rescue and had done the same for him.

My husband said he was coming home and not going to answer the phone if we called again—jokingly.

At the Colonial Plaza Hettie immediately had some more keys made.

Hurrying to the store to purchase a dozen eggs, a loaf of bread and some tea, as the local stores in Oviedo would be closed, we found no eggs, no bread but some tea. We were too late.

Hettie had already made me go to the drug store and take some buprin tablets I was so nervous.

Hettie deposited me at my door, then started to drive on home. The car would not even turn over. The battery was dead as a doornail.

I decided to go to bed before anything else could happen, but stopped to open what I thought was 100 tea bags and found I had a pound of loose tea.

If you miss Hettie or me, just contact Chattahoochee. And to think it was Friday the 13th.

CHAPTER 41

BRUCE HELD the unopened letter in his hand, staring down at it in bewilderment. "But it's Eileen's handwriting!" he ejaculated loudly. "How on earth—" He broke off, still staring down at the letter.

"Dirk is executor under Mrs. Featherstone's will," she explained. "He found the letter in a secret drawer at the back of her desk when he was going through her papers." She stood up slowly. "I'll leave you to read the letter, Bruce."

He put out a hand to stop her. "No, please don't go, Val. There may be something in it that concerns us both. I still can't believe you mean to leave me and go back to Hansen in England!" He looked down at the letter again and then back at her. "But of course," his voice hardened again. "It's not only in line for a title, but he has inherited Mrs. Featherstone's money. It should make him a very rich man."

"But he isn't going to use the money for himself," she contradicted him quietly. "He's having Stormburst Manor repaired and modernized, and his Cousin Tom says he agreed that it should be turned into a children's convalescent home. Most of Mrs. Featherstone's capital will be spent on the upkeep. It's to be called the Eileen Featherstone Memorial Children's Home. I understand my brother Tom is going to be resident physician."

"Then he must have loved Eileen after all," he said finally. "I must have misjudged him."

She stood up again, this time with determination. "I'll see you before I leave Monteago Bay, Bruce."

"Of course, Val. I wish—" But again he broke off.

"Since I'm leaving the hospital so soon I must see to my packing. The Carraways have invited me to stay with them until my heat subsides."

He nodded briefly. "I'll look in on you."

When she left the room he was again staring down at the letter. His hands were shaking as though he were afraid to lift open the envelope.

Jane and John put themselves out to show Val as much of the island as they could before she left. They drove her up into the mountains to Mandeville, a gracious little town without-fashioned houses and an Edwardian hotel, attractively cool, and with an enchanting garden that was a riot of tropical blooms.

They drove her along the coast, through thick palm groves and banana plantations, and then suddenly they were surging the coastline again, driving by tiny bays with yellow-golden sand, sheltered by overhanging palms bent away from the wind.

They stopped for a picnic lunch in a small, secluded bay, where they swam and sunbathed and afterwards cooled themselves under a waterfall that trickled down from the mountainside.

Then they drove on late Port Antonio, a charming old town with a small picturesque harbor, and spent the night at the new Titchfield Hotel.

The next day, as they sat lunching on the wide verandah overlooking the harbor, Jane sighed.

"It's a perfect spot, but I wish Dirk were here with us. An outing is always such fun when he's in the party."

"But he'll be back," John said confidently. "Maybe he'll come back on his honeymoon. What do you think, Val?" And he smiled slyly across at her.

"She felt the color rush up under her blue eyes. "How should I know?"

"But of course you know," Jane laughed across at her. "Why else do you think we've been rushing you all over the island, showing you all the beauty spots, but to lure you into bringing Dirk back? And of course you're going to marry Dirk."

Val laughed nervously. "But he may not even like me when he sees me again."

"Oh shucks," Jane said. "Once Dirk's decided on anything, he doesn't change his mind."

Val hadn't seen Bruce since that last painful interview at the hospital, but the night before she was to leave Kingston he called,

It was early evening and deliciously cool on the verandah after the heat of the day. Bruce offered her a cigaret and lit one for himself. Then he sank back into the deep cane armchair and was silent for quite a while before he said abruptly:

"You must have wondered why I haven't been to see you before, Val."

"Jane and John have been driving me all over the island. They haven't left me much time to wonder about anything," she murmured.

"It was that letter," he said. "The letter Eileen wrote to me before she died. I haven't felt much like seeing anyone since I read it."

She didn't say anything to that, and after a short time he resumed, speaking slowly in his deep, resonant voice.

"You see, reading it has made me feel quite differently about everything. Eileen hadn't been true to our love—it was all a hideous mistake. The letter explains everything and, of course, had I received it, I'd have gone down to meet her that day."

"These are wonderful days," she said, smiling slowly in his direction. "I'd like you to read the letter, Val."

"But it's no concern of mine, Bruce."

"I think in a way it is," he said quietly.

She was reluctant to take the letter from him, but since he was so insistent, she finally took it.

$15,000 PGA Open Is Important Event To Sanford, Seminole County

The main topic of conversation in Sanford right now is the Mayfair Inn's $15,000 PGA Open.

Hundreds of reasons could be given for the importance of this day-to-day conversation. And one of the main, or "top" reasons would be the fact that so many people—men and women—are ardent supporters of the popular sport.

However, to Sanford, probably the greatest importance is the fact that millions of words have been written about the tournament.

This year's event is the Second Annual Mayfair Inn Open—which demands that we reminisce a bit. In December of 1955 practically every sports writer in America was familiar with Florida's biggest golf event. And from typewriters in newsrooms of important cities over the nation, and in the newsrooms of cities one might consider not so important, thousands upon thousands of words were gathered together for morning and evening editions, leading up to the three-day play.

And in Sanford, during the tournament, and on the final day of the tournament, telegrams and telephone calls practically flowed out to every paper—wire services, Associated Press, United Press, and International News Service—were receiving accounts of the winners and the losers.

Sanford was in the headlines of hundreds of newspapers. Publicity that could have never been purchased, flowed from the fingers of prolific writers.

There were numerous descriptions of Sanford as news articles related it as one of the friendliest cities in America; as the city with one of the finest golf courses of the nation; as the city everyone in America would like to visit.

These written words were supplemented by the spoken word of those who were here for the tournament. Players and visitors alike proclaimed Sanford as their favorite spot; PGA officials even called back from distant points to assure local citizens that their visit here was one of the most delightful of their lives.

Best words last year were spoken by the genial head of the New York Giants organization, Horace Stoneham, when at the conclusion of the tournament he said "I am perfectly delighted with this year's Mayfair Inn Open and we will make it an Annual event."

Office Building Boom Renewed

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—The office building boom-brushing aside the question "How can they ever fill all that space?"—is taking a fresh spurt.

In New York chiefly—but also in many other cities across the land—new skyscrapers are rising today and plans for still bigger ones are being announced. And they are being filled as fast as built. The older buildings—some of them being modernized and air conditioned—are mostly filled too. Vacancy rates in New York are put at 1.25 per cent.

The nation's chair-borne population grows steadily. And there is a continuous trek to New York by giant and medium-sized corporations, setting up either headquarters or branch offices on Manhattan to be near their suppliers or customers or bankers. Counting in buildings being finished this year, the National Assn. of Building Owners and Managers estimated the nation's total office space at 40 million square feet. And 60 million square feet of that has gone up since the end of World War II.

New York's building spree has added 35 million square feet of office space in the 11 years since the war, the Real Estate Board of New York estimates. Some 110 new structures have room for 200,000 workers. Announced plans for still more tall buildings will bring the total to about 40 million square feet.

This outpaces the other big office building boom, in the 23 years between the two world wars, when 32 million square feet—including the huge Rockefeller Center development—were added to the city's office working space.

Latest skyscraper projects to be announced here include a 60-story building with 1,700,000 square feet of office space, adjoining Rockefeller Center. Two other huge structures in the same neighborhood are in the talking stage. A 46-story building with one million square feet of office room, to be known as Astor Plaza, will occupy a square block between Park Avenue and Lexington.

These are just some of the points brought out in the manual of the Florida State Retailers Association. If you would like a copy write to Dallas L. Hosteler,

Many merchants have reduced shoplifting in their establishments by rearranging displays and stock so that if within reach of the customer, it is still in view of clerks and floorwalkers. Some use mirrors that enable clerks to watch merchandise when apparently looking in another direction. A strong overhead light is helpful.

Frank Mebane Jr., general manager of the Mayfair Inn, added the touch to the tournament in 1955 which attracted thousands of people here to either participate or to become a part of the gallery following favorite players around the 18-hole course. Mebane built up the publicity, planned the event, used the telephone day and night, printed programs, planned the feeding of the thousands of people at the Course, created entertainment for his guests, and at every point throughout the planning stage added the "glitz" from its "attractiveness" which made the tournament with such popularity right from its beginning.

Business people of Sanford felt the influx of the thousands of visitors to the city. No doubt there was a trend toward the buying of golf supplies and gifts—restaurants felt the surge of visitors—motor courts did the same—and, of course, filling stations received many visitors from the huge group of golfers and golf enthusiasts who were our guests for the most of a week.

There could be hundreds of reasons why the Mayfair Inn $15,000 PGA Open is so important to Sanford and Seminole County. The most important reason we could give, however, is the fact that we think all of the people who are here for the event are wonderful people. It is natural that we like to have them visit us—and most of all we like to have them visit us often.

No event can match the Mayfair Inn's $15,000 PGA Open in importance to Sanford and Seminole County—from its value as news throughout the nation—from its economic value—and from that important value, bringing friends to be with us who are important to every other community everywhere.

Kiwanis' 35th Anniversary

Today is the 35th anniversary of the Sanford Kiwanis Club. Anniversaries usually pass by unnoticed. However, a civic organization with the structure behind it of sound objects, civic pride, support of churches, the spirit of building, and the finding of youth, cannot go by without special recognition.

Fifty men of Sanford were on the original roster—character members. Three of the fifty are still members, one of them, a past president, and past lieutenant governor, is still active and taking part daily in the club's activities.

It is from the ranks of clubs like the Sanford Kiwanis Club that leaders of a community grow. Out of the inspiration received in the carrying out of the objectives, the duties, the motto, and other requirements to be a member, comes the real leadership that moves a community into action and sustains its foundation.

Regular attendance at its 52 meetings each year imbues into members the sound philosophies of Kiwanis—participation in its projects commits each member to the service of his community—the knowledge of its objectives leads to a firmer belief in religious doctrines and the brotherhood of man.

The Sanford Kiwanis Club on its birthday deserves the praise and admiration of every citizen of the community and the support of every civic leader who is endeavoring to better the environment about him.

KNOTS TO YOU

Many Don't Stick To First Dream

NEW YORK (AP)—Don't worry too much if your teen-age children can't decide what they want to be—or appear set on some goal you believe impossible.

Surveys of famous people show that few actually followed the career of their first choice. Most abandoned a youthful dream, and won renown or wealth later in a widely different field.

Think how different the world would be if everybody stuck to his first dream!

Adolf Hitler might be a noted landscape painter. Harry S. Truman would be known as a Medal of Honor winner instead of the most vocal former occupant of the White House. Dwight D. Eisenhower, had he gone to Annapolis, as he originally intended, might be running a battleship instead of the U.S. government.

Winston Churchill's novels might be selling almost as well as those of Mickey Spillane.

The truth is that the man who decides early in life what he wants to be—and sticks to that decision—is likely to be less well known than the one who changes his mind.

Under the leadership of the Florida Retailers Association, Florida retail merchants are conducting an all-out war against shoplifters. Millions of dollars are lost to merchants each year through the cunning work of professional shoplifters and the busy Christmas season makes the problem doubly difficult to handle.

In order to help merchants spot the "shoplifters" the association has issued a brochure entitled "How to Stop Shoplifters" which is published as an educational service and is being distributed to 30,000 retail employees throughout the state.

Catching a shoplifter is not easy for they are cunning and crafty. Clerks are on the firing line. They must be cautious as well as alert. They cannot accuse anyone of being a thief but they can watch suspicious shoppers and call the manager if they feel the case justifies it.

How do you spot a shoplifter? Well you watch for certain types of individuals. Persons wearing loose, baggy clothing. Persons carrying loosely folded umbrellas. Women with open handbags or folders in their hands. Tipsy or make-believe tipsy customers. Women with baby carriages. Attempts to engage you in conversation when others are at your counter, giving a confederate an opportunity to pilfer unobserved.

California Wine Available In Paris

By JOSEPH E. BYRAN
PARIS (AP)—It's not easy, but you can get California wine in Paris.

Two Americans found this out at the cost of much jangling and several fistfuls of francs. They had read that Louis Vaudable, proprietor of Maxim's restaurant, told Los Angeles newsmen: "Of course, we have California wines in Paris—and they are excellent. It's simply that no one orders them."

Well, Vaudable is perhaps two-thirds right. A visit to Maxim's brought these results: At first the sommelier—wine steward—was rather definite. No Maxim's had no California wine. In fact, Maxim's had no foreign wines. No Spanish wines. No Portuguese wines. Well, yes, they did have a few German Rhine wines, but they were for German tourists, and even they usually wound up with a chablis or a good Bordeaux.

But what about Vaudable's statement? There was a hurried consultation, a long pause, a long absence, and behold, there were two dusty bottles of California white—from Vaudable's own private collection, it seems.

One was a Livermore Valley plant chardonnay 1945 from Alameda County. It was described as similar to a Montrachet or fine burgundy.

The other was a Fountain Grove pinot blanc, also 1945, from Sonoma County. The Americans chose the Livermore Valley to go with the flat of sole.

Soon there was a crowd of waiters around the table. They were curious about this strange vintage. They were more curious about the people who might order it. Well, you know how Americans are. Would they have a sip? Curiosity was stronger than disdain.

"A little small," commented a sommelier as he tasted the Livermore '45. Another remarked that it seemed a trifle "flatter" than be a banker, oilman Clint Murchison would be the biggest cattleman in America. He still can be, if he wants to.

Wally Cox would be a playwright, comedian Sid Caesar "another Albert Einstein," Debbie Reynolds, a gym teacher, and designer Adrian a zoo keeper.

Actor Stewart Granger and singer Nanette Fabray would be doctors; Oscar Hammerstein and singer Tony Martin. Lawyers, Martha Raye would be a serious actress like Elnor Barrymore, singer Patti Page a locomotive engineer her dad was a railroad man, actress Jean Simmons a have been a diplomat.

Columbian Drew Pearson would Silvers a clarinetist. One of the oddest dreams of all: Marilyn Monroe said she wanted to be a cover girl on "The Ladies' Home Journal!"

What does all this prove? Merely that it pays to know when to let go of a dream—and get a better one.

Meanwhile, most of us, if asked what we'd like to be that we once wanted and now aren't would probably answer today—"Solvent!"

Hotelman Conrad Hilton would

Executive Director, Florida State Retailers Association, P. O. Box 735, Winter Park, Florida.

Maybe you never thought about it, but folks who are honest, suffer right along with the merchant when the shoplifter is successful for the loss the merchant sustains has to be made up and it means higher costs for you so it is to your advantage to report any case of shoplifting you encounter. No one likes to be a tattletale but shoplifting is a criminal racket that should be checked.

It may surprise you to know that a great many children are caught shoplifting. Some are taught such dishonesty by parents, others by evil companions. Most of them know that they are doing wrong but think it is smart and the more they are allowed to get away with it the worse they become. Juvenile authorities are aware of the situation and are trying to deal with it in a constructive intelligent manner. Children who start as shoplifters in many cases wind up as professional criminals.

Stealing is stealing whether the thief be a package of gum, a bottle of coke or a diamond ring. Parents who let their children get by with the theft of little things, calling it a childish prank and saying "they didn't know what they were doing or didn't mean anything by it" are letting themselves in for some sure enough headaches later on.

the French equivalent but that it was more agreeable when very cold. Another said that it seemed "lighter" than French white.

The boys were doing their level best to be polite. When it came time for red wine, the sommelier came up with Louis Martini champagne 1942.

The headwaiter, Albert, came over to oversee this. Good color, he conceded. Albert bravely asserted that Maxim's had had California wine for years and had been serving it all the time to connoisseurs.

An assistant dropped tact. It wasn't bad, he said taking a mouthful of Martini's Napa Valley but why should anyone care all the way from the United States to drink California wine?

"No matter where I am, I can't escape her nagging!"

YOU'RE TELLING ME!

AN ITALIAN astronomer reports having found four more hitherto unknown planets. If true, Old Sol's already numerous family must look to other stars, like a convention.

One of the new planets is said to take 8.85 years for one revolution around the sun. Imagine a summer lasting more than seven centuries.

The only hitch to such a long summer is that it must be followed by an equally long (shudder! shudder!) winter.

From Columbia, South America, comes word of a woman who claims to be 178. Good grief!—that would make 167-year-old Javier Pereira, also a Colombian, just a mere stripling!

Brooklyn's jail to have pastel-tinted bars—news item. However, to the prisoners they still won't resemble a rainbow.

A new opera, seen to be produced, is titled "Harmony of the World." Now, where in the Sem Hill did the composer get THAT idea?

In Austria, a 20-year-old donkey, now retired to pasture, smokes an average of 20 cigars a day. The critic's probably just too stubborn to give up the habit.

Conning The News

BY VIRGINIA CONN

The old fashioned box supper at Ctr. and Mrs. Hawkins' Friday night was termed a great success by the Air Station crowd. The boxes were gaily decorated, some in the Christmas vein and others pertaining to different occasions. One had a little airplane perched on its lid. The first box was sold to W. J. Blevins and contained a brick with a tag on it (Blevins' first biscuits), some well wilted vegetables, and a box of bicarbonate. The outside of this box was deceiving, as it was done up to a fare thee well with a huge red ribbon, and we hope that the lucky gentleman finally ate dinner. The bidding was very lively, nearly all the boxes brought a dollar, and were filled with delicious specialties of their various makers. After all had eaten, games were played. Puncia Colee and Katie and Bob Jackson arrived just in time for the spelling bee. The rest of the guests were Ida Bea and Russ Wilson, Bea and Lee Hamrick, Dot and Joe Leary, Will and Joy Webber, Billie and W. J. Guidrey, Ernie and Sally Love, Marvin and Geneva Quickert, Carol and Buddy Cook, Bev and Dick Allison, the Guidreys and the Arnolds.

Seminole Assn. GA Attends Day Camp Roundup Dec. 1

Over 200 girls, leaders and counselors from the Girls' Auxiliary for the Seminole Association, made up of Seminole and Volusia Counties, attended day camp last Saturday at the MQ Ranch. The morning session was presided over by Linda Goodson, of New Smyrna, president, and the devotional period was in charge of Barbara Branson, of Plerston.

The girls assembled for devotional and announcements for the day, after which Herman Morris, owner of the ranch, talked to them. They then divided into eight groups called ranches, and each girl was given a horseshoe tag denoting the ranch to which she belonged. Mrs. W. L. Seig, of Geneva, was in charge of this part of the program.

The groups of girls then went on nature hikes with their group leaders and each group built its own fire and roasted wieners and had lunch.

After lunch the girls all assembled for group singing, led by Mrs. B. R. Gray, of Longwood, following which Mrs. Norman Bennett of Daytona Beach, youth director for the Seminole Association, presented the Mission Study. The day was brought to a close with recreation and games, under the direction of Cecil Tucker, County Agent for Sanford.

Mrs. John E. Fox, GA Counselor, had charge of the arrangements for the day. There were 11 girls attending from the Sanford Auxiliary of the First Baptist Church and 11 from Lake Monroe. The largest group from a single church was that of the First Baptist Church in New Smyrna which was represented by 67 girls. Those towns taking part in the day camp were Oviedo, Geneva, Plerston, Holly Hill, Daytona, New Smyrna, Longwood.

Rita Bauer dropped in to see me yesterday, bearing luscious coffee rolls to go with my coffee. This busy girl is doing a wonderful job as secretary to the Newcomer's Club here in Sanford. In addition to this she is very active in the Girls Scouts, and many other things.

Everyone is getting into the swing of things for Christmas. The children are singing carols, and my reporters are all out shopping!

There will be a reception Wednesday night for the new Priest at Holy Cross Episcopal Church. The time will be eight o'clock at the parish house, and he is the Rev. John Thomas. We are so glad to have the Thomases and their four children here in Sanford, and do hope that everyone will come down to meet them.

Several people have inquired about the fashion show the sixth of December at the Mayfair Inn. It will be a coffee from eleven to one, and admission will be one dollar. The public is urged to come. Models will be girls from the Circles of the Sanford Garden Club, and the clothes will be from one of our exclusive dress shops. In addition to all this, there will be some beautiful arrangements and displays by the Garden Club, using the Christmas theme of course.

Plans are being made by many either to go home or to have visitors in Sanford over the holidays. Jim and Louise Parker are going to Pensacola for Christmas to visit her mother and father, Admiral and Mrs. Leo Compo. Cy and Jean Pitton hope to go to Columbus, Ohio to see his father, and Polly Savage is expecting,

Collegiate Echoes

By GRACE M. STINECIPHER
Stetson Highlights

No, your eyes weren't deceiving you last Wednesday afternoon when you thought you saw Joyce Milam, Harrie Redding, and Grace Marie Stinecpher (your truly) marching with the Stetson Band in Sanford's Christmas parade—that was us all right! And I must say that is was great fun marching in the old home town again—gave us quite a thrill! Hope you enjoyed it as much as we did.

Then on Saturday the Stetson Band marched in the DeLand Christmas parade. This time, though, instead of the traditional green and white uniforms, the Band divided into three separate and quite distinctive groups—a Bobo Band, a Hepcat Band and a hill billy Band—each donning appropriate costumes. These "uniforms" were quite hilarious, especially those of the Hepcats who wore "real gone" in Elvis type clothes—complete with sideburns and key chains. Their music had quite a "beat to it, too! The Hillbillies were well applauded as they played such tunes as "The Tennessee Waltz," "On Top of Old Smoky," and acted out "The Farmer in the Dell." A great many laughs were directed at the Hoboes as they wandered among the crowd in typical hobo fashion, and as they lay in the streets, resting, while they played their lazy tunes. As you can imagine, a hilarious time was had by all band members!

The annual Green Derby Carnival Day was held last Saturday on the Stetson campus. Sponsored by the Women's Physical Education Club, the festivities included circus music, clown, peanuts, popcorn, and a midway full with booths sponsored by the fraternities, sororities, and other campus organizations.

The first visit of a foreign gym team in the history of DeLand was announced this week by Mrs. Sara Jernigan, head of Stetson's department of physical education for women. The Finnish women's gymnasium team will appear at the DeLand National Guard Armory on Thursday evening. Mrs. Jernigan, a chairman of the international relations section of the American Association for Health, Physical Education, and Recreation, was responsible for arranging the American tour of this group of 14 from the University of Helsinki in Finland. That this Gymnast Team is really worth seeing is backed by the fact that they will appear on the Ed Sullivan television program next Sunday night.

The university carillon of Stetson, located high atop Holly Tower overlooking the campus and the city of DeLand is now in the process of being made one of the best among small colleges. Several in the Stetson Music School have energetically donated of their time to making such improvements as are necessary. Long a tradition of the school, these bells inspire Stetson Students as they toll hymns twice daily in 15 minute periods, with music students alternating at the console board. In addition to the replacement of several antiquated parts by new improved ones which has already been done, it is the university's intention to have the bells tuned to the chromatic scale and possibly add to the number of bells. Already a beautiful thing to hear, with these improvements the carillon should indeed be truly inspiring.

A carillon concert is planned for the evening of Dec. 19 in conjunction with the annual Christmas candle lighting ceremony by the lower with the Stetson glee clubs participating. Betty Co-ed and Joe College We hear that Phillip Toney, student at Georgia Tech, has changed his major from electronics to physics and has been selected as a lab assistant for the next semester. Also in making this change he will also be changing from the Co-op Plan to the regular college course.

Seen at the wedding of Yvonne Cullen and Harvey Wilkinson last Saturday evening was Hank McLaughlin, especially home for the occasion. Hank is a student in the engineering school at UoF. Junior Metts really seemed to enjoy watching a football game for a change last Friday night when Sanford defeated Winter Garden at the annual Homecoming Game in Memorial Stadium. He also seemed pleased that so many Sanford folks were congratulating him on his outstanding record with the FSU Seminoles this year. Junior was home especially to see his sister, Dottie, as she reigned as one of the Homecoming Sponsors.

Other college students enjoying the SIS Homecoming game and other festivities were Jimmy Krieger, Mary Lou Copeland, Joyce Milam, and Grace Marie Stinecpher, students at Stetson; Joe Hunt and Robert Miller of Georgia Tech; and Robert Armstrong who attends FSU.

We are pleased to hear that Marianne Strickland has gone "back to the books" after a recent illness that kept her in the infirmary for over two weeks. Marianne is a sophomore at FSU having transferred there this year from Virginia Intermont in Bristol, Virginia.

The members of the Beta Sigma Phi brought presents for Chattanooga to their meeting Monday night at the home of Mrs. Volie A. Williams Jr.

Mrs. J. L. Horton Jr. and Mrs. Ralph Betts reported on the Thanksgiving Basket given by this group to a needy family.

Mrs. Horton, projects chairman, led a discussion on work the group could do for the hospital. At this time it was decided to give a rocking chair to each of the nurseries. It was also decided that, if needed, a lounge chair would also be given. The main project will be decided at a later date.

Mrs. Gordon Frederick, social chairman, announced the annual Christmas Party for the members children will be held on Dec. 13 at the home of Mrs. Volie A. Williams Jr.

A traditional Christmas dinner at the home of Mrs. Victor Greene, teacher, was held Monday night by the Philathea Class of the First Presbyterian Church. The yuletide spirit prevailed at this get-together, as Mrs. Greene used all her lovely Christmas decorations, which she had accumulated through the years, to bedeck every nook and cranny of her home. Mrs. Greene has had to add a couple of porches to her ever-increasing size of her class, but still had ample room to entertain them all this year.

As usual the table fairly "groaned" with the weight of all the wonderful food prepared by the hostesses, who were Mrs. Greene, Mrs. Andrew McPherson, Mrs. Jessie Herndon, Mrs. Lilly Eubanks, Mrs. Charles Morrison and Mrs. R. T. Moulie.

Mrs. C. L. Redding, outgoing president, presided over the business session and the program was presented by Mrs. P. R. Stephenson and Mrs. Greene, who told the Christmas story in flannelgraph pictures, songs and scripture.

There were 39 members and guests present to enjoy this annual affair. Guests were Mrs. Lowell Oiler, Mrs. Wilma Getz, Mrs. Margaret Mason, Mrs. Glenn Wimberly, Mrs. L. A. Palmer, Mrs. W. L. Roche and Mrs. R. C. Long.

Junior High Teams Begin Basketball

Howard Gordie, basketball mentor for Sanford Junior High School, said this morning he has begun basketball on the junior high level along the same lines as the newly initiated football program. Gordie said, however, that the basketball season would be more advanced than the football season. "We're going to go the limit this year," he said. "That means that we'll have a 10 game schedule—five away and five home."

ON BASKETBALL GYMS

By Hugh Ansley
Sports Editor

A message of hope trickled from the office of the County Superintendent of Public Instruction this morning for the many basketball enthusiasts of Seminole County.

In response to questioning R. T. Milwee, Superintendent of Public Instruction, said that gymnasiums for the county high schools were in the near future.

In the interview with The Herald Milwee said, "I feel confident that when we get the report back from the State Survey Team, we will have gymnasiums for Seminole High, Lyman, and Crooms Academy in the near future."

For years the county school system has been experiencing a mushrooming of school attendance and the budget has been strained tearfully just to meet classroom needs for the almost overwhelming boom in pupil enrollment.

"Our primary problem has been, and is, getting classrooms for these children," Milwee said. "But I think the survey team will recognize our needs, and then we'll proceed immediately to do something about them."

Milwee's words raised the morale in Lyman and Crooms circles, as well as the many Seminole High fans.

For the past decade Lyman has been scheduling all their games on opposing courts. They practice on clay courts for game preparation, and coach Jim Payne's insistence on facing the obstacles and turning out a fair team has met with success. A Greyhound basketball quintet has become known as a team to be reckoned with.

Crooms Academy faces the same situation and is having trouble scheduling for the season. Seminole High has been seriously hampered in practices by the necessity of calling off practices on the auditorium-gym in order to surrender stage space to play-practices, festival organizations and the myriad other products of high school activities.

The new emphasis on minor sports on the high school level has been heralded by many as the thing needed to complete the educational function on the local scene.

Undoubtedly, the action and encouragement coming from the county office is another positive step toward a more progressive Sanford and Seminole County.

the cause of comment as he powers a ball easily and with apparent ease, and he is noted for never getting into trouble over a course.

Another Miamian will move into the local Open with high respect. Earl Christensen, the policeman who loved the golf game, marched to many impressive Florida Amateur tourney wins. He has now turned pro and will be feeling his way in the pro ranks next week. He's a fellow to watch.

Gardners Dickinson Jr. of Panama City will also represent the Sunshine State during the nationally promoted event next week in Sanford. Dickinson gained national recognition when the late Bob Hogan became his tutor. His short pro career has seen marked success as he has already taken the Miami Beach Open and the West Palm Beach PGA Open.

Buffalo coach Knute Burrows, whose team hadn't won a game this year, had some things to say about undefeated Douglass, too.

SHS Opens Basketball Season Here Tomorrow

The Sanford Seminoles will open their basketball season at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon on the home courts of the high school auditorium gym against Florida Military Academy. The Seminoles will capitalize on speed and the break to seek their initial win over the cage-minded Cadets.

Laver will have his inexperienced boys running the ball in the Kentucky tradition: a fast rebound dribble, a three on two situation with two men down the sides and one down the middle. The play forces a defensive game and will give the Seminoles an opportunity to get in an early scoring punch.

"We'll have a team that has fair speed this year," Laver said, "and we're going to force the opposition to run with us, and we'll try to run F.M.A. ragged." Laver said he would use the superior speed of his Seminoles almost exclusively against the sharp-shooting Cadets. "We want the game to be played on our side of the court," he said. "That way we will be able to stay on even terms with them."

The Academy is a basketball minded institution, having no football team, and they are perennially well prepared early in the season.

Laver warned that the Seminoles would not be able to stage a high scoring game against the Cadets and that the main emphasis for the last week has been on defense maneuvering.

"Claude Hittell is our best rebounder," Laver said, "and we'll base our running game on his ability to grab the ball on defensive situations and make the shots we throw count."

Ken McMurray is rapidly shaping into an all-around Seminole threat. He has steadily improved during the past weeks and is impressive on the middle man driving. His chances of being the all-important middle man in the running game are enhanced by his good ball handling. He's no slouch on shooting, either.

The surprise of the early pre-season practices is Ray Lundquist. Lundquist has fitted well into Laver's ball running program with a fine display of speed and accuracy. This doesn't seem too impressive until it is noted that Lundquist is short—only 5'2"—and he's young—only a freshman—and he's already earned a berth with the starting quintet. This boy bears watching.

The Seminoles will make this initial appearance on the home courts and then will not be seen on the local level until the Seminole County Invitational Basketball Tournament during the Christmas vacations.

Laver said he hoped a large turnout would be on hand to cheer the team on to success in the season opener.

ONE MOUNT IS ENOUGH
NEW YORK (AP)—Dave Erb had one mount at Jamaica but that was enough the day he won the Gallant Fox Handicap with Summer Tan. The 4-year-old colt earned $37,800, with 10 per cent of the winner's share going to the veteran jockey who piloted Needles to Victory in the Kentucky Derby last spring.

CHADWICK STILL OFF ICE
EAST NORWICH, N. Y. (AP)—When Bill Chadwick said he had quit as a National Hockey League referee he meant it. For the last two years Chadwick has been manager of the Pine Hollow Golf Club. He recently turned down a chance to become a part-time hockey referee.

Earl Christensen, the policeman who loved the golf game, marched to many impressive Florida Amateur tourney wins. He has now turned pro and will be feeling his way in the pro ranks next week. He's a fellow to watch.

Gardners Dickinson Jr. of Panama City will also represent the Sunshine State during the nationally promoted event next week in Sanford. CHAIRMAN ELECTED
LAKE CITY—The Florida Forestry Council yesterday re-elected Donald Stevenson of Foley chairman; Larry S. Newcomb of Tallahassee, vice chairman; and Prof. Charles G. Felz of the University of Florida, secretary treasurer.

The organization voted to publish its long range forestry program in a brochure which will be distributed to forestry and conservation groups and to forestry industries as a guide to what is needed in the field and as the basis for a legislative program.

FROM THE COLLECTION of Adele Simpson comes this taupe and gold metallic brocade theater costume in two parts. A wing-back bolero descending into a flying panel and collared in mink is worn over a short-sleeved dress.

Radio TV Highlights

NEW YORK—When Maj. Patrick Whyte enters a room, you find yourself rising and bracing. For the major exudes an ineffable military authority, even in mufti until he smiles. Then he is warm and friendly and not at all the model of a British military gentleman, retired.

Maj. Whyte is Col. Standish. That is not paradoxical if you're up on your 7th Bengal Lancers, and all romantically inclined individuals of all ages should be up on their 7th Bengal Lancers. They gallop through your living room at 7 p. m. on Sunday evenings over NBC-TV, Col. Standish, of course, commands the regiment. Quite.

There's nothing like a quick attack, it's said, so—

"Let's face it, major. Considering my television inclinations, I can't figure why I like your 'Bengal Lancers. Have you any idea why I do?"

The major smiled. "It tries to be authentic," he said. "We try not to let it become a covey dressed up in the uniforms of the Indian Army. The Indian Army never was imperialistic, you know. Ninety per cent of its job was to protect the frontier. People absolutely opposed to each other—Mohamadians and Hindus—came together. There was a great esprit de corps."

Maj. Whyte should know, for he served in India from 1927 to 1944 with some noted outfits, including the 18th Punjab Regiment and the Jaipur Lancers, which had absorbed the Bengal Lancers in 1922. He also served in Burma and Africa. He somehow wandered to Hollywood where he has been since, writing movie scripts and serving as technical director for films such as "King of the Cyber Rifles" and several others.

"Technical advice doesn't take too much time," he said, "so I accepted small acting parts. I can remember every line of the first 14 pictures I was in. They were all the same, consisting of 'Yes, sir,' I always played the honorable gentleman."

As Col. Standish of "The 7th Bengal Lancers," he still does. He also has written some shows in the filmed series and serves as technical director.

To give authenticity to the series the producers built a replica of an Indian Army fort in the Mojave Desert where the terrain is typical of the Indian frontier. More than 100 uniforms, correct in every detail, had to be made for the actors.

Carbines similar to those used by the Lancers were acquired. The only difference between the originals and the replicas is in the breech—a small detail.

SUNDAY BLUE LAW VIOLATORS ROUND TO COURT
TAMPA—Peace Justice W. Marion Hendry has bound 16 Tampa merchants and filling station operators to Criminal Court on charges of violating the state's Sunday blue law.

All pleaded innocent yesterday. Recent arrests by Constable Clarence Prevatt of business men operating on Sunday have caused a furor.

D. Kaye Gives TV One Of Best Shows

BY CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK—Danny Kaye, a man who hurdles language barriers with the greatest of ease, has given television one of its finest 30 minutes. The occasion was "The Secret Life of Danny Kaye" on TV's See It Now Sunday.

Kaye's secret life turned out to be most uncomplacent. He loves children. He also happens to be one of the merriest and most imaginative pantomimists alive. So he took his love and his talent on a 50,000-mile tour of 10 foreign countries, accompanied by a camera crew, as an unsalaried and undignified representative of the United Nations International Children's Fund.

The result, as viewed by the television audience on Edward R. Murrow's See It Now, was an extraordinarily moving dramatization of an often forgotten fact. The only great international language is laughter. Children speak it most eloquently. More than half convinced that most adults are idiots, they'll go more than half way to laugh at one who purposely makes an idiot of himself.

Superior photography furnished striking evidence of what UNICEF is doing in such diverse places as Nigeria and Yugoslavia and Morocco. Had Soe-It-Now belabored the purpose and nature of UNICEF further, the result would have been tedious. As it was, Kaye has made many millions of Americans receptive to the purposes of that most worthy organization.

For Kaye and the camera demonstrated another often forgotten fact. Children are alike everywhere. In faces and reactions they cannot be separated into nations and creeds. Often during the program it was impossible to tell in what country Kaye was performing as the cameras searched the rapt faces of his audiences.

One wishes, of course, that Kaye would consent to embrace television as a constant medium. But it might be even better for the world if he were sent abroad into it to organize all its children to laugh down all the adult idiots who are trying to run it these days.

J. Lemmon Writes Theme For Movie

BY BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD—Most movie stars are a study in frustration. Few seem content with their lot.

They want to be directors, producers, writers, business executives, resort owners, artists—anything but just plain actors. Jack Lemmon is a case in point.

Now Lemmon has been hailed as the greatest new master of light comedy since Cary Grant graduated from juveniles. The lad even drew an Oscar for his pains as the scatterbrained Enns Pulver in "Mister Roberts."

But does that satisfy him. Oh, no. He's got to be a songwriter.

"Until recently, I was the world's most frustrated songwriter," he declared. "I guess I've written a hundred songs and hundreds of melodies. I even wrote the score for a Broadway musical—which was never produced. I've never even had a song published—until now."

That's when his eyes light up. Success is finally his! Columbia needed a theme for "Fire Down Below," in which Lemmon stars with Rita Hayworth and Robert Mitchum. Lemmon had played some of his works for Jolie Tapp, head of music matters at the studio. When someone suggested Lemmon compose a theme, Tapp said okay.

Recently the Lemmon theme was recorded at the studio by Morris Stoloff. It is hoped that the tune will do as well as Stoloff's "Picnic" theme, a solid hit with the juke box crowd.

"I went over to the stage when they were recording," Lemmon enthused. "I never had such a good time in my life. Even winning the Oscar didn't give me as big a thrill."

I asked him about his musical background. He explained he took piano lessons as a youngster. But like so many others, he forgot everything he learned. Despite his acting success, he still harbored the songwriting urge.

"It's a terrific outlet for me," he commented. "If I go for two or three days without touching a piano, I start getting uneasy. Usually when I get home at night from a party, I'll sit down and play for an hour or two. It's a great relaxer."

FROM THE COLLECTION of Adele Simpson comes this mosaic purple imported wool tweed suit. The semi-fitted jacket, topped a slim skirt, is tied in front with a narrow bow and notched at the collar and hem. The suit will go well under a warm coat come cold weather.

Ike's Inauguration Will Be Million Dollar Celebration

WASHINGTON (AP)—A million dollar celebration is being planned for the second inauguration of President Eisenhower.

A weekend of festivities will be climaxed with four separate but "coequal" inaugural balls on the evening of Jan. 21 to take care of the anticipated crowds, the committee planning the program decided.

"There will be no second-rate balls," Chairman Robert V. Fleming announced, adding that all four will be visited by the President and Mrs. Eisenhower and Vice President and Mrs. Nixon. Two were held in 1953, but the committee decided more were needed this time. They will be held at the National Guard Armory and the Sheraton Park, Statler and Marlowe hotels.

Fleming estimated the committee will raise and spend between $800,000 and a million dollars, exclusive of the costs of the inaugural stands and incidentals at the Capitol for the public outthanking ceremony and Eisenhower's inaugural address. A congressional appropriation will pay for that.

The 1953 inaugural cost about $700,000 and inaugural ball tickets that year were $12 each. Fleming said the added cost would probably put them up to $15 for next year.

The committee, meeting formally for the first time, decided also to picture both Eisenhower and Nixon, side by side, on the inaugural medal, a twin-inch, bronze disc. Past inaugural medals have carried only the likeness of the President.

Fleming said the inaugural parade will be much shorter than the 4 1/2-hour line of march in 1953 but will still be a "colorful and interesting parade."

To help keep it moving, the committee arranged for television monitoring at various points so the parade marshals can keep track of each unit and dispatch jeeps by radio to speed up any laggards.

Woods Hole, Mass., oceanographers have at last succeeded in recording with underwater listening equipment the sounds made by Right Whales. They sound like cats fighting and squealing.

Spotlight On Hollywood By BOB THOMAS HOLLYWOOD (A-A star at 8, retired at 13, Luana Patten is making a comeback at 18. And doing right nicely, thanks.

Luana is the lovely Long Beach, Calif., lass who starred in Walt Disney films of a decade ago such as "Song of the South" and "So Dear to My Heart." She and Bobby Driscoll were the first human actors put under contract by Disney when he turned to live-action films.

For five years, she and Bobby went to school on the Disney lot, acted in films and toured the country to help sell them. She did some radio and TV, then came to a wise decision.

"I was getting by in my studies," she said, "but it was hard to break off from acting and go to my lessons. I figured the important thing was for me to get an education without any outside interference. Then if I still wanted to be an actress, I could come back to it."

So she left her career at 13 and went back to school. Last June she graduated from Woodrow Wilson High School in Long Beach and notified her agent she was ready to work. Within a matter of days, she was signed to star

LONGWOOD — The annual scholarship night race program is scheduled Thursday at the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club.

All profits from the entire night's operation will go to the State Board of Control for distribution to scholarship funds at the University of Florida, Florida State and Florida A and M.

These boys of ours at Seminole High School, no matter how much they get, are always asking for more," the school principal added.

"Listen to this," Principal Bracken said, "Mrs. Hasty serves a quarter of a chicken for only 15c. Just the other day, he explained, I came down to lunch and had a large helping of turkey, rice and gravy, peas, a salad, and iced tea for only 30c, he said.

Lunch periods are 30 minutes. Principal Bracken and Lunch-room Manager Mrs. Hasty explained. Each student spends about 20 minutes eating. "We put through approximately 300 students in 10 minutes and serve a total of about 600 students in the two lunch periods.

There are six assistants to Mrs. Hasty in the lunchroom for serving and cooking, with 14 to 15 student assistants who help serve at lunchtime, and four teachers checking each student as he completes the serving line.

Menus are prepared, said Mrs. Hasty, generally about two weeks in advance.

"Diet-conscious girls or husky football players, can eat to their heart's desire from what we believe is the finest food that can be found—we're proud of the way our boys and girls eat," said Mrs. Hasty.

At the Christmas Season the citizens of America pause to count their blessings and give thanks. It is a time for feasting and rejoicing, also for helping their less fortunate brothers.

Countless numbers of people in Florida already know of the work the Society has been doing for more than 54 years for Florida's very young citizens. Countless more SHOULD know about it. If you could see some of these children when they come to the Society, pathetic, neglected, ill-treated little ones—and watch the transformation as they respond to wholesome care and loving interest—you would be overjoyed to have a part in such a rewarding work. Health and well-being restored, hope and confidence replacing despair and distrust, hearts made happy, future homes of affection and security provided—can you think of a more worthwhile investment?

If you, the people, will provide the money needed, the Society can and will do the job. The record speaks for itself—one thousand and six children were made happier during the nine months of 1955 through their services. YOU can help by sending a donation to the Society, where it will go to work immediately in providing more services to children.

There is also a great need for clothing—all sizes from infants through teenagers—boys and girls. They can use to advantage any good outgrown clothing, too. Send your check or package to the Children's Home Society of Florida, 3077 San Diego Road, Jacksonville, which is the State headquarters for services extending over the entire State. And many helpless little ones will thank you!

Officials Arrive Today To Ready For PGA Open

The first contingent of PGA officials will arrive in Sanford today to begin preparations for next week's Mayfair Inn $15,000 PGA Open.

Manager Frank Mebane Jr., of the Mayfair Inn said this morning that Earl Cruse will arrive today to set up necessary materials and arrangements to take care of the details of the PGA tournament.

Mebane said today that Freddie Haas noted New Orleans, La. amateur who turned pro has indicated that he will be in Sanford for next week's tournament and play. Haas finished second in the 1955 Colonial Invitational tournament, tied for fourth in the Virginia Beach Open and tied for third in the Houston Open. In years past Haas has won the Miami Open, Long Beach Open and Portland Open, and for three years in a row was the winner of the Southeastern Amateur Championship.

Mario Carfagno, Mayfair Inn pro, said this morning that the 18-hole Mayfair Inn course is in "real good shape" and is in readiness for the tournament next week.

About 35 golfers have already arrived and have begun their practices for next Tuesday's qualifying round, Carfagno said today. "We are expecting between 250 and 300 golfers, both pros and amateurs, for next week's play," Carfagno remarked this morning. However, he said, only about 100 of them will take part in the tournament. The qualifying round on Tuesday will set up the list of those who will compete for the big money Thursday, Friday, and Saturday.

Doug Sanders, former University of Florida golfer who received his coaching from Seminole High School Principal Andrew J. Becken, will be in Sanford for the Mayfair Inn Tournament. Sanders, of Miami, has received many golfing honors around the state and is recognized as one of the leading amateurs.

Big names in the golf world who have already signed up and indicated they will play in the Mayfair Inn Open are: Gardner Dickinson Jr. who topped the West Palm Beach Tournament; Doug Ford, Dow Finsterwald, Ted Crooks, and Ed Furgol. All of these players entered last year's Mayfair Inn Open.

Carfagno, this morning, said "Gardner Dickinson Jr., is going to be tough to beat in the Mayfair Inn $15,000 PGA Open." Many golfers have passed up some of the tournaments around the circuit in order to get themselves in shape for the Mayfair Inn encounter. All indications are that the next week's top golf competition will be rough and tough from the opening swing.

"THIS IS THE ONE THAT'S GOING TO WIN," Porky Oliver told Mario Carfagno. "Porky" Mayfair Inn's winter pro, J. Mario, the Mayfair Inn's year-round pro, were discussing a golf's top subjects. Whether it was the club that will win or the entry that will run away with top money, is not known. (Photo by Jameson)

Report Shows Sales Uptrend In Sanford

Collections Continue To Rise

The continuing uptrend in Sanford sales is shown in the monthly report of State Comptroller Ray E. Green.

Both sales and gasoline tax reports are combined in the latest release released from the Tallahassee office of the state officer who collects and compiles the results of each month's sales.

Collections in Seminole County on gasoline sold during the month of October and collected in November of 1956 were based on 835,266 gallons pumped through Sanford and Seminole County filling stations. The tax for October (collected in November) was more than nine-thousand dollars higher than the previous month. Actual figures were $7,708.62 in comparison to $48,902.09 a year ago and $48,531.42 last month.

Of the total gasoline tax collected in the county $2,022.55 goes to the county coffers.

In sales tax collected in Seminole County during November (for October sales), there is a $5,000 increase over the previous month and a 3,000 increase over the same month a year ago.

Sales tax collected in Seminole County during November (for October sales) amounted to $29,295.57 during the same period one year ago.

Statewide, both sales and gas tax collections during November (based on October sales) showed substantial increases over the previous month this year and the same month last year.

The sales tax increase is exceptionally substantial and is the largest percentage increase one month over the same month in a previous year in the history of the sales tax. November, 1956, collections totaled $7,708,621, an increase of $1,405,848 over the $6,292,774 collected during November, 1955, a percentage increase of 22.3 per cent. It was also an increase of $777,810 over the $6,925,044 collected in October 1956, an increase of 11.23 per cent.

Gas tax collections in November totaled $7,708,613, an increase of $890,452, 13.1 per cent, over the $6,718,160 collected in November, 1955, and an increase of $791,508 over the $6,926,652 collected in October 1956.

Total gas tax collections to date this fiscal year amount to $37,824,302, an increase of $4,015,304 over the $33,810,998 collected to date during the previous fiscal year. This is an increase of 11.87 per cent.

This is the fourth time that monthly sales tax collections have exceeded gas tax collections and although gas tax collections to date this fiscal year still exceed sales tax collections, it is apparent that the sales tax is increasing at a higher rate and will soon pass the gasoline tax as the state's number one revenue producer.

Family Sleeping On Floor

Christmas time is a period of the year that works the greatest hardship on the pocketbook.

And it is especially stressing when a man saves $50 with which he buys the "jangles" and "spangles" for his children — the colorful toys that youngsters expect Santa to leave them — and then see them swept away by fire and smoke.

Such an incident happened here at Sanford a few days ago — but the sad part of the picture — here at the Christmas season is the fact that toys, clothes, furniture, food, and home were all destroyed right down to the very last ash.

Seminole Runners Have Best

As game time for the Annual Peanut Bowl draws nearer, more eyes are turned toward the players who will be competing on the field for top honors.

The "Seminoles", coached by Mrs. Robert Richards have been a had team to beat all season. They have good passing ability, and have the best running ability in the league. With the field being eight yards wider at Sanford Memorial Stadium, it may prove to the liking of these hard running backs.

Wearing red jerseys with white numbers there are seven players to watch tomorrow night as they take to the field for the Peanut Bowl competition:

No. 5 — Johnny Phillips: Center. A good center and line backer, Johnny pulls one of the most peculiar stunts that reporters have ever seen. After centering the ball, Johnny pulls out of the line and leads the interference on running plays.

No. 6 — K. W. Landrea: Offensive Back. On his toes all of backfield because of his blocking ability. A big boy, not many rushers get past him.

No. 10 — Chip Crawford: Defensive Back. On his toes all of the time and a good blocker for downfield blocking.

No. 11 — David McGillis: End and Backfield man. Fast and has glue stuck to his fingers.

No. 13 — Harry Colbert: End. Favorite target for the passers of the Seminole.

No. 19 — Gary Hishop: End. If a pass doesn't go to Harry Colbert, it is usually thrown to Gary.

No. 20 — Butch Riser: Every-one's All-American. Runs, throws and passes. He can follow his interference well and can kick or throw the ball with the best of them. (He is the son of former Peter Schaaf Trophy winner, Jim Riser.)

School Policies Discussed At SHS P-TA Meet Tuesday

The regular monthly meeting of the Seminole High School P-TA was held on Tuesday night, in the High School Auditorium, with Mrs. Byron Smith, president, presiding. Mrs. Marian St. John presented the devotional. Mrs. Smith called the parents attention to the Christmas program being presented by the Glee Club on Dec. 12 under the direction of Miss Ollie Reese Whittle.

Mrs. Smith also reminded members that there would be no meeting in January, and on the regular meeting night in February would be the Founder's Day meeting which would be in connection with all schools in the County with Mrs. George Beckham as speaker.

Mrs. Mary Joyce Bateman and Mrs. Gerald Ryman presented the program for the night consisting of the entire audience breaking up into four groups and discussion on questions presented them in relation to school policies.

It was decided that the March meeting would have for its program a panel made up of teachers and parents who would discuss topics or questions given them by the audience.

The meeting closed after Andrew Brackel, Seminole High School Principal, thanked the attending parents for their interest and cooperation with the P-TA and High School.

Santa Claus Visits Hungarian Girls, Boys Last Night

CAMP KILMER, N. J. — Dozens of Hungarian children, uprooted in bewilderment from their homes only a few days ago, awoke today to find that the spirit of St. Nicholas lives around the world.

When they looked at their shoes polished to brightly in hope, they found a wonder of wonders — St. Nicholas had paid them a visit.

Even though they were thousands of miles from their homeland and living in an Army barracks, the old gen had found them.

He left them the traditional gifts: dolls, games, candy — and switches.

They were small gifts. In their tradition that says the big gifts come on Christmas Day, the small ones on Dec. 6 from St. Nicholas, whom Hungarian youngsters consider their special protector.

While the children were nestled all snug in their beds, volunteer workers from the Red Cross quietly delivered the packages last night to Hungarian refugee parents billeted here.

The gifts, all new, were donated by various organizations through the Red Cross.

The symbolic switches — another part of the tradition that calls for the youngsters to shine their shoes and set them out for gifts — were "pulled off some trees around here," a Red Cross spokesman said.
