AROUND THE CLOCK
By JOHN A. SPOLSKI

You'd think it was Valentine's Day everyday... what with all of the politicians "finding their way" to Seminole County... wanting us to be their Valentine (and maybe cast a vote on their behalf, too)...

There's a lot of green being spent in this election... last week, I've been told, Mayor Lindsay went down to Miami-Dade South and hired 100 of the students at a hundred bucks a week, plus expenses, plus a car...

Don't know how I got this one slipped onto my typewriter... but... it says that Muskie will be here 25-26-27. The-o days? Here in 'Lil Ole Seminole' (Somebody's gotta be puttin me on...)

A pat-on-the-back to the students at Seminole High. They solved the problem without too much adult supervision. (Principal Jack Redding's letter on the matter.)

Circuit Judge Dominick Salvi will make a personal presentation tomorrow at 8:30 a.m. in Tallahassee before the Judicial Committee on his "death bill" for dope pushers.

Had a call from the Sanford Fire Department... they said they collected $2,964.36 for the television conducted by WDBO-TV Saturday and Sunday for the Muscular Dystrophy Fund.

Another call... this one from Tallahassee saying that they were aware of our efforts to better publicize the law which requires motorists to have their headlights on whenever the windshield wipers are turned on... especially so for the many out-of-staters coming into town via the Auto Train...

NOTHING LIKE BEING 'HALF-SAFE'
County Commission Tuesday noon will consider an ordinance limiting the blocking of streets by railroad trains, holding up motor vehicle traffic, as seen in this picture taken at 12:36 p.m. Feb. 3 at the West First Street crossing. The gate (left) is raised for eastbound traffic heading toward Sanford. The signal lights (center) are flashing a warning of an approaching train (some times parked just short of the crossing). The gate on the right is lowered, blocking automobiles and trucks heading west on SR 46 (First Street). (John A. Spolski Photo)

Decision Too Late For March Primary Nixon 'Bones' For China Trip

By FRANCES LEWINE
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — With his departure for Peking only three days off, President Nixon has asked his staff for more information and called in French intellectual Andre Malraux for expert answers on China.

Nixon has been preparing for months for his historic talks with Chinese leaders and has everyone doing homework on it. That's the reason for today's White House meeting with Malraux, the former French cultural minister.

Nixon, in disclosing plans for the meeting, said he was impressed with Malraux' analysis, in his "Antimemories," of China and Communist Chairman Mao and Premier Chou En-lai.

Nixon still is not satisfied with the mountains of material he's been provided. Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon, returning from Florida Sunday night, had asked the National Security Council for more answers.

The China trip is considered so sensitive in the White House that for a time members of Nixon's advance team didn't want to talk about the books Nixon was reading on China, or even to give an opinion of what they thought of Peking duck.

One insider conceded: "There's an extra dimension of secrecy to avoid expectations that couldn't be fulfilled."

But, the process of getting the President briefed and ready was begun well before Henry Kissinger's secret trip to Peking in July 1971.

Literally hundreds and hundreds of pages—perhaps 50 pounds, an aide estimates—have been studied by Nixon and his staff.

But, it has been disclosed that the President also read some works of Tom Clavin, an author at Harvard; historian John King Fairbank's book "The United States and China" and political scientist Ross Terrell's two recent articles in the Atlantic Monthly.

Nixon has been cited in by his advance team members with their personal approvals from talks in Peking with Clavin. And he has carefully gone over the stenographic transcripts of meetings Kissinger and his deputy, Brig. Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr., had with Clavin.

RR Xing Delays To Be Aired

Beleaguered county residents who have registered numerous complaints concerning the inconvenience of waiting at railroad crossings for what often seems an endless procession of train cars, may soon be afforded relief as a result of a work session scheduled by County Commissioners tomorrow noon for discussion of the delays at train crossings.

Discussing the matter will be County Engineer William Bush and Assistant County Attorney William Marsce.

Several other items will be considered by the commissioners at the session, which will include a State Department of Transportation - county agreement on road maintenance; a flood control plan; a telephone billing system for the new courthouse; a discussion relative to package plants in the county; a Sanlando Springs advisory board; and discussions relative to meets and bounds subdivisions, extension of permits and Wrenwood permits.

Agenda items include a report by County Planner David Farr regarding a pneumatic tube system bid for the motor vehicle inspection station; a discussion by Peter Dempsey relative to water safety problems; an appearance by Mrs. Christine Jones relative to the Seminole County Port Authority program; a discussion regarding fire district reciprocal service agreements; a report by the attorney representing a Lakeland federal grant seminar; a report by Zoning Director Robert Brown on the water level drop at Lake Tony.

New Charge Of Rape Dean Trial Opens

By MARION BETHEA
Trial begins today in the case of Joseph Kenneth Dean, charged with the rape of a 12-year-old Longwood girl in 1970. The girl was allegedly raped at gunpoint by a man who requested that she and a nine-year-old companion show him the way to school.

Dean was found guilty two weeks ago by a Circuit Court jury of the rape of a 19-year-old Orlando housewife. The jury recommended mercy. Dean is also serving a life sentence for a conviction in Orange County of the rape of an Orlando woman.

It has been indicated that Dean cannot be sentenced to the mandatory life sentence on his latest conviction until he is committed to a state mental institution, treated and released. This was the case in his conviction in Orange County, where he spent some time at a mental hospital and was later declared sane and able to assist in his own defense at the trial in Sanford.

There are seven other trials docketed this week before Circuit Judge Charles Holley, and include that of three suspects in a large scale county-wide theft ring which specialized in the burglary of homes, vehicles and business establishments. Defendants facing trial are Richard Goodall and William Taylor, charged with grand larceny, and James Sparlock, charged with buying, aiding, and concealing stolen property. Also docketed for trial is James Lee III, charged with possession of marijuana. Lee attempted to enter a plea a few weeks ago to a lesser charge but the plea was refused and trial set.

Gary Adair faces charges of aggravated assault which stem from an alleged sexual attack upon a fellow inmate. Due to a state Supreme Court ruling on the wording of statutes governing sodomy, Adair could not be tried on the original charge of a crime against nature.

Also docketed for trial are Wallace Oglesby, charged with grand larceny and buying, aiding and concealing stolen property; Leo Roche Jr., charged with sale and possession of a dangerous drug, and Richard Houle, charged with sale and possession of a dangerous drug.

Seminole's Students Praised By Principal

To the parents and citizens of Seminole County: I wish to bring you up to date on the disturbance at Seminole High School.

First of all no justifiable reason can be given for the sudden outbreak of unrest among the students, that is at the outset. However, as time progressed the students who were being victimized had a very just cause.

From the first day of school there have been problems of harassment, threats, and assaults on the campus. Every case reported has been acted on in some way; in many cases the victim was unable to identify the offender, and of course makes prosecution impossible.

As time progressed it became evident that sooner or later, trouble would erupt. There is a very small young group on campus, who are determined to cause trouble. Education is not their goal and every effort is being made to remove them from campus.

On the morning of Feb. 8, a fight broke out and disciplinary action was taken against all parties. Some parties claimed that action was not taken against all participants. This, however, was disproved by a public statement by one of the persons involved. Following this incident, there were several more minor ones.

However, on the morning of the ninth, one of our students was assaulted in a restroom by one or more persons. Also, in the restroom were 15 or more students, none of whom came to the aid of the assaulted youth, nor would any of them cooperate in pointing out the assailant.

The following day emotions were showing and it became obvious that trouble was brewing; it brewed very rapidly but we were fortunate in preventing any injuries.

On Thursday evening there were several meetings among the students. One group that we were very concerned about came forth with outstanding leadership. By this I mean they were rational, but they had every reason to be irrational. The leadership of this group assured us that if any trouble started it would not come from them — half the battle was won there.

On Friday the 11th, before classes began, it was very evident that something had to be settled one way or the other. At this time the primary concern on my part was the safety and welfare of the students; all else was put aside.

About one o'clock some progress was being made. I met with about 400-500 students, who prior to this time were without organized leadership. No adult was present at this meeting with the exception of myself.

Following this meeting, approximately 1:45 p.m., a very large group began assembling around the flag pole. Many of the adults on campus, including myself, felt that some action must be taken. I work my way into the middle of the group and found something completely different than was expected. A small group of whites and blacks were assembled discussing the situation and trying to bring about a solution.

This was the first attempt on the part of the students to alleviate the situation. Following this discussion I asked the

CAP Unit Ousted At Airport

By BILL SCOTT
The Civil Air Patrol (CAP) squadron stationed at Sanford Airport in quarters provided without charge by Sanford Aviation Academy (SAA) is looking for a new place to call home. CAP was allowed the use of rooms on the Academy's third floor student quarters building but, according to Charles (Chuck) Yeager, SAA director, the CAP has been using the entire floor consisting of about 20 rooms leaving electric lights turned on and has changed the locks on at least two doors.

Yeager said he discussed the situation with Bernard Theriault, CAP commander, and the CAP official indicated to him the squadron would look for housing elsewhere. "It's just not working out and I stressed it was too difficult to em' it them in the building," Yeager said.

The SAA official said he had compassion for the CAP and feels badly about the situation, since the organization does good work in locating lost pilots. He stressed he was not trying to place a hardship on the CAP but "it's just not working out. It costs money for electricity, Yeager said, and pointed out that the whole third floor was lighted one night when he returned to do some office work. Yeager said no real harm had been done thus far, but "we just can't have people we don't know going all over the building."

The SAA director said he and Theriault discussed giving the CAP 90 days in which to find a new home.

Jackson Slaps Wallace

HHH: Showdown Is Nip-Tuck

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two Democratic presidential hopefuls took aim at Alabama Gov. George Wallace Sunday with one calling him a "tough competitor" and the other saying the Southerner didn't have a chance in November.

Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., said he recognized Wallace's strength in Florida's March 14 primary and said the primary showdown is still "nip and tuck."

"I consider Wallace a tough competitor," said the 69-year-old senator, "but I don't concede a thing. I'm a tough street runner."

Humphrey said he considered Wallace a third party candidate "with his own party and his own principles."

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., meanwhile told a St. Petersburg audience that all the candidates in the Democratic race, Wallace's stands on busi-

H. Fitts New Boss Of Demos

Mrs. Helen Fitts, longtime party worker, has taken over reins of the Seminole County Democratic executive committee.

Past president of the Seminole Democratic Women's Club, immediate past vice chairman of the committee and active in political campaigns, including those of Hubert Humphrey in 1970, Mrs. Fitts assumed the office following the resignation of John Kader.

Kader told The Herald today that due to the press of business he does not have the time to do the job as well as he feels it should be done.

outside income. The proposal also called for a comprehensive national health insurance program and a reduction in property taxes through increased federal aid to education.

McGovern, also speaking in St. Petersburg Sunday, said he supported a program for the elderly which includes a "complete overhaul of the social security system."

An important message for people who prepare their own income tax returns.

Maybe you've been cheating yourself all these years.

Every year, between January and April, all about deductions for child care or millions of people sit down to do battle with Uncle Sam. Some are "self-styled" accountants. Others think they can save a few dollars doing it themselves—no why not.

The sad truth is, however, no matter what their reason was for starting many of them and the same. On the short end.

You see, when it comes to income taxes, amateurs should depend on H&R Block. We have all the facilities to help you make "income tax time" a pleasant experience. To begin with, H&R Block now has over 6,000 conveniently located offices manned by thousands of specially trained personnel who are anxious to help you. Yesterday's asparagus, tomatoes, leftover fish and Tommy's old sneakers. Tomorrow: clean landfill.

For a world seeking to handle its huge volumes of garbage without harming the environment, imagination is creating new solutions. With the help of electricity.

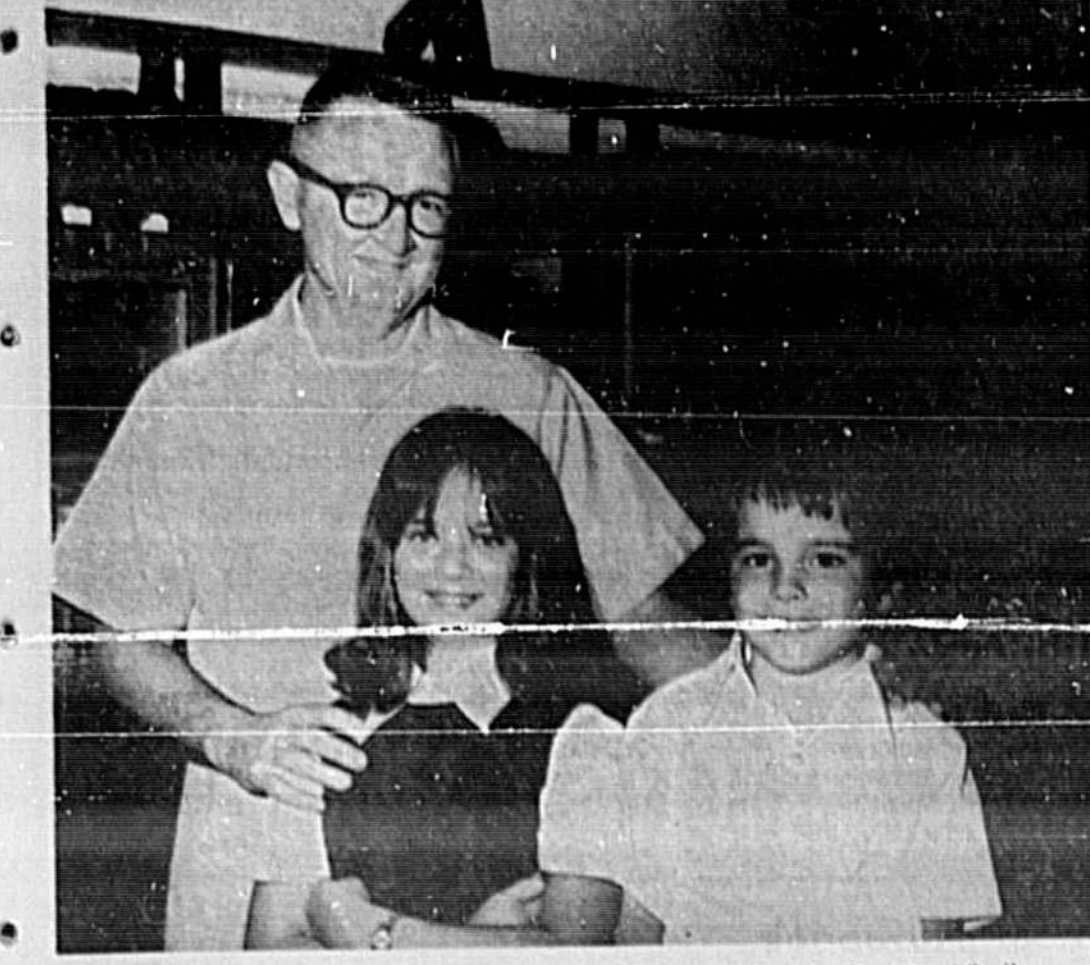

One example is the growing pile of clean, odor-free material pictured below. This is the end product after 1700 tons of garbage a week are processed at the Solid Waste Reduction Center in Pompano, Florida.

Electrically powered conveyors bring the waste to a huge pulverizer—also electrically powered. Metals are sorted out for recycling, cardboard and paper are pulled out for shipment to paper mills. And what comes out of the pulverizer is a shredded, dry material that has no detectable odor and cannot support fires or insect and rodent life. Another electrical conveyor carries it out, as shown below. And what once was offensive garbage will become useful landfill, restoring the soil and benefiting the environment.

Just as electricity brings you the convenience of home garbage disposal and a cleaner kitchen, it's helping with the job of cleaning up the world outside.

Electricity: part of the solution. FPL logo.

CASSELBERRY—City Council split 2-2 in a work session on the question of whether condominium development will be permitted on the perimeter of the "back nine" of the Land O' Lakes Country Club.

Dr. Zacco said the tax of $150 per day levied on Seminole Downs, the Jai Alai Fronton and assessed $10 per day on the perimeter of the "back nine" of the Land O' Lakes Country Club. Zacco said these sums along with a 50 per cent grant from the federal government would raise sufficient funds for the acquisition.

Futility Itself

The week-long session of the United Nations Security Council in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, seems to have borne out the opinion that the $38,500 spent on plane fare and hotel bills might better have been applied to the U.N.'s considerable debts.

While the Security Council may be returning to New York with a more vivid realization that many black Africans are unhappy about the course of political events on their continent, the U.N. is in no better position than ever to do anything about it.

International diplomacy offers no solution to the social and economic problems of African nations, with the overlay of racism which so many African spokesmen place upon them.

The U.N. attempt to register disapproval of the Rhodesian government through an economic boycott did little harm to Rhodesia and only served to enrich chrome dealers in the Soviet Union.

There is no reason to believe the U.N. could be any more effective in influencing the settlement now emerging between Rhodesia and Great Britain. It is simply farfetched that the U.N. should consider supporting a guerrilla war against the government of South Africa...

schools and in our junior college are men who are quite aware of what is taking place and are working together so that the facilities (now greatly overtaxed by public demand) will function at their best.

Even a superficial look at the statistics and the courses which are being offered at Seminole Junior College is enough to help everyone update their concept of the need for and the variety of vocational-occupational training in 1972.

There were 1,225 individuals enrolled in various such college courses between Aug. 30th and Dec. 17th, 1971. Subjects included real estate, practical nursing, basic and advanced clothing, air conditioning and refrigeration, electronics and office and business education.

Just over the horizon can be seen even a wider choice for those seeking to create or renew careers. Are not these thought-provoking: Care and guidance of children, auto mechanics, agricultural machinery, construction trades and — believe it or not — cosmetology?

Incidentally if there are any of our readers who would like to see for themselves there will be open houses at various schools. In the college next Wednesday will be the day when the existing vocational training laboratories and "voc" shops will be thrown open. Want to brush up your understanding of this prime purpose of education? A trip to one of these open houses will help.

Education itself is undergoing a self-analysis and a very deep soul-searching by leaders in this distinguished and difficult profession. No longer can educators retreat to the "Halls of Ivy" and expect to rest in somnolent meditation.

That is taking place in Seminole County is along these lines but in the offering of vocational-occupational training to those who have long left the schoolroom behind, it meets a need which is most urgent and most immediate for the vast majority.

Cuba Policy - Static Decade

By BRUCE ROSSAT (First of two related articles.) WASHINGTON (NEA) — Cuba, the center of world crises 10 years ago, has fallen much more fully under the Soviet Union's influence than was the case then.

Fidel Castro's little island country is staggering economically. Only Russian assistance amounting to about $500 million a year keeps Cuba afloat.

American foreign policy energies have in recent years been directed to far more distant places. Whether there has been no time for Cuba, or whether the Nixon administration is simply set hard against change, it is a fact that we have not tried any fresh approaches as we watched Russia tighten its grip on the island.

Perhaps only failure would greet any U.S. effort to woo Castro away from a total Soviet embrace. But then again, it might not hurt to try, even though Fidel never passes up a chance to declare his implacable hostility toward the United States. He can hardly resist his present lack of bargaining power with the Kremlin.

Jesus People Action Plan

"I have become convinced that the 'Jesus Revolution' is making a profound impact on the youth of America and shows signs of spreading to other countries. One thing is certain: Jesus Christ can no longer be ignored! Our generation cannot escape Him. We cannot dismiss Him as a myth or a figment of the imagination which seem terrified by a genuine religious revival.

In his new book, "The Jesus Generation" (Zondervan $4.95), Dr. Graham gives an excellent summary of the problems facing young people today — as well as their problems parents. He devotes much time and space to the practical fulfillment of a conversion experience.

mortgage. The day he retires and the day he dies. Oh, yes, and the day his father tells him about sex. This day didn't take long in my case. "Son, your mother thinks it's time I told you about sex," my father said one morning. "What do you know about it?" "Well, I know a little boy isn't supposed to get a little girl in trouble," I said. My father thought that over for a moment. "Well," he conceded, "I guess that's about all you need to know. But if you do get one in trouble, come and tell your Dad about it first."

Don Oakley Says:

"As Twig Is Bent" Is True

By DON OAKLEY NEA Editorialist

"Good" people come from "good" family backgrounds. "Bad" people come from "bad" backgrounds. This is one important finding of researches working in a "longitudinal" study at the University of California's Institute of Human Development in Berkeley.

The first major book based on the Berkeley study, "Lives Through Time," by psychologist professor Jack Block in collaboration with Norma Haan, reports that boys and girls reared in "good," healthy or positive families grew into more adjusted and admirable individuals whereas those reared in "bad" or negative or otherwise "bad" families tend to be disturbed and not very likable as adults. All the families in the study were white and middle class.

Hal Boyle Says:

Sixty - One Is Hardly Begun

NEW YORK (AP) — There's much to be done at 61. But with my first birthday looming on the horizon, I feel pretty much inclined to relax and let the other fellows do it.

Frankly, right now I'd rather float along with the world than fight it. I feel like the guy who rode over Niagara Falls in a red rubber ball. He didn't change them — but he did survive them. That's my goal, too. Being 61 doesn't call for much celebrating. It's pretty much of a blah birthday, just another niche and foothold in a
