A special election to provide a bond issue of $1,500,000 for purchase of rights-of-way sweeping in Florida yesterday by a sweeping majority.

Big Vote For Bonds JACKSONVILLE, Oct. 23.—(AP)—Unofficial returns from 127 of the Florida canal district's 158 precincts last night gave a vote of 14,880 to 534 in favor of the issuance of bonds for the purchase of lands along the right-of-way of the ship canal across the state.

In Duval county, 52 of the 64 precincts gave the bonds a victory of 9928 to 322. Thirteen Marion county precincts out of 24 reported 1346 for the bonds and 25 against.

Two of 11 precincts in Clay scored a 225 to 11 victory for the issue. In Putnam county, with 17 of the 26 precincts counted, the vote was 1437. Citrus county's 16 precincts gave 484 for and 37 against.

The 1935 Legislature created the canal district and allowed a bond issue up to $1,500,000 for the land purchase. Buying of the right-of-way constituted Florida's part of the preliminary activity on the $146,000,000 Gulf-Atlantic canal.

From all sections of the district came reports that interest was high and the vote heavy. (Continued on Page Two)

Proposed Pact Considered At Celery Confab

Prorating Shipments Plan Presented By Government Men To State Producers

LAKELAND, (Oct. 23.—(AP)—Between 75 and 100 growers and shippers gathered here today for a public hearing on a proposed marketing agreement for celery to become effective when the present agreement expires on Nov. 30. Testimony on the proposed pact will be considered by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

The agreement under consideration calls for a system of prorating shipments during the weeks of the 1935-36 season when the market would be glutted.

For the 1936-37 season, the agreement proposes season prorating. A two-thirds vote of the growers and an agreement of 50 percent of the shippers is required to put in effect an order making the agreement binding upon the industry.

J. R. Greenman, economist for the general crops section of the A. A. A., told the hearing the present agreement had benefited the industry last year. During the 11 weeks the pact was in force, he said, the average price for celery was $1.13 a crate. During the same 11 week period of the previous year, when there was no agreement, the average price was 89 cents.

The hearing was recessed for luncheon after Bradford Armstrong, AAA economist, began to present the agreement by sections for discussion.

European War Fears Allayed; Act For Peace

Plans To Put End To Conflict Are Said To Be Progressing In Three Capitals

Late Rains Help Ethiopian Forces Italian Army Bugged Down, But Selassie Warriors Keep On

As The Associated Press Fears of a European conflict precipitated by Italy's invasion of Ethiopia were allayed generally today, on every hand there was talk of peace. "Behind the scenes" conversations between Paris, London and Rome, seeking a satisfactory solution to end the East African conflict, were progressing, pacific efforts being given new life by Sir Samuel Hoare's House of Commons address in which the British government left the way open for an end to hostilities without imposing military sanctions against Italy.

Military operations in Ethiopia still were at a standstill. An official Rome communique indicated a drive into the Ethiopian interior toward Makale was imminent. Emperor Selassie was making good use of the delay in the Italian advance. Thousands more tribal warriors were streaming from Addis Ababa to various defense sectors at the front.

Heavy and belated rains in southeast Ethiopia have bogged down the Italian army under General Graziani, but allowed the Ethiopian forces to deploy advantageously against him.

The minister of war who left the capital yesterday at the head of another powerful force of 8,000 men reported well on his way to Direywe, the site selected for Ethiopia's last stand. A third great body of braves, 200,000 strong, surged down the valley of the Webbe Shibell River under the command of Ras Desta Demea, son-in-law of the Emperor, to meet the Italian army under General Graziani.

Baby Jane, Screen Starlet, Sends Birthday Cake to Quintuplets

"BABY JANE" QUINLEY, tiny Universal Pictures "starlet," is seen here holding a birthday cake that the clever little screen player had especially baked in Hollywood for the famous quintuplets in Canada. This cake is her personal gift to the notable Dionne babies on the occasion of their anniversary celebration.

The smiling film "starlet" has just taken the cake intended for the quintuplets from a refrigerator in the one room from the Electro-Brix plant at Evansville, Indiana, to the Mills Dated Hospital where it is now used to guard the food supply of the celebrated babies. Another Electro-Brix refrigerator was used in the remote Canadian northwoods Dionne farmhouse where the quintuplets were born at a time when the perishable human milk with which they were fed hourly needed the protection of up-to-date refrigeration.

"Baby Jane," appearing in "Alma Mary Dow," with Sally Eilers, is also sending to the quintuplets as a birthday present the five "Baby Jane" dolls sitting at the foot of the refrigerator.

Report Hurricane As Backtracking Toward Kingston

Reversal Said To Be Not Unusual; Much Damage In Islands

JACKSONVILLE, Oct. 23.—(AP)—Trapped by a high pressure ridge north of Cuba, the tropical storm which blew up out of the Caribbean Sea Monday apparently was slowly backtracking toward Jamaica today.

Vastly finished in force, the highest winds only 35 miles an hour, the storm center was charted this morning over a water area between Cuba and Jamaica.

Future movement was uncertain, but equally weather prevailed in the sea north of Jamaica, as well as around the eastern tip of Cuba.

Before blowing out of hurricane strength, the storm wrecked buildings in Jamaica and was to Cuba, causing several deaths.

Gordon E. Dunn, weather man, said the reversal in movement is unusual, but nothing new, as several storms in recent years have acted similarly.

European War Fears Allayed; Act For Peace

Plans To Put End To Conflict Are Said To Be Progressing In Three Capitals

Late Rains Help Ethiopian Forces

Italian Army Bugged Down, But Selassie Warriors Keep On

By The Associated Press
Fears of a European conflict precipitated by Italy's invasion of Ethiopia were allayed generally today. On every hand there was talk of peace.

"Behind the scenes" conversations between Paris, London and Rome, seeking a satisfactory solution to end the East African conflict, were progressing, pacific efforts being given new life by Sir Samuel Hoare's House of Commons address in which the British government left the way open for an end to hostilities without imposing military sanctions against Italy.

Miller Laval of France predicted success for his personal peace efforts. Laval sought Mussolini's minimum terms for ending his invasion of Ethiopia.

One highly important thing emphasized by the British, even with all the peace talk, is that any peace must be acceptable both to Haile Selassie and the League of Nations.

Military operations in Ethiopia still were at a standstill.

An official Rome communique indicated a drive into the Ethiopian interior toward Makale was imminent. Emperor Selassie was making good use of the delay in the Italian advance. Thousands more tribal warriors were streaming from Addis Ababa to various defense sectors at the front.

Heavy and belated rains in southeast Ethiopia have bogged down the Italian army under General Graziani, but allowed the Ethiopian forces to deploy advantageously against him.

Prepare For Last Stand
ADDIS ABABA, Oct. 23.—(AP)—Ethiopia stepped up its defense against the Italian invasion to fever pitch today with 30,000 more warriors gliding themselves for immediate departure to northern front.

The minister of war who left the capital yesterday at the head of another powerful force of 8,000 was reported well on his way to Dawa, the site selected for Ethiopian's last stand. A third great body of braves, 200,000 strong, surged down the valley of the Webbe Shibell River under the command of Haile Beata Demlu, son-in-law of the Emperor, to meet the Italian army under General Graziani.

A Million Dollar Bootleg Tobacco Ring Discovered

BOSTON, Oct. 23.—(AP)—Agents of the Department of Internal Revenue arrested two men and announced they would arrest 28 more for the evasion of $60,000 in taxes in what may be a million-dollar bootleg tobacco business extending through the nation. They said seven factories in Boston had been under surveillance.

Thirty federal agents sallied into the city today to make the arrests.

John Glutz, in charge of one division of agents said tobacco products had been sold widely without federal revenue stamps.

Stronger Defense Forces For Great Britain Proposed

LONDON, Oct. 23.—(AP)—The British government, saying it is running risks in its efforts for international peace, proposed today the strengthening of its defensive forces. Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, calling parliamentary elections for Nov. 14, said he would go to the people for support of defensive rearmament. The conservative prime minister's declaration came in the midst of peace talk and diplomatic conversations to end Mussolini's invasion of Ethiopia.

Kiwanians Will Give 50 Books To Library

Today's "book shower" of the Kiwanian Club resulted in the donation to the Seminole High School of 50 more books. The volumes were taken to the high school session in the Metropole Hotel today noon. Peter Schaal sponsored the "book shower" idea.

Big Vote For Bonds

JACKSONVILLE, Oct. 23.—(AP)—Unofficial returns from 127 of the Florida canal district's 158 precincts last night gave a vote of 14,580 to 538 in favor of the issuance of bonds for the purchase of lands along the right of way of the ship canal across the state.

In Duval county, 52 of the 64 precincts gave the bonds a vote of 9928 to 323. Thirteen Marion county precincts out of 24 reported 1346 for the bonds and 19 against.

Two of 11 precincts in Clay scored a 225 to 111 victory for the issue. In Putnam county, with 17 of the 26 precincts counted, the vote was 1437. Citrus county's 16 precincts gave 483 for and 37 against.

The 1935 Legislature created the canal district and allowed a bond issue up to $1,500,000 for the land purchase. Issuing of the right-of-way constituted Florida's part of the preliminary activity on the $148,000,000 Gulf-Atlantic canal.

From all sections of the district came reports that interest was high and the vote heavy. (Continued On Page Two)

Three Tons Of Muck Donated To Club For Improving Municipal Golf Course

Three tons of muck, donated to the Sanford Country Club, were hauled to the municipal golf course this morning, and the work of spreading it on the greens and fairways is to be undertaken this afternoon. The grass seed has already been sown over the course, and this will be sowed over the greens next week, and then after a few weeks Sanford will have one of the finest nine-hole golf courses in the state, in the opinion of Secretary Andrew Caraway of the Club.

Ray Symes donated one ton of muck and a truck and the men necessary to haul it and the other two tons of donated soil, Otto Caldwell gave a ton of muck, and the third ton was bought and given to the Club by John Ludwig, George Thurston, John Herbst, Fred Holly and Andrew Caraway.

Secretary Caraway said today that the membership drive being put on by the Country Club is "progressing nicely," and that indications are that the roll will be greatly increased.

THE THIRSTY LAND.—O God, thou art my God, early will I seek thee; my soul thirsteth for thee, and my flesh longeth for thee in a dry thirsty land.—Psalm 63: 1.

Wonder if there will be any stamp on the small potatoes who sometimes make laws like the Potato Control Act?

Jerry Carter Here Exposing Himself to Encouragement—Headline. Fort Myers News Press. Just another case of the job-seeking man.

Why is it that practically all of the pictures of men who appear in the clothing ads are good looking, when about 99 percent of the men are distinctly not good looking?

With Frank K. Anderson writing for the New York Herald Tribune and the New York Times, not to mention a number of lesser publications, the future of the cross-state canal can truly be said to be black.

People who believe that only the rich pay federal taxes should consider the little stamp tax on cigarettes. During the month of September the cigarette smokers of the country paid the federal government $12,325,400. That's at the rate of nearly 400 million dollars a year.

Old Age security and unemployment insurance will impose heavy taxes totaling $50,000,000 annually on daily newspapers. New revenues must quickly be found to meet these taxes, and increased advertising and circulation rates will regain major importance.—Editor & Publisher. That's something to think about.

Life is largely a matter of glandular activity, says Dr. Walter Freeman, of George Washington University. "As far as determining whether an individual should be a proud, sensitive, suspicious, paranoid individual, or a timid, shut-in, dreamy architect, a boisterous, jolly, half-fellow, well-met eyelid, or a moody, peevish, egocentric coltoid individual," it's the various glands of the body which are to blame. So now you know exactly what your trouble is.

"Always glad to pass along interesting rumors," says John Temple Graves, of Birmingham, Ala. "I report that one going to the New Orleans rounds now is the effect that Dr. 'Waise didn't shoot Harry Long at all. He was dead, but not much enough to kill and he struck the senator in the leg with his fist, and Harry's bodyguards opened fire on him so that they killed their own man by accident. So the rumor runs."

The National Youth Administration is confronted with a problem which bureau officials would like to solve. What to do with their $50,000,000. When the government undertakes the task of sending young men and women to college it is difficult to discriminate between those who are to be sent at government expense and those who are not. The government to give every young man and every young woman in this country a college education would be expensive. There is only a few would hardly be to those discriminated against. And besides if every one is educated, who is going to do the very necessary common work in this country?

The Real Issues

In one of his recent articles published in The Sanford Herald, Arthur Dunn, noted writer and lecturer on political and economic subjects, points out what he conceives to be the real issues before the people of the United States today. He states them simply: (1) How shall we exchange (distribute) the great volume of products which our present man and machine power can so easily grow and manufacture? (2) How shall we employ the army of idle millions, augmented continually by those whom labor saving machinery displaces, and by those arriving at working age? (3) What must the United States do to help prevent war in the world?

Others may question whether these are the only real issues with which the people are confronted. Some may wonder whether continual budgetary deficits leading inevitably to national bankruptcy are not also a real issue. Others may think that revolutionary changes in our form of government and the preservation of the Constitution present a major issue. And there are some who may feel that the tendency of this country toward "soft money" with wild inflation as its ultimate consequence will soon be, whether it is now or not, an issue of a very real sort.

But if the real issues are to be confined to the distribution of the greatest possible volume of agricultural and industrial products, it should be important for the people to determine in their own minds whether this ultimate objective can best be brought about by artificially raising prices to the highest possible level or by attempting to keep them down within reach of the consumers' pocketbook. If it is of the utmost importance that we find work for the army of idle millions (and it is presumed that this means work in private employment, not government work) then can this best be done by restricting through federal laws the output of factories, and by curtailing agricultural production by government subsidies, or by encouraging an increase in production? And if it is to be an issue whether the United States should play a part in helping to prevent war in the world, has the United States a better role in plowing up wheat and cotton, destroying hogs and cattle, and neglecting its opportunities to sell such surpluses to the rest of the world, or in lowering tariff barriers, stabilizing international currencies, and helping to promote international trade?

If the prices of products are artificially raised through combines, monopolies, trusts, agreements, or associations, as was attempted under the NRA and as is now being done under the AAA, without regard to individual income, does this not tend to interfere with the exchange of goods rather than to promote trade? Will a man buy as many pairs of shoes costing $3 a pair as he would if those same shoes cost $2 a pair? Will he buy as many pounds of white bacon for his family when the price is 30 cents a pound as he would when it was ten cents a pound? Would it not seem, then, that the way to promote the wider distribution of agricultural and industrial products is to reduce prices and not to raise them?

To say this is not to suggest the reduction of wages, salaries, or profits? The lowering of prices by such methods would not be any real reduction at all. The reduction of prices must be in relation to individual income. Prices must be lowered more than wages are lowered. Or prices must be lowered while wages remain the same. This is the only way that price reduction can be made to mean anything, can result in increased consumption and increased production.

Reducing wages, as some seem to suppose, is not by any means the only way of meeting the problem of prices. Hundreds of elements enter into the fixing of prices for every marketable commodity. One of the most important, one of the largest, is transportation. Practically every product which reaches the ultimate consumer has to be transported, sometimes thousands of miles, and a very high percentage of its cost to the consumer can be accounted for by transportation costs. Another important element in prices is taxes. On some of the various articles which we consume in our daily lives have been levied scores and scores of taxes. Another way to reduce prices without decreasing wages or income is through technological improvements and increased efficiency.

If prices are reduced, if production is increased, if trade, both domestic and international, is encouraged, we will not have to worry about the issues of distribution, unemployment, and world wars.

A Driver's Primer

In the oral examination given by police before a driver's license will be issued in Miami, questions such as the following must be correctly answered:

What are the correct hand signals for right and left turns and stops? Speed limits in the various zones? What to do when emergency vehicles approach? In making left turns has through traffic right of way? Where are U turns permitted? What to do when involved in accidents where damage amounts to more than $25 or personal injuries result?

After stopping at a stop street when may driver proceed? How far may a driver back his car on downtown streets? What precautions must be used in pulling out from a curb?

Traffic regulation books answering these and other questions that the license applicant must know are in the hands of all police officers and will be given to all who ask for them.

SANFORD TWENTY YEARS AGO

The marriage of Miss Hortense Weisman to Mr. Francis Eugene Roumillat of Sanford was quietly solemnized with Mass at 8:30 A. M. Wednesday morning, Sept. 20, at the Sacred Heart Church in Tampa with the Rev. Father De Stok officiating. The bride, who is an attractive and charming young lady, looked unusually demure and pretty in a plain colored chiffon broadcloth suit trimmed with fur, plum color hat, sailor shape and trimmed with fur and velvet. The groom wore a grey suit. They returned immediately after the ceremony to the home of the bride's parents and next, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Coulter, of Tampa, with whom the bride made her home. Here an informal reception was held. The bride has visited her uncle and aunt in Sanford on many occasions and for several months past has been making her home with them. Mr. Roumillat, who is a young man of sterling character and a prominent business man of Sanford, is to be congratulated on winning such a charming wife. Among the new arrivals in the city to spend the winter months are a daughter for Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Ryan and a daughter for Mr. and Mrs. H. C. DeLoe. Accompanying a set of William Hamilton Woodruff, the former owner of the building now occupied by the Sanford Hotel, is Mrs. W. D. Coulter, of Tampa.

24 Permits Asked Here for Operation Of Slot Machines

Licenses Under City Ordinance Wanted By Deviles' Owner

Applications for the issuance of licenses for the operation of 24 slot machines in the City of Sanford were filed today with City Clerk F. S. Lamm by W. J. Fell, owner or lessee of the main operating devices. The licenses are being sought under provisions of a new City ordinance which was passed by the City Commission last Saturday afternoon as an emergency measure. In accordance with the fee schedule set up in the ordinance, Fell would pay $75 for an "operator's license," and in addition would pay $5 for each coin operated slot machine and $15 for each automatic pin operated vending and amusement machine with premium features.

Local Option permitted TALLAHASSEE, Oct. 23. — (AP)—For the sake—and possible use—of those who are interested, attorneys here yesterday called attention to a section of the slot machine law which provides for local option elections at which the people could vote on whether the machines would be prohibited in their communities. The election may be called at the next general election which will be held in November, 1936.

Back in the 1935 Legislature, when the slot machine bill was killed and then, overnight, the bill of life again was pumped into it, Rep. J. Locke Kelly of Pinellas county hammered into the law the local option provision. He said he wanted to provide a method by which the people of a county, or of the entire state, could prohibit operation of slot machines. The law provides that a local option election shall be called by the county commission upon a petition signed by 20 percent of the voters of a county.

The slot machines have been called "one-armed bandits," and "damnable things"—the first time in the Legislature, and next by Comptroller J. M. Lee. Amplifying it is a "damnable thing," the comptroller also said he believed financing governmental operations with revenues from such sources as slot machines had "backward tendencies."

Anderson Says That He's Not Secretary Of Conservationists

Frank Kay Anderson writes The Herald today that he is not the secretary of the Central and South Florida Water Conservation Committee and, further, that he is not even a member or an employee of the committee. His communication follows: "Thanks a lot for dignifying me as the secretary of the Central and South Florida Water Conservation Committee. The mistake is natural since in recent weeks I have been giving so much time to scarping the canal and have spent so much time in Sanford, but I cannot very well accept the promotion. As a matter of fact, I am neither a member nor an employee of that committee though I have been working very closely with them. I began opposing the proposed canal more than two years ago. Then your Sanford farmers came into the fight because of the threat to the water, and certain citrus interests after investigating and finding the correctness of their stand decided it was better to co-ordinate the opposition than to have separate operations going on. Therefore we are all operating together and harmoniously, and, I believe, with some effectiveness, but it just happens that I am not directly a part of the water conservation committee.

Campaign Costs Limit Fought For By Miami Lawyer

Long W contended for strict adherence by gubernatorial aspirants to provisions of state law which limit campaign expenses of candidates for governor to $15,000, James M. Carson, prominent Miami attorney, strongly commends Justice Ruford Buford for his stand on the question. In a letter to Justice Buford the Miami attorney who in recent years has frequently been urged to run for governor, tells the justice that he "has done a remarkable service by emphasizing before the start of the campaign the dangers in excessive expenditures." This Mr. Buford did in a "guest editorial" in a recent issue of the Tallahassee Democrat.

Carson Compliments Justice Buford On Supporting Bill

Mr. Carson calls attention to letters he wrote in 1930 and 1931 to H. T. Wrennack in Orlando, E. D. Lambright in Tampa, and Joseph Greenhalgh in Miami. In one of these letters, copies of which Mr. Carson sent Justice Buford, he says that "the law in the State of Florida limits the amount of money that can be expended in furtherance of one's candidacy for governor to $15,000. I spent practically that much two years ago in 11 weeks without buying any newspapers and without starting two years in advance. My judgment is that there was expended in the 1928 primary campaign nearly $1,000,000 by all the candidates for governor. The total salary of the office is only $40,000 for the full term. I have no criticism to make of these gentlemen who have bought newspapers this far in advance (the letter was written on May 21, 1930); I merely wonder if, when they take oath as to their campaign expenditures, whether they will tell the truth."

In the fall of that year, on Oct. 15, 1930, Mr. Carson replied to a query from Mr. Lambright as to whether the Miamian had gubernatorial aspirations by saying he could accept the office only at great financial loss to him.

self and, again referring to the $15,000 campaign limit, said: "I do not want the office badly enough to violate in advance the very laws I would be seeking to get the right to take oath to uphold, maintain and enforce."

Town in April, 1931, Mr. Carson wrote Mr. Greenhalgh: "I should not want to be governor if I had to spend more than $15,000 (the figure fixed by law) directly or indirectly, or to connive at its expenditure."

Miss Betty Antosh To Wed Mr. Robson

The engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Elizabeth Reynolds Antosh to Claude McDaniel Robson was made known at an announcement party, buffet supper, and miscellaneous shower given in honor of Miss Antosh Monday evening by Mrs. Harry Weeks and Mrs. W. C. Erickson at the home of Mrs. Weeks on Cameron Avenue.

Miss Antosh was born in Morrisville, Pa. and is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Antosh of that city. She was graduated from high school in Morrisville and studied nursing at the Bridgeport Hospital School of Nursing in Bridgeport, N. J. After finishing her course there, she did post graduate work in public health nursing at Peabody College, Nashville, Tenn. She was a public health nurse in Orlando for a short time before coming to Sanford eight years ago. She is now superintendent of Fernald-Lauchter Memorial Hospital.

Mr. Robson is the son of Dr. and Mrs. James Nicholson Robson of this city. He was born at Union, S. C. but lived the greater part of his life in Sanford, attending the public schools of the city. He was employed by the Tampa and Ocean Steamship Company of New Orleans for several years and is now with Perk's Place.

The announcement was made by means of small Halloween favors presented to the guests early in the evening. As the guests arrived they were met at their cars by "ghosts" who escorted them about the Weeks lawn which were decorated with Halloween novelties and lights.

Supper was served informally from the dining room table which was overlaid with a lace cloth and centered with a large bowl of gold and orange flowers. Yellow candles in yellow and black holders cast a soft glow about the room. The hostesses were assisted in serving by Mrs. George Jones and Mrs. J. N. Robson, Jr.

Late in the evening, Miss Antosh was presented with many gifts in a small room decorated with Halloween lanterns and screens. Among those invited to be with the honor guest were: Mrs. John Sparkman, Mrs. E. H. Altman, Mrs. C. F. Proctor, Mrs. Joe Barnes, Mrs. R. L. Glenn, Mrs. Arthur Gatchel, Mrs. Harlow Goodspeed, Mrs. W. Along Broadway With Joe And Sam

BY NINA OLIVER DEAN

Joe Marentette, who was recently spread all over the New York papers as the Sanford, Florida manager who came up to make a bid for the Broadway company of "Tease Road" to come down to the Milane Theater, is home from Manhattan "trailing clouds of glory." The Broadway glory that is at present shining so radiantly upon Sam Ryan.

This team of Mr. Marentette's wasn't just a tag; it was an adventure, not only in play going but in knowing players. It seems that Sam, who is the youngest member of the Lamb's Club, saw to it that Joe received a guest card. Together they did New York and from what I can gather, they left very little out. They even went to the Metropolitan to see Colonel Basil's famed Monte Carlo Ballet Russe. I was enchanted when Mr. Marentette told me that he thought I had found a fellow ballet enthusiast, but he laughingly admitted that although he loved the performance, he would have gone if Sam hadn't dragged him.

The program was an incredibly lovely one. "The Three-Cornered Hat" and "Aproa's Wedding," the ballet which includes the fairy tales, "Little Red Riding Hood," "The Blue Bird," and the exquisite "Forsythian Progresses." There was scenery by Baket and Picasso, choreography by Masson, and Feline music by de Falla and Bela Kereff, and the sort of dancing that makes the dream of Diaphanite, Nijinsky, and Adolph Bolm incidentally, the Ballet Russe is coming to Orlando in March and what a gathering of balletomanes there will be from all over Florida! I asked Mr. Marentette what he thought of the condition that he could seek a new trial if two other defendants in the case are acquitted at their second trial.

The other defendants, Ronald Retherford and Millard Keith, Dewey's brother, were granted a new trial recently by the Supreme Court on the ground that the Holmes county circuit court incorrectly charged the jury at their first trial.

Federal Allotment Made For Armory; Work Starts Monday

$24,515 Appropriated For Project Here; Sponsors Expected To Put Up $5,100

Local Labor Is To Be Employed

Building Materials Also To Be Bought From Local Firms

Schools Here Will Be Open Seven Months

Seminole Educational Fund Is In Better Condition Than In Other Communities

The federal government has allotted the sum of $24,515 for the construction in Sanford of an armory for local companies of the Florida National Guard.

Notification of the allotment of funds was received yesterday. Requests for building materials were made out today, and construction work on the big project is to begin Monday morning.

This is the information given out by T. K. Ayer, assistant engineer for Project No. 2 of the Works Progress Administration, office in the City Hall.

As yet there is no estimate of the amount of the local money to be contributed to the project. The WPA officials, however, are confident that the local money is to come down, or when the government is going ahead with the project.

The new armory is to be built on West Street, about one block west of the Madison Hotel, facing Lake Monroe. Some plans prepared by E. J. Moughtin, Sanford architect, are being made.

Requests for building materials are being made from Moughtin's specifications. The structure will be of frame.

It is known that all local labor will be employed and that all material going into the structure, lumber, steel, rock and cement will be bought from local sources.

It was expected that some of the equipment would be furnished by the first work to be undertaken. Building will be the result of the site preparation and leveling of the foundation.

The book is described as "a sensational and entirely untrue account of the Italian game."

The book says that Arching King of Greece and Benito Mussolini have been allied with the Greek government in Greece. The book also says that the Greek government is a puppet government of Benito Mussolini.

Balmes Opposes Raising Levy On Celery Shipments

Proposal Is Made To Boost The Rate To $2.53 Per Carload

Opposition to the proposed one-cent levy on celery shipments for the purpose of covering expenses of administering the celery control agreement was voiced at yesterday's meeting of celery growers and shippers at Lakeland.

George Balmes of Sanford, president of the Sanford Celery Truck Growers' Association, was the speaker in opposition to the suggested increase, pointing out that the new levy would amount to $2.53 per carload instead of $1 per carload.

John Mosch, St. H. J. Lehman, W. A. Laffler and others from Sanford who attended yesterday's meeting left about 11 o'clock last night for Lakeland. Some minor details of the levy had not been decided on today.

Approximately 100 persons were in Lakeland for a public hearing on the plan designed to go into effect upon the expiration of an existing agreement November 31.

The seasonal production plan would not be effective until the season of 1936. For the coming season, weekly production of shipments would be made as under the present agreement.

A two-thirds vote of growers and shippers is required to make the proposed agreement binding upon the industry.

Lower Prices Seen As Best Cure For Great Depression

Economist Says That Mass Distribution Is Also Requisite

DELSBURG, Oct. 24.—(AP)—The Brookings Institution reported today after a three-year study it has concluded American depression can be prevented by effective distribution of a greater mass production through lower prices.

Dr. Harold G. Moulton, head of the institution which is devoted to social science research, gave the report to the Falk Foundation, sponsor of the inquiry, and 300 executives from every field of industry.

The Brookings report declared a world without depression can be accomplished only if the benefits of increased efficiency of both business and industry are passed along to the entire people in lower commodity prices.

It should be clearly understood that a mere distribution of the existing income of a nation will not accomplish the desired result," Dr. Moulton asserted.

He pointed out that the average income in the United States last year was $1,000, and the average of incomes from industry and corporation of the United States added a mere $110.

"The present distribution is to increase, possibly to the total amount of income to be divided," he said. "Only if the aggregate income of the United States is $1,110 billion, the $110 billion will be possible to achieve the goal desired."

Dr. Moulton said he found three major types of business or government which have interfered with the competitive process movements. Unified monopoly, industrial combination, the collective monopoly, cartels, found chiefly in Europe, and trade combinations.

"Over an area where the process of production is expanding, government power by means of price regulations has thus been checked. The results have been very bad."

Italy Opposes Peace Forced By League And Great Britain's Guns

Answer Demanded By Mussolini To His Peace Proposals; Big Battle Rages

City The Associated Press.—With his Fascist legions ready to strike, at the instigation of Ethiopia from the north and from the south, Mussolini pressed Paris and London today for action on his peace terms.

In Addis Ababa reports from the southern front said a heavy battle raged on the Wabbi Shebbi River in Ogaden province between Italian and 200,000 tribal warriors of Emperor Haile Selassie.

Bedjazmetch Nasibi, governor of Harar province to the north of Ogaden and one of the commanders on the southern front, told the Associated Press the heavy battle raged on the Wabbi Shebbi River in Ogaden province, after an extension of the southern front, two weeks ago.

Mussolini's peace terms, as published widely in Paris, include the disarmament of Haile Selassie's army, an Italian protectorate over the eastern half of the empire, and an international protocol over the western and central regions.

If these terms are accepted, it would mean a gesture toward a better understanding with Great Britain in order to bring the withdrawal of a division of the Prime Minister's army from these parts. In the event, sources close to Mussolini said that he expressed the hope that he would accept such terms.

Solution Is Difficult While "Sanctionist Machine Works At Geneva." 'Tis Said

Roosevelt Works On League Reply

President Discusses War Situation With Secretary Of State

ROME, Oct. 24.—(AP)—Italian officials objected today to negotiating peace with Ethiopia under pressure of the League of Nations' sanctions and British guns.

The stand was interpreted in informed quarters as a bid for delay in the sanctions drive. Direct negotiations between Italy, Great Britain and France for a peaceful conclusion of the war and the resulting European tension would be difficult, officials said, as long as the sanctionist machine works at Geneva.

Premier Mussolini was understood to have expressed the official statement as considering League sanctions almost a bar to any peace pact negotiations.

Roosevelt and Hull Confer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—(AP)—Early in his trip, President Roosevelt plunged today into an immediate discussion of the Italian-Ethiopian situation and America's attitude toward it. Many other things were on the schedule, too, but he talked with Secretary Hull over the luncheon table, as he had done the day before.

There was no indication as to when the American reply would be dispatched to the League of Nations, and no mention of asking for this government's consent to its program of sanctions against Italy.
