New Building Ready For Use At Baptist Bible Institute

Use of a new, air conditioned building for summer school at the Baptist Bible Institute at Graceville has been announced by James E. Southerland, president. The summer session is scheduled May 25 through July 3 with classes on Monday afternoon and mornings, Tuesday through Friday. Southerland also announced that the summer classes will include a course in speed reading for the first time and that rules against enrolling college graduates during a summer school will be relaxed.

New classrooms should be ready for use by March 1, weather permitting. A new administration building will be started at that time.

The speed reading course to be taught by Professor Martin V. McKinstor also will be offered during the regular session in September. Baptist Bible Institute does not accept college graduates although it offers seminary-type subjects. However, at the requests of pastors and others in the area who desire refresher courses, rules are being relaxed for the summer, Southerland said.

Students enrolling regularly may earn six semester hours. Any three subjects may be taken from a list including Old Testament Intensive, New Testament Intensive, Theology, Biblical Homiletics, Church History, Music Appreciation, Choral Literature and Speed Reading.

Heart Queen Coronation Set

Third annual roller skating show, Showboat and the coronation of the Heart Fund Queen will be held by Melodee Skating rink on Sunday, March 1.

The contestants are each collecting pennies for their accounts from friends and relatives. (Their collections have nothing to do with the Heart Sunday Collection. In fact, these girls have been instructed to do nothing to interfere with Heart Sunday.) The girl with the most votes (pennies) will be crowned queen at the climax of the skating show by Miss Linda Ley, 1963's Heart Fund Queen.

In 1963 the Show and coronation collected $725.65 for the Fund with Linda having $239.61 in her account. In 1962 $773.11 was collected and Miss Sheila Best was crowned queen.

Her account was $271.70. Fund raising events so far this week have included a skating party by Darlene Roberts's church group and a bake sale sponsored by the Future Homemakers for Gail Coleman's account.

On Honor Roll

Robert Bradford Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Bradford of Altamonte Springs, has made the first semester honor roll at Howey Academy, a distinction earned for maintaining a grade level of 85 or better. Robert has been accepted at Stetson University for the fall term and later will transfer to Harvard Law School.

Our Press is free to print the truth.

Able to Reveal the Truth without reprisal by a dictatorial government, the men and women of America's newspapers, by seeking the facts and printing the facts, have alerted us to the dangers of creeping socialism. Free from the constant threat of drastic penalties . . . or of outright seizure and confiscation . . . for criticizing government policy, our publishers continue to print the truth. At the same time, through individual initiative and enterprise, they have made American newspapers the most informative . . . most widely read . . . most efficiently produced publications in the world. Is it any wonder then that those who seek to destroy the freedoms that make our Nation great, advocate federal ownership of certain businesses? Freedom of the Press as well as freedom of individual initiative and enterprise must be maintained to keep America Powerful.

Regular meeting of the Seminole County Board of Public Instruction will be held on Tuesday at 1 p.m. instead of Thursday. Supt. R. T. Milwee will be in attendance at a State Course of Study Committee meeting, of which he is a member, in Tallahassee on Feb. 13-14.
The board will discuss the results of a survey conducted to determine the feasibility of constructing an area technical and vocational school in Seminole County.

The remainder of the meeting will be devoted to routine matters.

Tunnel Under Channel Gets Green Light

LONDON (UPI) — The 102-year-old dream of a channel tunnel linking Britain and France appeared today closer to realization than ever before.
Ernest Marples, British transport minister, told the House of Commons Thursday the governments of Britain and France have decided to go ahead with a railroad tunnel under the English Channel, as recommended last September by a joint study committee of British and French experts.

Marples declined to give a probable date for starting construction of the channel tunnel, known in England as "The Chunnel." He said the next step would be discussion of the legal and financial problems involved.

Base Strike Threatens Training Of Pilots

FT. RUSKER, Ala. (UPI)—Maintenance workers went on strike today at this army aviation center which trains many pilots for combat

Canal Bid

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — The Tidewater Dredging Corp., Metairie, La., submitted the apparent low bid of $709,574 Thursday for construction of a six-mile portion of the cross-state barge canal extending west from the St. Johns Lock near Palatka.

duty in Viet Nam. The effect on the Pilot Training Program was not determined immediately.

The International Machinist Union, comprising 1,255 of the 1,400 hundred maintenance workers here, went on strike at 12:01 a.m. CST (1:01 a.m. EST) against Page Aircraft Maintenance Inc., in a dispute over the union's right to represent the workers. Page Aircraft maintains aircraft and installations for the army here. Maj. Gen. Clifton F. Von Kann, commanding General of the Base, expressed confidence Page would do everything in its power to keep the center operating.

Von Kann said 87 per cent of the installation's H-21 helicopter pilots, 47 per cent of its UH-1 helicopter pilots and 38 per cent of its fixed wing aircraft pilots reported directly to Viet Nam last year.

Ted F. Maddin, district president of the union, said the strike was called Saturday "because Page refused to recognize the union as a bargaining agent."

Page president Rex H. Madeira said the union's old contract with Hayes International, which Page succeeded Feb. 1, was not operative with Page. "The union has not been certified by the National Labor Relations Board as the agent and the union's certification at Hayes International does not apply to Page," Madeira said.

"The issue will not be resolved by a strike, but can be resolved only by an election," he said.

Six Years In Space

It's hard to believe, but it is just six years since the first American satellite went into orbit.

On January 31, 1958, at 10:48 p.m. EST, little 80.8-pound Explorer I rode into history atop a Jupiter C rocket (remember that name?). Even though souped-up, its thrust was less than that of the second stage alone of the Saturn I that was just orbited.

Since then Explorer has traveled well over 26,000 times around the earth, covering some 775 million miles.

As befitted the nation's pioneer satellite, Explorer made the most significant early discovery of the Space Age — the discovery of the Van Allen radiation belts that surround the earth.

Explorer I now goes out as far as 1,011.6 miles from earth and swings in as close as 212.5 miles, taking 104.6 minutes for an orbit. It used to be 114.9 minutes, and the difference is the measure of Explorer's dwindling lifetime.

For what goes up must come down, even in the Space Age. NASA scientists compute that Explorer I will plunge back into the atmosphere and incinerate itself sometime in 1966, eight years after launch.

Dial 'C' For Confusion

Those people who are upset about having to memorize seven numbers just for a local telephone call ought to consider what their children and grandchildren will be up against when around-the-world calling becomes commonplace.

There are more than 140 million telephones in use in the world today (80 million in the U.S.), an increase of 16 per cent in the last three years. As more millions are added, the need for international dialing will begin to be important.

In 1961, representatives from every nation in the world met to form the Consultative Committee on International Telegraph and Telephone. One of the committee's acts was to recommend standardized maximum of 12 digits in a world telephone number. The recommendation will be voted on during the next meeting to be held in Moscow late in 1964.

The dozen-digit figure does not include the dial code giving access to the international network. This could require another three flips of the dial with the calloused forefinger.

And if you call from your office, you may still have to dial "9" to get an outside line.

Thought For Today

The death he died he died to, once for all, but the life he lives he lives to God. Romans 6:10.

In his life Christ is an example showing us how to live; in his death, he is a sacrifice satisfying for our sins; in his resurrection, a conqueror; in his ascension, a king; in his intercession, a high priest. — Martin Luther.

Seeds Of Conflict

The village of Chaknot lies just on the Indian side of the cease-fire line which since 1949 has divided Kashmir, so remote that it is accessible to Indian troops only by mule train.

It scarcely seems worthy of the attention of world diplomats, much less to contain the seeds of war.

Yet such was the case this week when for the 110th time the United Nations Security Council met to take up the subject of Kashmir, a source of conflict between India and Pakistan ever since the British divided the Indian subcontinent into Hindu and Moslem states in 1947.

Chaknot, admittedly on the Indian side of the cease-fire line but inaccessible to India, has been administered by Pakistan.

In November, Pakistan accused India of planning to take the village by force and brought the charges before the U.N. Security Council.

On Dec. 29, a fair revealed as a relic of the Prophet Mohammed disappeared from a mosque in Srinagar, capital of Indian-held Kashmir.

Violent outbursts among Kashmir's predominantly Moslem population followed, with WASHINGTON (NEA) — After 100 speaking engagements on U. S. college campuses in a little over two years, American Communist leaders have decided to rush their college lecture program as a major tactic in their drive to whip up public opinion against the McCarran Act, which requires Reds to register.

Their long-range objective is to convince youthful leaders that American communism is somehow different from communism everywhere else—that it's not a subversive conspiracy but a "legitimate political party."

Communist leaders have now evaluated their two-year trypout on the college campuses and are satisfied they're on the right track. The consensus among U. S. Red leaders is that they've made progress at the colleges. They estimate they have been reaching 75,000 or more students and townspeople a year with these talks.

In these campus speeches, they are attempting to "prove" that 1) communism, if it gains power in the United States, will tolerate opposition political parties; 2) communism in the United States will be achieved through peaceful means; 3) the Communist Party, U.S.A., has no organized ties with other Communist parties; and 4) there can be no comparison between the restrictions now in effect in the Communist countries and those communism would mean in the United States.

Although these claims are demonstrably false, reports indicate that in some places students have not been taught the facts they need to flatly on the Red statements.

Communist leaders are devoting a great deal of thought and careful planning to their college appearances. They're skillfully constructing their speeches.

A rundown on the principal lecturers they've used shows they're not sending second-stringers:

Herbert Eugene Apteker, 44, was granted a Ph.D. from Columbia University in 1949, spent four years in the Army.

Mortimer Daniel Babls, 32, was granted an L.B. from the University of Pennsylvania in 1952. He has been editor of Communist viewpoint.

Then there's Benjamin Davis, Harvard '28; Gus Hall, general secretary of the Communist Party, U.S.A.; Carl Winter, member of the party's national committee, son of Russian-born parents.

Some of the congresses at which the Communists claim speaking engagements: Harvard Law School, University of Chicago, Brown University, Columbia University of Oregon, Western Reserve, Wisconsin, Swarthmore, New York University, Stanford, Pennsylvania, Minnesota, Reed College, Colby College, Washington University, Brandeis, City College of New York, Hamilton College, Hunter College, Temple University, Upsala, Bowdoin, Cornell, Ohio Wesleyan, Yale, San Jose State, Michigan State, University of Virginia, Colorado State, Michigan, Lewis and Clark and the Universities of Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut.

Dr. Crane's Worry Clinic

CASE R-479: Robert J. aged 20, is a college senior. "Dr. Crane," he began, "I'm an crazy about a good named Marcia.

"She is a wonderful girl. In fact, I almost literally worship the ground she walks on.

"So I treat her like an angel. Whatever she asks for, I try to give her.

"But she stands me up on dates and uses me as a doormat. She is rude to me and deliberately seems to try to irritate me.

"Yet when we first dated, she was wonderful. So what has changed her?"

Marcia's irritating behavior can be understood by reading Shakespeare's famous "Taming of the Shrew."

A nagging wife or an irritating sweetheart often is a woman who feels her man is somewhat sissy.

Without consciously diagnosing him as such, she has subconsciously arrived at that conclusion and thus tries to re-masculinize him.

The average woman regards a certain amount of roughness and even physical dominance as a symbol of the male.

When she feels that her escort is too submissive and a "yes-man" to the point of nausea, she often tries to remedy matters.

"How can I make him assert his masculine dominance?" is the vague question that percolates through her subconscious mind.

"Well, I'll just irritate him and affront him and stand him up on dates and be cross and mean until he asserts himself.

"For when men get angry, they are likely to lay hands on a girl.

"Therefore, I shall work him up to such a rage that his self-control vanishes. Then he will become primitive and seize me and shake me till my teeth rattle."

This is the roundabout thinking that a "shrew" goes through in her effort to force her escort out of his sissy behavior.

Actually, Marcia loves Robert or she wouldn't waste her time trying to push him into his proper masculine role.

So her constant efforts to offend him are a subconscious plot on her part to mold him into the sweetheart that she can really admire.

No woman gets as much thrill out of the kisses of a half-man as she does from a virile male.

And no woman can respect a man when she knows her slightest wish is ALWAYS law!

For the normal girl has learned from childhood that boys are rough. And she has heard her father "chew out" her mother more than once, so she conjures up a subconscious "yardstick" by which to measure masculinity.

And that "yardstick" involves a certain amount of selfishness or even a little brute force.

Oddly enough, more wives divorce their husbands for "mental cruelty" (meaning inattention) than for physical brutality!

In fact, I have interviewed many wives with black eyes who cried a little but then returned happily to their mates, for women often relish a mild amount of coercion by males.

Don't misinterpret me as suggesting that men habitually use brute force on their wives.

But there'd be far fewer divorces in this country if sissy males smacked their wives down at least once or twice just to show who is the physical boss in this effeminate modern age!

Split Threatens Rights Groups' Boycott Plans

By United Press International
A split among civil rights leaders threatened today to disrupt plans for a second anti-segregation boycott of the Chicago schools planned for Feb. 23.

Important Negro rights groups such as the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) and the Urban League have announced opposition to the planned second boycott and Negro leaders within the powerful city Democratic organization also lined up against it.

Six of eight aldermen who represent predominantly Negro wards of Chicago are among the boycott opponents. There was little opposition to the first boycott Oct. 22 during which 244,700 students stayed away from classes.

In New York, the leader of Monday's citywide public school boycott said his group was committed to repeat the demonstration "as often as necessary." The Rev. Milton A. Galamison, chairman of the citywide committee for school integration, indicated the next boycott might be Feb. 23 to coincide with threatened boycotts in Chicago and Boston.

Alabama's school integration crisis will give a legal airing next week, Federal Judge Frank Johnson scheduled a hearing from today until next Thursday at which the Mayor of Montgomery, Ala., James Rea, is to explain why he barred the admission of six Negroes to a white high school.

FICUS Talks Open Tuesday

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—The first resident conference at the Florida Institute for Continuing University Studies center at St. Petersburg will be held Tuesday and Wednesday, it was announced today. The center, the former U.S. Maritime Base in Bayboro Harbor, will be the site of a conference of committee chairman of the Florida Congress of Parents and Teachers in the fields of safety, civil defense, citizenship, parents and family life education, health and mental health.

The sea contains enough salt to cover the U. S. under a crystal layer a mile deep, according to oceanographers.

Wilkinson To Use Football Tactics

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI)—Bud Wilkinson can be expected to employ in his U. S. Senate race many of the techniques that he used so successfully as a football coach at Oklahoma.

Wilkinson, who resigned last month as coach and athletic director after an unmatched 17-year career at Oklahoma, announced Wednesday his candidacy for the Republican nomination to the U. S. Senate.

In football, Wilkinson said, "we went about it in just as competitive a manner as possible with careful study and analysis of the situation. We decided on a course of action and followed through, implementing it with the best of our ability."

In this respect, the similarity between a football season and a political campaign is obvious. But Wilkinson also looked upon a football season as a sort of warfare. He was a master of strategy and remarkably conscious of the other team's strength and weaknesses. He played ball control, sought to break the other team's defenses open with consistent up-the-middle power thrusts and sought field position.

Defense was always the first thing to attend to, for as he once said, "if the other team doesn't score, you can't lose."

On his bookshelves at his home in Norman are books on great generals and their most noteworthy campaigns. On the football field, it appeared Wilkinson put some of these tactics to work. He deployed his troops with utmost skill. He had reserves at the ready and was prepared to rush in replacements at the slightest sign of weariness or retreat.

Vegetable Field Day Thursday

Vegetable growers will converge on the Central Florida Experiment Station here Thursday for the state's first vegetable field day of the year.

Scientists at the station, which is a unit of the University of Florida's Agricultural Experiment Stations system, will discuss their entire research program and conduct a tour of research plots starting at 1:30 p. m.

Dr. James Montelaro, associate vegetable crops specialist with the Agricultural Extension Service in Gainesville, said that the crops which the growers will observe in field trials will include cabbage, lettuce, carrots, celery, onions and cantaloupes. Latest research will also be reported on sweet corn, peaches, grapes and blackberries. Central Station's research involves work with herbicides, pest control, fertilizers, mulching and variety trials, he explained.

Researchers at the station taking part in the program will include Dr. J. W. Wilson, entomologist in charge of the station; Dr. J. F. Darby, Dr. P. B. Forbes, Dr. H. L. Rhoades, Dr. W. T. Scudder, Dr. P. J. Westgate and B. F. Whitner Jr.

Mrs. Lorraine Graham, program administrator of the Central Florida Tuberculosis Respiratory Disease Association, and Dr. Kenneth Wing will be guest speakers. ## Judo n't Do It And Get Away That Easy

A judo expert led to the downfall of a shoplifting suspect, police reported today.

Wilfred Herring, Negro, 17, of 423 East Third Street, was reported to have hidden a pair of trousers under his coat at Garrett's department store. A clerk chased him, yelling "grab that man." A passerby, Peter Carlisi, of Tampa, here to visit his girl friend, applied judo on Herring and held him until police arrived. Herring was charged with petty larceny and held in jail in lieu of $107.50 bond.

In conjunction with the mid-week Lenten Service Theme, "Christianity and Contemporary Life," the speakers for subsequent Wednesday evening services will include Dr. Bright McCannell, Orthopedic Surgeon of Winter Park, speaking on Christianity and Medicine; John Cather, owner of Cather and Son Drywall Company, speaking of Christianity and Business; Rev. Alan Scott, pastor of Ward Chapel Methodist Church in Winter Park, speaking on Christianity and Race; and Web Robertson, principal of Springlake Elementary School in Orlando, speaking on Christianity and Education.

On Wednesday of Holy Week, Pastor Kinnamon will speak on Christianity and the Church. Assisting will be a Reactor Panel composed of members of Good Shepherd. The Wednesday evening services will consist of a short vesper service, followed by a talk by the guest speaker. Immediately following the talk, Pastor Kinnamon will engage in dialogue between the speaker and himself, followed by a question and answer period with the congregation taking part.

Beginning Sunday, Feb. 16, there will be a time change in services at Good Shepherd. Sunday School will begin at 9:15 through 10:30; fellowship time 10:30 until 10:50; Meditation 10:50 to 11:00 with worship services beginning at 11:00.

The watchword for Lent, 1964, is "Be the Church—Come to Church."

Railway Truce Deadline Near

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Another deadline is drawing closer in the four-year-old rail work rules dispute but a settlement is nowhere in sight. The nation's railroads will be free at 12:01 a. m. (local time) Feb. 25 to place sweeping rule changes into effect and five unions may call a strike at that time.

Although it is possible that a walkout paralyzing national rail transportation could occur, there is a widespread feeling that Feb. 25 will pass without incident.

"It's a real paper deadline," one source said. Both the carriers and the rail brotherhoods appear reluctant to provoke a crisis and force Congress again to provide a solution.

Library Meet

The regular membership meeting of the Chuluota Free Library Association will be held on Tuesday at 8 p. m. in the library room in the Community Building. Interested people in the community are invited to attend and see the library at the same time.

"LET'S TALK DRY CLEANING"

By WOODROW CASH
Confidence and a sense of well-being . . . you can spot the person who has these qualities anywhere. Of the many factors that contribute to a man's or a woman's self-confidence, the knowledge that the clothing he or she is wearing is impeccably clean—inside and outside—is one of the most significant.

When you take a garment out of the closet and look it over, don't consider it clean just because there are no visible spots on the outside. Look to the inside. Be sure that perspiration or body oils have not seeped into the fabric. If you discover this has happened, get it to your cleaner as quickly as possible.

If these are allowed to remain and get "set" the result is often ruinous. This is understandable when we stop to realize that the body chemistry of individuals is as varied as humanity itself. Regular, frequent cleaning minimizes the deteriorating effects on perspiration and body oils, adds to the life of your garments—keeps it fresh and odorless.

You'll wear your clothes with pride and confidence when they have been thoroughly and scientifically cleaned by our up-to-the-minute methods. You can bring us your most delicate fabrics and be sure that we'll give them the careful, personal attention they need and deserve. Call us today! We pickup and deliver, too.

The wedding will take place in the summer.

Household Hints

Save turpentine or whatever you use to clean paint off your hands by using an empty window spray bottle as a dispenser. It is easier and less messy than trying to pour liquid from a large container. When the paint is off, wash hands with soap and water.

Teen-agers' clothing fads are to be borne, within reason.

Economists Predict Ample Clothing

Myrtle Wilson, Home Demonstration agent, tells us that the family economists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture predict supplies of clothing should be ample enough to meet the expected heavy demands with little change in price.

Nonwoven fabrics are now offered for disposable bed sheets and pillowcases for hospitals. The cost of these disposable items are said to be less than the prices of laundering those made of cotton.

Further improvements in cotton garments are in sight such as permanent starch, dyes, resistance to fire, rot, mildew, and some repellency to water and oil.

There is now a new material called olefin which is water and stain repellent and can be found in some rugs.

The year's outlook for clothing seems to be excellent for the clothing shopper as many new man-made fabrics are appearing. The new stretch fabric is being made up into many garments for adults as well as children.

Childish Tips Make Firm Change Designs

Of the 200 new toys put on the market this year, only two will still be sold after five years, according to toy industry estimates.

Most toys last no more than three years in popularity. Yet, a bundle of spoils and sticks called a "tinkertoy" continues after 50 years to ride a crest of popularity.

"If all the tinkertoy sets manufactured could be assembled, they would form a bridge from New York to London," said Ernest W. Heilmann, general manager of Toy Tinkers, Inc., manufacturer of tinkertoys.

"We don't know how many sets have been sold—nobody knows," Heilmann, a native of Waltham, Mass., said.

"But we are sure that millions of youngsters have played with tinkertoys and have done their first constructive work, you might say."

Tinkertoy were invented by Charles H. Pajean, an Evanston, Ill., tombstone manufacturer. He based the invention on his observation that children enjoy learning, but dislike being taught, and that every child likes to take things apart and put them back together.

Today, more than a million sets of tinkertoys are packaged each year. They have changed little from the first sets made, except that color has been added for different lengths of dowels and spoils. The color permits pre-schoolers who have not learned to read to follow color-coded directions.

"The reason for the success of tinkertoys is simple," Heilmann said.

"It allows a child to play by himself or with other children and to be entertained for hours while learning. It also appeals to very small children and to those old enough to build complex structures. The company checks letters and diagrams submitted by boys who have created original designs and incorporates many of these ideas into new instructions.

Consequently, the once popular windmills and butter churns have been replaced in booklets by diagrams of missile gantries and radar stations.

Cotton Fabrics In Bloom For Spring Decorating

Like daffodils and crocuses, cotton fabrics are popping out in their most colorful finery for spring.

Cottons for home decorating have never been as bright and practical as they are this year during the season when many homemakers decide to attack that problem room or change the existing decor in others.

The opportunities are endless; fabric covered walls, new upholstery or slip covers, draperies and curtains, printed sheets and pillowcases, washability, and durability, colorful bedspreads, rugs and countless other uses for 100 per cent cotton fabrics.

Besides such inherent cotton qualities as comfort, science has added special treatments for stain and soil resistance, color fastness and others that provide a cotton fabric for every need.

Whether it's adding new life to an old room or starting from scratch with a decorating scheme for a new apartment or home, cotton home furnishing fabrics for 1964 are the homemaker's best friend.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: This may sound like a silly problem, but it is very serious to me. My husband travels a lot and I am terrified to stay alone at night, so he gets me a room at a motel while he is gone. I get all upset several days before he leaves and I'm unbearable to live with. I realize how stupid this is, and we really can't afford the extra expense, but I just can't help myself. I am so ashamed of my problem that I don't tell people about it. When my neighbors see me coming home the next morning, I can imagine what they must think. What should I tell them when they ask me where I was the night before? AFRAlD

DEAR ABBY: I am a teen-age girl who figured something out that might help parents. When a girl goes on a date with a boy she likes pretty well, she usually gives him a good-night kiss. In order to discourage this (I guess) most parents leave the porch light burning. Most kids, not wishing to put on a show for the whole neighborhood, take the hint. But they soon take to saying their goodnights in a parked car on a back road. Parents who want to protect their daughters from a tender goodnight kiss at the door may unknowingly be encouraging a wrestling match in a parked car. Thank you.

A GIRL WHO KNOWS

DEAR GIRL: A brute who would wrestle a girl for a kiss in a parked car is not about to settle for a "tender goodnight kiss" at the door. The porch light should be ON until everyone who's OUT is IN. And the place for a goodnight kiss is IN the house.

DEAR ABBY: May I add something to your answer to the sixth-grader who was ashamed of his mother because she had a foreign accent? Every American, except the American Indian, descended from foreigners. But foreigners brought more to our shores than an accent. They brought knowledge, ambition and talent. These are the things that made America great. Don't be 8:30-9 p.m. CBS. The Lucy Show. Continued from last week, Lucy is finally relieved to find that the woman she thought looked like Ethel Merman is really Ethel. Result: the Boy Scout show is a smash success with Ethel as the headliner trumpeting a medley of her Broadway successes. But everybody gets into the act with Lucy getting laughs with her juggling and even Banker Mooney (Gale Gordon) surprises with a pleasant singing voice and doing a wonderful cartwheel for good measure.

9-9:30 p.m. CBS. The Danny Thomas Show. The country neighbors are still taking advantage of the Williams and Halper families at their weekend shack. When their wives are sucked into buying a cuckoo clock as an antique that's phony, Danny and Charley (Danny Thomas and Sid Melton) decide to fight fire with fire by cleaning the junk out of their shed and selling the stuff as antiques. Surprisingly, one buyer bids for the whole lot and, when a conscience-stricken Danny tries to return his deposit, he stubbornly insists on sticking to his deal.

9:30-10 p.m. CBS. The Andy Griffith Show. Deputy Barney (Don Knotts) gets most of the laughs here with his naive eagerness to please. But, for once, Sheriff Andy (Andy Griffith) displays the same weakness when he and Barney succumb to the charm of a suspected jewel thief, temporarily behind bars in the Mayberry jail. The "thief" is amusingly played by blonde Susan Oliver and it's no wonder our two heroes try to make her as comfortable as possible.

bert, John Barrymore and others. Talkies run from Clark Gable, Humphrey Bogart and Henry Fonda to Rock Hudson, Marlon Brando and Elvis Presley. Once again no real point, just a family album of male sex appeal.

In the early days of contract, a player who held two hiddable four card suits would always open with the higher ranking. This was a simple rule. It also was very ineffective. Thus, when today's hand was played in a 1931 national tournament the bidding always began with one spade by South and a two heart response by North. After that exuberant beginning it was impossible to stay out of game and every North-South pair would up with a minus score. If it were played today some pairs might also reach game, but no one would open with one spade. If the hand were played today every South player would open one club. North would respond one heart. We The Women: By Ruth Millett

Begin your back seat driving early. That seems to be just about sum up the advice recently given to girls by William M. Coffey, manager of the AAA, Texas Division. Says Mr. Coffey: "If girls will object to reckless driving on the part of their dates and adopt a sensible, realistic approach to this matter, they will accomplish as much or more than the combined efforts of parents, teachers, and traffic officers." In addition, he pointed out that every girl who joins in such an effort will be doing herself a big favor by sharply reducing her own chances of being crippled or disfigured in a needless auto accident. He might have added a kind word for back seat driving, in general. For the truth of the matter is, whether she is 16 or 60, a woman is usually more cautious in a car than a man is. —When she is dating a girl her fear in an automobile is of being thrown through a windshield and ruining her face—and her marriage chances. —When she is a wife and mother she worries about her safety because she doesn't know what would become of the children if something happened to her. —When she is older still, reckless driving frightens her just because she thinks it is foolish to take unnecessary risks.

Famous Italian Art Collection May Be Sold

FLORENCE, Italy (UPI)—One of the world's greatest private art collections, believed to be worth millions of dollars, seems to be on the point of being broken up and possibly leaving this city of art and culture.

The Italian Government, which once hoped to get it, now is waiting anxiously to see if it leaves the country entirely.

The collection is that of the late Italian Sen. Alessandro Contini Bonacossi and includes great Italian and Spanish works from the 12th through the 17th centuries.

In August, 1945 the senator announced that he planned to donate the entire collection to the Italian state upon his death. At the time, the great art authority Bernard Berenson, who lived just outside Florence, wrote in his diary: "I don't believe Florence has received a more important and wonderful gift in centuries."

But Contini Bonacossi died a few years later without willing his collection to the state and it seemed uncertain just exactly what would become of it.

Interest in the matter was revived recently when the Florence Tourist Agency announced it was negotiating to buy the huge Contini Bonacossi villa, where the collection has been kept, for use as a convention hall.

Art lovers now are asking what will become of the paintings. Some reports said a part of the villa would be used as a museum, others that the paintings would go to the Contini Bonacossi heirs and still others that the paintings would be sold abroad.

Goldwater Would Blockade Cuba To Stop Trade

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., favors a U. S. Navy blockade to cut off all trade with Castro and wants to send Marines into Cuba to restore water service to the Guantanamo naval base.

The Republican presidential aspirant advocated both steps Sunday in a television interview.

Goldwater, in response to a question, said he would back use of U. S. warships to halt a British shipment of buses to Cuba. "Anything that is going in there that they can use to maintain communism and to spread it through this hemisphere, I think we should stop," he said.

The Arizona Republican said President Johnson should have told Cuban Premier Fidel Castro to turn the water back on "or just send out a detachment of Marines from Guantanamo to turn it on and then keep it on."

Goldwater said he didn't think Johnson had responded to the Cuban action "in a way that American people appreciate." He said there was no question that the United States could keep the naval base supplied with water, but said the question was: "How are we going to stand up to the other nations who are going to start slapping us and spitting in our eye and tramping on our flag?"

Goldwater conceded there was a risk in his proposal, but he said, "there is risk in everything you do when you

VAH-5 To Have Most Modern Reconnaissance Aircraft

By Judy Turner
When VAH-5 has completed its transition to the RA-5C aircraft it will operate the most modern reconnaissance system in the world, according to Cdr. Paul Werner, commanding officer of the squadron.

The photo reconnaissance system of the RA-5C is already several years ahead of any other so far developed, he said.

Speaking to more than 200 squadron members and their families at an open house

Sunday, Commander Werner described the dual function of the new plane—reconnaissance and attack.

The plane looks the same as its predecessor, the A5A Vigilante, and is still called a Vigilante. But the incorporation of the photo equipment has changed its mission from one of only attack.

Commander Werner's speech was the highlight of the afternoon during which dependents of the squadron toured the working area and hangars used by the group.

Commander Werner outlined the events in which the squadron will participate in the coming months. These include participating in and working very hard to win the bombing derby, carrier qualifications in the spring and an eventual deployment from the West Coast for a Western Pacific cruise this summer.

He pointed out that "USS Ranger" has already been painted on the squadron's aircraft.

During his speech, which was primarily an attempt to orient the families to the work of the squadron, Commander Werner offered the services of trained career counseling personnel to members and their wives who are considering the Navy as a career.

Commander Werner stressed the importance of the enlisted wives clubs as morale builders and units of mutual help, especially when the husbands are gone, and urged the wives to join.

Other features of the day included films showing the operation of the Vigilante aboard ship, open offices to be toured and coffee and cake served to the guests.

Sailor Honored

PM 3/c Howard B. Waters and AMM 2/c Allen B. Fernberg have been named Blue-jackets of the month at the Sanford Naval Air Station.
