Keogh Hit By Fellow Inmate

Former Lake Mary city commissioner Colin Keogh, who in December began a one-year sentence in the Seminole County jail on a grand theft conviction, was attacked by another inmate at the jail at about 7:50 p.m. Sunday.

Keogh, 30, of 115 W. Lake Mary Ave., Lake Mary, was, according to a Seminole County sheriff's report, hit in the upper body several times by the other inmate. A sheriff's deputy reported that there were apparent signs of injury to Keogh's neck, but his injuries weren't serious.

Keogh was given a referral notice, meaning he has 10 days to decide if he wants to press charges against the attacker, who was in the same cell area as he.

Keogh was convicted of grand theft in the diversion of about $22,000 for his own use from the Lake Mary Cemetery Association while he was head of that private operation in 1985. Keogh was a one-term city commissioner, who resigned about nine months before his arrest in June 1986.

Keogh pleaded no contest to the grand theft charge and the state asked for the year sentence maintaining that Keogh violated a position of trust.

Circuit Judge Robert McGregor said Keogh's refusal to admit guilt in the incident influenced the sentence. Keogh could have received no jail time for the offense.

Girl Injured In Car-Bike Accident

A 12-year-old Sanford girl was in fair condition early today after being struck by a car while riding her bike on W. 25th St. near Larkwood Drive in Sanford.

In fair condition at Orlando Regional Medical Center in Orlando was Angelic Lively, 219 Forrest Drive. She was flown there by helicopter. She was being treated for a fractured skull, a broken leg and bruised brain.

The girl was struck after she apparently turned her eastbound bicycle into the path of an eastbound car driven by G.P. Ward, 61, of Geneva. The 1980 Ford had just rounded a small hill when the girl reportedly turned into its path. Ward braked and swerved trying to avoid striking the girl, according to a Sanford police report. Lively's cousin, who was riding another bike with the girl, was not injured.

No charges are expected, said Police Chief Steve Harriett.

Clash Of Philosophies

Counter-demonstrators, including Paul and Connie Slaughter of South Seminole County, right foreground, confronted nuclear protest marchers at barricade. Although there were minor skirmishes, no injuries were reported in the non-violent protest of the Trident-2 missile testing.

Dr. Benjamin Spock, 83, and his wife, Mary Morgan, left of peace banner, led more than 4,500 marchers to Air Force station where they and about 120 protesters were arrested after climbing fence. Spock and his wife pleaded guilty to trespassing charges Saturday and were released.

Missile Protesters Meet 'Strength' Advocates

CAPE CANAVERAL — Brevard County officials said 120 anti-nuclear protesters who refused to give their names are expected to remain in jail until they identify themselves.

Eighty-two of the more than 120 protesters charged with trespassing Saturday after trying to enter the Cape Canaveral Air Force Station appeared Sunday before Brevard County Judge Larry Johnston. The 32 who identified themselves were released after posting bonds or paying fines. Saturday's protest march drew about 4,500 anti-nuclear demonstrators in what was billed by protesters as the largest anti-nuclear demonstration in Florida history.

The protesters were met at a barricade — about a half mile from the Air Force station gates they planned to climb — by counter-demonstrators, including the Rev. John Book of Maitland and other south Seminole Countians. Estimates of the number of counter-demonstrators ranged from 56 to 167, but it was difficult to tell them apart at times. Soon after they confronted each other minor skirmishes broke out and bodies blended as each faction tugged at each other, shoved each other and shouted slogans and warnings.

Saturday's demonstration ended a week of civil disobedience and trespassing staged in a futile attempt to block the first test flight of a Trident-2

Senate Panel Says Laws, Procedures Broken

Staff Warned Reagan Iran-Arms Plan Would Backfire

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Senate analysis concludes President Reagan could have prevented the sale of U.S. arms to Iran from backfiring into the worst scandal of his presidency by notifying Congress in advance. The New York Times reported today.

The newspaper obtained a 27-page staff summary prepared for the Senate Intelligence Committee saying the administration ignored 18 months of warnings that its arms deals were based on flawed intelligence and suspect middlemen — and that failure was likely.

Several laws and procedures for monitoring undercover operations were broken, the summary adds, and because lawmakers were kept in the dark for 10 months after Reagan signed a secret intelligence "finding" Jan. 17, 1986, authorizing the sales, the entire process of congressional oversight of such operations has been put "at risk."

"Notification requirements were intended not only to ensure the propriety of covert operations, but also to ensure their effectiveness," the Times quoted the analysis as saying.

"In this particular case, notification could have prevented what proved to be a costly setback for U.S. foreign policy."

The Times said the document it obtained was drafted originally as the second part of a longer report written by the panel's Republican staff members about its extensive hearings in December into the Iran arms-Contra aid scandal.

The report's first section, about 130 pages, was mainly a chronology of the affair, the Times said — and its early draft was obtained by NBC News two weeks ago. The portion obtained by the Times provides a summary and analysis.

The summary criticizes the administration for running a great "risk of exposure" with its Iran operation and charges it with a series of mistakes and misjudgments from February 1985 to November 1986, when the deal was exposed.

The controversy exploded into scandal Nov. 25

Racism On The Rise, Banquet Audience Told

By Karen Talley
Herald Staff Writer

Blacks "have earned their rights to the blessings of this land," but are instead finding racism on the rise, according to Dr. Fredrick Humphries, black president of Florida A&M University.

Humphries' comments, focussing on forward and backward strides in racial attitudes since the 1960's, came Saturday night in Sanford. He was speaking before a predominantly black audience of about 500 at the concluding event of the city's week-long celebration in honor of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Humphries told the gathering he was heartened by Sanford's gestures, while at the same time disturbed by others in different parts of the county. He cited racial violence that erupted earlier

Saturday during a parade honoring King. He also pointed to the black youth who was killed last month in New York while running from a group of whites.

Humphries said statistics show blacks took major strides in terms of housing, income, education and overall equality during and just after the civil rights movement. These gains are now "eroding and eroding fast," he said.

"Some white people are forgetting we can achieve unity and beauty; the dreams of Martin Luther King. We have to know and appreciate all people and love them. Getting along, building together and appreciating one another is the only way."

The evening, planned by a city

IN BRIEF

Woman Reports Outdoor Rape After Man Escorts Her From Bar

A Fern Park woman reported she was raped after she left a bar with a man who said he would walk her to a phone so she could arrange for a ride home.

The 25-year-old woman said she was at the Post Time Lounge around 1:30 a.m. at Dog Track Road and U.S. Highway 17-92 when she needed to use a phone to secure a ride home. A bearded man in pinstriped pants and vest offered to walk her across the street to a phone. When they got there, however, he said the phone was not working. But, he said, there was one working at the nearby by Lake Kathryn Motel where he said he was staying.

During the walk to the motel, he grabbed the woman by her hair and forced her to the ground, she said. She said he removed her clothes and raped her. She last saw him running north on 17-92.

The woman said she dressed and began walking home but along the way her uncle picked her up. She reported the incident after she got home, the report said.

Woman Arrested For Bad Checks

A Titusville woman who said she was a Seminole County teacher was arrested on a warrant for bad checks after she went to the Casselberry Police Department to claim a lost purse.

According to a police report, the officers at the station checked her identification after she said a purse they had was hers. The computer reported there was a warrant for her arrest issued by Brevard County.

Arrested Friday at 4 p.m. was Gwendolyn Clovis Callaway, 42, of 707 Gilbert St.

Dispute Ends In Assault Charge

A Seminole County man was arrested on a charge of aggravated battery after a dispute.

The incident occurred Friday at the Marina Isle Camp east of Sanford on State Road 46.

According to the report, a man assaulted a store clerk at the camp striking him with a hammer and a shot gun.

Arrested and charged with aggravated battery was Wayne Robert Dykes, of 4200 E. SR 46, Sanford. Bond was set at $5,000.

Shooting At Car Brings Arrest

An Altamonte Springs man was arrested after being accused of shooting at a car.

According to a deputy's report, a man and his girlfriend were sitting in a car on Sipes Avenue in Midway when a man pulled up in a car and asked them how they were. The incident occurred Thursday.

The man reportedly took out a gun and shot the driver door of the vehicle shattering the glass and cutting the man and woman inside. The deputy got a description of the suspect from the woman who used to date the man but before an arrest was made the man surrendered to police.

Arrested and charged Friday with shooting into an occupied vehicle was Theodis Jones, 49, of 302 Teakwood Lane.

Couple Arrested After Dispute

A couple were arrested after officers went to their apartment because of a domestic dispute but then saw marijuana inside the home.

According to arrest report, the officers were invited into the home at 575 Bloomington Court, in Altamonte Springs, around 2 a.m. Saturday.

They noticed broken plates, tipped over plants and a baggie of marijuana and a pipe to smoke the weed in. The woman tried to leave before they finished their investigation and was reportedly yelling and screaming while they were there, the report said.

Arrested on charges of possession of less than 20 grams of marijuana and drug paraphernalia were Katherine Marie Nordin, 25 and Thomas Anthony Farris, 22. Bond was set at $500 each.

Pot Toss Fails To Stop Arrest

An accident and the chucking of marijuana out a car window prompted the arrest of a couple Friday.

According to an arrest report, after a 1986 Toyota was in an accident in State Road 436 in Casselberry, two plastic baggies of marijuana were tossed out the driver's side window. A burnt marijuana cigarette was also found in the car's ash tray.

Arrested and charged with possession of less than 20 grams of marijuana were Tammy Sue Hughes, 29, and Michael Lee Felshaw, 31, both of Winter Park.

Burglaries And Thefts

Ricky L. Parlier, 21, of 407 Mattie St., Sanford, told sheriff's deputies Thursday that while at the Circle-K, 2631 Sanford Ave., Sanford, playing a video game he left his $168 radio beside the game to go to the restroom. When he returned to get his radio it was gone along with two tapes valued at $10 each.

Sheriff's deputies have the names of two suspects who may have stolen $255 worth of drywall board from a General Homes of Winter Park building site at 3840 Biscayne Drive, lot 122, Winter Springs, Thursday. The loss was reported by a construction manager.

Otto McDaniel, 72, of Orlando, reported to Seminole County sheriff's deputies his gate and gatepost valued at $150 were stolen from the corner of west First Street and Beverly Road, Sanford, between Jan. 6 and 12. The loss was reported Thursday.

Agents Nab 3 In Cocaine Deal

Two Altamonte Springs men and a 17-year-old girl were arrested after setting up a cocaine deal involving undercover agents.

According to an arrest report, the girl sold crack cocaine to the agents three times collecting a total of $30. She then arranged for the agents to meet with two men who were to sell them $1,000 worth of cocaine. The set up went down Friday at 7:40 p.m. in Altamonte Springs.

The men, however, told the agents that they would have to go to Orlando with them to get the coke. Along the way, the agents stopped the men and made the arrests. The agents said they arrested before the deal was complete because of tactical problems.

Arrested and charged with conspiracy to sell cocaine was Arthur James Allen, 40, of 298 Ford Drive, and Daniel Lee Poole, 35, of 307 Magnolia Ave. Poole was also charged with possession of cocaine. The girl was also arrested, according to the report.

Shining Courage

As Hospital Administrator James Tesar applauds, Ruth Pindill, shows off silver tray she was given as part of Central Florida Regional Hospital's Honor's Day for employees. Ms. Pindill was an LPN at Central Florida Regional, enthusiastic about having been accepted into the nursing program at Daytona Beach Community College, when, about three years ago, she left her 3-11 shift at the hospital and headed home on a motorcycle. In a short time she was back at the hospital in the emergency room facing amputation of a leg after an accident. But within months she was back at work and going to school nights. In December she graduated from nursing school. Last week she came back to work at the hospital "shouldering all the duties of her profession." The award comes in recognition of her courage and determination.

Student Reports Sex Assault While Inmate At County Jail

A Seminole High School student being held in the Seminole County jail reported he was sexually assaulted by four other inmates. A separate second assault and battery was also reported at the jail.

The 17-year-old male said four males, two age 18 and a 16-year-old and a 17-year-old, assaulted him. The incident occurred between 11:30 p.m. Friday and 1:20 a.m. Saturday, according to a sheriff's department report.

The report said the Sanford teenager received minor injuries of cuts and bruises. There was one witness to the incident, according to the report.

The case is under investigation.

In the second incident, inmate David Michael Gillespie, 25, of Longwood, accused an inmate hitting him in the side of the head and knocking him to the floor. The incident reportedly occurred around 2:30 p.m. Friday while the men were waiting to use a phone.

Gillespie's leg was cut when he fell, the report said.

Holiday Celebrated From Coast To Coast

ATLANTA (UPI) — The federal government and 37 states have declared today a holiday to observe the birthday of slain civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr. who infused the struggle with inspired rhetoric and a philosophy of nonviolent resistance.

Thousands of Americans, led by King's widow, Coretta Scott King, planned to commemorate the martyred civil rights leader with a coast-to-coast bell-ringing ceremony, speeches, religious ceremonies, parades and marches.

A wreath-laying ceremony at King's crypt in Atlanta was to be followed by an ecumenical service at the nearby Ebenezer Baptist Church where he preached.

Secretary of State George Shultz is among the dignitaries expected at the service, which will be followed by a parade down Peachtree Street led by the Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, a King lieutenant during the civil rights struggle of the 1960s.

In Philadelphia, the Liberty Bell was to be rung at 12:30 p.m. EST, echoed by replica bells in state capitols from coast to coast in a "Ring of Liberty Bells" ceremony.

In San Antonio, Texas, Olympic gold medalist Carl Lewis will join ceremonies commemorating King's birthday with Rosa Parks, whose refusal to go to the back of a bus in Montgomery, Ala., in 1955 launched the civil rights movement.

Nation: Cold, Snow And Rain

A fierce storm blamed for 16 deaths from coast to coast drifted east today, hitting states from the Mississippi Valley to the East Coast for the second day and leaving parts of the southern Plains digging out from the heaviest snowfall in two decades.

As the leading edge of the storm moved out to sea today, the center of the system moved toward the Mississippi Valley, bringing snow from the Great Lakes into the western sections of the Ohio Valley and northern New England. Heavy rain fell from the southern New England states to the southern Atlantic Coast.

"The leading edge of the storm worked its way across New England and out to sea, but we'll be watching the other part of the system," said forecaster Paul Fike. "That has the potential to produce heavy snow all the way from the Great Lakes across the Ohio Valley into the Northeast."

The storm, which buried parts of Colorado under 5 feet of snow last week, brought snow Sunday from Texas and Oklahoma into Kansas and from northeast Ohio to western New York and parts of New England. Portland, Maine, picked up 3 inches of snow by Sunday night, and 2 inches were reported at Caribou and Augusta, Maine, and Mount Washington and Concord, N.H.

The storm brought heavy rain to Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi Sunday, prompting forecasters to issue flood warnings. More than 6 inches of rain in Sumter, Ala., forced the evacuation of about 15 families living along the Suwannee River, and residents of northern Georgia were advised to be prepared for possible flash flooding.

The latest batch of winter storms has been blamed for at least 16 deaths so far. Authorities said traffic acci-

U.S. Agrees Not To Seek Execution Of Hijacking Suspect

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Justice Department's decision not to seek the death penalty against a Palestinian arrested in connection with the 1985 TWA jetliner hijacking paves the way for his extradition from West Germany, officials say.

The department announced its decision Sunday after West German officials said their laws would not allow extradition of the suspect, Mohammad Ali Hamadel, if he would face possible execution in the United States.

Hamadel, 22, is one of four Lebanese Shiite Moslems charged by the United States in October 1985 with air piracy, murder and other criminal offenses in the TWA Flight 847 hijacking, in which Navy seaman Robert Stethem was killed.

The plane was hijacked after it took off from Athens, Greece, on a flight to Rome June 14, 1985. It was forced to crisscross the Mediterranean three times, and U.S. officials believe Hamadel was one of the armed gunmen who held as many as 39 Americans hostage for up to 17 days in Moslem West Beirut.

Cuban Detainees Riot

NEW YORK (UPI) — Rioting broke out in a federal immigration detention center following a crackdown by officials under sharp criticism for the escape of Cuban refugees.

No one was hurt in the melee, which was quelled about an hour after it began Sunday morning, said a spokesman for the Immigration and Naturalization Service detention center in Manhattan.

Rioting prisoners, most of them Cuban refugees, smashed windows and burned mattresses to protest an official suspension of visiting hours after two detainees escaped, authorities said.

INS spokesman Duke Austin said the crackdown on visiting hours was taken as a precaution by prison officials after two Cuban detainees escaped the night before. One has been captured and the other remains at large, he said.

Reagan Returns To White House

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan, returning to the White House today from a secluded weekend at Camp David, Md., is being pushed to address his worst political crisis strongly in next week's televised State of the Union speech.

Reagan has not answered questions about the Iran arms-Contra aid scandal in more than two months, and as he kept his public profile low during the long holiday weekend, pressure mounted for a fresh explanation and a White House reorganization.

Reagan's address to a joint session of Congress will be televised nationally and will be his first public appearance since his return from prostate surgery two weeks ago. Before his scheduled return to the White House today, aides indicated he spent much of the weekend going over several drafts of the speech.

Iran Claims To Be Closing On Basra; Iraq Bombs Iranian Cities

By United Press International

A senior Iranian official said his nation's troops advanced to within 500 yards of the suburbs of Basra, and a Western journalist reported a mass exodus from Iraq's vital port city.

Iraq, striking back, said its warplanes bombed 12 Iranian cities, killing at least 213 people.

Patrick Tyler of The Washington Post told the British Broadcasting Corp. in an interview late Sunday that refugees were streaming out of Basra, a city of 328,000 inhabitants, in "cars, trucks and small pickup trucks."

Tyler said the city, Iraq's second largest after Baghdad's 1 million inhabitants and a key port on the Shatt al Arab waterway, looked deserted — like a movie set with buildings and no people — when he was there Friday.

Tyler reported that shells fell at the rate of one a minute on Basra — a key objective of Iran in its second week of a major offensive in the 6 1/2-year-old war.

Israel Denies Naval Attack

SIDON, Lebanon (UPI) — Israeli gunboats pounded Palestinian targets near this port city for two hours today, and guerrilla sources said six people were wounded in the barrage.

Israel denied the naval action.

The naval bombardment coincided with a general strike in Sidon in protest against an assassination attempt Sunday on the city's pro-Palestinian Sunni Moslem militia leader.

The militia leader, Mustafa Saad, escaped unhurt, and in a statement later, blamed the attempt on his life on "Israel and its agents in Lebanon."

Palestinian sources said the naval bombardment started at 6 a.m. and lasted for two hours.

Cease-Fire Snub Called Crime

KABUL, Afghanistan (UPI) — Afghan leader Najib, calling the rebel rejection of his cease-fire a "crime against the people," vowed that Soviet troops would remain in Afghanistan as long as the civil war continues.

Despite the failure to win over major figures in the armed resistance, Najib said his Marxist government would continue its six-month cease-fire that began Thursday and its call for national reconciliation talks.

FSU Offers Studies On Central America

Students at any college who meet prerequisites will have a chance to take part Central American study program offered by Florida State University.

The program, which will run from May 9 to July 12, allows students to study such topics as Central American history, Hispanic culture, Latin American politics, archaeology and Spanish conversation at the Centro Cultural (U.S.-Costa Rica Bi-National Center) in San Jose, Costa Rica.

Limited to 30 students, the summer Costa Rica program offers six to nine semester hours of course work which will be taught by FSU full-time and adjunct faculty members. The classes are especially recommended for students of Spanish, history, anthropology, international affairs, business and inter-American studies.

Students need not be enrolled at Florida State in order to apply. The program is open to all college students who have a 2.5 grade-point average and a minimum of two semesters of college-level Spanish or the equivalent.

Transcripts from all universities attended must be submitted. The final selection of students will be made by an academic committee. All materials and inquiries should be directed to Sherry Powell, College Programs Division, 210-A Williams Building, Florida State University, Tallahassee, 32306. Application deadline is Feb. 20.

The cost of the program is $1,650, which includes room and board, round-trip airfare from Miami, group excursions and insurance. Not included are FSU tuition, books and personal expenses.

Hotel Fire Is Safety Reminder

The Dupont Plaza Hotel looks elegant, not dangerous. It rises on the beachfront of San Juan, Puerto Rico, a gleaming, modern-looking monument to the island's vital tourist industry.

Its appearance may have lulled its guests into a false sense of security. On New Year's Eve, the Dupont Plaza was struck by a deadly fire. It killed 96 people. Many others suffered from burns and smoke inhalation. The luxurious Dupont Plaza, as it turned out, was no less a deathtrap than the aging, down-at-the-heels residential hotels that occasionally go up in flames.

Law enforcement officials state that it was an act of arson, and two men have been arrested; one charged with 96 counts of first degree murder. It was a heinous crime against innocent vacationers.

Regardless of who or what caused the blaze, the hotel's lax safety precautions surely added to the death toll. The Dupont Plaza had only three sprinklers in isolated areas. The fire codes in San Juan didn't require sprinkler systems.

Apparently, Puerto Rico learned little from the experience of Las Vegas, which adopted stringent codes after two fatal hotel fires. That's unfortunate. At the very least, Las Vegas' MGM Grand Hotel blaze, which killed 87 people in 1980, should have served as a warning that all high-rise hotels should conform to strict fire safety standards.

No resort hotel in U.S. territory should be built without an extensive sprinkler system. Sprinklers also should be installed in the existing ones. Guidebooks should rate hotels according to safety.

Would it make a difference? The National Fire Protection Association, which has set sprinkler standards since 1896, has no record of a fire killing three or more people in a building with a complete, properly installed and maintained sprinkler system.

Because resort hotels cater to out-of-state and foreign visitors, their safety should be a federal concern. Congress should adopt a national fire-protection standard that would require complete sprinkler systems in hotels, both new and old.

State and local authorities would be charged with enforcing these regulations.

Responsible hotel chains and local authorities undoubtedly would comply. The Marriott Corp., for instance, already is installing sprinklers in every one of its hotels worldwide.

Hotel builders who didn't install them put cost considerations ahead of safety — and hundreds died as a result. It's time for the government to insist that human lives come first.

Forgotten Ones

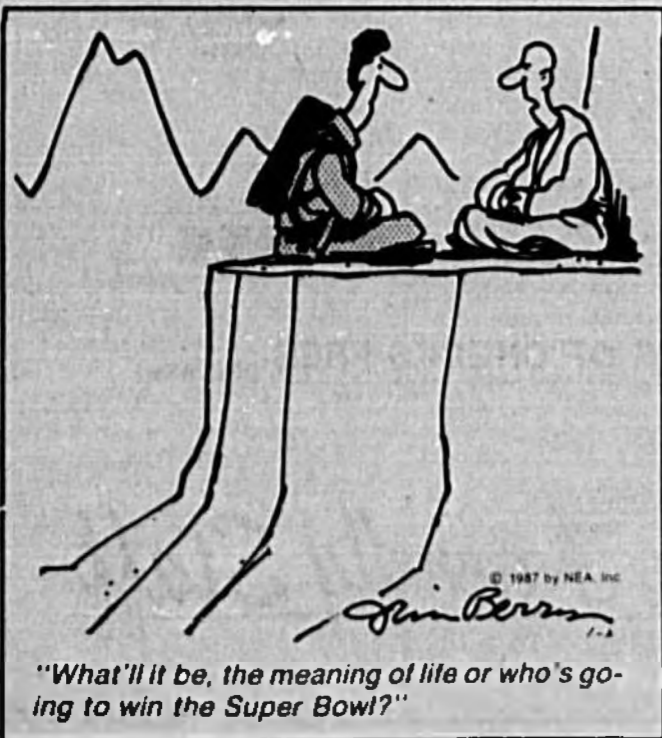

Federal employees, President Reagan points out, have experienced a "substantial erosion" of pay in recent years. To halt that erosion, he has recommended significant pay raises. Members of Congress, for example, would make $89,500; Cabinet officers, $99,500; appeals court judges, $95,000.

Good work if you can get it. Those who can't might be interested in the fact that the minimum wage is still $3.35 an hour. It has been $3.35 an hour in the six years Ronald Reagan has been president. That works out to $134 for a 40-hour week.

Congress last dealt with the minimum-wage issue in 1977, when it passed a series of four increases, the last of which took effect on Jan. 1, 1981. Meanwhile, the cost of living has risen 20 percent. A person working full-time, year-round at $3.35 an hour will earn $6,968. The poverty level for a family of three was $8,573 in 1985, the latest year for which figures are available.

And yes, there are families, many of them, that are affected by the minimum wage. They fall into the category of the working poor. They work because they prefer self-sufficiency to being on welfare. They know the minimum wage; they know something about "substantial erosion" as well.

Light Stepping Speakes Counts The Days

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Larry Speakes, spokesman for the White House for some six years, is walking with a lighter step and has a twinkle in his eye. He is leaving, counting the days.

"He acts like a man who got an animal off his back," one observer put it.

Speakes is turning over the reins of power to a former deputy, Marlin Fitzwater, who knows his way around the government track having been in Washington bureaucratic press jobs for 20 years.

In announcing that Fitzwater, who has been serving as Vice President George Bush's press secretary, would replace him, Speakes said that Fitzwater would observe his style and by the time he is ready to take over the podium, "I'll have taught him everything I know and you won't get 2 cents worth of him."

Speakes praised embattled chief of staff Donald Regan highly in some of his parting words, although he does not leave until the end of the month.

"As far as a press spokesman is concerned, Don Regan is A-1. He opened up everything here to me, and his ideas —"

"To you, but not to us," was a reporter's response.

"Well, maybe that was my choice," Speakes said. "But his idea was, you see everything, you sit in on everything, and then you go brief. And if you screw up, he gets you and if you don't screw up, that's all right."

The first lady's office is not commenting on reports that President Reagan's son, Michael, has met with publishers to discuss writing a book about his relationship with his father.

"We'll wait and see," said Elaine Crispin, the first lady's press secretary.

The President and Mrs. Reagan dismissed a novel written by their daughter, Patti, as "fiction" at the time it was published.

Michael has complained about his relationship to his family in the past. He is the adopted son of Reagan and the president's first wife, actress Jane Wyman.

Meanwhile, the Reagans apparently have no objection to their son Ron appearing in television commercials. In the past, children of first families were given strict orders on where the line was drawn in terms of the White House relationship and commercialism.

First lady Nancy Reagan, an acknowledged "worrier," is happier these days, particularly since the president is on the mend from prostate surgery and getting great health reviews from his doctor. "She's relieved," said Elaine Crispin, her press secretary.

As for the Iran arms scandal, Crispin said the Reagans "would like to get all the information out. They've been very honest. The president has told what he knew. They want to get it behind them. They know it will take time, but they're not going to allow it to smother them."

The first lady who has been "playing nurse" is staying close to home, but will be hitting the road next month to pursue her anti-drug campaign.

Social activities are at a low ebb at the White House after the exhausting round of parties where the Reagans shook thousands of hands and opened the doors of the White House to throngs of guests and visitors to share with them the yuletide decorations.

Hope For Dental Lasers

By Rob Stein
UPI Science Writer

BOSTON (UPI) — Lasers, already being studied for everything from space-based weapons to unclogging jammed arteries, may someday also help treat tooth decay and reduce the pain of going to the dentist.

"Laser applications in dentistry will become more common, and the impact of the technology will be felt in dental practice in the years ahead," said Dr. George Willenborg of Tufts University School of Dental Medicine.

Willenborg, an associate clinical professor of restorative dentistry, said lasers may be useful for detecting tooth decay, removing it without drilling and even for storing patients' records.

When conventional methods are used, tooth decay is often not detected until it has passed through the enamel and entered a part of the tooth known as the dentin, where it spreads rapidly and destroys the tooth structure, he said.

"In the future, a laser capable of detecting slight changes in the enamel will pass across the teeth, and the dentist will know where decay is beginning to form," he said.

By varying the intensity of the laser, the decay can be removed, he said. A synthetic powdered enamel could then be sprinkled into the area and fused to the tooth — again using a laser, said Willenborg.

"The sealed material would be more impervious to decay than the natural tooth structure," he said.

Willenborg stressed that more research is needed to develop lasers, which are intense beams of light, that can be used for such purposes.

Current carbon dioxide lasers have been shown to be effective for vaporizing tooth decay. But some of the heat they generate can penetrate the pulp of the tooth, destroying its live core, he said.

Willenborg is studying the usefulness of so-called excimer lasers, which operate at a much smaller wavelength and destroy tooth decay by decomposing its molecular bonds in addition to vaporizing it with heat.

"Excimer lasers are capable, theoretically, of being applied to a very specific area on the tooth surface, resulting in little absorption of the laser to the pulp," said Willenborg.

Lasers could also be used to project three-dimensional patterns of patients' teeth on a photographic plate, which is known as holography, he said.

Pentagon Studies Soviet Invasion Of Iran

By Jack Anderson
And Dale Van Atta

WASHINGTON — President Reagan's defenders have invoked the specter of a Soviet invasion of Iran as justification for the backdoor arms deal with the Ayatollah Khomeini's henchmen. This would give the Soviet Union a stranglehold on the Persian Gulf, source of half the Western world's oil.

Critics of the secret arms deal have scoffed. But in fact Pentagon strategists have been warning for years of a possible Soviet invasion during the chaos that is expected to follow Khomeini's death. This is a contingency that must be reckoned with — and planned against. As early as 1982, Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger focused his secret "Defense Guidance" on the assumption of just such a Soviet attack.

So White House apologists at least have the Pentagon's scenario writers to point to. Whether the military's fears are valid, and whether clandestine actions should

ROBERT WAGMAN

A Legal Unknown

WASHINGTON (NEA) — "He's commander in chief, and they're active duty officers. Why doesn't he simply order them to testify?"

This question, or a close variation, is something I have been asked repeatedly in recent weeks.

The "he" is, of course, President Reagan, and the "they" are Vice Adm. John Poindexter and Marine Lt. Col. Oliver North. The two have taken the Fifth Amendment against self-incrimination, refusing to tell congressional committees what they know about the Iran arms triangle.

According to experts, the question of whether Reagan can, or should, force Poindexter and North to abandon their constitutional right against possible self-incrimination is very complex. It would be a journey in almost completely uncharted legal waters.

First, assume that the president or Poindexter's and North's more direct superiors — the chief of naval operations and the Marine Corps commandant — issued such an order, but the two still refused to waive their Fifth Amendment rights and testify. They would then face the prospect of demotion, dismissal from the service or even a full court-martial.

This would effectively pit the Constitution against the Uniform Code of Military Justice.

If Poindexter and North disobeyed a direct order to testify, they would have to be disciplined or court-martialed under the terms of the code. But all decisions of military courts are subject to final review by the Supreme Court.

Some experts believe the Supreme Court would have to give precedence to the Constitution over the military command chain, especially regarding a right as fundamental as that against self-incrimination.

But no one is quite sure. This specific issue has never reached the Supreme Court. In fact, according to experts, it has never been raised before.

In the past, however, the court has issued some rulings regarding military orders and constitutional rights.

In its last term, the Supreme Court considered the case of an orthodox Jewish officer who refused to remove his yarmulke while on duty at a military hospital. The officer argued that his constitutional right to practice his religion outweighed the military's need to have its personnel in the same uniforms. But the court found that, in this case, the military's needs outweighed the officer's religious need. They ruled that the military could order him to remove the yarmulke while on duty.

Some believe if the issue had been more serious — say, the military ordering the officer to serve during the Sabbath, making it impossible for him to practice his religion — the ruling might have been different.

Experts seem to agree, however, that in a serious situation regarding the right against self-incrimination, the Constitution would win out.

There is also a second, separate issue related to the possibility of the president forcing North and Poindexter to testify.

This is called "use immunity," and is a whole "string of Supreme Court decisions have held that forced or coerced testimony is inadmissible. Of course, prosecution could go forward if the government proved that no information obtained in the testimony was being used. But this would place a difficult burden on prosecutors.

The experts stress that all this is conjecture and perhaps better left untested if some other way can be found to convince North and Poindexter to tell what they know.

Charles Colson Revisited

By Arnold Sawaluk
UPI Senior Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Deep within the dense prose of Vice Adm. John Poindexter's 1985 memorandum to President Reagan was a sentence that, after translation, provided an insight of startling clarity into U.S. foreign policy as formulated in the White House basement.

Poindexter, then National Security Council director, argued in the memo that sending military equipment to Iran for use in its long war with Iraq would strengthen "moderate elements" in Tehran. They in turn could help keep the Soviet Union from gaining influence in Iran, a key concern of U.S. foreign policy, the admiral suggested.

This was the nub of the justification given for the arms sales by President Reagan when the transactions became public. That idea — to help those you want to be your friends — was endorsed in principle by a number of people, including some whose objections were aimed at the "other shoe" — the use of profits from the Iran arms sales to help the anti-Sandinista rebels in Nicaragua.

But having made his point, the admiral didn't rest his case. He continued with this remarkable sentence:

"Further, once the exchange relationship has commenced, a dependency would be established on those who are providing the requisite resources, thus allowing the providers to coercively influence near-term events."

The first observation that might be made is that the country may be fortunate that this admiral was commanding a dictating machine rather than an aircraft carrier in action. By the time the pilots figured out what his battle orders meant, the enemy probably would have bombed the carrier and returned to base.

But the Poindexter sentence does mean something. In fact, the proposition it states has an eerie resonance dating back to the Nixon administration.

It was the redoubtable Charles Colson, who in another context, declared, "When you've got them by the (specific part of the anatomy), their hearts and minds will follow." Colson left the White House and went to jail — not for his epigrams — but his analysis of the way to get things done obviously didn't leave with him.

Stars & Stripes Races Into Cup Final

FREMANTLE, Australia (UPI) — Dennis Conner's Stars & Stripes recovered from a smashed genoa today and advanced to the America's Cup final with an 89-second victory over New Zealand that clinched the best-of-seven challenger series in five races.

Conner ended Kiwi hopes of bringing the trophy to Auckland, N.Z., and earned the Louis Vuitton Cup and the coveted spot on the starting line Jan. 31 for the Cup battle against the Australian defender.

In the competition to select the defender, Skipper Iain Murray steered Kookaburra III to a 1:13 triumph over Alan Bond's Australia IV and a 4-0 lead in the best-of-nine final.

While 27-knot winds with gusts up to 30 knots churned up seven-foot seas, a huge wave rolled over the aluminum Stars & Stripes, destroying the 60-foot genoa on the second windward leg. Conner remained at the wheel with tactician Tom Whidden, while the other nine crewmen dragged down the remnants of the $10,000 sail and cut them loose.

As Stars & Stripes floundered with only a mainsail and the Kiwis closed in, the crew cut away the genoa and hoisted a new one in an incredibly fast three minutes to remain 14 seconds ahead at the third mark.

Even the unveiling of a surprise Kiwi gennaker sail — half spinnaker and half genoa — failed to power the fiberglass boat ahead on the reach.

"We'll have to keep those champagne bottles in the refrigerator a little longer — three years in fact," New Zealand syndicate chief Michael Fay said after watching his $10-million campaign end on the Indian Ocean course.

Conner's basic strategy of maintaining straight-line speed and keeping the fiberglass boat behind proved to be difference. The San Diego Yacht Club boat survived 3 1-2 months of grueling competition as part of an original field of 13 competitors to become America's hope of winning back the trophy Conner lost to the Australians in 1983.

Conner, 44, is the world's most experienced 12-Meter skipper in Cup competition since 1974. New Zealand helmsman Chris Dickson, 25, lost only five races — all to Conner — in 43 matches and only started racing the 20-ton boats a year ago. In trying to draw more speed, Dickson Sunday replaced the mast on KZ7 with a heavier one used in the semifinal sweep against French Kias.

Both boats were recalled a few seconds after today's start when a buoy shifted. The New Zealanders took a one-second edge at the re-start, but could not break through Conner's cover. Straight-lining to the first buoy, Conner pulled 42 seconds ahead. Dickson, relying on his tacking strength, trimmed the margin on the first leeward leg, helped by Conner's wide rounding of the mark that left KZ7 only 23 seconds behind.

Conner was stretching his advantage when a wave smashed the genoa. Despite the problem, Conner and his team stayed ahead, losing only eight seconds at the third buoy. New Zealand's unleashing of the gennaker on the reach — introduced in this regatta by Australia IV — sliced another six seconds away.

Conner used his edge in speed to take a 16-second lead on the second leeward mark and a 36-second edge on the third beat. Dickson pulled within nine seconds on the seventh leg, only to foil the effort by bumping into the bottom-mark buoy.

In the defender race, Murray sailed through the towering waves despite a broken backstay to draw within one victory of clinching the series.

Howell History Test Includes 2 Tough Games

Lake Howell's Lady Silver Hawks, 12-1 overall, go into this week needing two wins in a row to make history. And the Lady Hawks will have to play their best basketball two times in a row to do it.

Lake Howell has won 10 in a row and needs a win over up and coming Seminole to tie the record set last year and an upset of 4A powerhouse Lake Mary to break it. The school record for victories, though, takes a back seat to the race shaping up in the Seminole Athletic Conference.

The Lady Hawks take a 2-0 SAC record to Seminole High tonight. Seminole, 5-7 overall, stands at 1-1 in the conference. Lake Mary leads at 3-0. Junior varsity action tonight begins at 6 p.m. with the varsity encounter tipping off at 7:45.

"Seminole has one of the best starting fives in the conference," Lake Howell coach Dennis Codrey said. "They've got some good size and (Adrian) Hillsman is out of this world."

Hillsman, a sophomore point guard, leads Seminole County in scoring with a 21.4 average and she also leads the team in rebounds, assists and steals. Seminole also starts 6-2 sophomore Liz Long (10.0 points per game), 5-4 junior guard LaShon Cash (7.5), 5-11 sophomore center Chineta Gilchrist and 5-8 freshman forward Mechelle Toombs. Sherry Reddick, a 6-0 freshman center, is the top player off coach Charles Steele's bench as she averages 6.7 points and seven rebounds per game.

Lake Howell too has a strong starting five and the Lady Hawks also have good depth on the bench. Leading the way is 5-2 senior guard Erin Hankins who leads the team in scoring and is second in the county at 17.2 per game. Junior guard Tammy Lewis is averaging 12.3 points per game and also is second in the county in steals and assists. Senior forward Denise Arriola (9.5 ppg) leads the county in rebounding (11.1) while rounding out the starting lineup are junior forward Kelley Grider (7.1 ppg) and junior center Carolyn Kuhl.

Lake Howell receives good play off the bench from junior center Carey Manuel (7.2 rebounds) and sophomore guard Brooke Burns (6.3 ppg). Junior forward-guard Sherod Keeton is another solid player off the bench but Keeton may miss tonight's game because of a knee injury.

"We're going to need a win Monday night for Thursday to mean anything," Codrey said.

On Thursday, Lake Howell will be playing a Lake Mary team that is ranked third in the state in Class 4A, has a 16-1 overall record, a winning streak of 14 and outscored its opponents by an average of 19 points.

"We've had a lot of success on defense but I think Lake Howell will be much tougher to come up with the steal against," Lake Mary coach Bill Moore said. "They probably have more depth than most of the teams we've played around here. We're going to have to be on our game to do well."

Senior forward Cynthia Patterson leads the Lady Rams with a 16.5 points per game average while senior guard Tonya Lawson adds 12.4 per outing. Lawson has played particularly well for Lake Mary since the Miami Southridge Tournament.

"Lawson has played exceptionally since Miami," Moore said. "She's not doing anything flashy but just playing good, solid basketball and does what is needed to be done."

Lake Mary senior point guard Gabby Olden, who leads the county in assists (7.2) and steals (6.4), has been bothered by foot cramps in recent games but she is not expected to miss any games.

"She has some kind of nerve problem," Moore said. "She wears a pad on the sore spot but the pad causes her foot to cramp up. We're trying different ways of taping the pad on."

Lake Mary has a non-conference game tonight at home against Port Orange Spruce Creek.

Houston's Mask Attack Riddles Santa Fe For 41

By Mark Blythe
Herald Sports Writer

Who was that masked man?

That is what Santa Fe Community College team wanted to know Saturday night after Malcolm Houston put on a spectacular 41-point performance as the Seminole Community College Raiders posted a 106-81 Mid-Florida Conference victory before 254 fans at the SCC Health Center.

The Raiders lifted their record to 21-2 and 5-1 in the Mid-Florida Conference and will host arch-rival Daytona Beach Community College Wednesday at SCC. The Saints fell to 8-12 and 1-5 in the conference.

In other action Saturday, Daytona, 6-0, maintained its one-game lead in the MFC by knocking off Central Florida, 90-81. Sanford's Darryl Merithe led the way for the nationally fifth-ranked Scots with 25 points. Jacksonville's Florida Community College, 5-1, topped Valencia, 98-86, and St. Johns outlasted Lake City, 123-122, in double overtimes.

Houston, meanwhile, did more than score points Saturday. Playing with a face mask to protect an injured nose, the 6-0 freshman guard connected on 8 of 12 three-point goals and 16 of 23 floor attempts. He also tied an SCC record with eight steals in the game.

"I've played with the mask before when I broke my nose," Houston said. "I caught an elbow in practice and will have it on for the next few weeks so it doesn't get broken again."

The mask obviously had no effect on his game which was aided by the pinpoint passing from Darris Gallagher who finished the night with 19 points and a career-high 17 assists.

"The big men were open and we ran the break well," Gallagher said.

Seminole coach Bill Payne was happy with the victory. "Santa Fe is a great team," Payne said. "Their record doesn't show how tough they really are."

SCC did have trouble with the Saints in the first half before it exploded to outscore them.

Basketball

55-36, in the second half.

In the opening half SCC used a strong effort by Vance Hall, who finished with a game-high 14 rebounds and four blocked shots while adding 19 points. Hall scored the opening basket and dictated the play in the middle for SCC.

Houston started his scoring parade with a three-pointer with 15:54 to put the Raiders up 17-8. The Saints stayed in the game with the inside play of Rodney Rush who scored a team-high 29 points.

After Santa Fe took a 33-30 lead, Hall switched the momentum back in favor of SCC with a slam with 7:02 left. Houston picked up the tempo and scored 15 points in the last 6:13 to put the Raiders up 51-45, at the half.

Houston continued his scoring parade in the second half, hitting a pair of three-pointers to give the Raiders a 57-47 lead with 18:17 left. After Gallagher connected on a short jumper off the break, Houston picked off an errant pass and jammed home his next two points for an 61-49 lead with 16:50 to play.

"Malcolm (Houston) shot very well tonight," Payne said. "The team did an excellent job of getting him the ball when they realized he was on."

SFCC cut the lead to 61-53 before SCC ran off 12 consecutive points to take a commanding 73-53 lead with 12:50 to play. Gallagher hit a pair of three-pointers to pace the run.

"Darris (Gallagher) played his usual game tonight," Payne said. "The only difference is that everyone was hitting the shots when he got them the ball."

Hall put the icing on the cake for the Raiders with a monstrous two-hand slam with 12:25 left. Brian Jessie and Craig Van Horn then connected on three consecutive three-point goals to cut the lead to 75-64 with 11:01 left.

SCC, however, regained con-

Pavin's 67 Wins Hope

LA QUINTA, Calif. (UPI) — Corey Pavin shot a 67 to win the $900,000 Bob Hope Chrysler Classic by one stroke — without conquering PGA West.

"You're not going to shoot 8-under out there the way the pins are placed," Pavin said Sunday after he nailed an 18-foot birdie putt on the final hole to break a tie and earn $162,000. "In some respects, 5-under is as good as you can do."

"The course is just too severe. If you don't hit the ball well, you have no chance."

PGA West was designed to leave players with little room for error. The holes feature exceptional length and many contained severely contoured greens.

Pavin finished five rounds at 19-under 341. He shot a 65 at Tamarisk Friday and a 66 at Indian Wells Saturday to get into contention.

Langer and Pavin, close friends off the course, had been tied entering the 90th hole of the tournament and a sixth straight Hope playoff seemed likely. Pavin, who had missed the cut at the 1986 Hope, moved in for the victory with a "4-iron heavy" on his second shot at No. 18.

He then calmly sank the long putt on the 425-yard, par-4 hole and celebrated wildly.

"I got behind it and it was one of those putts where I could see the read," Pavin said. "I just got up there, knocked it in the hole and jumped about 20 miles."

"I was chasing him all day. It's funny how when you're playing against someone who's playing well ... I was focused on what I was doing. He focused me and I played very solid golf."

Langer, who finished second twice last year, earned $97,200.

"Making birdie on that last hole was certainly outstanding," Langer said. "Other times, I've felt disappointed because I made mistakes and had shots. I don't feel that way today."

Mark Calcavecchia finished in third place at 15-under. Andy Bean and David Frost were another three strokes back.

Langer, leading most of the last two rounds, fell behind by a stroke when he missed a 10-foot putt for birdie on the 15th hole. The West German and 1985 Masters champion earned back a share of the lead, however, when he sank a 4-foot birdie effort on the next hole.

Pavin, who won two tournaments last year, had begun the fifth round at 14-under par, two strokes behind Langer. Each player birdied No. 1 and Pavin was within a stroke after a birdie on No. 3.

Langer needed six shots on the par-5, 525-yard fifth hole and Pavin caught him at 15-under by gaining par. Langer regained a one-stroke advantage with a birdie on No. 6 and opened it to two with a 10-foot putt for birdie on No. 11.

Pavin closed to one stroke when he birdied the next hole, and Langer was fortunate enough to get a favorable placement in a bunker and manage a par. Pavin's 6-foot birdie putt on No. 13 brought another tie and he took the lead when Langer bogeyed the 15th hole.

Langer's putt for birdie on No. 16 tied the two again, at 18-under.

Langer, who had tamed PGA West with a 68 Friday, fired a 70 at Bermuda Dunes Saturday and withstood a furious charge by Calcavecchia to remain in the lead.

Optimistic Giants Arrive In Pasadena

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — The favorites reached town Sunday and the underdogs are scheduled to arrive today — starting the week-long buildup that leads to the Super Bowl.

"We're not going out there to lose," said New York Giants linebacker Harry Carson as he stepped onto his team's California-bound jet. "We're going out there to get the big trophy and the rings."

The optimistic Giants, installed as 9-point favorites over the Denver Broncos in Super Bowl XXI, made the cross-country flight Sunday and promptly took up residence at their headquarter hotel in Costa Mesa.

The Giants will stay 57.5 miles by clogged freeway from the Rose Bowl — which next Sunday will host the Super Bowl for the fourth time.

Members of the Broncos, meanwhile, scheduled a late-afternoon arrival today and will stay even farther from Pasadena than the Giants — setting up shop in the fashionable harbor town of Newport Beach.

The Giants will conduct their workouts at the Los Angeles Rams' training facility, while the Broncos will practice at the University of California-Irvine.

"We plan to do most of our preparation when we get there," said Denver Coach Dan Reeves, who gave his team the early part of last week off following the Broncos victory over Cleveland in the AFC title game.

"I think you can start work too early for this game. Sometimes, in the past, I thought we might have prepared too much."

Reeves' previous Super Bowl experience has been with the Dallas Cowboys and he has five previous trips to the big game from which to draw.

On the eve of the Broncos' departure for their second Super Bowl, Denver players were treated to a huge sendoff at Mile High Stadium. An estimated 63,000 people turned out on a sunny, but frigid afternoon — some arriving 5 1-2 hours early — to cheer each Denver player and hear brief words of encouragement from the city's mayor and Colorado's governor.

The Giants are making their first trip to the Super Bowl. But playing in New York may have prepared them as well as anything could have for the media blitz that will take place this week.

"This has been one long, dream season for us," said Giants safety Kenny Hill as he stepped off the team's plane. "And we want it to continue."

"Playing in New York adapts us to the media pressure and we've grown used to it. I don't think it will bother us at all this week."

Only about 30 fans were waiting for the Giants when they arrived at their hotel Sunday, but the number of fans should increase dramatically as the week progresses.

Local tourist officials estimate each person traveling to town for the game will spend $250 per day and that as much as $150 million will be pumped into the region's economy by the Super Bowl.

Those who helped bring this year's Super Bowl to Pasadena plan to make a concerted effort to land the next game available for bidding — Super Bowl XXV.

Sutton Punishes Wildcats For Worst Home Loss Ever

United Press International

The Kentucky Wildcats delivered their worst home performance in 61 years, and coach Eddie Sutton responded with a practice they may remember even longer than that.

Incensed by a 76-41 loss to Louisiana State Sunday, Sutton ordered his team back to the court two hours after the game.

"We're not going to throw in the towel yet," Sutton said. "We're going to practice at 6:30 and we're going to work their fannies off."

Kentucky, which suffered its worst defeat ever at Rupp Arena in a 14-point loss to Alabama two weeks ago, Sunday looked even worse. Louisiana State's Southeastern Conference rout marked the biggest margin of defeat at home for Kentucky since the Wildcats lost to Cincinnati 48-10 in 1926.

It was the worst loss for Kentucky anywhere since City College of New York defeated the Wildcats by 39 points in the 1950 National Invitation Tournament.

"I've coached for 30 years and this was the most embarrassing game I've ever been a part of," Sutton said. "I've never seen a team struggle like I did today for 40 minutes."

LSU forced the Wildcats into 27 turnovers and just 25 percent shooting from the floor. The Tigers, paced by 28 points from Anthony Wilson, never trailed.

"We were just emotionally ready," Tigers Coach Dale Brown said. "It all happened on our defense today. It was our day."

The loss dropped Kentucky to 9-5 overall and 3-4 in the conference. LSU improved to 10-8 and 2-5.

In other games involving ranked teams Sunday, No. 2 North Carolina ripped No. 17 North Carolina State 96-78, No. 5 Purdue routed Louisville 88-73, Michigan upset No. 6 Syracuse 91-88 and No. 11 Temple trimmed St. Joseph's 70-69.

At Chapel Hill, N.C., freshman forward J.R. Reid, making 13 of his 14 field goal attempts, scored 31 points and grabbed 13 rebounds to power the Tar Heels to an Atlantic Coast Conference victory. The 6-foot-9 Reid exploited the absence of the Wolfpack forwards Charles Shackelford and Chucky Brown, who were sidelined with ankle injuries.

At West Lafayette, Ind., Doug Lee scored 23 points, including four of six from 3-point range, to lead the Boilermakers, 14-1, to their best start since 1935. Todd Mitchell added 22 points and Troy Lewis 17 for Purdue, which has won seven straight and meets No. 3 Iowa Monday. Herbert Crook led the Cardinals, 8-8, with 16 points.

At Ann Arbor, Mich., Gary Grant and Garde Thompson scored 23 points each to help the Wolverines hand the Orangemen their first loss of the season. Grant, who sealed the victory with a free throw with four seconds remaining, had 6 assists, 5 rebounds and 4 steals for the Wolverines, 11-8. Rony Seikaly led Syracuse, 15-1, with 25 points and 15 rebounds.

At Philadelphia, the 11th-ranked Owls failed to score in the final 5:58 but managed to hold off St. Joseph's for an Atlantic 10 Conference victory. Rodney Blake, who drew the Hawks within 70-68 on a turnaround jumper with 3:18 to play, missed the second of two free throws with less than 10 seconds remaining.

Elsewhere Sunday, Baylor downed Rice 80-64 in a Southwest Conference game. Arizona State scored an 80-64 Pacific 10 victory over Washington State and, also in the Pac 10, UCLA trimmed Oregon State 69-67 in overtime.

In games involving ranked teams on Saturday, No. 16 Oklahoma upset No. 1 Nevada-Las Vegas 89-88, No. 4 Indiana defeated Northwestern 95-43, No. 7 DePaul routed South Florida 81-55, Seton Hall downed No. 8

Georgetown 66-65, Vanderbilt surprised No. 9 Auburn 66-58, No. 10 Illinois dumped Minnesota 80-58, No. 12 Clemson deflated Maryland 72-64, No. 13 Duke blitzed Wake Forest 69-49, No. 14 St. John's erased Connecticut 69-54, No. 15 Alabama bumped Mississippi 71-62, No. 18 Pittsburgh ripped Chicago State 112-70 and No. 20 Navy demolished American 96-60.

At Norman, Okla., Darryl Kennedy's basket with 12 seconds remaining lifted the Sooners over previously undefeated UNLV. Armon Gilliam misfired on a 12-foot jumper for the Rebels and Jarvis Baanight's tip-in attempt bounced off the rim at the buzzer.

At East Rutherford, N.J., Mark Bryant's two free throws with four seconds remaining gave Seton Hall its second victory of the season over the Hoyas. Bryant led the Pirates with 22 points while Reggie Williams paced Georgetown with 28.

Seminole Reverses Dreary Weekend With Tourney Title

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

The way things started, it looked like it was going to be a dreary weekend for the Seminole High girls soccer team.

Because of some bogus directions, the team bus got lost in Gainesville and didn't arrive at P.K. Yonge High School until 15 minutes before the game. Seminole had to practically jump off the bus, into the rain, and play its first round game in the P.K. Yonge Tournament.

But, while the trip to Gainesville wasn't too enjoyable, the Lady Seminoles definitely got their kicks in the three-team tournament. On Friday, the Lady 'Noles bombed Gainesville Eastside, 6-0. Eastside made it back to the finals only to be whitewashed by Seminole once again, 3-0.

"It was a long trip and we didn't have much time to get ready, but the girls came out fired up," Seminole coach Suzy Reno said. "Both the defense and offense were outstanding."

Seminole improved to 7-7-2 with the tournament championship and will try to break the .500 mark Tuesday at home against DeLand.

In Friday's game, senior striker Sherri Rumler led the Lady Tribe with three goals while Melissa Shuckman booted home two and Shannon Sundvall added one. Michelle Bisigni had two assists with Tracey Farrelly and Sundvall with one each.

Seminole pounded 30 shots at the Eastside goal while Eastside managed just two shots. Seminole goalkeeper Kim Walsh made both saves for the shutout.

On Saturday morning, Eastside defeated host P.K. Yonge, 3-1, to set up a rematch with Seminole in the final. Seminole once again dominated as it took 27 shots on goal to Eastsides three as the Lady 'Noles claimed the crown with a 3-0 victory.

McCaskey: Ditka Is Not Moving

CHICAGO (UPI) — Chicago Bears President Michael McCaskey Sunday denied a televised report that Mike Ditka has informed the Bears he will not coach the team beyond the 1987 season.

CBS correspondent and Boston Globe sports writer Will McDonough reported that Ditka had told Bears officials he would not coach the NFL team beyond next season, when his contract expires.

Such a move has been predicted in Chicago newspapers since Thursday when McCaskey demoted General Manager Jerry Vainisi to "team consultant." Ditka said Vainisi was his best friend.

Ditka left Chicago Friday and was not expected back in town until after the Super Bowl. Through the Bears public relations department, McCaskey denied the report, which also appeared in Sunday's edition of the Boston Globe.

"He says Mike Ditka has not resigned and has not indicated that he will not coach the Chicago Bears beyond the 1987 season," the club spokesman said.

Cindy Bengé scored the first goal on an assist from Rachel Denmark 11:55 into the first half. Seminole's lead stood at 1-0 at the half but Vicky "Spuffy" Pakovic broke up the tie as she scored on a throw in from Bengé with 13:40 gone in the second half. Rumler added an unassisted goal, her 11th of the season, with 19 minutes left to seal the victory.

"The girls are improving with every game and should be ready once the district tournament begins," Reno said.

Rumler was selected the Most Valuable Offensive Player of the tournament while Bengé, a junior sweeperback, was the MVP on defense. Walsh made four saves in the final for her fourth shutout of the season.

LAKE MARY WINS PAIR

While Seminole was in Gainesville over the weekend, Lake Mary's Lady Rams trekked down the east coast of the state for a pair of games. On Friday, Lake Mary hammered Stuart Martin County, 8-3, then came back Friday to knock off Vero Beach, 5-2.

Lake Mary ran its record to 12-2-3 with its weekend success. The Lady Rams have a big Seminole Athletic Conference game Wednesday at second-ranked Lyman High.

In Friday's win, Kelley Broen and Donna Rohr each had a hat trick for the Lady Rams while Jolie Hoffman and Michelle Mattingly added one goal each. Broen also had two assists with Rohr, Crissie Snow and Michelle Padilla getting one assist each.

Tammy Scott made four saves as goalkeeper in the first half while Kris Botticello came on in the second half and made five saves.

Saturday's game." Lake Mary coach Bill Eissele said. "We knew the next day Vero Beach would be out to get us after we beat them, 6-0, at our place."

Indeed, Vero Beach was out to get the Lady Rams on Saturday as the host Lady Indians took a 1-0 halftime lead on Monica Cepcia's goal.

"We made a tactical adjustment at the half and went to a 4-2-4 with four strikers," Eissele said. "They (Vero) played with two sweeperbacks. We've never gone to Stuart and Vero and come away with two wins and that gave the girls a goal to shoot for and they came out pumped up in the second half."

Kristen Jones rifled in a shot from 35 yards out for the tying goal and Broen then scored two goals as Lake Mary took control. Broen ran her county-leading season goal total to 19 with five goals in two games.

Rohr and Brooke Taylor also scored second-half goals as Lake Mary pulled away. Broen, Mattingly, Snow and Rohr all had assists in the game while Scott made five saves.

Defensively, Eissele said the Lady Rams received outstanding play the entire weekend from Scott, Botticello, Padilla, Hoffman, Anemieke Stonerock, Vickie Warner, Amy Alexander and Lisa Fraher.

"It was a good weekend and now we're looking forward to playing Lyman again," Eissele said. "It's important that we get out and play well to keep building for district."

PATS BLANK WINTER PARK

Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots scored two goals in each half Saturday en route to a 4-0 victory over Winter Park's Lady Wildcats. Brantley, ranked third in the state, improved to 13-1-2 for the season.

Julie DeRusso scored her 16th goal of the season for the Lady Patriots while Beth Schaefer and Dawn Douglas also scored. Goalkeeper Wendy Vickery made five saves in recording her eighth shutout of the season.

Lake Brantley returns to action tonight at Gainesville High. The Lady Patriots host Lake Howell in a Seminole Athletic Conference matchup Thursday night.

Spicher's Goal Ties CCC, 1-1

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

Reserve forward Jim Spicher scored the tying goal eight minutes into the second half but Lake Mary's rested starters could not put in the go-ahead goal when they returned as the Rams settled for a 1-1 tie Saturday against Clearwater Central Catholic at Clearwater.

Lake Mary now stands at 12-2-2 overall while CCC, ranked third in the state in Class 3A, now stands at 7-2-2.

"For about 15 or 20 minutes I put the subs on the field because the starters were a little weary from the night before (against Brandon)," Lake Mary coach Larry McCorkle said. "The subs did a great job and did a lot of good things and that should have given the starters a real lift. But I put the starters back in and it was like they just went through the motions."

CCC had taken a 1-0 lead with 12 minutes left in the first half on a header by Ned Cronin. Lake Mary tied it when Spicher scored his first goal on a header off a crossing pass from Rick Broenke.

Lake Mary kept pressing throughout most of the first 20 minutes of the second half but could not put in the go-ahead goal. Along with Spicher, McCorkle said substitutes Manuel Roldan and John Yurick played impressively.

CCC had its chances to win in the late going but were turned away by Lake Mary junior goalkeeper Pete McNally who had 13 saves for the game.

"Pete (McNally) did the best job ever for a Lake Mary keeper," McCorkle said. "He made four saves on shots I thought were sure goals."

Lake Mary returns to action Thursday night at home in a Seminole Athletic Conference game against Lyman.

BRANTLEY, LYMAN TIED UP

It was a day of ties for Seminole County teams Saturday as, along with Lake Mary, Lake Brantley and Winter Park played to a 1-1 tie and Lyman and Melbourne wound up in a 0-0 tie.

Winter Park took a 1-0 halftime lead on Lake Brantley but Corey Sheffield's second-half goal enabled the Patriots to gain the tie. Lake Brantley now stands at 5-6-4 while Winter Park is 10-2-3 for the season.

At Melbourne, Lyman could not capitalize on a man advantage in the last 25 minutes and had to settle for the scoreless tie. Lyman now stands at 7-3-4 while Melbourne is 6-2-1.

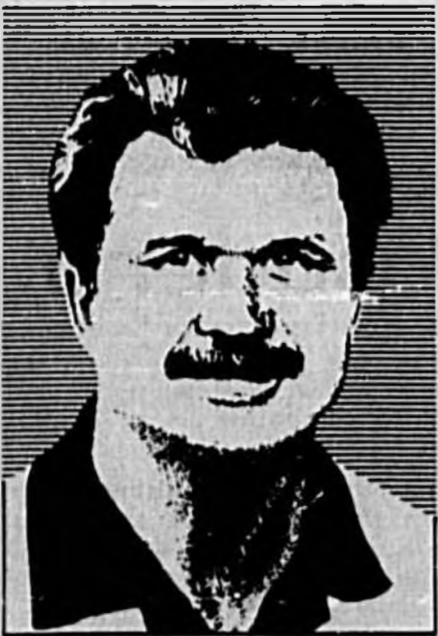

With 25 minutes left to play, a Melbourne player received a red card and was ejected from the game. Despite playing a man up on the Bulldogs, Lyman could not slip a goal past keeper Todd Anderson who made seven saves. Lyman keeper Kelly Walden made two stops in recording his fifth shutout.

TRIBE PLAYS TONIGHT

In soccer action tonight, coach Carlos Merlino's Seminoles host DeLand. Seminole travels to Orlando Trinity Prep Tuesday. In other game Tuesday, Lyman host Orlando Bishop Moore, Lake Howell journeys to Melbourne and Lake Brantley treks to Daytona Beach to play Seabreeze.

In a game Saturday between a pair of Class 3A powerhouses, Tampa Jesuit scored a second-half goal and went on to claim a 2-1 victory over Bishop Moore. Jesuit went into the game ranked fourth in the 3A poll while Bishop Moore was ranked third.

Lendl Knocks Off Goldie, Nears First Grass 'Major'

Tennis

MELBOURNE, Australia, (UPI) — Top seed Ivan Lendl, seeking his first major title on grass, defeated American Dan Goldie, 2-6, 6-4, 7-6 (9-7), 6-3 today to advance to the quarterfinals of the $1.65 million Australian Open.

Lendl will meet Anders Jarryd in Wednesday's scheduled quarterfinals. Jarryd, the No. 9 seed, defeated Australia's Peter Doohan, 6-1, 6-7, 6-4, 7-6.

Defending champion and fourth seed Stefan Edberg, celebrating his 21st birthday, romped into the quarterfinals by defeating injured American Robert Seguso 6-1, 6-0, 6-1, then listened to a version of "Happy Birthday Stefan" from most of the 9,000 fans. Edberg will meet sixth-seeded Miloslav Mecir in Wednesday's scheduled quarterfinals.

In another fourth-round match, sixth-seeded Miloslav Mecir of Czechoslovakia downed Mark Kratzmann of Australia, 6-4, 6-2, 6-2.

Goldie had four set points in the third set, but Lendl battled back to win the set 9-7 in the tiebreaker. Lendl won the match in the next set on his fifth match point.

"I am playing as well as I can on grass and I badly want to win this Australian championship," Lendl said.

Lendl said he had little trouble handling the serve of Goldie, who had reached the Round of 16 at last year's U.S. Open.

"On any given day, Goldie would be a very dangerous player but I am not sure about his service, it didn't have much kick on it into the backhand," Lendl said. "Goldie hasn't got much spin on his service and it is easy to return."

Goldie said extending Lendl to three hours gave him confidence that will help in future matches.

"I gained a lot of mental confidence in that match," he said. "I always felt I could play with the pros and stay with the best of them, but there is still a lot of room for improvement," said Goldie, who attended Stanford.

Lendl, who has won two U.S. Opens and two French Opens, has never won a major grass court tournament. He has spent nearly a month practicing for the Australian Open.

Spinks Refuses Retirement

MIAMI (UPI) — Former heavyweight champion Leon Spinks says he refuses to consider retirement despite being knocked out three consecutive times in a division often criticized for little talent.

Spinks, 33, suffered his latest embarrassing defeat Saturday night in the first round to Jose Ribalta at the Coconut Grove Exhibition Center. Ribalta knocked him down three times, and referee Eddie Eckert stopped the fight at 2:10 of the round under Florida's three-knockdown rule.

"I'm not hanging it up," Spinks said. "I'm not a quitter. I love the sport and I'm getting paid good."

The skills of the 1976 Olympic gold medalist have so deteriorated that he never had a chance against Ribalta, ranked No. 12 in the World Boxing Council heavyweight rankings. Spinks' previous loss was to Rocky Sekorski, a virtual unknown.

New York-Philly Brawl Receives Poor Reviews From Both Teams

United Press International

The New York Islanders and Philadelphia Flyers Sunday night staged a cheap remake of their past brawls. The game was delayed 21 minutes at 7:47 of the second period by a bench-clearing melee that resulted in 114 penalty minutes and the ejection of four players.

The brawl received poor reviews from both sides, but Islanders defenseman Denis Potvin gave it partial credit for igniting the team in a 3-1 victory.

"Somehow, it brought us together," Potvin said. "There was a delay and we lost a third of our team. We felt on the bench we had to suck up and go out and play."

The fight marked a renewal of days when Clark Gillies of the Islanders and Dave Schultz of the Flyers dropped the gloves and fought during the playoffs. Or New York's fiery goalie Billy Smith battling Bob Kelly. The Islanders' Garry Howatt taking on anyone in a Flyers jersey.

Elsewhere, Washington drubbed New Jersey 6-1, Detroit shaded Pittsburgh 1-0, Buffalo outlasted Edmonton 6-5 in overtime, Winnipeg dumped Minnesota 5-3 and Quebec defeated Chicago 5-3.

George To Transfer To Miami

MIAMI (UPI) — Purdue quarterback Jeff George, one of the most heavily recruited high school football players in America, will transfer to the University of Miami this summer, the Miami Herald reported in Monday's editions.

The Herald said that barring any last-minute change of heart, George will announce his decision this week.

Neither the University of Miami nor George's family will confirm the transfer. But Leon Burnett, former Purdue coach whose dismissal triggered George's transfer, said, "He's going to Miami," according to the newspaper.

George would have to sit out one season, as NCAA rules require, before using the first of his three remaining years of eligibility.

During his freshman year, the Boilermakers went 3-8. George completed 122 of 227 passes for 1,217 yards. He threw 15 interceptions and four touchdowns.

Variety Road Stuns Broad Brush

ARCADIA, Calif. (UPI) — Variety Road gave the fans at Santa Anita Sunday a chance to see what might have been if the 4-year-old had not been injured much of last year.

Variety Road scored a major upset victory in the $183,800 San Fernando Stakes, edging Broad Brush by a neck while leaving Ferdinand and Snow Chief well behind.

While Snow Chief and Ferdinand were each winning a Triple Crown race last year, Variety Road was injured. Had he been healthy, he almost certainly would have been a top contender.

Oviedo coach John Thomas is awaiting the return of two of his injured players and hopes freshman point guard Kerry Wilson and sophomore forward Kirsten Colon will be able to help the Lady Lions turns their season around.

Wilson has not played since going out with a knee injury in the first minute of play in Oviedo's opener in the Rotary Thanksgiving Tournament. "She (Wilson) has made a lot of progress physically," Thomas said. "She practiced with the team Friday and we hope to have her back by next week. It's just a matter of her getting strong enough to support her knee properly."

Colon, who was moved up from the junior varsity team, suffered a back injury in a game

Oviedo is 3-10 overall and has lost its last six games. The Lady Lions try to snap the losing skid tonight when they host Melbourne Central Catholic.

high 23 points and Jackson added 20. Lisa Starks added power underneath with a game-high eight rebounds while contributing 13 points.

"We didn't dictate the tempo in the first half," assistant coach Debbie Scherr said. "Valencia is a run-and-gun team and made us impatient on offense."

The Lady Matadors were led by Catrina McCants who scored 20 and Kim Wilson who added 18.

"We played our game in the second half," Scherr said. "We dictated the tempo and played our style of ball."

SCC will have a rough week opening Tuesday against Rockland, N.Y. A major obstacle will invade SCC Thursday as Jacksonville's nationally sixth-ranked Florida Community College comes to town. FCC-J, which features Sanford guard Mona Benton, has been ruling to inflict a loss at home. Manatee will come to town for another non-conference matchup.

Stocks Open Lower

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices opened lower today in active trading of New York Stock Exchange issues.

The Dow Jones Industrial average, which climbed 70.72 points last week, was down 14.20 to 2062.43 shortly after the market opened.

Declines led advances 722-306 among the 1,374 issues crossing the New York Stock Exchange tape.

Early turnover amounted to about 10,534,000 shares.

The stock market advanced to unprecedented levels last week in the heaviest trading Wall Street has ever seen. For the first time, the number of shares traded during the week exceeded 1 billion.

The Exchange recorded its heaviest volume day in history on Thursday, when 283,133,400 shares were traded. The Dow scored its biggest gain of the week that day, climbing 56.72 to what was then a record 2070.73. That record was topped only a day later, when the blue chip index added 5.90 to finish the week at 2076.63.

Secondary and oil issues attracted buying, as did technology, paper and chemical stocks that are likely to benefit from an economic pickup later this year or a weaker U.S. dollar. The dollar fell amid reports that the White House was willing to let the currency slide in order to trim the trade deficit; it stabilized Thursday and Friday.

Gold Sharply Up As Dollar Falls

By United Press International

The U.S. dollar opened sharply lower on major world money markets today, falling to a new low against the Japanese yen in Tokyo. The price of gold rose sharply.

Japan called for joint American-Japanese intervention to stabilize the dollar as the U.S. currency closed in earlier trading in Tokyo at a post-war rate of 150.20 yen, down 2.85 from Friday's close of 153.10.

The previous closing low was 153.03, set on Aug. 21, 1988.

Dealers in Japan said selling of the dollar was sparked by reports that the Reagan administration wants the dollar to decline further to between 120 and 125 yen.

The Central Bank of Japan was believed to have purchased about $1 billion to bolster the dollar, traders said. The bank makes it a rule not to comment on its action.

Japan's huge trade surplus, which totaled $82.6 billion in 1988, also was a major factor behind the dollar's fall, the dealers said. They said market participants were concerned about a possible rise in protectionist moves in the U.S. Congress.

In European trading, the dollar tumbled on all of the major foreign exchange markets.

"The dollar opened weak in the wake of the heavy speculative selling that took place on Far-Eastern markets overnight," a dealer for Barclays Bank International said.

"There was very little sign of any rally for the U.S. currency in London, so in the absence of support, the dollar slipped," the Barclays dealer said.

when Attorney General Edwin Meese revealed the possibly criminal scheme to divert profits from the sales to Nicaraguan Contra rebels.

"The potential costs to the United States entailed by these risks could have been reduced if congressional leaders had been informed, for they would have been better prepared to support the administration once the operation was exposed," the Times quoted the report as saying.

The document also asserts that misgivings of senior intelligence officials and their expertise in covert operations were consistently ignored by the National Security Council staff members who ran the program.

It finds the operation was plagued by intelligence "shortfalls" — primarily a very limited knowledge of the Iranian officials involved in the arms deals, the newspaper said.

Former national security adviser Robert McFarlane has testified to Congress that he warned the administration of the risks in its Iran policy, defended by Reagan as an effort to build ties with Iranian moderates and not as a ransom payment for U.S. hostages in Lebanon. The summary provides details about how those and other warnings were made — and how they were ignored.

Among the analysis' other conclusions is that Reagan may have been briefed orally on a memorandum that suggested diverting $12 million to the Contras.

The memo, it said, was drafted in April 1986 by Lt. Col. Oliver North, now fired from the National Security Council staff, and sent apparently to North's boss, Vice Adm. John Poindexter, now resigned as national security adviser.

NBC reported on the same memo Saturday, saying it was dated April 4.

But the Senate summary notes the committee received no evidence Poindexter ever told Reagan about the memo, and there is "no specific evidence" provided that Reagan knew of any funds diversion to the Contras at a time when U.S. military aid to the rebels was banned by law.

The report makes no final judgment on what Reagan knew or when he knew it.

commission-sanctioned tribute committee, also served to honor several Sanford residents — black and white, old and young. Scholarship awards totalling $2,000 were given to six students and 11 city residents were honored with "Brotherhood" or "Citizenship" awards for living and promoting King's ideals of spiritual harmony and racial equality. The banquet and the three King tribute events that preceded it last week were all held at the Sanford civic center.

Interpersed throughout Saturday's three-hour affair were inspirational songs provided by a 70-member interdenominational and interracial King celebration choir. Local church members and the Sanford Woman's Club Chorus sang in the choir under the direction of Mary Whitehurst.

Also featured were excerpts of King's "I Have a Dream" speech, offered by Seminole Community College freshman Carl Marion and Seminole High School senior Kenneth Eckstein, son of Sanford city commissioner Whitley Eckstein.

The elder Eckstein contributed $250 to the King scholarship monies awarded Saturday. Seminole Community College provided three $350 awards and two other $350 scholarships were contributed by Sanford residents Mr. and Mrs. James McWhorter and Mrs. Chester Davidson. Seminole School students receiving the $350 scholarships are Lashalonda Robinson, Jill Singer, Brenda Robinson, Alonso Gandy and Tonja Simpson. The $250 scholarship went to Seminole High student Andre Johnson. The students were chosen for their academic prowess and the winning essays and oratorical offerings they provided during contests held this month in honor of King.

The scholarship award winners were selected by a committee of school district representatives. One of them, school district spokesman Karen Coleman, said Seminole Schools would plan to be involved in next year's King celebration. She also said after expenses have been taken care of, monies left from Saturday's banquet will be the "seed fund" for next year's scholarships awards.

The King tribute Citizenship awards were given Saturday to six Sanford residents who have overcome obstacles and made noteworthy contributions to the community, according to tribute planners' selection committee.

The residents, "whose lives reflect the beauty of the human spirit," are Ezekiel and Irene Dixon, Jack Horner, Arthur James, the Rev. Amos C. Jones, Jesse Kendrick, and Iva Neese Vincent. The Dixons have been farmers for 40 years and raised eight children who all graduated college. Horner, past executive director of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, was recognized for "his tireless efforts to promote the city and create an atmosphere for blacks to participate." James was one of the founding organizers of the Seminole County NAACP, while Rev. Jones overcame a speech impediment to secure an education that includes a masters degree. Kendrick, a taxi driver, has raised 10 children whose professions include doctor, nurse, social worker and governmental administrator. Mrs. Vincent and her late husband owned and operated a local seafood market until his death last year. Mrs. Vincent worked for 20 years while raising three sons, all of whom are employed locally.

Tribute planners' Brotherhood awards were given to those "who contribute substantially to the character and life of their city." The recipients are Mayor Smith; Bob Thomas, the city's first black commissioner, Shirley Schilke; Altermese Bentley and Mrs. Whitehurst.

Mayor Smith and Thomas were hailed as "caring educators and community leaders." Mrs. Schilke, past president of the Sanford chamber of commerce and president of Harcar Aluminum products, has contributed many scholarships to the children of Sanford. She helped plan the King tribute and "is an executive who is willing to share the abundance God has given her," according to the selection committee.

Mrs. Bentley is a retired school teacher, dedicated church member and "Sanford's number one volunteer." Mrs. Whitehurst is a music teacher and dedicated church member. She volunteered countless hours while directing and arranging songs for the King celebration choir.

Humphries told the audience his own life had been touched by King, when he'd heard and seen him speak and that "if anyone in America has a claim, blacks have earned their right to the blessings of this land." After citing the historic black oppressions of slavery and segregation, Humphries said, "We've worked in this country, been a part of it, and earned a place besides whites."

Failed racial relationships hurt the entire county, not just its black population, he said, and this lack of unity hampers America's overall economic wellbeing.

mattresses. Escovics said mattresses were provided Sunday night.

Spock was arrested with about 127 others Saturday as they climbed a fence at the Air Force station in a massive but peaceful protest against the "suicidal" Trident-2 missile.

Spock wasn't the only prominent demonstrator at Saturday's rally and march. The popular folksinger Odetta sang peace songs to the delight of the chanting protesters, and further encouragement came with brief, but forceful talks by Catholic Bishop Thomas Gumbleton of Detroit, co-author of the Roman Catholic Bishops Pastoral Letter on nuclear weapons; and Dr. Michio Kaku, professor of nuclear physics and author.

The nearly 4,500 anti-nuclear protesters participated with the 83-year-old baby doctor in the "Stop the Countdown" demonstration at the main gate of the Air Force station, sheriff's deputies said, two days after the first successful test firing of a Trident-2 nuclear missile.

Deputies said 128 protesters were arrested by late afternoon for climbing the barbed-wire security fences, along with some who waded around the fences in the Banana River. Spock said he planned to spend the night in jail before returning to his Virgin Islands home.

Just before the onslaught at the military complex, Spock and his companions knelt beside a peace emblem, held hands and sang "Give Peace a Chance."

Hundreds of supporters, chanting "peace now, peace now," then cheered as the octogenarian was assisted over the 10-foot-high fence, which was draped with rugs to protect protesters from barbed wire.

Spock and his wife were among the first demonstrators arrested just west of the main gate around 3:50 p.m. EST.

They were led to an identification building where other protesters were waiting to be processed by sheriff's deputies. Inside, demonstrators were photographed and fingerprinted and a bus stood by to haul them to the new Brevard County Jail. "This was an easy day," said Jim Pierce, a sheriff's deputy. "I remember the 60s. This was the same bunch, only they had browner hair back then. They're what we call freeze-dried hippies from the 60s."

The handful of counter-demonstrators advocating a strong nuclear defense also met the marching protesters at a barricade, yelling "More nukes, less kooks" and other slogans, but the confrontation was peaceful.

The peace activists led by Spock — the pediatrician who wrote the famous "Baby and Child Care" book and later became an anti-war activist — assembled at a public campground early Saturday and at about 2 p.m. marched the 3 1/2 miles to the Air Force station chanting slogans and singing.

The line of protesters extended about a half mile to the barricade where the Rev. Book of the Church of Christ in Maitland presented Spock with a trophy of the rear half of a donkey on behalf of the College Republicans at the University of Florida. Spock threw the trophy over the crowd where it landed on the hood of a car and left a 2-inch dent.

"We think the only difference between a jackass and you anti-nuclear pussyfooting peace mongering hippies is that the jackass has a first name," Book said. He said negotiating with the Russians is "tantamount to French kissing a rattlesnake with AIDS."

Paul Slaughter, 19, a navy man and his wife, Connie, both of South Seminole County, said they were there to "protest the protest." Slaughter said it was naive to think our productivity of weapons is as great as the Russians' and said he favors developing and testing of advanced systems to give the United States a superior edge.

Waiting for the crowd at the main gate to the Air Force station, which is on state land, were Brevard County sheriff's deputies wearing gas mask packs and carrying yard-long night sticks.

"Cape Canaveral means something special to the American people and by holding (the rally) here, it immediately speaks of something very important," Spock said in an interview before the march to the Air Force station.

"I'm not here primarily for the Trident-2, but its successful (test launch Thursday) reminds us the Pentagon and Defense Department are actively developing more and more dangerous weapons," Spock said. "It's insanity, suicidal, to be doing what the administration is doing."

"Stop the Countdown" in Florida began last week in a bid to delay the first test flight of the powerful new submarine-launched Trident-2 ballistic missile. Officials said 58 people were arrested for trespassing before Saturday. The missile was successfully launched Thursday.

The protesters arrived by car, in trucks and buses and on foot and ranged from long-haired men with death-mask makeup and women in Ronald Reagan masks to retirees based in from across Florida, some wearing suits and ties.

"The majority of people — especially people in my age group — don't feel we're getting very far," said Ed Aiton, 76, of Venice, Fla. "I know I certainly feel less secure than I did when I was fighting in World War II."

The "Peace Pilgrimage" began Dec. 28 near the Kings Bay submarine base at St. Marys, Ga., in protest of the Navy's first in a series of at least 20 test launches of the new Trident-2 long-range nuclear missile.

Once operational in 1989, the missiles will be deployed aboard Ohio-class subs at Kings Bay.

Former In-Laws' Legal Ties Are Binding In Eyes Of IRS

DEAR ABBY: In a recent column you indicated that when a child ends a marriage, the legal relationship between the parent and the child's spouse ends. I take issue with this and believe the rule to be that these spouses continue to be daughters-in-law or sons-in-law.

For one thing, the relationship is recognized by the Internal Revenue Service. Suppose, for instance, I am providing over one-half of the support for a daughter-in-law. I can claim her as an exemption because a relationship exists. The regulations provide, I believe, that the relationship once existing is not destroyed for income tax purposes by divorce or by the death of a spouse.

Based on this and the lack of any other legal authority, I suggest that the legal relationship continues. "Wondering," the lady who wrote you about this, will no doubt be relieved to get all of her relatives back!

GEORGE E. MCINTOSH, ATTORNEY, MOUNT VERNON, WASH.

DEAR MR. MCINTOSH: "Wondering" will undoubtedly be about as "relieved" to get all her in-laws back as you (or I) would. I can readily understand that some in-laws do need financial protection under the law, but these days when marriages stand a 50-50 chance of ending in divorce, law or no law, the in-law who is out can properly be referred to as a "former" in-law.

How do you like them apples, Mr. McIntosh? (Forgive me, the juicy tie-in was too appealing.)

DEAR ABBY: I had my entire family over for Christmas dinner again this year. I've had it here for years because I have the largest house. Everyone brings an appetizer or a side dish, and I cook the turkey.

Well, everything went great until it came time to do the dishes and clean up. Abby, no one moved — except to the couches and chairs. I did dishes for 16 people!

Someone said, "Why don't you sit down for a while?" My response, "I'd love to if only someone would give me a hand in the kitchen." Nobody offered, so I went ahead and did it myself. When I finished, I was exhausted.

This is not the first time they have done this to me. Am I being unfair to expect their help? DISEPAN HANDS IN MASS.

DEAR DISH: You are not being unfair to expect their help, but you are being foolish to depend on volunteers. Draft as many hands as you need, saying, "Many hands make light work," or however that corny (but effective) phrase goes, but whatever you do — don't go it alone next year.

DEAR READERS: Today, we pay tribute to a great American, Martin Luther King Jr. His words of wisdom are even more meaningful today than they were 20 years ago, when he said: "One day somebody should remind us that, even though there may be political and ideological differences between us, the Vietnamese are our brothers, the Russians are our brothers, the Chinese are our brothers; and one day we've got to sit down together at the table of brotherhood."

275 Competing In 2-Day Art Festival

The final countdown is on for the 1987 Mount Dora Art Festival, Feb. 7 and 8, and finishing touches are underway according to Gabe Stewart, festival chairman.

"Stewart said, "The third in a series of numbered and signed prints commemorating the Festival are completed and on sale. The artist, Susan Lee Spence of Winter Park, did a beautiful job, and they have been received very well.

"Two Park 'N Shuttle lots will again be available this year with improvements for better handling of the traffic traveling on Highway 441 to the Festival. The comments about the convenience of our Park 'N Shuttle were overwhelming and we're improving it further.

"Entertainment will be featured on the Boards in Donnelly Park Saturday and Sunday, as well as the children's art show. A very special event was introduced last year for the children, and Clown Corner will again be provided by the Ice House Theater Players. Youngsters of all ages can have clown faces professionally applied in the park.

"Friends of the Library will provide a fantastic book sale at the community building for benefit of the Mount Dora Library.

"We've tried to provide additional features for the comfort and entertainment of our patrons; however, the real stars are the artists and craftsmen whose works have been selected for the Festival. Previous records for entries were broken this year and the committee worked doubly hard to make our selections.

The festival features 275 outstanding artists and craftsmen competing in six categories for over $10,000 in prize money. It has become nationally recognized for its quality and literally the whole town is involved in its production, Stewart said.

There's nothing like a good breakfast to make you appreciate how abysmally awful is the stuff you dish up for yourself each morning.

Probers Curious About Channell

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Members of Congress probing the complex Iran arms-Contras aid scandal are likely to follow a related trail to the doorstep of a shadowy conservative political operative: Carl Russell "Spitz" Channell.

From obscurity as a West Virginia motel operator in 1979, Channell, 41, has emerged as a major national fund raiser for conservative causes. He also has founded or has gained control of at least nine conservative organizations.

Among those organizations are two political action committees, a tax-exempt foundation and Western Goals, which has two subsidiaries.

Western Goals was founded by the late Rep. Larry McDonald, R-Ga., and the John Birch Society. McDonald was one of those killed when the Soviet Union shot down Korean Air Lines Flight 007 in 1983.

Federal Election Commission and Internal Revenue Service records indicate Channell raised more than $5 million in 1985 and 1986, and through his foundations and political action committees spent much of it on a propaganda blitz to win public support for aid to the Nicaraguan Contras rebels.

The Lowell (Mass.) Sun reported last month that $5 million in profits from secret U.S. arms sales to Iran was diverted for conservative political purposes, and some of it was funneled to Channell's organizations.

Government records indicate groups run by Channell, who denies he received any diverted Iranian arms money, bought political advertisements against congressional candidates unympathetic to the Contras fighting Nicaragua's government.

Channell's activities angered congressional Democrats early last year, and events of the last two months have triggered new questions. One congressional staffer said no formal investigation into Channell's activities has been launched, "but I think you can assume (members of Congress) will get into it."

In addition, some of Channell's operations now are under investigation by the IRS, the FEC and, according to reports, the FBI. Such inquiries may be the only way to answer questions about Channell's activities; he no longer grants interviews and public records about his organizations are skimpy.

Of interest to investigators are: —Whether Channell used his tax-exempt

National Endowment for the Preservation of Liberty for partisan political work and propagandizing in violation of rules governing non-profit organizations.

—Affiliations between the American Conservative Trust and the Anti-Terrorism American Committee, two political action committees, PACs controlled by a single entity may not raise money as if they were totally separate.

—Channell's acceptance of assistance and, according to at least one published report, money from Marine Lt. Col. Oliver North, the White House aide fired in the Iran-Contras scandal, to bolster the political action work.

North is believed to have masterminded the diversion of arms sales profits to at least one published report, money from Marine Lt. Col. Oliver North, the White House aide fired in the Iran-Contras scandal, to bolster the political action work.

North is believed to have masterminded the diversion of arms sales profits to at least one published report, money from Marine Lt. Col. Oliver North, the White House aide fired in the Iran-Contras scandal, to bolster the political action work.

When Congress was considering appropriating money to aid the Contras last April, Channell and other conservative group leaders conducted campaigns in favor of the plan and against congressmen who opposed the legislation.

One of the groups who joined in the campaigns was the National Conservative Political Action Committee, where Channell earlier served as finance chairman. NCPAC leader John Dolan, Channell's former boss who died in late December, sought the defeat of 33 members of Congress who opposed aid for the Contras.

Channell's endowment also paid the Robert Goodman Agency of Baltimore nearly $200,000 to produce a series of pro-Contras advertising films that contained footage of Soviet military equipment. A spokeswoman for Goodman's agency said the films were from White House files and were supplied directly by North.

Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, complained to IRS Commissioner Roscoe Egger that tax-exempt groups are not allowed to lobby for or against legislation.

Because he knew Channell had close relationships within the White House, Metzenbaum said he became concerned that political pressure was being exerted on the IRS to leave the endowment alone.

"I still believe that's a question that needs an answer," Metzenbaum said in an interview last week.

This Reader's Hunch Just May Be Correct

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT — My husband was in the hospital for three weeks because he couldn't gain weight and had constant diarrhea. The doctors all said his tests were normal. After experimenting on our own, we discovered that he could not tolerate any fat. We cut out all fatty and fried foods, and he takes 9 grams of Viokase daily (calcium gluconate and enzymes). We feel the pancreas is malabsorbing. What do you think?

DEAR READER — I think you're onto something. Pancreatic insufficiency can cause weight loss, diarrhea and fat intolerance. The diagnosis usually is suggested by a stool analysis showing elevated fat levels. Ask your husband's doctor for an opinion. Your doctor may be glad to have the benefit of your insight — and then the proper diagnosis can be established. Good for you!

DEAR DR. GOTT — I've been treated since 1975 for erythema multiforme. My skin eruptions are very severe at times. Is this the same thing as lupus?

DEAR READER — Erythema multiforme is an allergic rash that appears on skin and mucus membranes. It is seen as bumps, pimples and blisters. It can occur with drug reactions, infections and pregnancy, as well as in certain autoimmune diseases, such as lupus, in which the patient appears to be allergic to his or her own normal tissue. Lupus is a specific disease that usually affects many organ systems, including the kidneys, nerves, blood vessels and joints.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My left shin is pink most of the time. My doctor says this is caused by vascular insufficiency, and he advises me to wear an elastic stocking. Is there anything else I can do? I take high-blood-pressure medicine, and eat no fat, salt or sugar.

DEAR READER — In addition to wearing elastic hose, you can elevate your foot when possible, avoid prolonged standing, try warm compresses three times a day, use skin cream regularly to prevent drying and breakdown of tissue, and be especially careful not to injure your skin. Skin injury can produce particularly troublesome consequences because tissues that are deprived of oxygen (as is the case with vascular insufficiency) do not heal at a normal rate.

Dr. Gott's Health Report on DIGESTIVE GAS tells what causes this common problem — and how you can manage it. For your copy, send $1 and your name and address to P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My son is a homosexual and has shared a house with two other gay men for 10 years. Tests have shown that one of them has been exposed to AIDS. My husband and I visit them two or three times a year and share their food, dishes, etc. We love our son and are the only people in the family who have accepted him, but I have to say I am terrified of AIDS. Please tell us what risks we run.

DEAR READER — The AIDS virus appears to be spread by intimate contact, not by casual social interactions. I think that you and your husband are safe, if you take the reasonable hygienic precautions that you would employ as a guest in any house.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

WIN AT BRIDGE

Declarer knew all about the holdup play, so he didn't take the first trick with dummy's ace of hearts. He held off again on the second lead of the suit. When finally he had to win the heart ace, he discarded his losing club. Next came his ace and king of diamonds. Unfortunately that suit did not split 2-2. Declarer then played a third diamond to the queen and was left with the diamond seven, a card higher than any of dummy's small diamonds. After taking that trick, he had no way back to dummy to take the fifth diamond. All he could do was to lead a low spade and hope that the spade king would be with East, who had no more hearts. No such luck. West grabbed the spade king and took two more heart tricks to set the contract.

It was likely that diamonds would be 3-1, a division that would block the run of the diamond suit for declarer. South missed seeing the play that would eliminate the problem. Instead of throwing a club loser away on the third heart lead, which was won with dummy's ace, he should have let go the seven of diamonds. Now he can play A-K and win the third diamond with dummy's queen. The dummy's remaining diamonds are winners, and the ugly seven of diamonds is no longer in the South hand to block the suit.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY

JANUARY 20, 1987

Knowledge and skills which you've acquired over the past few years will be put to profitable uses in the year ahead. There will be a demand for what you have to offer.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Don't debate political or philosophical issues today. You may get too emotionally involved in them, and bitter exchanges could ensue. Major changes are ahead for Aquarius in the coming year. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today. Mail $1 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Joint ventures will work out OK today, provided all parties concerned make an equal contribution. Step away if the lion's share is expected from you.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Others may only cooperate with you up to a certain point today. If they see you're not holding up your end, you might be left to fend for yourself.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Your work could be doubly frustrating today if you delay things until the last minute, then skid around corners trying to catch up.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Peer pressure could be a trifle heavy today. You'll have to decide which is most important: peace of mind or letting others do your thinking for you.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Don't solicit financial advice today from someone close to you who is a poor manager of his or her own resources. Instead, talk to a hard-nosed banker.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Be sure your mind is in gear before you express yourself today so you don't inadvertently offend a friend with ill-chosen comments.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Someone you like who's always in a financial bind might prevail upon you to get him or her out of a hole today. Put a limit on your involvement.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) In partnership situations today your judgment is apt to be better than that of your cohort. Don't let him or her override your decisions.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You'll be happy helping others today, provided the act is voluntary. You could be resentful, however, should you feel your hand is being forced.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Keep your obligations to friends in proper perspective today. Don't reward the undeserving while ignoring pals to whom you're truly indebted.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Success won't elude you today because you're not ambitious enough. If you fall short, it might be due to the fact that you've zeroed in on the wrong objective.
