Banks Of Orlando Enters Race For Seat In Congress

Announcement Is Made Of Candidacy By Representative

ORLANDO, Feb. 6.—"Jimmy" Banks, Jr., representative from Orange county in the Legislature, today formally announced his candidacy for congress from the new Fifth Florida Congressional district, on a new plank platform, pledging his best efforts to:

1. Aid every effort to raise the culture and educational interests in Congress and before potent federal departments.
2. Oppose burdening individual taxpayers with multiple taxation and secure greater coordination of federal and local taxing and law-making bodies.
3. Promote sound relief for financially distressed municipalities.
4. Promote waterways as state assets.
5. Keep essential minimum unemployment relief on a basis of permanent public benefit projects.
6. Advance legitimate progressive interests of working people.

Further economically sound activities for the aged and child welfare. 8. Oppose war and support measures increasing international trade and good will. 9. Be sympathetic to national party leadership, but reserving independence of action especially on subjects important to Florida and the Fifth district.

"That summarizes my stand on problems we now face," Mr. Banks pointed out here. "However," he added, "an anxious attempt to realize that simple, tangible problems and changing conditions will face every Congress, so that not only the complex platform but the record, reputation and character of the candidate also must be known to determine the sort of representative that may be expected in Washington."

Pair Of Alleged Pickpockets Sent To Orlando Jail

pickpockets had been picked at a local theater Tuesday night. They remembered that Brick and Hebb were close to them when they discovered their losses. Thereafter the police decided to take the men into custody on suspicion and questioning, but they arrived in time to capture the pair. They had paid their bill and checked on their luggage packed, the car cranked up and they were ready to go when halted by Ch. Williams and Lieutenant Shaffer.

The chief said that both men first tried to appear as insulted when accosted by the officers, but when Lieutenant Shaffer told them to "come along" and their finger prints taken, Brick confessed that he had been fingerprinted before, in Orlando, Miami and in Washington, D. C. He gave his occupation as that of a "educated card player and giving tips at the race track." He denied ever being arrested before, but said he had "followed the news" all his life.

The Orlando police department informed local police that it has Brick's record up to 1931. He has been arrested before on suspicion of being a confidence man and pickpocket.

J. H. Currington reported to the police that his pocket was picked of $29 and G. L. Beddoe reported he was robbed of $7 at a local theater Tuesday evening. They identified the men as a confederate when they bought their tickets or as they left the theater. The theft of $25 was reported about two weeks ago by a man who attended the theater on a crowded "bank night."

said, the league "would perpetuate the sorry business of the Mellons and the Morgans in reducing 95 percent of the people to the status of serfs."

Although never mentioning Smith by name, Farley spoke of the "wily-headed dinner" staged by the league in Washington two Saturdays ago, at which Smith was the principal speaker. At it, the former New York governor declared President Roosevelt had thrown most of the 1932 Democratic platform "in the wastebasket," and lodged a charge of socialism.

Farley asserted that critics ignored the fact that the Roosevelt Administration had "revived out many of the most important planks of that platform." In addition, he asserted the league would "do much to advance socialism and communism."

"The Liberty League," said Farley, "is the organization of those bourgeois who learn nothing and forget nothing. It would rule America. It would squeeze the worker dry in his old age and cast him like an orange rind into the refuse pile." And it would continue the infamous policy of using the armaments of government to create a plutocracy that would perpetuate the servile business of the Mellons and the Morgans in reducing 95 percent of the people to the status of serfs at the mercy of the ex-

SLAYING OF LOEB BRINGS AIRING OF PRISON CONDITIONS

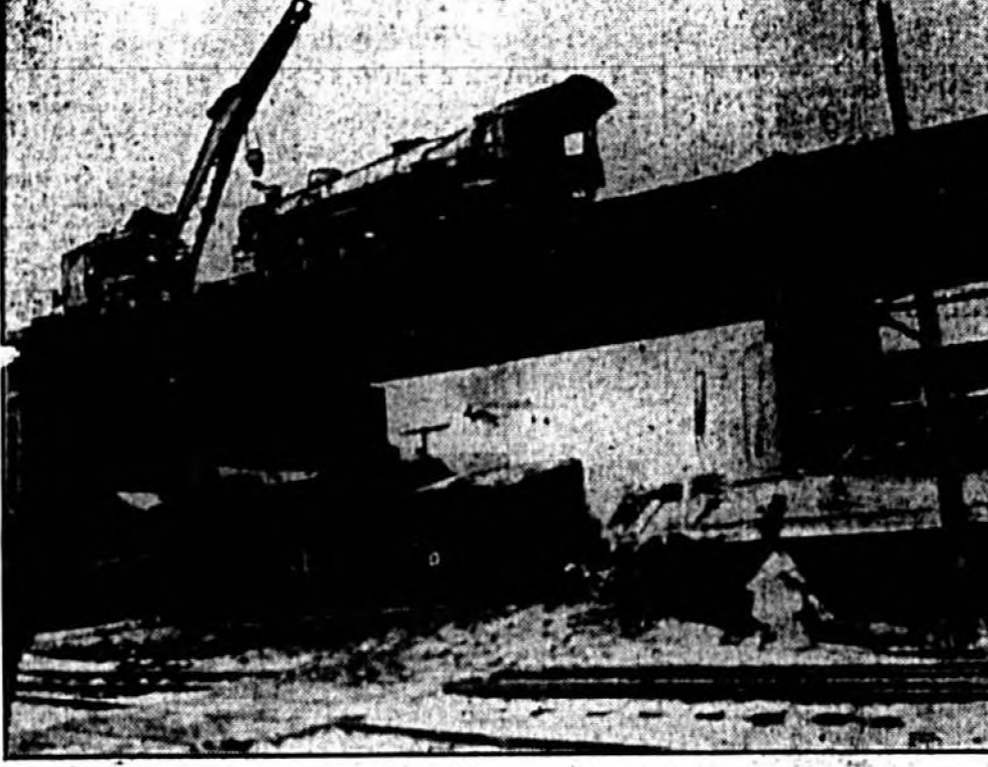

A public airing of the entire Illinois prison system loomed as inquiries were pressed into the death of Richard Loeb, "thrill murderer," at the hands of a fellow prisoner at Stateville prison, Joliet, Ill. Nathan Leopold (left), Loeb's partner in the slaying of Bobby Franks that shocked the nation in 1924, was to be questioned again after his refusal to answer preliminary inquiries. Meanwhile, Warden Joseph Ragen (lower right) announced that he had started an investigation of the private lives of thousands of prisoners to weed out degenerates. W. A. McDonald pleaded guilty before Judge James G. Sharon early this morning to a charge of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated, and was sentenced to pay a fine of $250 or to spend 90 days in jail. Upon his payment of $100 of the fine the Court suspended the balance on good behavior. Charles McGill, arrested on a similar charge, put up a bond of $250 to guarantee his appearance in County Court at the Spring term.

Triple S Grocery Is In New Location On East First Street

Although the actual moving work was completed Monday, it was today that the Trip's S Groceries announced its first sales event in the new store at 117 East First Street.

A. B. Stevens, owner and operator of the Trip's S, through the advertising columns of today's edition of The Sanford Herald, is announcing a two-day removal sale for tomorrow and Saturday. Mr. Stevens urges his friends and patrons to visit his new store, whether they intend to buy or not. Miss Naomi Polvora continues in her capacity of cashier in the new store.

TO DISPLAY RELICS

It was announced today that many interesting relics will be sent down from Jacksonville for the annual Founder's Day Program to be given Saturday afternoon at the Woman's Club. The display will include a picture of the steamer, Barnett, one of the first boats to make the trip down the St. John's River, and an early map of the City of Sanford.

The Growth Of Taxation

As everyone knows it is comparatively easy to levy a tax, hard to repeal it; it is easy to increase it, hard to reduce it. Boards, bureaus and commissions are established readily enough, but it seems to be a hopeless task to get rid of them, long after any need for them has passed. There seems to be a constant struggle for existence going on between the over-burdened tax payer and the insatiable tax-gatherer.

Racing and pari mutuels were legalized in Florida in 1931, the Florida Tax Revision League recalls. Certain taxes were levied on these gambling machines for the benefit of the state, and at the same time a racing commission was established for the purpose of regulating racing and collecting the revenue. The following figures illustrate how operating costs invariably increase out of all proportion to increased revenues:

| Year | Tax Revenue Collected | Operating Cost of Racing Com. | % of rev. used for expenses |
| 1932 | $ 737,300 | $ 50,459 | 6.8% |
| 1933 | 763,111 | 57,511 | 7.5% |
| 1934 | 834,678 | 137,686 | 12.8% |
| 1935 | 1,400,617 | 199,643 | 14.2% |

In 1933 certain beverages were legalized, and taxed to raise revenue, the Tax Revision League further recalls. The Beverage Department was set up to regulate the business and collect the tax. We have a multitude of overlapping law enforcement officers in every county and city, so the primary duty of this department, as in case of the Racing Commission, is to collect the tax. From May 1933 to December 1934 the Beverage Department collected $22,961, and spent in collecting this $114,700, or 12.45 percent.

When automobiles came into use the states immediately levied a license tax. In Florida this tax is collected by the Motor Vehicle Commission. In 1932 this commission issued 854,847 license tags. The operating cost of the department was $277,698, or 78c per tag. In comparison the cost of operating a similar department in Kentucky was 47c per tag; Virginia 35c per tag; Georgia 23c per tag; in Alabama only 20c per tag.

"In Colonial days our forefathers revolted against high taxation," says the Tax Revision League. "The Revolutionary War was the result. The victory of that rebellion placed control of the government in the hands of the people. Revolt against high taxation is again necessary but thanks to our forefathers we do not need guns and bayonets. Taxpayers must revolt in self defense and a victory must again be won, but this time at the ballot box."

The Terrific Accident Toll

Ninety-nine thousand Americans died in accidents last year—one every six minutes, according to the tabulation announced recently by the National Safety Council. The total bill for Americans' carelessness was added up to approximately $3,000,000,000 in property damage, wage loss and medical expense.

Council statisticians told the story in these grim figures: 99,000 killed, 365,000 permanently injured; 9,100,000 temporarily disabled; 271 killed every day, eleven every hour, one every six minutes; 25,000 injured every day, 1,000 every hour, sixteen every minute; 1,000 permanently injured every day, forty-one every hour.

A drop of 3,000 deaths from 1934 is noted, but it is explained that the heat and drought of the latter year claimed 3,250 lives. Motor vehicle crashes brought death to 36,400, an all-time high; permanent injury to 107,000 and temporary hurts to 1,170,000. Monetary loss in this bracket was set at $1,600,000,000.

There were 31,500 fatalities in home accidents, a decrease of 9 percent from 1934. Falls accounted for about 44 percent of them, with burns, scalds, asphyxiation, firearms, poison and cuts other leading causes. There were 4,800,000 injuries. Monetary loss was set at $580,000,000. Occupational deaths totaled 16,500 and injuries 1,400,000. Their cost was reckoned at $620,000,000. This was a slight increase, but industrial activity was at a higher level. A duplication of 2,900 deaths in the automobile and occupational classes was pointed out.

Public accidents other than those previously listed resulted in 17,500 deaths. Drownings, falls and fireworks and firearms were included in this category. The council said the death rate for 100,000 population in the United States had declined from 85.5 in 1912 to 77.8 in 1935, due chiefly to the application of safety measures.

The City of Sanford is now one of the best protected cities in Florida in the way of modern fire fighting equipment. Having the very latest approved LaFrance fire truck, one of the first to be installed in Florida several years ago the city council has very wisely decided to add to the equipment. The new addition is the Hallock Chemical fire truck which is one of the very latest types of light equipment, being on a Ford chassis and designed to take the place of the old style horse and ladder wagon.

The temperance rally meeting Sunday afternoon at the Congregational Church was well attended. The purpose of the meeting was the formation of a definite plan by which the Young People's Christian Union of the various churches of the city can study the scriptures and be prepared to cooperate effectively with the Anti-Saloon League of the state with a view of a dry Florida at a near date. Speakers were made by the Rev. Mr. Brown, the Rev. J. B. Williams, Dr. J. H. Gorman, F. E. Williams, C. E. Walker, and Mrs. W. C. Williams.

Clue To Lost Nation Found In City Ruins
 BULAWAYO, Southern Rhodesia, Feb. 7.—A hidden, undiscovered ruined city, half-way between Bulawayo and the Victoria Falls, is regarded as a new link to the lost nation which inhabited Africa before the Bantu and other African races came to the continent. The newly found city resembles the famous ancient city of Great Zimbabwe, the capital of the Shona people.

The question of who built the ruins has been a subject of much speculation. Some believe they were built by the Shona people, others by the Bantu. The discovery of the ruins is a significant find in the history of the region.

THE FINANCIAL VORTEX.

BY WALTER LIPPMANN

The members of Congress who year will be raised only 20 percent from indirect and invisible taxes. The third step consisted of borrowing to cover the deficit. If we add to the money raised by invisible taxes, the money raised by the bill more arrive at the startling result that out of total expenditures of 7000 million dollars, only 1400 million, or one-fifth, is being raised by taxes that the taxpayer actually knows he is paying.

When one dollar out of every five voted by Congress is actually coming to come out of any one's pocket, who, those who pay the bulk of these direct taxes are not more than a few hundred thousand voters, how in the name of common sense can one expect Congress, composed as it is of ordinary men, to resist the demands of powerful pressure groups? There are not enough persons who pay direct taxes to the federal government to elect three congressmen if they were all gathered in the same place.

What counts politically, it must be realized, is not who really pays the bill but who thinks he is paying the bill. The mass of the people pay 70 percent of the money the government raises. But they do not know it. And as long as they do not know it there will be no check on the mounting expenditures of the Federal Government.

It is in the ease with which money is raised that accounts for the irresponsible way in which it is spent. The hardest way to raise money is to send the voters an income tax bill. Only a negligible minority receive an income tax bill. The next step down the path of easy money is to levy indirect taxes. They are felt a little but not very much. The next easiest way is to borrow. The last stage is the stage Mr. Paman and his friends have reached. It is to print the money. At that stage there is no check whatever on expenditures, since it costs practically nothing to print money. That is why resort to the printing press has almost invariably in human history ended in a catastrophe.

Why is it that it ends in catastrophe? The first step, taken during the Coolidge administration, consisted in striking from the income tax rolls about half the income tax payers. This left as income tax payers so small a percentage of the voters that they were negligible. The income tax payers ceased to be a political force with which Congress felt it needed to reckon.

The second step consisted in levying indirect taxes upon the people and this has now reached the point where the revenues this method? The simple truth of the matter is that the printing press method removes all restraint upon expenditure. The money seems to cost nothing. So it is lavishly spent. But in fact nothing can be spent that has not previously been earned, and inflation by the printing press is nothing but the most thoroughly disguised form of taxation that exists. You cannot give an automobile to a veteran without manufacturing the automobile. You cannot manufacture the automobile without paying the wages of the workers and the cost of the materials and the interest on the capital. If the veteran does not pay for his automobile, someone else must pay for it. The automobile is not created out of air by law of Congress. It has to be made and paid for by somebody before it can be given away.

If the government prints the money that the veteran uses, that printed money is nothing but a tax bill against the national income. It entitles the veteran to draw on the national income for that amount. It is, therefore, misleading, unconsciously misleading. I am willing to admit, for Mr. Paman and his friends to say that they do not wish to levy taxes but that they wish to print the money. When they print money they are levying taxes.

They happen to be levying the worst kind of taxes that every one pays without knowing he is paying them. The financial vortex which Gov-

Major Bowes Gives Florida A Break

By NINA OLIVER DEAN

"Couldn't you do something to stop them from sending me alligators?" said Major Bowes playfully to Leon Shapiro, who handles the radio programs for the Florida Exhibit at Rockefeller Center, as we looked down at a long box postmarked "Tampa," through the hole in which I could see the rough snout of the latest Florida citizen to arrive in New York to do honor to radio's famous "Major," for that is what all Florida is doing these days. From Governor Sholtz on down to "Whistling Willie," the colored janitor at the Exhibit.

Since the Florida show opened in New York, the genial major has given our state an unprecedented break. On January twelfth when Major Bowes sailed from our Exhibit town on the "Florida Orange Blossom Quartet," who entertain daily in the Salon de Ponce de Leon, and has, in fact, opened wide the door of his enchanted house in the air to Florida. In appreciation of his hospitality, his office is being deluged with oranges, cigars, celery, and everything that grows under the Florida sun.

"I heard that you agree with Sir James Barrie that courage is the saving grace. Is that true?" I asked a bit breathlessly, wide-eyed with excitement at finding myself face to face with the major. "Courage is absolutely essential. Fear is destruction," he replied, and looked straight at me with his peculiarly alive yet curiously kind deep blue eyes.

His impeccably tailored brown suit and his tie with a touch of pale yellow made a rich and interesting color pattern, and from his pocket at just the right angle peeped a white handkerchief of exquisite linen with a monogram that could only have been done by the patient fingers of the nuns in some French convent. There is an indefinable something about this amazing man who by his imagination and ability has opened the door of opportunity to so many struggling amateurs and endeared himself to America, a mellow quality that somehow defies analysis.

William Lyon Phelps once said that to open a book of Dickens was like walking into a pleasantly lit house with a bright fire burning in it, and I experienced much the same feeling meeting Major Bowes. Around his office were presents from every state in the union and many foreign countries a huge sack of apples from Suffolk, Va., an enormous shoe with the major's name on the sole from some manufacturing company, pointed sombreros from Mexico, and to cap the climax, in came Major Bowes' secretary to report that an elk shot on a hunting trip in the West had just arrived for the major's dinner! All this gives an inkling of the immense popularity of the man. If you can imagine the paradoxical combination of a well built ruddy-faced sportsman, a perfectly tailored college professor, a highly efficient business executive, a sensitive director, and a kindly humanitarian, you have an impression of Major Bowes.

"I know you are an art collector," I said. "Will you tell me which painting in your collection you like best?" "The portrait of my wife," he replied simply, and I remember that his wife, who died several years ago, had been the beautiful actress, Margaret Livingston and that their was said to have been a perfect romance.

"Would you like to see my pictures?" he asked, and when I nodded eager assent, he called the young blond boy who drives his car and said, "Nelson, will you take this lady and show her the paintings." I was ushered to the living-room of the major's apartment and found it just what it should be—on the walls winered damask; on the floor the softly blended red and rose of rare Oriental rug; on little tables of inlaid wood, great vases of pink gladioli and white anemones in bloom. Just as the colors in the room reflected the warmth of his personality, the things in it spoke of the bewildering variety of his interests, the book case with its Napoleonic, the cabinets with their fine pieces of old silver, the bridge table with its petit point cover. The wide range of his contacts was revealed in autographed pictures of Mark Twain, Queen Marie of Roumania, and the Maharajah of Kaporthala, and letters of appreciation from President Roosevelt, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and the Cardinal.

Among the paintings, I noticed particularly Whistler's "St. Mark's" and "Good Advice," and a striking picture, "Scholar's Wife," by Nicholas Mass from the Imperial Hohenzollern collection. In front of the lovely portrait of Major Bowes' wife, by A. Muller-Ury, was a crystal vase filled with pale pink peonies, and Nelson said, "He always keeps fresh flowers there." Just as I was leaving, there was a great barking and a little Boston Bull terrier came charging in followed by a rosy cheeked, decidedly Nordic maid, Anna, crying, "Down Dookey, down!" He always gets so excited," she apologized, as he jumped up on my dress, and I assured her that I liked dogs anyway and it was an exciting experience to become so closely acquainted with the major's. I came back to the Exhibit Office at Rockefeller Center glowing with the thrill of meeting the man who is fast becoming one of America's most beloved citizens.

Right-Of-Way 200 Feet Wide Along Miles Of Highway

Miami To Hollywood Highway Is First Double-Track Road

TALLAHASSEE, Feb. 7.—(AP)—A right-of-way 200 feet wide now extends along 1,000 miles of Florida's highways, and the first double-track road is open to travel between Miami and Hollywood.

This was the report of the State Road Department as it started into the third year since Chairman C. B. Treadway announced a plan to acquire a right-of-way for roads so that parallel double-lane, one-way highways could be provided to meet the future's requirements as traffic increases.

So far, all the traditional right-of-way has been acquired through gift from property owners, Chairman Treadway said. The same plan is to be followed this year in efforts to obtain still more mileage.

The double-track highway from Miami to Hollywood is the first in the state. Between the two arteries is a center parkway on which there is no traffic. Two lines of travel ways on each of the two parallel roads.

This road is the first step toward what originally was planned as a double-track road along the entire east coast from Jacksonville to Miami. Double-track roads also are envisioned by Chairman Treadway on main arteries crossing the state to connect centers of population.

"Safety in travel is our first goal in this plan," Treadway said, "and the second goal is decreased cost of the maintenance by broadening roads and improving drainage so that washouts and water damage to protecting shoulders will be reduced."

Beautification of the highways is another step, Treadway said, and this is closely linked with one hope for decreased maintenance costs. Grass is planted on shoulders and sloping banks to prevent soil erosion.

About 75 miles of highway, mostly around Tallahassee, has been landscaped and beautified.

ing action of Los Angeles police who are threatening to throw back into Nevada indigent residents of other states.

Reports to Chief Davis from his encamped "legions," posted on sand hummocks and mountain tops along the 700-mile "front," indicated such vagrants as wandered near the state line "diplomatically" were being reversed.

Along the Arizona border, "ho-bo highway" into California in winter months, more than 250 were reported turned around and headed eastward, under threat of arrest if they entered California.

Thirty men bounced off a freight train at Cadiz, Calif., into the arms of Los Angeles policemen, and were given marching orders to "get out of California and stay out."

Hitch-hikers were told to "get your thumbs moving in the other direction." Fifteen hoboes were pulled off a train at Kelso, Calif.

Chief Davis received reports of dwindling numbers of incoming vagrants with satisfaction.

"Our drive is beginning to be felt in earnest," he said. "When word gets out along the line that indigents bound for here face vagrancy charges, they will turn around and go some other place.

The campaign, sponsored by the Los Angeles chamber of commerce and given legal approval only by privately retained lawyers, faced sharp tussles at home.

Federal Judge Yankwich warned city officials its "expeditionary force" is unconstitutional.

Citrus Growers Favor Marketing Pact In Florida

LAKELAND, Feb. 7.—(AP)—Leading citrus shippers and growers of Florida agreed yesterday on a tentative marketing agreement for their industry and asked Secretary of Agriculture Wallace to call a public hearing on its provisions. A long list of signatures was affixed to the request asking that he call the hearing "at the earliest possible moment."

Accepting the new pact virtually without argument, the citrus men—more than 100 of them—gave unanimous approval when Governor Sholtz asked for a standing vote on the work which had been done "in getting you fellows together."

The 20-page agreement, based on previous pacts approved by the federal Department of Agriculture has these important changes:

1. The "action pre-empt" provision are eliminated, giving the control committee authority to regulate only the total flow of fruit out of the state.
2. The control committee is to be composed of members of the Florida citrus commission, whom the governor appoints and has authority to remove.
3. Expenses of inspection are to be borne by the citrus commission, which was instructed by the 1925 Legislature to perform that function.

Drainage District Land To Be Taxed

TALLAHASSEE, Feb. 7.—(AP)—The Supreme Court ruled Thursday that lands of the Fort Meyers drainage district in Lee county could not be returned from tax liability in return for claim held against the district.

It announced its ruling in a case filed by George Palmer Garrett, Orlando attorney, as administrator of the estate of P. A. Van Agnew, Sr., against Circuit Judge George W. Whitehurst of Fort Myers.

Florida Citrus Is Being Advertised In New York Show

Brilliant Display At Exhibit Attracts Favorable Comment

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—The citrus industry of Florida is being publicized in this section of the country this year as never before, and the work should be greatly increased in the state's principal crop and a wider market. The brilliant display maintained in the Citrus Pavilion of the Florida State Exhibit at Rockefeller Center has attracted the attention of hundreds of thousands of visitors since the exhibit was thrown open to the public last December. The beautiful display made by the Florida Citrus Exchange, as an adjunct to the main exhibit, also attracts much attention, as does the display of citrus by producers found in the Hall of Industry.

Housewives of the New York area attend the weekly courses in cooking which are devoted to the preparation of dishes involving the use of oranges, grapefruit, tangerines and other citrus fruits, under the direction of some of the most noted chefs of the city. Those cooking courses are being conducted under the dual auspices of the Florida Citrus Exchange and the New York Evening Post, one of the leading newspapers of Greater New York. The citrus display is being maintained in the city of New York, and is being featured by the big municipal radio station, WNYC, which covers the metropolitan district—Greater New York, all of Long Island, the greater parts of Connecticut and New Jersey and all of Southern New York state as far north as Albany.

Under the auspices of the New York Marketing Commission, a series of radio broadcasts featuring citrus fruits, is being featured by the big municipal radio station, WNYC, which covers the metropolitan district—Greater New York, all of Long Island, the greater parts of Connecticut and New Jersey and all of Southern New York state as far north as Albany.

GEORGIANS PLEDGE STATE TO ROOSEVELT

Further promise was given of a spirited fight in Georgia between Gov. Eugene Talmadge and New Deal forces when a state delegation visited the White House and told the President: "There will be a Roosevelt delegation from Georgia to the Democratic convention whether a primary is permitted or not." The spokesmen are shown as they left the White House. Left to right: Senator Russell, Marlon Allen, New Deal campaign manager in Georgia; Senator George, and Archibald Lovett, chairman of Georgia's Roosevelt committee. (Associated Press Photo)

Two Women Killed At Bradenton Crossing

BRADENTON, Feb. 7.—(AP)—Two women identified by Sheriff Davidson from personal effects as Mrs. May Charner and Mrs. Samuel Mucart of Gary, Ind., were killed yesterday afternoon when an Atlantic Coast Line Railroad freight train struck their automobile.

Sheriff Davidson said the car was picked up by the locomotive and carried about a quarter of a mile. Death for both was almost instantaneous. The sheriff said the women either did not see the approaching train or became excited and stalled the automobile in its path.
