Legal Defense Fund Set Up For Former Mayor

By Rick Brunson
Herald Staff Writer

Lake Mary City Commissioner Colin Keogh set up a legal defense fund today for former mayor Walter Sorenson, who faces charges that he violated state statutes by making illegal long distance calls on city phones, using a city car for personal business and drawing $2,400 in advance expense money contrary to a city ordinance.

Keogh said about $500 has been pledged by city firefighters, city hall staff members and members of the planning and zone board. The account is at Sun Bank in Lake Mary.

Sorenson, who faces the charges at a state ethics commission hearing Feb. 6 at the Seminole County Courthouse, is in financial trouble and cannot afford an attorney, Keogh said.

The results of the hearing will be forwarded to full commission which will decide on the case by March, according to Commission Executive Director Lawrence Gonzalez. If the charges are upheld, Sorenson may have to pay a $5,000 fine and would be censured and reprimanded.

"To walk into that without proper legal representation to defend yourself, there's no way you're going to get a fair chance," Keogh said. "That's why we're helping Walt."

The charges were originally made against Sorenson in 1983 by former city commissioner Ray Fox. After the Lake Mary City Commission conducted an investigation, Sorenson was censured and the matter was dropped.

But Fox filed a complaint with the State Commission on Ethics which will hold the hearing next month.

Fox said Keogh is entitled to set up the fund but added the commissioner is only trying to "grab headlines."

"He (Keogh) is coming up with things to cloud this issue. If Sorenson never did these things I wouldn't have anything to file with the commission," Fox said.

Sorenson, who could not be reached for comment today, has said he made the calls between city hall and his real estate office

Man, Teen Charged In Slaying

Two Sanford residents have been charged with murder in connection with the slaying of a man at a fish camp in southeast Volusia County.

Dead is Jeffery Neal Eckels, 26, of Rod's Fish Camp, east of Sanford. He bled to death after being cut on the neck with a broken bottle during an argument at the camp located on State Road 46, two miles east of state Road 415, according to a Volusia County investigator. Eckels, who lived on a boat at the fish camp, was dead on arrival at Central Florida Regional Hospital. The incident occurred at about 2 a.m., Wednesday.

Arrested by Sanford police at 4:19 a.m., Wednesday, were Mark Lee Hampton, 27, and a 16-year-old male juvenile, reported to be Hampton's brother, of 1904 Summerlin Ave.

The Sanford police picked up the pair after hearing a bulletin seeking their apprehension issued by the Volusia County Sheriff's Department. The arrests were made after Sanford officers stopped a car driven by Hampton in Sanford.

Hampton and the juvenile have been charged with second-degree murder by Volusia County officials. Hampton is being held without bond in the Volusia County Jail in DeLand. The youth was turned over to juvenile authorities.

According to investigators, Eckels was killed after an argument about arm wrestling.

Howard West of 314 Borada Road, Sanford, ponders what to do with his holiday garbage.

Scavengers at Fault?

Trash Pileup Irks Residents

One angry Sanford homeowner threatened to deposit his New Year's holiday trash and garbage at the Sanford City Hall today and complaints of tardy trash pick up were received from other city residents, but City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles insisted refuse is being picked up by city crews on the holiday schedule advertised and printed on residents' utility bills.

Under the schedule, the refuse collection crews began usual Monday pickups on Wednesday and are continuing to cover the city and by Friday all holiday trash and garbage should be picked up, Knowles said.

Meanwhile, Howard West of 314 Borada Road in the Hidden

Lake area said he would dump his refuse at city hall, but city maintenance employees said none was there when they came in to work today.

West said garbage collection service was curtailed over the holidays to one pickup per week and this was not sufficient, reminding that the city refuse collection bills to residents were increased by 15 percent last month.

City refuse charges to residents were increased on Dec. 1 when the county boosted charges to the city and other customers for garbage and trash disposal at county landfills.

Chacey Ouster Fizzles

Smerilson Named Longwood Mayor

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

As expected, the Longwood City Commission Wednesday night named Harvey Smerilson mayor and Larry Goldberg, sworn in as commissioner only minutes before, deputy mayor.

However, the ousting of City Administrator David Chacey submitted his resignation effective March 1, with Feb. 7 as his last working day. Smerilson had said he would immediately get rid of Chacey.

When asked after the meeting why he took no action against Chacey, Smerilson replied, "It would have been highly illegal to do so as it was not on the agenda for the special meeting. We're going forward now and so why cause trouble? The resignation will be taken up at the regular Jan. 14 meeting. By then it will be close to his last day at work, Feb. 7, and I think we can manage that long."

Smerilson, 42, said last week, with the backing of Goldberg and Faulkner, that he would seek the immediate dismissal of Chacey bringing the matter up as an emergency even though it wasn't on the agenda. Chacey followed through with his promise to resign if Goldberg was elected.

The city has already begun advertising for Chacey's replacement even though his resignation has not been officially accepted.

Smerilson's nomination by Goldberg was seconded by the other newcomer to the commission Perry Faulkner. Commissioner Ed Myers nominated Goldberg as mayor, but not only was there no second, but Goldberg asked that his name be withdrawn. The vote to make Smerilson mayor was unanimous.

New Longwood Mayor Harvey Smerilson, right, accepts congratulations from his constituents after being chosen by colleagues at a special meeting Wednesday night.

Smerilson is beginning the second year of his first two-year term.

The oath was administered by City Clerk Don Terry to the two new commissioners elected in December. Faulkner, 40, defeated mayor and 10-year veteran commissioner J.R. Grant for the District 3 seat in the Dec. 4 election. Goldberg, 45, knocked out the incumbent Bill Mitchell on Dec. 4, but went into a Dec. 18 runoff election against David R. Gunter Sr. before finally nailing down the District 5 seat.

Goldberg served on the commission from 1975-1979.

Myers also nominated Goldberg as deputy mayor and Faulkner seconded his motion. The vote was again unanimous.

On adopting the rules and procedures for the city commission, the commissioners changed the practice of rotating the invocation among the commissioners to having the city attorney give the prayer at the beginning of each meeting. Myers suggested "It is better to let the attorney do it as somebody may offend someone else. If the attorney does it won't offend anyone as nobody wants to tangle with an attorney."

Attired in jeans and a plaid shirt, city attorney Frank Kruppenbacher presided over the meeting until a mayor was elected from the five commissioners. He apologized for his casual dress, saying that his wife Patsy had given birth to their first child on New Year's Day and in all the excitement he had lost his keys and couldn't get into the house to change clothes. Amy Noel was born at Florida Hospital Orlando weighing 9 lb., 3 oz.

A resolution was also passed authorizing the mayor, deputy mayor and city clerk to sign city checks, which require two signatures.

CNA Fire Injures Two; Clogs Traffic

ORLANDO (UPI) — An electrical explosion and fire just before dawn today badly burned two men who were working on a transformer near a restaurant on the top floor of the 19-story CNA building in the downtown area.

Taken to Orlando Regional Medical Center with burns were Jerry Troutman, an employee of the Orlando Utilities Commission, and Ernest Dinneen, an Orlando construction worker. They were working on an electrical transformer when it exploded, fire officials said.

Troutman was listed in critical condition with second- and third-degree burns over 80 percent of his body. Dinneen was listed as serious with second- and third-degree burns over 30 percent of his body.

It took firemen less than a half hour to put out the resulting fire. It was contained on the 19th floor.

Several streets in the area were blocked off for nearly two hours because of the firefighting efforts, causing massive rush-hour traffic jams.

Power was turned off in the office building, the tallest in Orlando, and officials said it would remain closed until Friday.

'I'm Guilty,' Prosecutor Says

A Seminole County assistant state attorney has announced he will plead guilty to charges of driving under the influence and leaving the scene of an accident.

Joe Flood, 27, of 1806-B Landings Drive, Sanford, said today he is entering the plea after completing DUI Counterattack School, an educational program about alcohol for first-time DUI offenders.

Flood was arrested by Sanford police about a half hour after a minor car accident in the parking lot of a Sanford bar Dec. 23. He was charged with DUI and leaving the scene of the accident.

Flood said there are two reasons why he is going to plead within a month to the charges.

"I'm guilty and it is important to me that the public doesn't believe I'm getting any special treatment if I might them," he said.

According to the arrest report, Flood, who formerly prosecuted DUI cases, refused to take a roadside sobriety and breathalyzer tests after being stopped.

Lawmen Preparing Documentation Road Is Unsafe

Widening In Future For 17-92?

With hopes of attracting federal funds for improvements, Florida Department of Transportation (DOT) officials have asked Seminole County lawmen for documentation showing a two-lane section of U.S. Highway 17-92 along Lake Monroe in Sanford to Interstate 4 is unsafe.

But DOT traffic operations assistant director George Gilhooley said that doesn't mean changes will be made.

"We're waiting for a report from the Seminole County engineering department to see if there is a problem. That's the first step. It's too early to say what if anything will be done," he said.

DOT has no costs projections or time frame for improvements, if they are approved, Gilhooley said.

Sheriff's spokesman John Spolski said a November accident in which a speeding vehicle flew from the roadway and landed in Lake Monroe, killing a 33-year-old Osteen man, spurred interest in widening U.S. Highway 17-92 to give drivers a third lane between just south of the Lake Monroe Inn to I-4. That lane, he said, could be used as a turn lane, or would give drivers an escape route to avoid head-on collisions or a dunk in the lake.

Head-on collisions are common on that strip of road where most sections are designated "no passing" zones, Spolski said. The speed limit varies from 35 mph to 55 mph and Spolski said impatient drivers frequently pass slower vehicles and run into trouble when facing oncoming traffic and neither vehicle has an optional route to take.

Seminole Eyes Site For Main Library

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

County commissioners are expected to make a decision at a 2 p.m. work session Tuesday on whether to purchase a 3.5 acre tract in Casselberry for $300,000 for the site of the county's main library.

Casselberry Mayor Charles Glascock today called the site on the Oxford Road extension, north of state Road 436, "ideal," considering that a shopping center and apartment complex are planned for construction adjacent to the tract.

He also noted that the Oxford Road extension has good access from 436 because of a traffic control signal at the intersection.

John Percy, county director of public services, said Wednesday the county's library advisory committee is recommending the purchase.

Owner of the parcel is a group of developers headed by Norman Rosaman, Percy said.

The Oxford Road library, if approved, would become the county's main library and would replace the leased facility at the Seminole Plaza shopping center.

Percy said the tract actually contains five acres, but only 3.5 acres are useable. The balance is low-lying land. County-hired appraisers say the parcel is worth $320,000 to $340,000.

The site is directly behind Seminole Plaza.

"It seems like a good site," Percy said.

Glascock said he will attend the workshop to endorse the site.

"I've been pushing for a permanent library in Casselberry since the county began talking about moving the library out of Seminole Plaza," Glascock said. "I'll do everything I can to help."

Meanwhile, county commissioners and Marna Hunt, the owner of a parcel immediately behind the Sanford library, have agreed to a $130,000 purchase price for a new downtown library site, Percy said.

The present library building, when the new facility is built, would be used for library administrative offices.

A third library site, under consideration, Percy said, has been offered to the county by the developers of Greenwood Lakes in Lake Mary.

He said this 2.5 acre tract, offered as a gift, is located between the Lake Mary High School and the proposed new Middle School X.

NATION IN BRIEF

Dole Moves Quickly To Reduce Deficit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Republican leader-elect Robert Dole, waiting not even a day to begin congressional efforts to reduce the deficit, invited budget director David Stockman to Capitol Hill today to discuss ways to freeze federal spending.

Stockman's visit comes on the first day of the 99th session of Congress, which faces tough decisions on how to keep the annual deficit from swelling to $200 billion and over.

A group of former chiefs of the Council of Economic Advisors predicted Wednesday that interest rates could quickly drop by 2 percent or more if Congress takes the first serious steps toward reducing the deficit by half — about $100 billion — by 1988.

The deficit is blamed for keeping interest rates high. Stockman has suggested budget cuts that would cut the shortfall in half by 1988.

But President Reagan, who sends his budget to Congress in about a month, has not agreed to Stockman's plan and his current budget projections for fiscal 1986 show him about $40 billion short of the goal.

Who'll Succeed Clark?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — At least one department official has been suggested as a possible replacement for retiring Interior Secretary William Clark and two members of Congress virtually took themselves out of the running for the job.

The White House revealed Clark's surprise decision to leave the administration in "two to three months" late Tuesday and President Reagan said Wednesday his longtime associate wants to go back to California.

One new name suggested as a possible successor to Clark was that of Assistant Interior Secretary Robert Broadbent, who disclaimed any knowledge of being under consideration.

One of those mentioned for the job earlier, Sen. Paul Laxalt, R-Nev., was all but counted out after an aide said he had turned down similar "opportunities" in the past and, "There is really no reason to believe he would change his mind."

Another possible candidate, Rep. Manuel Lujan Jr., R-N.M., the ranking GOP member of the House Interior Committee, said he was "really not interested" in the Cabinet post.

Implant Search Unsuccessful

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Doctors have so far come up empty in their search for the world's next artificial heart recipient, while Bill Schroeder exercised more than most Americans in his stroke recovery program.

Linda Broadus at Humana Hospital Audubon said no list had been kept of the people and doctors calling Audubon with candidates to be the third mechanical heart recipient but added all individuals are moving through a screening process.

Doctors had indicated tests and interviews of implant candidates would begin immediately after the new year.

"But there is nobody in the hospital that is considered a viable candidate that is being tested further," she said.

Broadus said Schroeder's chief surgeon, Dr. William DeVries, will not perform another implant unless Schroeder remains in stable condition and a patient is found who meets the rigid guidelines set by the New York Medical Association.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Jackson, Pope To Discuss 'Great Issues Of The Day'

ROME (UPI) — The Rev. Jesse Jackson arranged to meet with Pope John Paul II today to discuss "the great issues of the day" such as apartheid in South Africa, peace in Central America, hunger and nuclear disarmament.

The former Democratic presidential candidate, who arrived in Rome Wednesday, was also seeking contacts with Moslem guerrillas to win the release of four Americans kidnapped in Beirut.

Jackson, who secured the release of U.S. airman Robert Goodman from Syria last year, declined to disclose who he was meeting about the kidnapped Americans but said he is "available to try and help gain their release."

The pope agreed to receive Jackson in the second audience he has granted the Baptist minister.

"I am here to talk to the pope about the issues gripping the world that we both have in common," Jackson, 43, told UPI Wednesday. "And I expect to gain from his wisdom."

Top Officials Linked To Murder

TORUN, Poland (UPI) — Two of four secret police agents standing trial for the murder of the Rev. Jerzy Popieluszko have linked high-ranking officials to the plot that resulted in the pro-Solidarity priest's death.

Their trial, which began Dec. 27, was to resume today in the northern city of Torun with testimony from Lt. Waldemar Chmielewski.

During Wednesday's session, Chmielewski, 29, became the second defendant to testify that the secret operation resulting in Popieluszko's death last October was approved by high-ranking police officials.

Lt. Leazek Pekala, 32, who last week testified the operation was planned by high-ranking officials, Wednesday said he heard his boss, Capt. Grzegorz Piotrowski, 29, talking to Col. Adam Pietruszka on the telephone about it.

Pekala, Chmielewski and Piotrowski, charged with Popieluszko's murder, have confessed to kidnapping him Oct. 19 and beating and strangling him. His body was found Oct. 30 in a river reservoir outside Torun.

Reagan, Nakasone Talks End With No Dramatic Concessions

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Moved by friendship and implicit threats of economic warfare, President Reagan and Japanese Prime Minister Yasuhiro Nakasone have agreed to "an intensified cooperative" effort to correct a huge trade imbalance.

The two leaders — "Ron" and "Yasu" to one another — capped a West Coast summit Wednesday by pledging redoubled efforts to eliminate friction created by a U.S. trade imbalance estimated at $35 billion for 1984 and even larger for 1985.

"We agreed to work strenuously in the months ahead to open our markets fully and to resist protectionist pressures in both countries," Reagan said. "I believe that we both agree that there is an urgent need to work together to resolve the problems in our trade relationship."

The talks lasted less than three hours and sent Nakasone home — with a two-day stop in Hawaii — hopeful that his insecure political base in Tokyo has been strengthened by his demonstrated ability to deal with Reagan.

Reagan flew back to Washington, ending his six-day California holiday vacation, with promises from Nakasone that may help fend off pressure to fight Japanese trade barriers with a dose of American protectionism.

Reagan also got a welcomed pledge of allied support for his arms policies in advance of renewed talks with the Soviet Union next week in Geneva, Switzerland.

While the talks failed to end in dramatic announcements of concessions by either side, the two leaders capitalized on their personal rapport to paint a brighter outlook than suggested by the limited progress achieved after four previous meetings in the last two years.

U.S. and Japanese officials said Nakasone pre-empted Reagan on the trade issue by plunging into a review of recent market opening steps, especially with the impending break-up of the government-owned telecommunications system, and promising his personal involvement in future negotiations.

Of primary interest to the United States are telecommunications, electronics, processed forest products and medical supplies, including pharmaceuticals. The official said Reagan underscored the importance of each in talks characterized as more detailed than those normally held between two heads of government.

Prosecutor: Vigilante Was Never Threatened

CONCORD, N.H. (UPI) — Bernhard Goetz has no remorse for shooting four teenagers on a subway and is anxious to stand trial in New York for protecting himself, his lawyer says.

But a New Hampshire prosecutor said there is no evidence that Goetz was ever in fear of his life when the four youths allegedly harassed him for $5 and said there were "indications of pre-meditation" in the shootings.

"Mr. Goetz has very great faith in the American legal system and feels the legal system will take care of him," said lawyer Normand Jacques, who represented Goetz Wednesday when he agreed to return to New York.

Jacques said Goetz told him he "had been accosted in the subway, but he didn't feel he did anything wrong. He feels he'll be vindicated by the court system."

But a New Hampshire assistant attorney general said Goetz indicated to Concord police he had not felt threatened by the youths in the Dec. 22 incident. There were "indications of pre-meditation" in the shootings, said Andrew Isaac.

Isaac would not be specific, but there were reports Goetz was wearing a bullet-proof vest when the shooting occurred.

"I didn't see anything to indicate Goetz was in fear for his life at the time," Isaac told the court of Goetz's statement to Concord police. "I believe he indicated... that at no time did he feel threatened by deadly force."

Isaac later told reporters that there was no statement "from Mr. Goetz saying, 'I did it deliberately.'" "But as a prosecutor there are elements that I would use to argue premeditation," he said. "In my opinion... there is nothing in the statement (to Concord police) to mitigate his guilt."

New York police said the four teenage victims — three of them carrying sharpened screwdrivers in their pockets — were shot and seriously wounded on a subway after approaching a man and asking him for $5 Dec. 22.

The man reportedly said, "I have $5 for each of you," drew a gun and fired. Three of the victims were shot in the back and one in the chest, police said.

Two of the victims remain hospitalized, one paralyzed from the waist down, doctors say.

A New York police spokesman said Goetz told a subway conductor after the shootings that the four teenagers were "trying to rip him off."

Goetz, 37, a self-employed engineer from New York City who surrendered to Concord police Monday, waived extradition Wednesday and told a state District Court judge he wants to "get this over as soon as possible."

The tall, clean-shaven suspect spent the night in a county jail outside of Concord on $500,000 bail and is to be picked up New York detectives today.

Police received thousands of calls from New Yorkers who hailed the gunman as a hero. He was dubbed the "Death Wish" vigilante after police likened Goetz to the character in the Charles Bronson movie.

Rescuers Set Out To Recover Plane Crash Victims

LA PAZ, Bolivia (UPI) — Mountaineers set out today on a 3 1/2-mile climb up a snow-capped Andean peak to recover bodies of 29 people from the wreckage of an Eastern Airlines plane that slammed into the mountainside.

Bolivian officials said the Red Cross has organized a rescue team of mountain climbers to reach the wreckage — at an altitude of 19,600 feet — but it would take them 2 1/2 days to reach the site, described as nearly inaccessible.

The wreckage was discovered Wednesday — 21 hours after the Boeing 727 jetliner disappeared Tuesday night during its approach to La Paz's El Alto airport, the highest commercial airport in the world. There were no signs of survivors.

Eight Americans, including the wife of the U.S. ambassador to Paraguay, were among the 29 people aboard the plane — Eastern Flight 980 from Asuncion, Paraguay to Miami with an intermediate stop in La Paz.

It crashed into 21,120-foot Illimani Mountain — one of the highest peaks in the Andes — about 50 miles southeast of the La Paz airport.

Bolivian Aeronautics Minister Gen. Antonio Arnez said the jet had descended from 25,000 to 18,000 feet and was heading for the airport shortly before it disappeared. He said lightning may have prompted the pilot to veer northeastward — toward the Andes.

The plane carried 10 crew and 19 passengers, including Marianne Davis, the wife of the U.S. Ambassador to Paraguay Arthur Davis Jr., and seven other Americans.

The Red Cross said helicopters would take the climbers as far as up the mountain as they could. Rescuers said the crash may have triggered a minor avalanche that would make the search for bodies more difficult.

The wreckage was discovered at 4:30 p.m. EST Wednesday during an air search by Eastern and government officials.

Man Who Couldn't Afford Cigarettes Robs Station

A bandit who couldn't afford a pack of cigarettes robbed a Sanford service station at knifepoint and drove his car into a post as he made his getaway, deputies reported.

Larmour A. Phillips, assistant manager of the Imperial station on state Road 46 at Interstate 4, told deputies the man entered the station at about 10:40 p.m. Wednesday.

The robber apparently didn't have enough cash to pay for cigarettes he ordered. He went outside to his maroon, 1982 or '84 Audi or BMW and returned with a knife, a sheriff's report said. He held the knife to Phillips' throat and demanded all the cash from the register, the report said.

Phillips handed over about $60 and the bandit fled west on state Road 46 after driving his car into a cement pole in the parking lot, deputies reported.

the case at 5 p.m. Tuesday at the Sanford police station.

BURGLARIES & THEFTS

Mickey Mouse, Huey and Dewey Duck, Pluto, Goofey, Charlie Brown, Snoopy, Lucy, a couple of Smurfs, Santa Clause and an Orange ghost disappeared from a Christmas display in the yard of Ken Joseph, 38, of 2113 Winnabago Trail, Caseberry.

The characters, which range in height from two to four feet and have a total value of $1,200, were stolen Monday or Tuesday. Deputies report finding one of the figures broken and stashed in a boat at 2114 Winnabago Trail.

Patricia Ann Murtagh, 22, of 2575 state Road 438 #109, Winter Park, reported to deputies a thief who entered her home through a window took $600 and an $80 check between Dec. 27 and Tuesday.

Weinberger's No-Secret Secret

To hear Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger tell it, you'd think that the Washington Post's decision to publish details about January's space shuttle cargo had imperiled the security of the nation. This is "the height of journalistic irresponsibility," Weinberger declared, which "can only give aid and comfort to the enemy."

That's a grave charge but the facts do not support it. What's going on here has more to do with Pentagon politicking and media-bashing than with keeping vital secrets.

There's no doubt that the Pentagon has a legitimate — and powerful — interest in not disclosing matters that it regards as critical to the nation's defense. But the broad description of the forthcoming shuttle mission as published in the Post, including its orbit and general purpose but not including sensitive detailed information, poses no threat to national security. Once the Air Force announced earlier this year that it would be sending a payload beyond the space shuttle's low orbit, it was easy enough for the scientifically informed to puzzle out the nature of that payload.

Only three categories of military satellites operate at such high orbits, and only one, electronic intelligence satellites, have ever generated such high-level security concern. Those facts — and considerably more — have already been published in the technical literature. And as Sen. Daniel P. Moynihan, the former vice chairman of the Senate Intelligence Committee, pointed out, Pentagon spokesmen have said at least as much in open testimony.

All that makes the cause of Secretary Weinberger's pique the topic of considerable speculation. There's informed conjecture that the Air Force may have promoted this fight, in order to secure the funding it needs to launch this new generation of spy satellites on its own — independent, that is, of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's space shuttle program.

Some Washington insiders have also surmised that Weinberger may have seized the occasion to take on the press, in hopes of winning new popularity for himself and his budget. Evidence for this hunch comes from the comment of Fred Ikle, undersecretary of defense for policy and the most vigorous promoter of new secrecy measures within the department. Weinberger's real concern, Ikle said, is "procedures," — meaning the Washington Post's defiance of a general administration admonition not to publish — and not the substance of the disclosures.

All of this is of more than passing concern. For if the the satellite is part of the administration's Star Wars planning, as some people suspect it is, then its launching is a matter of the highest public interest. But even if old-fashioned space spying is all the Air Force means to accomplish, there's no reason to keep that fact out of the press. Such information is hardly likely to surprise the Soviets, who have been known to read technical journals, follow congressional hearings — even keep a watchful eye on the doings at Cape Canaveral. Had this information remained unpublished, the only group that would have been left uninformed would have been the American people.

If Shakespeare Had Only Known

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A major textbook publisher is reported to have edited out some of William Shakespeare's best-known, if raunchiest, lines from copies of plays sold to Virginia high schools.

Maybe the editors felt obliged to protect young minds from pollution by Elizabethan smut. But I am wondering how censorship might effect the continuing controversy over the banning of certain sugar substitutes.

As I was browsing through a recent issue of the magazine "Dynamic Years," my attention was arrested by a literary truism: "Shakespeare did not have to contend with" such terms as "sugar-free and low calorie."

"How true!" you must concede of that observation. Shakespeare did indeed live before the days of sugar substitutes. Although his works are heavily laced with references to the real thing, of aspartame and saccharin he says nothing.

Would the play about King Richard II have achieved the same degree of literary eminence had Shakespeare written: "Your fair discourse hath been as artificial sweeteners...?"

Or would the Immortal Bard have achieved immortality had he, putting words in Hamlet's mouth, have obliged the Melancholy Dane to mutter, "We do low calorie o'er the devil himself?"

I think not. My gut feeling is that the Avon dramatist would have invented more deathless prose than that devised by admen for the makers of sugar-free products.

After all, it was Shakespeare who wrote that "yon thin grey lines that fret the sky are messengers of the day." A copywriter for a modern advertising agency might simply note that "dawn is breaking."

That Shakespeare was hung up on sugary phrases is apparent to even a casual admirer of his works. "Sweet are the uses of adversity," he wrote at one point. And at another, "Sweets to the sweet."

But what words might he have employed if science and textbook publishers had known then (circa 1600) what they know now (circa 1985)?

Would he have sipped "lite" beer, covered his toast with a "dietetic" spread or munched "low sodium" peanuts?

Not for a minute, or however long it takes to stir a cup of kindness sweetened with products from which the sucrose has been removed.

Shakespeare, perforce, would have come up with his own warnings and admonitions.

"Yon think grey canapes that fret the hors d'oeuvre table are messengers of obesity," he might have written.

Certainly nothing as unpoetic, and unpolitic, as "too many cocktail party tidbits will make you fat."

Union Carbide Trapped

Is it culpable to allow the natives to run a plant in a Third World country?

Is it negligence even if the law in that country requires it?

Should American companies invest in Third World commercial operations, providing jobs, when they do not have effective control of the plant?

These questions arise in the wake of the insecticide plant disaster in Bhopal, India, the legal consequences of which may wreck the Union Carbide corporation.

Union Carbide owned 51 percent of the Bhopal plant, the maximum under Indian law, but such nominal majority ownership did not mean control. Though the facts in the matter have been lost amid media coverage of death and suffering, the plant in Bhopal was designed in India and entirely staffed by Indians. This was legally obligatory under Indian law, unless the American company could demonstrate in court that the local personnel resources were unavailable. Safety planning at the plants was also entirely in Indian hands.

Why should American investors suffer? After all, they merely put up the money.

Union Carbide has been trapped between Indian requirements of local operation and the perversities of American liability law.

The older concept of liability has now been replaced by the far more punitive standard of "strict liability," which, according to the ruling of American courts, makes Union Carbide liable even if the accident turns out to have resulted entirely from employee negligence. Union Carbide would have been vulnerable even if the plant had been blown up by Sikh terrorists.

According to court rulings over the last 10 years, a corporation can be vulnerable to a suit when it owns only a piece of an operation. Union Carbide owns half of the Bhopal plant, the rest being owned by citizens of India. No one is talking about suing the latter.

Interestingly enough, Melvin Belli and the ambulance chasers are not talking about suits in Indian courts. They are going to represent Indian clients in American courts, because of the features of American liability law noted above. Indian liability law does not provide the same juicy opportunities. If a wheel falls of an Air Indian jet airliner and crashes through the roof of your house you would wait a long time in Calcutta to collect a single rupee.

"The grand jury called on your fake credentials — they said take two indictments, they'll see you in the slammer."

Hart Staff's SOS

By Steve Gerstel

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gary Hart ran a presidential campaign based in part on new ideas for a new political generation that succeeded far beyond the predictions of the so-called experts but, eventually, fell just short of a nomination.

Along the way, Hart's candidacy attracted a loyal coterie of followers — the men and women who tolled in that campaign.

So, it is not surprising that new ideas are still germinating in the minds of the Hart foot soldiers although the Hart candidacy is, at least for now, little but a fading memory.

One idea that has surfaced is SOS (Share Our Strength), which comes from Bill Shore, Hart's legislative aide and a top campaign staffer. It came to him when the headlines first discovered, long overdue, the mass famine in Ethiopia.

Shore's idea is to create a network of restaurants around the country to contribute money to help alleviate the current crisis in Ethiopia and to keep them contributing to relieve hunger in all parts of the world.

Four former Hart staffers enlisted — Joann Shepherd, Debby Shore, Laura Quinn and Beth Scott. They have opened an office near the Capitol for the non-profit, bipartisan SOS.

Hart has signed on as a national co-chairman.

Senate Republican leader-elect Bob Dole has been asked to serve as a national co-chairman and Sen. Nancy Kassebaum of Kansas is another candidate.

Although the first mass mailing just went out, SOS already has seven recruits — three in Washington and one each in Pittsburgh, Berkeley, Denver and Houston.

The idea is uncomplicated: Restaurants will be asked to contribute $500 a year to become members of SOS. Those who give $1,000, so-called Founding Fathers, will get an additional helping of publicity.

In return, they get a logo sticker than can be placed in the front window of the eatery and literature describing the programs which the restaurateur can distribute to the diners.

Public figures, politicians and entertainers, Shepherd says, will be recruited to do public service announcements advertising SOS and restaurants that are participating.

The idea of involving restaurants, who derive their money from diners-out, to help the hungry may have been tried in the past. But certainly not on the scale that the former Hart staffers are attempting.

Even more salutary, is SOS's intention that the money be "distributed in a direct pipeline to the most efficient and effective existing organizations that provide immediate relief as well as implement long-term development programs to tackle the root causes of hunger and malnutrition both in the United States and abroad."

That means no new bureaucracy, national, international, private or church on top of the many worthwhile agencies trying to cope with the plight of hunger.

SOS thinks that if only 5 percent of America's restaurants chip in $500 tax deductible dollars a year, $10 million could be raised. Shore, in his letter, asking restaurants to join, says that $15 million to $20 million a year "is probably a realistic goal."

If Shore's estimates are correct or even if they are somewhat high, SOS should make an impact. If it works, SOS will be a welcome fallout from the Hart candidacy.

Another Good Year

The American people are very fortunate that they have had the collective stamina to deal with enormous problems over more than 200 years — civil war, world war, and depression. The social changes of the past 20 years also have been immense, imposing heavy new pressures on families and communities.

The year 1984 was a very good year. As we look back on it, we realize that economic prospects brightened. The country recovered its nerve in international affairs. Unity was restored to a significant degree.

Now we face a new year. If we are realistic, we recognize that we shall be confronted by problems, some leftover from last year and some newly emerging difficulties.

The United States bears heavy burdens because of its role as leader of the free world, a role it can't very well abdicate.

The problem-ridden nations of the Third World, angry at America's abundance, are envious of the good life in the USA. Not a few of these nations, or their leaders, would like to punish us for our well-being. We also continue to face a dangerous situation with respect to our most formidable, aggressive foe, the Soviet Union.

Everyone worries about the state of the economy. We live in a time of international economic warfare and vast technological changes that we don't understand to the fullest. As a result, the United States will be wrestling with economic and technological problems for years. It will take all our resourcefulness as a people to maintain our vaunted standard of living.

The world is now full of industrial or industrializing nations, and they want an ever-larger piece of the American market. Neither the administration nor Congress has addressed this situation with the seriousness and urgency that is required.

Happily, 1985 promises to be a year in which social tensions will be minimal. The country doesn't have the internal stresses that were so evident in the Vietnam War years. The public mood is such that it seems likely that the American people would support more vigorous moves in Central America, if these become necessary.

All in all, 1985 promises to be another good year. There's every reason to believe that the American people and their representatives will be able to handle the problems that arise.

Where Timely PAC Cash Made Difference

WASHINGTON — There is an untold story buried in the records of the 1984 election campaign. These records show what happened in the final week of most close congressional campaigns.

"It's not the amount of money you get," a veteran senator explained, "it's when you get it." Polls are taken to identify why and where a candidate is weak or strong. Then he must have enough money to focus the final advertising blitz where it will do the most good.

Last-minute donations, therefore, can make the difference between winning and losing a close race. The unsentimental professionals, who run most political-action committees know they can gain a candidate's gratitude and increase their leverage with him by slipping him a bundle of cash during the crucial last days before the vote.

The PACmen's strategy is clearly illustrated by the eight closest House campaigns last fall. In all but one race (where a final determination awaits a recount), the candidate who got the most last-minute, special-interest money won the election.

Here's the rundown on the eight campaigns:

— In southern Indiana, Republican challenger Richard D. McIntyre defeated the incumbent Democrat, Rep. Frank McCloskey, by 34 votes — pending a recount. McIntyre had $28,776 cash on hand as he moved into the final two weeks of the campaign. This was boosted the last minute by $40,750 in PAC money, $4,000 of it from milk producers. McCloskey had only $1,965 cash on hand but got a last-minute shot-in-the-arm of $23,500 from PACs, including $7,000 from the campaign chest of Shoo-In Democrats.

— In Idaho, history professor Richard Stallings unseated the Republican incumbent, Rep. George Hansen, by 133 votes. Hansen's main problem was his conviction for financial-disclosure violations. But the flow of late cash to Stallings clearly helped. With only $360 on hand shortly before the election, Stallings got $27,000 from PACmen who smelled the scent of victory.

Hansen had $3,151 in cash but could raise only $7,500 more from the PACs.

— In North Carolina, Republican J. Alex McMillan owed his 321-vote squeaker over challenger David Martin largely to Ronald Reagan's coattails. But could he have pulled it off without the last-minute infusion of $25,750 in PAC money? It's a question that Martin — who could scrape up only $2,000 in late PAC funds — must still be asking himself.

— In Utah, a strategist for Republican winner David Monson told my reporters Tony Capaccio and Scott Barrett candidly that the $46,800 in last-minute special-interest money his candidate got "was the margin, no two ways about it." Monson edged Democrat Frances Farley by 472 votes; her last-minute PAC money, mostly from unions, came to $35,930 — not bad, but not good enough.

— In Pennsylvania, incumbent Rep. Bob Edgar barely fended off the challenge of Republican Curt Weldon. Edgar's 481-vote margin might be traced to the $15,000 in last-minute PAC money he raised, which was $3,000 more than Weldon got.

— In Michigan, Rep. Donald Albosta lost to Republican Bill Schuette by 1,314 votes. Albosta raised only $14,000 in last-minute PAC money, which was significantly less than the $20,300 Schuette got from the PACs.

— In Illinois, former Rep. Ken Gray regained his old seat by 1,377 votes over Republican Randy Patchett, with the help of $34,275 in last-minute donations from labor PACs. Though Patchett had $40,000 cash on hand compared to Gray's $2,125, he could raise only $16,500 in late PAC donations.

— In North Carolina, where Republican challenger Bill Cobey beat incumbent Ike Andrews by 2,806 votes, the winner collected $26,500 in last-minute PAC money, including $5,000 "out of the blue" from the fundamentalist Christian Voters' Victory Fund. Andrews raised only $9,000 from the PACs in the waning days of the campaign.

Experts Say Women's Mental Health Needs Being Ignored

By D'Vera Cohn

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Twenty years after the birth of the modern-day feminist movement, many therapists lump women into traditional categories and ignore their real mental health needs, according to experts convened by the American Psychological Association.

Psychiatric training has not changed to reflect the new thinking about women's roles, and many therapists have yet to recognize women have different mental health needs from men, the panel said.

"Women's mental health needs differ from those of men for complex and largely unknown reasons," said Nancy Felipe Russo, the association's administrative officer for women's programs.

"Gender and sex-role stereotyping have affected mental health research, training and service delivery," she told a recent press briefing. "As a result, mental health-related research and services have not been appropriately designed to address the mental health concerns of women."

The association convened a conference of experts to ponder the problems in the field of women's mental health.

Among the differences they discussed: Women show higher rates of depression and phobias, while men show higher rates of anti-social personality and alcohol problems; and women, even more than men, have the highest rates of mental disorders at ages 25-44.

Women are three times more likely to visit mental health clinics than men, although some experts believe that is because women are more willing to seek help.

Psychotherapist Linda Silverman King said many therapists use a double standard for women, presuming they fit into a passive stereotype and seeing something wrong if they are aggressive.

Therapists are more likely to prescribe drugs for women, who get 73 percent of psychotropic drug prescriptions, King said that may show therapists want to treat the symptoms of women's problems, not their causes, and are trying to get women to "adjust" to roles that do not fit them.

Dr. Elaine Carmen, a University of North Carolina psychiatrist, said women have up to a one in four chance of being raped and up to a one in three chance of having been sexually molested in childhood, yet therapists often do not ask their patients whether they were abused.

By not asking about the experience, the therapist implies that it has nothing to do with the patient's current mental health problem, she said. In fact, she said, her own study of psychiatric patients at one North Carolina hospital found almost half had histories of sexual or physical abuse.

"It is safe to say more people have abuse histories than hear voices," yet therapists are more likely to ask about voices, she said.

The traditional view is that the focus of therapy should be entirely on the patient, not on the outside world. But critics say that places the blame for mental health problems solely on the patient.

"What therapists need to do is pay attention to social realities for clients," Carmen said. "There may be some very good reasons why the patient is in pain and suffering."

The issue of women's differences has been percolating through the mental health community for a decade or more, but the panel said change has been slow.

"There's been an unprecedented outpouring of new knowledge about women," Carmen said. "(but) most of it hasn't been integrated into what we teach psychiatrists. It's still women's issues, as opposed to what we teach psychiatrists."

Women seeking a good therapist should ask tough questions, and be satisfied with the answers, before beginning treatment.

"Women do have to be very active on their own behalf when entering a therapy relationship," King said.

Among the questions she and other experts suggested:

—What constitutes a mentally healthy person?

—What are proper roles for men and women? (King said she believes a therapist should have "no preconceived notions.")

—What are the goals of therapy? A patient should beware of a therapist who wants to talk down to them, rather than getting them actively involved in solving their own problems.

—Does the therapist have strong feelings on any mental health issue? One therapist said she immediately makes it clear to her patients she does not approve of spouse abuse.

—Does the therapist think biological factors are solely to blame for mental illness, or can it result from social and environmental factors, too?

The Federation of Organizations for Professional Women publishes a booklet, "Women and Psychotherapy: A Consumer Handbook," that is designed to help women find a good therapist.

The booklet costs $5. Checks should be made payable to FOPW and sent to: FOPW 1825 Connecticut Ave., Suite 403, Washington, D.C. 20009.

White Supremacists Plan Government Overthrow

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — Investigators say documents from a computer network operated by a white supremacist group contain plans for a terrorist revolution to overthrow the United States and Canadian governments.

Authorities said the documents were obtained from a telephone-linked computer network operated by the Church of the Aryan Nations, an Idaho group suspected of killings and robberies in the Northwest. The group is also known as the Church of Jesus Christ Christian.

The Montgomery Journal-Advertiser reported Wednesday that the "Aryan Nation Liberty Net" also had messages criticizing federal welfare and foreign-aid programs and warning that "social experiments" have undermined U.S. society.

"We shall fight! We shall not allow ourselves to be enslaved as those in Russia. Arm yourselves! Liberate Canada!" one message read.

Another computer network message listed enemies of the white supremacist movement and warned they "shall suffer the extreme penalty when lawful government is restored upon this continent."

One of the "enemies" singled out was Montgomery attorney Morris Dees, who filed suit against the Ku Klux Klan on behalf of black marchers involved in a 1979 shootout with robed Klansmen in Decatur, Ala.

"According to the word of our God, Morris Dees has earned two (2) death sentences," one message said.

Dees, who heads the anti-Klan group called Klanwatch, said evidence indicated the most militant members of Klan, neo-Nazi and other white supremacist groups had begun a system of terrorism and violence against their opponents.

"The Klan as we have known in the past is a thing of the past," Dees said. "These people are a coalition of the kind of warped Green Beret returnees from Vietnam, neo-Nazis and the more youngish Klan leaders not satisfied with marching up and down the street and burning crosses."

"These people are more disciplined," he said. "They are much, much smarter. They are highly trained in all kind of tactics and much better armed."

Dees said he doubted the groups would ever succeed in their goal to overthrow the government, but "they're going to hurt some people in the process. They already have."

Rebels: Death Squads Still At Work

United Press International Leftist Salvadoran rebels say President Jose Napoleon Duarte has failed to keep his pledge to eradicate rightist death squads and charge that paramilitary groups killed nearly 2,000 civilians last year.

In Honduras, Nicaraguan rebels formerly financed by the CIA Wednesday, dismissed as "communist propaganda" recent charges that they were committing atrocities against the civilian population of Nicaragua.

The Salvadoran guerrilla news agency NOTISAL said 1,973 civilians were killed by death squads in 1984, some 870 of them since Duarte took office June 1.

Duarte has repeatedly pledged to eliminate the death squads.

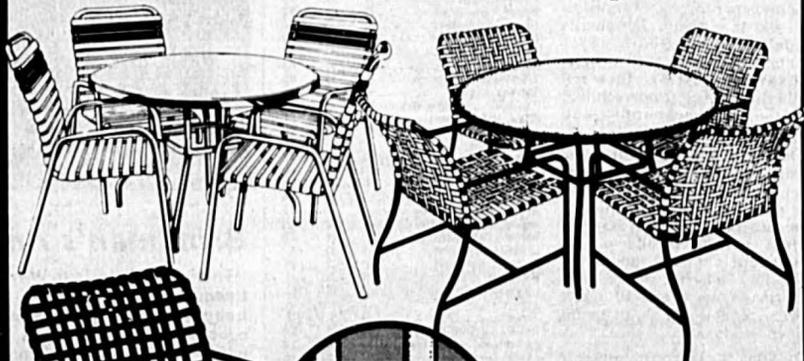

blamed by human rights groups for most of the 50,000 deaths since the start of the 5-year-old civil war.

"After six months of government by his administration, human rights violations continue," NOTISAL said. "In six months of his rule he still has not sent a single member accused of belonging to those organizations to court, as he promised when he took power."

The Catholic Church said last week that 3,891 civilians died in the civil war last year, killed by the army, death squads and rebels.

There was no immediate comment from the government or the U.S. Embassy, which says that death squad activity has been curtailed.

Stone, Twaddell Spark Girls To Wins

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

Every team in Seminole County has two or more players that usually share the spotlight. What every team would like to have is someone who can step out of the shadows and into the spotlight. So when the leaders are bottled up defensively, plagued by foul trouble, or just having an off night, there will be somebody else to rely on.

Two such players are Lake Mary's Liz Stone and Lake Brantley's Cami Twaddell. Both came through with their best performances of the season Wednesday night to help lead their teams to Five Star Conference victories.

Stone, a 5-3 senior guard, gave Lake Mary the additional outside shooting touch it was looking for Wednesday as she scored 14 points, including 6 of 7 shooting from the floor. In the Lady Rams' 82-35 trouncing of Apopka's Lady Blue Darters.

Twaddell, a 5-8 senior forward, was the dominant figure inside Wednesday as the host Lady Patriots pounded Daytona Beach Mainland's Lady Bucs, 51-23. Twaddell had season high's in both scoring (14 points) and rebounds (15) as Lake Brantley kept its unbeaten conference record intact.

Lake Mary improved to 6-5 overall and 3-1 in the Five Star. The Lady Rams take on a tough conference foe in Daytona Beach Seabreeze Friday at 4:45 at Seabreeze. Lake Brantley, which now stands at 10-2 overall and leads the conference with a 4-0 record (Seminole is 3-0), hits the road the rest of the week as the Lady Patriots travel to Apopka tonight and Orlando Colonial Friday.

In Wednesday night's action at Lake Mary High, Stone had the hot hand in the first half as she hit 5 of 5 shots, all from the outside, to help Lake Mary roll up a 36-13 halftime lead after leading by seven, 13-6, after the first quarter. Along with Stone, senior point guard Kim Averill and senior center Courtney Hall also had 10 first-half points.

"Liz (Stone) shot really well tonight," Lake Mary coach Bill Moore said. "It's something we've been looking for from Liz. I've always felt she is an excellent outside shooter and I hope this gives her a little confidence."

Hall led the Lady Rams with a game-high 16 points and 10 rebounds while Averill and Stone connected for 14 apiece. Averill also handed out nine assists and had six steals. Aileen Patterson had another fine game inside with nine points, 11 rebounds, five steals and four blocked shots. Larra Hall, a senior guard, contributed seven points and five assists.

Lake Mary's second quarter explosion, in which it outscored the Lady Darters, 23-7, paved the way for Moore to clear his bench in the second half. And the Lady Rams received outstanding performances from its second unit led by junior guard Heather Leckie.

Leckie, a standout on last year's junior varsity, had her best varsity game with 10 points, including 4 for 5 from the free throw line, and four steals.

"Heather (Leckie) went in and gave us some good, aggressive play," Moore said. "That's what you look for from players coming off the bench."

Lake Mary's second team played most of the fourth quarter in which the Rams outscored Apopka, 25-6. Providing solid play off the bench along with Leckie were Sloan Stewart, Cynthia Patterson, Terri Reynolds and Anquetette Whack.

Michelle McKinney led the Darters with 12 points before fouling out and Donna Burkhead, who transferred to Apopka from Lake Mary, added nine.

Halftime — Lake Mary 36, Apopka 13. Fouls — Apopka 19, Lake Mary 11. Fouled out — McKinney, Parramore. Technical — none. A — 35.

In Wednesday's game at Lake Brantley High, a third quarter surge lifted Lake Brantley to its fourth straight conference victory. Lake Brantley, which held a 20-10 halftime lead, outscored the Lady Bucs, 19-7, in the third quarter to take a 39-17 lead into the fourth.

The Lady Patriots turned in a brilliant defensive effort as Mainland scored less than 10 points in all four quarters.

"When you play defense like that you're going to win," Lake Brantley coach Renny Betris said. "It was our best defensive game of the season."

While 6-1 senior center Kirsten Dellinger had just four points, Twaddell took over inside and dominated the boards.

"That's her best performance since she's played for me," Betris said of Twaddell. "She put on a rebounding clinic tonight."

Twaddell's 14 points and 15 rebounds were both game highs. Her presence inside took on added importance since junior forward Angie May sat out with an injured ankle. May is expected to be out the rest of the week.

Asplen keyed Lake Brantley's third-quarter surge. Asplen ended up with 12 points and a game-high seven assists. Senior forward Michelle Brown added seven points, seven rebounds and four steals. Dellinger added eight rebounds. Gail Hickley's 10 points were high for Mainland.

Like Lake Mary, the Lady Patriots also received strong play from its second team. Leading the way was sophomore guard Ashley Thomas with six points. Michelle Hagan, Cindy Staggs and Andrea Gordon also played well off the bench.

Lake Brantley looks to strengthen its chances in the Five Star Conference with the return of junior forward Kim Wain, one of the team's top rebounders a year ago. Betris said Wain should be ready to play in two weeks.

Lady Seminoles Tackle Gordon, DeLand Tonight

Sanford's Lady Seminoles look to keep pace with Lake Brantley atop the Five Star Conference standings tonight when they host preseason conference favorite DeLand. Junior varsity action starts at 6 followed by the varsity at 7:45.

Seminole, the fourth-ranked team in the state (4A), stands at 10-2 overall and 3-0 in the Five Star. Lake Brantley leads by one half game with a 4-0 conference mark.

Senior forward Mona Benton is Seminole County's leading scorer with 240 points in 12 games for an average of 20.0. Benton, who also averages 9.1 rebounds per outing, is joined in the starting lineup by guards Andell "Soul" Smith (11.1 points per game) and Temika Alexander (10.3), forward Catherine "Kitty" Anderson (8.6 points, 12.0 rebounds) and center Beatrice Smith.

DeLand comes in with a 7-2 record overall and 2-1 in the conference. The Lady Bulldogs, the defending 4A state champions, are coming off a 20-point defeat at the hands of St. Petersburg Gibbs. Leading the way for DeLand is 6-1 All-America senior center Bridgette Gordon and senior point guard Robyn Swartz.

In other girls action tonight, Lake Brantley travels to Apopka (varsity only, 6 p.m.). Lake Howell hosts Spruce Creek (varsity only, 8 p.m.) and Oviedo hosts Bishop Moore (varsity only, 8 p.m.)

Brinkman's American Way

"This is the American Way of calling a strike," American League crew chief Joe Brinkman tells his National League counterpart Steve Rippley. Brinkman, who operates Joe Brinkman's Umpires School, joined forces with Florida Baseball Schools' Wes Rinker for a two-part clinic last week at Sanford Memorial Stadium. Rinker said four more schools are planned for next winter at the stadium. Both schools are moving to Cocoa where Brinkman will begin conducting classes for 117 future men in blue.

Free Throws? Lake Mary Misses Chance, Falls To Improved Apopka

Miller's 9 Assists Help Rams Ease By Darters

By Chris Fister

Terry "The Cat" Miller, a freshman point guard, used his ballhandling wizardry and scoring punch in the fourth quarter to help Lake Mary's junior varsity overcome a second-half comeback by Apopka's JV Blue Darters as the Rams held on for a 64-58 victory Wednesday night at Lake Mary High.

Miller poured in a game-high 19 points and dished out nine assists as the JV Rams improved to 6-1 for the season. While Miller was the dean of the backcourt Wednesday, Roosevelt Gaines and Oscar Merthie provided the inside strength. Gaines pumped in 14 points and ripped down 13 rebounds and Merthie connected for 15 points and grabbed eight boards. Lake Mary built an eight-point lead, 19-11, after one quarter and increased it to 15, 39-24, by halftime. But the Darters came out firing in the third quarter and outscored the Rams, 16-5, to pull within four, 44-40, going into the fourth quarter. Lake Mary goes for its seventh win Friday at Daytona Beach Seabreeze in the second game of a triple header. The girls varsity teams square off at 4:45, followed by boys JV at 6:15 and varsity at 8.

Tolbert's Loss Hurts Raiders

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

If it's any consolation for SCC's Mike Tolbert, he departed the Raider basketball program with his best effort.

Tolbert, who coach Bill Payne singled out for an "outstanding game" in an overtime loss to No. 1 Miami Dade North, was dropped from the squad Wednesday for failing to achieve a 2.0 grade point average for 12 hours of work.

"That going to hurt," said Payne about the loss of his sophomore guard. "We don't have a point guard now. Mike Landell is hurt. His knee is killing him but he's going to try and play."

Tolbert, who opened the season in the starting lineup, but was beaten out by Landell midway through the first half of the season. Tolbert, who played his prep ball at Orlando Oak Ridge, was averaging 4.1 points and 3.8 assists while playing 20 minutes per game.

Mike Tolbert failed to make grades and will be lost to Seminole Community College for the season.

Along with Tolbert, three other players are questionable for tonight's 7:30 game with Patrick Air Force Base at the SCC Health Center. Starting guard Kenny Edwards, backup center Willie Strother and backup guard Scott Hughes all have one incomplete grade. They must have the "I" changed to a passing grade before they are eligible, according to Payne.

History: UNLV 142, Utah State 140 In 3 OTs

United Press International

Put the University of Nevada-Las Vegas on a basketball court and points spill out like coins from a slot machine.

On Wednesday night in Logan, Utah, there was a jackpot of sorts as UNLV defeated Utah State 142-140 in triple overtime in the highest scoring game in college basketball history.

The 282 total points scored erased the NCAA mark of 275 set nine years ago when UNLV defeated Hawaii-Hilo 164-111.

Two other records were broken in the game lasting more than three hours: Utah State's 140 points was the most by a losing team, and UNLV's 93 points in the second half was the most in a half.

"It was the most incredible game I've ever been involved in," said UNLV Coach Jerry Tarkanian, whose 800th career victory was overshadowed in the scoring carnival.

"We beat them on a night when they were just outstanding. How we came from six points down (in the third overtime) was a miracle. The odds against coming back had to have been a million to one. I've never been through a game like this."

UNLV trailed 140-134 but blanked the Aggies the final 3:47 as Utah State missed five straight free throws and three shots from the floor.

Fred Banks of UNLV hit a 3-pointer with

College Basketball

three seconds left in regulation to force overtime at 116-116. A layup by Banks with 23 seconds left in the first extra period tied it 126-126, bringing a second overtime.

Richie Adams scored 37 points, Banks 31 and Armon Gilliam 27 for UNLV, 7-2. For Utah State, Jeff Anderson had 37 points, Vince Washington 36 and Greg Orant 31. Washington, however, missed his last 14 shots.

"It was a classic and we were just on the wrong end of it," Utah State Coach Rod Tueller said. "It was defense, or a lack of it, that lost it."

In another wild game, Derrick Gervin scored 51 points in Texas-San Antonio's 101-91 home victory over Baylor. Gervin, brother of NBA star George Gervin, hit 22-of-32 shots and 7-of-8 free throws while grabbing 18 rebounds.

In the Top 20, No. 1 Georgetown downed Seton Hall 73-56; No. 4 St. John's beat Connecticut 57-51; No. 5 Syracuse lost to Villanova 62-70; No. 8 Southern Methodist stopped Rice 66-57; No. 12 Indiana routed No. 17 Michigan 87-82; No. 15 Louisiana State took Georgia 79-74; and No. 16 Maryland edged North Carolina State 58-56.

At Landover, Md., David Wingate's 17 points carried Georgetown, 12-0, in a Big East opener. Seton Hall's Andre McCloud had 20 points.

At Hartford, Conn., Walter Berry had 15 points and 12 rebounds and powered St. John's in the second half of the Big East game. Bill Wennington added 18 for the Redmen, 9-1, while Earl Kelley scored 14 for Connecticut.

At Philadelphia, Villanova sent Syracuse to its first loss with Dwayne McClain scoring 21 points and teaming with Gary McLain in a second-half surge of the Big East meeting. Rafael Addison's 21 points paced the Orangemen, 8-1.

MCDOWELL LEADS GATOR WIN

Eugene McDowell scored 24 points and 13 assists to lead the University of Florida to an 84-70 victory over Tennessee Wednesday at Gainesville's O'Connell Center.

The lead changed hands 12 times during the game, with Florida leading 30-33 at halftime. Midway through the second half, Florida went ahead 39-38, then scored 13 straight points. Tennessee failed to score from the field for more than seven minutes during the stretch, and never managed to recover.

Anthony Richardson led Tennessee with 20 points.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Birmingham Has 1st Selection As USFL Draft Opens Pro Wars

NEW YORK (UPI) — With the college football season over, the seniors can start learning how much they are worth. The U.S. Football League gave them an idea today when it opened its third annual draft.

The draft, which has two phases, the open section and territorial section, was held at the Grand Hyatt Hotel and began at 10 a.m. EST.

Birmingham, the champions of the Southern Division, held the No. 1 pick in the open draft. The Stallions secured the first pick when they traded quarterback Reggie Collier to the last-place Washington Federals (now Orlando Renegades) last season. Birmingham Coach Rollie Dotsch said he had two options in the open draft.

"You could pick a big-name guy, but then you're talking about spending a lot of money," he said. "The other route is to draft someone we realistically have a chance to sign."

"These are the areas we're looking for help in, and in no particular order," Dotsch said. "There are 84 schools on territorial lists. That's 350 players not available in the open draft. So that reduces the draftables by a whole lot."

Teams are allowed to protect 25 players in the territorial draft. The territorial selections were announced during the first round of the open draft.

Hardy Moves Into The Limelight

MIAMI (UPI) — Injuries to two of Miami's tight ends have put dependable Dolphin Bruce Hardy back in the limelight.

"I'm enjoying myself this season. I think all of us are," said Hardy, who has had 19 catches and five touchdowns in the last six games.

"It used to be guys just kind of going out and doing their job, but things are getting on a roll here and you can feel the difference."

One of the reasons for his good fortune has been bad fortune for the other two Dolphin tight ends. Starter Dan Johnson has been plagued with a painful rib injury all season and missed last Saturday's playoff victory over Seattle with the flu.

Pro Athletes To Golf At Disney

ORLANDO — The 18th American Airlines Golf Classic, the premier athlete tournament in the country, will be played Jan. 30-Feb. 2 at Walt Disney World's Magnolia Course, announced tournament chairman Thomas G. Plaskett.

Plaskett, senior vice president of marketing for American Airlines, said this will be the ninth venue for the unique, international 54-hole tournament. The last Classic was contested at the Waikoloa Beach Golf Course in Kona, Hawaii.

Altamonte Registers Saturday

The Altamonte Springs Little League will be holding its final registration on Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Eastmonte Civic Center.

New players need to bring a birth certificate and name and policy number of your hospitalization coverage. All children must be accompanied by an adult.

The Altamonte Springs Little League has programs from T-Ball through Senior League for children from 6-15 years of age. For further information contact Jim Hovis at 831-1843 or Judy Christian at 327-1231.

A Disputed Truth: Cougars Are No. 1

NEW YORK (UPI) — Some may dispute it, but Brigham Young University Coach Lavell Edwards doesn't care. His Cougars are No. 1 and no one can take it away.

BYU, which posted the only perfect record among major college football teams, Wednesday was named 1984 national champion by the United Press International Board of Coaches.

Many critics thought BYU, with its powder puff schedule, didn't deserve to be No. 1. But no one could dispute the Cougars' 13-0 record, including a victory over Michigan in the Holiday Bowl, and that undoubtedly was the major reason most coaches decided to reward the Western Athletic Conference school with its first national championship.

"I think the team handled the pressure well," Edwards said. "We were always having to defend our ranking."

"It's strange. As long as we were No. 3, 4th or 5th, nothing was said. Everyone felt comfortable with that. But as soon as we were ranked No. 1, a lot of people became uncomfortable."

The Cougars received 28 first place votes and 579 points from the 40 coaches who participated in the final balloting to beat out Washington for the top ranking.

Washington, which defeated Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl and finished with an 11-1 record, received 11 first place votes and 561 points. Two coaches did not participate in the final balloting as Ken Hatfield of Arkansas and Bobby Collins of SMU could not be reached.

College Football

"I'm not sure I would say I'm surprised," Huskies Coach Don James said when informed of the final ratings. "I thought we would get more votes from the (UPI) coaches than from the (AP) writers. But I'm not going to jump off the 19th floor. I have respect for (BYU Coach) Lavell Edwards and his program. We'll just let the chips fall."

Washington has a chance for some sort of retribution next season when the Huskies play the Cougars the second weekend of the 1985 season.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The United Press International Board of Coaches final Top 20 college football ratings, with first place votes and records in parentheses. Teams listed partly based on 15 points for first place, 14 for second, etc.

1. Brigham Young (13-0)	179	13 Ohio State (9-3)	146
2. Washington (11) (11-1)	561	14 Auburn (9-4)	139
3. Nebraska (10-2)	508	15 Iowa (7-4)	71
4. Boston College (10-2)	491	16 Louisiana State (8-3)	6
5. Oklahoma State (10-2)	374	17 Virginia (8-2)	4
6. Oklahoma (9-3)	343	18 West Virginia (8-4)	3
7. Florida (11) (9-1)	258	19 Kentucky (9-2)	28
8. Southern Methodist (10-2)	218	20 Florida St. (12-1)	20
9. Southern Cal (9-3)	209
10. UCLA (9-2)	209
11. Maryland (9-2)	175

Note: By agreement with the American Football Coaches Association, teams on NCAA or conference probation are ineligible for the Top 20 and national championship consideration by the UPI Board of Coaches. The teams currently on probation are Arizona, Clemson, Illinois and Kansas.

County BMXers Outside Orlando

Seminole County BMXers finished off 1984 with some big wins over the Orlando riders Saturday night at Barnett Park in Pine Hills.

Danny Lombardi, of Lake Mary, has had a pretty remarkable year in BMX. His first place finishes far out number any other finish he's had. He was no different in the 13-novice class this past Saturday. He brought home another first place. Lombardi also raced the open class, which is novice and experts combined, and placed third.

Eric Lucia, of Lake Mary, placed second in the 9-novice class. Eric's older brother Scott, who races in the 13-novice class, finished off with a fourth place. Scott also raced the open class, and placed fifth.

Ten-novice BMXer Tim Fink cruised to a second place finish for the night.

Another 13-novice racer is Todd Fink. This tough competitor has also been consistent this year. He placed second right behind Lombardi Saturday.

Another rider who has kept consistent during the year is Ronnie Brewer. Ronnie, who races 13-expert, just turned expert this year.

Saturday night he raced both 13-expert and the open class, and placed third in both. "I would have had first in 13-expert, but in the third moto I slid," said Ronnie.

Although Jay Staley raced this weekend, it was not at Gordon Barnett Park in Pine Hills. Jay was finishing off 1984 at an NBL national in Montgomery Ala. Jay raced both 7-expert and open, but only made the main in 7-expert class. He placed second in all of his motos, qualifying him for the main. Unfortunately, he slid in the main and could only place sixth.

In other action at Barnett Park Saturday, the Bicycle Connection team came away with three first-place finishes. Mark Kock, 17-cruiser, Jason Hefington, 14-novice, and Susan Koch, 12-girl, all crossed the line ahead of the rest.

David Sanborn, 14-expert, earned a third place while Andy Doering, 13-novice, picked up a fifth and J.P. Adam, 13-novice, came in sixth.

...Improved

DeLand. Lake Mary fell to 4-5 and 2-2.

"We've definitely improved," said Stokes. "We're a lot better than when we played in Sanford (preseason tournament). We played ratty in the first half tonight but we started playing ball in the second half. We've improved our physical game a lot. We don't lose our cool anymore when it gets rough."

And it was rough at times — especially inside. Lake Mary's Donald Grayson and Jeff Reynolds used good positioning and some football muscle to push the Rams to an 11-5 lead midway through the first half. Grayson had all nine of his points in the first quarter but Apopka came back in the latter stages behind Earl Clayton to cut the lead to 15-14 at the end of eight minutes.

Apopka took control of the game immediately in the second quarter as it forced four Lake Mary turnovers and sprinted to nine straight points and a 23-15 lead. Clayton scored on a three-point play and then added a nice tip-in for the final five.

Reynolds, who finished with 14 points and seven boards, traded baskets with Keith Johnson and Clayton over the next four minutes but the Rams could get no closer than eight points.

As an omen of things to come, Lake Mary missed three straight one and ones when it had a chance to cut the margin below eight points. In the final 1:25, though, Reynolds scored, then stole the ball and fed Byron Washington for a basket. Junior Chris Jackson offset a bucket by Kent Elmore with a sky tip to pull Lake Mary within 37-29 at halftime.

Lake Mary had its chance to get back in the game when the officials whistled Apopka for six straight fouls to open the second half. Each time the Rams trailed by just eight but Matt Newby and Daryl Merthle could convert just 1 of 2 and Ray Hartsfield missed both of his. The Rams converted just 18 of 33 free throws as Apopka committed 33 fouls to Lake Mary's 12.

"They started calling them in the second half," said Richardson. "But we couldn't make the free throws. We're just not inconsistent. But we did push the ball up court like I wanted us to for the first time all year. We'll be there by the end of the season."

But not by the end of the third quarter. Apopka continually forced Lake Mary into turnovers and raced up the floor for easy layups. When Mike Lowman slam dunked after a steal, Apopka took a 61-47 bulge into the fourth quarter.

Hartsfield, who finished with 18 points, hit a three-point play with 5:42 left to pull Lake Mary within 15, but two more turnovers and layups by Ralph Shuler put the game permanently out of reach.

Clayton led Apopka with 16 points while Elmore added 13. Shuler and Darryl Bowens each had 10. Jackson was also in double figures for Lake Mary with 10. Merthle, averaging 22 ppg, took just nine shots and made three for seven points. He collected three rebounds while handing out five assists.

APOPKA (84) — Rice 8, Shuler 10, Johnson 9, Lowman 8, Bowens 10, Elmore 13, Clayton 14, James 2, Hartsfield 18, Totals: 39-8, 13-8, 4-10, 1-1.

LAKE MARY (72) — Merthle 7, Hartsfield 18, Czerniewski 6, Newby 6, Grayson 9, Reynolds 14, Willis 4, Jackson 10, Washington 4, Totals: 29-18, 33-72.

IN BRIEF

Stano: No Proof Murder Occurred, No Execution

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The Florida Supreme Court has scheduled oral arguments for next week to consider a claim by self-confessed mass murderer Gerald Eugene Stano that he should not be electrocuted for one of the slayings because the state never proved a murder occurred.

However, in a brief filed with the court, the state says there is more than enough evidence to establish that Cathy Lee Scharf, 16, of Titusville was murdered in Brevard County in 1973 and Stano did it.

Pathologists were unable to state an exact cause of death and identification was made by dental comparisons and jewelry.

"The state has failed to rule out accidental, natural or suicidal cause of death (in the Scharf case) and has failed to establish that the cause of death was by the hands of another," Stano's defense lawyer wrote.

Rape Victims' Needs Considered

CLEARWATER (UPI) — The emotional needs of rape victims will be considered along with their medical needs under a county-sponsored rape investigation program going into effect next month.

The medical examiner's office, already loaded down with autopsies and other medical needs, will no longer examine rape victims as has been the practice.

Instead victims will go to one of three health department clinics in the county — at St. Petersburg, Clearwater or Tarpon Springs — where they will be examined by a three-member team consisting of a doctor specializing in gynecology, a nurse and a counselor trained in the legal, medical and emotional aspects of rape.

In the past, rape victims have complained of having to wait hours for medical examinations and when they did see a doctor the examination was cold and impersonal and their emotional needs were ignored.

Storm 'Opened Eyes'

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Massive shoreline erosion caused by Florida's Thanksgiving Day storm has "opened the eyes" of many coastal residents, a state beach specialist says.

The Department of Natural Resources said Wednesday it is still receiving applications for emergency beach reconstruction work from landowners trying to protect structures threatened by the massive erosion caused by the storm six weeks ago.

Nearly 300 emergency permits have been requested. The storm battered the state's East Coast from the Georgia line to south Palm Beach County, swelling tides as high as 12 feet above normal. Nine counties suffered significant damage.

"There will be a natural recovery but the problem is it (the sand) all doesn't come in at the same places and it all doesn't come back," Paden Woodruff of DNR's Division of Beaches and Shores said.

PACs Gave Out Record $104 Million Last Year

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Contributions to 1984 House and Senate races by special interest political action committees hit a record $104 million, with the bulk going to incumbents and winners, a study by a Ralph Nader group says.

The report released Wednesday by Public Citizen's Congress Watch, based on reports filed with the Federal Elections Commission, showed 95 candidates got $200,000 or more from PACs. Four years earlier only five contenders got that much or more.

There were two $1 million-plus recipients of special interest money: Rep. Phil Gramm, now the freshman GOP senator from Texas, got nearly $1.4 million; and Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., defeated for re-election, collected $1.2 million.

Their Democratic rivals, Lloyd Doggett who lost in Texas, who received $810,000, and Rep. Paul Simon, the senator-elect from Illinois, who received $904,000, were among the top dozen Senate recipients.

Seventeen PACs spent more than $1 million on the election, led by the National Association of Realtors, which spent $2.5 million, and the American Medical Association and the National Education Association, which both laid out about $2 million. Two years ago only seven PACs gave more than $1 million.

Fourth biggest giver in 1984 was the National Association of Home Builders. Five unions — the Auto Workers, Machinists, Letter Carriers, Seafarers, and Food and Commercial Workers — were the next largest contributors, with political gifts ranging from $1.4 million to $1.7 million.

Altogether PACs gave a total of $104,372,229 to candidates for the House and Senate with more than $76 million — 73 percent of the total — going to incumbents, the report said. In 1982 campaigns, PACs gave $84 million and in 1980, $55 million.

Stray Missile Sparks Protest

OSLO, Norway (UPI) — A sea-launched Soviet cruise missile roared over Norway and into Finland, shaking houses and office buildings before crashing harmlessly in Finnish Lapland, officials said.

Norwegian officials said Wednesday they would file a protest with Moscow over the violation of their airspace. Finland, a non-aligned nation on the Russian border, has not indicated if it will also file a protest.

The Defense Ministry said Wednesday radar operators tracked the short-range cruise missile fired from a Soviet warship in the eastern Barents Sea as it streaked through strategic Norwegian airspace and into Finland.

Norway is a member of NATO and its territory is the northern flank of the Atlantic alliance.

Experts speculated that a technical fault made the missile go astray during a test firing and that Soviet technicians were unable to steer it away from Scandinavia.

Norwegian Supreme Commander Gen. Fredrik Bull-Hansen said he did not believe the incident was a Soviet move to test NATO preparedness along the 124-mile Soviet-Norwegian border.

A First Step For Ex-Military Wives

By United Press International

New legislation enabling thousands of former wives of military personnel to become eligible for various military benefits is only the first step toward parity, Florida supporters said.

The new legislation is modification of the Former Spouse Protection Act that went into effect Wednesday and offers former military wives a chance to regain their military medical benefits and some base privileges.

The retroactive modification covers women divorced before the original act went into effect Feb. 1, 1983 and could affect 800,000 women nationwide.

Florida has the third-largest number of ex-military wives and an estimated 56,000 Floridians might be eligible to apply for benefits under the new program.

Jeanne Buchan, a divorced military wife who lives in Cocoa Beach and lobbyist for National Action for Former Military Wives, praised the modification but cautioned only a "nominal number" of women will be eligible because of the law's stringent qualifying criteria.

The law stipulates that ex-wives must have been married to their military spouses for at least 20 years and have served at least 20 years of active duty with them. In addition, their husbands must have a 20-year service record in the military.

because it was necessary to maintain his business. He also admitted to using a city car while making trips on city and personal business at the same time. As for the expense money, Sorenson said it was coming to him anyway but he neglected to read the ordinance and follow the proper procedure for getting it.

Keogh acknowledged that Sorenson "really screwed up," but said the city commission's censure was enough punishment for a man who served Lake Mary 10 years. Sorenson was mayor that long before being beaten in the last election by banker Dick Fess.

"I take a look at the number of hours Walt gave Lake Mary. Whenever Lake Mary needed Walt, he was there," Keogh said. "His job suffered and his family suffered, mainly because he was there for the city."

The issue has become a matter of "persecution not prosecution," Keogh said, because Fox has a personal grudge against Sorenson stemming from an argument the two had when Fox was a commissioner two years ago.

But Fox said: "I have no vendetta against the man. But I don't like him."

He added that by filing the complaint with the ethics commission he was "doing Keogh's job." He said by washing its hands of the matter, the city commission did not fulfill its duty to the citizens of Lake Mary.

...Trash

Christmas and New Years holidays city employees were given Monday and Tuesday of the past two weeks off as holidays the same as employees of many businesses.

"The crews are doing five days' pickups in three," Knowles said.

Meanwhile there might be another culprit — scavengers. There have been recent reports of scavengers raiding garbage cans at homes and apartment complexes in the early morning hours on garbage pickup day looking for salvagable items.

In some instances, it has been reported scavengers leave the garbage strewn about on sidewalks, streets and lawns.

Assistant City Manager Steve Harriett and City Attorney Bill Colbert agree residents in these instances have a remedy.

Colbert said until garbage and trash is picked up by city crews, it remains the property of the residents as long as it is placed on their private property. In these instances, scavengers should be warned they are trespassing and then the police should be called if they do not cease.

If scavengers leave garbage strewn about so that it can be blown by the wind, they are guilty of violating the city code, Colbert said, and if charged and found guilty can be punished by a $500 fine or 60 days in jail or both.

Harriett said residents do not have to watch helplessly as scavengers rummage through their garbage. He advises them to call the police.

Women Suspected In Abortion Bombings Released To Moms

PENSACOLA (UPI) — Two women accused of helping bomb four abortion clinics were released in their mothers' custody, but a judge denied bail to one of two men who confessed to planting the explosives on order from God.

"No one can guarantee us that God will not give him such a calling again," said U.S. Magistrate Robert Congeyer, explaining Wednesday why he had refused bail for James Thomas Simmons.

Simmons' wife, Kathy Simmons, 18, and Kaye Wiggins, 18, of Pensacola, surrendered to federal authorities Wednesday morning on charges of conspiracy and aiding and abetting the bombings.

The fourth defendant, Matthew Goldsby, 21, were ordered to appear in court Jan. 7.

Finding Lost Loves

Private Eye's Investigative Specialty Is Bringing People Together

By Sheila Orissett-Welsh
Special To The Herald

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (UPI) — Finding "lost loves" is the real-life business of Southern California private eye Lloyd Shulman, the man whose unusual 25-year-career inspired a television series.

Like actor Tony Franciosa, who plays attorney Gary Maxwell on the network's new Saturday night series "Finder of Lost Loves," Shulman reunites people long separated.

However, Shulman does not smash bad guys or break down doors.

He claims to have located from 40,000 to 50,000 people since he decided to make it his investigative specialty in 1960.

Shulman said he was contacted about a year ago by 20th Century Fox studio personnel who had heard of his unique operation.

"They said they thought I'd make a good subject for a television show. I said, 'Let's do it.'"

He is under contract to the studio as technical consultant, but all the story lines are fictionalized.

"I sat down and told them about a lot of my cases, so they'd know what I do. Their writers take care of the rest."

Although Shulman said he finds someone every day of the year, the holidays are particularly busy.

"People start thinking a lot ... In many cases, stubbornness and pride played a big part in the separations." There was the former Marine drill sergeant who told his son to hit the road if he did not like the rules. The boy did and, 20 years later, Dad wants him home.

"Stubborn people say stubborn things. They think someone will be gone a week, not 15 or 20 years."

There was the mother who criticized her daughter's long-haired boyfriend just once too often back during the hippie generation. "She slammed the door on her mother that night and never came back. Fifteen years later, the mother asked me to find her. They were reunited right here in my office but neither one of them could remember the name of the boy with long hair and dirty fingernails."

Shulman routinely reunites families split by divorce and custody disputes. In a highly publicized recent case, an Orange County woman was reunited with the mother and brother she had not seen in 29 years.

"Oh, I love these cases. People hug and kiss each other. Then they hug and kiss me."

Shulman's favorite cases always have an element of romance, and Valentine's Day brings clients out of the woodwork.

"Guys begin to think about old girlfriends. They decide they want to send her a dozen roses," he said. "He doesn't care if she's married or if she's a grandmother. He just wants her to know that he remembers."

In one case, a young man and woman met on a merry-go-round at an amusement park and were separated when the man went off to World War II. After the war, each got married to someone else, then divorced. In the 60s, "I got them back together and their romance rekindled," said Shulman. "As far as I know they're still together."

He wants the world to know there is a detective in Southern California who wants to find the person they love.

"Half the time, it isn't even hard. I just helped a man who had been looking for his kid brother 25 years. I found him in two days."

"Every time I see a skid row bum 50 years old or younger, I think, 'Now there's a little mother somewhere looking for you.' Those are the tough ones to solve, people who don't have a home but are too ashamed to go back to the old one."

Shulman is considering organizing a missing persons club just to get the word out.

"I just want people to know that they don't have to be rich. I do what I do because I love it. It makes me feel good."

"Back in the '30s, as a youngster, I listened to the radio program 'Mr. Keane — Tracer of Lost Persons' and thought it would be the greatest thing to bring families back together again."

"By accident, I became an investigator, then later decided to specialize in missing people."

"Before, when I did divorce and theft cases, people didn't always love me. Sometimes they even came after me with tire irons. Now they want me to be in their weddings. It's great."

Imagination Goes Wild For Widow Longing For Romance

DEAR ABBY: I was a happy, respectable wife for 40 years, and now I'm a lonely, respectable widow. I work, join women's clubs, do good works and spend a lot of quiet evenings watching television.

Do you know what I would like better than anything on earth? I'd like for my phone to ring right now, and hear a male voice say, "I'll be by in 15 minutes to take you to dinner and a movie — then we'll go to my place and spend the night."

In other words, at this late date, I'm plain boy crazy — more boy crazy than I ever was at 15.

Please tell me, Dear Abby, do other widows have this problem?

Very often when I see a nice-looking older man on the street, I wonder what it would be like to go out with him. And more.

My imagination just goes wild. I'm really ashamed of myself. Please tell me, am I normal? What's wrong with me? Do other widows have this problem?

YOUNG AT HEART

DEAR YOUNG: Nothing is "wrong" with you. You're normal, and you need not be ashamed of yourself. You're longing for some romance in your life, and you're fantasizing.

Other widows have the same problem, and so do some divorcees and married women.

And lest you think this problem is for women only, I assure you that men also hunger for romance.

DEAR ABBY: What I am about to ask you may sound dumb, but I have to ask it regardless.

Recently I went to a chiropractor because of some back trouble. The first thing the doctor did was take a lot of X-rays. I never liked X-rays; I'm afraid of the radiation. Anyhow, he X-rayed right through my blue jeans, shirt and underclothes.

My question: Are these clothes safe to wear? I'm afraid they may be contaminated or radioactive because they were X-rayed through. If these clothes are contaminated, I won't hesitate to throw them away. I haven't worn them since I was X-rayed.

DUMB QUESTION

DEAR QUESTION: There are no "dumb" questions, just uninformed people who never learn because they're afraid of appearing "dumb."

The clothes you wore while you were X-rayed are safe to wear. The rays from an X-ray do not remain in the clothing.

DEAR ABBY: This is for "Mrs. L. in Old Bridge, N.J." and thousands of others who think beer is harmless.

My wife had surgery for a gallbladder problem. Immediately after the operation, the surgeon summoned me by intercom to the operating room. He asked, "Why didn't you tell me your wife is an alcoholic?"

I replied, "I didn't know she was. Although she consumed four or five six-packs a week, I've never seen her intoxicated."

The doctor said, "Beer is as alcoholic as hard liquor if one consumes enough of it. Your wife's liver is so bad, had I known, I wouldn't have performed the surgery. She has only a few months more — at best."

Ten days later she died. I learned too late how "harmless" beer is. No name, please. I don't want her friends to know.

ALONE IN FLORIDA

DEAR ABBY: Five months ago I gave birth to a beautiful little girl. My husband and I couldn't be happier.

Unfortunately, she has a rather conspicuous strawberry birthmark on her forehead. The doctor said it will gradually fade and disappear entirely by the time she is 3 years old. Although I'd rather she didn't have it, the birthmark doesn't bother me; I'm just thankful she's healthy.

What does bother me is that every time I take her out, at least three strangers ask me what is "wrong" with her. It's obviously a birthmark, and I think it's very rude of people to ask.

I came up with what I think is a pretty good answer:

Stranger: "What's wrong with your baby?"

Me: "Nothing. What's wrong with you?"

Please let me know if you think this is all right, or do you have a better answer?

NEW MOM

DEAR MOM: Those who would ask a stranger, "What's wrong with your baby?" are curious and insensitive and don't realize they're being rude. Simply say, "It's a birthmark, and the doctor says it will disappear by the time she's 3."

Socials Highlight Chapter's Season

As 1984 drew to a close, members of Preceptor Delta Delta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi toured the Henry S. Sanford Library-Museum before meeting at the home of Viola Frank.

Also, Margie Beine assisted at the Antique Country Fair at Lake Pineloch Village in Orlando, which is a benefit for the Threshold School for behaviorally dysfunctional children, as one of the chapter's service projects.

Members and husbands celebrated the season with a dinner party at the Langford in Winter Park on Dec. 6 when they were entertained with songs by Chuck James.

Those attending were: Helen and Don Hamner, Viola and Dickie Frank, Lesate and Joe Pauline, Betty and Bill Jack, Linda and Wayne Keeling, Kitty and Buddy Corley, Susan and Rex Byrd, Wanda and Frank Hubbard, and guests, Joyce and Gordon Blasen.

Wanda Hubbard's festively decorated home was the setting for members' Christmas Greenie Party on Dec. 11. A variety of hors d'oeuvres prepared by members were served and a mixture of beverages prepared by the hostess, and gifts were exchanged.

Members present were: Kitty Corley, Lesate Pauline, Eve Rogero, Linda Keeling, Margie Beine, Susan Byrd, Marion Parella, Viola Frank, Helen Hamner, Betty Jack, and Phyllis Senkarik. Ellen Keefer was in the hospital and was unable to attend.

Despite What TV Suggests, Most Crime Is Not Violent

RADNOR, Pa. (UPI) — Television news falsely causes many people to believe most crimes are violent and that crime rates are rising, an expert says.

Criminologist Georgette Bennett writes in the current issue of TV Guide magazine that studies indicate heavy television viewers "are the ones most rattled by the myth of a crime explosion."

Bennett, host of the syndicated radio show "Crime Line," says sporadic TV viewers "tend to be less fearful."

Only 10 percent of all crimes are violent but 10 percent of network and 20 percent of local news time is devoted to crime stories, most of them violent, she says in the Radnor-based publication.

The emphasis occurs despite statistics that show crime rates fell in 1982 and 1983, she says.

"Ironically, it's those least at risk who fear crime the most," Bennett says. "The little old lady next door is not the one most likely to be beaten or mugged. It's the young black dude on the other side of town."

Bennett says media coverage of child abuse at day-care centers has led legislators "to give priority to day-care centers rather than the home," where a high proportion of child abuse occurs.

Similarly, reports on crime in affluent neighborhoods have caused fortunes to be invested in security for upscale communities while "the really vulnerable, low-income neighborhoods are left unprotected," she says.

Pia Zadora Has Baby Girl

NEW YORK (UPI) — Pia Zadora had a "tough time" of it, but after 20 hours in labor the actress gave birth to a baby girl who "looks just like her" and both mother and baby are fine.

The baby, named Kady Zadora Riklis — her first name taken from the character Zadora played in the movie "Butterfly" — weighed in at 7-pounds 10-ounces when she was born shortly after 2 a.m. Tuesday at Manhattan's Lenox Hill Hospital, said Tino Barzile, Zadora's manager.

A hospital spokeswoman said mother and daughter were doing well.

The 28-year-old actress went into labor and was rushed to the hospital at 6 a.m. Monday. Barzile said Zadora had a "tough time" giving birth and went through 20 hours of labor.

"She was a little whipped, but she's feeling much better today," Barzile said Tuesday.

"The baby looks just like her. She has her nose, her lips, the same shaped head."

Barzile said Zadora's husband, millionaire businessman Meshulam Riklis, 60, was with her during the delivery.

Riklis has three other children from a previous marriage but this is Zadora's first child. Riklis and Zadora have been married for eight years.

Barzile said Zadora should be out of the hospital by Thursday and plans to return to work "immediately."

Zadora has appeared in such films as "Butterfly" and "The Lonely Lady."

Trial Date Set In Dramatic Crash Which Left Man Dead

A February 11 trial date has been set for a pickup truck driver charged with the DUI manslaughter of an Orlando man.

David Eugene Megahee, 22, of Orlando, was taken into custody Dec. 13 after a warrant was issued for his arrest by the State Attorney's Office. He is charged with the death of Darren Kevin Kendall, 22, of Orlando, Kendall, passenger in Megahee's truck, died shortly after a four-vehicle accident Aug. 19 on state Road 436 near Oxford Road, Casselberry.

Megahee's arrest followed a lengthy homicide investigation into the accident by the Casselberry Police Department.

According to court records, Megahee's truck was westbound on SR 436 when it crossed the median and started traveling westbound in the eastbound lane. The incident occurred at about 1:43 a.m. and the subsequent accident stopped traffic in both lanes for about two hours.

According to the court records, the truck drove over a Capria, flipped over on its side and skidded along the road. It then struck a Buick, rolled over and left the road, striking a Pontiac. The bed of the truck ripped off and flew over the roof of the car. The truck then flipped and spun over the Pontiac, throwing Megahee out of the vehicle. As the truck slammed to a halt, Kendall was thrown out. Kendall died shortly afterwards at Winter Park Memorial Hospital.

Megahee was hospitalized at the Orlando Regional Medical Center. Six other people involved in the accident received minor injuries. According to court records, Megahee has been unemployed since the accident because of injuries.

Records show that because of the extensive injuries Megahee and Kendall received, the police investigated the accident as a traffic homicide before Kendall died. Megahee was unconscious for several days after the accident and it was difficult for the police to decide that he was the driver, the records show.

The case is scheduled to be tried before Seminole Circuit Judge Robert McGregor.

Offbeat Mayor Sworn In

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Bud Clark, a tavern owner known for his "Whoop! Whoop!" campaign cry and his "Expose Yourself to Art" poster, rode a bicycle to his inauguration and took pictures of photographers taking pictures of him.

Clark, 53, who garnered more than 50 percent of the vote in a primary election in May, had never held political office and his stunning upset of incumbent Frank Ivancic was greeted by the media as a new era in city government.

The "Expose Yourself to Art" poster, featuring Clark holding open his raincoat and supposedly flashing a nude statue in downtown Portland, was famous even before Clark began his campaign. The poster has become a collector's item since.

Moving Experience Led To Probation

A Longwood couple arrested after a moving company tipped off Seminole County sheriff's deputies that the pair had illegal drugs were sentenced to 30 months probation each.

Mark Barry Faiber, 33, and Brenda Susan Faiber, 34, of 182 Dartmouth Lane, were sentenced by Circuit Judge Robert B. McGregor who advised them to avoid drugs during their probation.

They could each have received up to a year in the county jail.

According to court records, workers for Action Center Moving Co. moved the couple from 899 Littlewood Road, Altamonte Springs, to their Longwood address on May 30.

Faiber reportedly liked the work of the two moving men and asked each of them if they wanted to partake in the use of some marijuana or cocaine. Both men declined. Faiber reportedly "snorted" some of the cocaine in front of one of the movers. The men also noticed various drugs in the furniture they moved.

The couple pleaded no contest to the charges Oct. 15.

In other court action, an Oviedo man who told a sheriff's deputy he "wanted to go to jail," had his request fulfilled and spent 30 days in jail before being sentenced for disorderly intoxication.

Robert James Conley, 43, of 217 Elm St., was sentenced Wednesday by Judge Wallace Hall to 30 days in the county jail. He was given credit for the 30 days already served.

According to his arrest report, Conley was ordered twice on Nov. 13 by a sheriff's deputy not to stand in the right lane of U.S. Highway 17-92 at Park Avenue, Sanford. During the first confrontation, Conley moved but when the officer checked the area several minutes later he was back in the roadway.

Conley refused to leave the road where cars were swerving around him, according to the report. The deputy said that as he pulled Conley off the road, he poked the deputy in the chest and said he wanted to go to jail.

A charge of resisting arrest without violence was dismissed.

Social Security Checks Fatter, But Medicare Deductible Going Up Again

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The new year will bring fatter checks to 37 million Social Security recipients, a bigger payroll tax bite to 116 million workers and higher Medicare costs to hospital patients.

Beneficiaries will have to calculate whether their pensions are subject to a first-time tax. But pensioners who continue to work may earn more without losing benefits.

Among the changes coming in January:
 —The 37 million old-age, disability and survivor benefit recipients will get a 3.5 percent boost in their Jan. 3 checks. For the typical retired worker, it will be a $15 increase, to $449 a month. The typical retired couple will get $26 more, or $776 a month. Cost to the Social Security trust funds: $6.1 billion this year. The 4 million Supplemental Security Income recipients got the increase in their Dec. 31 checks. Cost to the general Treasury: $205 million.

—For 120 million workers paying into Social Security, the tax rate rises to 7.05 percent from 1984's 6.7 percent; employers, who paid 7 percent in 1984, pay 7.05 percent in 1985. For self-employed workers, who paid an effective rate of 11.3 percent in 1984, the effective rate rises to 11.8 percent.

—The maximum earnings subject to tax rises to $39,600, an increase of $1,800. That means the maximum worker tax also rises, by $259.20, to $2,791.80. It will affect about 8.9 million workers who earn more than the 1984 maximum.

For self-employed workers, the top tax rises by $401.40, to $4,672.80.

—The Medicare hospital deductible rises to $400, from 1984's $356, for the 30 million people covered by the old-age and disabled health program. That means the deductible has risen nearly $100 in two years: in 1983, it was $304.

—The monthly premium paid by enrollees in the optional Medicare Part B, which covers physician fees, tests and other outpatient care, rises to $15.50, a 6 percent boost from 1984's $14.80.

—The government is mailing 40 million forms explaining that 1984 benefits are taxable for upper-income people for the first time. If the sum of a recipient's adjusted gross income, plus tax-exempt interest, plus half his benefit exceeds a certain base, up to half his benefits are subject to income tax. The base is $25,000 for a single person or married people living separately for the entire year, $32,000 for couples, and zero for married people who lived with their spouses for any part of the year. About 10 percent of recipients — more than 3 million people — will pay higher income taxes.

—As of Jan. 1, old-age pensioners who continue to work may earn more without losing part of their benefit. Those under 65, may earn $5,400, up from $5,160. Those aged 65-69 may earn $7,320, up from $6,960. Benefits are trimmed $1 for every $2 earned over the limit; an estimated 1 million pensioners have their checks reduced for that reason. Those 70 and older have no limit.

Florida Bar Wants To Drop Illegal Law Practice Cases

By William Cotterell
 TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The Florida Bar, argued into "a no-win position" by a combative legal secretary, is considering a proposal to turn cases of "unauthorized practice of law" over to state prosecutors.

Bar President Gerald F. Richman also wants to change the name of the offense to "consumer fraud," which is what the organized legal establishment accused Rosemary Furman of practicing in her Northside Secretarial Services. The 57-year-old Jacksonville woman's four-year fight with the Bar ended in November when Gov. Bob Graham and the Cabinet spared her a 30-day jail sentence with a unanimous clemency vote.

The Bar Board of Governors and its standing committee on unauthorized practice of law will consider Richman's suggestions in meetings this month in Tampa and Clearwater. If approved, the Bar would petition the Florida Supreme Court to shift responsibility for UPL prosecution to the state attorneys.

The Bar also is spending $25,000 to find out why it lost the public relations aspects of the Furman fight, while winning all the court contests. Her claims of persecution by lawyers were aired by the CBS News program "60 Minutes" and drew nationwide attention in major newspapers and magazines.

The day before the Cabinet vote, Graham's mail count was 473-4 in favor of clemency — with three of the dissents coming from lawyers and the fourth from the Bar itself.

"From a public relations viewpoint, the Bar was clearly in a no-win position," said Richman. "Carrying out the mandate of the Supreme Court of Florida to prosecute unauthorized practice of law violations, the Bar has been consistently cast by the press in the role of an institution seeking to protect its own turf and maintain a competitive advantage."

Furman ran afoul of the Bar's UPL office by selling packets of legal papers for uncontested divorce, simple wills and name changes, along with filing instructions. She claimed she was helping the poor avoid costly lawyer fees, but the Bar argued that she counseled customers to conceal assets, supported perjury and gave legal advice that later cost customers high legal fees to correct.

Churchill Feared U.S. Would Start Nuke War

LONDON (UPI) — Secret documents released by the British Cabinet after 30 years show that Winston Churchill was deeply worried the United States might start a world war over Indochina in the 1950s.

The documents from 1954 show that Churchill was so alarmed by U.S. atomic bomb tests on Bikini Atoll in the Pacific, he urged Washington to open talks with Moscow to try to prevent a nuclear arms race.

"At present some people thought that the greatest risk was that the United States might plunge the world into war, either through a misjudged intervention in Asia or in order to forestall an attack by Russia," Cabinet minutes show.

The papers were released by the Public Records Office under the rule that selected official records may be disclosed after 30 years. Britain has no Freedom of Information Act.

According to one secret Cabinet report, U.S. military leaders even urged a nuclear strike on China in retaliation for help to Ho Chi Minh's Vietnamese rebels who handed French paratroops an embarrassing defeat at Dien Bien Phu in the spring of 1954.

The 80-year-old prime minister refused to consider the U.S. plan, worried as much by the possibility of nuclear war as by the fact that U.S. bases in eastern England made Britain a target for the Soviet Union, which had signed a pact with China.

Delinquents Will Learn How To Cope In The Woods

By Michael Moline
 TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Under a pilot program, the state of Florida will send up to 10 young women convicted of delinquency into the wilderness later this month for as long as a year in hopes of teaching them how to cope.

The female offenders, ages 12 to 17, will be assigned to an encampment near Chiefland run under a state contract by a private agency, Outward Bound, which has operated similar programs for delinquent and emotionally troubled youths.

Outward Bound's JoAnn Preston, who is helping design the program, said the young women will spend up to a year in the wilderness, living in dormitory-style tents. Besides their schooling, they will endure long marches and canoe trips and will participate in community work projects.

The idea, Preston said, is to place the young women in stressful situations and force them to learn to work together to cope. The hope, she said, is that the women will take what they have learned with them when they return to the real world.

You might call it a sort of boot camp.

"Some people could equate it to that," Preston said. "It is very structured. It is very intense. It is out there in the wilderness. It's all a way of finding out who you are."

"It is a little society," Preston said. "What happens is the folks are all living together and depending on each other for support and laughter and they begin to act like a small society."

"What happens is people are instantly confronted with the fact that they have to take responsibility. They can't blame it on anyone else. They see that they are vital to group success. They're an integral part of the group and they're important people," she said.

Previously, the young women would have ended up in the Alyce D. McPherson training school in Ocala, one of three such schools in the state, Preston said.

But the doors to the McPherson school close at the end of the year. Some residents will be transferred to the other two schools; others will be settled in halfway houses where they will undergo supervision while leading otherwise normal lives, and others will enter programs like the one being established in Chiefland.
