County Adopts 11 Mills Levy As Tentative Taxation Rate

Tax Bills May Be Ready For Mailing By Dec. 15

County taxpayers got an indication yesterday of a drastically revised millage rate this year as the county commission adopted a motion which called for a tentative rate of 11 mills for the operating budgets.

This figure is subject to change, but calls for 5.35 mills for the general budget, five for schools, and .65 for payment on hospital bonds.

County Drainage Millage Levy Study Is Urged

County Commission Chairman John Krider urged the board of commissioners yesterday to act on the need for a county wide drainage program and establishment of a millage levy to get funds to carry on the program.

Krider told the board that in his district alone, most of the money is going toward drainage problems instead of building up roads.

Other commissioners agreed and said they had the same problem.

Commissioners have been plagued with requests for rehabilitation of nearly 50 miles of drainage ditches.

"It isn't the purpose of the road and bridge funds to drain private property," Krider said.

He added that in every area in the county there appears to be a drainage problem and the only solution "seems to be a drainage levy."

Krider asked that a countywide committee be set up with each commissioner naming a member to the committee.

The commission agreed to name those who will serve on the committee at their next meeting.

News Briefs

New Society Head

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—Mrs. Claude Walker of Winter Park, Fla. Tuesday night was named president general of the National Society of the Daughters of the Court of Honor.

May Get Off Light

POPPIARVILLE, Miss. (UPI)—The white men who lynched Negro suspect Mack Charles Parker last April were almost certain to day of escaping punishment by the state. A reliable source told United Press International that the Peabody County grand jury of 18 white men simply ignored the Lynch case during its two-day deliberations, which recessed Tuesday.

Warning Rejected

BERLIN (UPI)—A Soviet embassy spokesman disclaimed responsibility today for any East German flag that may fly in West Berlin on the Nov. 9 anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution. The statement appeared to be an indirect rejection of an American warning to the Soviets against allowing East German Communists to raise the flag over West Berlin elevated railway stations this weekend.

Port Possibility

QUINCY (UPI)—The Gadsden County Commission is expected to authorize a $10,000 study Nov. 16 to determine feasibility of creating a shipping port here. The commission Tuesday tentatively awarded the contract to the Jacksonville engineering firm of Reynolds, Smith and Hills. The survey expected to take two years, includes a study of the Apalachicola River above and below Jim Woodruff Dam.

Satellite Capsule

Equipment Gets OK

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Escape equipment was successfully tested today for the U. S. satellite capsule that will carry man into space. This was done in a rocket shot at Wallops Island, Va.

The capsule was fired to an altitude of 38,000 feet by engineers of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration with a powerful Little Joe booster.

"The test was a complete success," a NASA spokesman said.

The capsule, similar to the one in which a Mercury Astronaut will be fired into orbit sometime in 1961, descended into the Atlantic five miles from NASA's test station on the eastern shore of Virginia.

The launching, at 9:55 a.m., was the second in a series of Little Joe flights to perfect escape and rescue equipment designed for the Mercury program.

MAKING IT OFFICIAL is this canvass of the ballots of the City Commission race. The City Commissioners and Mayor Al Wilson certified the vote at a noon meeting. Commissioner Robert Brown, Mayor A. L. U.S. Troops Guard Canal Zone Border After Anti-American Riots Break Out

BALBOA, Canal Zone (UPI)—

U. S. Army troops equipped with machineguns and mortars guarded the borders of the Canal Zone today against any new invasion attempt by mobs of anti-American nationalists from the Panama Republic.

Rioting nationalists in Panama City Tuesday ripped to shreds the U. S. Embassy flag, smashed windows in U. S. Agencies, burned automobiles and stoned U. S. Canal Zone guards. The U. S. consulate in Colon at the Atlantic end of the 50-mile wide isthmus also was attacked.

Troops kept the rioters out of the Canal Zone itself.

The violence erupted during what was billed by its sponsor—former Foreign Minister Aquilino Boyd—as a "peaceful invasion" of the zone to "reaffirm Panamanian sovereignty" over the canal zone, leased to the United States "in perpetuity" in 1903.

U. S. Ambassador Julian Fisk Harrington delivered a stinging protest note to the Panamanian foreign ministry against the "unwarranted desecration" of the American flag. He said this seriously endangered relations between the two countries.

It was the worst anti-American violence in Panama in more than 30 years.

Canal Zone Gov. William K. Potter requested the Army take over enforcement of law and order after hard-pressed police had spent more than five hours fending off rock-throwing, cursing Panamanian youths.

The demonstrators were infuriated when police refused them permission to carry the Panamanian flag into the U. S. controlled zone. At least three policemen were injured and two demonstrators arrested.

U. S. soldiers with bared bayonets moved up to ring the frontiers with Panama. Searchlights were concentrated along the border to frustrate any possible attempt at infiltration during the night.

Some Canal Zone authorities were openly critical at the failure of the national guard—Panama's only military force—to stop youths from hurling rocks at Canal Zone guards from inside Panama. Potter himself commented earlier on what he said was the "strange lack of will" on the part of the national guard in suppressing the violence at the outset.

National guardsmen were rushed to the U. S. Embassy after the attack and others prevented rioters from looting the Panama City railroad station, which is part of the Canal Zone enterprises.

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—The State Legislative Investigating Committee today resumed its long-delayed investigation of communism in the Florida NAACP.

Legislators Resume Inquiry On NAACP

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—The State Legislative Investigating Committee today resumed its long-delayed investigation of communism in the Florida NAACP.

Committee counsel Mark Hawes of Tampa said Tuesday the committee has the names of 160 persons, each of whom "was under direct orders to infiltrate and influence the NAACP."

The committee has subpoenaed in witnesses, including nearly all of the Negro group's top officials in Florida.

Those subpoenaed were Rev. A. Leon Lowery of Tampa, state NAACP president; Ruth Perry of Miami, white state secretary; treasurer of the organization; former state treasurer Vernell P. Abury, Miami; the Rev. Theodore R. Gibson, president of the Miami chapter; G. E. Graves Jr., attorney for the Miami chapter; Rev. Edward T. Graham, former Miami chapter president; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stillier, Abie Surkin and Arlington Sans, all of Miami.

Democrats Prove Strength With Big Political Wins

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Democrats came out of the 1958 elections today with the same show of muscle they have been displaying in recent off-year political tests. Republicans also found something to boast about in city elections in Ohio and upstate New York.

For the Democrats, the bright spot in Tuesday's voting was the election of a governor in Kentucky, the crushing defeat given Harold S. Stassen in the Philadelphia mayoral election and a sweep of Indiana city elections.

With scattered exceptions, Tuesday's voting followed the form sheet.

In Kentucky, Democrat Bert T. Combs was a runaway victor over John M. Robison Jr. in the contest for governor. Republicans had hoped that a fractional split among Democrats would elect Robison in the normally Democratic state, but backers of retiring Democratic Gov. A. B. (Happy) Chandler failed to give them the necessary help.

Chandler, a declared candidate for the 1960 Democratic presidential nomination and a foe of Combs, now has little hope of going to the national convention next year as Kentucky's favorite son.

Stassen, former Minnesota governor who sought the Republican nomination for president in 1948 and 1952, and for governor of Pennsylvania in 1958, continued running downhill in the Philadelphia election. Democratic Mayor Richardson Dilworth won reelection easily.

In Indiana, Democrats won all but one of the mayoral elections in the 25 largest cities. They displaced Republicans in Fort Wayne, Lafayette and Columbus and held on to mayors' offices they won four years ago in Indianapolis, Gary, South Bend and other cities.

New Jersey Democrats retained control of the state Assembly but failed to wrest the Senate from the GOP. This result was a blow to Democratic Gov. Robert B. Meyner because the president of the Senate becomes governor if the job is vacant. Meyner would turn over the state administration to the GOP if he stepped out next year for a place on the Democratic national ticket or for a try at a U. S. Senate seat.

Kentucky, Virginia and Mississippi also held legislative elections but the GOP posed no threat to Democratic control in any of the three. Mississippi elected Democrat Ross Barnett governor without opposition.

The chief prize won by the Republicans Tuesday was the mayor's office at Columbus, Ohio, the state capital, where a Democrat was unseated. Republicans also displaced Democratic mayors in Massillon, Niles and Zircia.

In the first 100 Ohio cities counted, Republicans had replaced 10 Democratic mayors and lost six to the Democrats.

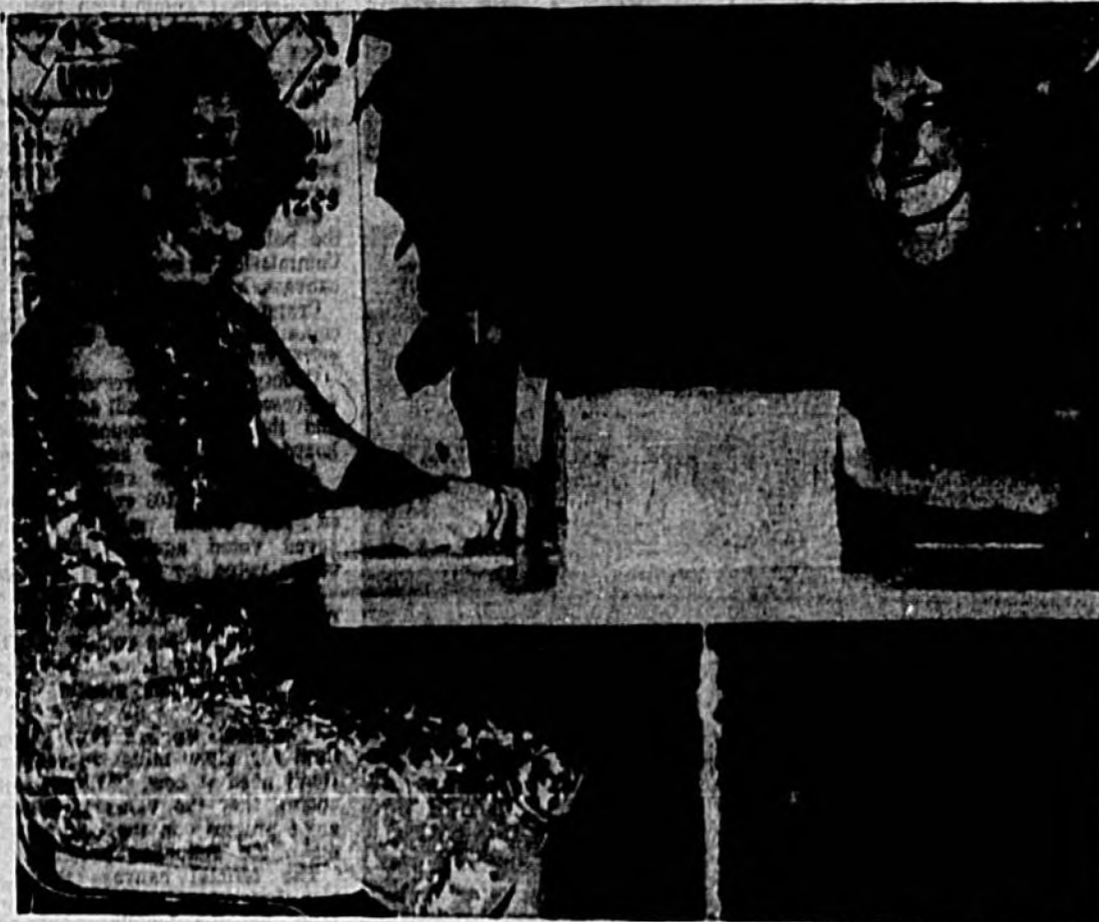

In mayoral elections in New York, Republicans ousted Democrats in 10, including Utica, Troy and Ithaca, while Democrats displaced seven Republicans.

In Boston's nonpartisan election, Suffolk county Register of Probate John F. Collins won an upset victory for mayor over Senate President John E. Powers, who had been endorsed by Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.). Both candidates were Democrats.

J. Bracken Lee, former governor of Utah who broke away from the GOP, was elected mayor of Salt Lake City in another nonpartisan election.

Mayor George Christopher was reelected in San Francisco in a non-partisan vote, and Democratic Mayor Anthony Celebrezze was elected to a fourth term at Cleveland.

CPO WIVES, Mrs. Rex King, left, and Mrs. Harold Sundvall have been lending a helping hand in the United Fund Drive. The two have been at the Navy Exchange Building at the Naval Air Station selling tickets in a contest to raise funds for the UF drive.

All Out For Peanut Bowl Saturday

Come Saturday night, it's time for another Peanut Bowl football game and everybody around here ought to support it.

It's hard to find a venture, especially an amateur one, in which the sponsors take such intense interest. The men and women who are helping stage the Peanut Bowl contest are working as if they had a million dollars at stake.

The stakes are high—it's an investment in the junior high school kids who take part. And the Peanut Bowl is more than football. It includes many, many students among the cheerleaders, cheerleaders, bands, and others connected with the event.

The Lyman and Sanford Junior High School teams will perform on the field and the others will get to take part in the sideline activities. Young people from all over the county will be in it.

Funds raised through ticket sales will be spent on the kids next year. That's the best feature.

Churchill Is Learning How To Take Orders

BY ROBERT MUSKIE

LONDON (UPI) — Sir Winston Churchill yesterday learned the hard way that he is not invincible.

He was humiliated when he was asked to resign as prime minister. It was a blow to his pride.

"Put on your hat," she commanded. Sir Winston began to grumble, but he caught his wife's amused glance and his face broke into a cherubic smile.

He clasped his fingers on his head when Lady Churchill wanted it as protection against the cool autumn air. And another little domestic victory was hers.

The great statesman's battle against time is as epic as his struggles against tyranny in two wars. Time will win, as it always must, but few world figures have fought back so often and so valiantly.

Less than a month before his 65th birthday — Nov. 30 — Sir Winston is apt to forget his age, his two strokes, three heart attacks and innumerable serious illnesses. The weight of the years has bowed his shoulders, but not his spirit.

It is Lady Clementine Hooper Churchill who is always there to remind him gently that he is mortal. Her guidance is a remarkable and touching thing to see in the old warrior tottering forward in a career still as full as that of much younger men.

Lady Clementine wed young Winston 51 years ago when she was 23 and he was already a promising politician.

Later he said: "We were married and I lived happily ever after."

For four decades, Lady Clementine was self-effacing, content to be the woman behind a great personality.

But in recent years, as her husband has aged, she has gradually moved forward to his side.

I have watched them closely in public many times — as recently as last weekend when they attended the unveiling of a statue of Sir Winston at his parliamentary constituency of Woodford.

Unobtrusively, Lady Clementine whispered the cue for his speech into his ear — he is hard of hearing. Unobtrusively, she helped him rise to his feet and handed him his speech. She directed his attention to a friend who had waved from the crowd. She made him put on his hat.

It is hard for a man who has given orders all his life to begin asking them but Sir Winston must be learning. He told his family he was going to the south of France after his birthday. Lady Clementine said he could not go until after Christmas.

He is going after Christmas.

Old-Time Mill Still Going Strong

DEKALB, Miss. (UPI) — A water-powered grist mill more than 100 years old still turns out about 60 bags of corn meal a day from its 4,000-pound grinding stones near here.

The mill is operated by George W. Scipley, 59, at the hamlet of Scipley Mill, established by Scipley's great-grandfather. Scipley says maintenance work on the mill has cost $16 in the past 56 years.

Assignment Washington

By ED KOTERRA

BETHESDA, Md. — The voice was inconspicuously cheerful. It was coming through as clear as someone speaking into a loudspeaker from the next room.

It was in the middle of a sentence . . . "70 to 80 knots now, and the temperature's around 32 below . . . The snow's holding the visibility down to 100 yards."

I swallowed hard. The hour was 2:30 a. m. here. I was in a neighbor's den. He was leaning over his ham radio set.

The amateur radio operator, Al Sears, was tuned in to McMurdo Sound in the Antarctic. The jovial voice on the other end was that of Naval Commander James J. Brown, a dentist, who'd been in the Antarctic a year.

An 80-knot wind! Thirty-two degrees below zero . . . I felt that cold in my bones. McMurdo Sound is 14,000 miles away but that icy chill of the Antarctic was something personal.

Because, in one week, that's where I'd be.

Now I knew why the Navy demanded a thorough physical exam before they'd allow me to lay foot on that frozen fastness.

Less than 1,000 men from a dozen nations, including about 300 from the United States, are now the sole human inhabitants of that wilderness, the fifth largest continent in the world.

To get the feeling of isolation that those men must feel, imagine you and 299 other people the only human inhabitants in the entire U. S. and Mexico.

Commander Brown was now saying: "We'll be out there on the ice strip to welcome you . . . Have a pleasant journey." And when Al Sears tuned off I got to thinking about the strange way this three-way meeting came about.

The other day, our seven-year-old brought a new playmate, a fellow second-grader, to the house and I overheard them bragging about their dad.

Our young one said: "My daddy is going to the South Pole." And little Mike Brown said: "My daddy's already at the South Pole."

I moved in to break it up and Mike protested: "But my daddy is really down there. He's in Antarctica. Call my mama if you don't believe me." I called, to find out if this was such a small world, after all. And it was.

Mike's mother said that, as a matter of fact, her husband operates the ham radio down there, and, as another matter of fact, would be talking within a few hours with ham operator Sears whom he had met long distance by fiddling with the dial down there.

There was a reason for the happy tilt in Commander Brown's voice. After one full year in the Antarctic, he'll be leaving in a few weeks for home—to Mom and the three boys.

It Takes Courage, But Eating Is Adventure

(Editor's Note: This is the twelfth of a series of articles by A. M. and R. H. Itskell who are now in Europe.)

MADRID — If one is courageous, or a little soft in the head, it is possible to have all sorts of adventures while looking for a place to eat.

In France, way out in the country, we came upon a little inn on a river, with an outside garden. We stopped and were soon surrounded by chickens, kittens, dogs, and an ample French woman who was anxious to offer us the specialties of the house.

We told her to use her judgment and ended up with a delicious lunch, some of which we had to feed to the livestock in order not to hurt Madame's feelings.

The next day we found a little place on the road from San Sebastian to Madrid, which looked all right. It definitely was. The chef and owner appeared in his high white hat and probably because I had on a beret (purchased in Belgium) decided I was French.

What with his Spanish accented French and my American accent, we ended up with his specialty, which we thought was one dish.

First came a crisp bit of stuffed pastry and some little potato croquets. Then there was a white fish with mussels and shrimps. After that a sort of veal bird stuffed with ham. The chef served each course and hovered over us until we took the first bite with congratulations in English, Spanish and French.

We had to decline the desert, cheese and coffee for fear of apoplexy. When we paid the bill—$5.50 including a bottle of wine and dry sherry as an aperitif, the chef presented us with a bottle of his own cider, a green and white concoction which we have since gotten rid of.

Our "light lunch" turned into an international contest of charm, a delicious meal, and a delightful experience.

In a restaurant off the Place Mayor in Madrid, where the Inquisition burned its victims, we tried out the classic Spanish menu. Bright red, garlicky Pamplona sausages, gaspacho, the cold Spanish soup like a wet salad, and paella, rice with chicken, shrimp, prawns, onions, and various things that we did not, probably mercifully, recognize. The portions were much more than we could cope with, but it was all extremely good.

Sooner or later, we will get up nerve to try the squid cooked in its own ink that is a Spanish delicacy, but this may take a little time.

Sally Rand Still Ready To Perform For World Fair

CHICAGO (UPI) — No matter what a mayor of New York City once said about her, Sally Rand will be willing and ready to dance at the New York World's Fair in 1964, she said today.

Unless, of course, a certain high school junior—her son—takes up too much of her time.

Sally as a fan dancer helped put the Chicago Century of Progress on the world's entertainment map in 1933 and 1934, and in 1939 when New York played host to a world's fair, she got an offer to appear there.

The late Mayor Fiorello La Guardia promptly issued a statement saying he would resign if she appeared there. Supposedly, he disapproved of her act and her costumes. The costumes, oversized fans, was displayed most of the time between Sally and her audiences.

Sally is now playing at a Chicago night club and still packing them in with roughly the same act and the same costume, or lack of it.

Washington Calling

BY MARSHALL CHASE

WASHINGTON — The dismay, the chagrin, the anger, and, yes, the sympathy so evident in the crowded hearing room as young Charles Van Doren testified are the emotions that will be felt everywhere with the climax of this national tragedy.

It is not less than that. As with everything that happens on the American stage, this cannot help but have international implications.

The comies of America around the world, and the center is by no means limited to the Communists, will find it useful ammunition. Here was a brilliant young intellectual, a teacher, talented in various fields, coming of a family of scholars and writers. Yet he lent himself to a conspiracy to defame all these values for a "show" and for the rich rewards that came to him from that "show."

Foreign observers here are interpreting this as another proof of the confusion of intellectual and moral values in America. For our friends it is a source of great sorrow. They say it is only a small incident which does not vitiate the broad attainments of American learning and scholarship in the thousands of educational institutions across the country.

But they know the uses that will be made of it by enemies of America on the left and right. It will be held up as another bit of evidence that despite all the protestations about spiritual values, so often articulated by President Eisenhower, the values of the mind and the spirit take second place to money.

This reporter recalls the atmosphere on the special train with Premier Khrushchev on the day after the unhappy episode in Hollywood. The can-can dance had shocked the Khrushchev party. American officials traveling with the Premier knew full well the use which he could make of this piece of crudity. It remained, however, for one of the European newspaper correspondents, deeply anti-Communist and extremely knowledgeable about the Communist bloc, to sum up the damage.

"You cannot know how this has harmed intellectuals and artists in the Soviet bloc who are struggling for freedom of expression," he said. "They believe in it as much and in what it has achieved in the West that they risk much for it."

"Now Khrushchev can say to them: 'What, you want to be like the West? You say you want freedom? Well, I have seen it at firsthand as you have not, and it is vulgar and cheap.'"

The Russian propaganda mill is currently taking a moderate line on the United States. It can, of course, shift gears and come back with the old virulence. Little imagination is required to appreciate what could be done with the bonanza of the rigged quiz shows. In any event, whether with or without a propaganda booster this news is being reported around the world.

The general feeling in the committee room and among the committee members was one of relief after Van Doren had told all. He had so clearly gone through a fearful ordeal. Perhaps the dominant emotion was one of sympathy with the realization that he had been poorly tempted.

But within the committee there was also the feeling that while he had gone a long way in making a full confession he had not gone far enough. How does he propose to make up for what he has done. It was being asked when he had concluded his trial by public humiliation. Having received so many benefits from the free society in which he grew up and having in effect betrayed that society, does he not now owe a debt above and beyond the law and its possible penalties. These are questions in the mind of Congressmen seriously concerned over the TV revelations.

In this era of flush prosperity when the emphasis in government is on economy and cutting the corners frank speaking is comparatively rare. But the other day in a speech here Professor George F. Kennan summed up the American dilemma in words that encompass many phenomena, among them perhaps the Van Doren tragedy:

"If you ask me — as a historian let us say — whether a country in the state this country is in today, with a highly developed sense of national purpose, with the overwhelming accent of life on personal comfort and amusement, with a dearth of public services and a surfeit of privately sold gadgetry, with a chaotic transportation system, gradually disintegrated by the headlong switch to motor transportation, with an educational system where quality has been extensively sacrificed to quantity, and with insufficient social discipline even to keep its major industries functioning without grievous interruptions — if you ask me whether such a country has, over the long run, good chances of competing with a purposeful, serious and disciplined union such as that of the Soviet Union, I must say that the answer is 'no.'"

cess. In the first place, the food gave out. Those in charge of the luncheon and food, stated that they served the largest number of people ever served at such an occasion. They should know, as some of the workers have been helping in the kitchen for the past eleven years.

Room mother of the eleventh grade, Mrs. E. L. Bellhorn and the other eleventh grade mother were in charge of the turkey dinner. Hot dog booths and the side-walk cafe were in operation until the end of the festivities.

One of the most popular attractions was the 40 ft. vulture train, with all the other attractions running a close second.

There were costumes of every description. The judges had a difficult time deciding the winners. Betty Joyce and Stacey Francis won in the pre-school age group and Gilbert Mincel and Terry Rataburn in the first to third grade group.

Fourth to sixth grade bracket winners were Larry Neely and Bobby Boyle, seventh to ninth grade group. Lorene Boyle and Allan Shull and Foye Shull won the adult group prize.

Tex Clontz, carnival chairman, and his entire group of co-workers deserve a lot of praise for a job well done.

Garden Gate

By ELSIE VILLEN
Hemerocallis Circle

Many people, by this time, have their winter garden planted, with annuals already up and growing rapidly. But there are still a great number who haven't made any serious effort toward their winter flowers. However, there is still plenty of time—especially if you purchase plants instead of seed.

Some of the annuals bloom in a very short time after planting the seed. Alyssum, balsam, sweet peas and violets require only six weeks. Baby's breath, candy-tuft, gerbera, helichrysum, lobelia, lupine, nasturtium, statice and possibly several others will be in bloom just eight weeks after the seeds are in. Much depends upon your skill and experience as a gardener.

Fertilizing is a necessary and continuous operation in Florida gardening. Most of the soils are sandy, with no clay, which means a rapid leaching away of soluble plant foods. What humus there is does not remain very long in the soil. Warm, porous soils and plenty of moisture during the long summer season make an ideal environment for the soil bacteria.

Even during our mild winters the bacteria are only slowed up, and the decomposition of humus goes on all thru the year. That is why, both organic and commercial fertilizers need to be applied frequently. Always be "building up" the soil. Plants do not enrich the ground unless they are turned under and allowed to become humus.

There are quite a number of bulbs that can be planted now, such as gladioli, freesia, Easter lily, anemone, amaryllis, calla, southern iris, zephyranthes and hyacinths. A handful of building sand under each bulb and a generous supply of food and moisture will insure large and perfect blossoms.

Cut back all chrysanthemums as soon as they have bloomed, removing as much of the old stalk as possible. The new shoots will then develop to be transplanted in the spring.

Shrubs that have completed their fall blooming are due a good trimming and pruning. Consider the habits of the particular plant you are trimming and cut accordingly. Ligustrum, hibiscus, turk's cap, most of the varieties of croton and many other shrubs will branch profusely immediately under the cut.

This month and on into December is the best time to wipe out any ant colonies. Once the nest is destroyed the few ants that escape will be less likely to start a new nest. For grasshoppers and worms a poisoned mass ball or spraying with a stomach poison will protect your plants. The spray is easier to use and will kill all chewing insects.

Missing Judge Seen In Hotel

CHICAGO (UPI)—One of Chicago's leading citizens stopped forward Monday to report he saw missing Judge W. Lynn Parkinson weaving violently through a downtown hotel.

Walker P. Paspeke's report made him the last known person to see the judge before he vanished Oct. 30.

Paspeke is chairman of the Continental Corp. of America, founder of the Aspen, Colo., arts colony, director of numerous other corporations and holder of many awards and honorary degrees.

Earlier witnesses had placed the judge in the Drake Hotel, but Paspeke's report carried Parkinson further along the Drake arcade—and closer to an exit leading to Lake Michigan.

The discovery of Parkinson's glasses and umbrella in the vicinity tended to support police theories the judge staggered from the hotel to the beach, fell in and drowned.

Paspeke said he followed Judge Parkinson into the hotel, Paspeke's home, and noticed the judge weaving from side to side as if violently ill.

"I looked at him and I thought maybe somebody had been celebrating too much," Paspeke said. "I didn't know the judge."

The appeals court jurist "sort of bounced from one wall to the other side," Paspeke said. "He was quite unsteady. I didn't say a word and he didn't either."

Paspeke said he thought the man he had seen was just a drunk until he spotted pictures of the judge in the Sunday newspapers.

You can look for singer Tommy Sands to turn up as a guest star on Garry Moore's CBS program Nov. 10 and on Perry Como's NBC show on Dec. 9.

Tech Star Out For Irish Clash

United Press International — Coach Wade Walker, who is certain the toughest team we have yet to face, had a rugged two-hour workout which continued until the lights had to be turned on. Fast defense was stressed.

Giants Favored To Retain Lead

United Press International — The New York Giants are seven-point favorites to retain their one-game lead in the National Football League's Eastern Division Sunday by whipping the Chicago Cardinals at Yankee Stadium.

The San Francisco Forty-Niners, nursing a one-game lead over the Baltimore Colts in the Western race, are rated even with the Rams for their game at Los Angeles.

Sunday's other key games will be played at Washington and Cleveland. Baltimore, upset by Cleveland last Sunday, is a 5½ point favorite to bounce back at the expense of the Redskins.

The Browns and Philadelphia Eagles, bracketed a game behind New York in the East, clash at Cleveland. The Browns are eight-point favorites.

The Chicago Bears play host to the Green Bay Packers and are seven-point favorites to win the old rivalry. The Pittsburgh Steelers entertain the Detroit Lions and are six-point favorites.

New York (3-1) may have to play the Cardinals (2-4) without its two key offensive performers, Charley Conerly and Frank Gifford. Conerly, the club's No. 1 quarterback, sprained his right ankle during last week's 20-3 victory over the Packers. Gifford missed last Sunday's game because of a torn rib cartilage suffered two weeks ago at Pittsburgh. Bob Schnelker, New York's top offensive end, also may not play because of a back injury.

Lineman Accused Of Misconduct

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — The University of California today granted for punishment of Mike McKeever, Southern California guard they charged deliberately injured Cal halfback Steve Bates last Saturday.

California President Clark Kerr and Chancellor Glenn T. Seaborg Tuesday night issued a statement accusing the All-American candidate of smashing Bates in the face in an action they called "completely unnecessary and uncalled for."

The statement — which said movies and still pictures of the incident would be released to the public and shown to the presidents of the conference — said Dr. Norman Topping, president of the University of Southern California, and Francis Tappan, USC vice president, had agreed to take action.

Topping, without naming McKeever, issued a statement apologizing "to the extent we are responsible" and indicating that he felt the incident was closed.

However, Greg Engelhard, California director of athletics, called the Southern California statement "very unsatisfactory."

Bates was seriously injured in the game which Southern California won 14-7. He was hospitalized with a broken nose and cheek and several loosened teeth and will not be able to play for the rest of the season.

Covers Sports

By JERRY COVINGTON
With a week of rest behind them, the Sanford Seminoles prepare to enter the final grind of the 1959 football season. The local Tribe had an open date last week and they will go into the contest Friday night against Leesburg in probably the best physical condition of the season.

With games against Leesburg, Bishop Moore, Lakeview, and DeLand still remaining, the Seminoles are expected to roar back and wind up with a respectable 500 season or better. Their record is now 2-4 and two of these losses were by a single point, so with a couple of breaks it well could have been 4-2.

I recall that last season a team that finished with an 8-2-1 record started in much the same fashion that the Seminoles of this year did. They fought Apopka to a 0-0 tie in the rain and then followed with disappointing losses to Seabreeze and Ketterlinus. Then came the big upset victory over Fort Myers on the field goal by big Don Carter.

This was all it took. From here on out the Seminoles found themselves and they went all the rest of the way undefeated. Against Winter Park I got the same feeling that the victory did the trick!

The potential has been with the young team all along and with the greatness they showed at times you couldn't give up on them. They were very impressive against Winter Park and I feel that they will be playing the same type of ball from here on out. I'll go out on a limb and predict that we will go all the way from here on out and finish with a roaring 6-4 record for the season.

Speaking of the Seminoles, have you ever had the misfortune of sitting by some Dodo at the ball game that did nothing but run down the Sanford team? Melba Pigott, wife of Coach Jim Pigott, ran into just such a fellow at the last game against Winter Park. He didn't bother to watch the game but spent most of the time ridiculing the Sanford players. It got so bad that Melba finally asked him where he went to school and he said "Seminoles High". Well, Melba picked up her children and moved!

What kind of person is it who doesn't stop to realize that the players on the field are only kids! A kid is a kid no matter whom he plays for and they are all subject to error—so you who constantly are complaining about something remember this!

Five against ten the fellow that runs down the hometown was probably the best seamstress in the home economics class. Friend, before you talk about these kids, learn something about them because I think they are one of the finest groups I have come in contact with and when on the field they play a lot harder than you probably work!

Cool, typewriter, cool!

Fraley Picks Weekend Grid Winners

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — Fraley's follies and the week-end football "winners"—while making like a real "expert."

Syracuse over Penn State—Syracuse is listed as a seven-point favorite on the theory that State is overvalued at home. But the thought here is that the "Sizeable Seven" is better than that.

Navy over Maryland—It's Navy by seven but a porous defense indicates a free-scoring game.

Yale over Penn—The blue-plate special with Penn favored by six. Princeton over Harvard — The word is that Harvard found itself but not quite enough.

Also: Cornell over Brown, Pitt over Boston College, Army over Villanova, Holy Cross over Boston U., Dartmouth over Columbia, Lehigh over VMI and Delaware over Temple.

Notre Dame over Georgia Tech—The Irish, aided by playing at LSU over Tennessee — Defense home, seem to have found themselves.

Illinois over Michigan — But watch out for the every-other-week Wolverines.

Northwestern over Wisconsin — Discount that Badger shave against Michigan.

Also: Ohio State over Indiana Purdue over Michigan State, Air Force over Missouri, Iowa State over Nebraska, Kansas over Colorado and Oklahoma over Kansas State.

USC over West Virginia—Could be the nation's best team. Oregon over California—Rested while Cal comes off a toughie.

Stanford over UCLA — Big offense swings it.

Also: Washington over Oregon State, Oklahoma State over Denver, Colorado State over Utah State and Brigham Young over New Mexico.

Poor Salmon Figures Show

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI)—Figures released by the Bureau of Fisheries showed that the 1950 salmon catch was one of the poorest on record, down some 40 per cent from last year.

Catch of 3,000,000 cases of salmon were packed in 1958, but the total for this year was only 1,770,705. A bureau spokesman attributed the decline to stormy weather and an unusually poor run of fish.

India Students Mob Red Embassy Over Border Raids

NEW DELHI (UPI)—More than 3,000 Indian students mobbed the Communist Chinese Embassy today to protest Chinese raids across India's borders.

"Death to Chen En-lai!" the students shouted. The reference was to the Communist Chinese premier. Some of the students roughed up a Chinese-American newsmen they thought was a Communist.

Police rescued the journalist, who asked that he not be identified, and finally succeeded in keeping the crowd from getting further out of hand.

The police allowed a student leader to try to present a note of protest to Chinese Embassy officials, who refused to accept it. The students posted the note on the embassy gates. It read: "We are fully prepared to face the challenge of your hostile country. We are pledged to resist the further advance of your forces and also to eject your troops from the (border area of) areas into which you have intruded."

Something Seems Wrong In This TV Paradise

By FRED DANZIG

NEW YORK (UPI)—What's wrong with ABC-TV's hour-long series, Adventure In Paradise?

The show took a severe thrashing when it debuted. Even the agency men and film executives who helped put it together voiced distaste over the show. They vowed to work harder to improve it. Gardner McKay, the star, began taking lessons on how to act. I was assured last week that the show had improved so much that I might be pleasantly surprised if I took another look.

What's this stuff about double jeopardy?

Monday night's story was straight out of those Peter Lorre movies. His early ones. Paulette Goddard was on deck as a woman living it up on Nausea who didn't want her daughter to learn about her dreadful past. "I'm going to be very sure my past doesn't ruin her future," she said. She put it. Paulette was threatened by a killer-blackmailer, played well enough by Simon Oakland. It all came out okay, however, after one of those patented ABC-TV warehouse brawls.

Still absent from the show are paradise-like scenes of the South Pacific. Most of Monday night's action took place at night, or inside houses or cafes or that blooming warehouse. And as for adventure—it was sadly outdated. However, McKay's acting has improved. He's only a monotone 98 per cent of the time now. But his eyelashes still flutter before he speaks. I think this little preliminary helps rev up his voice.

Someone once said that, because of TV, new performers no longer have any place in which to be bad. Nonsense. There is a place for new talent to be bad. Ironically, it's TV. And Adventure In Paradise is the best example I've seen.

Pat Harrington Jr., a performer who is resurrecting direct comedy on TV, joined the permanent Danny Thomas show company Monday night on CBS-TV. He plays the part of a young night club comedian who specializes in being an Italian golf pro named Guido Panzini which is the role he made famous on Jack Paar's show. Harrington's shortcomings as a straight actor were plainly evident, but in his less emotional scenes with Thomas, he showed promise of becoming an asset to the show.

The Channel 44s: Recording artists who will receive "Grammy" awards on the Sunday, Nov. 20 NBC-TV special presented by the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences include Ella Fitzgerald, Bobby Darin, Duke Ellington, Jimmy Driftwood, Shelley Berman and the Southern California Mormon Tabernacle Choir.

Communists Suffer Major Setback In Israel Election

JERUSALEM, Israel (UPI)—

Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion's Mapai (Moderate Labor Party) forged strongly ahead today as the dominant party in Israel's parliamentary elections. The Communists appeared to be taking a beating.

All indications were that returns from Tuesday's general elections would increase Ben-Gurion's holdings in the Knesset parliament where his party held 40 of the 120 seats. Another coalition government was certain, but with the Mapai more dominant.

The official Tel Aviv radio said with counting completed in 2,275 of the 2,412 polling stations the Mapai had won 39.42 per cent of the total votes as compared with 32.2 per cent in the 1955 voting. The right-wing Herut (Freedom Party) was second with a 13.4 per cent. The National Religious Front Miral was third with 10.7.

Other results announced were the left-wing Mapam (United Workers) 7.22; General Zionists 6.19; left-wing Abud Avoda (Unity of Labor) 5.99; Agudat bloc 4.74; and Progressive 4.66.

The Communists, who polled 4.3 per cent in the 1955 elections and sent six members to Parliament, thus far had won only 2.8 per cent of the votes. Cairo Radio earlier this week asked Israel Arabs to vote for the Communists but many Arabs appeared to have defected.

The seats in Parliament are apportioned on the percentage of votes registered for a party. There were no individual candidates as such since the parties themselves name the representatives.

A further indication of Ben-Gurion's gains occurred in the voting for the Jerusalem municipal council where a final count gave the Mapai 33.8 per cent of the vote compared with 28.7 per cent in the 1955 balloting.

Worry Clinic

Bobby's mother is going to make him a lifelong victim of stuttering by her own neurotic behavior unless she gets help to psychology fast. Scrapbook this case about the "Stutter Triangle." For further advice, look up my college textbooks in your local library, for stutterers should be free quickly.

By GEORGE W. CRANE,
Ph.D., M.D.

CASE C-482: Bobby B., aged 3, should interest all of you.

"Dr. Crane," his worried mother began, "Bobby is beginning to stutter."

"Although I try to correct him, it doesn't do much good. In fact, I fear he is getting worse."

"So I stop him and try to make him repeat the sentence more slowly."

"I am at my wit's end, and am becoming neurotic over the matter. What else can I do?"

NEUROTIC SYMPTOMS

Stuttering is often a neurotic symptom—primarily of the parents, not the child.

It would be true to say that Bobby's mother was a neurotic long before he began stuttering. Her tense personality may have predisposed Bobby to stutter.

Actually, however, stuttering is NORMAL at the pre-school stage, so Bobby's parents should NOT have spotlighted this condition.

At the age of 3 or 4, a child usually has a much larger "understanding" vocabulary than he has a "speaking" vocabulary.

You adults may recall, in this connection, what happened when you studied French or Spanish or German, or Latin.

You could read or understand far more of that foreign tongue, than you could glibly speak.

Well, the very same situation occurs here in America when our toddlers begin to learn words. They understand far more than they can speak.

So, in their excitement, they stumble over the act of talking for they can't find enough words to keep up with their richer ideas.

This normal stuttering will disappear by the time the child enters first grade—UNLESS:

And that "UNLESS" means, "UNLESS" his neurotic parents "fixate" his attention on his speech defects.

If they keep yelling at him long enough, they can make him an self-conscious about the mechanical act of speaking, that he will develop a lifelong habit of checking his speech after starting a sentence, and may thus become a confirmed stutterer.

CAUSES OF STUTTERING

Later, in the teens, a child usually develops the type of stuttering which is based on social humiliation.

Maybe he mispronounced a word in class. Everybody laughed. Because he was a shy introvert, he blushed and grew confused. He felt embarrassed.

He turned his conscious attention toward what should be a mechanical act, namely, conversation. And stuttering then fastened itself upon his speech.

To help this older type of stutterer break his slavery to this nuisance social habit, remind him of the famous "Stutter Triangle".

Stuttering usually starts when the victim is —

(1) Conversing in a normal tone;

(2) In his native tongue (English, here in the U. S. A.);

(3) With human beings.

Change any corner of this stutter triangle and you help free the victim. Thus, if he pitches his voice higher or lower or holds pebbles in his mouth, he alters Corner (1). Ventiloquism stops it, too.

If he changes Corner (2), as by speaking in a foreign language, he will stop stuttering.

And if he talks to animals, as dogs or horses, or trees, or even the waves of the sea, a la Demosthenes, he can help free himself quickly.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long 4c stamped, addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Soviet Agreement Raises Hope For Nuclear Test Ban

GENEVA (UPI)—The sudden willingness of the Soviet Union to join the West in scientific studies of new information on hard-to-detect underground nuclear blasts gave new hopes today for success in negotiations for a ban on nuclear tests.

The Russians' major concession Tuesday to arrange a meeting of British, American, and Soviet scientists here in mid-November to study the new United States information on underground blasts ended months of Western insistence that the studies were absolutely essential.

The U. S. State Department and the British Foreign Office were carefully studying the Russian proposal but were certain to approve it. Informal sources indicated formal approval might take several days.

Soviet Delegate Semyon Tsarapkin made it clear that Russia accepted the Western proposal only to "have the talks from a U. S. threat of collapse."

Police Department Scandal Shakes Columbus, Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—Ashamed and conspicuous.

That's the feeling of many an honest Columbus police officer as he goes about his duties in the wake of the Police Department scandal that has rocked Ohio's capital city.

Ashamed, because at least nine policemen, including a sergeant, have been arrested in connection with police thefts in stores and businesses they are sworn to protect.

Conspicuous, because their blue uniforms have become the targets of public insults, jibes and ridicule as a result of the scandal.

The arrests that began last week brought into the open a department investigation that has been going on for more than a month.

Chemical charges have already been filed against three patrolmen and the sergeant. The sergeant and one patrolman were freed on bond pending hearings.

The three other policemen charged were held in city prison. Five patrolmen were held in prison on open charges pending filing of formal charges.

The nine arrested so far constitute less than 2 per cent of the 534-man force. But their alleged crimes have virtually wrecked department morale.

An angry mob stood by and jeered at two officers Tuesday as they fought three men causing a disturbance in front of a night club. One of the officers was hospitalized with a broken jaw as a result of the fight.

One patrolman said customers in the bar began calling the officers names. Another tried to incite the patrons to stop the officers.

Other patrolmen reported less violent incidents of disintegrating public respect for the Police Department.

But department officials said that "we're getting some good phone calls, too, from the better element."

Meanwhile, the department investigation continues with the possibility that more officers may be arrested.

Happiness Through Health
(By DR. F. LEO KERWIN)

Chiropractic Restores Glandular Balance:

Your glands are mighty important to the proper functioning of all your bodily organs. Injection of hormones into the patient doesn't make the patient's own glands work any better.

That means that once it is begun the treatment may have to be continued for a life time.

The Chiropractor does not add anything to the body which will make their own work unnecessary and permit them to lie down on the job and dry up so to speak. He finds out that the troublesome gland is not working up to par and removes the interference with the nerve currents to these organs. This is the real cause of their faulty function.

The Chiropractor is well equipped to deal with this problem.

Separate Reapportionment Acts Suggested

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Senate President Dewey Johnson of Quincy Wednesday proposed separating the questions of House and Senate reapportionment.

Johnson would submit two constitutional amendments for separate votes—one increasing House membership and the other Senate. The plan came in the wake of public rejection Tuesday of the package plan to increase the Senate from 38 to 44 members and the House from 95 to 103.

Johnson, a potential 1960 gubernatorial candidate, and other leaders of the small-county dominated Senate told newsmen they are willing to have another try at reapportionment in 1961. But they made it clear they won't go for any drastic change that would upset their rule in the Senate. Most of the opposition in heavily populated south and west Florida, which killed the package proposal, was aimed at the Senate formula. Opponents claimed the big counties were entitled to more and shouldn't settle for "half a loaf."

Johnson said, "Some have told me they like the Senate part of the package, and not the House. Others said they would have voted for the House increase, but wouldn't buy the Senate." By submitting the issue in two separate amendments, he said, the voters could take either, both or none.

Another Party

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI) — The daughter of "Old Red" Walter Williams today resumed planning for the Confederate soldier's 117th birthday celebration Nov. 14.

"He's doing fine for a man of his age," Mrs. Willie Mae Bowles said. Williams, the last surviving veteran of the Civil War, has been suffering from a pneumonia attack for several days.

"He's going to have that party," Mrs. Bowles said. Her plans include a barbecue dinner and a band concert at her home.

Dr. Russell Wolfe said he doesn't think Williams will be strong enough to take an active part in the festivities.

School Resident Districts To Be Changed By Board

Seminole County school resident districts were ordered changed today to give each number of districts the same number of qualified electors.

Supt. of Schools R. T. Milwee reported. Milwee said that a Florida law provides that for the purpose of nominating and electing county school board members, each county shall be divided into five county school board residence districts "so as to place in each district, as nearly possible the same number of qualified electors."

Milwee said, "We hope to do this now," he added. He said that all five districts will conform with the county commissioner districts, with one exception.

District No. 1 will begin at a point in Lake Monroe on the north side of Seminole County and on the center line of Mellonville Ave. will extend north along the center line of Mellonville to the intersection of the center line of the Sanford and Everglades branch of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad.

District No. 2 will begin in the same area in Lake Monroe and continue north on the center line of French Ave. extending North into Lake Monroe and on the center line of 13th St. west to the center line of Roosevelt Ave. and continuing through the west city limits.

District No. 3 will run to a point on the south boundary toward the shores of Lake Jessup, west to the center line of Highway 17-92 to the Seminole County-Orange County line.

District 4 will begin south of Lake Jessup and run one mile to a point on the south boundary on a line running north of Bird Island to the west shores of Lake Jessup.

District 5 begins at Lake Monroe, southwesterly along U. S. Highway 17-92 to a center line on the Wekiva River.
